OUTCOME OF FRANCO-GERMAN CONFERENCE.

Berlin, Jan. 1—The German foreign office has been aware for some time that the Franco cabinet had serious fears of Germany's intentions.

Baron Von Richtofen, the foreign secretary, was informed a fortnight ago that the French cabinet had serious fears of Germany's intentions.

Inquiries were made here by French financial circles last week as to the possibilities of Germany provoking a war with France and Germany bankers who are extremely well informed politically replied that there was not the slightest indication that the German government contemplated aggressive action.

The apprehensions in France appear to be due to a reasonable certainty that Germany will oppose France's position at the Moroccan conference, now only a fortnight off and also to the feeling that France's yellow book on Morocco vented rather too far in accusing Germany of assuming a provocative attitude and charging her with bad faith.

TRURO SUNDAY FIRE.

Truro, N. S., Jan. 1—(Special)—The fire yesterday in Gunn's block will make a loss of $50,000. The insurance is $17,000, thus the total loss is about $33,000.

With the exception of a small quantity of stock from Geo. Johnson's store and D. R. Fraser's store nothing was saved. It is expected the safes will turn out all right. The insurance is as follows:

D. Gunn—Building, $10,000; Scottish, $1,000; Ottawa, $1,000; Norwich Union, $2,000; B. F. Porter's Companies, $1,000; Fraser, Fraser & Co.—Stock, $12,000; Pacific, $1,000; Equity, $1,000; Phoenix, $1,000; Scottish, $1,000; Norwich Union, $1,000.

Geo. H. Johnson—Stock, $5,000; Phoenix, $1,000; Equity, $1,000. A. B. Cox—Stock, $2,000; Equity, $500. D. R. Fraser—Stock, $7,000; Nova Scotia, $3,000.

Mrs. Carter's barn, $800; Acadia, $200. Odell's outfit, $2,000; Connecticut, $200; Anglo-American, $450. Dr. C. S. McArthur's stock and fixtures, $1,000; British American, $400. D. A. R. offices, insurance not known.

If safe turns out well the loss will be practically nothing. There are no vacant stores for the firm to open business in at once and Gunn will not build this winter.

It is expected a company may be formed to buy the lot and put up a large brick building for a store on the ground floor and offices and an opera house upstairs.

BRITISH OFFICIALS TURN DOWN IMMIGRANT

London, Jan. 1—Most of the aliens arriving at British ports yesterday successfully passed the medical examination under the new immigration act, but many were rejected through their non-possession of the qualifying £25. Numbers of those who were refused admission and those who were refused admission at the port of arrival are as follows:

A somewhat unforeseen effect of the new act is the virtual abolition of third-class traffic between Great Britain and Belgium, owing to the Belgian state railways refusing to accept the responsibility of carrying third-class passengers with the liability of being added with the cost of their return.

Hence the British companies are compelled to refuse third-class bookings. It is not unlikely that the same result may happen with regard to France.

NOTED NEW YORKER DEAD

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—Theodore P. Ball, for many years the senior manager of the American branch of the firm of Hall, Russell, and Co., Philadelphia, Pa., died here yesterday.

Mr. Ball was born in London 37 years ago and came to New York in 1870. Connected with one of the most distinguished families of Greece, as Mr. Ball was his residence at No. 6 East 44th street, became the centre for the relief committee organized during the Turkish-Grecian war in 1877.

Mr. Ball was elected president of the relief committee, and through the firm he collected for the Greek sufferers were forwarded to agents on the continent. In 1888 the family moved to London, where they have since resided.

THE RECENT STRIKE

The Times is glad to be able to announce that the strike by which it was somewhat crippled for the past two days ended last night. The executive of the local typographical union called upon the management of the Times yesterday afternoon and discussed the terms on which a settlement of the trouble might be effected. The management stated that it must insist upon its right to appoint the foreman and to select the men who should work under him. The whole question was fully discussed, and in the end the contention of the management was agreed to and the strike called off. The management submitted a list of the names of the men wanted, and these returned to work this morning.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Recent papers have been giving much attention to the exhibition in that city of data relating to the treatment and cure of tuberculosis. The following article from the Boston Transcript is worthy of careful reading: A message of hope and cheer is brought to Boston by the Tuberculosis Exhibition in Horticultural Hall. Though some of the data assembled are not quite up to date so as to cover the period in which the popular anti-tubercular crusade made most progress, the results presented are reassuring. Some hope is held out for all victims of the "white plague," and virtual guaranty of prolonged life and usefulness is given to those who submit to treatment in good season. As to the treatment there appears to be renewed optimism. What is aimed at by all the institutions represented is fresh air and a nutritious diet, with perfect sanitation, and the various exhibits show how these provisions are obtained variously by the several institutions. There are probably half a dozen principles illustrated in the construction of tents and air shafts for patients, some providing for the introduction of fresh air into the rooms and others for the placing of the patient outdoors so as to always breathe the open air.

The following observations by the Bangor News are of wide application: "If we can make ourselves better in 1906 than we were in 1905, and put things in motion so that 1907 shall be an improvement over 1906, we shall not regret the year which dropped in at the front door in the dark hours of last night, will mark the dawn of the Golden Age. Now the question is, how hard are we willing to strive toward bringing about this consummation?"

Ald. Dan. Gallery, the meteoric M. P. for St. Ann's division, Montreal, has been unseated and disqualified for corrupt practices. This is a severe penalty, but it appears to have been well deserved. A general insistence upon unbiassed elections would be of great benefit to the country. Mr. Gallery is not the only man who has purchased votes.

The New and Wondrous Art of Turning Shoe Leather Into Money.

In active operation at popular Daylight Shoe Store, corner of King and Charlotte streets. It is an easy process and a pleasant one—judging by the satisfied looks of people who come away from the store. The simple truth is this:— In my store is Fifteen Thousand Dollars Worth of Boots, Shoes, Slippers, Rubbers and Overshoes; I am positively going out of business in this city on March 1st next. In the intervening eight weeks my intention is to convert that $15,000 worth of shoes into coin of the realm. The way the "must-be-sold" sale started off yesterday showed that the people of St. John were alive to this opportunity.

THE INGLE NOOK PHILOSOPHER OF KENNEBECAS BAY.

We were speculating the other evening, Pollard, on the question whether it might not be that when the Spirit of Innocence was crowded out of its material habitation by the Spirit of Evil, it still hovered around the places with which it had been familiar, longing to resume the occupancy of its former domicile and at times revealing itself to its whimsical entertainer in his daily and nightly dreams. We are led to believe that nothing which is good can ever perish and that nothing which is bad can survive the stress of time. What has become of the good man who goes wrong? of the countless good boys and girls who go to the bad? Can you tell me, Pollard, where the curly haired and red-checked boy has wandered who used to say his prayers by your mother's knee? What has become of the man who was watched so solicitously by his mother and was the idol of her true and trusting heart? Perhaps they stand by our elbows, Pollard, unseen by our eyes, but still there, longing to resume the places they once occupied, but still repelled by the Spirit of Evil that has usurped their places. It may be that if we repel them to the end they will go away to the Islands of the Blessed, that we sometimes dream of, where they will be ourselves as we were, while we, as we are, shall have utterly perished. It does not appear to me that if a man is either illogical or absurd. Of course it is speculative, but what question ever occupied the human mind which is not, more or less, the subject of conjecture, speculation?

Here Pollard sneezed and woke up. Said he "we were speculating the other night on the hereafter. I find a lump of ore. I take it home and extract the gold, silver or copper that it contains, and throw away the dross. Then I find a nugget of virgin gold, silver or copper, but I do not value the metal by the ounce any more than I do that which I got from the ore. That which is good in man is not dross and cannot be trodden. I have in my orchard a large number of fruit trees. Some of them have grown big for years but produce no fruit. The axe is already ground, that will be them down. There are others that struggle with insect pests, black knots and decay and yet produce fruit. I prune them, and prune them and fertilize them, and when it seems useless to struggle with them, I cut them off and plant a new one. It is a matter of time if a man is not a crafty fellow, he will be a success. Some times," continued Pollard, "when the milk is lit and I catch a glimpse of the Happy Islands we read of, far out at sea, I fancy I see those poor, deformed and diseased creatures growing luxuriantly, and laden with fruit, a thousand billion, singing in their branches." Pollard lit his pipe, which he had held while he talked, and left me to my meditations.

We are "like children crying in the night" like many and bewildered and lost in the woods. There are plenty ready to explain this and that difficulty, but each of their explanations requires an explanation. "If God made the weeds, what right have you to destroy them?" asked a child of his father, who was watching him working in his garden. He was at a loss how to answer. Nature is good if we cooperate with her. It is an angry mood she finds us unprepared for her assault. Listen to old Omar: "Myself when young did eagerly frequent Doctor and saint, and heard great argument About it and about; but evermore Came out by the same door where I went." White Head, Kings Co., Jan. 1.

A DESPONDENT MAN'S TERRIBLE DEED

Rochester, Mich., Jan. 2.—Alarmed by the deserted appearance of the farm house of Clarence A. Barrum, near here, neighbors broke into the house today and found Barrum, his wife, his daughter, Louise, aged 23, and his son Clinton, aged 16, all lying dead. The wife and son and daughter had apparently been murdered with an axe. A shot gun lying near his corpse and the fact that his hand was almost entirely blown off, showed how far Barrum had met his end. The appearance of the house indicated that the family had just finished breakfast today when the insane and murderous frenzy of the father broke out. Evidently there had been a terrific struggle. Under the dining room table lay the father's body, a gun across his knee. Apparently he had taken the muzzle into his mouth before pulling the trigger. Three extra cartridges stood on the sideboard as if in readiness to create any members of the family who might succeed in escaping the murderous axe. There was blood on the handle of the axe, but the blade had been washed.

In the dining room where the body of the father was found lay also that of the daughter. The son's corpse was in the kitchen. It is thought that the boy was killed in the woodshed next, and that the father turned to the daughter imprisoned in the dining room where the disturbance apparently had begun. The wife, son and daughter all had their heads terribly cut and crushed with the axe. Barrum sold a farm near Homer (Mich.), only a few months ago and located here late in the season. It is said that the harvest in his new home did not meet with his expectations and that he had become despondent. Two other sons and a daughter were away from home when the tragedy occurred.

BLOOD IMPURITIES

and when I had taken two boxes, the rash was entirely gone, the swelling in the face and hands was gone, the pain in the back had left me and I was quite well again, and my complexion is clearer than it has been for years. I want to thank "Fruit-a-lives" for this great cure—before I used this medicine I had used many kinds of salves and took quantities of medicine but they did me no good. But "Fruit-a-lives" did me good—and they entirely took away the dreadful rash.

This case of Mrs. Malhot proves one great truth—that you can't cure pimples, blackheads, blotches, red rash and other skin diseases with salves and ointments. Simply because the disease is not with the skin but WITH THE BLOOD. The skin trouble is the RESULT of blood trouble.

"Fruit-a-lives" proves this because when salves and ointments are left off—and "Fruit-a-lives" taken to purify and enrich the blood, the skin diseases are cured to stay cured.

Pimples, red rash, eczema etc., come from disease of one of three organs—liver, kidneys or stomach. It may be all three—but certainly one. And this one affects the other two.

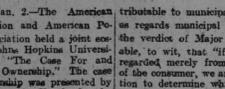

And there will be skin disease —as long as the bowels are constipated —as long as the kidneys retain urea or tissue waste —as long as the stomach does not digest food properly and the body is improperly nourished.

Ointments won't cure—salves won't cure—soaps won't cure. Because the trouble is the BLOOD—not the skin. But "Fruit-a-lives" will cure. "Fruit-a-lives" do cure—because "Fruit-a-lives" PURIFY THE BLOOD.

"Fruit-a-lives" act on the liver—stimulate it to excrete more bile—and thus make the bowels move regularly every day. This rids the system of one source of blood poisoning. These famous liver tablets act on the kidneys—prevent the formation of excessive uric acid—and insure the kidneys being strong and healthy. They act on the skin—strengthen the glands and stimulate them to throw off the impurities which the blood brings to them.

With bowels, liver, kidneys, stomach and skin working properly—the blood is pure and rich—and there can be no pimples or blemishes to mar the complexion.

All all druggists or sent postpaid on receipt of price— one a box or 6 boxes for $2.50.

CASE FOR AND AGAINST MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Interesting Arguments on Both Sides of the Question Presented at a Recent Meeting—Does Municipal Ownership Pay?

BALTIMORE, Jan. 2.—The American Economic Association and American Political Science Association held a joint session recently at Johns Hopkins University, and discussed "The Case For and Against Municipal Ownership." The case for municipal ownership was presented by Frederick C. Howe of Cleveland, who said:

Municipal ownership is becoming the most insistent issue in local politics. The ownership of the means of production and distribution of goods is being taken over by the state in one form or another. The ownership of the means of production and distribution of goods is being taken over by the state in one form or another.

He who made no cause for gratitude probably causes none. Our best welfare has seldom been welcome at its first coming. Many a man who is only see-sawing thinks he is saving wood.

The review of the past often gives a new view of the present. The poorest kind of sermon is the one filled with fear of the rich man.

He has little gratitude who seeks only to gratify himself. Despite the emphasis laid at present on the political argument for municipal ownership, the economic considerations involved cannot properly be relegated to a subordinate place.

The experience of Great Britain is commonly cited as strong evidence for the premature success of municipal operation in the United States. Of the British evidence it may be said that while profitable municipal trading in particular cities, such as Glasgow and Liverpool, seems well attested, the success of the policy as a whole is in serious dispute.

STORM OF REVOLUTION IS CENTRED IN WARSAW NOW

General Strike Declared and Business is Suspended—Moscow Casualties Much Less than first Reported.

Warsaw, Jan. 2.—The employees of all the factories here are on strike. The bombs and revolvers discovered yesterday in Kazka street belonged to a club of Jewish anarchists and communists, the members of which were terrorizing the Jewish business men.

The governor general has suspended the Gonic, an organ of the National Democratic party. Traffic on the Vistula railroad is partially interrupted. The Socialists have destroyed two bridges and are firing on the engineers. A bridge was also destroyed on the Vienna railroad.

In the government of Kioska the revolutionaries have destroyed several government buildings. On the Ostrovia branch of the Vistula railroad the strikers have destroyed the Warszawa station. The employees fled.

At Lodz some of the factories attempted to resume work but the workmen were threatened by the strikers with revolvers. At Sosnowice and Dombrowa, all the coal mines have been closed.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—The situation in the Baltic provinces is still critical. The military at Riga and Tilsa are adopting the most energetic measures. A station master who refused to send out a train to Riga was shot and several insurgents made several attempts to derail a train between Libau and Eisenstadt.

At Riga in St. Petersburg still continue. An editor and other charged with disseminating revolutionary literature among the soldiers have been arrested by the police.

The Mova (Rose) says that Count Sokolski's commission has decided to change the council of state into an upper house consisting of 100 members, 50 of whom will be appointed and 50 elected.

Riga, Livonia, Russia, Jan. 2.—While a detachment of Dragoons were engaged in grooming their horses here this morning they were attacked by 300 workmen armed with revolvers and swords with the result that several Dragoons were killed and fourteen were wounded.

The soldiers rallied and opened fire on their assailants, killing eight of them. Troops were then summoned and surrounded the rebels.

Moscow, Jan. 2.—(via St. Petersburg, Jan. 2, 8 p. m.)—It is impossible to ascertain the total losses resulting from the ten-day's revolt as many of the dead and wounded have not been reported at the hospitals, public or private, and some of his bodies were interred. But a personal tour of the hospitals shows there were 548 killed and 1,065 wounded.

One hundred and seventy-four of the injured taken to hospitals here this morning were reported to have been killed, and 200 were reported to have been wounded. Among the killed or wounded were a number of children, the returns generally showing that they had suffered the heaviest.

The final figures of the casualties will slowly approach 2,000. The estimate made in these despatches. The stories of the discovery of great heaps of dead bodies in the streets are as many as other sensational stories printed by the local papers, like the statement that more than 400 revolutionaries are still holding the Prokhoroff mills turn out after an investigation to be untrue.

So far as municipal ownership in the United States is concerned, there is no general consensus of opinion among individual investigators, expert engineers, and professional accountants. The systems of bookkeeping in vogue in many public and private enterprises are unscientific, and of little or no value, and non-uniform.

This last consideration robs of any particular significance the reports of the United States Commissioner of Labor in 1890. Finally, it may be said, that if the corruption of city politics is inevitably based upon the local government's grant of franchises, a betrayal of the public interest is equally possible whenever progress from a tariff measure or votes an appropriation, or whenever the Federal department makes contracts with railroads and other corporations.

The argument for municipal ownership would, by parity of reasoning, impose upon the federal government, and direct administration of a vast number of industrial enterprises. There is, however, no necessary connection between the grant of franchises and corrupt city government. This is attested by English experience in cities where public trade is not in vogue.

If the responsibility for city administration in this country were assumed, made indivisible, and unassailable, if the cashiering of incompetent or dishonest officials or representatives were rendered direct and easy by a radical cut in the number of persons to be voted for, there is good reason to believe that public service in corporations operating under franchises could be forced to render a full return for their franchises, and would give efficient service at prices fair to the consumer and compatible with a fair corporate profit.

He who made no cause for gratitude probably causes none. Our best welfare has seldom been welcome at its first coming. Many a man who is only see-sawing thinks he is saving wood.
