Threatened to Cancel Charters BRITISH GAIN Unless General Strike Was Called Off-West Strong for War, and Promises Trouble Later.

Montreal, July 22.—There will be no general strike of rallway shopmen in Canada at least for the present time. The intervention of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, following the action by the adoption by the railways of the McAdoo schedule with amendments last week, was sufficient to prevent the sending out of a strike call to railway shopmen's unions throughout Canada. It also had buterne region, on the front between split in the shopmen's committee that had been in Montreal for several weeks negotiating with the railway war board. East and west clashed, the east for retaining good relations with the American Federation of Labor and the west for taking drastic action immediately. Western representatives, strongly supported by their membership, declared that a strike will yet be called, and that the American Federation of Labor will been the effect of causing a decided Albert and Arras, the war office anerican Federation of Labor will

East Against Strike.

At 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon the shopmen's committee adjourned indefinitely and at 10:15 Saturday night the western members of the committee, who had come 'o be called "the left wing," boarded the train for Winnipeg. This action followed the receipt of returns from the latest ballot submitted to the members, as to whether they were willing to strike in defiance of the American Federation of Labor. These relations clearly showed that it would be impossible to tie up the railways effectively, especially in the east. For instance, in Montreal itself only one local lodge cast a majority to strike and hand back its international charter, the penalty of such action.

West Wanted War.

On the other hand, the west came out responded heartily, although unsuccessfully. The Allied artillerymen were feeling out the German rear lines with telling effort, making the enemy's rearguard action costly.

Prisoners captured near Chateau Thierry confirmed the soundness of Gen. Foch's plan when they declared a German retreat became imperative on account of decreased supplies. Stores of both ammunition and foodstuffs were becoming low, they said, and the officers had reported that it was practically impossible to resist.

Many Prisoners Taken.

Orders had been issued, the prisoners added, to retreat to a point ten miles north, but the indications tonight were that the Germans would not for long be permitted to remain that close to the Marne, for the Allied flanking movement is progressing steadily. Both the railroads and the wagon roads over which the enormous stores for the German forces must pass, are so menaced as to make them unusable. Streams of prisoners were being taken to the rear all day Sunday. Since Thursday the Americans have captured German soldiers representing ten different divisions.

Resisted to Last.

"It has needed all the reserves which promised victory to the German people, he says, to attempt to stop the Allied progress which continues nevertheless. The enemy has been forced to resist to the last ounce. He was completely beaten at Chateau Thierry, from which he scampered off, permitting a methodical advance up to Sunday night of 15 kilometres.

"Several Franco-American units have crossed the Marne, M. Hutin adds, which presages that the river will be entirely cleared of Germans soon."

Details of the brutal murder of,

The French official statement still continues to report the results of the fighting briefly and calmly. There has been no announcement of any increase in the number of prisoners, though it is reported from the battle front that many more have been captured. Four hundred machine guns and 30 cannon were found in the German positions south of the Marne. Berlin admits a withdrawal north and northeast of Chateau Thierry. Elsewhere it says the Allies have been repulsed with heavy losses by the German attacks. Admission that Gen. Foch's counter-blow was a surprise is made, but the German staff does not mention definite points where fighting is progressing.

Elsewhere on the western front and in Italy there has been no fighting activity. Paris, July 22 .- The Fr ench are now approximately eight miles north of the Marne at the deepest point of their drive.

With the French Army in France, July 22-(By the Associated Press) .- Frederick William, the German imperial crown prince, has been obliged to call for help from his cousin, Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria. German divisions from the army in the north have been hurried down to protect the western flank of the defeated army, which has been driven back over the Marne and ejected from Chateau Thierry by Franco-American troops.

The heaviest fighting today on the eastern side of the salient was in the hills and woods west of the mountain of Rheims, where the enemy was fighting tooth and nail to maintain himself. The Germans were attacked fiercely in this region today by British troops, including a Highland division, who took from him Courton Wood, Rheims Wood and the villages of Bouilly and St. Euphraise.

The Germans evidently mean to hold on at all costs to their flanking positions in the mountain of Rheims and on the plateau above Soissons.

Stocktaking Clearance of Ladies' Silk Suits

45 Ladies' Silk Suits are booked to be cleared tomorrow. True there are not many, but that does not alter the fact that the price at which they are being offered in this stocktaking sale would now scarcely purchase the materials of which they are made.

We need not advise the informed women that this is an opportunity not to be overlooked at this particular critical time; the styles are conservatively smart, and altogether this will prove a splendid purchase for now and later, as the styles are not extreme and will be in good taste for at least another season.

There are other reasons why you should make it a special point to attend this sale, but these are sufficient. In fact, there is a wide divergency in present wholesale costs and those of these garments, and were it not for our policy of absolute clearance, we might be tempted to carry these over. This offer, however, is said to be temporary. It is understood that the appointment of Postmaster-General Blondin has awakened in him a new interest in matters relating to the post-office department and he has made a promise that within two weeks he will have the cabinet settle the whole question of salaries.

There is no little unrest among a large number of the civil service employees. The letter-carreirs are only a small portion of those who are dissatisfied with the manner in which the service, particularly the postal branch, has been run.

VASTLY DIFFERENT TYPES OF COWFLY FOUND AT ILDERTON

Prove To Be New Varieties to Agricultural Expert.

Two different types of the "cow flies," the insect pests which have been creating such, have in Western Ontario, have been sent to The Advertiser by J. H. Morden of Ilderton. These specimens are vastly different in type and when submitted to F. R. Higgins of the Middlesex branch, department of agriculture, they remained unidentified. Mr. Higgins unhesitatingly declared that he had never seen anything like them before.

The "files," which are really more beetle-like in appearance than a fly, will be kept at the local branch of the agricultural department for investigation, and will then be sent on to the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph in order that the fullest kind of investigation may be made.

In referring to the samples he sent to this office, Mr. Morden declared it was exceedingly hard to capture any of them. He hoped, however, to secure better ones to send in for investigation later. Mr. Morden expressed belief that there were no visitations of the "heel fly" in the Ilderton district, the insect pests there, which are driving cattle and horses mad, being of another character. He also declared that there was little danger of humans being bitten. "They," writes Mr. Morden, referring to the flies, "seem to flutter when they start to fly, and then go very fast."

Orders Call for This Special Blondin's Elevation to Senate Cartoonist Now Spears "Constubules" for Their Speedster Traps.

London letter-carriers are watching with interest the strike of their fellow-workers at Toronto. There is no talk of a strike here, though the local men are just as keen and have been urging on the Government in every possible way, that their increase should come through. The men have been voted a provisional allowance, but this has never been placed into effect.

The proposal is to give them $150 a year provisional war allowance in addition to the $100 already received. This will go to married men and single men with dependents, and is in addition to the $150 grant will be dated back to April 1, but it is not announced whether it will be paid to the men in a lump sum or in monthly installments. This is immaterial to the men, they said.

Sunday Band Concert Draws Fro

From north, south, east and west they came last night to enjoy the band concert in Victoria Park. The stifling atmosphere that prevailed all day was relieved by a gentle breeze after the sun went down, and every available inch of green space was occupied by the musicolovers or the fresh-air seekers, whichever they chanced to be. It was certainly the largest crowd to attend a Sunday night concert this season. It seems too bad that the audience could not show more appreciation of the splendid program always provided for its enjoyment, by real hearty applause. The bandsmen are the only ones to exert themselves on these occasions; the others just sit and listen, but it is felt that they should be a little more responsive and show in a decided manner the appreciation they surely feel but are sometimes too indolent to express.

KILLING OF EX-CZAR COWARDLY CRIME IS LONDON PRESS VIEW

Romanoff Was Weak But Well-Intentioned Ruler.

London, July 22.—Recent reports and a recognition that probably the former emperor would suffer a violent death eliminated the element of surprise in the killing of Nicholas Romanoff, which none the less, excites sympathetic references here, and has caused some strong denunciation of the perpetrators of the crime. Nicholas never was a hero in this country for he had always been regarded as weak, but it is admitted that he had good intentions which by the tragedy of his weakness he was unable to realize.

The news of his death, which in ordinary times would have filled the newspapers and called for the biggest type appears in most papers inconspicuously and with one or two exceptions without editorial notice.

Recalling his inauguration of the Hague peace conferences and the establishment of the Duma, the paper says it will be considered on all hands that Russia made a greater advance to ward the light in his reign than under any or all of the preceding ones.

Lieut. Thompson was flying in France with Billy Bishop's circus squadron, and descended to within 600 feet of the ground to attack a transport train. Henry Propp, formerly of Waverly, Iowa, and more recently of Glanworth, is being detained under the care of Governor Carter here, awaiting the arrival of Sheriff J. A. Krause of Waverly. A warrant has been issued there for Propp, and acting on the request of Sheriff Krause the local county constables arrested him Saturday. He is wanted in lowa to stand trial on a charge of breaking and entering.

He was brought before Squire Chittick on Saturday, and was remanded for one week to give the Iowa authorities time to arrive here. The accused intimated that he was willing to waive extradition proceedings.

While in Glanworth he was employed by the Canadian Milk Products Company. Word has been sent to Sheriff Krause, and the arrival of that official is expected shortly.

The new British pamphlet shows that in August, 1914, when the war broke out, Great Britain's entire military strength amounted to 700,000 men, composed of 250,000 in the regular army, 200,000 reserves in civilian life and 250,000 partially trained troops belonging to the territorials. Since that time Great Britain has enlisted in her army and navy, one out of every four males, from birth to nonagenarian, in the entire population of the British Isles. The first expeditionary force of 160,000 arrived in France in mid-August and took part in the famous retreat and subsequent battle of the Marne. Kitchener asked on August 8 for 100,000 man and they were enrolled in less than a fortnight. By the end of July in 1915 two million had enlisted, while a year later King George announced to his people that 5,041,000 had enrolled voluntarily in the army and navy. In October, 1917, three million men were serving abroad on the various fronts, and the minister of national service stated in the House of Commons on January 14, 1918, that the empire had contributed 7,500,000 since war broke out. Men too old for the service had enlisted 250,000 strong in volunteer brigades for home de-

Of this great force practically 2,000,000 came from the Dominions and dependencies.

British casualties in 1917 exceeded those of the French by 500,000, and amounted to more than 800,000. During one month of the Flanders offensive more than 27,000 men were killed. It is also shown that while at Verdun the Germans employed twenty and a half divisions between February 21 and March 22, 1916, in the great German attack of 1918 they used 127 divisions between March 21 and April 17, and 102 of these divisions were against the British. a naval expansion unparalleled in Britain or any other country. Its accomplishment is the finest tible proof of the supremacy of the British navy, and of its inestimable value to the cause. "The British navy has driven the surface war-ships of the central powers into harbor, and kept them there. Early in the war it destroyed von Spee's squadron at the Falkland Islands and rounded up raiders. At the moment only one enemy surface vessel that managed to break out is unaccount-

In the same period the mileage of auxiliary vessels, including mine sweepers and patrolboats, was 6,000,-000-250 times the circuit of the globe. These figures hardly bear out the German statements that the British navy lies idle in harbor behind its defences.

"In regard to the naval blockade it may be noted that, whereas in 1915, 256 out of 1,400 ships cluded the patrol squadrons, at the end of 1916 only 60 out of 3,000 escaped being intercepted. In one month of 1917 not a single vessel trading with neutral countries crossed the North Atlantic and Arctic Oceans without being held up and examin-

"Many are called, but few are chosen." These words come to mind again and again when women and war work are considered. The road to France beckons invitingly, insistently, and multitudes would answer the self-given invitation. But the impulse to "do something" is not enough. It is not even important unless it is the crowning glory of a course of honest, strenuous, lengthy training. The most glorious outcome of this war, for women, is the fact that it has eliminated completely the superficial woman. She may remain superficial woman agitators and propagandists of five years ago have disappeared. Their calling is gone, and they have with drawn from the feeble limelight of those days exactly as the tiny summer gnats disappear on the frest cold day.

Today the women who are doing things that count are women who began things that count are women who began to do the work in hand in the very best way it could be done. Advancement, because to do the work in hand in the very best way it could be done. Advancement, once the work was the thing! No training was too severe if only excellence crowned the work.

These women were truly the wise virgins, more concerned to keep their lamps filled and the wicks in perfect working order than about the accomplishments that fill leisure hours. Their all has come at last, and their lamps are needed—every one of them. There is not a woman in the world today who has improved her talents from the time she began to view life seriously (in girl-hood days) but has a most important mission to perform. The world is waiting as "blossoming unseen" at this age of the world, if one's training has accomplished all that it should. The "shelf" on which women have resignedly lided themselves for years has been taken down, and even the grandmothers are today coming in for honorable mention in France.

Every woman who was prepared is doing a real part in the world's wo

"Until these views have been digested carefully no move will be made. It is possible a statement will be issued before night."

No appeal from Secretary Baker's interpretation of the "work or fight" Baseball as represented by the American League has accepted the situation without an outward murmur of protest, but regrets are openly expressed at what was taken as an imposition on the fans, but also would be merely a form of subterfuge in view of the Administration's edict.

American League has accepted the situation without an outward murmur of protest, but regrets are openly expressed at what was taken as an implied imputation of slackerism in the issuance of such a drastic order without any previous intimation of the Government's wishes. It was pointed out that twice last season the American League offered to close its parks if such action would help in winning the war, but that the idea was discouraged.

EMPIRE CITY DERBY EASY FOR JACK HARE

New York, July 22,—Jack Hare Jun., on Saturday just spoiled the Empire City derby which attracted a larger crowd than on the opening day to the Yonkers course. With Johnson crowd than on the opening day to the Yonkers course. With Johren in Saratoga and War Cloud not among the eligibles there were no three-year-olds of any account to dispute the issue with the little son of Marathon, which has been racing with such success this season.

W. R. Coe's Nutcracker had to be withdrawn because of a quarter crack, and the pencil also was run through the name of Papp. In consequence Jack Hare, Jun., was the shortest priced horse to start this year, the layers offering 1 to 20 against his chances of beating Recount and Matinee Idol. There was little excitement in either the derby or the Whirl stakes for two-year-olds which was won in a gallop by Sweep On. The longest shot of the season went over when Lucky Lady captured the sixth race at odds of 50 to 1, with Milda, a 20 to 1 chance, in the place. Close finishes were frequent.

That the track is rounding into shape was shown in the second race in which the winner, St. Isidore, completed the mile and 70 yards in 1.42 4-5, a fifth of a second better than the track record made by Fern Rock in 1916. But she was so brilliant a scholar that she made rapid progress in her studies, and at the age of 17 she put up her hair and lengthened her skirts and herself became a teacher. Her salary as teacher was 75 cents a week and board. As this was inadequate for her support she had to supplement it by spinning and weaving for some of her neighbors. But she kept on studying in spare moments. By economical living she managed, in three years, to save enough money, which, added to a tiny sum received from the sale of her few possessions, was sufficient to enable her to spend a term at Sanderson Academy. Starring the Beautiful Dorothy Dalton at the Majestic Theatre Today, Tuesday

More often than we know, the German spies and plotters in our own land are handed the double-cross by clever and astute Secret Service operatives. In the new Dorothy Dalton picture, "The Kaiser's Shadow," produced by Thos. H. Ince, and released by Paramount, which is to be the attraction at the Majestic Theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday, they are handed the triple-cross.

How the Hun plotters are outwitted is graphically depicted in this new photo-How the Hun plotters are outwitted is graphically depicted in this new photo-play—a story by Octavus Roy Cohen and J. U. Giesy, which was published in the All Story Weekly. The Germans are after the plans of a new "ray rifle"—the in-rention of an American. He is about to depart on his honeymoon when he is in-volved in a series of adventures that are hair-raising in their nature and which result in the final discomfiture of the spies and the saving of the secret of the owerful weapon. This is a captivating photoplay, filled with numerous thrills and distinct heart appeal. Its theme is a patriotic one and all who see it will rejoice when the Hun plotters are run to earth. The mystery of the story is not revealed until the final Scene and the solution will be a veritable surprise to every spectator.

Miss Dalton is admirably supported in this photoplay by such screen artists as Thurston Hall, Edward Cecil, Otto Hoffman, Charles French and Leota Lor-

CROP PROSPECTS GOOD.

Railway Official's Conclusions Following Western Tour Western Tour.

After an extended tour through the West, over both the C. P. R. and other lines, during which I looked carefully into crop prospects, I think it is safe to conclude that, with the increased acreage under cultivation, Western Canada this year will produce at least as many bushels of grain as last year, provided, of course, that conditions continue as favçable as they are at present."

This was the statement made on July 15 by Mr. C. E. McPherson, assistant passenger traffic manager of the C. P. R. at Winnipeg, while in Montreal on a business trip.

on a business trip.

Mr. McPherson said that in some parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan drought and winds had cut into the possibilities of the harvest very seriously, while in larger districts recent rains had helped the growing grain along wonderfully, so that where a few weeks ago there was little in sight it now seemed likely there would be at least fair crops. In Manitoba, which province had during recent years fallen behind in wheat production, Mr. McPherson said the prospects were particularly good, with a largely-increased area of wheat acreage, and every prospect of abundant yields.

Claims Unfair Play.

"Pocock," said Comrade Crewell, "is as everyone knows, a political tool of Lieut. Coles, and that is the reason for this unfair play." He added that instead of the men acting like great war veterans at their meetings they were like a bunch of school children at Sunday school with the president as teacher. He said that he was there to fight from Monday until Saturday, and then again on Sunday to see that every returned man gets a fair crack of the whip.

Comrade Capewell was then elected asceretary for the time being, until another meeting should be called, at which all the officers could be elected. STRATFORD WOMAN the proceedings, preferring to be a listener. Hard to Fight G.W.V.A. Sergt. Joseph said that the meeting had been started in a poor way, and that in his estimation it was more of an indignation meeting than an organization meeting. The men should have some strong basis to start on, as the G.W.V.A. was a strong institution, and it would be hard to fight it. He proposed that the men start a club composed entirely of veterans of the great war, as he thought that it was a bad policy to knock anyone, and that was what the men were doing in working against the G.W.V.A. Sergt. Joseph proposed a resolution to start a new organization, and it was unanimously passed.
