It is impossible to judge the amount of damage done to the buildings and forts. They appeared to be riddled with shot; but the Span-iards were plucky. The after turret of the Amphitrite got out of order temporarily during the engagement, but she banged away with her forward guns. After the first passage before the forts the Detroit and the Montgomery retired, their guns being too small to do much damage. The Porter and Wampatuck also stayed

The smoke hung over everything, spoiling the aim of the gunners and making it impossible to tell where our shots struck. The officers and men of all the ships behaved with coolness and bravery. The shots flew thick and fast over all our ships.

The men of the Iowa who were hurt during the action were injured by splinters thrown by an eight-inch shell which came through a boat into the superstructure and scattered fragments in all directions. GALTEE MORE SOLD FOR $125,000. It is asserted in London that the Russian Government has purchased the celebrated Irish-bred race horse, Galtee More, for £25,000 ($125,000). Galtee More was bred by Mr. John Gubbins, a wellknown Irish sportsman. The animal was the first Irish horse to win the English Derby, and is one of the seven horses that have won the so-called triple classic crown of the English turf, viz.: The 2,000 guineas at Newmarket, the Epsom Derby and the Doncaster St. Leger. He is regarded by competent judges as one of the best horses of the century. Last autumn it was reported that the Hungarian Govern-£20,000, but that was erroneous. Mr. Gubbins intimated at that time that he had no intention of parting with the horse on any terms.

The value of the 2,000 guineas race this year was £4,900.

Only two horses are talked of now for the Derby-Disraeli and Dieudonne. Hal Pointer (2:04%), the veteran, will be raced again this year by his owner, R. Peck, of Lock Haven, Pa. John Dawson, the trainer of Disraeli, the 2,000 guineas winner, also trained his sire, Galopin, 23 years ago. Robert J. In only one State, Louisiana, does that law not hold; and the great Jurist, Chief Justice Marshall, laid it down as beyond dispute that the common law of England is part of the law of the United States. The courts of Michigan, indeed, are more Anglo-Saxon than those of Edinburgh, where the old Scottish law still dominates. Lastly, it is proved that the literature of the United States is distinctly Anglo-Saxon. What could be more Anglo-Saxon or more "right English" than Fennimore Cooper, Longfellow, Lowell? He Proposes to Leave Canada in Six Months.

Correspondence Between His Excel lency and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

London, May 14.-It is officially announced that the Queen has accepted the resignation of the Earl of Aberdeen as governor-general of Canada. to which office he was appointed in

The two persons most prominently mentioned recently as likely to succeed the Earl of Aberdeen as governor-general of Canada are the Earl of Selbourne the under secretary of state for the colonies, and the Earl of Hopetoun, the paymaster-general. It has been said that the former can have the governor-generalship of Canada if he wants it.

"Government House, Ottawa, "May 6, 1898. "My Dear Sir Wilfrid Laurier,-You will remember that some time ago I mentioned to you that there was some uncertainty as to whether we should be able to remain in Canada for the full six years of the governor-general's official term. After very full and careful consideration, we felt that private and family claims and interests rendered it most desirable that we should return home before the end of the present year, if possible. I therefore ommunicated to the secretary of state for the colonies my wish to be relieved of my present duties in October or November of this year, subject to her majesty's approval, and assuming that no unforeseen emergency rendered a change at that time meanvenient to the Imperial Government. Mr. Chamberlain has now responded in very kind manner to my request, and I am therefore in a position to convey to you, as prime minister of the Dominion, this information as to our contemplated arrangements. Although this is not the occasion for enlarging upon the subthe fact of our deciding to leave before the actual expiry of the term will not in any sense be regarded as indicating any want of appreciation of the councontrary, there is much to make us contemplate the prospect of departure he question of the time of our leaving venue measure, but patriotism will has been mooted, indicating a hope or been very full of interest, both from an official and personal standpoint, and apart from the loyalty so heartily and If there were any really live issues | readily manifested towards the representative of the Queen, we have received innumerable marks of personal kindness, and, above all, we have many, ment, a buried one like the Manitoba and I trust lifelong, friends in various school question would not be ex- walks of life. > "My Dear Lord Aberdeen,-As your excellency had made me aware a few weeks ago of your intention, I was not altogether unprepared for the information which you have now conveyed to me, that you have obtained permission to be relieved from the duties of governor-general and that your term of office will come to an end some time in not unprepared for the sad intelligence. I may be permitted to say to your excellency, on my own behalf, and on be half of my colleagues, that it is with feelings of deep regret that we are brought face to face with a reality which we had hoped might be long de ferred. This regret I beg to express not only in my official capacity, but still more simply as one of her majesty's Canadian subjects. The reasons which have prompted your excellency the expiration of your term of office are of a nature which must be accepted without questioning, but it will be a great satisfaction to the whole people of Canada to know that those reasons are purely private and domestic. Indeed, the kind manner in which you speak of your connection with Canada will be greatly appreciated. Your excellency and Lady Aberdeen have both received too many expressions of respect and affection from all classes of the community, not to be already aware that the period of your excellencys' office will leave a deep and permanent impression in the hearts of the people apart from those, more fortunate, who can claim the privilege of your friendship. I desire most particularly to thank your excellency for the sponaneous expression that you and Lady Aberdeen will never forget Canada and the Canadians. This is a sentiment which the Canadians will most heartily return. They will follow your career with unabating interest, with the hope and prayer that the blessing of God lieve me, my dear Lord Aberdeen, with great respect, yours most faithfully, "WILFRID LAURIER,

Soon after I was taken ill my hair com out than I thought I had in my head. I was turning gray rapidly. Finally I became afraid to have it combed, but the nurse said that wouldn't do, and used vaseline to keep it tenic, and finally (CUTICURA ointment), which helped it immediately. The nurse said she rubbed up a fine white dust from the scalp where she could see nothing before commencing, and the scalp looked healthier and more natural every day. Now I haven't as many gray hairs as when I commenced using URA, and I have a crop of fine brown hair all over my head about an inch and a half in length. I only lose a few hairs when combing every day, and always more gray than brown. My nurse is delighted because the new hairs are brown. I never had very luxuriant hair, even in my youth. To Be Called for at Once-Building To Be Completed by Nov. 30-Builders and Medical Men Make Suggestions.

The hospital committee met last night with the following members in attendance: Chairman Carrothers, Secretary Bell, Architect McBride, Mayor Wilson and Ald.Jolly, Hunt and Gerry. The first item was a letter from Mrs. Boomer, representing the children's ward, stating that she could not be present at the meeting, but that every effort would be made to bring the children's ward to a successful completion. Filed for reference.

The Builders' Exchange had a deputation present representing all trades, asking that the tenders for the new building be let separately; that one contractor receive all the brickwork, another the carpentering, and so on. Alld. Hunt and Architect McBride favored the letting of the contracts as the builders desired. After some discussion a motion to the above effect was put by Ald. Hunt and unanimously carried. Mr. T. Jones acted as spokesman for the builders.

It was decided on motion of Ald. Hunt that the tenders for the new hospital be advertised for only in the local papers. This will be done. A number of representatives were present from the medical fraternity. They recommended a number changes in the details of the specifica-

Drs. Roome and Campbell made the suggestions to the committee. They also thought it would be wise for the committee to appoint a deputation to visit some of the newly built hospitals in Detroit, Cleveland or Buffalo, and see just how a modern hospital was constructed. This they thought was very important, and should be carried out, as the city wanted a hospital that could be pointed to with pride. Nothing was done in the matter.

The specifications were then read by the members and accepted. Architect McBride was instructed to call for tenders at once, to be in by Monday, May 23, at 12 o'clock. The plans will call for completion of the building by Nov. 30. The meeting then

The Archbishop's Christmas Gift.

The year was nearing its end when this great stronghold was completed, and it began to be known throughout the land that the archbishop intended to hold high Christmas revel there, and had invited to the castle all the nobles in the country, while the chief guest was no other than the emperor himself. Then the neighbors of the blacksmith learned that a Christmas gift was about to be bestowed upon that stalwart man. He and his twelve sons received notification to attend at the castle and to enhis hammer, went to the door of his joy the whole week's festivity. Other members of reigning dynasties had previously dared what he intended to do, namely, to marry a woman with no royal blood in her veins, but his case was different. The woman who had won his heart was no circus rider, no celebrity of doubtful morals, but a good-hearted, pure-minded, well-educated, and rather religiously-inclined daughter of a poor was to be blamed for anything, it was for being neither royal nor rich. Queen Sophia held Miss Munck in such regard that she is said to have encouraged the plan of her favorite The old king frowned and fretted, but could not make up his mind to start a row about it. He wanted peace, and he entertained a good deal of respect for the independence and strength of will of his second son. The royal councillors and chamberlains wrung their hands in disgust, predicted all kinds of evils, and speaking much nonsense about state reasons, etc. The marriage took place at Bournemouth, England, Royalty, Swedish and English, was absent, but represented by accredited officials. The former Duke of Gothland stepped down from his position next to the crown prince. Officially he ceased to a member of the royal house. There was much talk about the title he should bear. Prince Bernadotte was the one finally selected, and even this title could not be inherited by his children. Being placed in a position resembling that of Mohammed's coffin, he could not get a Swedish dukedom for his family, because that dignity is reserved for members of the royal family in good standing, and he could not accept the title of count, because that would have placed him on the level with the average nobility. To save his children the disgrace of being born just like common untitled people, the old king turned to his young friend, the Emperor of many for help, and thus obtained for his son the nominal dukedom of Wisborg, which title was tacitly recognized by the Swedish nobility.

His promotion to the rank of commodore in the Swedish navy did not bring him a cent of income, for while he had lost his rights as a prince he had not gained those of a subject, and only a subject can receive pay for services rendered to the government. The London Times Discusses Our Railway Projects.

Important for the Strength of the Empire.

The Yukon Railway Necessary for the Development of British Interests in the Northern Pacific.

[From the London Times.] In an empire which encircles the globe the terms "Far East" and "Far changeable. European and Asiatic experience has shown ments across the American continent to meet and focus their results at the point to which all eyes are just now sturned, and the Pacific Ocean becomes for Englishmen a geographical expression which signifies the junction of the eastern and the western limits of British influence. It is in this sense that Englishmen will watch with special interest and sympathy the development of communications by means of which the Dominion of Canada is her Pacific coast.

On Friday last, the Yukon Railway bill, which has been under active disfor the last three weeks, passed its rise to sharp criticism in some quart-This is an aspect of the question which must be left to local consideration. It is rather to the effect mineral wealth which is believed to exist within British territory on the Francisco, is about 450 miles north of northwest coast of the Pacific that Vancouver, but, owing to the influence this country and in other portions of the empire will look. The proposal in so far as it has remained inmodified by debate, of which the full report has not yet been received, is for the establishment of a direct line of communication by water and the latitude of York. railway from British Columbian ports upon the Pacific coast to the heart of the gold fields at Dawson City. It is intended that a line of steamers and river boats shall run from Victoria and Vancouver to Glenora, a point situated in Canadian territory about 150 miles up the navigable portion of the Stikine River.

THE YUKON ROUTE. The Stikine, which empties itself inthe sea through a narrow strip of Alaskan territory near Fort Wrangel, about 700 miles north of the town of Vancouver, is one of the treaty rivers of which the navigation is equally free to British and American commerce. By transhipment of cargoes into river oats at Fort Wrangel and continuation of the water journey to Glenora all goods destined for the Yukon will landed in Canadian territory, and if they have to be shipped at a Canadian port will, in consequence, pass free of customs' duty. A railway of 150 miles in length will, under the terms of the contract, be constructed immediately from Glenora across the relatively low watershed northward to the heads of the Teslin lakes. Thence continuous river navigation will cover It is expected that when the railway tween Fort Wrangel and Dawson City

The remarkable development of agricultural settlement in the western states of America remains to attest the same truth in relation to the Californian finds. So confidently is some similar result anticipated in the case of Canada, that schemes for the development of communication between the western gold ields and the vast territories still uninhabited in the habitable interior are naturally being multiplied. Projects for new local railways are heard of in almost every province. Of them all none is more remarkable nor, apart from the practicability of its immediate realization, more interesting than the scheme for the construction of another trans-continental line from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, for which, under the name of the Trans-Canada Railway Company, an act of incorpor ation was granted by the Canadian

Parliament last year. THE CANADIAN PACIFIC. It will be seen, on glancing at any map of Canada, that the present main trunk line of the Canadian Pacific Railway runs to the extreme southern edge of the Dominion, carrying the line of communication from Montreal to Vancouver so close to the American frontier that its southern feeders come nainly from the American railway systems. It crosses the triple range of the Cordillera belt, as it approaches the Pacific at their highest or southern end. It is also, from the point of view of a strategic line, exposed, by its proximity to the frontier, to the danger of being easily seized and destroyed in places by a succession of military coupes de main. These objections were, of course, fully recognized at West" are sometimes almost inter- the time of its construction, but it was deemed and, so far as subsequent rightly deemed, movements in one direction and move- to be of essential importance that the first great trans-continental line of Canada should run through the most The southern lands were the most fertile; commercial intercourse with was of the utmost importance to their successful development, and the line of the railway was wisely chosen for the purpose for which it was designed. It was little suspected at the time that within 20 years there would arise the question of another trans-continental railroad enterprise of equally colossal proportions. The branch lines engaged in throwing open access to which have since been thrown out in northerly direction from the Canadian Pacific, and the general direction of the local lines to which alcussion in the Canadian Lower House | lusion has been made, testify, however, to the growing needs of a population second reading by a majority which settling in the more northerly districts presumably insures its speedy passage of the great fertile belt, and the prothrough the house. > A TRANS-CANADIAN LINE. The surveys carried out by the Canadian Government over a great portion of the country which it is proposed to traverse have been made use of in determining the course along which the construction of the new railway is inended to proceed. This course will lie straight from Quebec to a point at the north end of Lake Winnipeg; from Winnipeg it will follow a slightly southern direction to Prince Albert, where it will meet the northerly extension of the Canadian Pacific from Regina; from Prince Albert the direction will be in a northeasterly line to the Rocky Mountains, which it wil ross on their lower northern levels, near the sources of the Peace River, at an altitude of 2,400 feet. It will then ecend the Valley of the Skeena to the Pacific. If this course be drawn upon any ordinary map of Canada it will be seen that the new line and the line of he Canadian Pacific will inclose across the main body of the Dominion a long, dge-shaped strip of territory, of which the narrow end lies on the 150 miles of the St. Lawrence that flows owards the Atlantic between Montreal and Quebec, and the wider end attains to a breadth of about 500 miles on the Pacific coast. The breadth of the strip hroughout its whole length varies from about 150 to 500 miles. The length f the projected upper line from Queto Port Simpson will be 2,400 mile

Of the ountry through which the upper line ould pass, the western sections are at present the best known. Here, after raversing the southern end of the wly-opened mineral fields, the rallay would run through a fine wheatducing country, from which it is posed that the future agricultural pply of the mining populations of e Yukon will be drawn. A connectbranch would be established givg inland communication with the akon. The petroleum district of Athabasca lies on one side of the proected railway, and the line is designed to run through the heart of the rich and well-watered district of Saskatchewan. East of Lake Winnipeg, through ouver, will, of course, largely depend Royal Geographical Society in March cent explorations by means of which country have been ascertained. Bell describes the climate as being much better than is commonly supposed, and gives his opinion, based on experiment, that wheat and the coarser grains will ripen over a large portion of the district, which is also spe cially suited for pastoral purposes. The country is now heavily timbered, and Dr. Bell reckons that there exists in this region to the southeast of Hudson Bay about 25,000,000 acres of good land suitable for settlement, but practically inaccessible for want of a railway. As the result of his survey he points out that a railway could easily be built, and that this region, of which the southern border line is only 180 miles due north of Ottawa, could then be reached in a few hours from the eastern coast. The very great expense involved in the construction of such a trans-continental railway necessarily makes the difference between the projection of the scheme and its realization a wide one The cost and the labor of preliminary surveys have, however, been much reduced by the work already done by the Canadian Government, and it has been calculated that the railway can be surveyed and built before the Russo-Siberian Railway through Northern Asia has been completed. From a military and political point of view, the construction of such a railway would evidently have many advantages. For the moment it is enough to point out that the greater the number of channels by which British enterprise may flow to the Pacific, the greater is the interest of all British communities in the maintenance of the policy of equal opportunities for British trade in the

The Upper Nile.

Why the European Nations Are Scrambling for It.

Britain Will and Ought to Get It-An American Agent's View.

Mr. R. Dorsey Mohun, formerly the United States agent in the Kongo Free State, writes an article for the May Century on "The Scramble for the Upper Nile." Mr. Mohun, after describing the expeditions seeking to reach the Upper Nile, says:

Many will ask, Why this feverish haste to occupy this wretched country in the heart of Africa?

Reasons are many, and most of them are sound. First and foremost, the power which holds the southern countries through which the Upper Nile and its tributaries flow has the fate of Lower Egypt in her hands. It has been stated many times that it would reasible to divert the course of some of these rivers, thus decreasing the annual rise, which means everything to the agriculturist of Lower Egypt. Without her agriculture there would be no future for the country; and unless the river overflowed its banks annually, and made its deposit of rich soil from hundreds of miles south, the situation would be absolutely desperate.

Secondly, the districts of Darfur and Bahr-el-Ghazal are rich in gum-rub; ber and ostrich feathers, and a certain amount of gold has been found. The Bahr-el-Ghazal abounds in elephants, and great stores of ivory are said to be held by native chiefs, only waiting for traders who will deal honestly with them. The two districts of Dar-Senaar and Dar-el-Fungi are more or less agricultural countries. and before the fall of Khartum Greek planters had been successful there.

Therefore, from an agricultural point of view, the country is valuable. Thirdly, the finest soldiers in the Egyptian army, commonly called the Sudanese, come from these southern provinces. These men are in demand as soldirs, not only in Egypt, but on the east and west coasts of Africa. The black battalions of the Egyptian army are composed of Sudanese, and are reckoned among the best soldiers to be found anywhere. Who will be successful in this scramble for the Upper Nile? I say, most emphatically, England; although France seems to have a temporary advantage in the occupation of Fashoda. This occupation England cannot, and vill not, permit to remain permanent; and, following up the numerous protests made by Lord Rosebery's ment, the present government must, in order that the prestige of England may be undimmed, give notice France to leave Fashoda and return to her west-coast hinterland. From the point of view of commerce and progress, it would be preferable

Time, the great leveler, has played many cruel pranks with noble European families, and the lordly race which in one century has risen to highest honor and vast possessions, may, in the next, be driven back by fate into the lowest strata of society. The year 1898 has cowboy, became viscount berream, and heir to one of the oldest of Scotch just shown us Lord William Neville (son of the English Marquis of Abergavenny, and direct descendent of the great "King Maker" Warwick), a convicted felon, entering upon his term of imprisonment at Wormwood Scrubs. Who can prophesy what position in life the descendants of the degenerate Neville will hold? When released from jail, he will probably change his name and betake himself to some distant colony. His father is a Knight of the Garter (England's highest decoration), his sons may descend to any level in the scale of society.

Many old British titles are today found in curious places. Far away in Hindustan there is a lonely little village, Munowta by name. The head man of this patty settlement is a swarthy half-breed, whose rightful name and style, as admitted by the clerk of the House of Lords, is "The Right Honorable Lord Gardner, Baron Gardner in the peerages of the United Kingdom and Ireland." Lord Gardner's immeancestors, having lost their estate, went out to India, where they intermarried with dusky Hindu maidens, embrac d Brahminism, and founded an Eurasian line of peers. The present baron has the right to take his seat in the House of Lords, but, Caesar-like, he prefers to be chief magistrate in tiny Munowta, to remaining a titled nonentity in England.

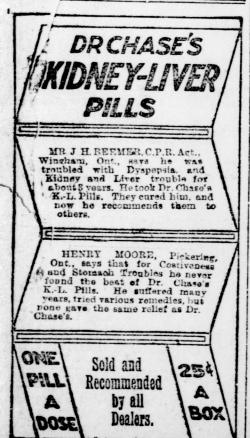

TITLES IN STRANGE PLACES. In Maryland resides a country physician and small farmer, who prefers to be known as "Dr. John C. Fairfax." But in reality he is "The Right Honorable John Contee Fairfax, Eleventh Lord Fairfax," and a descendant of the famous Lord Fairfax, who commanded the Puritan forces in the English civil war. The great estates once owned by the Fairfax family in Eng-land passed out of their hands when the elder branch died out at the end of the last century. Today little but the barren title remains to this English-American peer. Lord Fairfax's brother and predecessor in the barony was better known as Charles Fairfax, one time clerk to the Legislature of California. A son of the doctor-baron holds the position of salaried clerk in a New York business house.

America also owns an adopted British baronet, Sir Charles Stuart-Menteith, Bart., has long been a resident of Canandaigua, N. Y., and is married to a New York lady.

The present Earl of Aberdeen, governor-general of Canada, may not be Earl of Aberdeen after all. At any moment his elder brother and predecessor in the title may put in an appearance. This earl was a wild, wayward lad, who went to sea and has never been heard of since. Ten British courts, after waiting a certain length of time, allowed his brother to claim the title and estates by default. There has never been, however, any absolute proof of the late earl's death. In the same way the death of the Archduke Johann of Austria, who went to sea under the tions. Ex-Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii name of "John Orth," has never been is a case in point. So also is ex-Queen proven.

The present. Earl of Buchan, before succeeding to the title, was a groom and occasional jockey; while the ninth Earl of Seafield, while actually in possession of his title, was forced to earn | ment at Jamaica. He gets an allowance a living in New Zealand as a "hedger | from England of about 6 shillings, or and ditcher.' For years this nobleman's wage rarely rose above a few this pension in strong drink. AN ORGAN-GRINDING VISCOUNT. Viscoun & Hinton, son and heir of the Earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham, grinds a piano-organ through the Men of Title Who Have Fallen streets of London and Brighton, with a large placard asking for alms. He takes this course in order to spite his father, who has disowned him; and, while public curiosity concerning him was rife, he managed to earn a good living. Nowadays he is said to be so wretchedly poor that the piano-organ has been pawned. The present Earl of Caithness, head of the great house of St. Clair, was born the son of an Aberdeen bank employe of small means. His father sent him to the United States, and for years he "punched cattle" in Idaho. Eventually, in 1890, his father succeeded a far-off cousin in the earldom; and-hey, presto, pass!-plain "Jack Sinclair, peerages. Within twelve months after his return from Idaho his father's death made him Earl of Caithness. The son and heir of an English earl, and himself a viscount by courtesy, is at the present writing working in a stable in the Boer Republic. He holds a subordinate position among the grooms, where his knowledge of horses (acquired during his captaincy in a "crack" cavalry regiment) stands him in good stead. Losses on the turf and the inevitable "woman in the case" are said to have been the causes which drove this viscount to serve as stable boy in the Rand.

A BARONET POLICEMAN. A constable in the Royal Irish Con-stabulary at Dubin is Sir Thomas Fenton Echlin, a seventh baronet. Perhaps the present holders of the old Irish titles, Norman or Milesian, are the most scattered of all the world's nobilities. The rightful Earl of Clancarty is Justin MacCarthy, a carpenter, until recently resident in Eastern Pennsylvania. Theobald Butler, Viscount Galmoy, is an innkeeper in the small French city of Chalons. The chieftains of many of the great clans nay be found among the peasantry of Ireland, or in the nobility of foreign countries. Soup bids fair to become universal. Time was when it made its appearance at dinner alone, and there were tables where it was not thought necessary to serve it at every dinner. Then, too, there were comparatively few varieties of soup. Now, besides the timehonored meat and vegetable, and thick and clear species, there are warm and cold soups, fish soups, and even fruit soups. Hardly any one dreams of omitting the soup course from the most ordinary dinner. You are still bidden to dine sans poisson, but never sans of material, and there is no need to potage. At formal breakfasts certain search for a 'theater' while we have soups have long been in vogue, but around us the imperishable theater of to dine sans poisson, but never sans fashion's latest decree is that the first meal for the day shall include a soup course, clam broth or bouillon being preferred. The Young Widows

Over 23,000,000 of Them in That Country.

The Hardships to Which They Are Ex posed - Thousands Under Nine Years of Age,

[Pundita Ramabai.] Widows are the greatest sufferers of India and their treatment surpasses description. How many are there? Over 23,000,000-more than the entire female population of the United States above three years of age. Of these 78,-000 are under 9 years of age; 207,000 are under 14, and 382,000 are under 19. Practically every Hindu girl of good caste is either a wife or a widow before she reaches the age of 14. In hundreds of thousands of cases the child has never known what it is to be a wife. It is essential for the honor of the family that it should contain no unmarried daughters of mature age. When, therefore, a female infant is born, the first idea in her father's mind is how to find a husband for her. She is betrothed in infancy, and if the man dies before they are married, she is even then regarded as his widow. At his funeral she is dragged along, wild with grief, aghast at the indignities heaped upon her, her eyes full of bitter tears, afraid to utter a sound, less she should receive a more heartless treatment. Soon after the party reaches the They dwell in light, and far below river-near which the cremation takes place—the widow is pushed into the That—even from afar—can throw water, and there she has to remain in her wet chothes until the dead body has been burned to ashes. The custom is rigidly observed in all seasons and in all circumstances. It matters not whether she is scorched by the burning rays of the midday sun of Indian summer, or chilled by piercing winds blowing from the Himalayas in winter, the widow must be dragged with the funeral party in that manner. Afterwards she is deprived of comforts, and treated with contempt and cruelty. Despised, reproached, living apart from the family, denied all festivities, she finds naught left to her but tears, prayers, sacrifices, fastings, and servitude to her husband's family. At whatever age she is left a widow, though she may be a prattling infant, the rules and restrictions are none the less severe. She must be content with only a very scanty meal once a day, and frequently abstain from all food and drink. If a widow be the mother of sons, her lot is a little better. Occasionally she receives a little more humane treatment if she lives with her own parents; but if she has to pass her life under the roof of her father-in-law, she then knows no comfort. She is the slave, and knows no alternative, unless she rushes into a life of shame, or ends her miserles by suicide. In some cases, among the poor classforced to act as a policeman. Sir J. H. es, it is not necessary that the girl Rivett-Carnac is a writer in the inland should become a wife in our sense of the word. It suffices that she should be of the lowest and worst paid offices in given in marriage, and go through the ceremony; and to that end there is the revolting practice of aged Brahmins sation was brought about in England going about the country and marrying, by the succession of a hall porter for a pecuniary consideration, female infants, whom in some cases they never see again. So long as Twelfth Suffolk Regiment, and his he lives she can marry no other man, and when he dies she becomes his widow for life. There are hundreds of thousands of these beings who have acquiesced in their cruel lot. They accept, with a pathetic faith and resignation, the priesty explanation which is given to them. They penitently believe that they are expiating sins committed in a past life. and they humbly trust that their purlfying sorrows here will win a reward in the life to come. Only the Hindu widows know their own suffering; it is impossible for another mortal to realize or believe them.

Because It Causes Dyspepsia and Misery to Thousands,

All Foods-Pie Included-and Thus Prevent or Cure Dyspepsia-They Never Fail.

"There'd be less Dyspepsia in Toronto, if people would eat less pie.' A Toronto baker advertised this way in the papers last week, and he advised people to quit eating pie, and to eat his bread only. People won't quit eating pie. They like pie. They will eat it. And they are right. They have discovered that they can eat pies of any kind, and every kind, without the slightest shadow of danger of Dyspepsia, if they simply take one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food-all kinds of food. There can then be no indigestion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tone and strengthen the stomach. In this way they fit it to digest the food itself, without their aid.

Many medicines must be used continually-all the time. A few weeks' treatment with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets does away with all need to use them any longer. The small brown tablets that go with every box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, regulate the bowels and carry off waste matter.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets positively cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Headache, and all other diseases of the stomach and digestive organs. If you don't believe it, test them. They'll convince you by curing you. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents a box, six boxes $2 50, or sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medicine Company, Limited, Toronto.

Sheep and ewes, 5,000; strong. TORONTO, May 14.-So far as receipts are concerned today's market as a record-breaker. Yesterday there were 40 carloads on the boards at the western cattle yards, and today the of-ferings were 103 loads. Several loads of the poorer class of cattle were left in the pens at the close of the day. Every available corner was utilized as a cattle pen, and never before was the need for a larger cattle market more fully exemplified. Drovers and dealers are clamoring for more room. At least the yards should have 100 acres of space. The offerings today included 235 sheep and lambs, 2,800 hogs, 70 calves and the usual run of milch cows and springers. Export cattle-The heavy run had a slightly depressing effect on trade, simply because dealers had so much stuff to pick from. Prices rule about steady, with a downward tendency. Choice shippers sold for $4 35 to $4 40 per cwt, but the most of the deals were made at from 41/80 to 4%c per lb. Some sold as low as 4c per lb. Butchers' cattle-Some of the drovers tried hard to sell their cattle at even less than they cost in the country. There were more cattle in than required, but for the best cattle it cannot be said that prices were much lower. One or two choice lots of cattle for local consumption sold for 4c. out the ruling figures were from $3 50 to $3 80 per cwt. Common cattle sold as low as $2 90 and $3 10 per cwt. Bulls— For export there was a fair demand, but stock buils are not wanted. Prices for shipping bulls sell for 3c to 31/2c per lb. Stockers and feeders—There is no change in this line. Light stockers are in tolerably fair demand for Buffalo at $3 30 to $3 60 per cwt. Sheep and lambs—Good yearlings are wanted at from 5½c to 6c per lb; light ewes sell for 4c to 4¼c, and heavy ewes at from 3% c to 4c. The Postal Reform Bill Gets Its Second Reading.

The Department to Be Put on a Paying Basis.

Newspapers to Pay Postage-Tupper and Caron Attack the Bill-J. Ross Robertson Warmly Approves It.

Ottawa, May 14 .- The bill of the postmaster-general to reduce the rate of postage on domestic letters from 3 to cents, and to impose half a cent a pound postage on newspapers carried through the mails, was given its second reading yesterday, and now awaits the committee stage.

The newspaper postage feature of today. the measure was strenuously opposed by Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Adolphe

It was stated by Mr. Mulock that the exemption from postage rates within a ten-mile radius of the place of publication would not apply to newspapers issued more frequently than once a week, or, in other words, that all the dailies will be subject to the rate, while the postoffice will not begin to take toll from the weeklies at 68c each. until they have gone ten miles beyond the place of their origin. In moving the second reading, Mr. Mulock explained that the reduction in the letter rate to 2 cents would mean an annual loss of revenue of $650,000, but it was fair to assume that this loss of revenue would soon be made up by increased business. He quoted a mass of statistics, showing the effect of re duced letter rates in Great Britain, the United States, France and other countries. Averting to the question of newspaper postage, he said that in 1897 the weight of newspapers carried free was 16,555,490 pounds—an increase in eight years of 77 per cent. This vast quantity nad been carried free, while the people were charged for the carrying of trimmed, from 50c. five million pounds of letters. Half a cent per pound on sixteen and a half million pounds of newspapers would give a revenue of $82,000, most of which the daily newspapers would have to pay. One paper conducted in the interest of the liquor trade stood at the head of the list of these now carried free, he said. He claimed that even if the newspaper subscriber had to pay a the benefit of the reduced letter rate. By the first of January next he expected the department would be self-sustaining. Was it not better to have a 2-Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Clarke twitted Mr. Mulock about the delayed reduction in postage throughout the Mr. Mulock replied that it was proposed to hold a conference of the colonies and the mother country to endeavor to bring about a scheme of Resume of the Year's Work by the Sir Charles Tupper said Mr. Mulock could not bind the country without course which would affect the revenue. Canada and the mother country drawing closer together. He condemned the leaving a surplus of $935 08 over the extactics of the opposition, both in the penditures. commons and in the senate. The opsupporters of that kind.

Sir Charles said the step was a license to theft, and the postmaster-general's course was an insult to the ople and the parliament. Mr. J. Ross Robertson (Con.), Toronto, commended the bill as one that would meet the full approval of the public. Why, he asked, should the Dominion as a whole be called upon to contribute assistance to newspapers? In the Toronto postoffice, he ventured to say, one-half of the entire staff is employed in handling newspapers passing through the mails, and for this the country as a whole has to

Sir Adolphe Caron attacked the bill, and the house adjourned at 10:25. A SILLY ATTACK.

Previous to the debate Sir Hibbert Tupper read a rather glowing article from a Seattle paper, saying that the Canadian Government were sending 200 troops and 400 tons of provisions to the

Mr. Borden replied that while the Boston and Alaska Transportation Company were carrying 250 tons of the freight, not a soldier would go by that route, except two to watch that freight

Mr. Morrison moved the adjournment of the house to suggest that no more fake articles of this kind should be read on the floor of the house from yellow journals of American coast cities. Sir Hibbert insisted upon the accuracy of the report, and attacked the County Constable William Mason was to have appeared before Judge Edward Elliott this morning to answer to a charge preferred by County Constable William Sadler of using grossly in-

Mason from the county force. At 12:30 Mason appeared, just as the ourt closed, and was allowed to make a statement. Mason said he meant no harm. SIGNIFICANT SPEECH

Of Hon. Joseph Chamberlain-Unity Instead of Insolation-Should Be Britain's Policy.

....1 SIGNIFICANT SPEECH hillo London, May 14.—The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, made an important speech on public affairs at Birmingham last evening.
Mr. Chamberlain, after deprecating

the constant assertions in certain quarters that Lord Salisbury was "discredited," and the government "weak and vacillating," said: "If foreign nations believe and act upon those statements they will find themselves much mistaken, and that courteous diplomacy and graceful concessions are not incompatible with a firm naintenance of the country's honor and Then, declaring that he intended to make a plain statement of facts, unfettered by the mysteries and reticences of the diplomacy of half a century ago, which, without revealing secret negotiations, should be understood, Mr. Chamberlain said he would accept the judgment of the people as willingly as that of the wisest diplomat in the world."

Referring to the policy of strict iso-lation that England has pursued since the Crimean war, he remarked that this had been "perfectly justifiable," but, he added, "the time has arrived when Great Britain may be confronted by a combination of powers, and our first duty, therefore, is to draw all parts of the empire into close unity, and our next, to maintain the bonds

"There is a powerful and generous nation," said Mr. Chamberlain, "speaking one language, bred of our race, and having interests identical with ours. I would go so far as to say that terrible as war may be, even war itself would be cheaply purchased if in a great and noble cause the Stars and Stripes and delirious on Wednesday evening, but the Union Jack should wave together over an Anglo-Saxon alliance. (Prolonged cheers.) It is one of the most satisfactory results of Lord Salisbury's policy that at the present time these two great nations understand each other better than they ever have done since, over a century ago, they were separated by the blunder of a British Government.

Mr. Chamberlain proceeded to draw a gloomy picture of the situation in we have to count with Russia, as in Afghanistan, except that we do not posses an army or a defensive frontier in China, and cannot, therefore, injure Russia without an ally. PRESS COMMENTS. London, May 14.-The Times, commenting editorially upon Mr. Chamberlain's speech at Birmingham last evening, says: "Mr. Chamberlain was ased beforehand of the approval of the whole body of the 'Unionists' when contending that we must draw closer the ties binding us to the colonies. It was almost as much a foregone conclusion that the opportunity should be seized of establishing permanent relations of amity and something more The Marquis of Salisbury said the with the United States, whose success government was in communication in the operations that have lately taken with the board of trade relative to the place has been welcomed here as not cause, but as a tribute to the practical capacity of the Anglo-Saxon race in the business of war, even when no adequate preparation for the struggle had been made

The Daily Chronicle welcomes Mr. Chamberlain's "brave and historic plea for an Anglo-American alliance." The Morning Post says: "Mr. Chamberlain insists that it is only his own aspirations when he declared we should seek an Anglo-Saxon alliance, but we doubt whether this open-mouthed didiers with fixed bayonets towards the rangements at a moment when Spain and America are involved in a contest

The Standard, applauding Mr. Chamberlain's stand, says: "There is not the smallest reason to suppose that his convictions are not shared by every member of the cabinet. They had been anticipated by most men who have tried to look below the surface current of diplomacy, and the special declaration was the emphasis of concentrated and unadulterated truth. We are liable at any moment to be confronted by a combination of all the European powers. The contingency should not be dismissed as impossible, merely because it would be startlingly inpleasant. Already we have endeavwith no small success, to draw all parts of our vast empire together n the firm determination to co-operate for the common defense, nor can it be said that there is anything lacking in our feeling of regard and friendship for the great kindred community on the other side of the Atlantic."

I continued in this state until January following, when I was advised by several friends to try Dr. vice, and before I had finished the fifth box I began to improve, and by the time I had completed a dozen boxes I was able to walk without crutches, and have never used them since. I was to do light, work in a short time. and in January last (1897) I commenced working in the woods, and have no trouble from the hip unless over-exerted. During the last three years I have spent $300 in doctors' bills and medicines, but without any good results until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, to which I owe my restored condition, as the doctors gave up all hope of ever seeing me out of bed alive and well. I may say that before I began taking Williams' Pink Pills during my last attack I put in many a night so bad that I never expected to be alive in the morning.

IN ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL.

Among those who speak in terms of gratitude of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mr. Lemuel McCrady, of Shannon, N. B. He says: "A year ago I was taken with a pain in my hip, which gradually worked down to the knee, where it settled. At first I thought it an attack of rheumatism and treated with the medicine ordinarily used. for that trouble, but with no benefit. The knee began to swell, and the pain became excruciating. I wasted away to a mere shadow, and was no better than a cripple. I then consulted a physician, but got no relief. Then I went to an hospital at St. John. The physician who examined me there said my trouble was consumption of the blood, and that it might be necessary to amputate my leg. Thoroughly discouraged, I returned home. Then my mother urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After using two or three boxes I found the pain greatdiminishing, and by the time taken seven boxes, the limb had regained its normal condition, the pain had disappeared, I had gained greatly in flesh, and was as well as ever I had been in my life. I feel very grateful, for I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved me from a life of helplessness."

My wife and I had read much of the cures wrought by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as all else had failed, we decided to try them. Words cannot express how thankful we now are that we came to this decision. We got six boxes, and before they were all gone there was a decided improvement. Hope returned, and we procured another six boxes. She took them, and the story is now summed up in two words-was cured. She now feels neither pain nor ache, her color has returned, she is strong and boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, after ed, and at a time when death was thought to be not far off. We will always sound the praises of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and we hope that some other sufferer reading this will take hope and find renewed health in no hope of recovery, we brought her this wonderful medicine.'

The Fort William, Ont., Journal relates the cure of Mrs. Jane Marceille, of that town, as follows: Nervous prostration, heart disease, consumption and other names were given to her malady by physicians, but months passed, during which she suffered untold agony, without finding any relief. Palpitation of the heart, dizziness, extreme pain in the chest, loss of appetite and nervousness were some of the symptoms of the disease; gatherings that caused excruciating pain formed healthy, and does not now look like at the knee joints and other parts of one who had ever seen a day's sick. the body, and at last she became perness. At this stage she was months of medical treatment had fail- advised to enter the hospital, that she might have the benefit of skilled nurses as well as best medical treatment; but after spending some time there without obtaining any relief the poor woman gave up all hope of recovery and asked to be taken home. So emaciated and weak had she become that her friends were shocked at her appearance, and so utterly hopeless was her condition that it was like mockery to speak hopefully of her ultimate recovery. What then was the astonishment of all who had known her dreadful condition to hear that she had at last found a remedy whose magical power at once demonstrated the fact that where there is life there is hope. The name of this remedy that worked such a wonderful change in such a short time was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking five boxes she was able to walk about and visit her friends. Her strength gradually but surely returned, and in a few months from the time she began using the medicine she was able to resume

Mr. James Davis, of Vittoria, Ont., says: "Knowing that I am a living monument of the wonderful curing properties of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I deem it my duty as a grateful man to give my testimony for the aid of such as are afflicted as I was. I am a resident of the village of Vittoria. Three years ago I was stricken with and partially paralyzed by rheumatism, and after being under the care of two physicians I was given up to die. I wasted away to a skeleton. I lost the use of my limbs entirely and food was given me by a spoon, and such an existence was indeed miserable. I was persuaded by my friends to try medical treatment in the general hospital in Toronto, and after spending several weeks there, came home disheartened and even worse than before. While writhing in the pangs of pain, discouraged and ready to die, I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. While doubting that they would cure me, I was prevailed upon to take them. The effect was marvelous. For two long years I had not enjoyed a single night's rest, and I then slept a sweet sleep which seemed like heaven to me. I revived, could eat, and gradually grew stronger, and as I gained strength my hope of living increased. I have taken 41 boxes, which may seem a large quantity, but be it remembered I had taken many times their value in other mediines and had been declared incurable by doctors. The result is I am now able to undergo hard physical exercise. The fact is beyond a question that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a last and only medicine proved successful in reaching the germs of my disease and saved me from a life of misery and pain.
