STRANGE STORY

Of a Dying Confession Written by Annie Plumell.

The Case of Miss Jennie M. Scott—Perhaps the "Confession" Was Meant for a Decoy.

Significant Similarity in Handwriting—The Houlton Reception and the London Legacy.

(Bangor News, Tuesday.)

Probably in every newspaper office in the land there has been received at some time or other, curious and interesting letters which of their origin and the circumstances which led to their being written were traced, would furnish the basis for many a tragic story or laughable comedy.

There are many cases of the newspaper which suppress a letter of this kind just as a writer who writes the letter probably fails to appreciate.

On the other hand it is occasionally true that to publish such a letter after having made proper investigations concerning its purpose, is a service to the general public which consideration for the writer ought not to outweigh.

It may be that a letter received at this office a short time ago belongs to the latter class, for any one who publishes the letter, together with the result of some investigations that were made subsequent to its receipt, and leave the readers to pass their judgment upon the matter.

THE MYSTERIOUS LETTER. May 25 1897 it is twelve o'clock at night as this is the last night of my life on Earth I will confess to you my sins and I will tell you the name of the man who has done me wrong.

Without knowing it, a British House of Commons conducted in a low tone, not long ago a member who was not a public speaking, delivered an oration on the exile of the altar, and nearly emptied the violence of his shout.

BOSTON LETTER.

The Hot Wave Sends the People Eastward.

A Large Exodus Reported the Other Way Also.

The Tariff Suits Very Few—The Lumber Market Has Been Active.

(Boston, July 10.—The hot wave of the past week has created a big exodus eastward, and the summer hotel people in Maine, New Hampshire and the provinces are no doubt in better spirits than they have been during the long cool weeks of May and June.

Everyone is rejoicing that the new tariff bill has been passed by the senate, as many weeks have been consumed in useless wrangling and discussion.

The tariff itself pleases no one except a certain class of politicians and some of the big corporations, notably the sugar trust.

The latter has for several years been well represented in the senate, and as far as that body is concerned, usually get what it wants.

The new tariff, as far as it affects Canadian exports, is deserving of the name of a "booster," and is deserving of due consideration by the Canadian government.

As a protective tariff, the bill is unsatisfactory, as it goes as much too far in one direction as a Cobdenian measure would in the other.

The McKinley bill was frequently likened unto the famous Chinese wall, but that dead and buried tariff was not able to "hold a candle" to the present one.

The lumbermen of Maine fear that Canada will retaliate on the section of the lumber schedule which provides that American lumber must be employed on timber lands in New Brunswick owned by Americans in order to secure free admission of lumber into this country.

A large exodus from Quebec and the lower provinces is taking place just now. Large numbers of men are coming to the New England states to hire out during hay making.

Rev. B. Fay Mills, the evangelist, who is well known in New Brunswick, is in Boston just now, and is holding nightly meetings.

Reports from South Brewer, Me., say that the French-Canadian and Prince Edward Island elements there became engaged in a free fight last Monday. The trouble started over decisions at the athletic games. Many people were injured, it is said, in the battle which followed.

LEGAL NEWSPAPER DECISIONS.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 21, 1897.

BRITAIN'S GREATEST WAR-SHIPS.

The assembling off Spithead, for the Jubilee review, of the most powerful fleet ever collected together...

For his plucky and loyal action says the London Mail of the 1st inst. "the soldier's crop of reward is being garnered in the shape of insult and injury."

Seventeen courts have been organized, viz.: By the high court, in Northumberland county 4, Kent county 3, Westmorland county 2, Queens county 1; by the High court judge, in Restigouche county 2, Northumberland county 1, Westmorland county 1, York county 1, St. John county 1, Sunbury county 1.

Reference was made to the losses sustained by death, which have been somewhat numerous and to the good results through the organized visitation made by high standing committee.

The assets are: Cash, $1,430.05; supplies, $248; realty, $193.50; P. E. Island, $1,000; subordinate courts, $3,483.32; total, $5,355.37.

The liabilities are: Due supreme court, $2,075.95; Dr. Mullin, $5; subordinate courts, $232.23; P. W. Emerson, for organizing, $453.83; L. E. Coleman, for organizing, $400.74; total, $4,168.76.

The high treasurer's report exhibited: Cash on hand, $543.32. Cash from secretary, $5,022.23. Total, $5,565.55. Total disbursements, $4,178.47. Cash on hand, $1,420.08. Grand total, $5,585.55.

The high court resumed at three o'clock. W. W. Wells submitted a set of by-laws, which were adopted with amendments.

A motion of E. R. Chapman that the court take two pages of space in a paper called the Fraternal Echo for one year was given the six months' notice.

After a long discussion on the relative merits of St. John, Moncton and other places a motion to adopt a permanent place of meeting for the high court was defeated by an enormous majority.

Secretary McGilivray delivered an able address to the high court. Last year the high court of New Brunswick passed a resolution protesting against his entering parliament while a supreme court officer, giving a full explanation of that, and the cause of this entry into politics.

There were one or two passages at arms between the speaker and J. T. Hawke, and at the close of the speech Mr. Hawke criticized it with some heat, claiming that McGilivray had made personal allusions to him.

Mr. Hawke declared that McGilivray's friends stuffed the ballot-boxes in North Ontario, and asked if that was in the interests of forestry.

R. L. Malby of Newcastle called him to order, as did several other liberals as well as conservatives.

Mr. Hawke contended his remarks were justified, his court, by practically a unanimous vote, adopted the following resolution: The high court of New Brunswick hereby expresses its confidence in John A. McGilivray, our supreme secretary, as a man and a Forester, and sincerely thank him for his admirable, thoughtful and eloquent address upon the principles of our order.

The above was moved by A. W. Macrae and seconded by W. W. Wells. M. P. P. McGilivray delivered an able and eloquent address on forestry.

This evening there was a procession in New Brunswick through the principal streets, then a great public meeting in the skating rink, which was crowded.

The High Court Session at Campbellton a Success.

A Little Difference Between Mr. Hawke and John A. McGilivray.

Progress of the Order—A Splendid Meeting in the Rink.

Campbellton, July 14.—The High Court of I. O. F. was duly opened by High Chief Wm. Kinghorn in the Masonic hall at 10 this morning.

State of Order.—Leab, Coleman, Judge Wedderburn, H. Nadeau, A. C. Gibson, H. McKinney.

Constitution.—A. W. Macrae, W. W. Charter, A. B. Coff, H. Atkinson, E. W. Paul.

Officers.—W. W. Wells, Thos. Russell, Major Campbell, C. P. Stultz, W. Baird.

Officials.—A. W. Ebbett, R. Steves, J. S. Fleming, K. Macrae, M. H. Goodspeed.

Supreme Secretary—H. McAfee. Journal Secretary—H. McAfee.

Supreme Chief, Ranger Dr. Ormohy, and Mr. Baird, who will leave there on the 16th inst. for home.

The people of Campbellton have extended to the visitors a most cordial welcome. A committee from Court Restigouche, consisting of H. Fairley, chairman, Wm. Spry, W. G. Fraser, Harry Walkham, and H. B. Bray, made excellent arrangements to have the delegates and their friends accommodated at hotels and private houses.

The high officers reported the receipts as follows: Dues, $2,554.49; supplies, $770.56; fees, $1,650.18; miscellaneous, $75. Total, $5,055.23. Expenditures: Treasurer's orders, $4,178.47. Surplus, $876.76. Add last balance, $546.32. Balance on hand, $1,420.08. A sworn affidavit is attached.

Seventy-three new representatives received the high court degree. The high chief's address was read and referred to a committee.

The high standing committee separately reported from the several districts into which the province is divided. They all showed the order in a highly flourishing condition, financially and numerically.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read. Two new courts were instituted in Westmorland last week. Court Fort Cumberland at Westmorland with a membership of 15, and Court Verze at Verze with seventeen members.

High Secretary Emerson stated: In last August we had within this province about 4,700 members and 125 subordinate courts; today I can report our membership as being 5,100 and that we have 141 subordinate courts.

For the first time since 1897 I have to report the suspension of a court in this jurisdiction.

Secretary McGilivray delivered an able address to the high court. Last year the high court of New Brunswick passed a resolution protesting against his entering parliament while a supreme court officer, giving a full explanation of that, and the cause of this entry into politics.

There were one or two passages at arms between the speaker and J. T. Hawke, and at the close of the speech Mr. Hawke criticized it with some heat, claiming that McGilivray had made personal allusions to him.

Mr. Hawke declared that McGilivray's friends stuffed the ballot-boxes in North Ontario, and asked if that was in the interests of forestry.

R. L. Malby of Newcastle called him to order, as did several other liberals as well as conservatives.

Mr. Hawke contended his remarks were justified, his court, by practically a unanimous vote, adopted the following resolution: The high court of New Brunswick hereby expresses its confidence in John A. McGilivray, our supreme secretary, as a man and a Forester, and sincerely thank him for his admirable, thoughtful and eloquent address upon the principles of our order.

THE FORESTERS.

The High Court Session at Campbellton a Success.

A Little Difference Between Mr. Hawke and John A. McGilivray.

Progress of the Order—A Splendid Meeting in the Rink.

Campbellton, July 14.—The High Court of I. O. F. was duly opened by High Chief Wm. Kinghorn in the Masonic hall at 10 this morning.

State of Order.—Leab, Coleman, Judge Wedderburn, H. Nadeau, A. C. Gibson, H. McKinney.

Constitution.—A. W. Macrae, W. W. Charter, A. B. Coff, H. Atkinson, E. W. Paul.

Officers.—W. W. Wells, Thos. Russell, Major Campbell, C. P. Stultz, W. Baird.

Officials.—A. W. Ebbett, R. Steves, J. S. Fleming, K. Macrae, M. H. Goodspeed.

Supreme Secretary—H. McAfee. Journal Secretary—H. McAfee.

Supreme Chief, Ranger Dr. Ormohy, and Mr. Baird, who will leave there on the 16th inst. for home.

The people of Campbellton have extended to the visitors a most cordial welcome. A committee from Court Restigouche, consisting of H. Fairley, chairman, Wm. Spry, W. G. Fraser, Harry Walkham, and H. B. Bray, made excellent arrangements to have the delegates and their friends accommodated at hotels and private houses.

The high officers reported the receipts as follows: Dues, $2,554.49; supplies, $770.56; fees, $1,650.18; miscellaneous, $75. Total, $5,055.23. Expenditures: Treasurer's orders, $4,178.47. Surplus, $876.76. Add last balance, $546.32. Balance on hand, $1,420.08. A sworn affidavit is attached.

Seventy-three new representatives received the high court degree. The high chief's address was read and referred to a committee.

The high standing committee separately reported from the several districts into which the province is divided. They all showed the order in a highly flourishing condition, financially and numerically.

Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read. Two new courts were instituted in Westmorland last week. Court Fort Cumberland at Westmorland with a membership of 15, and Court Verze at Verze with seventeen members.

High Secretary Emerson stated: In last August we had within this province about 4,700 members and 125 subordinate courts; today I can report our membership as being 5,100 and that we have 141 subordinate courts.

For the first time since 1897 I have to report the suspension of a court in this jurisdiction.

Seventeen courts have been organized, viz.: By the high court, in Northumberland county 4, Kent county 3, Westmorland county 2, Queens county 1; by the High court judge, in Restigouche county 2, Northumberland county 1, Westmorland county 1, York county 1, St. John county 1, Sunbury county 1.

Reference was made to the losses sustained by death, which have been somewhat numerous and to the good results through the organized visitation made by high standing committee.

The assets are: Cash, $1,430.05; supplies, $248; realty, $193.50; P. E. Island, $1,000; subordinate courts, $3,483.32; total, $5,355.37.

The liabilities are: Due supreme court, $2,075.95; Dr. Mullin, $5; subordinate courts, $232.23; P. W. Emerson, for organizing, $453.83; L. E. Coleman, for organizing, $400.74; total, $4,168.76.

The high treasurer's report exhibited: Cash on hand, $543.32. Cash from secretary, $5,022.23. Total, $5,565.55. Total disbursements, $4,178.47. Cash on hand, $1,420.08. Grand total, $5,585.55.

The high court resumed at three o'clock. W. W. Wells submitted a set of by-laws, which were adopted with amendments.

A motion of E. R. Chapman that the court take two pages of space in a paper called the Fraternal Echo for one year was given the six months' notice.

After a long discussion on the relative merits of St. John, Moncton and other places a motion to adopt a permanent place of meeting for the high court was defeated by an enormous majority.

SUNDAY SCHOOL COLUMN.

The church depends for its future upon the Sunday school; the Bible classes depend upon the junior and the junior upon the intermediate and primary departments.

When a stream has become foul we may dip out a half dozen older ones, a dozen children have been neglected and have grown up without having given themselves to Christ.

It may be said "we have not been neglecting the children." It is true that for years we have had our primary classes and earnest, godly teachers over them.

On a rainy day in one of the side streets of London an eager and excited crowd was gathered. Inquiry disclosed the fact that the previous night a diamond merchant had been thrown from his carriage and his jewels scattered about in the street.

Both the field secretary and Miss Lucas have been laboring for the past few weeks in Restigouche and Northumberland counties.

CANADA WEST.

The Gate of the West Country—Two Dominion Days.

The Neveing Hotel and Its Surroundings—A Veteran Hudson Bay Factor—The Old Man of the Mountain.

No. 1. Winnipeg, July 5.—In the geography books which many of us remember, Canada West was the name of an important section of British America.

For the purpose of these letters Canada West begins at Thunder Bay, which is a corner of Lake Superior.

Flags were flying and other signs of a festival were visible as I left Ottawa for the west. It was Dominion day and all the towers along the route of the C. P. R. were observing it.

Thirty years ago this first of July the country side was crowded with people who sat on the "big beam" of Mr. Adams' barn at Southampton, in Cumberland county, N. S.

by the Prince Edward Island chief of white fish, salmon, lake trout and other newly caught fish, packed in ice and ready for shipment east and west.

There are some good churches. The largest, that of the Presbyterian body, is in charge of a Westmorland man, Rev. S. C. Murray, a clever Mr. Allison graduate, who after several years of successful service in Manitoba, has moved thirty far east to get the first word with the people as they go in and the last as they go out.

It is ten o'clock in the evening when the west wind blows from the west, and here at the door of the west I carried for a day. Next morning's boat through the lakes brought up from the effect east the junior members of the Hudson Bay company.

But he has not always been a devout Catholic or the lover of nature who has climbed Mount McKay.

The old Fort William was five miles up the river; but the town has moved down with the railway site, and the present village of some three thousand people is overshadowed by the three great grain elevators.

The Port Arthur people do not care so much for the loss of the grain trade, which by the way they never had, but they do not like to lose the handling of the mixed merchandise which moves east and west by way of the C. P. R. and the lakes.

MILITIA CHANGES.

Lieut. Col. Houghton to be Succeeded by Lieut. Col. Gordon.

Lieut. Col. Roy Made D. O. C. at St. Johns—Lieut. Col. d'Orsonnes Retired—Lessons of the Camps.

The news that the long expected militia changes had come into force yesterday was not a very great surprise to the local militia officers here.

Lieut. Colonel Roy, who has been district officer here, has been appointed district officer commanding No. 6 district, headquarters at St. Johns.

There are few tanks at the Aquarium more interesting than that containing the lobsters.

The lobster's long feelers he can project one in one direction and the other in another, and with these, as he moves forward, back or sideways, he guards against danger.

OTTAWA.

Ottawa, July 13.—Profound regret was expressed at the city at the intelligence from Lakefield, Ont., of the death of Col. Brown Chamberlain, for many years Queen's printer of Canada. Previously he was one of the proprietors of the Montreal Gazette, a member of the commons for the county of Missisquoi, and in 1870 received C. M. G. for his services in repelling the Fenian invaders at Eccle's Hill on the borders of the state of Vermont. The deceased was a man of lovable disposition. He was president of St. George's society of Ottawa for several years.

Ottawa, July 14.—The government is being strongly urged to impose a duty on fresh fish warehoused in Canada for export equal to the amount of bounty allowed by the French government. This bounty covers the outfit of vessels amounting on an average to $200; $2 per quintal on dry fish exported to America, the West Indies and West Coast of Africa, and $1.00 per quintal to European countries for foreign states on the shores of the Mediterranean, and $2 per quintal on all cod roes exported to France to be used as bait in sardine fishing. These bounties operate most injuriously against Canadian fishermen and a touch of protection would be beneficial.

M. O. Melnes, general immigration agent for the department of the interior was in town today. He says there is a quite noticeable immigration from the states to Canada, this year, chiefly from North Dakota and Michigan. Several batches of German families have gone from Michigan to the Northwest. There are eight agents at work in the states, but a new method has been adopted this year by the employment of local men. They promise satisfactory results.

The government papers announced that the alien labor law is to be enforced in the west to prevent foreigners working on the Crow's Nest Pass railway.

Ottawa, July 15.—Departmental advice from Yukon are expected shortly, the first mail by steamer having reached the Pacific Coast. The official reports are expected to corroborate the stories of the fabulous richness of the Placer mines in the Klondike district, where it is said men with the crudest appliances have been taking out thousands of dollars daily. J. McDonald Gordon of the Dominion lands branch of the interior department, has been superannuated by Hon. Mr. Sifton.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

QUEBEC.

Montreal, July 14.—Lieut. Col. Goddard, the new D. O. C. of the 5th military district, in succession to Lt. Col. Houghton, retired, arrived at the Windsor this morning from Fredericton, N. B., and at once began the performance of his duties. During the morning he visited the brigade office and formally assumed his new command. He expressed himself as much pleased with his removal to Montreal, and added a hope that his term of command would prove of value to the militia of Montreal.

Montreal, July 15.—There is a great deal of interest in the law suit taken by friends of the late Mr. Farfar, who was run over and killed by a train at L'Islet last April. The action is in the parish priest who declared in the public trial, that Farfar was a punishment from heaven. The Redemptorist father at Ste. Helens also made the statement, but he made full apology last Sunday.

THE BAPTISTS.

Meeting in Albert, A. C., attended by a Very Large Number of People.

Names of Delegates and Visitors in Attendance at the Meetings.

The Foreign Mission Report—The Association Sermon Delivered by Rev. Dr. Trotter.

Hopewell Hill, via Albert, N. B., July 17.—The Eastern New Brunswick Baptist association opened yesterday at Albert under most favorable auspices. The weather so far has been beautiful; the and the village is thronged with delegates and visitors from all sections of the district. Yesterday the sessions were taken up with the work of the Sunday school convention, which was organized last year at Port Elgin, in connection with the association. The association proper opened this morning, Rev. C. C. Burgess presiding in the absence of his report. Dr. Trotter, president of the association, presided.

The selection of the officers for the ensuing year came on today. Rev. W. B. Hinson of Moncton being elected moderator on the third ballot. The other officers elected were: Judge E. W. Emmerson, clerk; Rev. J. G. Helyea, assistant clerk; Wm. M. Calhoun, treasurer.

The committee on arrangements was appointed this morning, and presented their report. Dr. Trotter, president of Acadia university, will deliver the association sermon tomorrow morning, and Mr. Hinson preaches in the afternoon. The services were opened with a consecration meeting, or ministrations conference. Following this interesting service were the reports of home and foreign missions and the reading of the statistical church reports.

Hopewell Hill, July 8.—The beautiful weather that prevailed on the opening day of the Baptist association continues unbroken, the heat, which would doubtless be oppressive in an inland section, being toned down to a most satisfactory temperature by the cool breezes from old Pundy. Never perhaps in its history has the pretty village of Albert been so thronged with visitors. Every session has been attended by a large number of delegates, in which the meeting was held. The following delegates were present on the first day, the number being somewhat added to later on. Rev. M. B. Whitman, Rev. A. C. Lewis, Rev. F. T. Snell, L. F. Corey, M. L. Corey, Mrs. R. Mullin, Rev. S. W. Kierstead, James Stuart, Rev. H. G. Colpitts, Emmerson Carter, Rev. J. G. A. Bell, Rev. Oswald Keith, Rev. W. W. Corey, John Geldard, Rev. C. C. Burgess, Mrs. C. C. Burgess, C. E. Kintner, Edgar Weldon, A. Palmer, R. W. Scribner, L. Goodwin, H. H. Colpitts, H. T. Horseman, Wilfred Beaman, H. Smith, F. E. Emmerson, James H.

Smith, C. E. Knapp, Minnie A. Colwell. The following visitors were welcomed by the moderator, and accorded all the privileges of the association: Rev. W. B. Hinson, Rev. W. E. McIntyre, Dr. Corey, Dr. Thomas Trotter, Frank Morse, Rev. Mr. Carnell, Rev. E. Booth, Rev. Chas. Comben, A. H. Chipman, business manager of the Messenger and Visitor; and Mrs. Cox, secretary of the New Brunswick W. M. B. U.

At the meeting of the S. S. convention on Friday the following officers were elected: Rev. W. Camp, president; Rev. Freeman Bishop, 1st vice president; Albert Weldon, 2nd vice president; W. C. Newcomb, sec. treat. The reports received from the schools in the different sections of the district were of a most gratifying nature. Addresses in connection with Sunday school work were given on Friday evening. On Saturday morning the first meeting of the association was called to order by Rev. Mr. Burgess, moderator pro tem. After prayer by Rev. Messrs. Burgess and Manning, the selection of officers proceeded with. The names of the officers elected, Miss Eleanor Fletcher, Henry Colpitts, H. H. Tingley, Rev. T. Bishop, Rev. Messrs. Jacob Beck, J. B. McAlpine, Rev. Wm. Camp, McLaughlin, Josiah McRae, Thos. McLaughlin, W. H. Milton, A. D. Jonah, W. E. Bishop, Rev. J. B. Colwell, G. M. Peck, Rev. W. E. Hinson, Rev. F. W. Patterson, Edgar Cannon, D. A. Jonah, M. A. Fresnoz, Wm. Tingley, Mrs. Wm. Tingley, J. M. Eboke, J. Geldard, Mrs. J. A. Jones, Arthur Lewis, Walter Tingley, Albert Robinson, Mrs. J. Lutz, M. Steeves, J. Lutz, Rev. M. B. Hinson, Rev. H. G. Estabrooks, John Dickie, Edward Pittmore, A. E. Wood, and J. A. Jones.

A committee on arrangements was appointed, consisting of Rev. J. B. Colwell, Rev. T. Bishop, Rev. S. W. Hinson, Rev. W. Camp and Deacon Rufus Tingley. The association was arranged for the various Sunday services, the minister being told off for the different sections round about. The afternoon session opened with prayer. Rev. Mr. Hinson, the new moderator, who also spoke a few minutes in his usual pointed and effective manner. The hymns, Just As I Am, Showers of Blessings, and Jesus Lover of My Soul, were sung with great effect.

During the consecration meeting of ministers' conference, which followed, many present gave their personal experiences in the Christian life, and told of the faith that had led them on to their present full and fruitful rest in the love of the Redeemer. Rev. J. H. Hughes, one of the veterans of the ministry, made a very touching and eloquent address, and gave many interesting reminiscences of the early days of the association. Since he joined the association forty-nine years ago, 110 ministers had died, while only two others beside himself, who were then members, are now living.

During Saturday afternoon the home mission report was read by Rev. W. Camp. The association now supports 25 fields. One hundred and sixty-two members have been added to the church during the past year by home mission work. The reverend gentleman urged the vigorous prosecution of the home mission work; 1st, because it was Christ's method; secondly, because foreign mission work can prosper only when home work receives special attention; 3rd, because it is seen the farthest in the light that is seen the brightest at home; and thirdly, because of its relation to Christian education, etc. During the past year the sum of $2,850.98 has been expended in support of home missions. The foreign mission report was read by C. E. Knapp. The receipts of the board during the past year amounted to $14,735.54, the expenditures reaching $13,383, leaving a balance due the board of $4,594.38. The board are now supporting fourteen foreign missionaries. The withdrawal of Rev. Mr. Higgins and Miss Wright from the work was greatly regretted by the board.

On Saturday afternoon a woman's meeting was held in the Methodist church, which was addressed by Mrs. Cox of the W. M. U. Reports were read from most of the aid societies in the district.

On Sunday morning Rev. Dr. Trotter delivered the association sermon in the Baptist church, which was crowded to its utmost capacity, hundreds being turned away unable to gain admittance. The discourse was a most scholarly and eloquent one, and was listened to with rapt attention. Rev. Mr. Cornell preached at the same hour in the Methodist church. In the evening Rev. Mr. Hinson preached to a congregation that filled the church to overflowing. Crowds who were unable to get in the church gathered outside and listened to the discourse through the open windows. The speaker chose as his text: "Christ the power of God and wisdom, who rules in heaven and earth and sky. God, the speaker said, holds the world in the hollow of His hand, weighs the mountains in scales, calls the myriads of stars by name, as a mother calls her children when the shadows lengthen, meets out heaven with a span, and says, 'I am the lord of the poor house, Christ must go with him or break his word; if to the asylum, Christ is there; and when the weary pilgrim weary, he lies down to die, Christ's hand leads him through the valley of the shadow of death. 'Thou, Biney, when threatened with death at the stake, unless he should recant his belief in Christ, read, 'When thou passest through the fire,' etc., and went bravely to his doom. Christ is also the power of God to sustain His church. Some people seemed to think the Protestant church was in danger. 'If,' said the speaker, 'there be any of you who expect the time to come when the Catholic priests shall have the power of denouncing recantation of Protestants, God pity your little brains.' Papacy should not prevail. The old church shall go forth from victory to victory, no cloud hampering yet arisen that forestalls defeat. The sermon was full of bold imagery and graphic illustration from first to last. Excellent music was furnished by a selected choir. During the first part of the service, D. W. Milton sang the part of the voice of Jesus say: 'I heard the voice of Jesus say.' In the afternoon Rev. E. Bosworth preached in the Baptist church at Hopewell Hill, and several of the other ministers occupied the pulpits of the churches in adjoining villages.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

Turkey Submits a Frontier Scheme Unacceptable to the Powers.

Constantinople, July 18.—At Saturday's sitting of the peace conference, Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish minister of foreign affairs, arrived late. He submitted to the conference a new frontier scheme, which was unacceptable to the powers, and the ambassadors thereupon informed Tewfik that the conference would adjourn until he brought a written acceptance by his government of the foreign line traced by the military attaches.

W. E. Calhoun of Lower Cape, who has been residing in Moncton lately, has again taken charge of the post office, etc., at Cape Station, S. and H. railway, the late station agent and postmaster, Frank Ayer, having removed to Hopewell Cape.

Miss Ethel Crossley of St. John, daughter of Capt. Crossley, is visiting at Capt. Reade's at the Cape.

At the last regular business meeting of the Hopewell Y. P. S. C. E. the following officers were elected: Annie R. Peck, pres.; Edna M. West, vice pres.; Francis Peck, sec.; W. A. West, treas.

The ship Marabout has arrived at Hopewell Cape, to load deals for Capt. John Wright and J. L. Peck. The Marabout is one of the finest vessels that has ever sailed this port.

She carries skylarks on all her masts. The steamers Feronia and Mab are pretty well loaded. The bark W. W. McLaughlin, now bound home from Rio, has been chartered to load deals at Hillsboro, E. W. Lynds is her managing owner.

The schooner Victoria arrived yesterday from Red Beach, Me., and will again load plaster at the Hill wharf.

Capt. Solomon Edgett is lying critically ill at his home at the Cape with paralytic affection.

Dr. James G. Lynds, formerly of Hopewell Cape, has been recently appointed professor of the department of obstetrics and diseases of women and children in the university of Ann Arbor, Mich. Dr. Lynds graduated from the same institution only a few years ago, and his rapid rise to a high position in his chosen profession is a source of gratification to his friends.

Dwight Fullerton of Albert has been given the contract for building the new railway station at Riverside.

Mrs. L. A. Long of St. John is visiting the family of Rev. W. Camp at Hillsboro.

The Scott act case against Manning M. Tingley for selling bay rum was yesterday dismissed by Police Magistrate Stuart on the grounds that the defendant did not sell the article for a beverage and was unaware of its intoxicating nature.

KINGS CO. Sussex, July 15.—Rev. Fathers Lynch and Cannon, who were missionaries from St. Louis mission, who began a series of meetings in St. Francis Catholic church on Ward's Creek road on Sunday last, are attracting very large crowds. They are speaking and have created a very favorable impression upon those who have had the pleasure of listening to them.

They are assisted by Rev. Father G. P. Sergeant, King and Sherwood of the 8th Hussars arrived in the evening of yesterday morning, and were very warmly greeted by their many friends and associates. They looked in good health after their trip, and speak most enthusiastically of their visit to the old world, and say their treatment while there was the very best, and they were made to feel proud of the Canadian Government, and were very much interested to see many of the interesting places in their memory.

A very large cyclone, said to weigh about ten tons, arrived here from England yesterday and was remanifested to Hillsboro yesterday and will be used for drying out the brick yards near the wharf.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

During last week over 27,000,000 superficial feet of lumber was cleared from the port of St. John. Of this total over twenty-one million feet is for British ports, the balance divided pretty nearly evenly between France, South America and the United States.

ABOUT JAPAN.

The attitude of Japan with regard to the projected annexation of Hawaii by the United States is not such as should call forth the warlike threats uttered by Senators Davis, Cullum and other hot headed orators.

to foreign enterprise. But, he adds, if Japan has been opened to other nations they have, in a still greater degree, been opened to Japan.

Canadian Winnings at Bisley so Far Foot Up a Handsome Amount.

Relations With the United States—Jean Ingelow Seriously Ill—Under False Pretences.

Montreal, July 19.—The Star cable says that the admiralty have rejected the current style of ships for the Canadian fast line has reached here, and today I sought information with reference to the rumor from official sources.

The funeral of the late Major Henry F. Perley took place on Sunday. He was buried with military honors in Bisley churchyard.

The Canadian winnings at Bisley last week were over $210.

London, July 19.—In the house of commons today in the course of the debate on the foreign office vote, Sir Charles Dilke, radical member for the Forest of Dean, said: "The gravest foreign question at the present moment grows out of our relations with the United States; and if the matter is not dealt upon it is because the government is conscious that in these difficult moments, in either case, he safe."

Miss Jean Ingelow, the distinguished poet and novelist, now in her seventy-seventh year, is seriously ill.

Lady Jessica Eykes was summoned at the Market Square today by Herbert Sanguinetti for obtaining by false pretences, with intent to defraud, checks of the value of $5,800, and also converting to her own use shares of stock.

NEW GRIT TERRORISM. VETERINARY DEPARTMENT.

Conducted By J. W. Manchester, V. S., St. John, N. B.

THE WEEKLY SUN takes pleasure in notifying its readers that it has perfected arrangements with J. W. Manchester, V. S., whereby all questions with respect to diseases of the lower animals will be answered by him, and treatment prescribed in those cases where it is asked for through the columns of THE SUN.

M. C.—I had a brown horse that seemed well and strong. It took sick a few nights ago, seemed in pain and swelled up in its body, breathed fast and towards the last seemed to sweat a good deal. He died about four hours after the trouble commenced.

Farmer.—Is there any remedy other than firing that will cure a spavin? Ans.—Firing and blistering is no doubt the best treatment, but blistering alone with rest will often effect a cure. Use Biniodiole of Mercury.

Farmer.—I have a four year old colt that has a quarter crack. He is not lame, but I am afraid of it. What treatment would you prescribe? I do not work him.

Ans.—Shoe with a toe clip and keep on a soft marshy pasture. He will soon be well.

Subscriber.—I have a pony that has a sore shoulder. There is quite a lump on it. What shall I do? He is unable to wear a collar, although not lame.

Ans.—You are not definite enough in your statement. Be more explicit when you write again, or else consult your nearest veterinary surgeon. This will be the best plan.

Farmer.—A cow, eight years old, third calf, good milker, took sick after calving, seemed paralyzed, and then laid down and went to sleep. She died about 10 years of age. What was the trouble and what would the proper treatment have been?

Ans.—Milk fever. Bleeding, purging ice or cold water applied to the head between and back of the horns. It is a very fatal disease.

THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Massachusetts Men Given a Hearty Welcome to the City.

(From Daily Sun July 19th.) The Massachusetts Knights of Pythias, whose friendly invasion of the city has been anxiously looked forward to for some time past, was realized last evening when the I. S. S. Cumberland, with fully one hundred knights and their ladies, arrived in the city.

The party is an extremely large one, and includes in addition to the numerous knights and their ladies, Major General Carnahan of Indianapolis, Indiana, commander in chief of the order; Brigadier General McKinley of Manchester, N. H.; Past Supreme Commander Rhode of Lima, Ohio; Major A. B. Eastman of 1st Battalion, No. 2 regiment, Boston; Col. P. M. Foss, commander second regiment, Massachusetts; Col. Sargenta of the Massachusetts brigade staff; Col. Perley Hunt, Major J. A. Presscott of the 1st regiment, Boston; Adjt. Abbott, 2nd regiment, Massachusetts; Bugler J. W. Lawson, Col. Sergt. J. J. Baird, Capt. R. E. McFarlane, Boston Co. No. 15; Lieut. C. E. Stanwood, Boston Co. No. 15, Quartermaster; G. W. W. Morse, 1st regiment, Worcester, Mass.; Sergt. E. G. Wilkinson, Hub Co. No. 4, Boston; Sergt. D. E. Pease, Boston Co. No. 15; Past Captain Kessell, Hub Co. No. 4; Past Captain J. W. McEneaney, Boston Co. No. 4; Lieut. T. J. Kelley, Veteran Postholders association, Boston; Lieut. I. G. Sawyer, 1st Battalion, 2nd regiment, Boston; Lieut. A. J. Fox, Boston Co. No. 18, Boston, and J. C. Berry, Converse lodge, No. 75, Malden, Mass.

With the knights is the excellent Mansfield band of Maplewood, Mass., consisting of fully twenty-five men under the leadership of Eben Mansfield with A. E. Grant as drum major. The latter gentleman is the peer of all drum majors in the state and has few equals in America.

The party left Boston Monday morning and had a somewhat unpleasant trip down. At Portland, Me., they expected to have been joined by a number of Maine knights, but in this they were disappointed.

Last evening while the visitors were partaking of the excellent repast provided by the different hotels Union lodge No. 2 installed the following officers: Fred Ferguson, C. G.; Henry Duffell, V. C.; Harrison Kimmer, prelate; E. A. Peters, Jr., M. of W.; H. B. Robinson, K. of R. and S.; E. C. Wilson, M. of E.; B. S. Stealey, M. of P.; S. W. McMacdon, M. at A.; H. G. Brown, I. G.; W. A. Stewart, O. G.

The installing officers were Acting Deputy Chancellor Commander A. Dodge, who was assisted by Acting G. M. at A., F. C. LeB. Wilson, and Acting Grand Prelate Deputy Eustan Barnes.

Immediately after the conclusion of the installation of officers, a reception was tendered the visiting Knights, who were present in fatigue uniform.

Col. James Moulson occupied the chair, with Major General Carnahan on his right and Past Supreme Chancellor W. R. Riche on his left.

Col. Moulson delivered a very cordial address of welcome and was followed by Major General Carnahan and Past Supreme Chancellor W. R. Riche.

A Money Lender Taken to Task for Refusing to Answer Questions.

The Queen Expresses Her Gratitude to the People of the Empire for Jubilee Display.

Montreal, July 12.—The cable from the Star's correspondent says: London, July 12.—The dominion of Canada will have many important Chinese and Japanese visitors next month. Prince Arisugawa, the Mikado's special envoy to the Queen's jubilee, with a suite of nine, sailed by the Dominion liner Vancouver on Saturday to embark on the Empress of India from Vancouver.

Chang Yen Huan, the Chinese special envoy and a suite of sixteen, also sailed via Canada. Baron Rosen, the Russian minister to Japan, and suite sail on the Empress of India on Aug. 2.

Bisley, July 12.—The Canadian Bisley team has settled in their new building here, but the internal arrangements are far from completed. The practice at Staine's has been satisfactory, and it is no doubt aided the dominion's men to defeat the London Scottish team easily by 23 points. This was at two, five and six hundred yards, seven shots at each range. Nine teams, including the other country, Canada, the Channel Islands, New Zealand, Cape Colony, Natal, Victoria, Queensland, have entered for the Koolaupole cup. The Canadian team is in high spirits, and has been photographed for the Graphic this morning.

Major Perley, who superintended the erection of the new building, is in very bad health.

London, July 12.—An important conference was held at the foreign office today between Senator Wolcott, former Vice-President Stevenson and General Paime, the members of the United States bi-metallic commission, and Ambassador Hay, Lord Salisbury, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, Arthur Balfour, first lord of the treasury, and Lord George Hamilton, secretary of state for India.

The conference, which lasted an hour, was preliminary to the carrying on of further negotiations on the subject of international bi-metallicism. The Americans did most of the talking. Lord Salisbury inquired what were the powers of the American commissioners, and was informed that they stand authorized to make arrangements for the holding of an international conference or to negotiate a treaty of international bi-metallicism, which they might submit to their government for ratification. It was stated also that France was ready to co-operate with the United States, Great Britain and Germany in reaching an agreement for international bi-metallicism.

The British representatives present made no statement indicating their intentions in the matter. Consultations of high British officials will be held before another meeting with the American commission and in the meantime the latter will privately discuss the question with Baron DeRoehschild and other financiers and endeavor to secure their support.

Lord Salisbury accompanied Messrs. Wolcott, Stevenson and Paime to luncheon at Windsor on Saturday, when they were received by the Queen and presented to her majesty their commissions as special envoys. The reception was entirely formal.

Toronto, July 12.—There were no section meetings of the conference of shires and corporation this morning, but the general session began at 10 o'clock. The following reports were read and warmly discussed: Reports from States, by Chairman W. H. Hart of Minneapolis; The Relation of the Public to the Insane, by Dr. Danforth (Toronto); After-care of Recovered and Convalescent Insane Patients, by Dr. Richard Dewey of Wauwatosa, Wis.; The Education of the Epileptic, with special reference to the value of industrial forms, by Dr. Wm. P. Sprattling of Sonoma, N. Y. (Special to the Sun.)

Montreal, July 13.—The Star cable says: London, July 13.—Sir Donald A. Smith, on being asked today, said he had not yet chosen his new title as a peer.

Sir Samuel Henry Strong, Canada's chief justice, took his seat with the judicial committee of the privy council for the first time today. The case under hearing was that of deHedret v. Goddard, being an appeal from the judgment of the court of Queen's bench at Quebec, concerning the construction of a will.

London, July 13.—Sir H. Davies, the Canadian minister of marine, who was summoned to London in connection with the Bearing sea seal controversy and other matters, said to the correspondent of the Associated Press today: "The latest phase of the sealing question is a proposal emanating from the United States government that the American, Canadian and British seal commissioners should meet this autumn, return to the sealing grounds, and in conjunction with officials specially representing the governments concerned, consider the situation in the light of later facts collected by specialists. This plan was submitted by Foster only a few days ago. Nothing can be done this season, and Great Britain has decided that there is insufficient data to justify any change. The fact is that the Americans have never loyally accepted the Bearing sea seal convention, and have never accepted the fact that the sealing herd, as a herd, is no more than ours."

London, July 15.—The Canadian rifle men competing in the contests at Bisley have selected Captain Davidson, Drysdale, Blair, Broadhurst, King, Langstroth, Ross and Windat as the team for the Koolaupole cup.

London, July 15.—The Earl of Derby has been appointed a Knight of the Garter.

London, July 13.—In the house of commons today Mr. Balfour, the government leader, said in reply to a question on the subject that the government did not intend to institute any prosecutions as a result of the report of the select South Africa company.

Speaker Gully, replying to Mr. Landonner, ruled that as the committee had not reported the company of B. F. Hawley, the attorney of Cecil Rhodes, for refusing to produce certain telegrams at the time the offense was committed, the question of summoning him to the bar of the house of commons need not now be raised.

A curious scene took place in the house later. Mr. Blackwood, a money lender, who had refused to answer certain questions put to him by a committee of parliament now investigating the methods of British money lenders, was summoned for contempt to the bar of the house.

After considerable hesitation he promised to answer the inquiries of the committee. The nationalists then created a scene. John Dillon vehemently denounced the government and contrasted what he called its persecution of a humble and unfortunate money lender with the course that had been pursued in the cases of Rhodes and Hawley. He begged to discuss the report of the South Africa committee. He was called sharply to order by Speaker Gully and sat down amid the cheers of the Irish members.

A special supplement to the Gazette published the following letter from the queen to Sir Mathew White Ridley, the home secretary, dated Windsor, July 15:

"I have frequently expressed my personal feelings to my people, and through on this memorable occasion there have been many official expressions of my deep sense of the unbounded loyalty evinced. I cannot resist without personally giving utterance to these sentiments. It is difficult for me on this occasion to say how truly touched and grateful I am for the spontaneous and universal outburst of loyal attachment and affection experienced on the completion of the sixtieth year of my reign."

"During my progress through London on 22nd June this great enthusiasm was shown in the most striking manner, and it can never be effaced from my heart. It is indeed deeply gratifying, after so many years of devoted loyalty to the good of my beloved country, and that my exertions have been appreciated throughout my vast empire. In weal and woe I have ever had the true sympathy of all my people, which has been warmly responded to myself."

"It has given me unbounded pleasure to see so many of my subjects from all parts of the world assembled here, and to find them joining in affectionate words to thank them all from the depth of my grateful heart."

"I shall ever pray God to bless them and to enable me still to discharge my duties for their welfare as long as life lasts."

HE SENDS IT FREE.

Physician's Prescription for Cure of Weakness in Men.

When a man has suffered for many years with a weakness that blights his life and robs him of all that really makes life worth living; when after years of doctoring and all sorts of patent medicines and alleged specialties, he discovers a remedy that brings back to him the power and physical energy that seemed to him lost forever, he naturally asks himself: "What is the secret of this? How does it work? How does it get into the system, just as he did; men who by their own secret follies, are suffering a mental torture that words cannot adequately describe."

The world has come to look at such sufferers in a different light from former days. It now regards them as unfortunate, not criminal. They have lacked moral courage. They may be victims of inherited passion, or they may have acquired secret habits from evil associates. But whatever may have been the incentive that causes a man to degrade his being, and debilitate his system, he needs a friend. He needs the right kind of fellowship and good cheer. It is wrong to despise him for his folly, and it is equally useless to give him advice. He must have the hungry man's bread, not a stone, offered him. This is the special prescription which made me a man among men, free to anyone who writes for it. I know the value of this medicine, and I have the least semblance of publicity, and I have sealed in a plain envelope, without name, showing where it came from. Thousands of men have written me, and I have sent them to get this prescription, and every mail brings encouraging reports of severe cases cured, and of men who have returned to their natural strength.

Now, my friend, do not sit and wonder how I can afford to give this medicine away. Write for it today. It is free to all, and I mean every man who has it. Address, in the fullest confidence, THOMAS SLATER, Box 12, Kalamazoo, Mich.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION.

The New Brunswick Christian Endeavor convention will be held in the German street Baptist church from Wednesday, August 11th, to Friday, August 13th. Entertainment will be provided for two delegates from each society, and also for pastors and junior superintendents. Delegates should be appointed at once, and their names sent to the secretary of the entertainment committee, Fred A. Dykeman, box 79, St. John. Entertainment is assured only to those whose names are in before August 1st. Post cards with blank for statistics have been mailed to the corresponding secretaries of all known societies. These should be promptly and correctly filled in and returned to Henry W. Stewart, box 56, St. John. If any societies have not received cards, they will be pleased to send them when informed of the omission.

THE S. S. WARWICK.

Davies' Action Unprecedented, if Not Illegal.

British Board of Trade Report Does Not Refer to It.

Liverpool Journal of Commerce Discusses the Stranding of the Steamer.

(Liverpool Journal of Commerce.) We have received a copy of the official report of the inquiry held at St. John, N. B., into the loss of the steamer Warwick, belonging to A. F. Donaldson, Glasgow, which was stranded on the 30th December last, and the finding of the court given in court on the 8th April, a brief review of the circumstances is necessary. The Warwick, a steamer of 1,595 tons, commanded by Captain George Kemp, was on the passage from Glasgow, which port she left on the 15th December with a cargo, part general and part coal, for St. John, N. B. The ship was well equipped, and sufficiently manned, and in all respects seaworthy, and the compasses having been adjusted at the Tail of the Bank some six months prior to the disaster, a table of the deviations was furnished to the crew. Heavy weather was experienced during the voyage, and no sun was seen for several days, conditions usual in the North Atlantic in the month of December. Cape Sable light-house was passed some seven or eight miles distant on the 30th. It may be noted that everything appears to have been done by the master that an exceptionally careful man would do in the navigation of his ship.

Every opportunity was taken of obtaining the compass errors and checking the chronometers. The ship was navigated safely round the islands and rocks to the southward and westward of Cape Sable, and the ship's head put in the bay between Long Island and the Grand Manan, and to sight Erier Island light. A light was sighted, which was taken to be that looked for, the captain seeing it from aloft, and the chief officer and others also saw it. The course was again altered, and although no doubt existed in the captain's mind as to his whereabouts, the ship ran ashore on the Yellow Mud ledge, off the south coast of Grand Manan, and really on the opposite side of the bay to that which those who were on the ship considered she was on. The light, instead of being on Erier Island, was the Gannet Rock, which is a variable, and not a fixed one; but owing to the state of the atmosphere and the fog on the night, was not clearly visible to the observer. The court which held the investigation consisted of Commissioner Smith, himself a nautical man of considerable experience, assisted by two nautical assessors, Captains Thomas and Hayes, after going carefully into the matter of the stranding, and all the evidence adduced by the masters, officers, and members of the crew at the time, a telegram was received from a Lighthouse Inspector that the light which the captain had taken to be that looked for, had in fact been the Gannet Rock, which is a variable, and not a fixed one.

These were the misleading nature of the surface current. In the case of the Warwick, the light shows its distinctive features, the contrary would have been avoided. In the case of the latter the current was an abnormal one, a strong flood tide running longer after high water, due to the influence of strong south-westerly winds. The whole case seemed quite clear to those sitting to adjudicate thereon, and the court could not, with the facts before them, deal with the captain's certificate, which was therefore, with the officer's signature, exonerated. As Commissioner Smith said, "It had been shown that the master was navigating his vessel with the utmost care, and had been in constant communication with the bridge, being there in fact when the vessel took the ground." Under the circumstances, therefore, no judgment that given was justified. The official report, being a copy of the report of the board of trade, contains no reference to the statement that the Canadian minister of marine had reversed the finding of the court of inquiry, such an act being in itself being contrary to "precept" of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, sec. 473, authorizing the court under which the Warwick case was tried, and specifies the nature of the error in which jurisdiction is held by these courts, granting them power to suspend or cancel certificates of competency for misconduct, negligent navigation, etc., but no appeal from the finding of such court shall be made through the board of trade. Particulars in all cases of inquiry must also be forwarded as early as possible to the board of trade, and as this portion of the act (sec. 470 ch. 3) has been complied with in the case of the Warwick, and no notification of the interference of the minister of marine or any other government official with the judgment is mentioned, we may take it for granted that Captain Kemp and his officers have not been deprived of their certificates, as had been reported. If the cases had been reviewed by the gentleman named, and he objects to the finding of the legally constituted court and has even gone so far as to order the suspension of the certificates, that order would be futile. The board of trade would not consent to any such tinkering in matters of such importance. If such a position were possible the Merchant Shipping act would need radical reform. While the board of trade practices are not at all times as desirable as could be wished in the matter of treatment of those holding their parchment certificates, it is possible, such an anomaly as that mentioned would for a moment be countenanced.

THE NEW STAFF AT EDGEMHILL.

Miss Lefroy, the new principal at Edgemoor, has completed her staff. This responsible task has been speedily and successfully accomplished by the co-operation of Miss Beale, the principal of the Ladies' College at Cheltenham, with whom Miss Lefroy has worked for twelve years. With Miss Beale's concurrence, Miss Lefroy has secured a governess from Cheltenham to be the girl Edgemoor, so that in September next there will be a migration, as it were, of three of the present or former staff of the first Ladies' College in England to Edgemoor. In Windsor, N. S., viz. Miss Lefroy, with Miss Beale and Miss Gledes as her assistants. The staff at Edgemoor now consists of Miss Blanche Lefroy, principal; Miss Danby, holding a first class certificate in English literature, and a higher certificate in English language, literature and Anglo-Saxon; Miss Gledes, holding a first class certificate in the theory, history and practice of bookbinding; Miss Danby has had eight years teaching experience in the Ladies' College, Cheltenham, as an assistant teacher, and six years in the High School for Girls, Baker street, London, Eng., as head mathematical teacher, also as form mistress—Latin and French.

Miss Lobban, B. A., of London university, with one year's experience in teaching classics and mathematics at the London Intermediate Art course; violin and elementary German.

Miss Gledes, University of Cambridge certificate in theory, history and practice of teaching; higher Cambridge certificate in divinity, French, English literature, history, and arithmetic. Has had one year's experience as assistant teacher in Cheltenham Ladies' College, one year as assistant teacher in the college, with a contingent of twenty-five girls; four years' experience in Miss Chelmann's system of physical culture, plain and fancy needlework.

Miss Beale, Oxford University graduate in English, French, botany, geology with distinction in religious knowledge in both junior and senior examinations. Holds first class higher Cambridge certificate in English language, literature and Anglo-Saxon; English, French and constitutional history; geography—historical, political, physical and commercial; also certificates in bookbinding, music, drawing, and painting; four years' experience in private tuition.

The modern language mistress, probably a French lady, is not yet appointed.

The music department remains under Miss K. Manners' charge, with one change, Miss Florence Manners, from England, taking Miss Lillian Manners' place. Miss Irving continues as organist in the English language. Shaver remains in charge of the art department. Miss Danby has also been a teacher of drawing in the High School, Baker street, London.

Friends are glad to know that Miss Lefroy's family connection with Canada is not only close, but distinguished. The bishop of Nova Scotia announced Miss Lefroy as his successor as vice-chancellor of the University of Oxford, but he did not mention the more interesting association to Canadians, that Miss Lefroy's father, a retired officer, was in fact the General Sir Henry Lefroy, for many years chief justice of the Magnetical Observatory at Toronto, and well known to many in the Dominion. Miss Lefroy married a daughter of the late Sir John Beverley Robinson, chief justice of Upper Canada. Miss Lefroy comes to Nova Scotia with a family record intimately associated with the history of the country.

THE KOLAPORE CUP.

Victoria Wins the Prize, New Zealand Second and Canada a Good Third.

FUSILIERS INSPECTION.

Lt. Col. Maunsell, D. O. C., Highly Compliments the Men on Their Appearance.

The Inspecting Officer and Others Entertained at Dinner at the Dufferin Hotel.

The 62nd St. John Fusiliers were inspected Friday by Colonel Maunsell, D. O. C., in the presence of a large number of people. There was a heavy mist, but the electric lights helped somewhat to dispel the gloom. In the absence of Colonel Tucker, Major McLean was in command. At 8.30 the battalion mustered outside the drill shed in line and were inspected by Colonel Maunsell. Major Markham, Capt. Taylor and Lieut. Beatty were on his staff. The battalion then marched past in column, changed ranks and marched past in quarter column in quick time and in the drill shed, after which the battalion was drilled by Major McLean, Majors Sturdee, Hart, Magee and Edwards. The last movement was advance in line in review order. The battalion was then mustered in the drill shed and names called by each company officer and checked by the district parmaster, Major A. J. Armstrong.

The battalion was addressed by Lt. Colonel Maunsell, who complimented them on the completion of their annual drill. Colonel Maunsell expressed his pleasure at the way in which the musketry exercise was carried out at Sussex under Captain Taylor of the Royal Berkshire regiment. Colonel Maunsell remarked that the drill was good and he saw very few faults. Some little crowding in the ranks might be remedied. He had just returned from Ontario, where he had inspected several infantry corps, and said that the 62nd compared very favorably with the battalions of that part of Canada.

After the inspection the officers adjourned to the Dufferin hotel, where a sumptuous dinner was served to upwards of fifty gentlemen. The following was the menu:

- Blaque of Game, salted almonds. Consommé, a la Dufferin, Spanish olives. Boiled Salmon, a la maitre d'hotel. Potatoes a la Parisienne. Cornishers. Chicken Croquettes. Boast of Prime Beef, English Yorkshire Pudding. Brown Potatoes. Roast Spring Lamb, mint sauce. Cream Potatoes. Boast Chicken, bread sauce. Stewed Tomatoes. New Beets. Macaroni a la Duchesse. Snow Peas. Stuffed Peas. Apple Pie. Lemon Curd. Strawberry Pie. Lefroy's Jelly. Ice Cream. Coffee, for the ladies.

Major McLean, who in the absence of Lieut.-Col. Tucker is in command of the corps, occupied the chair and said that the 62nd Fusiliers were a happy and contented body. He complimented Lt. Col. Maunsell, D. O. C., and on his late Capt. Taylor of the Royal Berkshire regiment. Among the other guests were Maj. A. J. Armstrong, Lt. Beatty of the Royal Berkshire regiment, Lt.-Col. Armstrong, Surgeon Lt.-Col. Daniels, Major Jones and Lt. Foster of the Artillery, Capt. Smith of the Rifles, Major Markham and Capt. McRobbie of the 8th Hussars, Dr. J. Y. Ellis (M. P.), Mayor Robertson, Sheriff Sturdee, J. M. Collins, and Wm. H. Heath and S. McGown of Montreal, James Hannay, Dr. T. E. Walker, C. C. Chipman of the C. E. R., Major Parks and Major J. T. Hart of the 2nd Battalion of the 1st Canadian Infantry, Major R. H. Ritchie, Chas. J. Coster and Chief of Police Clark.

Major F. H. Hart made a capital vice-chairman. The Queen was honored in the usual way. The next toast, the D. O. C., was appropriately spoken to by Col. Maunsell. Capt. Taylor of the Berks entertained the company in his response to the next toast. In response to the toast of the Sister Corps, Col. Armstrong, Major MacMahon and Lt. Beatty made interesting addresses.

Our guests brought out speeches from Mayor Robertson, Dr. Ellis (M. P.), Sheriff Sturdee, Major Parks and James Hannay. Dr. Ellis' speech was the most entertaining of the evening. Col. Maunsell's health was drunk most enthusiastically.

Songs were given during the evening by Major J. T. Hart, Surgeon Daniel, Capt. Kaye, Capt. E. A. Smith, Capt. Dunning and Major Fred. H. Hart. The band of the corps furnished excellent music during the evening.

OLD FOGY AND SHORT-SIGHTED MERCHANTS.

The manufacturers of Diamond Dyes receive letters orders every day from country places for Diamond Dyes. Ladies say their village store-keeper has been talked into buying one of the very inferior makes put up to consciously imitate the Diamond Dyes. They have tried these Diamond Dyes, and the result was failure and loss of goods.

These country storekeepers (many of them) will not put in a stock of Diamond Dyes until they get 2d of their poor goods. This means loss of trade to the short-sighted dealer. Diamond Dyes are certainly the favorite of country, town and city, and all live merchants should stock them. Any lady in the country who cannot obtain Diamond Dyes from her dealer can write to Wells & Richardson Co., Montreal, for the color required, stating whether it is to dye wool, cotton or silk, and the dyes will be sent by mail.

An officer, say of Canadian Artillery or Kings County Cavalry, may be seated among officers of the Royal Regiment of Artillery, or say, the 13th Hussars, and find he is an object of interest and even questioned as to what battery or troop he belongs, and he had to explain when his uniform should be such as to show clearly all about him.

There should be some way of readily distinguishing the Canadian, say, gray facings where possible, or whatever other color be worn in facings; let there be a border of gray and the word "Canada," where possible and appropriate, on all uniforms. Something should be done.

CARLETON CO. SCARLET CHAPTER PRESENTATION.

To the Editor of The Sun: Sir—I am requested to chronicle an episode that occurred at the meeting of Carleton County Scarlet Chapter on Wednesday evening, the 14th instant.

Having been whispered that companion Jonathan Bridges was about to resign from Woodstock, the companion felt that they could not allow so active, useful and beloved a companion to go from their midst without an expression of their appreciation of his faithfulness; their deep regret at his departure. It was therefore unanimously resolved that the chapter present him with a gold-headed cane.

Two companions, having been appointed to make the purchase, secured the cane, which was forthwith presented by P. C. M. Hipwell, who performed his task in a most touching manner. After the companion's very feeling and appropriate reply, there followed a complimentary address by Companion Bleakney, Queen, Brewer, Kleinstad, Sutton, Cox, Scott and Mott.

Companion Bridges goes from our midst with the full confidence, commendation and best wishes of the chapter. On behalf of the chapter, J. C. BLEAKNEY, Woodstock, July 15.

SETTLED BY JUDGE FORBES.

(Saturday's Globe.)

A word in the right direction often does a great deal of good and Judge Forbes is to be congratulated on the happy outcome and peaceful ending of a long period of litigation. In 1887 there lived at Oak Point, on the River St. John, families by the name of Inch and Flewelling, who up to that time gave on the most friendly and ultimate terms. They used to worship in the same little school building before the present places of worship were built. In 1887, however, George Inch fenced in a certain spring which created all the disturbance of the after years. George Flewelling opposed this tooth and nail, and claiming the spring, tore down the fence. It was agreed to have the place surveyed, but after this was done no agreement could be reached, because when surveyed by two different surveyors it was found that the survey of one gave the spring to Inch while that of the other gave it to Flewelling. The battle began anew and one afternoon that spring was the scene of a great quarrel when Inch sought to fence on the line favorable to him, while Flewelling opposed it. Inch then sued Flewelling, and when the case came on, coming down in the steamer a quarrel arose which ended in one person being knocked down, and of course this ended as a defense, and Flewelling settling as defendant, and Flewelling won. This case was tried at Woodstock, as was also the action for trespass. In the latter suit forty witnesses were examined on each side and the case was argued by Messrs. Herbert Moore acted for Flewelling. But although Inch won he did not so readily recover the amount of the verdict as defendant. He wanted the money for Flewelling to carry on the suits at law, taking a deed of the Flewelling property for so doing. Beckett mortgaged the property to his mother, who this month gave notice of sale under the mortgage. This case was argued by Messrs. Hamy and Flewelling for examination under the judgment and subpoenaed Beckett as a witness. Inch's claim was partially refused by the judge. Beckett's account to about $600. Beckett was shaping splendidly for a big equity court suit when Judge Forbes suggested that the thing be settled at once, and asked each claimant what they would take to give up their claims to Flewelling. After considerable talk Inch agreed to take $150, and Beckett, not to be outdone in generosity, reduced his claim to $550. A. F. Barnes was just passing and Judge Forbes called him in, and while the iron was hot had it arranged that Mr. Barnhill would draw up the necessary papers whereby the Flewelling would get their property back. Mr. Beckett got his amount and Mr. Inch, all to be concluded in ten days. But even then the kindly heart of Judge Forbes was not satisfied. He turned to the litigants and said, "Now you must shake hands and make up friends." These old neighbors were evidently longing to do so, for the genuine heartiness of their handshake made up for the lapse of the past years. And thus the chain of years was bridged by the happy thought, energetic words and kindly action of the county-court judge.

A TRULY GOOD MAN.

"Who was that 'Squire Huxtable that died last week?" asked a caller at the newspaper office.

"He was a man," responded the editor of the Perkins Junction Palladium, "who had taken this paper 19 years, always paid for it in advance, never gave a bad word, and was a local item about it when he put a new roof on his barn or sold his pork, when he came into a sack of wheat or a barrel of flour, an editor is supposed to know every thing, always sent a $2 bill with the wedding notice whenever he was married, and never had an idea he could run a paper better than I could."—Chicago Tribune.

AQUATIC.

The First Day of the Henley Regatta. Henley-on-Thames, July 14.—The trial heat of the Henley regatta for 1897 began today.

In the first trial heat for the diamond sculls, J. J. Blussé, De Hoop rowing club, Cambridge, beat the Royal Indian Engineering College.

In the ladies' challenge plate, first trial heat, Emmanuel College, Cambridge, beat Balliol College, Oxford.

In the grand challenge cup, first heat, the Leander club beat the Thames rowing club, winning easily and in perfect style by 13-4 lengths.

In the first trial heat for the grand challenge cup, Trinity Hall, Cambridge, beat the London rowing club.

In the ladies' challenge plate, first trial heat, Christ Church, Oxford, beat Trinity College, Oxford.

In the first heat for the diamond sculls at the Berks station, Dr. W. S. McDowell of the Delaware boat club, Chicago, beat the Hon. E. A. Guinness, Thames rowing club.

In the trial heat for the diamond sculls at the Berks station, H. T. Blackstaffe of the Vesta rowing club beat C. K. Phillips, New College, Oxford.

In the trial heat for the Stewards' challenge cup, Trinity Hall, Cambridge, beat the London rowing club.

In the trial heat for the diamond sculls at the Berks station, A. F. Byrck, London rowing club, beat R. E. Easton, Burton-on-Trent rowing club.

In a trial heat for the ladies' challenge plate the Eton College crew beat the crew of Radley College.

Henley-on-Thames, July 15.—The second day of regatta is favored with beautiful weather. A light wind is blowing up the course. The attendance is much better than it was yesterday.

In the third heat of the grand challenge cup contest was won by the Leander club, beating the Utrecht university boat club Triton.

The fourth heat for the grand challenge cup was won by New College Oxford, who beat Trinity Hall, Cambridge, New College led throughout.

The fifth trial heat for the ladies' challenge plate was won by Emmanuel College, Cambridge, beating Christ Church, Oxford.

The sixth trial heat for the ladies' challenge plate was won by Eton College, who beat King's College, Cambridge.

Dr. McDowell in the fifth trial heat for the diamond sculls, defeated T. L. Hogan, New Ross boat club, Ireland, winning as he liked, in 3 mins. and 3 secs.

Hogan got away first and soon led by half a length. McDowell was after him at full speed, soon collared him and when they reached open water began to pass him. Then to everybody's astonishment Hogan showed signs of being winded and of losing his head. He collided with almost everything in sight and was twice mixed up with the piles.

McDowell slowed up, looked complacently at his rival and then proceeded toward the finish very quietly. Indeed he allowed Hogan to overtake him and they were almost even at the finish. The times were as follows: Quarter mile, 1 min. and 45 secs.; half mile, 3 min. and 2 secs.; mile, 6 min. and 55 secs.

The sixth trial heat for the diamond sculls was won by H. T. Blackstaffe, Vesta rowing club, who beat A. F. G. Everett, London rowing club.

The seventh trial heat for the diamond sculls was won by E. H. Ten Eyck, Massachusetts boat club, Massachusetts, who beat J. J. Blussé of the De Hoop rowing club. Time 7 minutes 15 seconds. He paddled home leisurely.

The first trial heat for the Wyfold challenge cup was won by Jesus College, Cambridge, who beat the Thames rowing club.

The third trial heat for the Stewards' challenge cup was won by the Leander club, beating the London rowing club.

The second trial heat for the Wyfold challenge cup was won by the Kingston rowing club, who beat the London rowing club.

The fourth heat of the stewards challenge cup was won by New College Oxford, who beat the Winnipeg rowing club. New College was the favorite for the Stewards' challenge cup, although a few of the ladies on the grand stand and lawn this afternoon were Winnipeg favors. Sentiment and friendship were all for New.

The fourth heat for the Stewards' challenge cup was an eighth of a length ahead at the end of Temple Island, rowing forty strokes to the minute, as against thirty-seven for New. They then drew out and got a lead of a length. The half mile stake was reached in 3 minutes and 34 seconds. When beyond Fawley court boathouse New College, in a few powerful strokes, drew their boat even with the Winnipeg. At the three-quarters stake, which was reached in 4 minutes and 12 seconds, the Winnipeg were half a length behind, and from that point, although they spurred steadily and decreased the lead of New at the time to three or four feet, they never could catch the Oxoniens, who finished winners by a length in the record time of 7 minutes and 33 seconds.

The steering of the Winnipeg was decidedly better than yesterday's and they were less exhausted than their rivals.

At the finish the Winnipeg proposed three cheers for New College; the men in the New boat heartily responded and the cheer was caught up on the shore, after which the Winnipeg were loudly cheered in return.

The Winnipeg after the race (with New College) were greeted on every side in the most cordial fashion, all the English crews going to their quarters complimenting them on a neat pucky behavior and praising them for the sportsmanlike way in which they accepted defeat. They will sail for home on August 29.

The eighth trial heat for the diamond sculls was won by E. H. Howell, Trinity Hall, who beat G. McHenry, Thames rowing club. Howell got away first. At the top of the island he was leading and he was quite clear of his opponent at the De Hoop. The Englishman and one Englishman in the semi-finals. McDowell will meet Blackstaffe and Ten Eyck will meet Howell.

The third heat for the Nickalls challenge cup was won by E. R. Balfour and Nickalls, Leander club, who beat H. G. Gold and R. Carr, Magdalen College, Oxford. The winners had the Bucks station.

In the sixth heat for the Thames challenge cup, Christ Church, Oxford, won from the Berks station, beating King's College, Cambridge.

J. J. Blussé, after the race with Ten Eyck, was taken in a fainting condition to the boat house where physicians found that he was suffering from a sunstroke. He is hanging between life and death.

The Third Day of the Henley Regatta. Henley-on-Thames, July 16.—The third day of the Henley regatta was favored with beautiful weather. Light breezes, generally up the course, were blowing from the Bucks shore. In consequence of the death of Lord Camsey, president of this year's regatta committee, many flags floated at half mast.

The ninth trial heat for the diamond sculls was won by H. T. Blackstaffe, Vesta rowing club, who beat Dr. McDowell, Blackstaffe won by one and a quarter lengths. His victory proved very popular. He was greeted enthusiastically with shouts of "Good old England, McDowell and Blackstaffe started off together and in the style. At the top of the island McDowell was leading by a quarter of a length, rowing a 38 stroke to the minute as against Blackstaffe's 40. This lead he maintained until they had passed the quarter mile stake. Then Blackstaffe forged forward and pushed the nose of his boat to the front. At the rectory Blackstaffe led by half a length.

At the half mile stake, which the Leander reached in 3 minutes and 54 seconds, the Chicagoan appeared determined to win. A little later Blackstaffe collided with the piles and McDowell gained some, but it did no good. In his excitement he caught a crab, and at the three-quarter distance Blackstaffe was a length ahead and rowing easily. He kept this lead without much effort, as McDowell did not seem to have any "go" left. Blackstaffe beat the record. Time, 5 minutes 54-5 seconds.

The tenth trial heat for the diamond sculls was won by E. H. Ten Eyck, Massachusetts boat club, Mass., who beat H. E. Howell (American), of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, who was rowing away promptly, rowing easily, and when the top of the island was reached he led Howell, both rowing the stroke of thirty-two to the minute. Ten Eyck was then a length ahead, and though Howell spurred gamely throughout, evidently he had Howell's measurement by time. The half mile stake was reached in 3 min. 5 sec. Ten Eyck was then a length ahead, and though Howell spurred gamely throughout, evidently he had Howell's measurement by time. The half mile stake was reached in 3 min. 5 sec. Ten Eyck was then a length ahead, and though Howell spurred gamely throughout, evidently he had Howell's measurement by time. The half mile stake was reached in 3 min. 5 sec.

The three-quarter stake was reached in 4 min. 29 sec., and the mile stake in 8 min. 27 sec. Ten Eyck's victory was followed in almost ominous silence. He has fastidiously proved his Henley's against him by his alleged secret trials and by the suspicion of professionalism. Howell, whom everybody knows to be an American, was encouraged by applause cheers and wild yells from start to finish.

In the final race for the Grand Challenge cup, the Leander boat beat New College by two feet.

In the final race for the Visitors' Challenge cup, Trinity College, Oxford, beat Jesus College, Cambridge.

In the final for the Ladies' Challenge plate, the Eton College eight beat the eight of Emmanuel College, Cambridge.

The event of the regatta thus far has been the race between New College and Leander. It was highly exciting, and the spectators everywhere showed the most intense interest. At the finish the two boats were so close that the exact result was not known, until the Judge announced the time, which was 8 minutes and 15 seconds. Leander led from the start to the end of Temple Island, rowing a 33 stroke as against New's 38. At the quarter stake Leander was half a length ahead, and from that point the race was a mass-splurge of speed. Leander, however, was three-quarters of a length ahead at the lastman lawn. Then the New College crew began a struggle such as has been seldom paralleled at Henley. Inch by inch they diminished the distance between and the rival boat, then passed it, then fell behind again, Leander contesting hotly, now leading and now following until the line was crossed in record breaking time.

After the race McDowell said to the correspondent of the Associated Press: "I shall come again next year, and every year until I win. After I capture the crab I lost my trail, and I could not pick it up. Mr. Blackstaffe won in great form. Anyway I was within the record."

The final for the Ladies' Challenge cup was a great race. Eton was the favorite, but the struggle was hotly contested and exciting. When they passed Fawley Court boathouse Eton was in the lead, but Emmanuel steadily carried up until they were opposite the grand stand. Then Eton rowed them down in splendid fashion and won by half a length. The time was 7 minutes and 1 second, which is nine seconds outside the record.

Ten Eyck was the favorite for the diamond sculls, beating Blackstaffe.

The final for the Wyfold Challenge cup was won by Kingston Rowing Club, beating Jesus College, Cambridge.

The elder Ten Eyck said: "We have been well treated by everybody with whom we have come into contact. As for the Yankee tricks of which we have been accused, I must say that I never have I ever said a word to my boy to prompt him to do anything tricky. Naturally I am pleased that he has proved himself a true sportsman."

However great Ten Eyck's unpopularity may have been with the crowd that witnessed his defeat of Blackstaffe he was given the biggest reception of the regatta. Ten Eyck, at the presentation of the prizes Col. Frank Willan, in presenting the diamonds and silver gift goblets to Ten Eyck, said: "This is the most important and the most interesting race we have ever carried out of the country for the second time, it having once gone to Holland. I am sorry it has been so close, but we must put it up with us and try to get it back."

"I hope the winner when he goes home will tell his countrymen that he had a clear course and fair play."

The remarks were greeted with loud applause. Ten Eyck was heartily congratulated on all sides.

THE TURE. Woonsocket, R. I., July 15.—Two accidents, the first a fatal one, marked the races at the riding park today.

In the third heat of the 2.35 class Satri Gamp stopped short, causing Fruit and Athens, who were close behind, to be thrown into the water.

The owner and driver of Fruit, was thrown to the ground and picked up unconscious, while Fruit ran three times around the track before he was rescued. In the next race Daisy Morrill upset her driver, Slavin, but he escaped without injury.

THE WHEEL. News of J. S. Bailey's Suspension in Fredericton.

Fredericton, July 16.—R. S. Barker at St. John's, N. B., has read of Fredericton and R. W. Simpson, Moncton.

It was known here that some indirect attack had been made upon Mr. Bailey's amateur standing by persons who had no right to do so.

Mr. Barker, a member of the racing board, last week wrote to Mr. Barnes, the chairman, asking that a meeting of the committee be called and an investigation be held.

Mr. Barker received no reply to his letter, and was much surprised as any person at today's announcement. When seen by our reporter Mr. Barker was quite indignant at the action of the St. John members in this connection.

The grounds of Mr. Bailey's being declared a professional are that his expenses while here are being paid by the racing board, or persons interested in it.

The Sun's gratuitous observations that "among all wheelmen the decision of the racing board will be met with delight" would be nearer the truth if it had inquired of the wheelmen between the words "all" and "wheelmen."

The Herald this evening says: Local wheelmen were quite taken back this morning by the announcement made in the St. John paper that J. S. Bailey, Fredericton's crack cyclist, had been transferred from the amateur to the professional class by the provincial racing board.

One of the most surprised members of all was R. S. Barker, who is one of the five members who constitute the racing board.

Mr. Barker had no intimation that a meeting of the board had been called to deal with Bailey's case until he read the St. John paper. A few days ago Mr. Bailey received a communication from the chief consul at St. John, enclosing a declaration, which he was asked to sign and return. He declined to have anything to do with the matter in the presence of witnesses, and returned the document on Saturday last.

This morning he received a letter from St. John, stating that inasmuch as he had failed to return the declaration the board had decided to remove him from the amateur class.

From the tone of the letter it is taken for granted that Mr. Bailey's letter had been read in the mail, and that his standing was being put in question.

Local wheelmen are quite indignant at the action of the racing board, and will at once make application to have their names removed from the list.

The statement that Bailey's expenses are being paid here by the B. and A. club is incorrect, and cannot be proved, and that he has done nothing to debar him from the amateur rank.

It might be stated here that the racing board is composed of five persons, three of whom reside at St. John and the other two at Moncton and Fredericton.

TWO VOLCANIC ERUPTIONS. You may say it is no great thing to walk an aggregate of 88 miles in one Nor is it, for a man in good form, who is more or less used to walking; but for a man no longer young, who hasn't been really sound for thirty years and who for ten years had such a bad knee that he feared he should never undergo an operation—why, for him, I should say, it is a pretty fair record.

The man I am talking about is Mr. Henry Chapman, of Rosedale West, Pickering, Yorkshire.

It is mining, yet he is also a local preacher and lecturer, and is well known and highly respected in his district, where he has resided for 30 years.

About 1863 it was that Mr. Chapman had a bad attack of jaundice. Two doctors, who were successively appointed to relieve him, failed, and he went to the hospital, where he was under treatment for seven weeks.

It is just as well to say here, and across the Atlantic, that the blood is loaded with bile, due to the swelling of the intestinal mucous membrane at the point where the bile makes its exit. This dammed blood, which is a poison when in the blood-vessels that it causes, causes the skin discoloration so well known as one of its symptoms.

The prime cause of all is gastric catarrh, which exists in their courts in regard to the stomach into the intestines.

There, now let us have Mr. Chapman's account of himself in his own words. In a letter, dated May 31st, 1892, he says: "After my jaundice I had for many years, off and on, attacks of indigestion and palpitation of the heart. Still, I got on fairly well up to July 1st, 1892, when I was seized with a severe attack of indigestion and palpitation of the heart. I had a foul taste in the mouth, a poor appetite, and pain at the sides and back. I began to lose weight, and also a gnawing sensation at the pit of the stomach. I was constantly belching up a sour fluid, and was much troubled with pain and palpitation at the heart. At times I also had attacks of dizziness and pain at the top of the head."

"It wasn't long before I became so weak I could scarcely walk about; indeed, I had no strength for anything. In September I was so bad that I was obliged to resign my situation as under-manager at Sheriff's Pit. The weakness increased upon me, and I began to lose weight. I had no reason to hope I should ever recover."

"I consulted two doctors, but received no benefit from the medicines prescribed by them."

"In consequence of my condition I lingered along until February of this year, when I heard from a friend of mine of the benefit he had derived from the use of Mother Selig's Curative Syrup. I began to take this medicine, and was soon able to digest my food. Then I began to gain strength rapidly, and in two months was back at my work as strong as ever, and walked 88 miles during one week."

"I may mention that for ten years I had a bad knee; I feared the bone was broken, and expected to have to undergo an operation. But while taking Mother Selig's Syrup, to my surprise and delight, all the trouble left my knee, and I can now walk without pain. Had I known earlier of this remedy I should have been spared great misery and expense. I will gladly answer inquiries concerning my case—Yours truly, (Signed) Henry Chapman."

Mr. Chapman has told his own story so plainly that little is left to be said about it beyond expressing our own pleasure at his restoration to health. It is a story which is open and obvious to all, and is the result of gastric disarrangements which existed some time before although he probably did not greatly notice it until he was seized with the sudden outbreak in his early life, and then a long comparative suppression of the evil; and then the second outbreak in 1892. It was a stumbling block with his employees. The leg trouble was the result of uric acid poison in the joint, the same as in rheumatism and gout—also caused by the stomach fermentation.

He will be wise to look out for it in future, and use the Syrup on the first sign of indigestion. In this way he may ward off the enemy and do his work unimpeded.

NEWFOUNDLAND. The scho. Progress arrived here from Lawn, Newfoundland, on Sunday, says the Liverpool Advance, bringing the fisherman and other employees of Mr. McQuinn's lobster factory at that port.

Mr. McQuinn reports the lobster and cod fishing business along the Newfoundland coast a failure this season. On the 30th June last year the fishing men had about thirty quintals of fish to a man, while on that date this year they averaged about three quintals each. The lobster factories have done a bad business. The entire party of Mr. McQuinn's factory was forty-three cases.

OF WELSFORD GRANITE. The sarcophagus lately erected to the memory of W. W. McGilguy, in Dell avenue in the Rural Cemetery, attracts attention because of the beauty of its design and more especially by the pleasing color and high polish of the die, which is the first specimen of the new Welsford granite that has been used in the cemetery. It is a polished stone, darker than the Quincy granite and apparently sprinkled with a silvery dust. Many American visitors consider it preferable to the Quincy or Wootton granite, and there is no doubt but that it will be used extensively for monumental purposes all over the country.

PROVIDENCE THANKED. It is with pleasure that I recommend B. B. For the cure of indigestion and impure blood. I had tried many remedies, but received no benefit until, I thank Providence, I was advised to use B. B. E., and it resulted in a perfect cure.

THE FORESTERS.

A Word of Explanation in Justice to J. T. Hawke.

The Case of Members in Expectation of Life Department.

The Inspector—Some General Notes About the Session of High Court.

In justice to J. T. Hawke a word more is necessary with regard to the passage between him and John A. McGilguy. If the correspondence in this paper of the Moncton Times, conveyed to anyone the idea that Mr. Hawke was actuated by improper motives it was not so intended. The point taken by Mr. Hawke was that the order of Foresters had nothing to do with politics in the matter, that was Mr. McGilguy's remark had a political flavor.

There was a disagreement between him and Mr. McGilguy and also between him and the majority of the high court, in the matter, that was a difference of opinion in a case where all had the interests of the order at heart.

A question of great importance to a considerable number of Foresters was brought up by Thomas Colter of York county, who delivered a vigorous speech on the subject. The whole matter is explained in the following report, submitted by A. W. Ebbett for the committee to whom it was referred, and which report was unanimously adopted:

Your committee on appeals and petitions directed the attention of several members representing different courts to the jurisdiction have represented to us that a grievance existed in the matter of the suspension of members in the expectation of life department, without sufficient notice having been given of the date of payment in full, and the date of the meeting of the committee to be held on the 1st of June.

Such a change was made in August, 1896, in the matter, that was a difference of opinion in a case where all had the interests of the order at heart.

The following is the resolution which Hon. H. R. Emerson moved in an eloquent address, and which was seconded by Dr. Doherty and adopted with enthusiasm, Judge Wedderburn supplementing it with some graceful remarks:

Whereas, the members of the high court of Foresters in annual session assembled at St. John, N. B., on the 17th inst., in their courteous and agreeable disposition, took much interest in volunteer matters, entering the service in 1863 at the time of the "Trent" strike, and raising the New Brunswick corps of engineers, with which he was associated until 1881, when he became a member of the staff at Ottawa. Since that year he has represented St. John at the council of the Dominion Rifle association. He belonged to other associations, including the Masonic society, his hosts of friends everywhere will hear with much regret the announcement of his death.

Whereas, the members of the high court of Foresters in annual session assembled at St. John, N. B., on the 17th inst., in their courteous and agreeable disposition, took much interest in volunteer matters, entering the service in 1863 at the time of the "Trent" strike, and raising the New Brunswick corps of engineers, with which he was associated until 1881, when he became a member of the staff at Ottawa. Since that year he has represented St. John at the council of the Dominion Rifle association. He belonged to other associations, including the Masonic society, his hosts of friends everywhere will hear with much regret the announcement of his death.

The following is the resolution which Hon. H. R. Emerson moved in an eloquent address, and which was seconded by Dr. Doherty and adopted with enthusiasm, Judge Wedderburn supplementing it with some graceful remarks:
