The Idyl of Battle Hollow

(WAR OF THE REBELLION, 1864.)

No, I won't—thar now, so! And it ain't nothin'—no!

And thar's nary to tell that you folks yer don't know.

And it's "Belle, tell us, do!" and it's

"Belle, is it true?"

And it's "Wot's this yer yarn of the Major and you?"

Till I'm sick of it all—so I am, but I

'spose

That is nothin' to you * * Well, then,

listen 'yer goes:

It was after the fight, and around us all night

Thar was poppin' and shootin' a powerful sight:

And the niggers had fled, and Aunt Chloe

was dead,

And Pinky and Milly were hid in the shed;

And I ran out at daybreak, and nothin' was left

But the growlin' of cannon low down in the sky.

And I saw not a thing, as I ran to the "spring."

But a splintered fence-rail and a broken-down swing,

And a bird said "Kerchee!" as it sat on a tree.

As if it was lonesome and glad to see me;

And I filled up my pail and was risin' to go.

When I comes the Major, a canterin'

slow.

When he saw me he drew in his reins, and then threw

On the gate post his bridle, and—what does he do?

But come down where I sat, and he lifted his hat.

And he says—well, thar ain't any need to tell thar!

"Twas some foolishness, sure, but it

'mounted to this,

That he asked for a drink, and he wanted

a kiss.

Then I said (I was mad,) "For the water,

my lad,

You're too big, and must stoop; for a kiss,

it's as bad—

You ain't near big enough." And I turned in a huff.

When thar Major he laid his white hand

on my cuff.

And he says, "You're a trump! Take my pistol, don't fear!

But shoot the next man that insults you,

my dear."

Then he stooped to the pool, very quiet and cool,

Leavin' me with that pistol stuck there like coolie-trate at this time; but it's about coolies that the story is. I'm not going to enter into time or place;

but suffice it that our ship was a good one, and we were on a voyage with a right heavy load of coolies.

We were pretty tightly packed, I can tell you, and no mistake. Well, we had the blackies on deck pretty much,

and we did all we could to ventilate and purify them; and as yet we had had no bad disorder among them—

all was going pretty well.

"The skipper was much engaged below—he was one of the kind that believe in keeping the steam up—high-pressure, you know. In fact,

I had command; the "old man" never interfered. Doctor boys are the greatest nuisance and torment that you can have afloat or ashore—no mistake. We had two boys. They were little dwarfish chits, but as cunning and tricky as young apes. The whole of the ship was against them. They were against the whole ship. It was a game, and the little wretches played well. Of course, they were thrashed from time to time, but that seemed to act only as a stimulant.

"Well, one day the coolies got up a great affair—at least, it was a great affair to them, poor creatures. They were to give a sort of offering to their god—or at least one of them. They wanted to be in his good books, you see, and so they made him this gift.

I don't know all that was in the bundle, but I think there was rice, and I know that there was money. The offering was fixed to the truck of the main-mast—the truck, you know, is the button affair at the very point of the mast. Well, it was fastened up during the day, and the sign was,

that if the god came in the night and took away the bundle, he was well pleased, and meant to bless their voyage. It was fastened all right, and they set a watch of their own to keep a tight eye to the bundle, so that they might see the god swoop down and carry it away. There was also a group of coolies at the shrouds to see that there was no unhalloved interference by the ship's people.

"Well, evening shaded into night and a deuced dark night it was too—heavy masses of cloud scudding across a sombre sky; not bad weather, but rather threatening, you know.

I was on watch, feeling rather anxious as to how the night might turn out. Our doctor, a native, came to my side. He was a very intelligent fellow, I can tell you, and well educated. He didn't believe in the god coming down and taking away the bundle; but he wasn't such a fool as to express his mind before the cool-

ies. They are rather dangerous cat-ties at times. You read now and again of their rising in mutiny, killing the officers and crew, ay, even setting fire to the ship, and playing the deuce generally. Coolies are not to be trifled with, especially when there is a great crowd of them. And they are ignorant and superstitious, and such are always dangerous. Life with such people is at a discount, and no mistake. Well, the doctor and I were devising plans for ventilating the ship by kindling fires, &c., and so the watch passed. When eight o'clock struck at midnight, I turned in as soon as I was relieved. It seemed scarcely a minute before I heard eight bells strike again, and I was forced to know that it was four o'- clock in the morning, and time for me to be on deck to take my watch.

I found the ship much as I had left her. The "second" said that the wind had not risen higher than when it was last below, but that the night had been intensely dark. It was so at the time he spoke. I commenced to pace to and fro—wishing heartily that my watch was over—and, as time passed, noticing the gradual diminution of the moon's light.

"Ah! doctor, I'll never forget that voyage. I was forever thinking that the blackies were rising, or that they had fired the ship, or that they were conspiring. On deck I walked and I would have been madness to have thought of resistance.

I had all the burden on my own shoulders, for I never told the skipper, and the "second" did not seem to understand the affair nor to appreciate the danger. But the native doctor did, and assisted me ably.

Even my turn below was no rest; I couldn't sleep—I dozed and started till I was called on deck gain. O man, it was awful! Suspense, doctor, is a terrible thing! I felt just as if I were living over a volcano—never sure but that an eruption might occur. It would almost have been a relief to have had the worst.

My hair turned gray, doctor—no mistake. The "second" even noticed that. I turned shaky and fanciful. No, doctor, I didn't drink; that had nothing to do with it. How

I rejoiced at the close of each day!

We made a pretty good voyage; and I almost felt as if the land, when we first sighted it, was paradise! When we actually got that cargo safely on shore, and I felt my throat still under, I almost thought it too good to be true—and no mistake."

I don't know how many of my cigarettes Mr. Topsy smoked, but I know that my stock was sadly reduced.

"But, I say, Topsy, I put in,

"What about the boys, you know?"

Did you give them an awful thrashing?"

Mr. Topsy looked sulkier than usual as he replied: "Well, they got loose as soon as we got into port—robbed me, and deserted the ship. That was the last I ever saw

SACKVILLE, N. B., APR. 11, 1872.
THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.

The Executive Committee of the S. & W. Agricultural Society met on Friday last. Messrs. Lugin, Davidson and Sterling were present, and the forthcoming Exhibition was discussed. An extension of time—20 days more—was asked for by the Local Society, and obtained, to procure further subscriptions before making final decision. $500 more are required. If this sum is not obtained the Exhibition will no doubt be held in St. John. This is a time when our Westmorland farmers ought to look alive. It has been published through the press, and sounded abroad, that the Exhibition is to take place in Sackville, a place understood to be eminently fitted for the honor, because a splendid farming country enriches it, and an intelligent and wealthy farming population centres there. Shall it now be bruited about that though every exertion has been made our farmers were too small in their ideas to give the $13 or $14,000 necessary to secure the Exhibition? We trust for the credit of the "Lords of the Soil" that they will exhibit their appreciation of the advantages of the Exhibition. It is not a charitable concern begging for aid. It is desirable even as a commercial speculation. It will repay into the pockets of our farmers every dollar they invest in it. The farmers of Dorchester, Bedford, Shediac and Petitcodiac, ought not to be behind in an enterprise not only of local, but provincial importance. The three last named places passes agricultural Societies. It would be to the interest of these societies to defer any proposed local shows this season and concentrate their efforts and at least a portion of their current funds upon the Exhibition, if held here. These local shows would be cheap and unsatisfactory to a degree in comparison to the larger Exhibition here, and if these localities would stir up in the matter, Westmorland will be found to occupy a very creditable position agriculturally in this Province. It might be urged too, it would only be an act of justice for the other Societies in this County to devote a share of their funds to this purpose, for by organizing they have divided the grant to the County formerly enjoyed solely by the S. & W. Society, and rendered it financially unable if unassisted, to proceed with the enterprise.

As advertised in another column there will be a meeting of the Society on Monday. Exhibition matters will be discussed, and a general attendance of members is desired.

MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S SPEECH.

THE BAY VERTE CANAL.

Illness of Prince of Wales—Invasion of Manitoba—Washington Treaty—Immigration Conference—Pacific Railway—Extension of Canals—The Census—Surplus Revenue and general prosperity.

(Special to Chiquecto Post.)

OTTAWA, 11th, 3.30 P. M.

His Excellency the Governor General, proceeded in state to the Senate Chamber, and on being seated on the throne, the members of the House of Commons and the Senators being present, he delivered the speech at the opening of the fifth Session of the first Parliament of Canada. He referred to the auspicious recovery of the Prince of Wales, from a well nigh mortal illness, and to the universal joy and thanksgiving evinced throughout the British Empire. He invited them to follow the good example set by British Capital on the 15th of this month, and he felt assured that Her Majesty's faithful subjects throughout the Dominion will unite in celebrating the occasion with loyal alacrity.

The Meeting of Parliament was postponed upon considerations of Imperial as well as Colonial interest at the instance of H. M. Government.

The young Province of Manitoba was last September threatened with invasion by lawless persons from the United States. Prompt measures were adopted with the best results. To re-assure the people and to prevent any recurrence, he ordered a force of 200 Militiamen, to be sent to Fort Garry. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the season, the troops surmounted the difficulties with energy and success, proving not only their own discipline and endurance, but the value of our own route. A copy of the Treaty made at Washington last year, between Her Maesty the Queen and the United States, and in which the Dominion has so great an interest, will be laid before you, and so much of the papers and compiled correspondence as can be made public. Your attention will be invited to this important subject.

A conference was held at Ottawa, in September, at which this Government and those of the Provinces were represented. A scheme for joint and several actions was provisionally arranged. You will no doubt make ample provisions for the development of Canada in this respect.

The Union of British Columbia with the Dominion has been happily consummated, and her representations take part in our deliberations.

In order to open up the Far West and link British Columbia therewith, it will be necessary to make provision for the construction of a Railway to the Pacific in conformity with her Majesty's order in Council. A preliminary survey of the route has been prosecuted with diligence which will be laid before you.

The long contemplated improvement and extension of our system of Canals ought to be vigorously prosecuted. The rapid increase of the trade of Canada and the importance of competing for and accommodating the commerce of the Great West render it necessary that means of transport by water be cheapened and facilitated. He requested their serious consideration, and in connection with it, the expediency of a direct water communication between the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Bay of Fundy.

"The decennial census having been taken the duty of readjusting the representation devolves upon you." Bills will be presented relating to the Judges of Superior Courts; to public lands; dominion of Manitoba and North West and the public health.

"The revenue for the past as well as the current year will be in excess of what was estimated and there is no reason to apprehend embarrassment from the immediate commencement of public improvements."

The closing paragraph was congratulatory as to the prosperity of the Dominion and the prayer that their efforts may be so happily guided as to maintain peace and justice in all the borders of the land and ensure the happiness and lasting welfare of all classes of its inhabitants.

LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

FREDERICTON, April 10.

On Monday afternoon the supplementary grants to Educational Institutions were passed in Committee, they amount to 4,816 dollars and 60 cents, and give four months aid in addition to the two months already granted, the two months grants in estimate for as far as accounts show go to bring the payments up to January the first, even by time. But as academical year in most of the institutions commenced July first, and former grants were appropriated by managers of institutions for work already performed this supplementary grant, really brings up the work to January first, and cuts off any further claims that may be made. Mr. W. H. Harrison opposed the additional grant. He thought that a university grant should also be discontinued, in order to make educational policy of the House, consistent. Six thousand dollars have been given for the development of mines in Queens, Sunbury and York. Mr. Hibbard in course of an able speech, said that the present government had done more to advance the mining interests of the country, than any government province has ever had. Mr. Gough gave notice that on Thursday he will move to reduce the Executive to five. But everybody knows that he intends to allow this as well as all the rest of his economy measures to be crowded out. The report of the Committee on accounts, which amounted almost to an expression of Want of Confidence in the government, was in Committee yesterday, on the discussion on first section, which related to the Crown Land Department, several resolutions were moved, but the whole thing was squashed by being referred to the government, many opposition men voted with government on this question and the bill to incorporate grand and subordinate Orange Lodges, was on motion of Adams hoisted for three months vote being fifteen to sixteen.

A NARROW ESCAPE OCCURRED AT

Dixon's Landing on Friday. One of the workmen employed on Anderson Bros' vessel picked up a copper cartridge, and being curious to find out its contents—never having seen one before, he took it into the forge and struck it a blow on the anvil. It exploded and the ball burrowed amongst the tendons and the muscles of the palm of the hand two inches, from which it was extracted. It was fortunate it struck no vital part.

THE WESTMORLAND CHEESE FACTORY CO.

A Bill to incorporate the above was agreed to by the House on the 11th inst.

The Provincial Exhibition.

MR. EDITOR:—

It is well known to your readers that the December Meeting of the Sackville and Westmorland Agricultural Society, by an unanimous resolution affirmed the desirability of procuring the next Provincial Exhibition to be held at Sackville, and adopted active measures with a view to the provision of suitable accommodation therefor. Subscription lists were opened and many liberal and handsome donations were at once pledged in aid of the enterprise. In harmony with the spirit of that meeting the Provincial Board of Agriculture has been invited to hold its next Exhibition at Sackville, and a considerable sum of money guaranteed by aid of such Exhibition, by the Executive Committee of the above named Agricultural Society. The whole amount of such sum being expended in suitable grounds, building and sheds of a permanent character, and to be the property of the Society. This proposal was regarded by the Provincial Board as very liberal and reflecting much credit upon the Society; and yet only sufficient to give it the preference above the proposal of the Saint John County Society. The Board after a pretty full discussion of the merits of the two propositions decided in favor of that from Sackville, provided satisfactory arrangements could be made there. It is my purpose to refer to some of the advantages to result from such an Exhibition being held here. First, as a Society we shall secure for ourselves permanent grounds, buildings, sheds and pens, in which all future Local Exhibitions may be comfortably held, largely protected from inclemencies of weather. Second, the Provincial Exhibition will open a list of prizes of upwards of two thousand dollars, for the competition of our Farmers, &c., whereas the Local Society could not this year offer a prize list of more than three hundred dollars.

Third, if the Provincial Exhibition be held here this year, we shall stand a very favorable chance of having it here again at no very distant day. Inasmuch as few localities in the Province can be found so well able to prepare for its accommodation and we shall be already prepared. Further, the advantages to result to the Agricultural interests of this locality and of the County generally, from the proposed Exhibition, which will call together from all parts of the Province and from places beyond the limits of this Province, a vast number of prominent farmers, manufacturers and leading men of every class who never before had an opportunity of visiting the locality, are not easy to overrate or to estimate. But that it will bring into favorable notice the products and resources of this locality, and of this fine country, and give to each a standing and importance, never before attained, and unsurpassed by any other in the Province is in my view unquestionable.

The local Society here has been in operation nearly fifty years. For thirty years past or nearly so it has held an annual show, and for many of these years considerable sums, averaging not less than two hundred and fifty dollars yearly and making a total of from seven to eight thousand dollars, have been disbursed in prizes, principally upon stock and agricultural products among the farmers of Sackville and Westmorland. Is it too much to ask that a sum equal to twenty per cent of the above amount, shall be raised by special subscription, to effect the double object of securing the Provincial Exhibition in your locality, and providing for your own accommodation in the future? Surely, the Farmers and people of this locality and of the County are not so blind to their interests as to permit the present opportunity to pass unheeded, and the Exhibition as a consequence, go to St. John, as will inevitably be the case, unless the appeal for special subscriptions be more successful. Farmers of Sackville and of Westmorland, your public spirit, the long established reputation of your Society is at stake, a manfully and liberally come forward and sustain and strengthen the hands of your Society's faithful friends.

FARMER.

A LAUNCH—A well-finished and handsomely modelled ship was launched on Tuesday last, from the shipyard of R. A. Chapman, Esq., Rockland, Dorchester. She is named 600 tons register, and is named the Robert B. Chapman, in honor of the respected father of the builder. Messrs. Joseph and Isaac Lamb of Dorchester, Morice Wells, Lemuel Bent and Capt. R. Lovison of Westmorland, are part owners in this vessel, which will be a creditable addition to the fleet launched by Mr. Chapman. We are glad to see our neighbors embarking in such legitimate enterprises.

THE KNOCKBROOK MINING CO.

of Albert Co., has obtained Legislative assent to a bill introduced to incorporate it. Capital £12,000.

FROM FREDERICTON.

(From our own Correspondent.)

"The beginning of the end" of the Legislative Session is upon us and it is probable that this week will be one of enactments. Several Committees have not yet reported, including those on Agriculture and Public Works and Crown Lands. Supply is to come up at noon to-day, and may cause some discussion. As the government will, in all probability, ask for a supplementary grant for Educational Institutions of the different denominations, it will be a fine opportunity for the "factious" members of the party led by Mr. Willis to trot out Mr. Maher's "bug-a-boo" "the hydra-headed monster, sectarianism." Perhaps, however, Mr. Hibbard's fair play influence and recently adopted waste-no-time policy, will be sufficient to curb the restless spirits and bridle the lumber tongues of his confederates on the shady side of our parliamentary circus and provincial menagerie. With reference to the Board of Works investigation, out of which proof of Gillespie's charge of "financial dishonesty" was promulgated, nobody expects anything and it is not probable that the Committee will make a report, unless it does so just before the Session closes. Some statements which were of a very damaging character were made outside to reporters, with reference to the Richibucto bridge and they were given to the country unexplained. They were to the effect that Mr. Killam, the contractor, was allowed to do less than required of him by the specification, while at the same time he received some $3,000 more than the amount named in the contract. One of the opposition members of the Committee told this story and said that witnesses had proved it. The facts are that the bridge was built, as required, in the specification, on the old piers, and it was found that they had to be cut down four feet further than Mr. Killam contracted to cut them, on account of being decayed. This work, on a bridge nearly half a mile in length, must have entailed considerable cost and the amount of over-work was also increased by a different and better draw than was at first agreed upon being made in the bridge. The amount paid for extra work was some $2,200, and the whole bridge cost about $9,500. The only witness examined by the Committee was Hon. Wm. McMurtry, M. L. C., whose son had contracted for the same bridge, his tender on the original specification amounting to $10,000. The commissioner summoned other witnesses to prove this old Hamilton blacksmith and general dealer of Kingston, had rather travelled outside the record, but he generally understood that the purpose of the chairman of the Committee was accomplished when he got his three thousand dollar story published in the papers and he prefers examining no more witnesses, and dropping the whole subject for the present.

Another matter which, like the Richibucto bridge, strong, is suspected of being moved in for political purposes only, is the reduction of the salaries of the heads of departments and the curtailment of the travelling expenses of the Executive. Mr. Gough introduced his resolution on the subject when he must have known that it could not be entertained by the house and would therefore amount to nothing. He gave notice on Wednesday that he would move the same series of "Whereases" and the "resolves" on Saturday, but like the ex-Secretary last winter, he failed to come to time. He knows that he cannot carry out his peculiar ideas of political economy in this way, and I do not think he intends to give the House a chance to vote on his proposition. As he contemplates running for Ottawa, soon he can tell the electors of Northumberland that he tried twice to "curtail the extravagance of the Government," but failed the first time because the house voted him out of order, and the second time because he was crowded out by the rush of business during the last week of the session—the latter excuse will, of course, be "bosh" and buncombe, and the men of Northumberland will not be gulled by any such wool-pulling process. The fame of the Speaker's hall has gone throughout the land already, no doubt, but a short sketch of it may be of interest to the sinners of Westmorland, though it need not be read by the devout occupants of the dominionaries on the Mount. There were between eight and nine hundred invitations issued, and the number present was about three hundred and fifty, most of whom appeared to great advantage, the ladies seeming to vie with the other in the elegance, beauty, and brilliancy of their toilets.

Silk, muslin and lace, crape-velvet, and satin, Brocade and tulle, and other material were fitted to the female form divine and beautiful, and rendered ornamental almost to gorgeousness by flowers, wax berries, spangles and other finery. Amid all the allurements of the scene, your correspondent, with eyes modestly bent on the floor most of the time, kept his head from swimming by a frequent rumination over his earlier recollections of nursery innocence, when his senses were delighted by such rhymes as that about the old lady with "rings on her fingers and bells on her toes." Most of the ladies wore dresses en train, and as the ample folds swept along the floor, one could not resist the conclusion that, with all the plentifulness of material displayed, some of those dresses were too short at one end and calculated to inspire the mind with vivid impressions, of what it is to see beauty unadorned. However, I thought I could stand it if they could, and with such fortitude as must have characterized the earlier saints, I kept repeating to myself, every now and then.

Charms strike the sight but merit wins the soul," and thus I looked around to see who was belle of the ball. She was there in the best possible company—that of one of the Tribune staff—looking like an angel and wearing a modest white crape or muslin dress, trimmed with simple flowers. As a remarkable instance of the affinity existing between great minds, I noticed that the veritable correspondent of the Tribune, fixed on that same young lady as the belle, and so pronounced in his telegraphic report of the ball, while he of the Tribune, who doubtless employed the saint's company largely, did the very same thing. The young lady, I learn, is an American, and the dear creature of Fredericton, think that the newspaper men, should have awarded the honors of the belle to a New Brunswick maiden, but, whatever may have swayed others in forming an opinion on the subject, I must declare that my regard for truth, overcame my love of country, and I'm going to stick to it that a girl from Lincoln, "way down in Maine," was the most angelic of all the rotating gygionators, who pinorinated around that floor in corporeal poesy.

There were some flags tied up, along the walls of the hall and suspended from a string stretched diagonally across the room and at each end the Royal arms nestled away in the loving embraces of the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes. The music was, in the main, good, but rather lame on the Magnificas. There was some little time lost in getting up the Speaker's list, some of those who were to have had places in it being absent. It was filled up, however, Hon. T. R. Jones being induced to take a partner and try his feet on the light fantastic. A girl dips the way they stood in the set. The Speaker, with Mrs. Hon. Jones and Hon. Wm. Stevenson, E. C., with Mrs. Speaker Vail, were disco-tes; on Speaker's right, D. H. Hanington, Esq., M. P. P., with Miss Hon. Cair, faced Edward Willis, Esq., M. P. P., and leader of the Opposition, whose partner was Mrs. D. L. Hanington; on Mr. Hanington's right was Jacob C. Gough, Esq., M. P. P., the real leader of the opposition, and Mr. Canterbury Robinson, in anticipation to whom were ex-Secretary Beckwith and Miss Fenely—these six couples were the head and foot of the set. Turning the corner at Gough's right was Hon. Mr. Cair, M. P. C., with Miss Todd, of St. Stephen. "His Eminence from Canterbury," R. Robinson, Esq., M. P. P., and Mrs. Hazen, daughter of ex-Secretary Beckwith, were opposite corner. Hon. J. H. Gough, Crawford, M. P. C., and Hon. Gough were in competition to Hon. T. R. Jones, M. P. C., and Mrs. Mott, formerly of Fredericton, but now of St. John. I need not relate how these and other distinguished individuals bowed to opposites and corner, went forward and back, crossed over, did the chasse, change four change, right and left, ladies chain, forward and bow, etc. Suffice it to say that they quadded into a gallop, and galloped into the Lancers, lanced into a quadrille, and then waltzed into a Mazurka, and after more lances they galloped into a march, which ended in marching down stairs to supper, which was spread in the Council room. It consisted of cold dishes, hot coffee and tea, and warm potatoes and champagne. After the inner man, woman and girl was satisfied they went back and "shashed" more. Those who did not care to dance could enjoy themselves in the card room and many of the reprobates played en-cre and bluff for from five to twenty cents a crown. In the parlance of worldlings the ball was a success, and one or two gentlemen were tipsy, but as they were either young bloods or members of the Upper House nobody thought it strange. They all went home about half past three a.m., on Saturday, and I want to go home for I'm tired of life in the capital, even amid the tinsel and celestialial which surround me.

KILLED.—On Friday last, Archibald Rowan, of Nashua, while lying asleep (drunk) on the rail, between St. Croix and McAdam, was run over by a Bangor freight train, and both legs cut off. He died a few hours after. He leaves a wife and family.

Silk, muslin and lace, crape-velvet, and satin, Brocade and tulle, and other material

Quite as expensive and much more ethereal.

There were some flags tied up, along the walls of the hall and suspended from a string stretched diagonally across the room and at each end the Royal arms nestled away in the loving embraces of the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes. The music was, in the main, good, but rather lame on the Magnificas. There was some little time lost in getting up the Speaker's list, some of those who were to have had places in it being absent. It was filled up, however, Hon. T. R. Jones being induced to take a partner and try his feet on the light fantastic. A girl dips the way they stood in the set. The Speaker, with Mrs. Hon. Jones and Hon. Wm. Stevenson, E. C., with Mrs. Speaker Vail, were disco-tes; on Speaker's right, D. H. Hanington, Esq., M. P. P., with Miss Hon. Cair, faced Edward Willis, Esq., M. P. P., and leader of the Opposition, whose partner was Mrs. D. L. Hanington; on Mr. Hanington's right was Jacob C. Gough, Esq., M. P. P., the real leader of the opposition, and Mr. Canterbury Robinson, in anticipation to whom were ex-Secretary Beckwith and Miss Fenely—these six couples were the head and foot of the set. Turning the corner at Gough's right was Hon. Mr. Cair, M. P. C., with Miss Todd, of St. Stephen. "His Eminence from Canterbury," R. Robinson, Esq., M. P. P., and Mrs. Hazen, daughter of ex-Secretary Beckwith, were opposite corner. Hon. J. H. Gough, Crawford, M. P. C., and Hon. Gough were in competition to Hon. T. R. Jones, M. P. C., and Mrs. Mott, formerly of Fredericton, but now of St. John. I need not relate how these and other distinguished individuals bowed to opposites and corner, went forward and back, crossed over, did the chasse, change four change, right and left, ladies chain, forward and bow, etc. Suffice it to say that they quadded into a gallop, and galloped into the Lancers, lanced into a quadrille, and then waltzed into a Mazurka, and after more lances they galloped into a march, which ended in marching down stairs to supper, which was spread in the Council room. It consisted of cold dishes, hot coffee and tea, and warm potatoes and champagne. After the inner man, woman and girl was satisfied they went back and "shashed" more. Those who did not care to dance could enjoy themselves in the card room and many of the reprobates played en-cre and bluff for from five to twenty cents a crown. In the parlance of worldlings the ball was a success, and one or two gentlemen were tipsy, but as they were either young bloods or members of the Upper House nobody thought it strange. They all went home about half past three a.m., on Saturday, and I want to go home for I'm tired of life in the capital, even amid the tinsel and celestialial which surround me.

Outrage at Petitcodiac.

You may remember in passing by our village, to or from St. John, to have observed a new building on the corner of Kay and Main streets. It occupied the lot on which some parties here, intend to erect a new Hotel. Last (Monday) night, or rather this morning, about 2 o'clock, A. M., your correspondent was awakened from a sound sleep, by the noise of what appeared to be a great number of axes. It appeared when daylight came that the building before mentioned, was completely demolished or razed to the ground. The roof had been cut, and taken off in pieces. It also appeared that an attempt had been made to capsize the building by cutting off the posts of one side low down, and of the other other up. This failing, it was cut down piece-meal, and the greater part of the lumber destroyed.

For the credit of the place, I may state, that it is believed by the inhabitants, that this work of destruction was not done by any of our citizens, but by parties from abroad who with faces blackened or masked, soon completed their nocturnal outrage. Why this was done by whom, or by whose instigation, it is impossible to say. Doubtless an effort will be made to discover the perpetrators of this lawless affair.

Gleanings.

THE CHANCES OF BEING MURDERED.—Dreydorff, in a new work on the Jesuits in the German Empire, just published at Leipzig, draws a few comparisons which are significant at a time of extraordinary Ultramontane activity. Statistics prove that in Rome there are 237 times as many chances of being murdered as in England, and 133 1-2 times more than in Protestant Prussia. In England it is shown that one murder occurs for every 178,000 inhabitants; in Holland, one for 163,000; in Prussia, one for 100,000; in Austria, one for 57,000; in Spain, one for 4,113; and in Naples, one for 2,750; but at Rome there is one homicide for every 750 of the inhabitants. Rome also scores the highest proportion of illegitimate children, the ratio of births of this class being nearly 61 times greater in Rome than in London. It appears that in London there are for every 100 legitimate births 4 illegitimate; in Leipzig, 20; in Paris, 48; in Munich, 91; in Vienna, 118; and in Rome, 243. Judging from these unpleasant facts, Roman Catholicism does not appear to be very conducive to public security, or particularly successful in the promotion of good morals; but perhaps Mr. Dreydorff has made a mistake in his figures.

A LESSON FOR TOBACCO SMOKERS.—Tamiser states that out of fifty-nine grave afflictions of the nerve-centers observed from 1860 to 1869 among men, forty occurred in smokers. In fifteen cases of paralysis of one side of the body nine abused tobacco, and two used it moderately; four did not smoke. Of eighteen cases palsy of the lower half of the body, five were great smokers, three moderate smokers, and ten abstained from tobacco. Out of twenty cases of locomotive disorders, fourteen were great smokers, five moderate, and one abstainer.

SUDDEN DEATHS.—Our exchanges record four sudden deaths. A young man named John Mines, died in the snow at Cape John, dead in a snow-g woman named Pictou Co. suddenly at the Lorne McIntyre, Cape Breton. And Mr. McInnes, of Cape George, was found dead in the snow at a short distance from his home.

HORACE GREELEY, the distinguished farmer, proposes to plant early this season a gross of darning-needles with a view to raising crow-bars. He thinks, by continued application of electricity to the eye of the needles, and deep mulching with nitric-acid-wash, that in nine weeks he can force them to a fine size and profitable crop.

A Yankee editor says: "If the party who plays the accordion in this vicinity at night, will only change his tune occasionally, or sit where we can scold him when the engine has steam on, he will hear of something to his advantage."

The life of a French woman has three great epochs: That of flirtation lasting till she is thirty; the second of skepticism, lasting five years; then comes the epoch of religious devotion, from thirty-five till death.

A Dr. N. E. Cushing, in Drownsville, Ga., has given public to the saloon-keepers of the town that he is an inebriate, and if said saloon-keepers sell him and liquor they will be prosecuted under the law in such cases made and provided.

An immense anvil block, weighing some sixty tons, was recently cast at the Washington Navy Yard. That is said to be the largest iron casting ever made in the United States.

Horseflesh is yet the favorite food of Parisians. On the 23 of January last, twenty large shops were opened in the French capital for its exclusive sale, the Paris physicians warmly recommend it as the best food for consumptives.

The King of Siam is a very small, placid looking young man, dressed in European fashion, with knee breeches and stockings, and the whole party live as Europeans would in all respects.

Daily newspaper paragraphing is getting to be fearfully abbreviated in America. Here is a specimen recording a death—Clay Spencer colored. Pint of Memphis whiskey.
