CHAPTER. XIII.

"KITTY," cried Edward, bursting into the drawing-room, at the Parsonage, where Catherine sat with an open book before her, but thoughts wandering far away, "Kitty, my dear sister, what am I to do? Here I have been puzzling my brain for the last ten days to compose an Epithalamium for you and Frank! I tried Greek first, but you know I've only read the Prometheus, and Iambies don't come easy. I tried Latin next, but I couldn't determine whether it should be in Sapphies or Aleaics, and owing to the confusion of my mind, half the stanza was in one and half in the other; so down I fell to English, plain, wholesome English, as father calls it—which is, after all, the most Christian language of the three. I shall have a couple of hours' hard fighting with the Muse, by and by, and I'll bring her coy ladyship to terms, depend upon it. If you could but help me to a rhyme, now and then—but, of course, that is not to be expected Mother is tremendously grand to-day. I can't get a word out of her, or I'd have pressed her into the service. She is glorious at finding rhymes. She has got a splendid gown for tomorrow, and a bonnett my aunt would give her cars for."

"I wish I could show her how grateful 1 am ears for."

"I wish I could show her how grateful I am for all her goodness to us," said Catherine.

"I don't thing you need feel oppressed by the weight of the obligation," replied Edward, gaily; "though I must say mother has behaved splendidly about Ellington; and one must not mind her being a little cross sometimes. But come, Kitty! If I go and fetch the horses, you'll have one more ride with me, won't you, before you join the formidable corpe of matross. Just one last ride!"

formidable corps of matrons. Just one last ride?"

Catherine not unwillingly consented, for she loved the boy dearly; and, in the near opproach of an event so important, she felt herself unable to exercise her habitual control over her thoughts. It was a day in early autumn. The foliage had lost nothing of its summer fullenss, though it was coloured here and there with the beautiful shades that herald its decay. Roses clustered round the cottage doors, and the air was fragrant with clematis, while the stately autumn flowers podded queenly greetings to each other, and the ripe fruits basked in the sunshine. The fresh wind, the blue sky, the rich landscape, combined to raise the spirits of the riders. Never had Edward looked so handsome; never had the play of his mind been so graceful. Catherine could not help gazing with admiration on his dark animated countenance, and on the supple grace of his movements.

"I will be with you before breakfast to-morrow."

movements.

"I will be with you before breakfast to-morrow, Kitty," he gaily cried, as he rode away, leading the pony she had been riding "as econ as ever Frank is off my hands! And never fear but I'll finish the Epithalamium, if I invoke all the Nine, nmen the Epithalamium, if I invoke all the Nine, at once, to my aid."

She lingered to look after him as he rode down the lane, on his glossy chestnut hunter, singing joyously, and with many a bright backward look and glad farewell.

CHAPTER XIV.

The autumn day had long since closed. Lurid clouds that in the horizon; and the full harvest moon waded through majestic clouds—now walled in dense masses—now in fragments of grotesque shape. Lady Irwin stood on the balcony on which her dressing-room opened. The heavy shade of the trees; the stillness, broken fitfully by the meanings of the rising wind, and the jagged clouds; were in grand harmony with her spirit. The weight at her heart seemed a little lightened as she contemplated, in the little lightened as she contemplated, in the despening night, this tempest hatching in apparent calm, and ready to burst.

The door of the chamber opened, but so softly, that it was only by the current of air produced that Lady Irwin was aware of it. Agness entered the room, her clive cheek pale, and her thin lips compressed.

Lady Irwin stepped slowly from the balcony, her eyes fixed in eager inquiry on her attendant.

"It is done," said the Italian, speaking with difficulty from her parched throat. Then, after a passes, she added, more quickly, "it was quite leasy. The glass was en the table, where Elton had placed it, with the Seltzer water. It was "Not dare to go in!" repeated Lady Irwin, with surprise. "What should you fear?"

"When he is dead!" said Aguese, In a low voice.

"What harm can the poor clay do you, simpleton?" cried Lady Irwin, scornfully. "What! is the daughter of Beatrice Pistorella!"

Agnese hung her head, and was silent.

"He will only look like one in a deep sleep—tike one in a deep leaden sleep. We have only lulled him to sleep—to the sweet dreamless alcep that in him which great all-pervading sool. He is but rocked to sleep a little before his time, to be reproduced in some other form of being. It is she who will suffer: the pain and the wood will be all here. But hark! I hear Sir Edward's door open. He will be amszed to find me still dressed. Quick, Agnese. Give me my dressing younn, and let down my hair."

As the heatened the operations of her waiting gown, and let down my hair."

As the heatened the operations of her waiting younn, whose hands, cold and clammy with excitement, were little apt to render her service, the clock struck eleven.

"He cannot be long now," asid Lady Irwin, assisting her maid to unfasten the long coile of her bair." If you are afraid to go alone, wait for me, and, when Sir Edward is seleep, I will come to your room, and we will go together. How awkward you are to-night, Agnese. Comb my hair carefully instead of toaring it. Do you from, and we will go together. How awkward you are to-night, Agnese. Comb my hair carefully instead of toaring it. Do you forget we are to have a wedding to-merrow?

At this moment Sir Edward came through the dressing-room. He paused to say a few words to his wife, and to make some inquiries as to the arrangements for the morrow. Lady Irwin-face reflected in the mirror, shaded though it was by the profuse masses of her bair, struck him by its extreme pallor, made the more remarkable by the profuse masses of her bair, struck him by its extreme pallor, made the more remarkable of the will be shaded and the will be surrowed by the profuse masses of her bair, struck him by its extreme to observe her, and, tenderly chiding her negligence of her health, closed the window.

It seemed to Lady Irwin and to Agnese that he would never go. In vain the returned short answers. He was evidently disturbed about her. He would not go, but began to talk of other things. Aware of the extreme danger of awakening his suspicious, ahe did her best to simulate an interest she did not feel. But when she became aware that some one was moving in the room above, which was Frank's her excitement became uncontrollable. At length, chaking her har over her face, so as almost to conceal her festures, she said, with a desperate attempt at playfulness, of Come Edward, I shall quarrel with you, if "I do not fear that. He will be weary. And is est opin, it is not fail to drink."

"I do not fear that. He will be weary. And is not fail to drink."

"I be care he not yet come home? He lingers to night. I wish it were over. This suspense is unendurable. Did you hear nothing then?
"Only the eighing of the wind through the trees. There will be wild work among them to night. Wild work within, and wild work without! atout young branches rest and snapped, like a tulip by the hand of a child."

"Be silent, Agnese," cried Lady Irwin, fercely; "the sound of your voice makes mand! Be silent, and let me listen."

In obedience to her command Agnese was silent. The agnoy of expectation became every moment more intense. Yet there was no tonch of remorse—a stimely repentance. Every nerre was stimulated to the highest pitch of sensibility. Sounds, in general scarcely audible, seemed soloud and importunate, as to be almost unendurable. On looking around, on the freedom and happiness enjoyed by your Majesty's subjects in the sister Provinces, it jects in the sister Frominces, have to sincere regret, that Petitioners have to mar the general harmony with complaints to your Majesty; but the people in the pro-vinces hold us in derision, for submitting to become Tenants for unimproved Land; and with humiliation and shame we must own it, that the monopoly of the Land in this Island, which has been so often complained of, for a period of nearly seventy years remains still without any redress—a hot-bed and nursery for corruption and oppres-

Yet it is a great satisfaction to petitioners to have it to say, that it is not from any undue exercise of the Royal Authority; it is of the servants of the Crown we have to complain; —who have misunderstood the Royal intentions, and given encouragement to conspirators, to ensnare the labouring class of British subjects; to deprive them of their birth-right,—by placing them in the position of aliens, and reducing them to a state of bondage as Tenantry—to have them to reclaim wild lands, and pay rent for their own improvements.

It is not an admitted principle in the Bri-

It appears, that there were only a party of the Grantees in the conspiracy to make Tenants of British subjects; and the main objects for moving in such enactments at that time, were to induce the Grantees, who were in the conspiracy, to give up their grants to the Lieut, Governor and other speculators in the Island, (for nominal or trifling sums), who would join in the conspiracy. For when the transfers were made, and the Officers of the Colonial The conspirators and impostors claimed Government, who were receiving their not only the land granted, but the lands salaries from the Imperial Treasury, had either obtained grants for themselves, or Colonial Ministers, Governors and Officers were taken into the pay of Grantees as Land Agents, the Act to revest the forfei-ted lands in the Crown, which had gone through the forms and received all the olemnities of law, was suppressed.

In the year 1818, the Lieut. Governor of that day, made proclamation, that it was the pleasure of His Royal Highness the Prince Regent to release the Proprietors from the obligation of settling their grants with Foreign Protestants, provided they settled their grants with other persons within ten years from 1816. This proclamation received all the submission from the contraction of the cont them to reclaim wild lands, and pay rent for their own improvements; to enable conspirators to gain an improved Estate, by the labor and means of their fellow subjects. To explain the case more fully, it will be necessary to refer to the first colonization of America, as handed down to us.

When it became advisable to colonize America with British subjects, your Majesty's ancestors thought it necessary to grant extensive Territories to men of influence and property; who were to introduce that it had no legal foundation, and consequently it was only a fabrication to deceive the people; and the Governor paid so little regard to his proclamation, that two Townships were then revested in the Crown The inhabitants were settled in fee-simple, on paying for the grant; but the object of that Escheat, appears to have been to grant land to his family and friends, to sell again

At a Meeting held on St. Peter's Road on the 3d of July inst., the following Resolutions and Addresses were unanimously agreed to:

Ist. Moved by Mr. J. C. Campbell, seconded by Mr. Ronald Ban M'Donald:

As it is implied that if the land had been fully occupied with British subjects within the term of four years, the grants must have expired then for non-settlement with foreigners. But the time for settlement expired, without the introduction of foreigners, and the land remained unoccupied, a snare for British subjects who believed that the forfeiture would be enforced, and that they

Such are the toils set against men, the scope of whose learning was to know their catechism, and say their prayers, and their education to be charitable, just in their dealings, obedient to the laws, and earn their bread by labour; con-sequently such men could not plead their own cause to the Sovereign against such influence opposed to them, or avoid being taken in the snares. But it was not from a want of spirit of such actions would be misrepresented to the Sovereign, and that any outburst of in-dignation would demoralize the inhabitants. Applications to Colonial Ministers, for a settlement of the Land Question, have been resisted, until the year 1851, when Earl Grey instructed Sir Alexander Ban-nerman to use his influence to have the question settled in an equitable manner, by Legislative enactment: and an Act was where they were straitened for room, here they had full scope for their exerthere they had full scope for their exerBut in process of time, it was found the debts due by Colonists to the following grounds, viz: that the debts due by Colonists to the following grounds, viz: that the could not become Law, without the Royal the Land Purchase Act, which required the conditions were impracticable, and infromthe debts due by Colonists to the conditions were impracticable, and infromthe to be increased, through his influence the Legislature and Grants which a public benefit at first, became a public benefit at first, became a public benefit at first, became a foreited; that the Landlords have a right to recover rent, because the Tenantry had covenanted to pay rent, and that the to recover rent, because the Tenantry should derive no benefit from the foreitted principle in the Britan admitted principle in the Britan and matted principle in the Brit

And for the first purchase of land under And for the first purchase of land under this Act, the report of the Attorney General's investigation of the Titles is in the following words, viz: "The conditions of settlement in all the Grants are the usual conditions, and being known to the Government, I have deemed it unnecessary to advert to them, in the foregoing abstract;" and the usual conditions for settlement in the Grants referred to, are in the following words, viz: "and the said Grantees furthe Grants referred to, are in the following words, viz: "and the said Grantees further bind and oblige themselves, their heirs and assigns, to settle the said Lot or Township hereby granted within ten years from the date hereof, with Protestant settlers, in the proportions of one person to every two hundred acres—said Protestant settlers to be introduced from such parts of Francisco be introduced from such parts of Europe as are not within His Majesty's dominions, or to be such persons as have resided with-in His Majesty's dominions of America two years antecedent to the date hereof; and if the said Grantees, shall not settle one-third of the said Lot or Township, in the pro-portion aforesaid, within four years from the date hereof, then the whole of the said Lot or Township, shall become forfeited to his Majesty, his heirs and successors; and this Grant shall be void and of none effect."

And the following case of a purchase of Land, by the colonial Government, under the Land Purchase Act, is submitted to show that the clause introduced into that Act, viz: "for the investigation of the titles of land," has been introduced for the purpose of deceiving your Majesty, as it has not been acted upon, in the first purchase under the Act.

Certain Townships and tracts of land, called the Worrell Estate, over 80,000 acres, were offered last winter for the Government purchase. The Estates were in the hands of trustees, and the Attorney General, their reputed law agent, the trustees had mortgaged the Estate to satisfy themselves; but apparently to give a color to the validity of their titles, and Joseph Pope, together with his son and two others, purchased the Estates in London from Worrell, for £500 sterling—the mortgage of £9000 currency to be settled for in the Island—and the Goconspirators and impostors, to enable them to be settled for in the Island—and the Government purchased the Estates from them to claim the land and improvements of British subjects—worth at least a million of pounds sterling,—while Great Britain has been taxed to defray the Colonial Civil Colony, a Member of the Executive and of List, about £300,000 sterling. Purchase Act was passed, and must have known then, or have been informed of it by his former colleagues in office, that the titles of a secret tribunal—the Commissioner of Public Lands and Attorney General being members of the same body—to investigate titles, to buy with the public money, and sell, to the public, without any appeal from their decision, but to your Majesty. Great Britain over this Colony, to set Royal Ordinances aside and subvert its laws, to set men against men, by corrupt-ing one class to debase the other. The Legislative Council is composed of men, who have no sympathy with the people, for a lawful and just settlement of the Land Question; and they are allowed the Land Question; and they are anowed a preponderance in the Executive Council. Your Petitioners therefore pray, that your Majesty will be graciously pleased to give instructions to the Governor to govern this Colony for the honor of your Majesty and the well-being of your subjects,—to carry out the Royal intentions according to law and the British constitution;—and purify such institutions in the Colony, as may be found corrupted through a long course of

And Petitioners further pray your Majesty, that it may be understood by their Petition, that Petitioners respect the rights of property, which is lawfully and honestly acquired, and in seeking an investigation of the conditions of the Grants and Escheat of lands which are forfeited, it is to deprive defaulters and impostors of unjust claims, and to relieve the tenantry from a bondage imposed by conspirators in disobedience of the order of King in Council of the 26 Au-gust, 1767, and the tenantry declare their willingness to pay a price to the Government, for the fee simple interest of their farms, to make up any deficiency which might accrue to the revenue, through the loss of the tax upon Wilderness land. And it is desirable as far as practicable, to restore improved lands to the parties who have the best claim to the improvements, and to provide for widows and orphans, whose maintenance arose from the rents, the tenants are willing to pay such a price for their farms, as will enable the Government to allow compensation to the one party and a provision for the other.

Resolved, It is necessary to inform His Resolved, it is necessary to inform His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, that although the people were well satisfied with neveral beneficial measures brought to perfection and put into operation by the men who form the present administration, yet they are of minor importance to what was promised and expected. When they did not recover the Fishery Reserves from the ministration went out of office, some calamity would befall the Colony, if they voted for the titles of land to be investigated,—therefore the people have no confidence in the administration, and that the Lieutenant Governor be requested to dissolve the House of Assembly and take the opinion of the people by a new election.

To His Excellency DOMINICK DALY, Esq. Lieut. Governor, &c. &c. &c.

The Petition of the Inhabitants of Prince Edward Island.

Petitioners respectfully call your Excel-ency's attention to the fact, that this Colony is governed in opposition to the ordinances of the Sovereign and the well-being of the community. The original Grants were made by an order of the King in Council, upon conditions which declare that unless the grantees settle one-third of their Grants with Grants with Grants. with foreigners within four years, the land shall be forfeited, and the Grants shall be void and of no effect, which evidently im-plies, that the Grantees who have not fulfilled that condition, shall not exercise an owner-ship over the land, so as to make a trade and profit of it by sale or lease, to defraud other subjects who required land to settle themselves upon and bring it under cultiva-tion, and have a better right to a share of revenue and demand a rent—the revenue to uphold such authorities and invest them with arbitrary power to recover rents for pretended Landlords,—and such oppression being continued by successive Ministers.

being continued by successive Ministers.

To be released from such authority, a large majority of the inhabitants supported a party of men (who styled themselves liberal) to raise them to honor and office as members of the Government, under the impression that they would perform their promise and use such means as were in their power to have the tenantry settled in free-hold. Nor did the inhabitants forget the useful measures they have passed, or withdraw their confidence from the Government until after the purchase of the Worrell Esuntil after the purchase of the Worrell Estate, and procuring members of the House of Assembly to vote that the titles of land should not be investigated, nor comply with the law which they themselves originated.

To have inserted a clause in the Land

Purchase Bill, for the investigation of Titles so as to procure the Royal Assent to the Bill, but without any intention of investigating the titles was deceiving the Sovereign— and to purchase lands which are forfeited and to purchase lands which are fortested without such investigation—is defrauding the public, and making the Sovereign a party to the fraud. To say that the investigation of titles does not mean the conditions of the grants, but only refers to the transfer of the Grants from party to party, is inteading to deceive and mislead the ignorant, the better to betray them; yet these are the Acts of the present Gavernment.

of the present Government.

Petitioners believe that the Order of the King in Council for granting the Township land upon certain conditions for settlement; and the thirtieth section of the Royal inand the thirtieth section of the Royal in-structions for the due administration of jus-tice in this Island, are ordinances of sove-reign authority; and that the fifth section of the Act, for the Government to purchase land, which requires the titles to be investi-gated, has received Her Majesty's special mot recover the Fishery Reserves from the pretended Landlords—when they have taken the public money to purchase the Worrell Estates, which are presumed to be forfeited, without investigating the titles—when they passed an Act that they might purchase the Township Lands with a condition, that they would cause the titles to be investigated—when they voted in the House of Assembly, that the law which they them selves originated to investigate the titles, should not go into operation, when they persuaded unwary Members, that if the address of their means, to give such deprive them of their means, to give such means to defaulters and impostors, is certainly unconstitutional, all of which in our opinion, has rendered the Executive unworthy of confidence; and as there is no appeal from the decisions of Government on the fraudulent purchase of land, but to a new Election. That for the reasons before given and for the deception practised to lead unwary men to support Ministers' despatches, in opposition to law and the ordinances of the Sovereign, we pray your Excellency to dissolve the House of Assembly, and order a new Election for the honor of and order a new Election for the honor of Her Majesty and the peace of her subjects in this Colony.

The disastrous war which the mother Country conducted against her American Colonies may have engaged the attention of the Colonial Minister to the neglect of this Island for several years, but cannot justify ministers in allowing Governor Fanning to form a conspiracy, with pretended owners of the land, to destroy the Royal Authority, and allow such pretended owners to exercise supreme power over the Colony as Governor and landlord, to receive the revenue and demand a rent—the revenue to unsheld such authorities and invest them. THE KERTCH EXPEDITION.

YENERALE, Saturday Morning, May 26.—At five o'clock last night, Sir Edmund Lyons returned in the Banshee. Yenikale was set on fire in two places yesterday, and it required all the exertions of the authorities to prevent the flames spreading and devastating the whole place. The houses are smashed open, the furniture broken to pieces, and "looting" and plundering are the order or the disorder of the day. Two of the 42nd Highlanders, who were in a crowd which was assembled round a house yesterday, were shot in a very extraordinary manner. A French soldier struck at the closed door, to break it with the butt of his musket. The concussion discharged the piece, and the ball killed one of the men on the spot, and wounded the other severely. The quantity of bedding, clothes, looking-glasses, coarse furniture, household chattels, and useful implements of all kinds, carried off by the sailors to the ships off Yenikale, was enormous, and the work of transfer from the houses to the vessels still continues briskly. The enemy have not been seen in the neighbourhood. The English have placed sentries over such buildings as they can protect, and the French also have established order to a certain extent among their men; but our soldiers are much more amenable to discipline on such occasions, than troops accustomed to A frican warfare, and familiar with the traditions eertain extent among their men; but our sold-iers are much more amenable to discipline on such occasions, than troops accustomed to Afri-can warfare, and familiar with the traditions of conquest. The French have also an old grudge against the Russians, and perhaps feel a more bitter personal animosity against them than we do. Sir George Brown gave orders last night, that any person found in the town after dark should be put in the guardhouse, and that any one in the guardhouse in the morning should be flogged. There was, however, an alarm of fire renewed this morning, and some alarm of fire renewed this morning, and some difficulty was experienced in suppressing the flames. Kertch, which we can see in the distance, is described by all our people who marched through it as a beautiful town, full of fine buildings, with clean wide streets, and excellent because stays proposed and experience. quays, promenades, and government houses, quaye, promenades, and government institutions—worthy, in fact, of a well-ordered European state.

The only injury inflicted on Kertch was the destruction of a large granary by the Russians, and the demolition by fire of a manufactory of rifle balls and munitions of war, belonging to an Englishman, which was found in full play. The proprietor, as well as two other countrymen of ours, long settled there, was spized. All the people are still in the town. They were well dressed-and respectable, nor did they differ in appearance from the inhabitants of a Belgian or German town. As our troops marched through, the inhabitants came out to look at them and offered them bread and salt, the tokens of submission and friendship. One of our efficers who went into a chemist's shop and asked for something to drink was agreeably surprised at receiving a bottle of excellent soda water with a dash of liquor, in it. A great number of vessels fell into our hands here, and all the government stores and many guns, some number of vessels fell into our hands here, and all the government stores and many guns, some of which were found loaded and shotted. The corn which the enemy failed to burn was sprinkled by them with lime and water, to render it unfit for use, and it is feared that the poorer, part of the population of Kertch, which is sufficiently numerous, will be reduced to great straits for want of food, as the public granaries are laid waste and ruimed.

May 27, 1 o'clock, p. m.—The fire in the morning was caused by the destruction of the Russian boat-house and ferry-station opposite Yenikale, which was protected by a battery of eight gune. The Snake or Viper destroyed the morning was caused by the destruction of the Russian boat-house and ferry-station opposite Yenikale, which was protected by a battery of eight gune. The Snake or Viper destroyed the hattery, and cut off a portion of the garrison, hat she could not stay to take them prisoners, as her presence was required in the Sea of Azoff. It would seem that Russia, aware of her real weakness in these seas, or ignorant of the truth, allowed the most extraordinary statements to go forth respecting the completeness and magnitude of her preparations of defence. It was imagined, that the channel was blocked up at Kertch, or below it, and for some time back it was sedulously stated, that the passage had been obstructed by sunken ships, heaps of stone, piles of timber, and artificial banks; but our vessels got up easily in 24 fathoms of water, at the very lowest along the channel haid down and buoyed by the Spitfire. If any of these obstructious really do exist they will me doubt be encountered in the old channel, to the eastward and nearer to Taman, which is still marked with Russian huoys. We did not no quot to encountered in the out channer, to the eastward and nearer to Taman, which is still marked with Russian huoys. We did not use that channel, but sailed alose to the land from Ambalaki to Paulovskara, and then stood from Ambalaki to Paulovskaya, and then stood across the entrance to Kertch, and 4 to 24 fathoms of water all the way to Yenikale. The grater is almost as turbid as that of the Thames, and of a more yellow hue, as it rushes from the sea of Azoff. The appearance of our armada as it approached must have been most formidable. The sky above it was readered as dark as night with the immense pall of black moke which across from the funnals of the steamers, and the asrows straits must have seemed to the enemy was though they were bridged over by the great armament which was advancing against them. They might well be accused for thinking we had 40,000 troops on heard, and that resistance would be hopeless. A decent force of cavalry landed at Ambalaki would probably have enabled us to boast of several thousand prisoners, for the flight of the Russians was disorderly, and, for the first time, they were seen to retreat without discipline or creditable steadiness. The gans in Yenikale are new and fine. Some of them are mounted on a curious kind of swivel—the platforms are on the American principle. One brass piece, which is lying near the guardhouse, is said to have been taken from the Turks at Sinope, The troops are in good health, in spite of the bad weather.

The 72d Highlanders embarked at Malta in the steamer Alma, and left for the Crimea 28th ult. A draft of 3 officers and 207 men from the Depot follows immediately from Ireland. character, 182,000 French troops have been sent to the Crimea, of these 120,000 are now available, leaving 62,000 to be accounted for. The death statistics of the war are appalling. In the course of less than two years, at least 500, 000 human beings have perished on the field of battle, in hospital, or in the nook and corners where a homeless peasantry crawl to die, when war is raging around them.

Three Hundred and Fifty Houses Destroyed by Fire —A letter from Bergen, in Norway, of the 2nd instant, states, that on the previous night a fire broke out in that city, by which upwards of 350 houses were destroyed; so rapidly did the flames extend, that the inmates were obliged to escape in their night dresses, not having time to save a single article. Three of the finest districts of the town have been destroyed, and it was only by pulling down houses in different directions that the other parts of the town were saved. By the exertions of the firemen, several of whom are said to have been killed, the bourse, the bank, and the royal museum were saved. The amount covered by insurance is 148,430 crowns (about £31,500) but that sum is equal only to a 20th part of the loss. THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY HOUSES DESTROYE

A Competent knowledge of Geography is more essentially a necessary requisite of education than ever. Steam has opened up new or emlarged the old channels of commerce to such in different the first of the school, from the fact that he spent only about in calling the attention of our readers to the first of his knowledge. We have much pleasure therefore in calling the attention, of our readers to the arcicle as adapted to ficilities the extension of the subject which is promised under the school and the private family, and fits the third division of the subject which is promised under the sitle "High School Geography and Companion Atlas" be as well expected.

A Competent knowledge of Geography is more essentially a necessary requisite of education to such misrepresentation. I have enough to submit to such misrepresentation.

The Show will be equal to the best to be had as usual, at the Book-s cuted as those already published, there will be little left to wish for. The maps are suitable to each work and to the capacity of the pupils for whom they are intended, and the engavings which are numerous and well calculated to impress on the mind of the learner a correct knowledge of the physical as well as artificial productions of the different countries are far superior to what we generally meet with in works of this nature. When we shall have been favoured with Part 3, we will give a more been favoured with Part 3, we will give a more extended notice of the whole work.

[From William B. Bradbury.]

Missens. Mason & Hamlin,
Gents,—I heard with pleasure of your commencing the manufacture of Melodeous, feeling assured that you would be able from your practical skill, ample facilities, and peculiar advantages, to effect important improvements in the construction of these Instruments. Having now had an opportunity of examining a number of your Instruments, I am by on menus disappointed in the result. You are certainly producing Melodeous, which, in all desirable characteristics are, so far as I can perceive, faultless. An Instrument possessing so many beauties, is admirably adapted to the parlor and the church, and I am suissfied that so soon as the public become acquainted with the superior merits of your Instruments, your only trouble will be to supply the demand.

JAUNDICE. DYSPEPSIA, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a disordered liver or stomach, such as Constipation, inward Piles, fallness, or blood to the head, acidity of the atomach, Nausea, Heartburn, disgust for food, fallness or weight in the stomach, sour cructations, sinking, or flattering at the pit of the stomach, swimming of the head, hurried and difficult breathing, flattering at the heart, choking or sufficating sensations when in a lying posture, diamness of vision, dots or webs before the sight, fever and dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellow ness of the skin and eyes, pain in the side, back, chest, Limbs, &c., sudden flushers of heat, burning in the flesh, constant imaginings of evil, and great depression of spirits, can be effectually cured by Doctor Hooflands.

DOCTOR HOOFLAND'S CELEBRATED GERMAN BITTERS, prepared by Da. C. M. JACKAON, German Medicine Store, No. 120 Arch St., one door below Sixth Philada.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skilful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of Invalide. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of the liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching power in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are withal safe, certain, and pleasant.

of the truth of his story,"

Messrs. Jos. B. Hall & Co.—Gentlemen—In answer to your inquiries, I will state that my daughter, aged about 16 years, had been complaining of a pain in her side, for six or seven years, and about the first January last, was taken down and confined to her bed. The pain in her side was very severe, besides being troubled with pains between her shoulders and in her breast. From reading a number of cures performed by "Hoofland's German Bitters" I was induced to try it in her case, and sent to your store and purchased one bottle. She had taken it but a few days when she began to improve, and now, after taking only one bottle, she is onjoying better health than she has for years. She feels no pain in her side or in any part of her body, and attributes her cure entirely to the German Bitters.

WILLIAM CLARK, Salmon Brook, Aroostook Co., Me.
You should bear in mind that these Bitters are ENTIRELY VEGETABLE, thereby possessing advantages over most of the preparations recommended for similar diseases.

Great English Remedy! The most valuable Spring and Summer Medicing in the World:

Dr. Halsey's FOREST WINE

ronized by the Nobility and Medical Faculty of England, and estemed the most extra-dinary Medicine in the World.

Medicine containing molasses or liquorice, like the boasted Sarsaparillas, require many large bottles to produce the slightest change in health. The Forest Wine is altogether a different article. It contains no syrap to give it consistency, but acquires its excellent flavor and powerful medicinal properties from the vegetable plants of which it is composed. The Forest Wine combines the virtues of the

with other valuable plants whose properties are with other valuable plants whose properties are all most effective.

Its high concentration renders it one of the most efficient medicines now in use. Sometimes less than a single bottle restores the lingering patient from weakness, debility, and sickness, to strong and vigorous health. Every dose shews its good effects on the constitution, and improves the state of the health. The Forest Wine is recommended, in the strongest terms, for all complaints of the Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Nervous Disorders, Billous Affections, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Femile Complaints, Scrofula, and all Disorders arising from Bad Badod and impure habit of the system.

Testimony from Maine.

CAPT. Daniel Amort, Brooklyn, Maine, July 16, 1843, says: "I was taken sick one year ago, lest April, upon my passage from Havanna to Charleston, S. C. At the latter place I took medicine and procured a physician, but for ten days could obtain no relief, no sleep or appetite. At last taking up a newspaper having your advertisement of 'Hoofland's German Bitters' in it, I sent for some immediately this was about 10 o'clock, at 11 o'clock I took the first dose, and another at 6 o'clock. The effect was so rapid on me, that I had a good appetite for supper, and rested well that night, and the next day found me a well man. I have not been without your medicine since, having been sailing between Baltimore, Charleston and the West India Islands ever since. I have now given up going to sea, and reside in this place, where you should have an agency, as you could sell large quantities of it."

REAT CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT OF TEN YEARS' STANDING.

New York, January 9th, 1848.

Br. Halsey—Dear Sir,—Having taken your Forest Wine and Pills to remove a disease of the Liver from which I have suffered severely for upwards of ten years; and having adhered closely to the directions which accompany the medicines. I have recovered my health, nothwithstanding all who knew me thought my case incurable. Previous to taking the Wise and Pills, I had recourse to the best medical treatment, but continued to grow worse to an alarming degree. Some of my friends spoke desparagingly of my case, and tried to persuade me from making use of any advertised remedies; and I doubt not, that there are hundreds who are dissuaded from taking your excellent medicines in consequence of the decepton and inefficiency of many advertised remedies put forth by asprincipled men in flaming advertisements. But, what a pity it is, that the deception used by others should be the means of dissuading many labouring under disease from making trial and being cured by your excellent remedies. Humanely speaking, they have saved my life; when I commenced making use of them, I was in a wretched condition, but began to experience their good effects in less than three days; and in six weeks from the time I purchased the medicines, to the great surprise of all my friends, I was entirely cared, and had increased fifteen pounds in weight, having taken one box of the Pills, and two bottles of the wine. Would to God that every poor safferer would avail himself of the same remedies, Yours, &c.,

James Willow.

NERVOUS DISORDERS Are diseases of the mind eg well as of the body, usually brought on by troubles and affliction, and are most common to persons of delicate constitutions and sensitive minds. Low spirits, melanchely, frightful dreams, and fearful anticipations of evil from the slightest causes, generally accompany nervous disorder. NATURE OUTWITTED!" Dr. Antrobus's Persian Hair Restorative,

AND HAIR DYE

Under the immediate Patronage of the Princes of Persia and India.

These articles are without doubt the most extraordinary in their powers ever submitted to the Public, and require but to be tried, to be appreciated, admired, and continued.

The RESTORATIVE strengthens the hair and prevents it falling off after every other means have been resorted to unsuccessfully; it cures baldness and creates a natural curl, and by its use, myrinde of persons of both sexes are indebted to having a good head of hair at the present moment. Its efficacy is therefore andoubted, and the whole world is challenged to produce an article to equal it, either for beautifying the human hair or preserving it to the latest period of life. For the production of Whiskers or Moustache, it is infallible.

The qualities of the HAIR DYE are decidedly superior to any thing of the kind ever attempted and the whole surface of the bead can be changed into a most natural black or brown, within five minutes after using it, so as to defy detection from the greatest connoiseur. To DR. ANTROBUS,

To Dr. Antrobus,

Sir,—I feel great pleasure in attesting the virtues of yoar Persian Hair Restorative. Several parties who have been patients of mine having derived the most inconceivable benefit from using it; and in fact it is owing to this article alone, that many of them are not at the present moment completely hald; one party I may mention in particular, who had been laid up with typhus fever: (a most beautiful young lady,) the attack hewever left her although as beautiful as ever in the face, still with scarcely any hair on her head. She tried every thing unsuccessfully, until I recommended her to use your Persian Hair Restorative, and in three months, she again possessed the same dark curling locks, as before heriliness, although if possible, still more jet lite, and attractive. I must admit, although I have recommended it to hundreds of persons of both sexes, I have never found it fail, and consider, that where the hair is not past human aid, your wonderful preparation will restore it to its pristine state.

Your Hair Dye is the best I have ever seen or eard of, and has been used among my private ac-uaintances, with the most unbounded satisfaction.

To Dr. Antrobus,
Sir,—You Hair Restorative is one of the greatest blessings ever invented. Several of my customers are quite coraptured with it, and consider it beyond all praise. I cannot deny, but that it has appeared to me quite wonderful, the alteration it causes after using it for a few weeks, it excels any thing of the kind I ever used, causing a complete metamorphesis; giving the hair a natural ciff, and even entirely hiding grey locks, setting nature at defiance.

You may depend upon it, that it surjusses any thing of the kind ever brought before the public, and as to your Hair Dye, I can sell all you can send use, it is so unquestionably good.

I am, Sir, yours faithfully,
