 General. He was brought here on the

 "Oblige me by calling him up on the telephone, and let me speak with him."
 Some minutes passed before the governor announced that the Colonel was waiting. My old friend went to the instrument.
 "Is that Colonel Bremhof? This is General von Eckerstein. I wish to know why, when the young Englishman, Rolert Anstruther, was brought before you with the British Consul and with me, his friend? What's that? That does not answer my question. By what right did you refuse? What's that? I can't hear you.
 Oh, your mouth is swollen and you can only speak with difficulty."

 "This was for my benefit, I knew, and I would have smiled if Major Praludoff hadn't been frowning grimly at me.
 "You can give me a direct answer all the same," continued the General at the instrument. There was a pause, filled by the incessant buzz of the voice telephone. "What's that? You know that, sir, what? Well, you can't treat Englishmen like that. It will be my countryman's turn next. But you had his papers. Very well, then, I am going now to the governor. Yes, of course I will, as for my own countryman, as my own son, in fact, Nonsense. What your men thought you know that better. I'll permit the thing had better be hushed up, there's an end of it. Mr. Anstruther will communicate with the Consul here and write to the Ambassador at Petersburg. What do you mean? Do you dare to make me write to your illegal act? Then you shall not exert any further influence to restrain Mr. Anstruther from using his unquestionable rights, and shall myself write to the Minister of the Interior. An hour, no six, not five minutes, at once!"
 The telephone bell rang furiously.
 "I'll write a short note to Mr. Hartington, Robert, and I'll take it to him myself. He will at once communicate with the Minister and in the meantime I'll write to the Minister. I'll permit the letter to be written, Major?"
 The bell was going all the time.
 "I'm in a difficult position, General."
 "Certainly not. You'd better ask him if he persists in his refusal, and if he adds it doesn't matter, because I shall see Mr. Hardy."
 "The Colonel wishes to speak to you again, General," said the Major from the instrument.
 "I have no more time to waste over the telephone, and my friend put to overcoat. "You must go back to your cell, Robert, and before morning we shall have of some kind from Petersburg. God good, boy; and as he shook his hand, he went.
 "General von Eckerstein is going, Colonel," said the governor through the telephone. "The Colonel wishes to know where you are going, General."
 "Tell him to mind his own business and I'll mind mine," was the angry reply, and he was repeated over the wire.
 The General walked to the door and opened it.
 "The Colonel urgently begs you to speak with him, General."
 "Am I to wait for that letter to be written or not, sir? His face might have been a stone mask in its sternness as he came.
 "Please wait a moment, General. As a personal favour to me, I really don't want to do it."
 "I have no more time to waste, I say.
 I demand a reply now."
 "Mr. Anstruther, will you ask the General? It may be of the highest moment to you."
 A very different sort of governor this from the one who had lectured me so sternly in my cell, and then glibly sentenced me to the knot.
 "No. I have been treated too infamously. I prefer to put the matter in the hands of the British authorities," I answered. "All Europe shall know how foreigners are treated in Warsaw."
 A glance from the General approved
 my reply.
 "You can write to your Consul, then."
 We both understood that this was merely intended to gain time, and that we wasted some time in pretended difficulty about phrasing the letter, while a conversation continued over the wire which clearly showed the man at the other end was in trouble.
 "That's enough, Bob," said the General presently. "You can tell him all when he comes."
 "Thank Heaven," breathed the governor with a sigh of relief as the receiver was hung up again. "One moment, General. The Colonel is sending an order for Mr. Anstruther's release upon your giving me your assurance to be responsible for him."
 "Just in time," exclaimed my old friend, curtly and unceremoniously, as he turned to communicate with me, was refused.
 "I know nothing of that, of course,"
 General. He was brought here on the order of Colonel Bremhof."

Suffered From Heart
and Nerve Troubles
FOR THE Last Ten Years.

The heart is supplied to it two sets of nerves, one set which quickens, the other which slows its action. The proper action of these nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve demangement of any kind it is bound to produce all the various phenomena of heart demangement.

Knowing the intricate structure of the heart, and being aware how diseases of the nerves affect the heart, we have combined in Millard's Heart and Nerve Pills a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders as well as act on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart trouble which have defied all other treatments.

Mrs. John Riley, Dorco, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from heart and nerve troubles for the last ten years. After trying many remedies and doctoring for two years, without the least benefit, I decided to give Millard's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial. I am thankful to say that, after using nine boxes, I am entirely cured, and would recommend them to all sufferers."

Price 50c. per box or three for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millard Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE CITY WILL SETTLE CLAIMS
Decide to Pay B. Mooney & Sons $20,000 in Full Settlement.

The common council at a meeting Saturday afternoon unanimously decided to pay B. Mooney & Sons $20,000 in full settlement of claims against the city in connection with the contractors' work on the water extension to Loch Lomond. A recommendation to this effect was submitted by the water and sewerage board. Ald. Baxter, the associate counsel, reviewed the situation and the discussion which followed was very brief. The mayor occupied the chair, and the full council was present, with the common clerk P. J. Mooney and M. F. Mooney were interested spectators of the proceedings. Ald. Bullock and Ald. Frank had a little altercation towards the close of the session, but it was quickly settled by the civic commission. The report submitted by the water and sewerage board was as follows:

Your board, at the suggestion of the Hon. Mr. Justice Land, the trial judge in the suit now pending between Messrs. B. Mooney & Sons and the city, has held a conference with the attorneys' counsel with a view to settling the matter as speedily as possible. The result of the conference was an offer from the defendants to accept of a sum of $20,000 in full settlement of the present suit as well as their claim on the other side. The sum of $20,000 was offered to be paid the Messrs. Mooney within 10 days of the date of the settlement of the suit, upon proper discharge being given to the satisfaction of the recorder.

COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS.

Mrs. Irwin Bennett, Parrsboro, N. S., writes: "I feel it my duty to write a few words in praise of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I took a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, and made it almost impossible to breathe at times. I coughed constantly and could not sleep at nights. A friend told me how Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup had helped her, so I procured some, and before I had taken one bottle my cough was gone and I could lie down and sleep at night."

VIGOROUS ADDRESSES DELIVERED YESTERDAY
 Rev. W. J. Keirstead and Rev. L. A. McLean Speak Before the Every Day Club—Rev. James Crisp at Thorne Lodge Meeting.

The political briber and the acceptor of bribes were the subject of vigorous denunciation by the Rev. W. J. Keirstead in an address at the Every Day Club yesterday afternoon. There was an unusually large audience, the majority, as is usual at these meetings, being men. Bruce Addison was chairman. The choir of the Tabernacle church led in a number of popular hymns.

Rev. Mr. Keirstead made three human desires the subject of his very clear and forcible address. These were the desire for social pleasure and companionship, and the desire to have a permanent stake in the assets of the world. The first two of these desires were common to animals as well as men, but the last named was peculiar to man. He prompted him to look about and ask himself what God was doing in the world, what He was aiming to do, and what part the man might be helping to work out that great purpose.

God's purpose was clearly enough indicated by the great increase in benevolent institutions, in the desire for social pleasure and companionship, and the desire to have a permanent stake in the assets of the world. God's purpose was to achieve the greatest good for all mankind. Having the desire to share in this work a man connected himself with these great movements, and he must also stand by their purity in politics.

"Personally," said Mr. Keirstead, "I would have more respect for the man who would give up his own country and his own citizenship in an open war, than I would have for the man who would give up his own country and his own citizenship in a hidden war; for the latter strikes a blow at the very foundations of the nation. A nation which is founded on such a basis is a nation which is built on sand, and the man who is influenced, whether it was by a paltry $500 bribe, or by an office, or a pension, or a great expenditure, has departed from that righteousness which constitutes a nation."

Mr. Keirstead appealed to the men before him to unite themselves with great moral movements, and so aid in developing in Canada that splendid manhood which should be the distinguishing feature of this great country.

Last evening the hall was crowded by seating capacity when Rev. L. A. McLean spoke to a young man, who delivered a very earnest temperance address, giving reasons why the liquor traffic should be stopped. The speaker was Mr. J. H. C. O'Neil, of the famous march to the relief of Lady Smith. It was not the tall man or the short man, the stout or the thin man that kill out of the ranks, but the drinking man. This was the testimony of the highest medical authority.

When I dwell upon the misery brought upon homes by the drink habit, the suffering of wives and children, and appeal to his hearers to interest themselves in the work of temperance reform, so they would be saving men, than which no higher task could appeal to their manhood or womanhood.

R. H. Cother referred to the recent temperance campaign in the city and appealed to men to aid the Every Day Club in its work.

Two numbers were sung by a club quartette and one by members of the male choir, with accompaniments by Mrs. Cother and Mr. Stokes. A trio was sung by the Misses Totten and Master Totten, a duet by Misses Colwell and Brown, and a solo by Miss Lulu Colwell.

The speaker next Sunday afternoon will be the Rev. Gideon Swin, and in the evening H. A. Powell, K. C.

HINTS FOR PANCAKE MAKING.

A good way to prepare the pan for pancakes, fritters and such things, is to put the butter in a clean cloth, and rub the little bundle all over the pan. The heat, melting the butter, will not just prevent the pan from becoming sticky and indigestible, but prevent water. For the pancakes themselves, there is an increasing use of Blend Flour, which good cooks agree, is without an equal for making light, tasty pancakes. It can be had from any good mill—and is a scientific blend of Ontario fall wheat and Manitoba spring wheat. Freed, as it is from waste matter, this Blend Flour is richer in flavor and food value than either of the wheats could give alone. It contains just the proportion of those elements in flour which prevent the food becoming soggy and indigestible. The blending of flour is an old trick, taught good housekeepers by their mothers and grandmothers. It is a convenient way to have this by-means-easy task shifted from your burdened shoulders onto the shoulders of today. And they should certainly do the blending more accurately, with all the modern machinery, than could be accomplished by the most painstaking work at home.

This act comes from the new Nickel Theatre in Montreal, and the quartette will make its bow in pleasing selections on the chimes, the largest of their kind in the world. Aside from this stellar feature the Nickel's programme will be of more than ordinary interest, as follows:

The Waters of Life, a most exquisitely tinted film, 1,000 feet in length, carrying the watcher hundreds of years back to the romantic days of chivalrous knights, moated castles and good fairies.

Orchestral number—Selection from The Bohemian Girl (Balfe).

Every Reader Should Know The Following Medical Facts:

How few realize that twenty-five per cent of all disease has its origin in some interference with the function of elimination. Up to a certain point the body has power to object to destructive elements, but this power is limited. When it happens that the body is loaded with wastes and poisons which it can't eliminate, fermentation, decay and germ life run riot through the blood. From Newfoundland Miss Lillian Anthony of Upper Gullies, Conception Bay, writes: "In praise of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I must say that I have used them with success. Formerly my face was full of pimples but now my complexion is clear and ruddy. In more ways than I care to mention have Dr. Hamilton's Pills helped me, they would be good for every woman to use."

PITTSBURGH'S WEALTHIEST CHURCH FORLED TO CUT SALARIES 10 PER CENT.

Trinity's Endowment Forbids the Renting of Pews, and Employees Are Asked to Sacrifice Pay.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—Old Trinity, the wealthiest and most prominent Protestant Episcopal church in Pittsburgh, has been forced by financial straits to make a ten per cent cut in salaries. There was only one exception. The rector, Rev. Dr. Alfred Armand, being under contract, still receives $9,000 per year. A peculiar combination of circumstances caused the cut, which, it is said, may be only temporary. The late John H. Schoenberger, by his will, endowed the congregation with $200,000, with a proviso that the pews should be forever free. The endowment consisted of securities in the town site of Roby, Ind., where it is believed Schoenberger intended some day to erect large steel works. He died and the project fell through. Now this endowment is a millstone. Deprived of revenue from pew rent, the vestrymen were compelled to ask the workers of the church in its different parishes to accept a reduction. The assistant rector, Rev. William Shea, was cut $300 a year. Choir singers, lay workers and others who were engaged in the different philanthropies of the congregation all made sacrifices.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE OLYMPIC GAMES

Stadium to Hold 70,000 People Under Course of Construction at Sheppard's Bush, London.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The last girder for the steel structure for the great Stadium at Sheppard's Bush, London, in which the Olympic games will be contested this year, was placed in position this week, and some idea can be obtained of the magnitude of the British Olympic Association's undertaking. This stadium has been designed to accommodate 70,000 spectators, and besides will contain rooms for the competitors, officials and general public, and a lot of floor space for exhibits of sporting implements. The centre is a turf arena 700 feet in length, and is 300 feet in width around which has been laid a running track having three laps to the mile, and outside this again a cycling track having two and three-quarters laps to the mile. The turf and tracks were laid last fall and are in splendid condition and have been declared the best in England. Alongside the arena is a swimming pool 100 metres in length, with a deep space in the middle for high diving and water polo events, which the committee believe will be among the most interesting of the meeting.

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B. MONDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1908.

The Evening Times.

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 17, 1908. The St. John Evening Times is published at 27 and 29 Canterbury street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd.

THE EVENING TIMES, THE DAILY TELEGRAPH. New Brunswick's Independent newspapers. These newspapers advocate British connection. Honesty in public life. Measures for the material progress and moral advancement of our great Dominion.

THEY ARE AFRAID. The weakness of the government's case so far as St. John is concerned is shown by the fact that Dr. Pugsley was brought down from Ottawa to endeavor to dazzle the people by a speech devoted largely to federal issues and giving vague assurances of great things to be done for the good of the city and province.

THE ARREST OF MORSE. The New York American makes these caustic observations concerning the case of Charles W. Morse, the financier, who has just been arrested in New York. "In the exciting chase of the broken and, possibly, ruined Morse the federal and county authorities have been contending with valiant rivalry. It is unfortunate that the same official enterprise did not exist when Morse was actively engaged in building the paper institutions that have now fallen about his ears."

CRACKING THE WHIP. The Hon. H. R. Emmerson at Moncton on Saturday evening made the following extraordinary appeal to the employees of the I. C. R. and the people of Moncton: "If you want to see the I. C. R. go ahead by leaps and bounds, if you want to see the number of its employees multiply, then vote for Premier Robinson and his colleagues and we will convince the Laurier Government at Ottawa that our policy is the policy of Canada."

What has Premier Robinson to do with the number of men employed on the Intercolonial Railway? What can he do to make the Intercolonial "go ahead by leaps and bounds?"

tercolonial Railway? What can he do to make the Intercolonial "go ahead by leaps and bounds?" The appeal of Mr. Emmerson in Moncton, like that of Dr. Pugsley in St. John, is not only a convincing proof of the weakness of the Robinson government, but a glaring attempt to humbug the people. It should be treated with the contempt it deserves.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN. Is there to be another railway raid on the provincial treasury? What company other than the Grand Trunk Pacific and Mackenzie & Mann's transcontinental line could have any object in building a line from Quebec to St. John? When would such a company get traffic, and why is there any mystery about a matter of so much importance? Why did Dr. Pugsley omit from his speech in the opera house all reference to the Valley Railway and then have the government's statements he never made? This matter will bear looking into. The people may not be altogether astray if they assume that an attempt is being made to deceive them.

THE WANDERER'S RETURN He has a sweet and heavenly peace Within his soul once more. From death and darkness free— Yes—he has peace once more. Ah, never can we go away From God, from love and light. But gloom will darken all our day, And turn it into night. If we do wrong, ah then His hand Will use the chastening rod. Afflictions come at His command "Till we return to God." When in repentance we return— Weep, low at Jesus' feet. Then His abounding love we learn, And find our joy complete. Abundant pardon He bestows As soon as we repent. And from His presence freely flows Grace to the penitent. He takes away our fifth of soul, And clothes us with His Grace; He heals our wounds; Made fully whole, We take a higher place. St. John, N. B., Feb. 15, 1908. A. H. W.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST WATERFALL. The Victoria Falls, on the Zambesi River, in Central Africa, are about twice as high as those of Niagara, but only a very small portion of them can be seen from any one spot. The striking solitude, the weirdness of the scene, and the tropical surroundings are most impressive, and it is for many an hour's contemplation before one can attempt to realize the enormous scale upon which the Great Architect of the Universe has worked. On stepping a short distance across the railway line by the hotel, one reaches the edge of the steeply covered and thick bush and watches the water rushing through the gorge and swirling round the first bend of the zigzag, eddying in fantastic leaps. The magnitude of the cliffs opposite, on either side of one and inclosing the vast gorge, is difficult to realize, especially as the mighty river, its depth masked, appears comparatively insignificant, and one utterly fails to conceive the immense vista of thousands of years that must have passed since the water first began its working or eroding the 40 miles of gorge. In the distance can be seen the spray rising from the eastern end of the falls and above the thick bush, to the left, one can also see the vapor emanating from the other portions of the falls. The whole of the southern side of the dam facing the main fall, contains a beautiful tropical forest about a mile long and 200 to 300 yards broad. This is called the "Rain Forest," because it is being constantly drenched, more or less, with spray. The vegetation in this forest is of the most luxuriant description, owing to the atmosphere closely resembling that of a hot-house; large evergreen trees, in which monkeys abound, grow along the face of the cliff, and round about the trees are strange plants and flowers are numerous. One flower, called "Gladious promulium," has a yellow blossom so shaped that the spray cannot enter the tube of the flower. Within a stone's throw stretches a gigantic curtain of ever-trembling water, scintillating in the sunlight, with a soft, dully thunderous roar. Where the water is shallow, beautiful, localities effects are seen produced; at other points where the water is probably five or six feet deep, it is of a brownish color and glides over the edge of the precipice in an oily manner, to be split up lower down into intermittent snow-white, foaming masses, merging into the zone of perpetual opalescent spray. Buttress Point, which is the western corner of the outlet from the chasm itself, is negotiated at some risk and considerable discomfort, as it is here that the elements are in the greatest state of fury. Leaving this promontory behind one reaches, in a couple of minutes, the western side of the bridge, where one shilling per head each way is charged by the Rhodesian Railway Company for the privilege of crossing. The bridge is provided with a double rail track of the South African standard gauge of 3 feet 6 inches and has a boarded footway on each side. The width of the bridge between the side parapets is 30 feet. The span, though not a record one, is not to be despised. The central arch measure 500 feet, and the side spans together 150 feet, making a total length of 650 feet. From this point, which is some 400 yards from the falls, one is better able to realize the immense drop, the gigantic scale of the cliffs and the terrible power of the water. The mere sensation of looking over the edge of the bridge, which is high enough to allow St. Paul's cathedral to stand beneath, is apt, notwithstanding the fact that the parapets are of a substantial material, to inspire vertigo. The most gorgeously brilliant rainbows are seen from the bridge. Often they are in the form of a complete circle right underneath the arch and sometimes two or more separate and complete circular rainbows appear concentrically to one another. When a bright moon shines a beautiful, soft rainbow, generally also in a complete circle, makes its appearance under one's feet.

ANOTHER SNAK THIEF AT WORK

That another sneak thief is operating in the city is evident from a story told by two young men who called at police headquarters on Saturday. The strangers, who are on route to the old country from Montreal, took their trunk to the Dufferin House, west end. One of them hung his overcoat in the hall and went to supper. On returning, however, they found that both coat and trunk were missing. Careful search both of the hotel and the C. P. R. depot proved unsuccessful and the matter is now in the hands of the police.

POLICE COURT

Preliminary hearing in the case of theft against Yul Thompson was continued in the police court this morning, when the only witness examined was Edward O'Brien, who told of having purchased from the defendant two razors, which he identified in court and which he told of having left at a shoemaker shop on Sydney street for Detective Killen. Thomas Campbell and Joseph Dixon, arrested for drunkenness, were fined $8 each. The men arrested by Patrolmen Ross and Marshall, for wandering about Smythe street between 10 and 11 o'clock last night, and being unable to give a satisfactory account of himself to the police, was stood aside for the present. Herbert McIntyre, charged with a like offence, was similarly dealt with.

RETURNS TO WASHINGTON

MONTREAL, Feb. 16 (Special)—At the inquest held to enquire into the recent tragedy at Ile Perrot, where nine men were blown to pieces by an explosion of nitro-glycerine, the jury brought in a verdict that no one could be held responsible for the accident. No evidence was forthcoming as to the cause of the explosion, for the simple reason that everybody who could know anything about it had been killed. Expert evidence, however, was adduced to show that the plant was one of the best of the continent for the manufacture of high explosives, and that everything possible had been done to minimize the inevitable danger of such work.

It is understood that Capt. Hill, who is desirous of taking a trip to England, has sent in his resignation in respect of his appointment to the rank of Major. Capt. Charles Seeley is likely to be his successor.—Yarmouth Tel

BOYS MAY HAVE BEEN DROWNED

Harold Draper and Irving Earle, of North End, Missing Since Saturday.

Harold Draper aged about 16 of 138 Metcalf street and Irving Earle aged 15, of 172 Metcalf street have been missing since Saturday afternoon about two o'clock, and as they left to go fishing on the river grave fears are entertained for their safety.

William Earle, of 172 Metcalf street, the father of the younger boy, said he did not expect to see his boy again and has given him up for lost. Abraham Estabrooks, of 138 Metcalf street, with whom the orphaned Harry Draper lived, said last night that he had not yet given up hope of seeing the lad alive. Both had their working clothes on, and were without money, so it is not considered likely that they have run away from home. Neither had been in any trouble about the house or even given any unreasonable by staying away before. Draper is an orphan. He has no uncles or sisters and Mr. Estabrooks is his guardian. Mr. Estabrooks says he never gave any intimation of being discontented with his lot; he attended Alexandra school. After his death on Saturday he was advised to change his footwear, as he had his feet wet in the forenoon. He said it was no use, as he would soon get them wet again, and he went out. He wore a reefer and a pair of dark overalls. Irving Earle's mother is dead, and he has a step-mother who was evidently much attached to him, as she cried incessantly last night when a reporter was at the house making inquiries. He is also a school boy, but also works at delivering papers. He left after dinner and, joining Draper, the two were seen wending their way towards Indiantown.
