LA GRIPPE DECLINING.

LONDON, March 24.—The epidemic of influenza, which has been causing so many deaths and such a widespread state of sickness throughout the United Kingdom, is decreasing in strength. In this city, as a result, the death-rate has dropped from 41.2 per 1,000 to 33.4 for the present week. The normal death rate is about 21 per 1,000. But in spite of this fair showing fresh cases of influenza are reported daily.

DISTRESS IN LONDON.

LONDON, March 24 .-- The general condition of the metropolis is indicated by the fact that 137,000 destitute persons institutions during the past week. and the interim report of the select committee of the House of Commons appointed to inquire into the existing distress throughout England has disclosed a state of affairs which apparently can only be met by extensive relief works in certain districts.

THE QUEEN'S COMPANION. LONDON. March 24.-Princess Beatrice, who is now the Queen's constant companion, has of late always been present during her interviews with the Ministers, and is recognized in official circles as practically the wielder of all the royal prerogatives. It is well un-derstood that the Queen has willed to this favored daughter the bulk of her savings, believed to be $7,500,000. together with Osborne and Balmoral, both residences being the private property of the royal mother.

ROME, March 24.-A very heavy earthquake occurred at 10:16 yesterday afternoon at the town of Comacchio, located in the Province of Ferrara, in the midst of the marshes of Valliedi Comacchio, three miles from the Adri-atic. One of the churches and a number of houses were damaged at Mirabema, and at Imbaccari, in the Prov-ince of Catania, the walls of the church fell, burying a number of worshipers. Up to the present six bodies have been recovered.

GALE IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, March 24.-A severe gale has swept the south of England this afternoon and evening. Many houses have been unroofed. In London three persons have ben killed and three others injured severely by falling walls. A raceboat on the Thames was upset and its two occupants were drowned. Many isolated cases of death in the storm have been reported from the provinces. Several of the ancient and historical trees at Rugby and Oxford have been uprooted. Three of them were between 27 and 30 feet in circumference.

LI HUNG CHANG SHOT!

LONDON, March 4.-The Central News correspondent in Tokio says that Li Hung Chang in a street of Shim-onoseki this afternoon. Li was returning from the peace conference, in which he conducts negotiations in behalf of the Chinese mission, and was accompaned by several of his suite. When he was a short distance from his apartments a young Japanese ran up to him and fired a pistol in his face. The young man was seized and disarmed by the police at once. At the station house he gave his name as Koyama and his age as 21. According to the short report received in Tokio, Li's wound is not

SEND THEM BACK!

LONDON, March 4.-A singularly ill-matched couple are believed now to be on their way to New York, and they are likely to receive unexpected attention at the hands of the police on their arrival. It is a case of elopement, but the man is an aged scoundrel, with a wife and grown-up married children in Ireland, and the woman is a daughter of Samuel Hessey, a justice of the peace and a land owner in county Kerry. She is 23 years old, and her strangely chosen lover, one Leary, for-merly a coachman in her father's ser-vice, is 70. Miss Hussey is alleged to have in her possession money and jewelry belonging to her father.

TO CURTAIL SPECULATION. LONDON, March 24.—Home Secretary Asquith is said to have declared that if the present Government survives a general election one of the first measures of the new session of Parliament will be a bill making option and future speculations in grain a penal offence. Some people profess to know that the Government is resolved to bring in the bill at this session if there is a reasonable prospect that it will be treated as a non-contentious measure, which is not likely. It is evident that something will be done before long, and with the public approval, because the belief is unobservedly gaining ground among the farmers and others interested parties that the continued fall in prices is due to such forms of

THE PEACE CONFERENCE - JAPS REPULSED.

LONDON, March 24.—A dispatch from Hiogo to the Pall Mall Gazette says the peace conference at Shimonezki will last a fortnight. The cession of Formosa to Japan is inevitable. The Japanese failed to make a landing on the Pescadore Island and were repulsed with eight loss. The condition upon which Japan will consent to end the war were stated in explicit terms by the Mikado's Ministers. After some discussion Li Hung Chang asked for three days' delay in order that he might consult the authorities in Policy were certain points. The ities in Pekin upon certain points. The Japanese Ministers, who have entered upon the negotiations with an earnest desire to reach a satisfactory conclusion, granted the request. Unless the Government at Pekin instructs Li Hung Chang to reject the plans which Japan considers indispensable to a permanent peace the treaty may be speedily exe-

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

LONDON, March 24.-The choice of the Liberals for the succession to the Speakership now lies between Rt. Hon. Leonad Courtney and Mr. William Court Gully, and the latter will probably be the Ministerial nominee. Mr. Gully, who is a member of the house of Carlyle, is a grandson of the famous light-weight champion pugilist, John Gully, who after retiring from the ring, became member for Pontefract. Mr. Gully's father, James Manby Gully, M.D., was a noted hydropathic physician, whose reputation, however, is not enhanced by his connection with the notorious Bravo poisoning case. The present Mr. Gully is a high bred, courtly, dignified and clever gentleman and Queen's counsel. He would unquestionably make a good figure in the chair, but he is so seldom in his seat that Sir Charles Dilke was recently moved to ask in connection with his candidacy; "Would you make a man Speaker who has been ten years a member and ten minutes in the House?" GLADSTONE GREETED.

PARIS, March 24.-Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone passed through the city yeswere relieved by the various charitable | terday morning on their way to London. During their stay at Cannes they met Princess Louise (Marchioness of Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone arrived at Charing Cross station at 7:50 o'clock last evening. An enormous crowd had gathered in and about the station, and when the ex-Premier and his wife appeared upon the platform they were greeted with cheer after cheer. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone looked to be in the best of health.

The return of Mr. Gladstone would have been the occasion of a great popular demonstration, but unhappily the dense fog in the channel delayed his steamer and he did not arrive till dusk. Despite the hour and the gathering rain a huge crowd assembled on the station and out on the Strand, and volleys of hearty cheers were raised as the carriage finally emerged. Mr. Gladstone himself seemed physically vigorous, and walked across the platform from the car to the curb with erect bearing and a firm step. His profile is a good deal sunken, but to look him in the eye the Cunard Steamship Company for 1894 he is as alert and strong-faced as ever. How ever, there is a clique of Minister among whom Sir William Harcourt! the most prominent, who think the the easiest way out of a seemingly in passable road, is an early dissolution.

> THE QUEEN'S CONDITION SERIOUS.

The New York World's special Londo cable says: Mrs. Emily Crawford con tributes to this week's Truth the firs public mention of Queen Victoria's ser ious condition, concerning whch ther is much private discussion. Mrs. Craw for writes that on her arrival at the railway station at Nice the Quee seemed unable to raise her head. Sh looked up and around under her eyelid as if wanting strength to look other wise. One might have thought that she did not feel her feet under her a with the assistance of her servants sh tried to decend the sloping gangwa from the train into the station. It well known among those familiar with court affairs that rheumatism of th knees has lately not only develope complete loss of power over both leg but has extended to the back and arm and that a fatal issue is to be feared a almost any time.

The reports of the Queen's conditio seriously affects the Parliamentary si uation. On the death of the sovereig dissolved This contingency is undoubtedly an in is charged with sensational possibili

THE CHITRAL DIFFICULTY.

LONDON, March 24.—News from In dia enforces upon the public mind wha day morning fire totally destroyed the specialists have been pointing out fo barn belonging to Andrew Pickeds, two a fortnght, that the latest litle war in Chitral is to be an important, even sol emn, affair. It was part of the presen India scheme of a sientific frontier that this remote district lying perched high on the slope of the Hindoo-Koosh range should be in British hands, and since last year, when a dynasty upheaval with the customary assassinations and usurpation took place, a British resi dent has been stationed there with 500 men. The Chitrals themselve were supposed to be hostile, but alone hardly able to defy British authority, but a powerful outsider, Umra Khan, has wandered in from Bajaur, occupied all the passes and killed nearly the whole of the first Indo-British force with which he has come in contact. A column of 14,000 troops is on the point of marching from Peshawaur to dislodge him and chase him out, but to reach him it must traverse a bad country, ruled by the Akoond of Swat, that mysterious personage whose father gave the late George T. Lanigan such fun, and it is predicted by experts here that the force will have all its work cut out to do that alone, let alone whip Umra Khan afterward. It is hoped that the Afghans will co-operate with the English in the latter task, but even if they do it there is certain to be a long campaign of heavy fighting, with heavy expenditure of British lives and Indian rupees. What makes it worse is that there is a great majority of Indian authorities always opposed to going to Chitral at all. BISMARCK'S BIRTHDAY. BERLIN, March 24.—The result of the vote in the Reichstag was conveyed to Emperor William, whose intense annoyance can be judged by the following telegram which he immediately penned and caused to be forwarded to Prince

"Prince von Bismarck, Duke von Lau-enberg-Friedrichshrue: "I have to convey to your serene highness the expression of my most profound indignation at the resolution which the Reichstag has just adopted. It is in most complete opposition to the feelings of all the German princes and people.

"WILHELM."

The rejection of the motion is certain to cause a great deal of feeling in the country. Richter, the Radical leader. foresaw this when, a few days ago, he explained the reasons why the Radicals yould oppose the proposition. He sail that it was not a question of politeness toward an aged statesman. Prince Bis-marck, he claimed, still represents certain political principles, and his great personality cannot be divided into the Bismarck who achieved so much in behalf of German unity and the Bismarck who has been so thoroughly hostile to Liberalism. Richter said: "He does not regard his political career as finished. He takes every opportunity of influencing public opinion by the authority of his name, in favor of a policy which the Liberals have to combat almost daily." It is now decided that Emperor William will visit Prince Bismarck next Tuesday, taking with him nis elder son, flagrations.

EXETER, Ont., March 24.—The Main Street Methodist Church is in ruins. This morning about a quarter to 4 it was discovered that the Main Street Methodist Church was on fire, and by the time the brigade arrived the building was one mass of flames, with the fire breaking through the roof and the lames creeping up the tower. The fire brigade was powerless to save the church, as the conflagration had made such headway before being discovered, they prevented it from spreading. This contingency is undoubtedly an important factor in all present calculations. The political present calculations as there had been no fire in it since tions. AN AWFUL DEATH.

An Omaha Man Imprisoned by Flames

The Doors Barred. OMAHA, Neb., March 25 .- Cornelius McGuire, a well-known machinist, was yesterday morning virtually burned to death in his shop, where he was sleeping in the absence of his family in Chicago. The doors and windows had been barred from the outside and the house was fired by some unknown person. Unable to get out of the front door, he rushed through the fire to the rear, but found the heat and smoke stifling. McGuire's night-clothes were on fire and his body was being burned in a horrible manner. Crazed with pain, he made a last effort to escape and again rushed through the flames to the front part of the building, where he hurled himself against the door and burst it open. With the aid of his hands and knees he made his way to parties a block distant. He died soon after. There is no clue to the

It Has Been Fatal to Many Industries. (From the Hamilton Times.)

There are few industries in Hamilton doing as well under protection today as they did under the revenue tariff previous to 1879. Take the foundry and furniture trades, for instance. In the four years preceding 1879, every foundry in Hamilton was enlarged, and those establishments supplied employment all the year round, except during a lay-off of a couple of weeks at Christmas for stock-taking. Today the Stewart foundry premises and the Laidlaw foundry premises are empty, and the Williams foundry premises are occupied by a blacking and essence factory, removed to it from another part of the city. Nobody would think of erecting a new foundry under present circumstances, for the old ones are busy less than twothirds of the year. Under the low tariff Hoodless & Son enlarged their furniture business and opened their big warehouse on King street. J. Zingsheim made the money with which he afterwards built and equipped his splendid furniture factory (now empty and dismantled) on Mary street. Who would put a dollar into a new furniture factory today? Our sewing machine industry, which used to employ several hundred men at good wages when the tariff was low, has "gone where the woodbine twineth" under protection. One of the sewing machine buildings is used for law offices, another for a livery stable, a third for a laundry and electric light factory, a fourth as a tin shop, and the biggest one of all, down on Barton street, has been empty for years, eating its head off with taxes and interest. Hamilton Grits may be pardoned for thinking that factories would be better off under a low tariff than under high protection; their condition could hardly be worse than it is today, under any system.

IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

Federation. ST. JOHNS, Nfld., March 24 -The public meeting under the auspices of the Anti-Confederation League, which opposed the plan for the union of Newfoundland with Canada, was one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held here. Resolutions were passed requesting the Colonial Government not to send the Confederation delegates to Canada, but to ask, instead, for a royal commission from England. The anti-confederation feeling is evidently very strong, and the plan of sending a delegation to Ottawa decidedly unpopular. However, popular clamor seems likely to prove of no avail. In all probability the delegation, which is already named, will soon proceed to Ottawa. Premier Sir Wm. Whiteway continues very ill, and cannot accompany his col-leagues in the delegation when they leave Newfoundland, but intends following them when sufficiently recovered. Besides the Premier, the delegation as named will consist of Messrs. Robert Bond, Geo. Emerson and Edward Morris. It is understood that the Government has not yet asked for the co-operation of the Opposition as regards Confederation, and is not likely to do

TRAGEDY IN TORONTO.

Murder and Suicide-The Result of Jealousy. TORONTO, March 24.—The city was shocked today by the news of a murder and suicide. The victims of the tragedy are John Bell and Sarah Swallow. They had been living together as man and wife and were this morning found dead in bed, their heads almost severed from their bodies and an abundance of evidence to show that the woman had been killed by her companion, who had then immediately slain himself. In a corner of the same room a couple of innocent children, 4 and 6 years old, were playing with picture blocks, all unconscious deceased husband. Bell had lately been drinking hard and Mrs. Swallow had become anxious to get rid of him. She had also taken up with another man named William Gorrie. The two men had lately quarreled and fought, and the terrible crime was probably the result of jealousy on the part of Bell.

THE KENT CASE.

A Report That Several Similar Case Will Soon be Made Public.

OTTAWA, March 23.—There seems to be very little doubt that several new cases of recovery from those terrible diseases, diabetes and Bright's disease, in this locality through the means of Dodd's Kidney Pills will very shortly find their way into the columns of the newspapers, and will almost rival in interest to the public the now celebrated case of Mr. G. H. Kent, who has made such a wonderful recovery from the latter disease by using the admirable and efficacious remedy above mentioned. It is said that several persons who have received the greatest benefit from its use are meditating making public the details of their cure, in order that the thousands of their fellow-creatures who are suffering from the same complaints may be enabled to participate in the great blessings conferred, and may find an easy and inexpensive road to health

Participation In the Corsican Uprising Costs His Commission In the French Army - Imbued With Revolutionary Ideas-Vagaries of a Genius.

[Copyright, 1895, by John Clark Ridpath.] VI.—GENIUS IN A QUANDARY.

At this stage, rapidity becomes the chief characteristic of Bonaparte. He darts from place to place with astonishing celerity, and in many instances with insufficient or undiscoverable motives of transit.

His flights are like those of a bird; say, an eagle's. Thus during his stay in Corsica he suddenly springs off, in October of 1787, and is at Paris for more than a month. But at Christmas he is back at Ajaccio with an extension of his leave of absence. Again, during his stay at Auxonne, he speeds away for fifteen days to Seurre, in command of a small detachment to suppress a riot. These movements are premonitory of those extraordinary Imperial flights with which he subsequently startles all Europe and the world.

The stay at Auxonne extended with the brief interruption referred to, from May of 1788 to September of 1789-a period of fifteen months. His occupations at that place were much like those at Valence and Ajaccio. He performed his military duties in a desultory way, but with more exactitude than the French code of military ethics at that time required. But military duty demanded only a fraction of his time; the

The winter of 1788-89 was passed by Bonaparte in his quarters at Auxonne. As yet, Lieutenant Bonaparte had never as a soldier drawn blood, or seen it is small, treacherous, chaotic. From mondethieves in America. Mr. Hutton bore him rapidly on to action. His passion for doing something and for "following his destiny"-a fiction which he was always dwelling upon—led him he was always dwelling upon—led him to commit himself (ambiguously) to the sal dissolution he must at once have suf-Corsican patriots. His adroitness was such, however, that he kept ever a cord to his purposes whereby he might recover himself for France. In fact, he knew not what thing he would be called to do, or in what cause his sword should first be actually unsheathed. His nature He then devised a plausible excuse was always to avail himself of the first contingency. Napoleon is doubtlesssuch was his sleepless vigilance—the only great man of history who never lost an opportunity!

Bonaparte was with his regiment, socalled "of Iron," at Auxonne, when the great Revolution in France began. Within a month from the trifling event at Seurre, the States-General assembled at Versailles. There, on the 5th of May, 1789, the most remarkable political body of modern times went into session, on the condition of France and mankind. There was a procession of great men; a gathering to their seats in the Hall of Menus; a seating of six hundred representatives of the people; a looking down from the gallery of the young Baroness de Stael-Holstein on the heads of Riquetti de Mirabeau, the philosophic Volney, the lean Jean Paul Marat, the big young Danton of Arcis-sur-Aube, the lithe Camille, the Sea-green Robespierre, and the rest. It was the beginning of the end of much—the opening of a small crevasse in the great dyke whereby a feudal civilization had walled in the destinies of mankind for centuries. Outside that ancient wall lay the roaring ocean, soon to lion. This sentiment was fanned by a rush in wave on wave, till the deluge, flecked with blood, should rise to the pinnacles of all palaces, and splash the domes of all cathedrals.

The effects of the extraordinary movement thus begun for the reform of the French nation were strikingly diverse in the different parts of the kingdom. France was as yet homogeneous in nothing. The towns of the South, under the loyal sentiments of the old Provencal race, received the news in one spirit, and the towns of the North in another.

On men themselves the news fell from week to week with varying effects according to their personal characters and prejudice of race. In general, they who had imbibed the principles of the new French philosophy either went after the Revolution or ran before it waving a flag. Such a mind was Bonaparte's. No doubt he was a born revolutionistprovided always he could himself control the revolution. His nature was fitted in every part for that state of fruitful anarchy which tends again to order. He was essentially a man for the storm and hurricane, but suited best the after stages of the tempest.

Would not this revolutionary fire in France leap the sea and kinule itself in Corsica? Does not occasion now offer for the recovery of Corsican independence? Does not the path of destiny open by way of Ajaccio rather than by way of.

No buffet should be without a bottle of Dr. Seigert's Angostura Bitters, the South American appetizer and invigorator.

NAPOLEON BONAPARTE. Paris? Or if the cause indeed lies by way of Paris, does it not first extend through the native island? The patriot Paoli resides in English exile; perhaps he may return to Corsica, and we as his lieutenant-in-chief may yet lead the patriots to independence and glory. To sum up all, Napoleon at this stage was whirled along by the coming storm; but he cautiously kept his bearings, became practical rather than theoretical, and impatiently awaited the opportunity to become great.

Lieutenant Bonaparte remained with his regiment at Auxonne until the 15th of September, 1790. The Revolution had now been in progress a year and four months. The movement had become more and more portentous at every step. The ruined Bastile was already a hateful, but glorious, reminiscence. At this time Corsica was represented in the National Assembly by two moderate patriots, named Salicetti and Colona. The royal delegate from the island was that Buttafuoco whom Choiseul had used in establishing the French protectorate in

The people of the island were divided into several hostile factions. First of all, there was a royal faction, very few in number, composed of the petty Corsican nobles and the higher ecclesiastics. These virtually constituted the insular Arrest "government." Secondly, there was a moderate party favorable to liberalism, but supporting the French protectorate. In the third place, there was a powerful Who Has Been Operating on Both Sides revolutionary party, favoring absolute independence, and seeking by the recall of Paoli to overthrow all foreign author- HAMILTON, Ont., March 24.—The

Such had been the shifting connection of Lieutenant Bonaparte with the Iron Regiment that he was almost an unrecognized force in his own division of the army. His absences from the command had far exceeded in duration his presence with it. On returning to France, he was assigned to the Fourth Regiment of artillery, stationed at Valence. His irregularities as an officer had not so far prevailed over the opinion of his great abilities and solid acquirements as to prevent his promotion at this time to the rank of lieutenant en premier.

On the political side, Napoleon was now drawn with great force towards the Revolutionary party in France. Perhaps the notion dawned in him that with the success of the Revolution and the rebuilding of the nation on a new republican basis, Corsica herself, by like revolt and renovation, might join in the common movement to greater advantage than could be gained by naked rebelproposition made at this time in the Assembly to enlarge the titles of the "King of the French" by adding the names of the Navarrese and Corsicans formally to the list of his subjects. All such intermediary projects came to naught with the ourushing of the Revolution. They were soon swallowed up with the King himself and all kingly things in the deep hell-throat that open-

But ever and anon the Corsica trend was strong on Lieutenant Bonaparte. Hardly had he got his place in the Fourth Regiment, at Valence, until he broke away again for his native island. There the stage of actual tumult had come. Napoleon was elected lieutenantcolonel of the Second Battalion of the Corsican army. He cautiously accepted the post, but at the same time kept his eye fixed on France. Then, after holding his place in the army of insurgents for less than a month, he suddenly sped away to his regiment on the Rhone. Arriving, he found himself dismissed from the service! HAMILTON, Ont., March 24.—The police made an important arrest of one of a gang of clever jewelry swindlers who have been operating successfully in the United States recently. The arrest was made at St. Mary, from which place the swindler was operating. The swindler's real name is J. G. Lucien. That obstinate personage had withdrawn from the military academy at Brienne, but had failed to secure admission to the theological school at Aix. There he was in poverty and hopelessness, when Napoleon came and conducted him back to Ajaccio. The latter, at Marseilles, visited the Abbe Raynal; but there is no record of what occurred. Once at home, the young French officer was recognized as a man of importance; for he was the only Frenchman in the island possessing a thorough military education.

The project was now on for the organization of the Corsican militia; and Napoleon was necessary for success. According to a Winnipeg Conservative correspondent, "W. B. Scarth, of Winnipeg, who, it was thought, would be appointed Governor, has wired to friends there that Hon. Mr. Patterson has been appointed. The announcement is a great surprise, Mr. Patterson being unknown to the people." Mr. Patterson has really retired. There will be a bye-election in West Huron and another in Haldimand, where Mr. Montague will run as Secretary of State. Mr. Patterson knows the state of affairs in Ontario, naving been confidential agent for the Government, and he has prudently "stood from under."

THE QUEEN'S ILLNESS. The news regarding the condition of Queen Victoria, sent by cable, is alarming. Courtiers and attendants on royalty are prone to keep pack intelligence regarding the physical condition of the sovereign, and there may be much truth in the statement now made that the health of the Queen is decidedly unsatisfactory, and that a fatal result, or, at least, an early retirement, is among the probabilities.

Victoria has been a model sovereign, and there will be general regret when she is compelled to lay down the scepter. Yet it cannot be said that she has not enjoyed a long and eventful reign-a reign fraught, in the main, with good results to humanity, and more particularly to the people over whom she was set at the early age of 19.

With one exception, no other sovereign in the 1,000 odd years which have elapsed since the Saxons and Danes arrived in England has reigned for so long a period as Queen Victoria. Henry III. seigned 56 years, but nine of them elapsed before he was of age. Edward III. reigned for 50 years, and Queen Elizabeth was on the throne 44 years. Then George III, reigned 59 years, but the concluding nine were under a regency, necessitated by the clouded reason of the sovereign, George III. alone has a longer reign credited to him than Queen Victoria, who has now been sovereign of Great Britain for 58 years. Then her Majesty has attained an age that few British sovereigns have reached. On May 24 next she will be 76. It is remarkable that only two British sovereigns have held sway till they reached that age. Only four reigned till they were 70 years of age. Elizabeth was 70 when she died, George II. was 77, George III. was 22, and William IV., who immediately preceded the Queen, was 72 when he passed away. Thus, in the natural order of things, the Queen has enjoyed an unusually long life and n unusually long reign.

AGAINST EQUAL RIGHTS. -The Hungarian House of Magnates proved on Saturday that their country was behind Great Britain and her colonies in the matter of religious toleration. By a small majority, the House refused to give to the Jewish population equal rights with Christians. This unfair discrimination injures the reputation of any country, and even Huncary seems to be moving towards get-

MARRIAGE DISCOURAGED.

In the Illinois Legislature a bill has prought in providing for a special tax on bachelors, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the establishment of a home for old maids. There is another and a better way to encourage marriage. The matrimonially inclined are handicapped by tax burdens in the United States and both in this country. These increase the cost of living, decrease the demand for goods, decrease the opportunities to make and to keep a home in comfort. Here is something for thoughful parents to ponder over.

TWO "GRAND OLD MEN." Those members of the German Parliament who opposed and rejected a motion to congratulate Prince Bismarck on the occasion of his birthday had probably no great antipathy to him. They may have remembered the time when he, all-powerful, trampled every desire of those opposed to his views under foot. At the same time, it cannot be denied that Bismarck was the chief spirit in the unification of Germany, and for that alone he deserves well of his country in his declining years. The British are kinder to their statesmen when they go into retirement. Gladstone is today the most talked of man in Great Britain, and all but a very few of even his opponents recognize his greatness, and the disinterestedness of the service for his native land. If a vote of congratulation to him, on his having reached another birthday, were moved in the British House of Commons, we do not doubt that it would be carried unanimously, NEWFOUNDLAND COURTSHIP. It would seem that Canada's wooing of Newfoundland has not, so far, proeeeded with any greater smoothness than was exemplified in the courting of the recalcitrant Catherine by King Harry. The inhabitants of the island, in large numbers, have been holding indignation meetings protesting that they have no desire to be annexed to the Dominion. They may, however, have method in their protestations. The agitators may honestly not wish to join this country. They may wish to get better terms from the Canadian taxpayers than would otherwise be obtained if they seemed anxious to come in. They may desire the greater market of the United States, which was provided for in the Bond-Blaine treaty the Ottawa authorities managed to have vetoed. What concerns the people of Canada are the terms that may be proposed to the Newfoundlanders, terms may cast upon us, and the question whether or not we should have an-English market goes against the ship- is completely out of the hands of the

One child survives him, the wife of Hon. John W. Norman, a member of the present Legislature.

A BALL OF SNAKES. SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 23-The dam builders at the Lake Mesa reservoir exploded a large charge of pow-der recently among the rocks. A large black ball was shot high into the air. The blasters wondered what it was. When the ball struck the earth it unravelled into dozens of rattlesnakes, and as the reptiles glided away in their efforts to escape the workmen killed a score or more with their shovels, It is estimated that the ball of hibernating snakes contained 50 or more who were enjoying a winter siesta in the den destroyed by the blast.

Powerful Sermon by a Notable Chicago Preacher.

Church Parade of the R. C. R. I.-N.tes.

Like all good things, the jubilee services of the Talbot Street Bajtist Church had to come to a conclusion.

Last Sunday morning the attieth amiversary of the church's existence was begun with a process. begun with special services, at which Rev. W. H. Porter, of Brantford, and a former pastor of Talbot Steet, preached. Every night during the week, Saturday excepted the church rest the Saturday excepted, the church was the scene of large meetings, in which bading Baptist workers of this city and other places figured. Yesterday was the concluding day, and no less ditinguished a clarge and no less distinguished a guished a clergyman than Rev. W. M. Lawrence, D.D., occupied the pupit, from whose addresses an intellectual treat was assured. Dr. Lawrene is pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Chicago Chicago, which has a membershi of 1,700, and actively connected with which are several ex-members of Tabot Street. He is an orator of the first rank. Possessed of a rich, ringing voice, he held the close attention of two large audiences to his remarkable discourses. interpersed at intervals with beaulful illustrations. His sermons were eninently fitted to mark the fiftieth anniverary of the church's birth and to launch it past the turning post and start it on the second half century of its

In the morning the weather was bright and springlike, the occasion was necessarily one of rare occurrence, and all the conditions were favorable for a large attendance. The jubilee decoration still marked the recess in which the platform and baptistry are situated, while a number of flowers lent their bloom and beauty to the sene. When the five ministers had taken their places services were begun by singing "Praise God From Whon All Blessings Flow.' Rev. Ira Smith, the pator, lead in an earnest prayer; then came a hymn and responsive reiding of Psalm ciii.; Rev. W. M. Walker, of South London Church, read from I.Cor., xiii.; Rev. T. W. Charleswortl, of Grosvenor Street, offered prayer and Rev. D. M. Mihell, of Adelaide street Church, gave out another hymn. Pastor Ira Smith then spoke a few words of kindly welcome to the numerous tepresentatives of other churches present, and introduced the peacher of the day, Rev. W. M. Lawrence, D.D., of Cheago. Much had been said of Rev. Dr. Law-rence's ability as a preacher, and his clear, logical and eloquent discourses yesterday justified all that has been spoken in his favor. The preacher took for his text II. Cor. xii., 14—"I seek not you but yours." In strong and vivid lines the speaker pictured the apostle of the Gentiles, both before and after his conversion. "Great minds," he said, sometimes evidence themselves in a single sentence," and so the text was an index of Paul's character. Then he pointed out the apostle's striking traits -his indemitable courage, his wholesouled devotion, and his thorough disinterestedness. In the depth of his love for his Saviour, he wanted to present to Christ that gift which was the most valuable—a human soul; and his love for those whom he addresed he wanted to present to them the Christ-God's greatest gift to humanity.

In the course of the reverend gentleman's remarks a murmur of applause passed through the audience as, in reference to Sabbath keeping, he said that he had come to the Dominion of Canada to see Sunday observed. Good music was rendered by the choir, who were materially strengthened by singers from the other Baptist churches of the city. In the afternoon Dr. Lawrence and Mr. P. A. Rowe (the latter an old-time member of Talbot Street, but low of Dr. Lawrence's congregation) gave interesting addresses to the Sunday school children.

The sudden change of weather about church time in the evening did not appear to affect the attendance to any extent. After the usual singing and Bible reading Mr. Wilfrid Blaikie sang "Hosanna." Rev. Ira Smith urged a liberal collection so that all expenses in connection with the celebration could be met. "It has been a remarkable week, indeed," he said. I want to thank God and every one who has nelped in these services. I want to thank my brethren who have come from a distance to help us. I want to thank the newspapers for the part they have taken in the celebration, and also the deacons and members of this church ho have aided in the extra work which has necessarily fallen upon the pastor."

Dr. Lawrence took as his text Luke xv., 8, 9, 10, in which is recited the parable of the woman who, losing one piece of silver, searches diligently until she finds it, and then calls ner friends and neighbors to rejoice with her. Dr. Lawrence first called special attention to the significance of several points, and in speaking of the Holy Land, said that the ordinary abode there was lacking of windows. The coins used in those days were not representative of investment, but were used as ornaments. They were tied about the waist, neck or forehead, and used as bangles about the wrist, which barbaric practice was in vogue among the women of a few years ago. The speaker next explained the meaning of "lost" as used in the text, and stated that a very wrong idea existed about the word. Then he gave some beautiful illustrations aptly adapted to his text, and speaking of souls, he said it would take the third person of the Trinity to convince some of their condition. "I want to make an allusion," said Dr. Lawrence, "to the experience which I had this afternoon, as I saw throngs returning from church. I said to myself that this was a city where churches were held in some degree of respect. But we are living in an age when it so ns right with some to say everything against the church. If anything goes wrong in social life, the church is blamed; anything wrong in political life, the church is in fauit; or any derangement in financial life, the church is hit." In con-clusion, Dr. Lawrence spoke with eloquence of the great rejoicing which would result over the recovery of one lost soul. "Do not be angry at the truth,' he said. "Do not reel that because the truth is brought close to you that you are the insulted person; do not feel that if the truth is held up to you that you are the aggrieved person."

Sunday morning Adam Dimma and his wife, of Wheatley, were on their way to see the parents of the latter, when within 40 rods of the house the husband suddenly reeled. He was carried into the house, but died before he eached the bed. It has been discovered that Assessor

Wm. Allan at Hamilton last year assessed property belonging to the Grand Trunk on Ferguson avenue at $2,800, when in previous years it had been assessed at $27,000. The change in the figures makes the city lose $484 in taxes on the property. It is supposed the assessor intended to fix the value at $28,000, but omitted a cypher. In reply to Windsor petitioners, Superintendent Tait, of the C. P. R., said that he would lay the petition for an elevator before Mr. Van Horne, but he held out no hope that anything in the matter would be done this year. Even parents are eaten by their children on the first sign of approaching decrepitude. Ngandu is approached by a handsome pavement of human skulls, the top being the only part showing above the ground. We counted more than a thousand in the pavement. Almost every tree is crownwith a human skull.

found that Lusuna had died about ten months before, and we were told that when he was buried his followers cut the throats of 100 men and placed them in the grave. They laid the chief's body on top and then threw in 100 live women, filled up the whole and built a splendid house upon the place.

"Not very far from Mona Chellios wa came upon two villages of pigmies. In reply to a call from our guide, about 100 men and women came round us. They were friendly on that occasion, but later we learned to know them in other moods. It is a curious fact that they are not afraid of firearms. They drop when they see the flash and then run in and spear or shoot their opponents with their arrows before they have time to reload."

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS. NEW YORK, March 24.-Among the passengers on the steamer Etruria, which arrived at Quarantine last night from Liverpool, are Count Magliano, Hon. Dudley Churchill Marjoribanks and Lady Tweed-

WOMAN SUFFRAGE VICTORY. NEW YORK, March 24.-Mr. Hamilton Wilcox, the well-known woman suffragist, has received a cablegram from the agent general of South Australia at London announcing that Queen Victoria has given her consent to the bill which passed the parliament of South Australia, relieving women entirely from disfranchisement and securing them the same suffrage and on the same terms with their brothers, and that this bill is now a law.

TO TAX BACHELORS. SPRINGFELD, III., March 23.-A bill to tax bachelors and establish an "Old Maids' Home" when the tax fund shall have reached $50,000 was introduced in the House today by Rep. Walleck. The bill defines bachelors as single men of 23 years or over who have never been married, and exempts men who have reached 65 who are physically unfit, or who can prove to a board of unmarried women over 60 years that they have proposed marriage at least thee times to marriageable females and heen refused each time.

FIVE MEN DROWNED. VICTORIA, March 23 .- The tug Velos, with the barge Pilot in tow, left this city last evening for Haddington Island to procure a cargo of stone for the new Parliament building. On board the tug were Contractor Adams, Capt. Anderson, Mate Christensen, Engineer Low and three others, members of the crew. When passing Trial Island the tug was dashed by the strong tide against the rock. The barge had 25 stone cutters and laborers aboard. The barge drifted, breaking the hawser, and went ashore or Trial Island, all who had been aboard of her escaping to shore. The men who had reached shore had no boat and could do nothing to assist the unfortunate six left aboard the tug, of whom Capt. Anderson is the only survivor.

PRESIDENT FAURE, of France, is adding to his popularity by visiting the hospitals of Paris. He enters a hospital, speaks encouragingly to the patients, leaves money to be spent in wine and tobacco for their use, and frequently goes into the kitchen to taste the food served to the inmates. Whenever he leaves a hospital he finds a crowd of citizens outside waiting to cheer him as he enters his carriage. THERE are many Canadians who, possessing pleasant and cherished memories of Stratford-upon-Avon, will hear with sorrow of the death of the old parish clerk and sexton of the Shakespeare Church, William Butcher. He was a familiar figure in Stratford, and he seemed in a special sense appropriate to the place. He was a man of venerable aspect, gentle disposition and quaint man-He moved about the old church in a slow, decorous way, he knew its history, and he loved and venerated its antiquities and its hallowing associatons. He impressed the beholder as a part of its traditions.

Some Little Tales Having a Laugh and Moral in Them.

Watts-I see that some one has invented an automatic cradle for rocking the baby. I wonder if it would be an infringement if a fellow were to get up an automatic spanking machine?

Potts-It wouldn't be an infringement but neither would it sell. What satisfaction would an outraged parent get out of a mere machine?

A New Material for Safes. Bank President-Well, I should think there be might found a material that burglars couldn't drill a hole through and blow to pieces. Junior Clerk - (modestly)-I think I know something, sir.

President-Ah? Junior Clerk.-Yes, sir. Suppose you come up and try my wife's pie crust."-Roxbury News.

A Matrimonial Equation. Aunt (who knows her niece's age)-How is it, Laura, that you are going to marry a man younger than yourself? Niece-That isn't so. He is the same Aunt-How do you make that out? Isn't he 27, while you are 36? Niece-That's all right, but these dul! times everything is going at a quarter off, you know. - Exchange.

A Sure Cure. Two married ladies were talking about their respective and respected lords. "Does your husband forget things?"

asked one "Never," said the other. "Well, mine does. I think there is hardly a day when he comes home from his office that he doesn't forget to apologize for his forgetfulness. Of course, I have to accept the apology on his promise to do better, and the next day the very same thing occurs. "That must be extremely annoying." "It is. Sometimes I get so vexed with him that I really have to scold him."

"And that never is pleasant." "I should say not. I'd rather be anything else than a scold, but some husbands actually drive their wives to it. I've been married ten years and sometimes I almost fear if he doesn't improve he will have my temper utterly spoiled."

"I've been married a dozen years and I never have any such trouble.' "Maybe your husabnd is an exception." "No; he's only average as married men

'Wasn't he ever forgetful?" "He was at first, but I cured him of it." "Gracious, I thought it was incurable." "Oh, no. You can cure him easily if you will use my remedy." "I'm sure I'll only be too glad to. What is it?" "Never ask him to get anything for Get it yourself. He has enough to think about without being an errand 'Oh," exclaimed the first woman, and remained silent for as much as two min-

IN MEMORY OF NELSON.

Englishmen Again Preparing to Honer Their Great Sea Captain's Name. They are raising money in England to a memorial to Nelson, the hero of Trafalgar, a Burnham Thorpe, in Norfolk. The memorial is, in fact, partly built already, but the work has lagged, as such things will, and a good deal of money is still needed to finish it. There exists already a memorial hall in the village, and the church in which Nelson's father ministered has been repaired with funds contributed in token of respect to the great admiral's memory. Now, at a time when Englishmen are taking more interest than ever in their navy, it has been deemed eminently proper to complete the memorial, and a bazaar and exhibition of Nelson's relics has been held in the official apartments of the first lord of the admiralty. A great many interesting rolics were contributed, including the register of baptisms from Burnham Thorpe

CASKET MADE FROM THE OAK OF THE VE TORY.

Church, containing this entry; "Horatio, son of Edmund and Catherine Nelson; born Sept. 29; privately baptized Oct. 5, publicly Nov. 15, 1758." A note in the margin, probably written by one of the women of his family, adds: "Invested with the ensigns of the most honorable Order of the Bath of St. James, Sept. 27, 1797; made rear admiral of the blue, 1797. created Lord Nelson of the Nile and of Burnham Thorpe Oct. 6, 1798. Coeters. enarret fama."

Shingles for Dishes. It is now a fashion in the shingle districts to use cedar shingles at church socials, musical and literary entertainments, where the programme concludes with refreshments. The shingle is used as a food tray, and is coming into general popularity at church socials. There is always a disposition on the part of some of the ungodly who attend church socials to steal plates on which the refreshments are served, but when the lukewarm coffee and ancient sandwiches are passed around on a cedar shingle worth about ninety cents a thouand, even the small boy has no desire to steal his plate.-West Coast Lumberman.

Money Coined. Since the organization of the United States mint in 1793 it has coined of gold $1,612,405,875.50, and of silver $669,929,323.

Queen Victoria's will, written on vellum and neatly bound, is enclosed in a casket secured by a Chubb lock.

WHY HE ENJOYED THE LECTURE. "I was in Pittsburg once when a young man came up to me after my lecture and congratulated me because of the lovely evening he had enjoyed.

"'Why do you say so?'" I queried.

"Because all the relatives of my girl went to hear you, and left us alone together." -Max O'Rell.

A Case of Kidney Complaint that would Not Yield to Surgery or Medicine until B. B. B. was Tried.

GENTLEMEN—After having undergone two operations for Kidney Complaint without securing the least relief, and hearing of some remarkable cures made by B. B. in our neighborhood, I decided to rry it. I was given up by the doctors after the operations failed, and it was providential that I heard of B. B. After the use of six bottles I experienced so great relief and so great a change for the better that I felt the good effects would be lasting, as indeed they have been. The seventh bottle perfectly cured me, and I am now stronger and better than I ever was before. People who saw me before I took B. B. B. and who see me now can scarcely believe that I am the same person.

The recovery which was due in wheat took place today. No extraordinary or influential trading was noticeable, but the aggregate or scattering orders was of fair proportion. Corn—Shorts covered corn because that class of traders in wheat were similarly bent. The situation presented no particular change, and only a small share of the business came from the outside. Oats—Prices were dependent on wheat and corn for motive and tone.

Canadian Bacon in England

Canadian Bacon in England. The improvement referred to in last week's issue has been taken up by our London correspondent, who says there is a much better inquiry for Canadian bacon than for a better inquiry for Canadian bacon than for a long time past; and we would especially draw attention to the statement that "the demand runs on lean" bacon, which brings 42s to 46s down to 38s and 42s, fat and stout being difficult to sell at 35s to 37s. One large curing establishment here is shipping both hams and bacon more liberally to the English market, in response to the better demand there. Let Canadian hams and bacon once become more widely known in the British markets and the demand therefore will be almost unlimited.—

RIDER HAGGARD'S BROTHER Didn't Meet With Much Encouragement trom Chicago Editors.

It was a young Englishman who came and sat upon the desk of one of the editorial writers of the Tribune. "I'm Rider Haggard's brother," by way of introductionsaid this young man whose manners were as fresh as his complexion. "Haggard, the novelist, you know. I'm over here to see the country, and mayhap I'll settle down after a bit, but I fancy not. The country is so rough and the people so beastly uncivilized," and he swung himself back on the desk and began swinging his legs.

"My chief objection to the country," replied the editor dipping his pen into the ink and decorating young Mr. Haggard's trousers with the surplus, "is the foreign tourists who overrun it." The visitor, somewhat less buoyant, crossed the hall to a room in which John Fay, correspondent for the New York World, sat at a desk writing. "Hello!" said the young man.

"Hello!" said the other, without looking up.
"I'm Rider Haggard's brother."

Must lot Use the Horse Again-Young Mar Charged with Insanity-Bad Blood Between Gas House Employes.

Luke Fitzgerald, the milkman charged with cuelty to animals, acknowledged to the polce magistrate this morning that he was aware of the horse's condition, but was obliged to work it because he had no other horse. The magistrate told him that that was neexcuse, and, after cautioning him not to se the horse again until it was fit, he suspenced judgment.

John Pennicott, barber, was charged by GeorgeCambridge with non-payment of a week's vages. Cambridge was discharged withou notice, hence the claim. The magistrate and no precedent to go by and dismissed the case.

John Morkin was charged by Edward Morkin his father, with insanity. The unfortunate young man has been in St. Joseph's Hospital for some time, but it was impossible to keep him in the building. He was renanded until March 30.
Albert Hillman, a gas house employe, was arrestel on Saturday evening by P. C. Birrel, on a charge of drunkenness. Shortly afterwards George Nevitt, another gas house employe, laid an information charging Hillman with pointing a revolver at him. Hillman was doubly fortunate lefore the magistrate and was disclosured on both counts and wish discharged on both counts. He denied having pointed a revolver at his workmate, and said that it was a jack-knife that he had puled. There was bad blood between the men and both admitted having a little liquor. The magistrate did not consider the evicence sufficient to convict.

John Sullivan was up again on a charge of vagrancy. When he was arrested a partly-filled bottle of alcohol was found on him. To the magistrate he disclaimed having drunk any of the stuff, saying that he might just as well drink rank poison. The station officials say that the prisoner smelt of the drug when arrested. He was discharged to Joseph Blondin, who claims to hail from Stratforl, was also charged with vagrancy. He appeared to be intelligent and respectable, bu down on his luck.

"You have no money—what are you going to do?" isked the magistrate, in reply to Blondin' pleading to be discharged.
"Well I worked for my bed and supper at the Salvation Army Hotel," said Blondin.
"I have nothing to do, but I will not commit suicide."

He was also discharged to leave town. One drink was discharged.

TALKED OF AGAIN.

25c Per Pound Hospital Trustees Visit Hellmuth Ladies' College,

Council to Purchase the Place-Want Assistance From the County.

The idea of purchasing the grounds and buildings of Hellmuth Ladies' College and turning the same into a new City Hospital has been resuscitated and now promises to come to a head. The Star Insurance Company, of Montr eal which helds a mortgage on the college property, have placed the premises in the hands of A. A. Campbell, and overtures have been in progress for some time between the trustees and Mr. Campbell. On Satur. day the members of the Hospital Trust including Messrs. Lewis, Complin and Gilmour, accompanied by County Engineer Talbot and Fred Henry, of Moore & Henry, visited the college on a tour of inspection. The price asked for the place is $25,000. It is thought that if the change is made from the present site to the proposed one the apathy exhibited by the county council will disappear. As it is at present the county will have nothing to do with enlarging the present institution.

"Middlesex is a rich county and should do something towards a new hospital," said a man well versed in hospital affairs today. It is thought that the scheme will be favorably received by the county authorities. The matter of the proposed altera-tions on the old hospital, which would cost $15,000 or $16,000, will be held in abeyance until the report of Mr. Henry on the college building is received. This money would go far towards purchasing the magnificent property. The college structure is far more suitable for hospital purposes than the present one. Situated on a fine bluff overlooking the river its position is eminently healthful. It is also away from the noise and turmoil of city life, and an electric line would make it quite accessible. The Hospital Trust will consider the matter at its next meeting and probably recommend the purchase to the council. So far as the public.

Mr. Schneitzler's family is away visiting, and he was alone in the house and sleeping upstairs. Every hallway leading from his room was saturated with coal oil and set on fire. The key of the fire alarm box for that precinct was plugged, so that no alarm could be turned in. Fortunately a railroad man saw the fire, broke open the alarm box and brought out the fire department. Schneitzler, who weighs more than 400 pounds, was not able to escape, but two firemen ran through the blaze and carried him out. All three men were badly

FASHIONABLE TAILORS, 384 Richmond St.

"I suppose," said Moncrief to himself, "that she will live and die, be married and buried, in Dundee." He himself had a strong dislike to the great manufacturers. "With that sweet face, she deserves a better fate than one of uninterrupted, commonplace middle-class presperity. Yet—what safer and happier fate could I wish for her, poor

He had no premonition that he himself was destined to be one of the determining factors in Stella Raeburn's fate. There seemed at present no point at which her life was likely to touch his own. He was to stay a night only in Dundee; he had come thither on business, and it might be months before he came again. He and his family mixed little in society, save of the exclusively aristocratic kind. He was not at all likely to encounter the Raeburns amongst his friends, and his house was nearly two hours' journey from Dundee. He thought of her as one might think of a lovely picture hanging on the wall of a gallery, or over the alter in a foreign church; with admiration, with delight, but with no wish to possess it, and no especial desire to analyze the charm that it held for all-comers as well as for himself. He forgot her in five minutes. Why should he think of a manufacturer's daughter whom he had seen, but never spoken to, on board a steamer bound for Dundee?

CHAPTER II.

The golden glow was still resplendent in she west, but the light of day was gradually fading, and here and there lamps twinkled on the rising banks of the river.

"We shall land very soon," said Stella to her companion, as they walked up and down the deck, stopping now and then to look at the men piling cargo and luggage in readiness for disembarkation, or at the vessels that passed them by.

"Very soon," said Hannington. "Don't you think the town is rather picturesque, approached in this way? People say it is like Naples, you know; the houses clustering and the flickering, changing lights, Stella that Huff dared Doty to shoot, with the redown to the water's edge, and the conical hill behind, to represent Vesuvius.

Stella laughed. "Has Naples those tall factory chimneys?" she asked. "Ah, the factory chimneys! After all, they are important parts of the landscape;

Vesuvius itself. Miss Raeburn," said John Hannington, in a suddenly different tone, "may I ask what your arrangements are? Do you expect anybody to meet you?"
"Oh, yes, I expect my father," said the girl, with a thrill of happy feeling in her voice. "He is sure to come. I have not seen him for four years.' "You have been abroad, I think you said the other day." "I have been at school in Brussels. In the holidays I traveled about with Madame Beauvais and the other girls. We went to Switzerland one summer, to Germany another, and to Paris. Then in winter, to Italy, Florence, Venice and Rome. Oh,"with a pretty smile—"I have seen a great deal of the world." Hannington smiled too. But he was not going to pursue the subject of her travels.

"And now you are to settle down in Dundee. Your father's house is at the west end of the town, I believe? You will be out of the smoke there."

"Yes, I suppose so. I have not seen it. Papa removed to Thornbank when I was away. We had a dear, gloomy old house in the Nethergate before,

"And you will be mistress and queen of Thornbank, I suppose?" said Hannington, pensively.
Stella blushed a little. "My aunt lives there. I think she is queen of the house. Dear aunt Jacky! I have not seen her since I was fifteen.'

"You will allow me, perhaps," said her companion, in a formal tone, "to call and inquire how you have borne the fatigue of your long journey from Brussels, and to make acquaintance with Miss-Miss Rae-

"Miss Raeburn? Miss Jacquetta Rae-burn!" said Stella, merrily. "You must re-member that she is not Miss Raeburn; she is very particular about the title. I am sure she will be exceedingly pleased to see you."

"And you," said Hanning ton, dropping his voice almost to a whisper, "will you be pleased to see me, too, Stella?"

She started and moved a step or two away from him. They had been standing still for the last few minutes. The man followed her closely. He was not going to let her escape

"Forgive me if I have gone too far," said "But will you not give me one word of comfort? Will you not say that you will be glad to see me too?"

There was so much noise about them, so much talking, so much shouting of orders, dragging of chains, bumping of bales and poxes, creaking of machinery, that he had to approach her very closely to hear the faintly murmured "Yes" that fell from Stella's lips. Her slim, ungloved hand hung at her side. It was easy in the gathering twilight to take it unobserved in his own, and to hold it for a minute or two in a very tender clasp. To Stella's simple soul, the action seemed like a ceremony of betrothal Was she too quickly won? She had know n

John Hannington for less than six and thirty hours. She had come on board the Britannia with her friend, Mrs. Muir, on Wednesday morning at ten o'ciock, and it was now Thursday night. Mr. Hannington and Mrs. Muir were old acquaintances, it appeared, and he had at once attached himself to them—or perhaps it should be said that Mrs. Muir had at once retained him for her service. Ever since that Wednesday morning, he had been in their company at every possible moment. And the days at sea are very long! Two whole mornings, afternoons, evenings, had John Hannington sat on Stella Raeburn's side, walked with her on deck, whispered soft sentences into her ear under the shade of the same great white umbrella: in fact, as Mrs. Muir noted with delight, he had deliberately laid him-

Stella did not know the meaning of the word flirtation. Her refinement, her thoughtfulness, lifted her out of the region where flirtation or foolishness existed. She did not even know that Mr. Hannington was paying her more attention than was usual on so short an acquaintance. Others watched and wondered and commented, but Stella was ignorant. She only thought, vaguely, that Mr. Hannington was "very kind," and hoped that he would call at Thornbank before he left Dundee.

called her), and apparently he had succeed

Of course Mr. Hannington did not live at Dundee. A commercial, ship-building, jute weaving town had no attraction for him as a place of residence. He was a London man a man about town, a man with a small private fortune (recently impaired by gaming losses), and a reputation that was not quite flawless. He was not 'a bad man,' in the ordinary sense of the word. He was by no means a villain. But he was selfish, callous, worldly, as he had called himself (and as Stella did not believe him); he was still capable, at need, of doing a generous thing, but he had a keen eye for the main chance. He was clever, and, in some people's opinion, handsome, in a dark, hard style, which other people particularly dis-liked; but by young men and young women, who are not generally keen physiognomists, he was admired. Stella Raeburn admired him very much, though he shocked her now and then by his flippant manner of two at the Towers for some shooting The Raeburns were naturally not in the Towers 'set," but Hannington was determined to pursue his acquaintance with the manufacturer's daughter. Stella Raeburn would have money, and Hannington considered himself very poor.

So he held her hand, and she stood silent, with downcast eyes, not drawing her fingers away. Hannington felt them quiver in his hand like a soft, live bird. At this movement, he himself had a moment of tender feeling; it was not very lasting, but while it lasted it was real. He thought to himself that she was a dear little girl, and that he should be very fond of her. He rejected of being a fortune hunter, with disdain. No! he was in love with Stella.

Presently the steamer lay alongside the watched anxiously for the coming of her father. fingering his black moustache, and musing the patient will be around shortly. Doty in jute. "Well, I'm very glad of it," said Mrs. Muir, glancing at Mr. Hannington, "for I am sure I have not seen much of you; I never feel well enough at sea to walk about and enjoy myself like other people. Stella did see, and made an impulsive movement forward, which had to be restrained by the talkative Mrs. Muir. (To be Continued.)

LAMBTON ASSIZES.

The Conn Porgery Case Concluded-Defendant Acquitted After Three Trials.

SARNIA, Ont., March 24.-Yesterday's sitting of the Lambton spring assizes saw the end of the celebrated case of the Queen vs. Conn for torgery and the uttering of forged paper, the jury. after being out three hours, oringing in a verdict of acquittal. John Conn was charged with having, while conducting a banking busines in Alvinston, Ont., forged the name of Anthony Gilroy to notes on the Merchants' Bank of Canada, St. Thomas, many notes turning up after his failure which were not signed by Gilroy and which were very poor imitations of the proper signature. Proceedings were taken against Conn at Detroit, and his extradition was effected after a desperate resistance on the part of Conn. He appeared at the spring assizes a year ago, on which ocasion the jury disagreed. The case against him came up at the fail assizes of 1894 and the jury disagreed again. At the present assizes he was arraigned for the third time, and the trial has been dragging along tediously before Chief Justice Meredith, the evidence being substantially the same as that given at the previous trials, and very much of it being contradictory. Mr. J. A. Roidinson, of St. Thomas, represented the prisoner, and Mr. Lount, Q.C., Toronto, the crown.

BEHIND THE BARS.

A Noted Criminal Convicted and Sent to

DETROIT, Mich., March 24.-Edward Williams, alias McLeod, alias Scott (colored), was convicted by the Recorder's jury yesterday, and soon after noon was sentenced to serve a life term in the Jackson Prison. On Sept. 27 last he assaulted 7-year-old Minnie Binga (also colored), causing injuries from which the child will never recover. He has always been believed by the detectives and officers working on the case to be the murderer of George Lavender, who was found in a recess in a huge pile of stone blocks at the foot of Randolph street two years ago with his head terribly mangled.

Williams was arrested in 1892 for attempting the life of his brother with a hatchet, but the matter was settled.

He was arrested in Rondeau, Ont., at one time and convicted by the Assize Court at Chatham to serve five years for criminal assault. He spent the term in the penitentiary at Kingston and then came here.

A Married Man Paying Attention to a Young Lady.

PORT HURON, Mich., March 24.-Fred Huff was shot in the shoulder by James Doty late Friday evening while the two were having a row on Lapeer avenue, near Ninth street. It appears that Doty had been keeping company with Huff's sister, to which the latter objected, because Doty is the imputation cast on him by his conscience | a married man, although not living with his family the past six years. Friday night they met in the street, when it is claimed Huff began abusing Doty and the latter in sult that he received a 32-caliber bullet in Mr. Hannington watched too, his shoulder. The bullet was extracted and on the subject of dowries and fortunes made | was arrested yesterday while he was boarding a street car to go to the tunnel station.

POISON IN THE PORRIDGE. Singular Fatality at St. Catharine, Quebec.

QUEBEC, March 24.—A strange case of poisoning occurred on Friday at St. Catharine, some 30 miles north of this city. A farmer named Joseph Robitaille having purchased oatmeal from a grocer named Julian, of Port Rouge, partook of it, and finding it bad to the taste, gave it to his dog, which at once gave signs of poisoning. Robitaille vomited copiously, and in spite of doctors' efforts died yesterday. Three more persons are reported ill at Portneuf, having eaten the oatmeal. The merchant cannot account for the poison in the oatmeal. It is thought, however, that as a rule country merchants are obliged to keep all sorts of goods in stock, Julian must have inadvertently thrown in the tin box in which he kept the oatmeal some poison intended for another box. Dr. Fiset, Government analyist, has gone to St. Catherine to hold a post-mortem examination.

WELCOME SPRING RAINS. The sound of thunder was heard over The sound of thunder was heard over London and vicinity during the rain storm of last evening. The spring rains started on Saturday night and lasted several hours. The warm sun of Sunday took up the work where the rain left off and continued until late in the afternoon. Then the sky became clouded and in the evening rain came again accompanied by thunder. The again, accompanied by thunder. The river rose four feet during the day, and, as usual, there was a jam of ice at the Cove bridge. If the ice blockade holds and the rain continues for 24 hours London West may look for its usual spring flood. The snow disappeared rapidly yesterday from the shady sides of the streets. Perhaps the only persons not satisfied with the change are the rink managers.

G. T. R. FITTER CRUSHED. While working between a car and a locomotive in the repairing depart-ment of the Grand Trunk round house on Saturday afternoon, Wm. Benness, a fitter, had a narrow escape from a terrible death. While in this dangerous position an engine backed down against the end of the car, sending it with some force against the second engine and crushing Benness in the center of the body. He was quickly released, and Dr. Moore instantly sum-moned. Benness' mates all thought that several ribs must have snapped, but the doctor found that no bones were broken. However, Benness was pretty badly injured internally, and was removed to his home, 326 Grey street, on a stretcher. Yesterday he was rest-ing quietly, but it will be some time before Mr. Benness will be around again. Had he been in front of the deadwood when the cars came together he would have been probably instantly killed.

PROCEEDS OF THE BIRTHDAY

PARTY. On Saturday morning five members of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Ladies' Aid counted the proceeds of the birthday party held in the City Hall on Friday night. The opening of the hundreds of sacks, sorting out and counting the contents, which were of every denomination under a dollar, was a tremendous task, and was only completed in time to allow of the money being deposited in the bank at the closing hour, 1 o'clock. To say the least, the ladies never expected the party would realize what it did. The total receipts were $371, of which $325 was contained in the sacks, and the balance taken in from the sale of candy. Mrs. (Capt.) Wilson gave $10, and Prof. W. Caven Barron, besides ably assisting in the programme, dropped a $5 bill on the plate.

A "SOCIETY GRIEVANCE." The Toronto Saturday Night says: A very annoying omission on the part of some ladies in Toronto is the neglect to have their address and reception day fully set forth on their visiting cards. The methodical woman keeps her callers' book as carefully as any business man his ledger, and immediately a call is received from a new acquaintance it is entered with the address and reception day or days of the caller. How provoking to glance at the card left by such caller and find only "Mrs. Smith" or "Mrs. Brown" inscribed thereon, and how troublesome to hunt up the address in the directory and chance hitting the right day to return the call. There are not more than a score of hostesses who are well enough known to authorize neglect of all consideration for their friends in this matter of furnishing the information required to make up a call-

Another little sin which needs repentance is that carelessness of the courtesies of life which leads a lady to announce herself at home on certain days, and then calmly sally forth on those days to pay calls. It shows one of two things, a disregard of her friends' resident or a very limited and resident or a very limited. society or a very limited and uninteresting lot of visitors. Perhaps this little Lenten shriek will reach the hearts of the fair transgressors and make them promise not to be naughty any more. Finally, it does not, of course, apply to the dear souls who are good enough to stay in every week, and occasionally steal a day off to scramble through a mountain of unpaid calls for that day. One always forgives such compulsory outings, which really need no forgive-

PROGRESS OF FORESTRY. Court Forest City, No. 5744, of the Ancient Order of Foresters, completed its 22nd year on Dec. 31 last, but the annual statement has just been published. The report contains much information of interest to the Foresters of London, and especially to the members of the court. Forest City has in 1894, like in all its years of existence, been doing a good work, particularly in re-lieving the sick. During the year no less than $1,783 72 has been dispensed among the members. This was an unusually large amount, and decreased the assets by $118 69. On Dec. 31, 1893, the court was 302 strong. In the following twelve months 27 members were initiated and 11 juvenile transfers were accepted, making a total of 38 new Foresters. Nineteen were suspended for non-payment of dues, leaving the ncrease 19, and the total financial membership on Dec. 31 last 321; honorary, 9; total 337. The average age of the 38 members accepted during the year was 21, and the average age of the total membership is 34 years. Seven members joined the benedicts brothers are on the widows' fund; 74 members received sick benefits in the year; and the average received by the total membership was $5 56; 3,345 days sickness were experienced, or an average per member of individual member, 365; lowest 2. Court Forest City owns that large block on the corner of Dundas and English streets,

10; highest number of days sickness for any valued at nearly $11,200, and besides having the three stores in it occupied, has the large court rooms above rented to various societies. Mr. Fred C. Pook is chief ranger, Messrs. Wm. Young, George Taylor and Peter Toll, auditors, and Mr. Walter Richards, 120 Dufferin avenue, is now serving his fourteenth year as secretary. The balance in the various funds at Dec. 31, 1893, and the same date of 1894 are:

Sick and funeral fund... $4,103 59 $3,745 27 Supplementary sick fund... 203 73 186 52 Management fund... 1,557 27 1,788 21 Contingent fund... 190 02 215 92 This makes a total at Dec. 31 last of $5,935 92. To these assets, however, $1,010 14—the value of stock and chattels has to be added, making a total of $6,946 06.
