MILITARY CLOSE TURKISH CHAMBER

Sultan's Order Provides for Elections Within Four Months.

Constantinople, April 13.—Turkish military officers today formally closed the chamber of deputies under an order from the sultan, which provides for the election of a new chamber within four months.

It is believed the sultan will issue a mandate authorizing the cabinet to ratify the allies' treaty. The question of religious authority in Islam is raised by the ministry of religion in the sultan's government in Constantinople, and that of the Nationalist government at Ankara. The Sheik-ul-Islam at Constantinople has appealed to all Moslems, urging them to a holy war upon the Nationalists. Replying to this, the Nationalist Sheikh-ul-Islam has issued a religious decree, denouncing the sultan and discrediting the Constantinople appeal.

Unverified reports have reached Constantinople newspapers that the Ankara government has been transferred to Konia, 140 miles southwest of Ankara.

FRENCH AND FEMININE ARE WINDOW HANGINGS OF SILK AND GAUZE

And in the Quaint, Stiff Folds of Striped Moire, of Iridescent Repp (Silk and Cotton) and of Brocades in Oriental Patterns, They Evoke Memories of French Bedrooms With Their Frilled Curtains and Gay Flowers

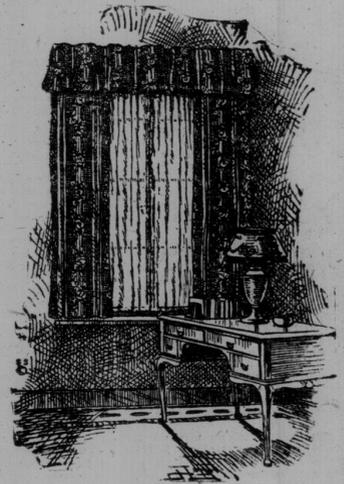

WHEN the gloom of Winter has vanished, it's crisp, fresh curtains one wants at the windows, with transparencies next the glass diffusing sunlight. Mellow and soft, the light pours through the silk gauze, which it is immensely fashionable to hang over one's windows just now. Then for the curtains, one might choose the striped moire of our sketch, in softest of dull pink and pale gold color, or a striped silk taffeta in primrose, pink and blue, and pleat them stiffly like Victorian skirts. The moire is $4.50 a yard and the taffeta $9.50.

Silk gauze, in a misty powder blue or bisque shade is $3.50 a yard.

Brocaded hangings incline much to the Chinese alliance of black and gold, but there are brilliantly bizarre things in fuchsia and gold, or quaintly conventional patterns of small silvery birds on pottery red, Egyptian blue or purple. These are $9.50 a yard. For a large and formal room one might venture on an exquisite Adam design of gold and black urns and garlands, which is splendidly decorative. Price, $8.25 per yard.

In play of color--shimmering, vibrating--the iridescent repps (silk and cotton) are very lovely. Copper and blue, purple and gold color, mulberry and blue or green are the shades, and the price $5.75 a yard. Silk and cotton repp, in exquisite shades of Sevres blue, orchid or bronze, is $4.50 a yard.

With fine net against one's windows these plain fabrics have their own beauty of draped line and color. Crinkle satins show an Oriental opulence of silken surface, and the two-tone colors are black and pumpkin, black and American Beauty, black and antique gold. These are $9.50 a yard, and all the fabrics mentioned above are 50 inches wide.

Dignity and Simplicity in the Dining-Room--Is That Your Idea?

Then You'll Be Interested in the Sequence of Four-Model Dining-rooms on the Fourth Floor, Housefurnishings Building, Each Entirely Individual and Delightfully Suited to Modern Houses.

The glory of the Italian Renaissance, of Florence under the Medici lives again in the stately design, the florid carving, and the glowing red velvet of a dining-room suite in fumed oak touched with polychrome.

The massive oblong table with its carved pedestal, the console table, the buffet with overhanging top, the court cupboard, and the high-backed stately chairs are all typical of the period, yet adaptable to modern rooms. Price for suite of ten pieces—including five chairs and one arm-chair—is $2,850.00, and measurements are as follows:

- Extension table—50 in. x 72 in.
- Serving table—17 in. x 60 in.
- Buffet with three drawers—24 in. x 84 in.
- Court cupboard with two drawers and two deep cupboards—19 in. x 48 in.

Exquisitely graceful is a Sheraton suite in beautifully matched mahogany with an inlay of blackest ebony. Tapering legs, restraint of ornament and classic simplicity of line give an air of lightness which would be charming in a small dining-room. The table is almost square with curved ends and taper legs, and the small serving table curves to match. Solid doors of mahogany with ebony inlay mark the china cabinet, and the chairs covered in blue denim look charming. There are ten pieces in this suite and the price is $1,200.00.

Measurements are: Extension table—50 in. x 60 in. Serving table with drawer and shelf—19 in. x 42 in. China cabinet with three shelves and one drawer—15 in. x 42 in. Buffet with two cupboards and two drawers—21 in. x 72 in.

The fourth dining-room is furnished with a Canadian-made suite of walnut, which is simple and of good design. There's a round extension table, a china cabinet with lattice side doors and a clear glass door in the centre, a serving-table and buffet with swell front. The only ornament on this furniture is a touch of carving in the form of a trailing garland. In the suite are ten pieces, including 5 chairs and one arm-chair, all covered in blue repp, and the price is $1,000.00.

Measurements are thus: Extension table—52 in. in diameter. Serving table with a drawer and two cupboards—20 in. x 42 in. Buffet with two side cupboards and two drawers—21 in. x 72 in. China cabinet with three shelves and narrow drawer—15 in. x 44 in.

WALDERMEN ARE NOT ELIGIBLE TO SIT

Street Railway Commission Will Have to Do Without Their Assistance.

When bill No. 7 came up before the private bills committee, there was considerable argument before it was decided that city councillors will not be eligible to sit on the Street Railway Commission when the city takes over the street railway system. Hon. Thos. Crawford could see no valid reason why councillors should be debarred from the board, as members are not paid and are under obligations to the council and the people. Controller Cameron stated that the public understood that the commission would not include councillors when they voted. Mayor Church stated that he is a member of the harbor and police commissions, and hoped that no action would be taken to prevent the commission from securing the best members obtainable.

Should Be Paid.

It was the opinion of Controller Gibson that the commission should receive remuneration, and that city councillors should be eligible for membership on the condition that they resign their position in the council on the ground that the affair is purely domestic. G. R. Geary thought that the matter should be left alone by the committee. Karl Howth moved that members of the council be barred from the railway commission.

Mayor Church asked that no vote be taken, and that the matter should be left over for the city council. The motion was put to the vote, however, and clause five will be amended so as to render councillors eligible for membership.

As the plebiscite submitted to the electors does not cover the construction and operation of motor buses and subways, it was proposed to amend clause nine, which favors such construction and operation. Mr. Raney protested that it is against the practice of the legislature to amend such a provision of this nature prior to the enactment of bylaws by the municipality. The city cannot borrow money for the purpose of undertaking such work without the consent of the electors, also they have the power to use whatever funds they have at their disposal for that purpose. Mayor Church suggested repeal of present legislation, so that motor bus lines may be established. Mr. Geary wanted the claim struck out. The matter was deferred for future consideration.

According to a proclamation in 1890, the Kennedy estate in ward seven was to be assessed at the rate of $600 per acre so long as it remained as a park. Mayor Church stated that the place has not been used as a park, and should therefore be assessed at the same rate as all other property in the neighborhood. Ald. Ryding endorsed the clause, as the agreement, whereby the fixed assessment had been established, had been broken.

No Interference.

Hon. Mr. Raney thought that, in view of these considerations, the committee ought not to interfere. He asked if the committee could not appear to the legislature to act in the matter. Mayor Church submitted that the legislature could give a ruling as to the present validity of the agreement, and impose penalties if the violation of the agreement were established.

Mr. Holden, representing the estate, stated that the courts already appealed to had decided that the agreement had not been broken, and that the city would not appeal to private bills committee for the reversal of that decision. Mr. Raney sympathized with the request of the city, but asserted that the original contract ought to be taken into consideration. Until the decision of the railway board is made known, no action should be taken.

Dr. Atkins, an owner of the property, stated that the city had never offered to repair the damage to the frontage caused by the elevation of floor street.

A motion that the section stand over till after the decision of the railway board was carried.

The General Building Corporation, Limited, Ken building, has taken an option on the southeast corner of Bay and Adelaide streets, J. J. McCaffery's, and if the deal goes thru they will erect a ten-story office building on the property, which fronts 80 feet on Bay and 148 feet on Adelaide.

The option, it is understood, is good until the first of May, but a deposit has been made and there is prospect of the deal being closed up before the end of next week. Prices on steel work are being secured from the Toronto Steel Construction Company. The principals in the General Building Corporation, Limited, are Messrs. Yolles and Rottenberg, who have erected a number of big buildings in Toronto in the last five years, and are now erecting on West Adelaide street, at the head of Charlotte street, one of the large manufacturing and warehouse buildings in the city. The subdivision plans of 27 acres of land on the north side of Danforth avenue, between Donlands avenue and Greenwood avenue, which were submitted by John MacLean, were passed by council with the proviso that ten feet should be dedicated for the widening of Donlands avenue, and that streets should be laid out to conform to existing and proposed streets.

The plans of the subdivision on the north side of Danforth, between Coxwell extended and Woodbine and south of Sammon avenue, in the township, have also been approved by the city council. This property was recently purchased from the Toronto Anglican Synod for about half a million dollars by a Toronto syndicate, and the National Trust Company will be the selling agents.

Yesterday's permits totaled about $105,000.

The city is selling the land at the northwest corner of Queen street and Davies avenue, thru the Realty Service Co., to Wm. C. Coleman of Wichita, Kansas, for $24,000. The property has a frontage of 120 feet on the north side of Queen street, and is part of the land acquired by the city some years ago in connection with the construction of the high level bridge at Queen street, over the Don. Mr. Coleman proposes to erect a four-story commercial building on the site at a cost of $100,000, for the manufacture of gas lamps and metal specialties.

NO "OLD ORDERS" WILL BE HONORED

Prescriptions Must Be Presented to Vendors Within Week of Issuing.

At the public accounts branch of the legislature yesterday, General Manager Cleland of the provincial liquor vendors testified that there was a rule in force that no doctor's prescription should be good when it was more than seven days old. Mr. Cleland informed Mr. H. H. Dewar that up to the end of March $108,424.68 had been paid to the provincial treasurer's department for confiscated liquor. When a stock is confiscated the license commission assumed that it is the property of the province and they purchase it at prevailing prices from the provincial treasurer, after which they sell it from their stores.

Mr. Cleland stated that the government vendors try as far as possible to have doctors, dentists, druggists and others who can secure liquor without prescriptions. A dentist is allowed six ounces of whiskey, a druggist is allowed 10 gallons of whiskey on his own order.

Mr. Dewar had several inquiries to make as to succession duties. He went into the payment of legal firms for services in valuing estates on behalf of the provincial treasurer. In some cases lawyers have charged half the amount of the revenue which they had succeeded in bringing to the estates. The regular system of paying these lawyers was accepting their charges instead of placing a certain fee.

"Have you ever known of the solicitors of an estate deliberately concealing items for the purpose of saving succession duty when they submitted their own valuation?" he asked Mr. R. E. McMeighen. He asked Mr. McMeighen's department, who handles this work.

"No," replied Mr. McMeighen, "altho mistakes have been discovered."

MAYOR CHURCH OBJECTS TO COMMITTEE'S ACTION

The action of the private bills committee in debarring members of the city council from membership in the Toronto transportation commission does not meet with the approval of Mayor Church. He is strongly in favor of the commission being run by the street railway council, which should be closely in touch with the business of the commission. He was strongly in favor of the commission consisting of three or five members, including the mayor, who would act without salary. As the bill stands, the regular council appointed by council to the transportation commission will have to resign his position on the council board.

CITY COUNCIL ASSEMBLED TO EXPRESS SYMPATHY

Council met for a few minutes yesterday at one o'clock and passed a resolution of condolence with the family of the late C. B. Brown, whose funeral took place yesterday. Campbell, C. Coulter, Arthur Hewitt, L. B. Morley, W. J. L. Mackay, R. B. Morley and J. F. H. Wyse were elected trustees.

ESTATES AND BEQUESTS.

By the will of the late Mrs. Susan Elizabeth Brown, her five children inherit the estate of $23,000, left by her. Twenty acres of land in Etobicoke are valued at $10,000. The estate of the late Mrs. Georgeina township, as sole surviving heir of her father, Hugh Murray, a farmer, inherits the whole estate left by him, valued at $2,248.

The Royal Trust Company has been appointed to administer the estate of Lieut. Stanley Nixon, R.A.F., who died in France in January, 1919. The heirs are deceased's father (who died since the date of his son's death), four brothers and four sisters. John Maynard, a carpenter, formerly of Woodbridge, died intestate, leaving an estate valued at $1,751. The heirs are deceased's widow and son. One thousand dollars in insurance was left by Walter Clapperton, cut glass worker, to which his son and daughter succeeded equally. Deceased died intestate.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED.

The charge of original negligence preferred against Harry Freeman last week has been changed to the more serious one of manslaughter. Freeman's auto struck a motor truck, which was hurled to the sidewalk and injured Gordon Shuter, a little boy. Since the accident the boy has died, hence the charge of manslaughter.

DR. LOGAN SPEAKS ON JOURNALISM

Women's Press Club Hear Whole History of Newspapers.

That the four most prominent men in the literature of the eighteenth century of England were the fathers of journalism—or the newspaper—was the statement of Dr. John D. Logan, whose bright address to a large gathering of members and friends of the Women's Press Club yesterday was one of the most informing and interesting of the year. Steele, Addison and Johnson, editors of The Tatler, Spectator and Rambler, together with Oliver Goldsmith, who wrote for each in turn, were the men to whom the English newspaper owes its origin.

That the most ordinary human being, but that they knew how to write literature, was the contention of the speaker, who, to a university professor himself, scored the "snobbery" of many university professors, who despised the work of the newspaper, but who often find a difficulty in writing a paragraph of the kind they affect to derogate.

Newspapers in Canada. The Canadian newspaper owed its beginnings to Etienne Parent of Quebec, Joseph Howe of Nova Scotia, and Charles Lindsey, whose work may be seen in Toronto in the foreword of the first copy of the old Mail. These men were all spoken of as "literary statesmen." Halliburton was described as the world's greatest humorist, whose work is appraised as such in England but not in Canada. Dr. Logan, who is also an experienced newspaper man, referred to Mr. Percy Brett and Mr. Alf Bura as among those who knew the value of real newspaper ability.

The speaker was introduced by the president of the club, Miss Doyle, and Mrs. Fairbairn expressed the appreciation of the meeting. Mrs. J. W. Garvin and Miss Cleaver were hostesses.

MANAGERS HEAR INDUSTRIAL REPORT

Employment Managers' Association Also Consider Change of Name.

One of the best meetings as yet held by the Employment Managers' Association of Toronto was that called for the evening of April 12. Quite a number of our Toronto business firms were represented on the membership rolls, and a goodly number of their employment managers were out last night to hear Mr. Gifford, superintendent of the Toronto works of the Massey-Harris Company, give a comprehensive review of the Massey-Harris plan of annuities, benefits and industrial representation. Mr. Gifford spoke at some length on the success of the company's industrial council plan, and told what a splendid thing it was for keeping industrial harmony in large plants. Following Mr. Gifford's address, a general discussion among the members took place, and much valuable instruction was given.

S. B. Heath, secretary of the association, announced the annual convention of the Industrial Relations Association of America, which is to be held in Chicago on May 19, 20 and 21, 1920. It is a membership of the association would be pleased to have a large delegation of employment managers attend this convention as possible.

At an executive meeting following the general sessions, considerable discussion took place in connection with the name of the association, it having been felt by the members that the name, Employment Managers' Association, was a misnomer. The Toronto executive moved and seconded that the question of the change of the name of the Toronto organization be brought up at the next general meeting, and that the recommended title be the Industrial Relations Association of Toronto.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 14.

Of Indicting and Striking.

"You cannot indict a nation" wrote the great Irishman who remains first among the political prophets of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

A half-cock revolution was attempted in Germany by reactionaries who aimed to destroy the democratic form of government which came from the 1918 revolt against kaiserism.

By what brigade was the Kapp revolutionary fire put out? The engine that turned its hoses on the junker conflagration was the general strike.

There is no modern political weapon that was not first condemned as unwise, unlawful and subversive of constituted authority.

Rightly or wrongly whole communities in Ireland are as opposed to Dublin Castle and all it stands for as the American revolutionists were hostile to Westminster and the Georgian autocracy it obeyed.

The only certain thing about these baffling phases of post-war reconstruction is that the body politic everywhere is doing things that were not imagined when government was so simple that a few men could assume all its functions.

Nobody is satisfied. Everybody wants to know by what right anybody has to say what somebody else shall do. The spirit of revolt against the past pervades the earth, and menaces the future.

No Room for Fight Here. The bill to validate what seems to be a small irregularity in the Grand Trunk meeting in London, which endorsed the agreement for the system's nationalization, should pass both houses of parliament without demur.

ship much is being made of the chance which the big deficit on the national railways gives to the reactionaries to hamstring the completion of the Canadian National Railways system.

None of these things should be of the least avail. A great public policy was decided on, with the manifest approval of the vast preponderance of public judgment.

One of the ironies of the senate situation is that men who were appointed to that house by Premier Borden are found, hostile to the strongest reconstructive policy which the Borden government has fathered.

A practical consideration must largely affect the attitude of parliamentarians. If the Grand Trunk deal falls, what effect will be produced upon the national credit?

Of course, in a Grand Trunk bankruptcy, pickings would fall to some interests which have a sure instinct for the place where the picking is good.

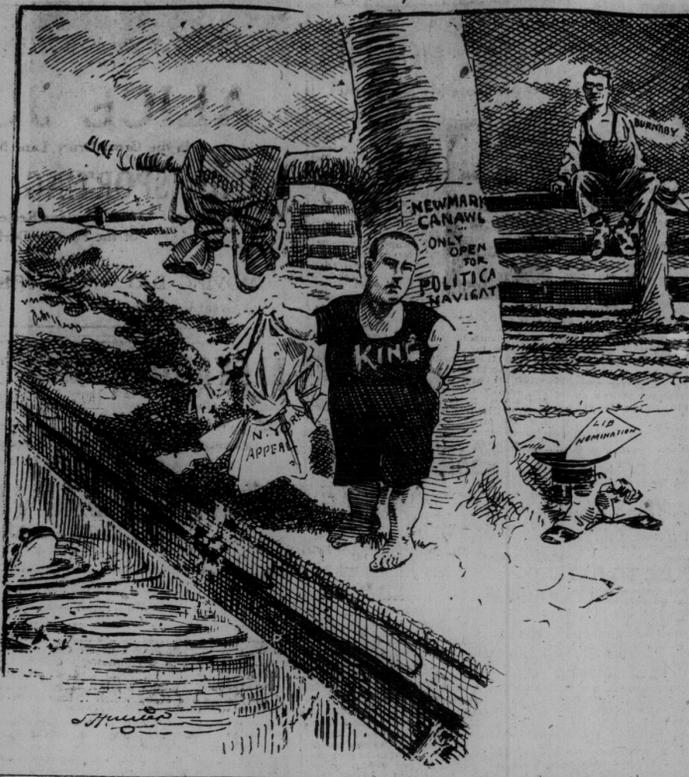

One of the anomalous things that one sometimes notices in the American, as in the British, press, is that Canadian subjects are sometimes treated by other than Canadians when it would be supposed that Canadians themselves would be asked to furnish material about their own affairs.

A case in point is an article by Sir P. T. McGrath in The American Review of Reviews, on "Canada and Railway Nationalization."

It is a curious commentary on the writing profession in Canada when editors in outside countries go to non-Canadian sources for knowledge of Canadian affairs.

"BULL-BEEFING" WILLIE'S CLOTHES.

London, for which a local commission is managing the railway under Sir Adam Beck's chairmanship.

The Border Cities road was a subsidiary of the Detroit United Railways. Its service was meant, for it seemed to be regarded as a sort of Cinderella by the richer system, whose left-of-clothes it used.

There will be great improvements in the service, but Sir Adam has wisely warned the users of the road against expecting too much too soon.

It is hard to shut our eyes to the widespread outspoken hostility which already exists against the church; this is beyond the pale? It is not easy to combat the assertion that that church is heretical, which, after due deliberation, commits itself to a whole life a protest against the prohibitions of the Jews?

When he said this the Christian Guardian spoke of what he knew of the power, the greater fear. The situation has not been improved by the Forward Movement and many people are feeling anxious at the latent possibilities in an alliance of a debased pulpit and the unrestricted use of the referendum.

Who can wonder if the men, chafing under the weight of a "Masters' Federation," drift towards the socialization of their industry, and prefer to trust the state, of which they are integral units, to being at the disposal of a "Masters' Federation"? There is a strong and persistent movement among British employees towards a frank recognition of the basic truth that the producer is as vital to the business as the manager, and that the old standards of domination can no more survive than a restricted franchise could endure when once the toiler learned to read, and found out how to think.

The faults of organized labor have been as surely the products of the former idea of that an employer was a "master" as the extremes of Russian revolution lie at the door of the blind and cruel autocracy.

METHODISM AND PROHIBITION.

Editor World: Is the Methodist Church to be surrendered body, soul and purse by its executive to the paid prohibition force? There are many prominent Methodists who doubt the diplomatic wisdom of Dr. Chown's "We won't drink" referendum.

It is foolish to shut our eyes to the widespread outspoken hostility which already exists against the church; this is beyond the pale? It is not easy to combat the assertion that that church is heretical, which, after due deliberation, commits itself to a whole life a protest against the prohibitions of the Jews?

THE GIRL WHO SMILED THRU

By MARION RUBINCAM

(Synopsis of Preceding Chapters) Lawrence Fairbanks has always won her way thru life by her optimism. Her sunny nature has carried her thru her father's death, her mother's invalidism, poverty, and necessity for hard work, with a smile and a feeling of hope.

An orphaned cousin, Lois Kennedy, comes to live with them. She wins away David, persuades him to come to the city and takes refuge in work and study. Lawrence Fairbanks offers to help her in her studies.

The following summer a baby is deserted by a poor family. Alice adopts it and, thru Lawrence's interest in it, the child grows more friendly with him. He asks her to marry him.

Alice had told Lawrence that he could see her anytime after she had passed. And Lawrence, with true lover's eagerness, came at the very end of the designated week.

There was so much sweetness in his voice that Alice had to smile again. She looked at herself tonight. She was so self-possessed? When David had told her he loved her, she had been so frightened.

Lawrence settled down to listen. Alice looked at him steadily, quietly. He was good-looking, she thought; he was handsome, she thought; he was charming, she thought.

Lawrence was looking at her steadily while she told her story. He heard not the astonishment he had expected. "You can," he surprised her by answering. "Because you are in love with this other man. You only think you are in love with me."

On the whole, it was an exciting week that followed. The next day, Lawrence drove up in his car. He came into the house carrying the fur coat and the little fur hat he had brought before, and announced that they were going for a drive.

POST W. A. BOWDEN AS REPRESENTATIVE

Dominion Appoints Him as Consulting Engineer on Waterways Body.

IS JOINT COMMISSION

United States Also Naming Experts to Meet in Conference.

Ottawa, April 13.—(By Canadian Press.)—Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways and canals, has announced that Mr. W. A. Bowden, B.A.S.C., M.B.I.C., chief engineer of that department, has been selected by the government of Canada to act as Canadian consulting engineer in the reference to the international joint commission on the question of the further improvement of the St. Lawrence river between Montreal and Lake Ontario.

The government of the United States is also a party to this reference, and each government undertook to appoint from its official engineering personnel a consulting engineer with a similar officer of the other government in the acquiring of engineering data, the making of necessary surveys, and the completion of outline plans and estimates of the cost of the proposed improvement, in conformity with this arrangement, a member of its permanent government service, it appointed as member of its permanent government service to the corresponding position on the United States side.

Chief Questions.

The reference to the commission is in the form of a series of questions, the chief of which is:

What further improvement in the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Lake Ontario is necessary to make the same navigable for deep-draught vessels of either lake or ocean-going types, what draught of water recommended, and what the estimated cost?

In answering the question, the commission is requested to consider:

(a) Navigation interest alone, whether by the construction of locks and dams in the river; by side canals with the necessary locks, or by a combination of the two.

(b) The combination of navigation and power interests to obtain the greatest beneficial use of the water of the river.

Other questions deal with the appointment of capital cost to each country, as well as cost of operation and maintenance and method of control. The possible effect on the St. Lawrence ship canal below Montreal is to be studied.

The commission intends to conduct public hearings in both countries to bring out information bearing on the physical, commercial and economic aspects of the project. An itinerary is under consideration and hearings will probably commence about May 1.

The government of the United States is also a party to this reference, and each government undertook to appoint from its official engineering personnel a consulting engineer with a similar officer of the other government in the acquiring of engineering data, the making of necessary surveys, and the completion of outline plans and estimates of the cost of the proposed improvement, in conformity with this arrangement, a member of its permanent government service, it appointed as member of its permanent government service to the corresponding position on the United States side.

Chief Questions.

The reference to the commission is in the form of a series of questions, the chief of which is:

What further improvement in the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Lake Ontario is necessary to make the same navigable for deep-draught vessels of either lake or ocean-going types, what draught of water recommended, and what the estimated cost?

In answering the question, the commission is requested to consider:

(a) Navigation interest alone, whether by the construction of locks and dams in the river; by side canals with the necessary locks, or by a combination of the two.

(b) The combination of navigation and power interests to obtain the greatest beneficial use of the water of the river.

Other questions deal with the appointment of capital cost to each country, as well as cost of operation and maintenance and method of control. The possible effect on the St. Lawrence ship canal below Montreal is to be studied.

The commission intends to conduct public hearings in both countries to bring out information bearing on the physical, commercial and economic aspects of the project. An itinerary is under consideration and hearings will probably commence about May 1.

"What's in a Name?"

Facts about your name; its history; its meaning; whence it was derived; its significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

By MILDRED MARSHALL

AMELIA.

Amelia is derived from that remarkable word, "amali," which has formed the foot of so many proper names. It appears in practically every language and means "work." As early as the days of the Vikings, it was incorporated into masculine and feminine names. The first Amelias was an armorer in the court of King Nielsung. Amalung, another of the early versions, appears in the "Book of Heroes," as naming Amalung the Strong, and there was a Duke Amelung recorded in Danish ballad lore.

Amalia was the earliest feminine name formed from Amal. It was a favorite in Lombardy, but soon penetrated Germany, where it found vogue as Amalia. Meantime, France and Italy had adopted the Latin Amalia, and thru the similarity in sound the two names were thought to be identical. France recognized the difference between Amalia and Amalia and produced Amelie, the name which has such vogue there today.

Amelia is the English version. It has replaced all other forms—even in Germany—the French Amelie alone surviving.

The amethyst is Amelie's talismanic stone. It will guard its wearer from danger and protect her from contagion. According to ancient belief, the amethyst has a sobering effect upon rash or impetuous natures. To dream of it signifies freedom from harm. Saturday is Amelie's lucky day, and her lucky number. The princess, signifying simplicity, is her flower.

How You Can Quickly Remove Hairy Growths

(Aids to Beauty)

A well known beauty specialist advises this treatment for the removal of hair from the face. Mix into a paste some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. This method is quick and entirely safe. To avoid disappointment, however, it is well to make certain you get genuine delatone.

PENSION COMMITTEE IN PRIVATE MEETING

Was Long-Drawn-Out Affair—To Hear First Battalion Men This Morning.

Ottawa, April 13.—The private meeting of the special pensions committee this morning, which was expected to have terminated within about fifteen minutes, proved to be a long drawn out affair, and it was not until a few minutes after one o'clock that the announcement was made to the group of veterans and pensions board officials waiting in the corridor, that the committee had adjourned.

The announcement was to the effect that the committee would resume tomorrow morning at ten o'clock and would then devote half an hour to hearing E. G. Nightingale, a former member of the First Battalion, who is vice-president of the American Volunteers in the C. E. F. and wishes to present the Americans' views to the committee.

In regard to calling further witnesses, it was decided that wherever possible, the committee would secure in writing the views, grievances and proposals of every one asking for a hearing, so that there would be no unnecessary duplication of evidence, and as little repetition of last year's evidence as possible.

AIN'T THAT A GRAND PIANO?

SELINA HAS A PIPE DREAM.

W H O E V E R started the idea of this tony music stuff? That's what I want to know. I breezed into Massey's Hall last week with a big-time guy. We had a lake seat up behind the pipe organ, and I'll tell you why; it happened to be a shine for the Shriners, and they had a pet Mason 'n' everything, my guy popped around about eight o'clock in a fez. Honest, I hadn't the nerve to show him in public, so I beamed him that I hated to think of everybody gettin' wise that I was out front and sorta overconfident me with attention.

"Maybe it sounds kinda hot air, but I'm good and I know it," I says. "This Lankanka waltzer may zipp over a few high notes, but leave it to me to hand out the rest forty ones. Far be it from me to cause professional jealousy, so let's get behind the pipes." I says.

And was he on? He was! So up we goes and we there would have had one grand evenin' if that Lhevinne bird hadn't handed out such a bagful of class. He was good at the fingerin' I guess; that is, if you could understand it, but give me my music served without frills. Everybody raved over him, but Gee! I musta lost about forty pounds, while he was playin' 'Chawpin'.

So last night when I got throwed another bid to hear this other big guy play the fiddle, I says: "Us fur the pipes, in case it gets a little better every else saw and a lotta things that nobody even thought that somebody else was pipin'. The artiste come on with a big hand and sent over some pretty smooth stuff, and I'll say before he finished his first piece he had the whole bunch of us to his feet. Then come one of them soft poetic silences, you know, like sunlight on pale blue velvet and all of a sudden-like my guy says to me, he says: "We're gonna have several soprano singers what ain't on the program," and he glugged like a fish.

"How do you get that way?" I says, grabbin' his aim, but I was 'n' just as soon as I slanted the little mouse what was playin' tag with itself up and down the main aisle.

"I get you," I says, watchin' it disappear down the front row, and I woulda give a thousand years of my life to have saw some of the stately dames doin' a Fairbanks over the seats, but I was some disappointed, as everything kept scren.

"What you don't know won't hurt you; it can be said of more places than a restaurant," I says, as we started steppin' it out fup air.

GENIUS OF VIOLIN CHARMS HEARERS

Mischa Elman Holds Audience Spellbound at Massey Hall.

Tribute to the exceptional popularity of Mischa Elman, the world-famed violinist, was given at Massey Hall last night, when the capacity house, with 800 extra seats on the platform, was simply insatiable. The entire recital seemed as if the audience was simply insatiable, four, five or six recalls being given after each number. The event had added interest, it being the occasion of the first appearance of Lisa Elman, the young sister of the violinist, who played with her brother in the Kreutzer Sonata, making a splendid impression.

If genius might be criticized, it could be said that Elman never played with finer nerve than he did last night. It seemed as if sadness were a thing unknown and the real spirit of wizardry and witchery were the impelling forces of his performance. In the opening number, the "Nardini Concerto," vital, vibrant phrases went out to his audience, the singing quality produced being simply ravishing, and the composition without receiving most sympathetic treatment.

Beethoven's Sonata.

The "Sonata," Beethoven, seemed to give opportunity for two principals. Elman and his sister claiming equal attention. In the "Adagio Sostenuto" (Presto) there were passages in which the hands on the keyboard and those that held the bow and fingered the strings, worked together in fluid-like union and other moments when dainty passages were echoed in a perfection of time, rhythm and technique. The "Adagio Con Variazioni" was an illustration of fine sympathetic work and the "Finale" (Presto), the brilliant, ending to an outstanding number. Six recalls rewarded the players, hands fairly raining upon them a shower of applause.

"Concerto in D Major," Paganini-Wilhelmj, the allegro maestoso was played with clean incisive bowing, the strong piano include giving the key to the spirit of the composition. This number was punctuated at several points by the applause of the audience, who took advantage of

He is Jules de Paquit, a cartoonist whose platform was brief, given simply "free beer." Only one vote was cast against him, and investigation has disclosed that the casting of the vote was due to temporary mental derangement on the part of the voter.

INDIANS CONTINUE FEDERAL PROTEST

Say Act Defining British Subjects is Not Applicable to Communities.

Ottawa, April 13.-(By Canadian Press.)—Further opposition to the proposed amendments to the Indian Act, chiefly on the ground that it means compulsory enfranchisement, also that it places too much power in the hands of the superintendent-general, was heard by the special committee of the commons today.

Rev. Peter Kelly, representing the Roman Catholic Indians, supported the idea of compulsory education, but characterized the placing of children in boarding schools without consent of the parents as a high-handed proceeding. Leaving the superintendent-general to decide on the fitness of an Indian for enfranchisement was altogether too arbitrary.

A. R. Chisholm, counsel for the Six Nations Indians, disputed the impression given the committee at Friday's meeting by Deputy-Minister Duncan Scott, that the British authorities allowed the Indians to believe themselves allies until the subjects were in a position to declare their subjects.

Today's session was attended by nearly twice as many Indians as at any previous session.

A committee was named to file a protest with the city authorities against de Valera being permitted to speak here, and calling upon owners of halls to refuse to permit such use of their places.

The bishop expressed disappointment at the progress made in Canada and elsewhere since the signing of the armistice.

He Superintended Engineering Branch of Soldiers' Re-establishment Department.

Ottawa, April 13.—Announcement is made of the resignation of J. H. W. Bower as general superintendent of the engineering branch of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment.

With few exceptions this organization has been responsible for the construction of Canada's war hospitals, and during the most active period of its operations during 1917 and the early days of 1918, made available upwards of 18,000 beds for the care of ex-members of the C. E. F. suffering from war disabilities.

W. H. George, who has been closely associated with the work for some time, as assistant general superintendent, has been appointed general superintendent; G. A. Browne, who since early in 1917, has been district engineer for the western provinces, has been appointed assistant general superintendent.

Mr. Bower leaves the government service to take up construction work as chief engineer for a large engineering and contracting company, and will also specialize as a hospital consultant.

SAYS SCHOOL SYSTEM WRONG IN CANADA

Dr. C. E. Clarke of Toronto Declares Views—Mistake to Teach All Pupils Together.

Winnipeg, April 13.—"Our whole school system is wrong, in that it is based on the misconception that all children are of an average mentality," Dr. C. E. Clarke, of the University of Toronto, chairman of the National Council of Mental Hygiene, in an informal address before a luncheon convention on "Christian Brotherhood" last evening.

Approximately 60 per cent. of the children are of an average mentality, 20 per cent. are above the average, and 20 per cent. below," Dr. Clarke declared.

The ideal that all mental defectives should be placed in institutions and shut up tight was erroneous, he said. Much could be done by education and training thru special classes in schools, Dr. Clarke declared.

He said that the council looked to the west in making its crusade, illustrating the advances made in Manitoba and British Columbia.

DOWN COME CLOTHING PRICES IN WINNIPEG

Offer of Twenty-Dollar Suits Leads to Price-Cutting Campaign.

Winnipeg, April 13.—As a result of the house famine, and appearing in a local newspaper offering suits and houses to those paying the caretaker the highest bonus, veterans are especially dignified by means of a clothing store on Portage avenue this week, offering good suits or overcoats at $20.

The first day and the crowd around the place reached almost the proportions of a riot. On the second day a local departmental store reduced all its blue serge suits from fifty to thirty dollars, said to be as a result of the Montreal firm's cut.

Other dealers say these price cutters are speculators who got stuck with cloth and are unloading at loss, but they declare they are making a profit of $5 on each suit or overcoat.

RYAN STRIKES BACK IN STUTS SCANDAL

Quitting Exchange, He Accuses Governors of Selling Stuts Motors Short.

New York, April 13.—Allan A. Ryan, chairman of the Stuts Motor Car Company, resigned today from the New York Stock Exchange, and accused members of the board of governors of being short in Stuts stock, trading in which was suspended by the exchange when the price skyrocketed.

A member of a committee of the exchange, according to Ryan, is a partner of a firm that is short a large number of shares in Stuts, and continued to sell them up to the last moment that trading was allowed, and has at yet failed to make delivery.

Ryan said that threats had been made against him, designed to extract from his valid exchange contracts those who attempted unsuccessfully to depress the market value of his stock, and he could not retain his self-respect if he remained a member.

Trading in Stuts was suspended two weeks ago, after the price had risen rapidly from around 100 to 391. Short-sellers had held the price down, and the exchange absolved them from the usual obligation to deliver stock.

Then fluctuations in the price of Stuts stock, which Ryan controlled, attracted attention, and the exchange directed its members to report secret dealings in the stock.

Association of stock exchange firms appointed a committee to try to arrange for the delivery of the stock, but Ryan by this committee and by the exchange itself proved futile. The matter is expected to be aired out in the courts.
