

FIVE REPORTS
AGAINST ONE CAR

That was Feature of Today's
List of Traffic Cases Before Magistrate.

Automobile numbered 13,881 occupied a large place in reports handed in last evening by city policemen covering yesterday's activities. Policemen's biweekly reports the car for speeding at 1.25 yesterday afternoon on the north side of King square. He reported it again at 2.15 and again at 2.45 for speeding in Charlotte street. Policeman Gaudet contributed his quota by reporting the car for exceeding the speed limit in Thorne avenue yesterday afternoon at 2.40. Not to be outdone, Sergeant MacLeese presented a report against the car for traveling in excess of the rate the law allows at 4.45 yesterday afternoon in Union street.

LUMBER REPORT

The weekly market letter of Simpson, Clapp & Co., New York, under date of Oct. 3 says:

The general situation in the lumber market remains largely unchanged except for a marked better feeling. Although demand and inquiry are still under normal, and further declines in price have been made in various items, at the same time, the feeling is pretty general that the corner has been definitely turned.

The greatest brake on revived business today is the inordinately high railroad freights and the cost of labor. Large centers, with a varied labor market, common and skilled labor have been reduced to economic point, but in a good many instances in the lumber industry where the local labor market is small, the decline in wages has not been proportionate to the decline in price.

It does not seem to us that any further liquidation in prices is necessary, particularly when we learn the yards can purchase northern spruce in short lots at around $27 per m. free pond. The new method of quoting spruce lumber prices announced by certain eastern manufacturers has had little effect in this market in as much as they are still above the West Virginia spruce base. Cargo arrivals have been heavy in view of market conditions, and we regret to advise that some undesirable random has sold as low as $23. In other woods, however, such as the upper grades of yellow pine, a marked increase has been noted. The white pine are firm and red cedar whigs have advanced, as also have North Carolina rovers. This we expected, as these items were selling under the cost of production.

We believe that for the balance of this shipping season, prices will be firm, although in the general run we do not anticipate an advance. As a matter of fact, we would prefer an attempt to advance the price of dimension lumber, as we believe firmly in this wood only full carry ability and put off further a return to normal business. The lumber that has been manufactured at high prices is in for a loss, and the sooner this is taken and forgotten the better, as this lumber is not improving with age. The war is over and we can only forget it and look forward to new business at an economic cost of production.

As we had anticipated, the attempt to so call "corner" the market has begun to flake out, and we notice a weakening in price, particularly in the Boston market. We are receiving quotations on rail by steamer at around $6.50, so that, while ordinarily the market in spruce lath would begin to advance with the fall and the close of navigation, we anticipate a decline to a normal price. The yards are retailing lath from $11 to $12, and it is common sense that they are not going to stock up and carry over lath for winter at wholesale prices at anywhere from $9 to $10.50. Although lath prices have been quoted by certain salesmen at $10.50, to our knowledge, none have gone anywhere near that figure, and we would quote the market, without reservation, at $9 per m. regular New York today. Spruce lumber would quote all the way from $23 to the West Virginia base of $41.50.

The volunteer announced that he had at last been able to enjoy the delights of luncheon on a meeting-day at city hall. The fact that the commissioners had changed their schedule of meetings so that the morning session begins at 11 o'clock instead of 11:30 was responsible for the happy incident—the luncheon was concluded about twelve o'clock.

Your wife's salary—
what is it?

WE ask the question to emphasize the fact that wives do not get salaries: they just work for their board and clothes. They can't lay aside anything for times of sickness or old age.
Their husbands are supposed to do that for them.

It is selfish of a man not to make provision for his wife in the event of his death. To be sure the law gives her a definite portion of his estate; but supposing he leaves no estate? Business risks, bad investments, hard times, luxuries—these may eat up the estate and leave her penniless.

An Imperial Life policy will provide the one definite, sure and easily obtained provision for your wife; and she deserves something definite and sure—doesn't she?

To-day—while you are insurable—ask us to send you our free booklet "The Creation of an Estate."
It explains how you can in this way make provision for your family if you die, or for your own old age.

IN WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 17.—(10.30.)—The latest phase of the railway situation provoked heavy selling and concurrent weakness in the stock market at the outset of today's trading. Within the first fifteen minutes prominent railroad shares sustained losses of one to two points and some others suffered greater declines. Losses of one to three points were registered by oil, Mexican Petroleum excepted, and equipments, steels, coppers and food specialties were lower by one to 1 1/2 points. Transcontinentals and Grangers bore the brunt of the movement against rails, and Royal Dutch was weakest of the oils. Bearish sentiment was heightened by the further collapse of German marks to the new low record of 55, a drop of fully ten points from the previous minimum quotations.

Noon Report.
New York, Oct. 17.—Selling in heavy volume continued throughout the morning, transactions in noon approximately 400,000 shares. Mexican Petroleum finally gave way, reacting 2-1/2 points from the previous minimum quotations.

BIG SHOW COMES TO OPERA HOUSE TUES.

Irish Comedy Romance— Gifted Violinist— Comics and Educated Baboons in Big Show For the Mid-Week.

The new programme which opens at the Opera House on Tuesday has all the earmarks of a bang-up bill, and should prove attractive to lovers of refined vaudeville.

The Irish element is supplied by Robert Kelly & Co., the company being Miss Molly Kennedy, a young beauty from County Wicklow and Little Larry, a boy comedian. Mr. Kelly and Miss Kennedy have won praise from critics on both sides of the Atlantic, and very likely they will prove a popular attraction at the Opera House this week in their song and playlet, "Bedelia O'Shea," which is beautifully staged with special scenery and electrical effects.

Miss Betty Washington, "Sweetheart of the violin and her bow," is another bright star on the mid-week bill. Miss Washington is acclaimed by critics in Europe and America as an artist of wonderful skill and charm.

Robinson's Baboons is considered to be the funniest animal act in vaudeville. Children of every age will love this animal act supreme.

Others on the bill are Miner and Evans, "The Wise Crackers," and Clifford Jordan, baton swinger.

FOR STUDY OF SOCIAL SERVICE

From Many Climes to University of Toronto Students Travel for Training.

The Social Service Department of the University of Toronto has the reputation of being one of the best schools of its kind on the continent. Students and lecturers from all parts of the world make a point of visiting it to see how the work is carried on, and many stay to see themselves of the methods of instruction.

Last year a young Indian from Calcutta attended, and has this year gone to London, England, to continue his study of social work. On completing his work in London, the young man intends to return to India and take an active part in the national problems.

A young lady from the Philippine Islands, the Dean of Women at the University of Manila, was also a student for a short time. She went back to Manila to found a Social Service Department there, taking the department here as her model.

South Africa Appreciates Value.

One of the students at present in attendance is a delegate from South Africa. She has been seen about the world by the South African government, and she has decided that it would be well worth while for her to stay here for a year at a student in order to learn how the department is run. She hopes to be able to start one or two Social Service Departments in South Africa.

The Director of Medical Services for the South African government was recently, and is arranged to keep in touch with Prof. J. A. Dale, Director of Social Service.

The department is rather upstart at present by some alterations. Official opening will be held on Tuesday, when the room which was assigned to it, and a second room is now being fitted up with shelves to receive the additional volumes. Other minor changes are also under way.

A unique and interesting course of lectures is being given.

GIVING TO THE ORPHANS

A fairly large amount of merchandise and produce of all kinds is being delivered at the St. Andrew's rink daily for use in the Orphanage fair, a committee in charge is very grateful of the support being shown on the part of the general public of all classes.

Soliciting for an orphan's fair gives one much cause for thought, and no small amount of experience from which to judge human character. Some, however, are most generous. Kindly forward your donations to the rink any time between now and the 25th. Anything from "fish pond" material up will be greatly appreciated. Official opening will be held on Tuesday, when the room which was assigned to it, and a second room is now being fitted up with shelves to receive the additional volumes. Other minor changes are also under way.

BOYS AND CRIME

Kingston, Ont.—It is a great mistake for us to think that all the criminals come from homes of poverty and dirt, where fathers are recreant and sometimes mothers are disreputable. Doubtless these things are conducive to crime, and to that extent, better housing conditions, better fathers, better mothers and a neighborly attitude of helpfulness on the part of the community would be immensely helpful.

The executive of the Labor party met yesterday and decided to hold a mass meeting in the near future to nominate committees for the selection of a candidate to carry on the work of completing plans for organization of the workers for the coming campaign.

Her Stomach Made Her Nervous
Was Nervous 12 Years Due to Gas on Stomach

"For 12 years I suffered from gas on the stomach and was nervous and short of breath. Adierka (intestinal antiseptic) is fine—it has done me more good than anything. Words cannot express my gratitude." (Signed) Lena Cook. Intestinal Antiseptic.

There is now offered to the public a preparation having the DOUBLE action of an intestinal antiseptic and a COMPLETE system cleanser. This preparation, known as Adierka, acts as follows:

"I tends to eliminate or destroy harmful germs and colon bacilli in the intestinal canal, thus guarding against appendicitis and other diseases having their start here.

"It is the most complete system cleanser ever offered to the public, acting on BOTH upper and lower bowel and eliminating foul matter which poisons the system for months and which nothing else can dislodge. It brings out all gas on the heart. It is astonishing the great amount of poisonous matter Adierka draws from the alimentary canal—matter you never saw in your system. Try it right after a natural movement and notice how much more foul matter it brings out than was poisoning you.

Hon. Mr. King, in Statesmanlike Speech of Marked Force, Gives Masterly Exposition of Liberal Policy

Imperial Theatre Thronged as Chief Replies Categorical to Questions Set By Opponents—Many Phases of Campaign Reviewed in Address That Sways Vast Audience—Strong Fighting Speech by Hon. W. E. Foster and Spirited Talk by Major Power of Quebec.

In a speech that swept triumphantly onward with the irresistible momentum of victory, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party in Canada, addressed an audience of St. John voters on Saturday evening that filled every seat in the great auditorium of the Imperial theatre and occupied practically every foot of sitting and standing room on the large stage. Hundreds of disappointed citizens were turned away from the building after being informed that there was no more room inside. His Worship Mayor Schofield presided. About 2,300 were present.

Hon. Mr. King captivated, charmed, convinced. Confidence of victory radiated through his every utterance. He displayed that fire and fluency, and indeed a great deal of that indefinable dynamic something called "action," which marks every great orator. But above all he exhibited an undoubted mastery of his subject that betokened an intimate acquaintance with every phase of the Canadian National problems with which he dealt. He displayed a knowledge that inspired confidence in his auditors that he indeed is an eminent and competent man to guide the destinies of this great Dominion.

For days the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon. Mr. King have been firing at each other at long range. When the big battalions of the Conservative army passed through St. John one evening last week they left a rear guard to cover their retreat. The defenses erected by the rear guard took the form of a three-column, page length advertisement containing a series of questions demanding that the Liberal leader clearly declare his position upon the question of the tariff and challenging him to substantiate the charges of autocracy and extravagance which Mr. King has been repeatedly preferring against the Meighen administration. The attack was launched early Saturday morning when the large advertisement appeared in a St. John morning daily just as Mr. King arrived in St. John. It was repeated again in an afternoon daily.

When "fools rush in where angels fear to tread" the consequences of their rashness must beget some bitter emotions. Similar feelings doubtless must have been torturing the minds of the National Liberal and Conservative New Brunswick publicity committee when they witnessed the effective manner in which the Liberal leader broke up their attack and rendered it practically futile. Thinking to trap the Liberal leader, they, in reality, did him a genuine service, for they furnished him the occasion to turn the whole force of his artillery upon them and to rain down upon their heads such a procession of weighty arguments, lucid expositions, and damaging indictments as to leave them utterly disoriented.

Hon. Mr. King's exposition of the meaning of a tariff was as clear as crystal. Though his opponents thought to catch him upon the horns of a dilemma Mr. King outwitted his opponents and delivered a convincing declaration of the position of the Liberal party with regard to the tariff. The tariff plank in the Liberal platform of 1919 he would not repudiate, he said, but he would regard it as a chart by which the aid and advice of those around him he would shape the fiscal policy of this country.

With telling and deadly effect Mr. King pressed home the charges of autocracy which the question posters of the advertisement had challenged him to substantiate. He put his opponents to confusion when he accepted the defy to prove the charges of extravagance which he had leveled against the Meighen administration.

He clarified his position on the question of handling the national railways over to the C. P. R. in a ringing declaration of the traditional railway policy of the Liberal party, which he declared had its origin in the destruction of monopoly.

The questionaire, summed up, as Mr. King said, what his political opponents considered would be the hardest nuts for him to crack. The effective manner in which the Liberal leader did the cracking brought joy to the hearts of his supporters and consternation in the camp of his adversaries.

The declaration of the principles of Liberalism which stood for government by the people instead of government by the few evoked a great admiration, and in his peroration in which Mr. King appealed to Canadians to let the decisions of the past be forgotten and to turn their faces toward the dawn of a new day he soared to heights of eloquence that entitle his address to rank among the greatest oratorical efforts of Canadian statesmen.

Hon. Mr. Foster's Fine Effort.

Hon. W. E. Foster, premier of New Brunswick, delivered a splendid address. Mr. Foster confined himself almost wholly to a discussion of the railway situation, in which he upheld the policy of the Laurier government in constructing the transcontinental railway. He vigorously attacked the present government for the manner in which the former Intercolonial Railroad was administered. The road, the premier declared, was one of the confederations pledges held out to the people of the maritime provinces. It was to link up the lower provinces with markets in upper Canada to take the place of those United States markets which the maritime provinces stood to lose if they entered confederation. The policy of the government in regard to the I. C. R. had struck a severe blow at the industries of the maritime provinces from which it would take them a long time to recover, the premier declared.

Major C. G. Power, former M. P. for Quebec, criticized the government's extravagance in regard to militia and defence. He declared emphatically that there was no racial hatred in the province of Quebec and pointed out in proof of his contention that although there was in Quebec only one constituency in which English-speaking voters predominated there were no fewer than fifteen from which English-speaking members of parliament were returned.

Mayor Schofield took the chair at sharp nine o'clock, and immediately opened the meeting. He said that it must be gratifying to Hon. Mr. King and his colleagues to see such a large struck a blow at the industrial life of the maritime provinces.

The premier then took up the hydro-electric development taking place in the province. He said that he was hopeful to achieve. They wished to attract manufacturing to the province, and the long haul would prove great handicaps with the high freight rates. The canals were free and the C. P. R. was free on the same basis. The tolls on the railways now, however, were prohibitive.

Mr. King then proceeded to define what he considered the real issue in the campaign when he declared: "Whether we are going to have a continuation of autocratic government or whether we are going to have government by the people and for the people—that is the issue, and not the tariff."

"Has any one," asked Mr. King, "given to Mr. Meighen the right to carry on the government of this country in the name of the people?"

Mr. King then proceeded to define what he considered the real issue in the campaign when he declared: "Whether we are going to have a continuation of autocratic government or whether we are going to have government by the people and for the people—that is the issue, and not the tariff."

it was not Mr. Meighen's government but the Union government which granted the franchise to women. In his opinion, however, the less said about the trust reposed in the women on the country the better. He said that the women who were concerned though were prepared to support it and had been denied to all other women.

What better example of autocracy than that could there be demanded Mr. King, Democracy, he declared, did not pick and choose. It gave the same right to each and all. Special favors had no place in a free country.

den and his successors had sought to benefit the national railway act to render the transcontinental railway of less service than it could be. People had complained of the C. P. R. that diversion took place and old John and Halifax were concerned that the effects was that shipments were made through these ports but through American ports.

Not by departing but by fulfilling the vision of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to make the country one would our railway problem be solved and the interests of our own Canadian ports best served. They would carry out this vision in all its full reality if returned to power.

During Sir Wilfrid Laurier's regime there were 2,000 miles of government railways in Canada, while today there were 22,000 miles, Mr. King said. Had the people, he asked, had any opportunity of discussing such great public questions as the taking over of the C. P. R., which was one of the greatest questions the people could be called upon to decide. No; it had been settled by government and the people had no chance to decide. The Grand Trunk had been taken over in large part since the war and in a very large part since Mr. Meighen took office. Such questions should be discussed by the people.

When Sir John A. Macdonald was making arrangements for the construction of the C. P. R., Mr. King said, then Conservative premier had brought into parliament a copy of the proposed contract and agreement and every member of the house had had an opportunity to express his opinion. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had done the same thing when the transcontinental railway was proposed.

"I moved in parliament that the same course be followed in regard to the Grand Trunk Railway system," said the Liberal leader, "in order that the people's representatives might have a chance to discuss the terms of the proposed agreement. But what did Mr. Meighen do? He refused to allow that course to be taken and the agreement was signed, sealed and delivered without its terms being discussed by the people's representatives."

"But," continued Mr. King, "those terms were seen by the Grand Trunk bondholders in England and we in Canada learned of the terms of the agreement through the cables from England. Think of giving people in England rights denied to the people here in Canada who the government had adopted in this matter a course wholly at variance with the principles of responsible government."

The Liberal leader said he was not complaining about the administration of the National railways being under the control of a board of directors, but he declared, the government could never deflect itself of the responsibility for the actions of those directors to whom it had entrusted the expenditure of the people's money. The directors of the National railways were handling hundreds of millions of the people's money and somebody must be held accountable for the manner in which this public money was expended.

In parliament recently, the Liberals had started to ask questions regarding the railway deficits of fifty million, seventy million, and since the new systems were taken in, 165 millions of dollars. In the last year, 1920, the deficit was one of the most expensive on record, and it had required only a few million to run the whole country. As the people's representatives, Mr. King said it was their duty to find out how the railway directors were being expended by the railway directors. He had inquired into the questions put to him regarding the personnel of the board of directors and their connection with other companies which had received contracts for the supply of equipment and placement of insurance policies carried by the railways, the government had said that it had no objection.

Later in committee the Liberals had found out that practically all of the members of the board of directors of the National railways were directors of other companies which were doing business having to do with the supplying of railway equipment of one kind or another and insurance. They had found that there was about 107 millions of dollars of insurance on the railways which for the most part was held by a company on the board of directors of which two of the railway directors were members. The total amount of $11,000,000 and $9,000,000 had been let to companies, members of whose boards of directors were also on the board of directors.

"I bring no charges against these gentlemen on the railway directorate," said Mr. King, "but I do bring a charge against the government which should be that a board dealing with the public money should be above suspicion."

The most important point in connection with this matter was, Mr. King said, the principle of accountability. The government had taken the position of refusing to give parliament information regarding the expenditures by the railway board—and remember, said Mr. King, these were the government's railways.

In the face of such conditions as these a motion had been introduced declaring that it was the duty of the government to account for expenditures of public money on the floor of parliament.

"Would you believe it, ladies and gentlemen," said Mr. King, "that Mr. Meighen asked that this motion be voted down and voted down it was." That was one reason why the people's railway problem was in such a tangle. The government had challenged the Liberals to bring charges. How could they, asked Mr. King, when they did not know how the money was being expended.

"The only way we can find out what is being done with the people's money," declared Mr. King, "is by returning to parliament an entirely new group of representatives who will stand for the people's rights, first, last, and all the time."

The Tariff

Hon. Mr. King then took up the tariff question and said that so far as the Liberal party was concerned, it did not stand for free trade and never had, so far as he knew. The sum of $860,000,000 had to be raised annually and it was impossible to raise this amount by direct taxation. No group was capable of doing this. There would have to be a tariff to raise revenue. Tariff was a means to an end and required to be revised from time to time. Hon. Mr. Meighen had said that he had the Laurier tariff today and the same for a number of years.

In 1896 Laurier had promised to lower the tariff in favor of the people and the free trade bogey was raised. When Laurier came into power he took the duties off of some articles and promulgated a British preference of 33 1/3 per cent. He also made revisions in other directions. That tariff brought prosperity from one end of the country the offer. That had been the effect of the Liberal tariff. If the Liberals were returned to power he would proceed just as Laurier and his government had proceeded. He asked if he could follow a better guide. The policy of the Liberal party was to revise the tariff so as to lower the cost of the necessities of life and increase production.

He had been asked if he approved the Liberal platform of 1919. Hon. Mr. Meighen had asked at London (Ont.): "Did Mr. King stand pledged to put into effect the platform of 1919? If he replied yes he should not have power, as the platform was unsound. If replied no, he was unfit to govern, as it showed bad faith. If he did not answer at all, he should not be put in power as he would be lacking in candor."

Meighen is Answered Hon. Mr. King said that he would answer in the words he used when chosen Liberal leader at the caucus of 1919 when the platform was framed. He pointed out at that time that assuming so large a responsibility would be a big task for one man if he had to do it alone. He believed in the wisdom of many minds. In the Liberal party were outstanding men of outstanding ability. He would surround himself with these gentlemen and do the thing that was the wisest thing to do. He regarded the platform as a chart of the course that the Liberal party was supposed to take. He would keep the chart before him and with the assistance of his colleagues would take the right course.

Conditions had changed materially since the 1919 platform had been framed. There had been changes in the United States tariff. Must we be bound by the actual words of any document? The people would regard him as a madman if he did so. He would have to accommodate himself to conditions and take a common sense view. That would be the same course to take. He said that he would surround himself with the ablest minds and seek to do that most to the interests of the Canadian people. He did not repudiate the platform and would take the responsibility of his actions on the floor of parliament.

He repeated that he did not stand for free trade, but a revision of the tariff. He pointed out that a tariff was for two purposes, protection and revenue, and explained how a tariff is operated. If protection was the main aim it did not let in any goods and enabled the manufacturers to combine and put up prices. No revenue was secured, and just a few persons benefited. If a tariff was for revenue it should be a fair tariff. Liberals in framing the tariff regarded primarily the question of revenue. The speaker told of the board of commerce investigation and the report of James Murdoch, which showed that there were many existing combines in the necessities of life. Mr. Murdoch had come out today with the Liberal party and was asking for an investigation.

If we were to pay of the large public debt, Mr. King declared, we would have to develop the natural resources of the country, such as agriculture, lumbering, mining and fishing. As the natural resources were developed, manufacturers would have the raw materials to develop their businesses, and as commodities became more plentiful so transportation would increase and prosperity come. "It was to the interest of the country as a whole that the tax on implements of production should be as light as possible. Also the tax on the necessities of life should be light. It was along these lines that the Liberals proposed to revise the tariff."

Wonderful Peroration. Hon. Mr. King then took up his "programme" and said the best question he could answer, and, in view of the time, the last one he could answer was, "Have you any criticism of the government's war record and what do you say regarding the utterance of some of your party that this is to be an election of revenge?" The Liberal leader made his answer to this question the basis for a peroration that has seldom been equalled before. St. John audience and rose to great heights during its delivery. It was a cord amongst all classes in the dominion, and before the last sentence was out of his mouth, the whole packed house was on its feet, cheering themselves hoarse. Mr. King had been speaking in a quiet, yet most convincing manner, but now he let loose a flood of eloquence, and that he struck a responsive chord was attested by the great ovation given him as he sat down. He began by the declaration that the grand old Liberal party was not fighting this battle on the basis of prejudice. "That is what war breeds," Hon. Mr. King declared. "It kindles enmity. It divides class against class, creed against creed. But the war is over now and has been over for several years. Still it has left a legacy and in some quarters there is still a tendency to pit race and creed against one another. Let me say that we should forget the bitterness so rampant during the period of war and, so far as the Liberal party is concerned, it is no party to that kind of an appeal. (Cheers.) So far as that kind of an appeal is concerned, the government's record—that is settled. We are not looking to the past. We are looking to the unity of the future, that unity which is so essential to the peace and progress of our Canada. (Cheers.)

"We might attack the Government's war record," he said, "on several matters, but we abstain for two reasons. First, when it suits convenience, the Meighen Government describes itself as a new government and that it cannot be judged by the acts of the old Unionist government. The second and more important reason is this:

"We have passed through the period of war into peace. We need, not only peace, but the spirit of peace. Let us seek that spirit as a substitute for the ill-will, engendered by the war. It is only by goodwill that we can be a united country."

"We have on the platform here tonight a gentleman from Quebec, Major Power. He served overseas, but his record as a statesman is equal to that of a soldier. He is from Quebec and he will tell you about conditions there and what he believes to be the issues of the campaign. "I want to say this in conclusion, as a Canadian, as a British subject, that our first duty in this time of peace is to heal the wounds and scars of war and make our country happy, contented, and united. We must lead the men who went overseas, who fought, who bled, who died, that they could expect this much of us. There was solemn pledge made to them that they would never regret their following; the vision splendid, there and thereafter, you shall see it ended, we had promised. They fought that peace might come again and that ill-will would disappear. And it remains for us to keep that binding pledge. "I say that that man, who deliberately attempts to stir up the flames of passion and prejudice is unjust to himself, unjust to the living and unjust to the memory of our sacred dead. Let us seek concord."

The war caused a great wastage of human life, Hon. Mr. King declared. It bred autocracy into the government. It was for us to return to democracy of peace.

"Let me say this to the people of St. John, Liberal or Conservative, forget the past and realize the future. Unity is needed and you will be all the greater for working for it. Let us be guided by bygones and see to it that the present government does not continue to hold office. The Liberal party seeks unity of class and class, creed and creed, race and race, province and province, east and west, yes, this vast Dominion with the other dominions of the British Empire. The Liberal party aims to restore goodwill to all, for on goodwill alone lies the solution of our difficulties. Only by co-operation can true advance and progress be attained and I ask you to join me in making that aim a splendid reality."

The last words of the Liberal leader's speech were drowned by the cheering of the audience and it was some time before the chairman could make himself heard to introduce the last speaker of the evening, Major C. G. Power, of Quebec, who, on rising, described himself as the official closer of his leader's meetings. (Laughter.)

Major Power. The major was in a fighting mood and he scored the Meighen government for its failure to recognize the aspirations of the Canadian seaports and to develop those seaports for the handling of Canadian goods. Regarding the tariff, the major said it covered a multitude of Tories and their allies. The people would do Dec. 6 what they thought of Mr. Meighen's tariff policy for protection. The Liberal tariff policy, framed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. W. S. Fielding, had given Canada a golden era of development for fifteen years. As for extravagance, Major Power said, Canada had a standing army of 8,500 men which would be commanded in wartime by a brigadier. Yet at present there are nineteen generals in Ottawa directing affairs for the $300,000. When the government announced a policy of retrenchment what was the result? They dismissed about ten privates and they could have done just as well by dismissing ten of the generals. Major Power said that there was no hatred in Quebec for the other races as well as by dismissing ten of the generals. Major Power was loudly applauded. Mayor Schofield rose and announced the meeting at an end and called for the National Anthem. At its conclusion, Premier Foster called for three cheers for Hon. Mr. King and the Liberal party, which were given with a vim and the gathering then dispersed, carrying with it a most favorable impression of the Liberal leader.

The Seven Seas chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire held a successful rummage sale in the Orange Hall, Simonds street, on Saturday morning, and in the short space of one hour sold all of the articles offered, netting a satisfactory sum.

MARSHALL FOCH HAS MANY INVITATIONS

Paris, Oct. 15.—Marshal Foch would be compelled to travel more than 20,000 miles to visit nearly every state in the American Union if he should accept all the invitations he has received from the United States since it was announced that he would cross the Atlantic this fall.

Friends who call upon the Marshal are shown a stack of invitations more than a foot thick which he has received. There are hundreds of them, including greetings from governors of various states, mayors of many cities, public bodies of every sort and private messages from prominent residents of the United States.

"Which of them will you accept?" an American visitor asked the Marshal recently.

"All of them," he replied, "and I would like to visit every state in the Union."

It has been impossible to fix the Marshal's itinerary, which thus far includes a trip across the continent to San Francisco.

The Marshal's only apprehension as to the hospitality of the American people is the possible effect it may have upon his digestion.

Remembering the condition in which Marshal Foch returned from his visit to America, Marshal Foch frequently murmurs "Poor Fayette."

The Generalissimo of the allied armies is still amused over Marshal Foch's pleasure when the chairman of the entertainment committee in Boston showed him upon his arrival late one evening the programme for the day following.

It began in the early morning with a sightseeing tour; then followed a reception of delegations, a midday banquet and speeches, and then an afternoon reception. A public dinner and reception was scheduled for the evening and this was to be followed by a ball.

"What do you think of it?" the chairman is reported to have asked the Marshal.

"It lacks something," replied the Marshal.

"I see nothing regarding my funeral arrangements at the end of the day."

It might be remarked that Marshal Foch is abstemious in his daily life, his habits being almost ascetic in character. Col. Francis E. Drake, deputy commander of Paris Post, American Legation will accompany Marshal Foch to America at the latter's request.

Fifty-two fire prevention weeks every year would save $500,000,000 and 15,000 lives annually.

MUTT AND JEFF—WASN'T IT JUST LIKE JEFF TO THINK OF THIS?

THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., MONDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1921

SALVATION ARMY LEADERS ARE WELCOMED HERE

Leaders and members of the Salvation Army from all parts of Eastern Canada and from Toronto have gathered in St. John to say farewell to Commissioner and Mrs. Richards, who have relinquished their command of the Canada East, Newfoundland and Bermuda district to take up the command of the Southern Australia district. Chief among the visitors is Major Mary Booth, granddaughter of the founder of the present commander, General Bramwell Booth. She is at present commander of the Sussex division of the army in England.

On Saturday evening a reception for the delegates was held in the Charlotte street Citadel and the building was packed to the doors. The two St. John corps bands and the Moncton silver band took part in a musical festival. Commissioner and Mrs. Richards and Colonel and Mrs. MacMillan conducted the festival, and a general programme of instrumental and vocal music was given most effectively rendering. Mrs. Hargrove sang a solo with fine sympathy.

The bands and corps were on the march through the city streets yesterday and street corner services attracted large crowds in spite of the cold wind. The big event, however, were the three meetings in the Imperial theatre, where a morning service was held at 11 o'clock, a big public meeting at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, and a grand Salvation meeting in the evening. Commissioner Richards and Colonel MacMillan had charge of the evening meeting. The theatre for all three meetings was filled to the brim, the extra seats provided for the political meeting of the night before being used by the bands and by the special speakers. At the afternoon meeting, when the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. William Pugsley, was the chairman, there were seated on the platform with the Salvation Army leaders many of the prominent citizens of St. John, representative of all branches of civil life and of military authority.

As she resumed her seat and continued applause was given Miss Booth. Following some announcements of the meetings of the congress each day this week, until Wednesday evening, Mayor Schofield rose to move the vote of thanks to Miss Booth. After listening to her address, he said that he could not but speak of her as inspired and for the whole community, and for the whole dominion, since she was at the ever-open door of Canada, he extended welcome. Speaking for the Canadian boys also he extended grateful thanks. He could not but speak of her as inspired and for the whole dominion, since she was at the ever-open door of Canada, he extended welcome.

had been an inspiration. He had heard her father speak at Massey Hall, Toronto, and it was meetings such as those that helped people on the journey of life. Everywhere hearts were warming more and more to the Salvation Army and greater knowledge of its work was being more abundant praise.

When Governor Pugsley had presented the vote of thanks to Miss Booth Commissioner Richards extended a vote of thanks to the governor and it was given in full measure by hearty hand-clapping. The meeting closed with the singing of the Doxology.

NO ROOM FOR SPELLBINDERS.
Moncton Transcript: Lawyers are usually good speakers, and probably more effective in an election campaign than business men. But to form a cabinet with an eye to election exigencies was hardly the way to command the confidence of the reflective electors. Oratory counts less than it did when the problems of government were relatively simple, and people, being more isolated, were more easily moved by appeals to passion or prejudice. Now government is a great business affair, and it will need better business minds than Mr. McPherson has in his cabinet to bring order out of the unfortunate situation in which this country finds itself.

ALT WASTAGE OF CHILD LIFE

Rev. Peter Bryce Tells of International Welfare Work—Figures as to Mortality.

(Toronto Globe.)

"May we not hope that where diplomacy has failed, the child, the weak thing, man succeed? It may be that as the nations of the world gather round the child, they may bring their gifts of peace and love and happiness to the children of all the world, and bring the dawning of the morning of that glad day when man to man the world over shall brothers be, for a' that."

In these words the Rev. Peter Bryce brought to a close an inspiring address on "International Aspects of Child Welfare" delivered yesterday afternoon before the Child Welfare Council in the Social Service Building of the University. The address was, in reality, a report of the International Child Welfare Conference, held last July in London, England, and in Brussels.

At the English-speaking conference in London representatives were present from many city and county councils in Scotland, England and Wales, from Australia, Canada, South Africa, Japan, Trinidad, Zanzibar, Straits Settlements, New Zealand, Siam, Barbados, Bermuda, Ceylon, United States and several other countries, including India, with some nineteen delegates. At Brussels there were official representatives from all the governments of the Empire—France, Italy, Belgium, United States, China, Switzerland, Holland, Spain and Scandinavia.

Infant Mortality.

"The improvement made in regard to infant mortality in the countries reporting constitutes one of the most important social events of our time," said Mr. Bryce. "The lowest infant mortality in the world belongs to New Zealand, where it is 40.6 per thousand. England reports infant mortality of 90 in every thousand in 1921, this being reduced from 166 to 1900. The improvement was due to the increase of infant welfare clinics. There are today 1,837 in England; 80,000 mothers bring their children every week, and 100,000 attend them regularly. The latest figures of the four European countries having the lowest infant mortality, for every thousand, are: Norway, 62; Sweden, 66; Denmark, 90; and Switzerland 95.

In Canada, Prince Edward Island stands at 90.10; Saskatchewan, 87.88; Alberta, 83.78; Manitoba, 102.76; and Ontario, 103.23. The mortality stands highest in Quebec, where it is 142.48. It was claimed at the conference that infant mortality could be reduced in any community by the pasteurization of Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

Could Not Eat

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mr. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seely's Bay, Ont., writes:

"For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

War Orphans.

Serbia alone has 800,000 war orphans, and France, Italy, and Belgium have an enormous number. It was urged that every effort be made to insure for the war orphan a childhood as nearly normal as possible, this to be done by wise and thorough methods of placing children in ordinary homes.

Keen interest was manifested in the Children's Juvenile Court, and it was stated that the court, to fulfill its true function in the economy of child welfare, should not regard itself as an instrument of punishment.

The various representatives to this great meeting, Mr. Bryce concluded, "went home inspired by the consciousness of a constructive world-task of supreme value, and they left determined to do all in their power to bring an end to the great wastage of child life."

The segregation of the feeble-minded was also advocated.

"If De Valera were capable of coming down to earth and looking facts in the face he would realize that there is a time for strategy as well as a time for heroic sacrifice. Whatever Ireland gains above the offer already made must be extracted from Lloyd George, the master of living politicians, in the course of the discussions. England does not intend to give Ireland outright independence. She intends to keep Ireland within the empire and is willing to make concessions that nobody dreamed of five years ago. The conference will define the dominion status which the British Government is willing to grant. If Ireland cannot accept that status after the limit is reached, there will be war again."

"The De Valera message is no doubt sincere, but if it had been prepared merely for effect it could hardly have meant less to the representatives chosen to negotiate a peace. It is De Valera's plus would be extremely acceptable to go to members generally, for there is some expectation of going to the country after the next session, probably in June.

In contrast to the government's three-quarters-of-a-million deficit for the fiscal year ending in October, 1920, a surplus of anything like the amount Provincial Treasurer Smith anticipated for the present year would be a pleasant contrast. More than that, while past budgets of the Drury government might be said to have been governed to a considerable extent by commitments of previous governments, the praise or blame for the present year should be apportioned to the shoulders of the present administration.

While it is generally known that the Drury government is being urged from

BIG CHANGE IN THIS FAMILY

Man, Wife and Daughter All Report Remarkable Gains in Weight.

"I gained 12 pounds, my wife gained 26 pounds and my daughter is gaining day by day taking Tanlac. It's the biggest surprise of our lives and our friends and neighbors are talking about it. This medicine has made a wonderful change in every one of us. Before I got Tanlac I could hardly drag one foot after the other. I had indigestion perfectly awful. In fact we were regular druggists. We all swear by Tanlac now at our house. It ought to be in every home. It's the world's greatest family medicine."

The above statement was made by George L. Tessey, a well-known and highly respected Madras, living at 83 Downing St., Buffalo, N. Y. Tanlac is sold in St. John by The Ross Drug Co., Ltd., and F. W. Munro and by leading druggists everywhere.

some quarters to go to the country after the federal elections, and before the next session, that policy of political expediency is one which it is not expected the members of the present government would sanction. A member of the government stated yesterday that he, a patriot was a criminal condemned to be hanged, just at the outbreak of the war with Russia. He had hoarded two yen while awaiting his fate. The jailer urged him to spend them in a final feast. Instead, he declared that he would leave them to help the government which had decreed his death.

THE GREEK OUT-GREEKED.

(The Outlook, N. Y.)

The story of the patriotic Greek prisoner of classic times, who burned his hand off in the fire to show his fortitude when asked by his captors to betray his country, is matched, though in a different way, by a modern instance in Japan, told about in a recent book. The Japanese patriot was a criminal condemned to be hanged, just at the outbreak of the war with Russia. He had hoarded two yen while awaiting his fate. The jailer urged him to spend them in a final feast. Instead, he declared that he would leave them to help the government which had decreed his death.

The way to prevent fire tragedies is building structures that won't burn. Help make that idea sink in during Fire Prevention Week.

ELECTION CARDS

Electors of Lancaster LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: Do you want Parish Control? Masquelin Hydro Electric? If so, your opportunity is at hand. There will be no high overhead expense as is the case in the Municipal Council, and which increases the cost to the consumer. Parish control, therefore, means economy and employment at your-door, new valuation and consequently lower taxation.

Messrs. Davidson, Knowlton and O'Brien are holding a meeting at the last Municipal Council meeting in favor of Municipal Control. Councilors Campbell and O'Brien are in favor of Parish Control, and in justice to Lancaster formed a "ticket" consisting of the undersigned pledged to the policy of Parish Control.

A vote for Messrs. Campbell and O'Brien means electricity at highest cost. A vote for Messrs. Davidson, Knowlton and O'Brien means electricity at lowest cost. You are nearest the source of supply; take advantage of your opportunity. This election must decide the policy.

Messrs. Davidson, Knowlton and O'Brien have a policy for concrete sidewalks and paved streets, and a vote for them means control of highway board in area.

We respectfully solicit your support on Tuesday, 18th inst. We could not see you all but trust that you will vote for the ticket and Lancaster.

Your Obedient Servants, VICTOR D. DAVIDSON, M.D. CHAS. J. KNOWLTON, JOHN T. O'BRIEN.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE PARISH OF LANCASTER:

Ladies and Gentlemen: At the election of Councilors for the Parish of Lancaster on Tuesday next, we beg to solicit your support and votes. It will be impossible for us personally to interview each voter; we would therefore request you to accept this card in place of a personal visit. Large problems must soon come up for decision in Lancaster and we believe it will be in the interests of the Parish to have experienced men at the County Council.

We beg to thank you for your past support and promise you that we will try to merit a continuation of the same. Lancaster, N. B., 14th October, 1921. WILLIAM GOLDING, W. MURRAY CAMPBELL. 10-18.

Don't Prover Your Liver to Action

DR. CROWE'S BILIMONON, COMBINATION Headache, Quickly, No Crisping or Pain. Guaranteed.

The organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination—the stomach, liver and bowels—are closely allied, and the proper action of any of these organs is largely dependent upon the correct functioning of all the others. "Whipping your liver" into action with calomel or forcing your bowels with irritating laxatives is a mistake. A better method is to use Dr. Crowe's Bilimonon (Bilimono Tablets), which not only brings immediate relief but gives a lasting benefit. It acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, improves digestion and assimilation, overcomes biliousness, corrects constipation and quickly relieves sick headache.

Paper Tablets are thoroughly cleaned and purified for one's stomach, liver and bowels working together in vigorous harmony, and you will not have to take medicine in food and water. One Bilimono Tablet occasionally to keep your system in good condition and it will get well.

Get a Bilimono and try it with the understanding that it must give you relief. Paper Tablets are guaranteed to give relief or your money back. Buy Bilimono Tablets in any drug store or from the manufacturer, Dr. Crowe's Bilimono Tablets, 100 West 12th Street, New York, N. Y.

LIFE WAS A MISERY TO HER

Says this Woman Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Owen Sound, Ont.—"I suffered for ten years with female organic troubles, neurgia and indigestion, and was weak and such bad pains I could hardly walk or stand up at times. When I would sweep I would have to go and wash down. I could not sleep at night, and would wander around the house half the time. I tried everything but nothing did me any good, and the last doctor I had told me he never expected me to be on my feet again or able to do a day's work. One day one of your little books was left at my door and my husband said I should try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I thank God I did, for I felt better, and I am now well and strong. I think there is no remedy like the Vegetable Compound for anyone who has my troubles, and have recommended it to my neighbors. You can publish my letter for the benefit of those I can't reach."—Mrs. HENRY A. MURPHY, 1287 7th Ave., East, Owen Sound, Ont.

If you have any symptoms about which you would like to know write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for helpful advice given free of charge.

RUTH DISOBEYS LANDIS' ORDER

Takes Part in an Exhibition Game — Bob Meusel and Piercy Also.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Disregarding orders of Judge Landis, national baseball commissioner, Babe Ruth, home run king of the Yankees, yesterday took part in an exhibition game against the Polish Nationals of Buffalo. Bob Meusel and Bill Piercy, also of the Yankees, took part in the game. Carl Mays and Wally Schang, who had been scheduled to take part, withdrew after Landis' order.

The remainder of Ruth's team was recruited from Buffalo players. Ruth's team won the game by a score of four to two. Several thousand people saw the contest and cheered Ruth each time he came to the bat. He made one home run.

"I still think I am in the right and Judge Landis is wrong," said Ruth after the game. "He had no right to bar us from participation in a post-season exhibition game. We think that our action was for the best interests of baseball."

A Test, Says Judge. New York, Oct. 17.—Babe Ruth has precipitated what Federal Judge Landis, baseball commissioner, described as a test to determine "who is the biggest man in baseball, the commissioner or the player who makes the most home runs."

"I see no reason why this rule should be invoked against us," said Ruth, "when St. Louis and others who shared in the world's series money are playing exhibition games un molested by Judge Landis."

The commissioner refused to indicate what action he would take in the event Ruth played, further than to say that he would regard the case as a direct challenge of his authority.

K. C. INSURANCE

Unconditional License to Operate in Canada Has Been Granted.

New York, Oct. 17.—(Canadian Press)—The Knights of Columbus' Fraternal Insurance Society has been given unconditional license to operate in the Dominion of Canada, so Supreme Secretary William J. McGinley announced today following receipt of an official communication from the dominion insurance commissioner at Ottawa.

This matter was taken up with the dominion insurance commissioner at Ottawa this spring by members of the supreme board of the Knights of Columbus. The commissioner ruled that a certain deposit, covering the amount of insurance payable in Canada be made with the dominion government and at that time the question was whether this deposit would be made or the order cease to accept insurance members. Under arrangements now completed, the acceptance of insurance membership will continue as before.

The fire department was called out twice yesterday morning to extinguish small fires in the north end. The first one of these was about nine o'clock when an alarm from box 124 took the department to Adelaide street. This fire was in a house owned by Mr. Rankine. The blaze was confined to the room, and it was extinguished by the chemical. The second alarm came in about 10:30 from box 184 for a fire in a house owned by F. Ganson near the Rolling mills. This blaze also was in the roof of the house and was easily extinguished.

Fire on Saturday evening did damage to the Victoria hotel in Edmonton to the extent of about $10,000. The loss is said to be partly covered by insurance. Philias Moreau was injured when he fell from the running board of an automobile which was towing a hose reel to the fire.

Mary Carr as the Mother in "OVER THE HILL" William Fox Production

The principal character of our story is a mother—a sweet, wholesome little old personage, who, like every other mother that ever lived, is made the recipient of all the joys and sorrows—particularly the sorrows—of her little flock.

Doors in Allen theatre, Montreal, smashed by over-anxious crowds waiting to see this wonderful picture which broke every photoplay record on Broadway, where it played for an entire year.

"Its capacity for tears, rapture, and sincere applause, spontaneous laughter, is unlimited. It is so true, so vividly, yet simply told, that it impresses upon your memory as the highest spot yet reached in filmdom." What the critics say would fill pages.

CRAP SHOOTER PROVIDES LAUGH
(Boston Globe)

There was 15 minutes of vaudeville in the first session of Municipal Court this morning. And while it lasted everybody had a good laugh. Judge Michael J. Murray presided. The fun was produced by William Johnson, 30, colored, who stands 6 feet 4 inches, and who lives in the South End.

Judge Murray said to Johnson: "I know you well from your coming here. It seems as if it were only an hour ago that you were fined $5 by me, and given two months to pay the fine."

"Your memory is all to the good, Judge. Yes, I was here about an hour ago for shooting craps."

"This is another case against Johnson, since he was let go by your honor this morning," said traffic officer Dyson Krings, who is stationed at State street and Atlantic Avenue.

"Yes, sah, You Honor, I've been arrested again. No sooner got out by your honor an hour ago, but that I started to go back to work on the banana boat on Long Wharf, when this cop here, he stands on Atlantic Avenue, he come up to me on the wharf and he again arrested me for shooting craps."

"You say he arrested you again for shooting craps. Was it the same officer who arrested you last night?"

"No, Your Honor, they have more than the other cop, that fellow sitting down. His name is Charlie McCloskey, and, Your Honor, his father is the lieutenant over in Charlestown."

"Mr. Johnson," said the judge, "according to these papers I have here at the present time you owe $15 in fines to the Suffolk Treasury."

"No, Your Honor, I never owed a cent to him."

"Well, Mr. Johnson, you owe the court six in fines."

"Yes, sah, I do, Your Honor, why should I come up here, away from my work and plead guilty to shooting craps on the wharf or any other place when I didn't. If I was guilty, I would say so, but what man is going to say he is guilty if he is not guilty?"

To this Judge Murray agreed that an innocent man never wanted to plead guilty, but added that often guilty men pleaded not guilty.

"What show has a man arrested for shooting craps like I am here with two cops backing up the charge, and then getting backed up by others in the Courtroom?" replied Johnson.

Judge Murray told Johnson that he was presumed to be innocent until convicted.

"I guess that's so, too; but I know the cops down Atlantic Avenue and Long Wharf don't like me."

"Why did you go right back to Long Wharf this morning and begin all over again where you left off the crap game?" asked Judge Murray.

"I went back to get some money. I was fined $5 by you this morning and I was going to see if I could get it," said Johnson.

Then Judge Murray reminded Johnson that he had been given two months to get the $5 fine.

"I tried to borrow it; that's what I was doing when this traffic cop got me. I tried to break away from him today because I didn't want to come right back to court again so soon, and, Your Honor, why don't the cop say that he struck me over the head with his club?" He don't say that, do he?"

"Policeman Krings wanted to be heard regarding this remark."

"Yes, Your Honor: Johnson fought hard to escape. He fought me two weeks ago when I arrested him, saying 'See here; no two cops can arrest me. I can take all the 38 bullets you have in your gun.'"

Johnson interjected: "No, Your Honor, I never said I could take the 38 that he takes part in crap games and bullets in his gun."

Judge Murray told Johnson the evidence showed, also his other arrests, to be along the water front, Long Wharf

Richard Ganhoney started the playgoing public of two continents with his powerful drama, "A Message from Mars." That play Mr. Bert Lytell has translated to the screen for Metro, with all its dramatic tenseness preserved and heightened by artistic and wonderful photography. particularly. The Judge then sentenced Johnson to Charles street Jail for 10 days suspending sentence and placing him on probation for six months.

"Do you accept this or do you desire to appeal to the Superior Court?" asked the Judge and Johnson said: "Why, sah, sure I accept it."
