Technical and Bibliographic Notes/Notes techniques et bibliographiques

The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.

L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui sont peut-être uniques du point de vue bibliographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.

The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

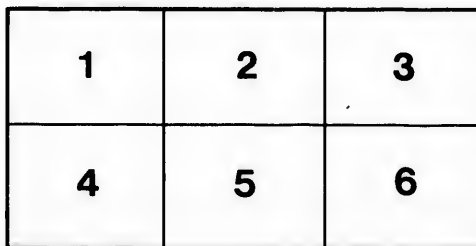

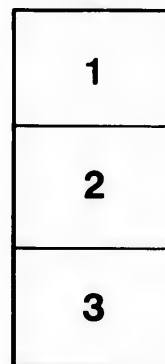

National Library of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Bibliothèque nationale du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

MORNING AND EVENING PLANETS.—1876.

☿ MERCURY.—At the beginning of the year Mercury sets a few minutes after sunset. It will be visible as an Evening Star from about the 8th January until the second week in February, and in conjunction with the Sun on the 13th. It rises 47 minutes before the Sun on the 19th, and continues a Morning Star until the beginning of April. Throughout May and the first week in June it will be an Evening Star. Will be in conjunction with the Sun on the 15th June; a Morning Star from the last week of the month until about the 28th July; an Evening Star from the middle of August until the beginning of October; again a Morning Star from the third week in October until the end of November, and an Evening Star after the 21st December.

♀ VENUS.—January 1st Venus sets 6h. 1m. afternoon, and will continue an Evening Star until the beginning of July. On the 14th it will be in conjunction with the Sun; rises on the 20th about 22 minutes before Sunrise, and after that will be a Morning Star.

♂ MARS.—From the 1st January until about the end of July Mars will be an Evening Star. It will be in conjunction with the Sun on the 12th August. On the 1st September it rises about 36 minutes before the Sun, and will be a Morning Star during the remainder of the year.

♃ JUPITER.—rises on the 1st January 3½ hours before the Sun, and will be a Morning Star until the 17th May,—when it sets before midnight. It rises on the 1st April at 10h. 41m. afternoon, and will be above the horizon the greater portion of each night until the end of June; it then sets about 5h. 45m. after sunset, and continues an Evening Star until the middle of November. On the 4th December it will be in conjunction with the Sun, and after the 16th a Morning Star.

♄ SATURN.—From the 1st January until the 8th February Saturn will be an Evening Star. It will be in conjunction with the sun on the 17th February, and rises about half an hour before the Sun on the 8th March. After that it will be a Morning Star until about the end of August,—and then an Evening Star during the rest of the year. It will be above the horizon every night between early evening and sunrise, from the middle of July until the 27th October,—when it sets at 1h. 2m. morning.

ECLIPSES IN 1876.

EXPLANATORY.

- Aphelion*—that part of a planet's orbit farthest from the Sun.
- Perihelion*—that part of a planet's orbit nearest the Sun.
- Elongation*—angular distance of a planet from the Sun, as seen from the Earth.
- Penumbra*—a partial shadow resulting from the diminished light of the sun to the earth or moon, during a solar or lunar eclipse, appearing as partial.
- Declination*—the distance of a heavenly body from the equinoctial line.
- Ecliptic*—the plane of the earth's orbit nearest the sun.
- ☾ Apogee—greatest distance from the earth.
- ☽ Perigee—least distance from the earth.
- ☽ Quadrature. ☽ Opposition. ☽ Conjunction.
- ♊ Ascending node. ♋ Descending node.

The letters M. A., m. a., denote morning and afternoon; h. m. s., hours, minutes and seconds.

N. north, E. east, ° Degrees,
 S. south, W. west, ' Minutes of Arc.
 " Seconds of Arc.

The Sun's Declination and Equation of Time are given for Noon; the Moon's Declination for Midnight—Mean Time at Greenwich.

PICKFORD & BLACK, Chain Cables, Anchors, 12 and 18 Upper Water Street. See Page 11.

FOR THE LENGTH OF THE DAY.—Add 12 hours to the time of the Sun's setting, and from the sum subtract the time of rising.

FOR THE LENGTH OF THE NIGHT.—Subtract the time of Sun's setting from 12 hours, and to the remainder add the time of rising next morning.

THE TIDES will be found in Calendar pages, and in Tide Table, page 81.

WEATHER GUIDE.

The following Table (the result of many years' actual observation) is ascribed to Dr. Herschel. It is constructed upon a due consideration of the attraction of the Sun and Moon in their several positions respecting the Earth, and serves to show what kind of weather will most probably follow the entrance of the Moon into any of her quarters.

JOHN T. FRASER & CO., House Builders' Materials of every description.

Moon.	Time of Change.	In Summer.	In Winter.
If New Moon, First Quarter, Full Moon, or Last Quarter, happens	Between midnight and 2 in the morning.	Fair.	Hard Frost unless wind be S. or W.
	Between 2 and 4 morn.	Cold with showers.	Snow & stormy.
	“ 4 and 6 “	Rain.	Stormy & rainy.
	“ 6 and 8 “	Wind and rain.	Stormy.
	“ 8 and 10 “	Variable.	Rain if wind W. Snow if E.
	“ 10 and 12 “	Showery.	Cold and high wind.
	At 12 Noon, and to 2 in the afternoon.	Very rainy.	Snow or rain.
	Between 2 and 4 after.	Variable.	Fair and mild.
“ 4 and 6 “	Fair.	Fair.
“ 6 and 8 “	Fair if wind be N. W. Rainy if S. or S. W.	Frosty if wind N or N.E. Snow if S. or S. W.
“ 8 and 10 “	Ditto. Ditto.	Ditto. Ditto.
“ 10 and midnight.	Fair.	Fair and frosty.

The nearer midnight any of the Moon's changes occur, the finer will be the weather during the succeeding week; the nearer noon any of those changes happen, the more foul and wet will be the weather that will follow.

FARMING.

The King in his pride of place lives by the field. The farmer is the real master of men, standing in the direct line between them and the best gifts of nature, and bringing those gifts within the reach of all. He is the honoured minister of a bountiful Providence in giving seed to the sower and bread to the eater. Rich and poor, high and low, depend on the farmer.

There is no nobler art than that of Agriculture,—none purer, better, more healthful,—none more becoming to man. "To dress it and to keep it," the grand old gardener and his wife were placed in the Garden of Power's Wharf.

Eden in the ages long ago. Managing a plot of ground, dressing it, keeping it,—is therefore a most ancient and honorable profession. The farmer can trace up his genealogy a few steps higher than anyone else: none can dispute his claim to a standing beside Adam and Abraham and other ancients,—providing always that he is an honest man, a good farmer, cultivating well his fields and caring kindly and skilfully for his flocks and herds.

This being the case what can be more absurd than the sickly ambition of many young people in America,—ay, and in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and P. E. Island,—to leave the paternal acres, the old home and the old work, and turn to something else? Tom sets up a corner EAGAR'S Peruvian Bitters, Tonic Appetizer and Temperance Stimulants.

Grocery, sells molasses by the pint, tape by the yard, and buttons by the half-dozen, and Tom thinks himself a merchant, and learns to imagine himself in a higher walk of life than Bill and Jim who drive the team afield or make the forest resound to the sturdy blows of the axe. Never was a mistake more real. Surely it is higher to be a producer of wealth, of articles necessary to life, than to be merely a petty distributor. Surely it is better to handle Early Rose or Gravenstein, than figs of tobacco; and it is pleasanter to toss the fragrant clover than to weigh out the best of tea! Of course there must be traders; and an honest trader is a respectable man deserving the esteem and encouragement of his neighbours. He is a public servant and as such deserves public regard. We have not a word to say against trade or the honest trader: he and his work are a necessity of civilized life. What we object to is the ridiculous notion that the trader is per se a better man than the farmer, or that he occupies a higher or more desirable position. No, indeed. There is as much scope for keen intelligence, for skill, for sagacity, for sound principle, for all the virtues, in the farmer's life and work as in any other man's, whatever his sphere.

But while one leaves the farm and goes off to trade another turns school master rather than look forward to a life on the soil. We pity the poor blunderer; he'll repent of his folly, perhaps in time to mend his ways—perhaps, as happens too often, when too late. We want school masters. A good teacher is a public benefactor. He devotes himself heart and soul to training the rising generation for the battle of life. Very well; if you feel strong enough to face very hard work faithfully and truly, go on my boy; go on and prosper. You too are in a good sense a farmer, and true work will ensure rich reward. But do not delude yourself that you will have an easier, a higher, a richer, a sweeter life than if you had stuck to the paternal acres, or gone off to the backwoods and boldly grappled with the primeval forests.

Another still, weary of treading his dull round on the farm, weary of a monotonous homelife, hastens off to sea! Alas, what ails thee, my boy! What madness works in thy brain? True enough, Nova Scotians take kindly to the barren and billowy sea: they love its foaming billows: they do not greatly dread its sweeping tossing storms. And thus it is that their bones lie whitening in many an ocean cave. And thus it is that

Their ships have plowed every sea from the arctic to the antarctic. There must be sailors: there must be ships. But how profound the contrast between the peaceful security, the steady solid gains, the numberless comforts and advantages of the farmer's life on the one hand, and on the other the uncertain wanderings, the tragic accidents, the appalling possibilities of "a life on the stormy wave." My boy—if you choose the sea do so with your eyes wide open. If you ask our advice we say, stick to the farm!

We could thus go over the whole wide range of professions and avocations, contrasting them with the farmer's work and showing wherein the latter has the advantage. Pity the poor lawyer, gaunt, hungry, briefless, waiting for work : or successful, rich, money-making, but devoted soul and life to the unravelling of the quarrels and difficulties of his clients. Pity the politician who plans and schemes, promises and threatens, wins and loses ; who even when he reaches the summit of his ambition is not more happy than the successful farmer who has quietly attended to his fields, his flocks and crops. Not more happy ! No indeed : for if the whole sad truth were known you would not by any means envy the " most successful politician—though his name were babbled from Ocean to Ocean." Then, how many run in the race without winning any prizes, but ill will and scorn,—without any rewards but the anguish of failure!

Everything in the Drug, Toilet and Fancy Line, at EAGAR'S.

The beauty and the bliss that await the industrious and skillful farmer, are none too brightly described in the following verses :

Away from the roar and the rattle,
The dust and the din of the town,
Where to live is to brawl and to battle
Till the strong treads the weak man
down.
Away to the bonnie green hills
Where the sunshine sleeps on the brae,
And the heart of the greenwood thrills
To the hymn of the bird on the spray.
Away from the smoke and the smother,
The veil of the dun and the brown,

The push and the plash and the pother,
The wear and the waste of the town!
Away where the sky shines clear
And the light breeze wanders at will,
And the dark pine woods nod near
To the light-plumed birch on the hill.

Away from the whirling and wheeling,
And steaming above and below,
Where the heart has no leisure for feeling,
And the thought has no quiet to grow.

EAGAR'S COUGH BALSAM.

Away where the clear brook purls,
And the hyacinth droops in the shade,
And the plume of the fern uncurls
Its grace in the depth of the glade.

Away to the cottage so sweetly Embowered 'neath the fringe of the wood,

Where the wife of my bosom shall meet me,

With thoughts ever kindly and good ;
More dear than the wealth of the world,
Fond mother with bairnies three,

And the plump-armed babe that has curled
His lips sweetly pouting for me.

Then away from the roar and the rattle,
The dust and the din of the town,
Where to live is to brawl and to battle
Till the strong treads the weak man
down.

Away where the green twigs nod
In the fragrant breath of May,
And the sweet growth spreads on the sod
And the blithe bird sings on the spray.

The farmer's life is necessarily a busy one. At some seasons of the year his hours of rest must be scanty. He must be up and about from dawn to gloaming. His eye must be keen, his hand active, his memory sharp, his decisions prompt. In our cold latitude winter, chill and angry, often lingers in the lap of May. Plowing, planting, sowing, must be attended to with great promptitude, or the consequence will be an unsatisfactory harvest. Then, there will be weeding, hoeing, and work about the fences, the barns, &c., until hay-making begins. It is delightful work—to tend the fragrant hay, but it is toilsome, and full often the romance of the thing is lost in the long strain of nerve and muscle. For the hay-maker must watch the sun and the clouds, and if possible, save his hay from the untimely rain. After the hay-making comes the harvesting of the grain crops—another very busy “spell.” But, by this time, the lengthening nights compel longer periods of repose. Autumn work though hard is not necessarily exhausting to man or beast. The short, cool, bright days are very delightful. The nights are long and refreshing. Then comes “Winter, stern ruler of the inverted year,” bringing change of work, but not idleness. Only thriftless good-for-nothing farmers can afford to be idle at any period of the year. Time is ever precious and to none more so than to the farmer.

We need not here dilate on what may be done in the dead depth of winter to lighten the toils of spring and summer. The thoughtful, far-seeing man will examine carefully his ploughs, harrows, rakes, mowing machines, and his working implements of all sorts,—his wagons, carts, and whatever may be required in the busy season,—in order that no time shall be unduly lost when the busy season comes. Above all, he will watch with keen eye and loving heart the condition of his teams in order that they may be able to do their work without distress to themselves or their owner. Time, money, comfort, all that is worth gaining or saving about the farm,—will be greatly gained or saved by prudent forethought. The wise farmer will impress this lesson on the minds of his boys while they are young,—by precept and, what is infinitely better, by untiring example.

We have said that the farmer's life is a busy one. This is true testimony. But it is also true that the prudent farmer can win for himself much leisure for the improvement of his mind and the training of his boys and girls. In other walks of life one has often to burn the "midnight oil" (or gas, which is no better) and the work must go on in spite of headaches and heartaches. The farmer however is reasonably secure of the night's rest. Others are necessarily away from wife and bairns for days, weeks, months. The farmer seldom loses the opportunity of meeting his children at least three times a day. Thus, his influence for good upon his own family is, or should be, unbroken and irresistibly strong. Thus the love that sweetens labour is fostered and ripened into "strong bands" not to be divided by anything but death.

Winter compels comparative leisure. The long slow hours of the evenings in December, January, February and March—what may they not be worth to the farmer who uses them wisely! He will of course study BELCHER'S FARMER'S ALMANAC, which contains more information considering price, than any other publication that can be named. Consult it, pray, for everything about dates, sun, moon, planets, eclipses, comets, coroners, Magistrates, M. P.'s and M. P. P.'s,—consult it for everything except the weather. For it is now a well known fact that with the aid of all our arts and sciences, our telegraphs, barometers, thermometers, anemometers, and so forth, we can only guess with a large measure of uncertainty what the weather will be tomorrow—thirty six hours hence. No man in these changeful latitudes was ever able to tell with certainty the weather forty-eight hours in advance. The guesses in old Almanacks are mere guesses, without any possible data to go upon except the general known character of the season. Thus, it is pretty safe to predict snow in January, wind in March, fog in July and rain in August. Our grandchildren may see the science of the weather worked up to something like certainty, so that a man may be able to speak with confidence of the weather for a week in advance. But progress such as this will be the reward of long and laborious observation and study.

The weather is a matter of the deepest possible import to the farmer, and if an Almanack could be prepared giving a true account of rain and sunshine, snow and frost and all the variations for a twelve month in advance, the achievement would be of inestimable value. But, as every intelligent farmer knows, this is simply out of reach, and we must make the best use we can of present advantages and attainments.

When the inevitable and indispensable "Almanack" has been duly honoured, the farmer will take time to glance over the family newspaper. In all well regulated families this is sure to be a paper fit to be put into the hands of the boys and girls—the "young ladies" and "young gentlemen" of the family. The Agricultural Journal, the Canada Farmer, some good paper, weekly or monthly, which gives due prominence to Agriculture, should surely be read and studied by every thoughtful farmer. The doctor must "read up" his cases: the lawyer must be well posted in the "books;" the clergyman must know at least the literature of his profession. The farmer cannot afford to neglect reading concerning his own noble profession. Then, there are agricultural books that should, if possible, be secured and studied. You should know the different soils on your farm and their peculiar qualities—the crops that suit them best, and the manures they require.

But in this country with our long winters, industrious and economical farmers will have time to read much that is apart from their strict profession. They may read up in Horticulture and Floriculture. They may well study out, it may be in a rough way, the science and the art of the orchard, the vegetable garden and the flower garden. The beautiful claims our regards as well as the useful. The one aids the other. The useful should ever win the crown of the beautiful.

At every season of the year, even during the hay making, stormy days come that justify if they do not compel more or less of rest. Leisure gained in this way can be well economized sometimes by absolute bodily repose, sometimes by mere change of employment. But there is one never-failing source of useful study: a man may improve his mind. He may study his profession. He may gain glimpses of the noble science that underlies his art. The problem before the Agriculturist is to extract the largest amount of food for man and beast from the smallest extent of land; to make "two blades of grass grow where one used to grow," to increase the yield of his acres. The intelligent agriculturist can avail himself of the experience of hundreds of years and of various countries. He will thus avoid the failures of others, and be reasonably secure of a reward of his labours. Hitherto, too much of the farming of this country has been hap hazard. Certain fields are ploughed, manured, sowed or planted, without any regard to the scientific reason why. It is all at random. This is traditionary farming, as opposed to scientific farming. We do thus and thus, because our fathers did so before us!

In this age of inventions and machines and swift moving forces, farmers cannot afford to hold on to the old traditionary methods that were all very well thirty or forty years ago. Their minds must be open to every new idea. They must be ready to try new plans. They must be prepared to invest freely in laboursaving machines. Wages are high, labour scarce and very often hired labour is not satisfactory. It is prudent and economical therefore to have under your own hand and command all the apparatus which modern ingenuity has devised for facilitating your work. With all this you will have enough to do to overtake the allotted task at the fit time.

The most wasteful thing a farmer can do is to overtask his strength and run himself down by sticking to his work too long without rest, or by an unwise division of time. In the "busy season," a busy fore-thinking man will be up at, or before, five o'clock. He will breakfast, and proceeding to his work, continue at it till say eleven o'clock. He will then, except in urgent cases, when rain is threatening, or some equally cog at argument presents itself,—rest for two or three hours, take his dinner at leisure, work hard from two o'clock till five o'clock; sup at five; work for two hours more, and then rest for the night. The midday pause will be of immense value in enabling men to eat at leisure and digest their food. It will also give time to attend to the lighter sorts of work about the premises. Eleven hours of hard work is enough in the busiest season. More will be likely to end in exhaustion or sickness.

We cannot insist too strongly on the lesson contained in the old saying, "Prayers and provender hinder no man." You are as much in duty bound to give a reasonable time to your meals as to your devotions. The toiler earns and should have good food well cooked, and abundance of it. In the busy season he may wisely consume four meals a day. There is another important point on which due stress is seldom laid:

On going to bed be sure to remove all the clothing worn during the day. Be sure! Wash yourself all over, if possible, with lukewarm water, rub well and sleep in a clean night shirt. This will sweeten and deepen your sleep, and you will awake greatly refreshed and fit for the morrow's toil and moil. This is plain talk, but if it were duly impressed on the minds of all concerned it would add immensely to the comfort, health and vigor of those who win our bread. The "cost" is only a little trouble: the "gain" is immeasurable, in more ways than one.

In Agriculture as in every kind of work there is much apparent drudgery; but it is only apparent and not at all real, if the farmer skilfully adapts means to ends. He may turn all his steps to profit. Bountiful Providence waits to aid all his efforts. "Mother Earth" takes kindly to all his digging and delving and pays him back with multiplied interest. And it is a happy compound interest that is sure to come—if justice is done to the soil. The well-kept farm is constantly and rapidly improving and rising in value. It is your capital, and you are certain at the same time that you increase your interest to add to your capital as well. The farm is the safest "Bank" in which you can invest. There come crises that shake firm and old financial institutions. Merchants fail. Banks sometimes collapse. Fires come into our towns and burn down our property leaving us nothing. But whatever happens, the farm is there. The gentle rain and the sunshine are sure. The toiler will at least get his daily bread. The fire fiend itself can hardly mar the field. Farming sometimes does not pay, but it is when farmers grow bushes or thistles on their best land, and are careless, thriftless, or lazy: or it may also happen that providential visitations come to blight hope; but how often it has been observed that when one crop fails another is uncommonly productive. There is compensation somewhere, in some form.

The farmer has formidable enemies to contend against; and he has had them from the beginning,—untimely storms, frosts, droughts, blights, blasting and mildews. In some countries it is a plague of locusts or grasshoppers; in another it is "rust," or "weevil," or armyworms or caterpillars. Sometimes it is one crop that fails; sometimes another. In this respect as in so many others it is true that "knowledge is power." We find out the conditions that are favourable to our enemies, and by and by we vanquish them. Here there is a wide and inviting field for study, and a stimulus to vigilance. Our horses, our cattle and sheep are also like ourselves liable to diseases and "plague." There is no sphere or calling without its difficulties and trials. Every plant and tree and animal has its enemies to prey upon it.

General rules may be laid down which, if carefully studied and carried out, will go far to give the farmer the victory in his struggle with all his foes. Cleanliness in the house, in the stable, in the barn,—cleanliness and plenty of fresh air and pure water and sound food,—these with steady reasonable toil or exercise are the best medicines for man and beast. Then, for the crops; draining when necessary, thorough ploughing, manuring,—rotation of crops, early sowing or planting, prompt and watchful harvesting,—frequent change and careful selection of seeds,—these and similar precautions are sure to win their reward.

The farmer, in these days of railways and steamers, is sure of a fair market for all his productions. In preparing for market the farmer cannot be too particular. Honesty, as well as prudent self-interest, demands that everything you sell should be what it professes to be. The horse or colt, the ox or cow, you sell should have no secret faults known to you but concealed from the purchaser. The butter made on your premises should be first-rate and then it will command a first-rate price. So with other articles. Cleanliness, neatness, honesty, taste,—these are qualities that should be found in every farm house. The butter should be sweet, fresh and carefully put up. It should be none of the nasty, greasy, rancid stuff too often seen in our markets. Still more abominable is the dishonesty of a few who bring disgrace on themselves and on others by concealing huge masses of salt in the butter in order to increase its weight! Whatever you have to sell—fowls, beef, butter, pork, potatoes, oats, no matter what—let all be of the best attainable quality, and let there be no attempt to deceive the purchaser, either as to weight, quality or quantity. Purchasers are quite willing to pay for neatness, cleanliness and the results of good taste and honesty. Let our farmers, therefore, for their own sakes give attention to this hint. We are unquestionably in need of improvement in this line.

Farmers can look forward to a splendid future for their honoured profession. Their fortune is in their own hands: they can mar, or they can realize their most brilliant prospects. Education is an essential element of success. In the keen competition of modern farming all the resources of well developed minds must be laid under contribution. The boor can stand no chance alongside of the savant. It is a fact worth noting for the benefit of farmers in a new country that according to returns laid before the British Parliament, while in the past one hundred years the rental of land in Ireland has doubled, that of England has tripled, and that of Scotland has increased sixfold. Scotland has by far the poorest soil of the three. But she has had for hundreds of years a system of education which enabled her people to make the most of their advantages. The aid of machinery has been called in as much as possible, No lesson of science, no invention of art, is neglected. The sons try to surpass the fathers, and do not merely follow slavishly in their footprints. Horse power and steam power have yielded their aid to the farmer, and are available no doubt to an extent not yet realized. "Co-operative" farming will yet enable comparatively poor men to share in the benefits of the latest inventions.

Our advice to our farmers then is to be "wide awake." They have formidable competition on every hand. We read of farms of twenty thousand and fifty thousand acres in Illinois. There are in the great West leagues of Prairie ready for the plow. Never mind. Your own farm in Nova Scotia has its peculiar advantages if you do it justice. Set to work intelligently and with a will and you need not envy farmers on the Prairie of the far West or in the fertile historical straths of the parent land.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

By Act 4, Chap. 47, 36° Vic., 1873, Imperial Weights and Measures were made the Standards for the Dominion of Canada. Customs and Excise Duties are now collected according to the New Standard. Inspectors of Weights and Measures will shortly be appointed, and the following tables will give a fair idea of the new requirements, and the scale of fees to be paid to the Inspectors for the verification of the same.

FORMS OF DOMINION MEASURES.

CYLINDRICAL.

For the Bushel, Half Bushel, and Peck, the depth must not be less than four-ninths of the diameter.

For the Gallon and smaller measures, the depth shall not be less than the diameter.

Fees to be collected for Measures of Capacity.

DOMINION MEASURES.

Set from Bushel to Peck	$1	$1	50	50	50
Set from Gallon to ½ Gill	50	50	50	50	50

The old measures of capacity admitted to verification and tolerated till July, 1880.

FORMS OF DOMINION WEIGHTS.

Avoirdupois Weights.

From 50 lbs. down to one pound, cylindrical, with knob.

The same, with ring.

Rectangular block with ring or handle cast solid.

Truncated square pyramid

From 3 lbs. down to one half dram. Any of the above forms; also flat discs in nests.

Grain Weights.

From 1,000 grains down to ten grains. Cylindrical with a small rising stem and knob.

Six grains and under. Bent platinum or aluminium wire so bent as to represent the number of grains, or decimal parts of a grain.

during a fog. There are a number of small ledges and sunken rocks about it, which are always breaking. The light stands conspicuously in the immediate vicinity of all the sunken rocks and dangers, extending from the old Proprietor to the Seal Islands of Machias, a distance of about 20 miles. Between the northernmost and southernmost of the Murr Ledges there is a range of dangerous rocks and shoals, many of them above water, and which extend westward from the light house about 4 miles. From this range farther westerly, about six miles, lies a dangerous breaker called the Bull. This may be avoided by keeping three remarkable headlands, near the S. W. end of Grand Manan, open.

MACHIAS SEAL ISLAND—S. W. by W. $\frac{1}{4}$ W. from Grand Manan, lie the Machias Islands. On the eastern island two light houses are erected, showing fixed lights, distant from each other about 200 feet in the direction of E.S.E. and W.N.W., by which they are easily distinguished from all other lights on the coast. Elevated about 54 and 58 feet above high water, visible 15 miles. A gun is fired every four hours during a fog. Both buildings white.

GRAND MANAN ISLAND—On Swallow Tail Point, N. E. side of the island. A white fixed light, 148 feet above high water, visible 17 miles, Building white, Lat. $44^{\circ} 45' 22''$ N. Long. $66^{\circ} 44' 4''$ W. This is a conspicuous mark in the S. Channel between Briar Island and Grand Manan.

LITTLE RIVER—On an island at the entrance of the River. A fixed white light, varied by flashes every 90 seconds, 40 feet above high water, visible 11 miles.

QUODDY HEAD—On the S. E. side of Quoddy Head. A fixed white light, 133 feet above sea level, visible in clear weather 17 miles. It bears from the Southern point of Grand Manan N. $\frac{1}{4}$ E. 13 miles, and from the Northern point of said island W.N.W. $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles. Has a fog trumpet.

CAMPO BELLO—On the N. E. extremity of the island. A white fixed light, 64 ft. above the sea, visible 15 miles. Building white with a red cross. This light enables vessels to enter Head Harbor at all times. It is also a guide to vessels entering the main channel, to West Isles, Moose Island, and the inner Bay of Passamaquoddy.

POINT LE PREAU—Upon this projecting head land two fixed white lights, one above the other, distant 28 feet. The lower lantern is fixed to the outside of the building, and throws its light quite inshore, both to the eastward and westward into Mace's Bay. The highest light is 81 feet, visible 15 miles. Building red and white in horizontal stripes, 5 ft. broad, and bears from the easternmost Wolves E. by N, 11 miles.

ST. JOHN, N. B. HARBOUR—On Patridge Island at the entrance of the River and harbor. A white fixed light, 120 feet above high water, and visible 20 miles. Building red and white in vertical stripes. A Steam Whistle is sounded 10 seconds in every minute during fog and snow storms, audible 4 to 6 miles. There is also a Bell Buoy at the extremity of the ledge at the eastern end of the island, which is very useful to vessels in thick or rough weather. The bell can be heard 3 miles.

QUACO HEAD—On a small rock lying off Quaco Head. A revolving white light, 58 feet above high water, showing twice full and twice

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION, 1874

Verdict of the Judges:

"Quality very Superior."

"THE ARMY AND NAVY BREWERY."

WORKS,—TURTLE GROVE, DARTMOUTH.
OFFICE AND CITY VAULTS,

36 AND 38 DUKE STREET, HALIFAX.

Constantly on hand, an extensive Stock of

FINE, MILD & STRONG ALES,

AND

Extra Stout Porter,

In Casks and Bottles,

Brewed from the famous Turtle Grove Mineral Spring Water.

OUR SPARKLING AMBER ALE

Is pronounced by competent judges equal in quality to any imported. It has the peculiar flavor and color of the finest English and Scotch Ales, being manufactured from the best Scotch Malt and the finest Kent Hops.

OUR EXTRA STOUT PORTER

Is also very fine, and specially recommended by Physicians for invalids.

We use no Chemicals or Artificial Finings in our Beer, the peculiar virtues of the water rendering such ingredients entirely unnecessary.

Liberal Terms to the trade.

FRASER, OLAND & CO., Proprietors.

:O:

HALIFAX, 26th February, 1874.

"I have examined the sample of water from the Turtle Grove Spring, Dartmouth, and find it nearly pure, containing 3 80-100 grains to the gallon, this consists principally of Lime, which is a decided advantage in Brewing Malt Liquors. The water after remaining in the jar slightly corked for four months, is quite sweet, and free from any decomposition." ROBT. G. FRASER, Chemist.

We also embrace in our business, a

Tailoring Department,

Which has been in successful operation for nearly three years, under the careful supervision of Mr. D. CHISHOLM, an Artist in his profession, and who has given unbounded satisfaction. In this Department we make an especial distinction between Credit and Cash, allowing a discount of 12½ % for Cash from our usual Credit Rates, thus placing Cash Customers on a purely Cash basis; and holding the Largest Tailoring Stock in the City, we cannot fail to secure a large measure of support.

Remember, Our Stock of Cloths, (as well as our General Goods,) is personally selected in and Imported direct from the British Markets, a distinction that no similar establishment in the city can boast of.

THE Acadia Coal Company OF NOVA SCOTIA.

—:O:—

The undersigned is prepared to contract for the sale of the above Company's superior

Steam, Manufacturing and House Coals,

Deliverable free on board vessels at the Company's Wharf in Pictou Harbour, and at the Railway Terminus, Richmond, in Halifax Harbour; also, at any Station on the Intercolonial and Windsor and Annapolis Railways.

The ACADIA COAL is durable, free from sulphur, makes no clinker, and is not injurious to fire surfaces.

The HOUSE COAL burns with a bright flame, makes no soot, and is entirely free from sulphur, and does not throw off unhealthy fumes while burning.

Specially adapted for Cooking Stoves and Ranges, and can be used for broiling and toasting, and for all other purposes for which Charcoal is employed.

NUT COAL specially prepared for the newly-invented Soft Coal "Base Burners."
