COSSACKS DESTROY BOLSHEVIKI GUARD?

BRITAIN MAY HAVE NEW CABINET CRISIS

LLOYD GEORGE PARIS SPEECH MAY CAUSE CABINET CRISIS; TALK OF UNIONIST REVOLT

Chancellor Bonar Law May Leave Ministry If Party's Rank and File Disapprove of the New War Policy Announced by Premier.

London, Nov. 14.—Premier Lloyd George explained to the House of Commons today that the Inter-Allied Council, the establishment of which was arranged for at the recent conference of British, French and Italian representatives, would have no extensive power. He said final decision in regard to the matters of strategy and the distribution and movement of armies would rest with the several governments of the Allies. The new council, Mr. Lloyd George said, would be charged with the duty of surveying continuously the field of operations as a whole in the light of information derived from all the governments and staffs, and also of co-ordination plans and making plans of its own, if necessary, for the better conduct of the war.

London, Nov. 14.—The war cabinet is said to be at one with the premier in all the essential points of his Paris speech, and the policy which it announced, and to be prepared to hold to this policy. The attitude of the rank and file of the Unionists will have a considerable effect on the Parliamentary situation, as Chancellor Bonar Law has always said he would not remain a member of the coalition cabinet unless he retained the general support of the Unionists. There is a good deal of criticism of the premier's new policy from the Unionists, although their attitude, of course, may be changed by the speech Mr. Lloyd George is to make.

In his speech at Paris, Lloyd George declared the Allies would have to prosecute the war as one army under a single leadership.

HALIFAX LIBERALS REFUSE TO UNITE WITH BORDENITES, AND NOMINATE TWO

Blackadder and Redmond Are Laurier Standard-Bearers In Premier's Stronghold.

Halifax, Nov. 14.—Dr. E. Blackadder and George E. Redmond were last night selected as Laurier Liberal candidates for the election in Halifax city and county by the Liberal Association. The association refused an offer from the Unionist convention, which also met last night to agree upon the election of two Unionist candidates by acclamation.

Dr. Blackadder was the defeated candidate at the 1911 election, Sir Robert Borden's majority being 161.

When it was learned that the Liberals had nominated candidates some members of the Unionist convention favored selecting standard-bearers. Sir Robert Borden, who was present, counselled waiting. The meeting was adjourned until Wednesday night in the hope that an agreement in regard to candidates may be arrived at.

CARVELL AT CHATHAM.

Chatham, N. B., Nov. 14.—The Union Government party met last night and unanimously nominated Mr. Loggie. Prominent Liberals and Conservatives were present, including Hon. Robert Murray and Frank D. Swim, Liberals. Hon. F. B. Carvell in an address, said that since 1868 a conscription law much more drastic than that now being enforced has been on the statute books of Canada.

OPPOSE UNION GOVERNMENT.

Regina, Nov. 14.—Alderman Harry Perry was last night nominated by the Labor party to contest the federal constituency of Regina. He did not give a definite answer.

BREWSTER OUT OF IT.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 14.—Premier Brewster stated yesterday that he has no intention of running for federal honors, and A. C. Flummerfelt, prominently mentioned as Unionist candidate for Victoria, will not permit his name to go before the convention tonight. Chief Justice Hunter is a probable candidate. The Great War Veterans are demanding a candidate acceptable to them.

LAURIERITE OPPOSES SIR SAM.

Lindsay, Nov. 13.—George Isaacs, a drover and rancher of Fenelon Falls, has announced his decision to enter the field as a straight Liberal against Sir Sam Hughes in the coming election. Mr. Isaacs will indorse the Laurier manifesto.

GRENVILLE LIBERALS.

Prescott, Nov. 13.—Grenville Liberals today nominated Dr. P. A. McIntosh as the Laurier candidate in the forthcoming general election.

BIGGEST DAY OF DRIVE, DECLARE BOND SELLERS

Today's Victory Loan Figures Will Be High, Salesmen Declare.

TO SURPASS OBJECTIVE

County Record Is Placed at $111,150, With Only 25 Per Cent Reporting.

Victory Loan mechanism is working swiftly and well, with the result that today's applications are expected to be away higher than Tuesday's for both county and city. It looks as if the objective of London and Middlesex will be met and passed substantially.

Returns as tabulated in front of Victory Loan headquarters today show that London has already subscribed $2,738,600 toward the $5,000,000 objective, while Middlesex County, with 25 per cent of the workers to be heard from, on even the first day's returns have a list of $111,150.

Salesmen who dropped into headquarters today reported the biggest business yet. They couldn't stop to talk. They were anxious to be on their way. The people were waiting to buy bonds, and far be it from them to keep the public waiting when it wanted to hand over its money to help Canada in her efforts to win the war. This is the spirit reported by all the canvassers. Everyone is anxious to help.

The happiest man around headquarters last night was J. J. Foote, chairman of the teams committee.

Far Above Expectations.

"Yes, I've got to admit it. This beats selling stoves all to pieces," said Mr. Foote. "The results so far are much greater than we expected at this stage of the game. I tell you it's grand."

The district looked after by Sid Little headed the list with $40,000, while $30,000 in bonds of small denominations was sold over the counter at headquarters.

The five-man team captained by T. B. Parkinson, with applications numbering 50, headed the list of team workers with a total of $17,500. The workers last night were as full of enthusiasm as a small boy of ice cream at a Sunday school treat, and every bit as happy. The people are responding nobly, and on all sides the salesmen are receiving every assistance from the public, which is waking up to the fact with a vengeance that it is killing not only two birds, but three, with one stone when a bond is invested in. That small bank account is killed off, the kaiser is being slowly strangled by "greenbacks," while the statement that Canadians at home have no patriotism is being killed deader than a cat with nine lives.

More people have bought bonds in London during the two days of the campaign than were taken in the last loan. This speaks for itself.

A large number of applications which were undoubtedly in the mails yesterday are expected today. This will considerably augment the county subscriptions.

Important Meeting Tonight.

One of the most important meetings of the campaign will commence this evening sharp at 8 o'clock. Every employer in the city is expected to attend the meeting, when the system of allowing employees to pay for their bonds in weekly or monthly instalments covering a period of a year will be explained by Mr. White, chairman of the groups committee. A report from employers already started on the groups program will be given by them.

GREAT CONVENTION NOMINATES LAURIER

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hal McGiverin were named last night as candidates in the coming election probably the largest convention of Liberals ever held in Ottawa.

Sir Wilfrid was not present at the meeting, which was addressed by Mr. McGiverin and Senator Cloran. The enthusiasm for Sir Wilfrid and his platform was marked at the gathering.

ASQUITH WILL QUIZ THE BRITISH PREMIER

London, Nov. 14.—Premier Lloyd George will be asked in the House of Commons today by former Premier Asquith for a statement in regard to his Paris speech, in which he spoke of the new inter-allied committee and the blunders which he said had been made by the Allies in the past in the conduct of the war. The premier is expected to be present to reply, but will defer a full statement until later, when an opportunity will be given to the House to discuss it.

HAIG FOILED HUN ATTEMPT TO RECAPTURE LOST GROUND

Heavy Attacks Near Passchendaele Tuesday Completely Repulsed by British.

London, Nov. 14.—The Germans met with a complete defeat at the hands of the British yesterday in Flanders, the war office reports. An attempt to recapture the ground recently won by the British near Passchendaele was repulsed.

The communication follows:

"Following upon the increased activity of their artillery, already noted, the Germans yesterday afternoon attacked the positions held by our troops on the high ground north of Passchendaele. The attack was repulsed completely.

"There is nothing further to report."

THE FRENCH REPORT.

Paris, Nov. 14.—"The artillery was very active last night on the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front)," says today's official communication.

"French detachments made a new number of successful raids, particularly southeast of St. Quentin, east of Sapigneul and at Chaume Wood, and brought back ten prisoners.

"Everywhere else the night was calm."

ATTEMPTS TWICE TO THROW HIMSELF IN FRONT OF TRAIN

Soldier Makes Desperate Try for Injury or Death.

IS RESCUED BY AGENT

Pulled From Danger Zone, Only to Repeat Action.

That a soldier twice within five minutes threw himself before moving train cars near the G. T. R. depot, is the story told by the night depot agent, John Crooks, and other railway employees. Mr. Crooks states that shortly after dark Monday evening, when a dining car and a Pullman car were being shunted down the tracks, to prevent obstruction of through traffic, he saw a soldier standing on the steps of one of the cars. When he looked again the man had jumped from the car and placed himself across the tracks in such a way that the moving cars would in a few seconds amputate his legs. The depot agent by quick action saved him, but had hardly pulled the man to safety and relaxed his hold before he made another attempt, which was again frustrated. Mr. Crooks then held the man until the cars had stopped and the danger was past.

The soldier would give no explanation for his conduct and a minute later seized an opportunity to escape.

Other employees of the railroad state that they saw the incident and had witnessed the man make a similar attempt on his life before.

LACK OF REGISTRATION FOR DOMINION ELECTIONS FORCES VOTERS TO SEE THAT NAMES ARE INCLUDED ON THE LISTS

Looseness of Election Act Coming Home to Londoners Who Must Insure for Themselves by Seeing That the Enumerator Has Recorded Names.

The manner in which a Conservative Government endeavored to "frame" itself into power by means of the most puzzling election act ever perpetrated is coming home to Londoners.

Richard Bayly, returning officer for the electoral district, himself a lifelong Conservative, has not yet announced his list of 76 enumerators, whose duty it will be to compile a new voters' list, solely by means of whatever old lists they choose to make use of, together with a door-to-door canvass of the city.

There will be an enumerator for every subdivision in the city. No time is stipulated as to when these enumerators commence work. The matter rests entirely with the enumerator. The only rule that governs the enumerator is that he shall have his list prepared and posted fifteen days before election. He may use as the basis of his list any part of any provincial or municipal list in force, or last in force, applicable to his poll. He adds those qualified, including women, and strikes off those disqualified.

The enumerator continues to operate largely to himself. He completes, dates "at his place of residence," and signs his completed copies of the list fifteen days before voting day. Then he must post up in two places, one of them being "a conspicuous place outside and adjoining the main entrance to such polling station" (where December winds and storms may take a hand in the election) and the other place the postoffice—76 documents all in a row.

The enumerator must send a third copy to the chairman of the voters' registration board, and also give copies to each candidate in the election. After that the enumerator has nothing whatever to do with the list.

Every citizen aspiring to a vote must see that his or her name is on the list. If the name is not on the list, the elector must forthwith appeal, or if absent some elector in the poll must appeal for him or her to have his or her name put on the list.

The appeal of any would-be voter must be made within four days after the posting up by the enumerator. The registration board does not sit as formerly to register voters. THERE IS NO REGISTRATION OF ANY KIND. The registration board sits only as a board of appeal from the enumerators' lists. It commences to sit ten days before polling day, and sits for five or six days, according as the period includes Sunday or not. Before polling day the clerk of the board of appeal delivers to the proper returning officer the completed lists, who in turn distributes them among his deputies. The lists are then closed absolutely.

The dangers of this act will be evident to all citizens entitled to exercise their franchise. There will be no registration of any kind.

Every man and woman entitled to a vote should make certain that his or her name is to be on the list despite all the difficulties which stand in the way, and all the apparent looseness of it.

There is no registration. You must get on the list on the terms stated above.

TWENTY-TWO AND HALF MILLIONS ALREADY TOTAL FOR THE PROVINCE IN THE BIG VICTORY LOAN DRIVE

Ontario Coining Its Sympathies by Steady Stream of Gold.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Ontario is coining its sympathies into a golden stream of subscriptions for the Victory Loan, the revised totals of subscriptions from all centres of this province, reporting up till noon today, being $22,536,850, with many points to hear from.

New Features.

It is announced here today that plans are being perfected whereby the small wage-earner will be able to buy a fifty or hundred dollar bond and pay for it on the $1 or $2 a week plan. Another new feature to be brought out shortly is a postcard contract form, to take the place of the present bank contract, which seems to be scaring many of the prospective buyers by its legal verbiage.

Sudbury has exceeded its allotment by $28,000. It is announced that the whole of Northern Ontario is subscribing very well, particularly the miners, who include many aliens.

GREAT HAUL AT HAMILTON.

Hamilton, Nov. 14.—Small sized subscriptions to the Victory Loan up to 5 o'clock last night totalled $713,550. The large subscriptions are not being announced yet. Workers report tremendous enthusiasm everywhere, and look for a great haul from the factories. The Steel Company of Canada is alone aiming to raise $250,000. Other factories are organizinz similar campaigns.

MORE BIG SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Including a subscription of $5,000,000 from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York, which is being made direct to Sir Thomas White, Ottawa, minister of finance, the total subscriptions to the Victory Loan in this city so far is $17,806,500. The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada has subscribed $3,000,000.

C. P. R. STILL LEADING.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—No figures as to the applications to the Victory Loan have been given out by the finance department, but it is admitted that the receipts were much heavier than for the first day of any of the other loans. The heavy mails will not start to pour into the department until the end of the week. The largest subscriptions of which the department so far has had notification is that of the C. P. R. for $5,000,000, and which Lord Shaughnessy says will be doubled if the country subscribes three hundred million dollars.

WINNIPEG DOING WELL.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 14.—Winnipeg city's total subscription to the Victory Loan passed the $2,000,000 mark last night, as well as could be estimated, and the total for the province was thought to be approaching the $3,000,000 mark. Sir Augustus Nanton headed the list of individual subscribers with a subscription of $250,000. The Canadian Fairbanks Company was the next largest, with $75,000.

VANCOUVER'S SCORE.

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—Up to noon yesterday Vancouver subscriptions to the Victory Loan totalled $525,000.

TWO HUNTERS DROWNED.

Port Arthur, Nov. 14.—A canoe full of water is all the trace that can be found of Del Moorehouse and G. Sills. They left for two days' hunting in the Black Bay section, and have been gone for about two weeks. Both men lived at Murkett. Moorehouse, aged 24, is a son of George Moorehouse of Port Arthur, is married and has one child.

ITALIAN LINE STILL HOLDING AGAINST HEAVY TEUTON DRIVE

Hun Battalions Badly Cut Up When Crossing the River—Enemy on Four Fronts.

Italian Headquarters in Italy, Tuesday, Nov. 13—(By the Associated Press)—The Piave line still holds in the main against heavy and continuous artillery fire from the eastern bank and the efforts of the Austro-Germans to cross the stream. These attacks have not taken the proportion of a general movement, but several battalions crossed the river on pontoons near Zenson. The Italian artillery concentrated its fire on the raiding parties, either destroying them in mid-stream or pushing them back on the river bank. The fighting here was desperate and sanguinary. Men who have returned from the batteries along the Piave says the German fire is extremely heavy but from middle-calibre guns.

The German Plan.

Chief attention is now directed towards the eastern sector of the Trentino front, where it runs across the Asiago plateau to the upper Piave River. The enemy is making preparations there which are either a diversion or a prelude to a heavy attack, with the evident purpose of getting down into the valley toward Bassano and the plains below, thus separating the Italian army on the Trentino from that on the Piave.

On Four Fronts.

Reports indicate that the enemy is operating on four main fronts. General Boroevic is on the lower Piave, General Von Below is on the upper Piave, General Krobatin is in the eastern Trentino, and General Conrad in the western Trentino. This gives Von Below the task of trying to force the centre while Boroevick and Conrad press the lower Piave and Trentino wing. The number of troops under the Austro-German commanders is not known.

An Italian aviator who made one of the last flights over Udine after it was evacuated says the city was damaged but little. He saw several large fires at separated points, and the hope is expressed that one of them was not the city hall of Udine, which is a handsome monument of Venetian architecture resembling the Doges Palace. The inter-Allied council is considering measures for the adequate protection of Venice.

JAPANESE TROOPS CANNOT BE SENT TO HELP ALLIED FIGHT

War Minister Declares Lack of Tonnage and Cash Would Prevent.

Tokio, Nov. 14. — Lieut.-General Oshima, the Japanese minister of war, informs Japanese newspapermen that the dispatch of troops to Europe is an absolute impossibility, owing to the tremendous cost, and the lack of tonnage. Baron Takahashi, former minister of finance, and one of the leaders of the Seiyukai party, in a lengthy article in the newspapers, declares the Japanese army is deficient in ordnance and airplanes equipment.

AMBULANCE DOCTOR IS BADLY INJURED WHILE HURRYING TO ACCIDENT

Montreal, Nov. 14.—While on the way to a station for a patient last evening, the motor ambulance of the Royal Victoria Hospital collided with a street car at the intersection of St. Lawrence and Craig street, and Dr. Halpenny sustained a fracture of the left leg and a badly lacerated hand. His chauffeur escaped with a severe shock. Both were taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital in an ambulance from the Montreal General Hospital.

DUTCH TRAWLER SENT DOWN WITHOUT WARNING

London, Nov. 14.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Daily Mail says a German submarine on Monday torpedoed without warning the Dutch trawler Huibertje at a point 25 miles off the Dutch coast. A Dutch boy of 15 years was killed. Ten survivors were rescued after being seven hours in a small boat and were landed at Ymuiden.

KERENSKY FORCES COMPLETE VICTORS IS LATEST REPORT OF RUSS STRUGGLE

Korniloff and Kaledines Said To Be With the Premier, Who Is Reported In Control of Entire Capital—Red Guard Destroyed.

Stockholm, Nov. 14.—Premier Kerensky has entered Petrograd, according to a dispatch received from the correspondent of the Swedish News Agency at Haparanda, on the Russian border.

ALL RUSSIA WITH KERENSKY.

London, Nov. 14.—The Finnish Telegram Bureau says the whole of Russia, except a small part of Petrograd, is now in the hands of the provisional government.

The provisional Russian government referred to in the foregoing is the government of Premier Kerensky, which the Bolsheviki attempted to overthrow.

CAPTURES ENTIRE CITY.

London, Nov. 14.—Premier Kerensky is now in Petrograd, and has taken virtually the entire city, the announcement of the Finnish Telegram Bureau says.

RED GUARD DESTROYED.

London, Nov. 14.—According to these advices, which were received in a cablegram filed at Stockholm at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Premier Kerensky defeated the Bolsheviki at Tsarskoe-Selo. The Cossacks are reported to have destroyed the Red Guard. The telegraph lines are now in M. Kerensky's hands, the Telegram Bureau reports.

CONFLICTING REPORTS.

For the last three days reports having been coming in from Scandinavian sources of the defeat of the Bolsheviki but they have been contradicted by wireless dispatches from Petrograd. This is the third time that accounts have been received of a battle at Tsarskoe-Selo, a Kerensky victory having been reported twice and a Bolsheviki success on the other occasion.

HEADQUARTERS AT MOSCOW.

London, Nov. 14.—The Finnish telegram bureau says Moscow is the headquarters of the Provisional Government, and that Premier Kerensky has issued orders from Moscow which have appeared in Petrograd, as well as the Helsingford newspapers, with headlines announcing that the Bolsheviki movement is nearing its downfall. Gen. Kaledines, the Cossack leader, is said to be dictator of Southern Russia. The orders of the Provisional Government are signed by M. Kerensky, Gen. Kaledines and Gen. Korniloff.

The Finnish telegram bureau's advices so closely parallel the dispatches received on Sunday and Monday, asserting that Premier Kerensky had overthrown the Bolsheviki as to suggest that they may be a delayed version of the same reports, which were contradicted by the anouncement received from Petrograd that Kerensky forces had been defeated in a battle near Tsarskoe-Selo.

THE WAR SITUATION

Italian troops by strong counter-attacks aided by artillery have checked Austro-German efforts to capture the Asiago plateau and threaten the line of the river Piave. Near Zenson on the Piave, about twenty miles northeast of Venice, the invaders have succeeded in crossing the river in boats, but were repulsed in an attempt ta debouch from the bridgehead they had constructed.

A Bitter Fight.

The fighting in the region about Asiago and between there and Monte Cimone is very bitter. The Austro-Germans attacked in force and gained some advances, only to be thrown back by the force of Italian counter-attacks. Berlin says that Mont Longara has been captured, but Rome reports officially that the position here has been held against Teuton efforts. At Canove, west of Asiago, an Italian counter-thrust repelled the invaders and resulted in the liberation of Italian prisoners.

Between Monte Cimone and the Piave, Berlin claims the capture of Fonzaso, which probably was given up by the Italians in a retirement to straighten out their line. The Italians have occupied their positions in this region, and the Austro-Germans are in contact with them.

Crossing the Piave.

The crossing of the Piave near Zenson may prove a more serious menace to the Piave line than the attempts in the Asiago region. The invaders tried to advance from the bridgehead they established, but were driven back to the river bank by the Italians. Further Teuton attempts to debouch may be expected, and unless the Italian defence continues strong the Piave position may become so weakened that it will have to be given up.

American Airmen Active.

American army aviators have joined the British and French airmen in their activities on the front in France. Americans have participated in bombing raids on German positions and also are doing observation duty.

The German artillery is very active in the Ypres salient in Flanders, and it has shelled heavily the new British positions around Passchendaele. This may mean either preparation for a strong German attack to regain this important position or an effort to forestall further British advances.

MUST CONDUCT WAR ON UNIFIED SYSTEM OF CENTRAL POWERS

Manchester Guardian Says the Allies Should Adopt the German Method.

London, Nov. 14.—In commending Premier Lloyd George's Paris speech the Manchester Guardian today cites the success of the central powers with inferior forces and smaller resources as largely due to "unity of control through the military dominance of Germany and the enormous advantage which comes from the power thus obtained of swift and decisive action."

The newspaper asserts that by the Allies the war to this day has never been envisaged, planned for and conducted as a whole. In order to neutralize the advantage obtained by the central powers, it says: "It is obvious we must produce among ourselves some approach, at least, to the unity of control which they from the first possessed and possess increasingly."

FISH DINNERS FOR LONDONERS JUST TRIPLED

300 Per Cent Increase in Consumption Recorded During Past Year.

MEAT SALES FALL OFF

Butchers and Dealers Report Tremendous Jump In Use of Finny Substitute.

That housewives of the city are cooperating to reduce the cost of living by practicing economy is emphatically shown by the fact that the consumption of fish during the last year in London has increased 300 per cent.

Figures in the possession of local fish dealers show that their sales were never so large as they are at the present time. Another evidence that the citizens are eating five times the amount of fish now as they did one year ago is the marked decrease in the sales of local butchers.

"Since the newspapers boosted the 'eat more fish' idea there has been a pronounced falling off in our sales of meat," John Anderson of Anderson's meat and fish market informed The Advertiser. "We are selling fish at a fast clip, but the sale of meat has decreased. I would judge that the people are eating ten times the amount of fish that they ate one year ago. The fish industry is booming, and the fish men are certainly reaping a tidy sum while the move continues. About one year ago our fish business was only considered a necessary side line which we would have been glad to dispose of, but now the demand has grown to such an extent that the sale of fish is only secondary to the sale of meat."

Notwithstanding the increased demand for fish there has been no noticeable advance in prices. in fact herring has declined 2c since the inauguration of the 'Eat more fish" campaign. Whitefish sells at 15c a pound, cod brings 12½c, halibut calls for 25c, and salmon trout sells at 16c. These prices are practically similar to those prevalent one year ago. It has been pointed out by fish men that the greater the demand for fish the greater will be the hauls of fisherman, because the efforts of the fisherman can easily be doubled by securing more help and augmenting fishing facilities.

A pamphlet describing the different methods of cooking and preparing fish has been issued by the Government for the perusal of housewives and those interested in fish consumption. The booklet contains comparisons of the food value of fish with other foods, and according to these comparisons the nutriment of fish is greater than that of most meats. Local dealers confidently expect that fish will be substituted for meat on an even more wholesale scale as the people become educated to the food value and the economy of it.

FIRST GUNS OF CAMPAIGN TO BE FIRED ON FRIDAY

East Middlesex Liberals Rallying At Lambeth On That Evening.

J. C. ELLIOTT TO SPEAK

Possible Opposition Leader Will Be On Platform With J. M. Ross.

Lambeth is to have the opening meeting of J. M. Ross' campaign in East Middlesex, a public meeting having been arranged for Friday evening in the Masonic Hall there. East Middlesex Liberals are taking a keen interest in the contest and a large section of Westminster Township will likely be represented at the Lambeth meeting.

J. C. Elliott, M. P. P., will be the chief speaker, and as he takes a strong position in opposition to the Union Government, it is expected that he will make one of his best speeches. Mr. Elliott is frequently mentioned these days as a probable leader of the Ontario Liberal party, and his parliamentary and platform experience is such that he is always heard with interest.

Warden A. J. Blakie will occupy the chair, and in addition to Mr. Elliott and the candidate there will be short addresses by local speakers. Ladies are being invited to attend. The meeting has been called for 8 o'clock.

WARNING ISSUED BY M. O. H. ON NUMBER OF THROAT CASES

Presence of So Much Diphtheria Discussed at Board.

SEVEN DEATHS REPORTED

Month's Toll Heavy, According to Health Department Figures.

At the meeting of the board of health yesterday afternoon Dr. H. W. Hill, M. O. H., again sounded a note of warning regarding the prevalence and the precautions that should be taken with respect to the large number of cases of septic sore throat and diphtheria now in the city.

The monthly report submitted showed 26 cases of diphtheria, 21 of septic sore throat and 31 of measles.

At the first indication of sore throat Dr. Hill advises that the affected person be immediately seen by a physician. If found to be suspiciously like diphtheria anti-toxin should be administered in order to make positive that if this dreaded disease is present the chances for recovery under the anti-toxin treatment if administered early are much greater than if it is not given. Seven deaths resulted during the month from diphtheria, so it is readily seen how important it is to give the matter early attention.

The following is a list and number of the cases reported to the board of health during the month: Chickenpox, 11; diphtheria, 26; septic sore throat, 21; measles, 31; German measles, 0; mumps, 0; scarlet fever, 2; smallpox, 0; tuberculosis, 6; typhoid, 1; whooping cough, 12; anterior-poliomyelitis, 2; cerebro-spinal meningitis, 0; total, 112.

The two cases reported as anterior-poliomyelitis were not seen until after the period of infectiveness was over. It is doubtful if they really were genuine cases.

Two of the cases reported as diphtheria were positive cultures from the throats of well people. They were quarantined as carriers and the usual precautions taken.

One death recorded in the hospital report as diphtheria showed negative cultures throughout.

One death recorded in the hospital report as diphtheria died of pneumonia a few hours after admittance into the hosuital. No culture was taken.

$4.00 PER MINUTE IS POLICE COURT RATE STRUCK THIS MORNING

Session Lasts Five Minutes and Nets City $20.

Four dollars a minute was the police court rate struck this morning by Magistrate Graydon. The session lasted five minutes and $20 was slipped over to Police Court Clerk Moule by the two drunks in the tolls.

One was found drunk on a public street yesterday. He declared that it was a lane he was in, and how could a lane be a public street? However, he would waive the point and admit that he was drunk. Far be it from him to argue with the magistrate, who passed over a $10 fine.

"You can have the money, your worship," said the prisoner in a generous tone of voice and manner. "I've got it downstairs. It's yours. I don't want to stay here a minute longer."

This line of talk, although generous, apparently did not appeal to Mr. Graydon, who informed the talkative one that it would probably be well if he were kept in durance vile for a short time longer, as he didn't seem to be quite over his spree. He subsided, and the cash was paid over.

Another admitted being drunk, but he had been breaking in a colt. This was looked upon as a good excuse for hitting the fine fluid that warms a man's "innards." However, it failed to get by, and the $10 tag was tacked on him.

"If you appear again I'll give you a penalty I don't think that you can pay. I'm giving you fair warning. It's time you gave up this sort of thing," concluded Mr. Graydon.

CHATHAM MAN BITTEN.

DETROIT, Nov. 13.—A stranger who leaped from behind a tree sunk several teeth in the nose of Julius Mettens of Chatham as Mettens was strolling down Franklin street late last night. Mettens told the doctors in the receiving hospital where he was taken as a patient that he would take the first boat for Canada as soon as he recovered.

BAKERS DECLARE BREAD STANDARD NOT NEEDED HERE

Say Better Quality Is Being Given at Lower Price Than Elsewhere.

ANY SKIMPING IS DENIED

Hooverized Actions of Hanna Condemned by Local Manufacturers of Bread.

According to local bakers the people of London are getting a better quality of bread at cheaper rates than any other city in Western Ontario.

This was a statement made to The Advertiser in reply to the question as to how the establishment of a compulsory standard of quality flour would effect the bakers and bread in general.

"The establishment of a compulsory standard of flour would do little or no good in the city, because the variety of flour now used is the very best," the manager of one baking concern stated. "The intimation that bakers show a disposition to skimp and to use inferior ingredients is certainly not true of the bakers of this city. The cost of ingredients in London is higher than that of Toronto or any other eastern point, but the cost of bread is lower, which shows that London people are getting a better worth for their money than the people of any other town or city."

Another baker was of the opinion that the bread situation in the city was never better. He said that the agitation for better supervision of the manufacture of bread was the result of the flour situation in the United States.

Follows Hoover's Lead.

"Because Hoover is having difficulty with the bakers of the United States, that is no reason why Mr. Hanna should look for trouble with the Canadian bakers," he said. "It is well known that Hoover Hooverizes Hanna and Hanna Hannalzes Canada. Every action of the food controller of Canada has been preceded by similar actions of the American food controller Mr. Hanna cannot recommend an action in the interests of food conservation unless the American food controller has established the precedent."

The baker added that conditions in Canada were entirely different from those prevalent across the border, but that Hon. Mr. Hanna seemed to be of the opinion that the regulations adopted by the United States food controller were applicable to the same extent in the Dominion.

Canadian Conditions Different.

During the past month the American press has specialized in a number of articles dealing with the food situation in the States, the condition of the flour and bread situation being particularly commented upon. However local bakers state that conditions in the States and Canada are entirely dissimilar, and that while things may be unfavorable across the border, the condition here was never better.

WOMEN'S INTEREST IN ELECTION WILL MEAN BIG MEETING

Attendance at Hyman Hall Friday To Be Large.

ALL WOMEN ARE INVITED

Newly Enfranchised Voters Asked to Hear George S. Gibbons State Platform.

The big attendance of women at the meeting held in Hyman Hall on Monday night to hear George S. Gibbons, Labor-Liberal candidate in London, indicates the interest being taken in the election by the newly-enfranchised women. The interest is such that a record attendance is expected at the meeting, under the auspices of the Women's Liberal Association, which will be held at Hyman Hall on Friday evening.

After securing the consent of George S. Gibbons, the Labor-Liberal candidate, to address the first open meeting since organization, the members of the executive of the Women's Liberal Association decided to extend an invitation to all women of the city interested to attend, whatever their party leanings, and hear Mr. Gibbons state his platform. Those who want seats are advised to arrive early owing to the limited capacity of the hall.

Lombardo's orchestra has been secured to furnish music, while the audience is assembling, and to accompany the patriotic songs which will open the meeting. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

EXTENSION LECTURES SERIES OF "U" WILL BEGIN ON NOV. 20

Canadian Confederation Will Be Subject of These Special Addresses.

A series of extension lectures under the auspices of the Western University and dealing with Canadian Confederation, is announced to be given in the Public Library Building on three successive Tuesday evenings, beginning with Tuesday, November 20. On that date Dr. L. A. Wood, professor of history at the Western, will speak on "The Story of Confederation." On the following Tuesday evening Fred Landon, public librarian, will deal with "The Fathers of Confederation," and on the third Tuesday, December 4, Dr. E. E. Braithwaite, president of the university, will speak on "The Promise of Canada's Future."

These lectures will be open free to the public and will be of timely interest in view of the completion of 50 years of confederation and the way in which the union of 1867 has proven strong during all the stress of the last three years.

It is likely that after the first of the year a second series of lectures on various subjects of timely interest will be given by members of the university faculty and others who are specialists in their own fields.

Women Are Citizens

When They Support the Government In Time of War

By nursing the sick and wounded—by filling positions of trust in government service—by engaging in occupations especially necessary in the carrying on the activities of the war.

BUT

If they are unable to enter Red Cross or hospital work—if they are unable to enter the service of the army or navy—if they are unable to make munitions or uniforms or attend telegraph or telephone instruments—

There Is Still a Way

Women have been clamoring for years for absolute equality with men. Men have hesitated to give them the suffrage on the ground that women are unable to defend the country in war. But, now, because money to warm, feed, clothe and transport troops is as necessary to the Government as soldiers, ALL WOMEN, AS CITIZENS, should assume their responsibility as citizens and

Buy a Victory Bond

None of us want war. We all want peace. We want the war to end.

But we want the end of war to be the end of Prussianism. We want a peace which shall be everlasting.

The quickest way to end the war is to win the war, but it takes billions of dollars to equip and feed the gallant lads at the front and to supply rifles, shells, torpedoes, big guns, ships and aircraft.

So hurry your dollars into Victory's war chest and help end the war.

Victory Bonds are the best investment on earth, because the money you spend for them will not only help win the war, but will save our fair land from the fate of Belgium and France.

Don't wait. Your country calls for your help. Be prepared for the canvassers, and buy one or two or more Victory Bonds.

MRS. MACWHIRTER APPEARS TO KNOW THE PROPER WAY TO KEEP A PIG

With the Assistance of Mary Jane She Solves the Problem In a Way To Satisfy the Skeptical Mac—Something Every Home Should Have.

BY MARY JANE.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Duncan MacWhirter, newly-weds since last June, faced each other, smilingly, across the breakfast table.

"Alex, dear," announced Mrs. Alex, cheertuily, "I think I'll get a pig."

"For the love of Mike!" hastily setting down his untasted coffee. "Whatever put such a thought in your head?"

"Don't blame it on my defenceless head," she protested, "the idea originated in the astute brain of Alderman So-and-So, or Controller Such-and-Such, I just forget who."

"What's the big idea?"

"More bacon for the soldiers, I presume."

"But where are you going to get your bacon cured?"

A Healthy Hog.

"Cured! Well, if that isn't just like a man. You don't think I'm going to buy a sick pig, do you?"

MacWhirter looked queerly at his wife, but thought it the better part of valor to utter no comment. "Aren't you afraid you would find it's incessant squealing very nerve-racking?"

"If I can get one with a rich, contralto voice I think it will be rather soothing."

"And the way they grunt?"

"That's so—I never thought of the grunts." She considered a moment. "I might have his tonsils removed; that minor operation cures so many ills nowadays."

The inexperienced husband was beginning to feel a trifle uneasy.

An Immaculate Pet.

"My dear, they are very untidy animals," discouragingly.

"Not when you get a clean one to start with, and I'd give it a bath in the laundry tub every few days."

"I suppose you'd keep it's hair curled, too," sarcastically.

"I think," with a great show of dignity, "that it would be sufficiently well-groomed if I kept its bristles brushed."

"Anyway, don't call on me to help you with any of your valet stunts—no shampoos, no shaves, or hair-cuts, remember."

"Ne-o, but you might—ah—er—you might take him around the block every night, for a little exercise—on a leash, of course."

"Well, I'll be hanged! I have a picture of myself! I'd look nice, wouldn't I, leading a pig around the block."

"Oh, well, if you'd rather let the pig lead you——"

Sparks in the Air.

"Now, look here, my girl," with a sudden change of tactics, "I think it would be the nicest thing in the world for you to have a pig if the backyard was just a little larger, but——"

"'But me no buts.'"

"Then pig me no pigs," retorted the thoroughly aroused Mr. MacWhirter, as he stalked haughtily out of the room.

About 5 o'clock Mrs. MacWhirter ventured to telephone her irate spouse. "Oh, Alex, this afternoon I found the dearest little baby—"

"What?" roared Alex.

"The cutest, cunningest, pinkest little—Oh, for goodness' sake don't interrupt me—little baby pig you ever saw."

"Where in thunder are you going to keep the thing?"

"For tonight I thought I'd put him in the refrigerator."

"In the—" A prolonged groan. "Oh, Lord!" And he slammed up the receiver.

Pigs and Women.

"'Pigs is pigs,'" mused A. D. MacWhirter, as he swung angrily homeward, "but women are mules."

At the door of his own domicile he was met by a daintily-attired, smiling housewife. "Expected to hear squeals and grunts the minute I turned the corner," he exploded.

"Darling," in a hushed voice, "he's deaf and dumb."

Alexander could only stare his amazement.

"So he has no squeals or grunts, but his tail is naturally curly—promise, please promise me that you'll be nice to him."

But Alexander continued to stare.

Mrs. Alex took her unresisting husband by the hand and led him straightway to the dining-room. On the best and biggest platter that the household boasted, with legs, fore and aft, outstretched, reposed a beautiful baby pig. He had daffed his infantile pink and donned a coat of rich, lustrous brown, the very shade to delight the eye of an epicure. In his mouth he playfully held an apple, and his plump little sides were flanked by slices of the same fruit, fried to a delicate golden hue. Truly, he looked very appetizing.

"You fakir! You awful fakir!" laughed Mr. MacWhirter, as he faced the arch-deceiver, "I thought ——"

"Sometimes, my lord," interrupted Mrs. MacWhirter, "great minds think in opposite directions."

MAN OF 50 SHOOTS TORONTO GIRL OF 17

Mother of Injured Girl Scents Act of Jealousy.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—Suffering from a bullet wound through both thighs, Miss Winnie Hughes, a 17-year-old girl, was rushed to the Western Hospital, this afternoon.

A man named Goldsmith, who lives at the same house, was taken into custody, but at a late hour this afternoon was still in a comatose condition, apparently under the influence of a heavy drug. No explanation has yet been obtained regarding the affair.

Mrs. Hughes, who was in the house at the time, can throw no light on the shooting. Her daughter was in the kitchen when Goldsmith went to her. Shortly afterwards she heard the shot. She informed the police officers that she has known for some time that Goldsmith, who is about 50 years of age, has been infatuated with her daughter, who, however, cares nothing for him.

FINANCIAL PROBLEM OF AID SHELTER IS CONFRONTING SOCIETY

Funds Needed to Maintain Local Home.

At the regular meeting of the Children's Aid Society on Monday afternoon the report was made by Inspector Joseph Sanders that some fifteen children have been placed in good foster homes during the past month. The shelter is crowded as it has been since early in the war, forty children being the average number cared for. Owing to the high cost of living, and the continued large demands of the work, the problem of financing is always urgent and frequently difficult. It is stated that the 365 Club fund while rendered splendid service in aiding the work over last year, has not been coming in to any extent of late, and this source of revenue, through membership in the 365 Club, is being missed. The sum of $10 entitles to membership in the club, and entitles the holder to "one day's share in the shelter."

The work of rebuilding and refitting the old wing is nearing completion, and in this connection the problem of furnishings has arisen. It was suggested recently by a board member that some of the public-spirited citizens might be glad to endow cots.

SUFFERED TERRIBLY WITH HER HEART
Would Wake Up Smothering

The terrible smothering and choking up sensations and sinking spells, the feelings of dizziness and faintness that come over those whose heart and nerves are deranged causes the greatest distress of both mind and body.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills give prompt relief and effect a comple cure in cases of such severity.

Mrs. A. M. Powell, Norval Station, Ont., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I suffered five years with my heart and nerves, but the last two years I have suffered terribly. If I went to bed I would wake up as if I were smothering. I did not get one night's sleep out of seven. I got so very weak that the doctor was called in, and he said it was my heart, and that I must take great care of myself. I saw your advertisement in your almanac for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and said I would try them. I have only taken two boxes of them and I feel a new woman. I will recommend them to anyone afflicted with heart trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

An added feature was selections by the ladies quartet of the Ridout Street Methodist Church. An address on the "Survey of Boy Life" was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Wright. The proceeds, which amounted to $7, will be devoted to the Christmas box fund for the boys in khaki.

ANOTHER KHAKI DANCE. — The khaki dance in the Masonic Temple last evening proved as usual a very happy event. Mrs. A. H. Clinger was convener of the dance. Music was provided by the Cortese Orchestra for the men in khaki, and the numbers of pretty girls who were much in demand for partners. While the rule made last year insisted that the khaki uniform would be the only passport for men, the button worn by returned men in "civies" is accepted as a substitute. A generous sprinkling of these men in civilian attire who have done their bit overseas, was conspicuous in last evening's entertainment.

LIBERTY BONDS' SALE IN STATES BELOW VICTORY'S

Figures From Similar-Sized Cities Across Line Not So Good.

LONDON OBJECTIVE HIGH

Exceeds All American Quotas, According to Data From U. S. A.

London's objective in the Victory Bond campaign and the response, even to date, not only compare most favorably with those of American cities of similar population during the recent Liberty Loan campaign across the line, but far exceed them.

Replies from American cities, secured through the news sub-committee of the London publicity committee branch of the general organization, show that London stands far above the American average.

The American cities were asked to report the total amount subscribed in the Liberty Loan campaign and the percentage of people subscribing. Some of the replies are:

Allenton, Pa.—$3,596,000; percentage not compiled.

Lancaster, Pa.—$5,185,000; percentage about 20 per cent. 10,130 having purchased the second Liberty Loan bonds.

Rockford, Ill.—$2,700,750, approximately 10 per cent.

L. H. Cooke, treasurer of the American Trust and Savings Bank, Springfield, Ohio, a city of the same size as London, wrote:

"Your letter addressed to the mayor of Springfield, with reference to our recent sale of Liberty Loan bonds, has been handed to me for answer.

"It is a pleasure to state that the amount proportioned to the city of Springfield was $1,222,100, but the city itself subscribed for $2,095,350.

"The population of Springfield is estimated to be about 60,000.

"We, however, had charge of the whole county for his campaign. The county's proportion, together with the city, being $1,605,000, but the total raised was $2,687,150.

"We think we have reason to be proud of what Clark County and the city of Springfield have done, and we will be only too pleased to answer any questions that you may wish to ask as to how we brought this result about."

With only two days of the Victory Loan campaign in the city reported on Tuesday night, the Springfield-Clark County record was beaten by nearly $200,000 by London alone.

Clark County's population is given as 65,423, yet the opportionment was $482,900, or only one-quarter of the $1,600,000 the organizers have fixed for the County of Middlesex, with a much smaller population.

Those who have seen the American figures and know the way the local campaign is going here, are more than gratified. The response of Americans was heralded to the world as a wonderful exhibition of patriotic contribution, but the Canadian Victory Loan, it is now assured, will be head and shoulders above its American cousin, the Liberty Loan.

Davenport, Iowa, together with Scott County, with respective populations 46,340 and 60,000, had an apportion of $5,000,000 assigned. This county and city campaign exceeded its quota more than three-quarters of a million. The total was $5,756,900. At the last minute of the campaign a syndicate of Davenport businessmen took $1,000,000 of the Liberty Bonds in a block. This last minute contribution made up the deficit in the quota and left, as stated, more than three-quarters of a million to the good.

The population of Davenport and Scott are, as noted, approximately the same as Middlesex and London, and yet the quota assigned to the two municipalities was $1,600,000 (Middlesex County's share) less than the combined total for the local ones.

The following is the letter sent to the mayors of more than a score of American cities ranging in size from 41,809 to 73,202 by the chairman of the news subcommittee:

Dear.—For the purpose of stimulating interest in a bond issue here we wish to point to the good example of a number of American cities in connection with the recent Liberty Loan.

Will you be good enough to fill out the form below and return this letter in inclosed envelope, and accept my thanks.

Yours very truly,
A. A. MacINTOSH.

SPARKS FROM VICTORY LOAN METEORIC COURSE IN LONDON

"I have some money in trust for my boy and I want to turn it into Victory Bonds," said one father last night at headquarters. He is only one father of many who is ensuring the future of his son by buying Victory Bonds.

Hats off to T. B. Parkinson and his team for yesterday's high mark. They sure have the right dope. Mr. Parkinson has wiped out his insurance sign opposite the Dominion Savings Building and substituted the following: "For Country and Home. Buy Victory Bonds." Maybe it helped.

Two women walked into headquarters yesterday, one intending to buy a bond. After filling out her application, she suggested that her friend buy a bond. "It's an ideal way to save," declared the first woman, and is surely is.

Convertible bonds from the last loan do not count as far as London's present objective is concerned. Of the London Life's large subscription $300,000 is for conversion, while $500,000 is new Victory Loan money.

Buy a baby bond for baby.

When buying bonds for babies the applicant must apply only for these in trust where the bond is to be registered. If the intending subscriber will read the application form over carefully before filling in the information called for, he cannot possibly go astray.

Movie fans are well up on Victory Bond information. The fans are treated to four-minute speeches each evening, as well as the Victory film. John Cottam has been speaking at the Patricia, while E. R. Dennis has been boosting bonds at the Grand. There will be speeches at the Majestic later on in the week.

Sir George Gibbons will address the Women's Institute convention tonight at the Auditorium on the advisability of buying Victory Bonds. Rev. W. R. McIntosh spoke to the women on the same subject this afternoon in Smallman's tearoom.

At the rate the salesmen are securing applications for bonds there will be more people in London wearing Victory Loan buttons at the end of the week than those without.

The total amount subscribed for in Ontario is $16,000,000. London has subscribed about 20 per cent of this amount. Not so dusty. But London will do better before the campaign closes.

London's amount would be larger but for the fact that some of the applications have not been filled correctly. However, this is being rectified.

A woman called at headquarters yesterday afternoon and explained that although she had an invalid son of 34 years of age and a son fighting at the front, she deemed it her duty to buy a bond, and she did.

Your $50-bond looks just as good to the Government as a capitalists's for $10,000. The Government wants YOU to invest.

Between 600 and 700 Londoners have already bought bonds. This beats the total of all previous numbers of subscribers in this city for war loans.

Are you superstitious? Here's a young lady that is; but she's going to get her bond anyway. "I won't buy today, it's the 13th. Tomorrow I won't be home. I wouldn't dare buy one on Friday. Come Saturday and I'll double the amount.

J. J. Foote of headquarters asks that all purchasers of bonds wear the buttons that are given with every application. The owner of a $500 bond gets no larger a button than the man that buys a $50 one.

The women and children are certainly out to help the country. One salesman reports that out of his seventeen applications Wednesday, fourteen were from women and children.

County headquarters expect a large number of applications in today's mail. A large number of Monday's rural applications have yet to reach headquarters.

It may take a lot of money to run a large family, but eight members, the entire crew, of one household all applied for a bond.

The registrar told them he could not alter the law.

COWLEY FOR LAURIER.

UNIONIST FOR MACKENZIE.

Yorkton, Sask., Nov. 14.—John F. Reid of Orcadia, was unanimously nominated as Unionist candidate for MacKenzie constituency at a convention held at Canora Monday. Mr. Reid is a member of the executive of the United Grain Growers, Limited.

"VICTORY BONDS!"

Rise up, rise up, oh citizens strong,
Your country appeals to you.
Remember your loved ones at the front
Are ready to dare and do.
Oh, think of the hardships being endured
By those whom you are so fond,
Every dollar means help to them, so
Invest in a Victory Bond.

Now, blushing maidens, you can assist
And show up your spirit, loyal,
All that pin-money you've laid aside,
Lend to the cause with a smile,
For someone in France to you is true,
For someone your heart now longs,
Think of the help that will go to him
By purchasing Victory Bonds.

And you, young men, who cannot go there
To help in the actual fight,
Can stand for the cause, solid and strong,
Subscribing with all your might.
Your brethren in arms will thank you well
(For this is loyalty, too),
'Tis your country's need, your brothers call,
The bonds will carry them through.

To every man, be he young or old,
To every woman and maid,
Who answers the nation's latest call,
The service is well repaid.
Security's sure in Victory Bonds,
All Canada stands for you,
So open your hearts, invest your wealth,
To carry the crisis through.

WOMEN 'SLACKERS' IN DISTRICT SCORED IN DELEGATE'S ADDRESS AT ANNUAL CONVENTION OF WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

But Half Members Doing Work, Says One—Opening Session Draws Hundreds From Rural Communities to London Today.

Several hundred delegates, representing the Women's Institute branches of Western Ontario arrived in the city last evening or this morning for the first session of the fourth annual convention, which opened at 10:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, where all sessions are to be held.

The forenoon was devoted largely to the presentation of representative branch and district reports, these each and all telling a story of self-sacrificing effort on behalf of the Red Cross and other patriotic work, as well as the continuing and expansion of the work for which the institute was originally organized, namely, promoting the interests of home and community and the best service of home and country.

Women Slackers, Too.

With all the fine achievement reported, a statement which awakened a responsive chord in the experience of other delegates, judging from applause, was that of Mrs. Kirk, speaking for the West Huron district: "I don't know how it is in your branches and districts, but in ours it is about half the members are doing the work. I am sorry to say we have women slackers who might be sewing and knitting for the soldiers when they are spending their time otherwise."

At the same time there was sufficient evidence that those who are working in West Huron are working well and with increasing zeal as the years of the war go by. The district institute branch in 1914-15 raised $1,000 for Red Cross and other patriotic purposes and "thought it was doing well." The next year it had $2,500 to its credit, and this past year has more than doubled the amount.

All Are Conserving.

Regarding food conservation, the statement was made: "Some signed the cards and some did not. But we are all conserving. (We have to on account of the high prices.)"

In the report of the South Perth district, special mention was made of the patriotic service record of staff which with 41 members has done Red Cross work, etc., valued at $1,519.45.

The St. Marys branch, it was stated, is taking up the question of co-operative buying of fish.

Among features that were new or "different" in branch reports presented were the following:

Harwich Centre Branch.—Has a school visiting committee, composed of three ladies. Committee changed each month, visits the school each month, and has made suggestions in regard to making the school more sanitary and homelike.

Kingsmill.—A well-balanced year's work with something of interest for all members. First meeting of year taken by young girls; second by young mothers, and third by the grandmothers, the last excelling the others in their program.

Belmore.—Has added a new motto to its old one, "If you have a good thing, pass it along." Belmore passed a resolution recently asking the Government to prohibit the use of grain for breweries and distilleries at a time when appeals are being made for conservation of all food supplies. Special attention is given to interesting the young girls.

Bothwell.—Ninety members have taken a course in first aid and home nursing under the instruction of Dr. Annabelle McEwen of London.

Clifford.—Has a library on which $25 is spent each year. Leading magazines are subscribed for, and these are accessible to the members.

Rodney.—Has every member working, enrolled on one of the numerous committees, into which the branch is divided. Fifty members have taken the course in first aid and home nursing under the instruction of Dr. McEwen.

Can Make Farms Pay.

A feature of the first session which created much interest was a review of the first year's work of the London Women's Gardening Association, presented by the president, Miss Carling. At the close, Miss Carling voiced the hope that the work begun will result in many women and girls taking up intensive farming, such as poultry-raising, bee-keeping, fruit growing, market gardening, etc. She stated that an authority on the staff of the dominion department of agriculture had estimated for her benefit that three women working together at intensive farming on a small farm, say ten acres, could make it pay. She referred to the possibility of many girls who have acquired a taste for "working on the land" through community gardening, marrying returned soldiers who will eventually settle on the land, and the consequent value of the knowledge acquired through community and city lot gardening.

George A. Putnam, superintendent of the Ontario Provincial Women's Institute, named a nominating committee, as follows: Mrs. George Edwards, Komoka; Miss McIntosh, Parkhill; Mrs. Medd, Blenheim, and Dr. Backus, Aylmer.

Mrs. Neil Grant presided this forenoon, and at the afternoon session, which opened at 1:30 o'clock, Mrs. J. M. McCallum, Shakespeare, is the presiding officer.

Rev. A. G. Peever, B. D., conducted devotional exercises, after which Mrs. Donald McLean, president of the Women's Canadian Club, welcomed the delegates, Miss K. McIntosh, Parkhill, replying.

Features of this afternoon's meeting are the report of the provincial work by Mr. Putnam and an address by Dr. Hill, M. O. H., on "Communicable Diseases."

Tea and Reception.

A program of much interest has been arranged for the reception, and tea at Smallman & Ingram's dining-room, to be tendered at 4:30 o'clock by the city of London and Women's Canadian Club.

The session this evening in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at 8 o'clock will be open to the public. Addresses are to be given by Dr. Anna Backus, Aylmer, and Sir George Gibbons, and music will be furnished by E. Webster, baritone, and the Elgar Ladies' Quartet.

A trip has been arranged for the delegates for Thursday afternoon to the Byron Sanatorium for Tuberculous Soldiers, the institute branches from each county represented having contributed to the furnishing of the new building.

INDIAN SOLDIER OF 70TH REPORTED WOUNDED FOR FOURTH TIME IN WAR

PTE. ROY SCHUYLER.

CASUALTY LIST OF CITY AGAIN OMINOUSLY LONG

London Boys Overseas Hard Hit in Recent "Pushes" by Haig.

LIEUT. MURRAY WOUNDED

Popular Former Officer of London's Own Listed as Having Been Hit.

Not for some time has there been such a number of casualties reported in London and district as during the past few days. The constant driving tactics of the British forces are undoubtedly responsible for the ever-growing list of these Londoners, who have been either wounded, died of wounds or killed in action.

Lieut. Murray Hit.

After having been in France since April last, Lieut. Joseph Murray, son of James P. Murray, of the postoffice inspector's staff, this city, has been wounded, a message to this effect having been received by his parents on Tuesday.

Lieut. Murray received his wound at Passchendaele village on November 6, during the attack which resulted in the capture of the village by the first division of Canadians. He left London with the 142nd Battalion, and went to France in April last. On June 1 he was made scout officer of the 1st Battalion, and went through the engagements at Vimy Ridge, Fresnoy, and Farbus, and later accompanied his unit when it went to Belgium with the other Canadians in October.

A brother, Lieut. Thomas Murray, returned to London only a few weeks ago, after serving a year and a half in France as second in command of the 11th Canadian Machine Gun Company.

Second Time in List.

Word was received from Ottawa by Mrs. J. Anderson, 284 Simcoe street, that her son, "Jack" Anderson, had been admitted to No. 4 Field Ambulance Hospital suffering from a gunshot wound in the left leg. This is the second time he has been wounded, the first time being on July 10, when he was shot in the arm and leg. He had only been back to the trenches a few days when he suffered the second wound. He was 21 years old on October 21. Prior to enlisting with the 142nd Battalion, he was employed at Mitchell's cooperage.

Reported Missing.

A telegram was received by Joseph O'Hara, 696 Waterloo street, that his son, Pte. Joseph Gerald O'Hara, had been reported missing since October 26. Pte. Hara was enlisted with the 110th (Perth) Battalion, and has been in France for the last eight months. He was 21 years of age, and before enlisting was employed by the G. T. R.

Presumed Dead.

Word has been received in the city that Pte. Edwin Staples, who left London with the 142nd Battalion, is for official purposes presumed to be dead. Pte. Staples was originally reported missing at Vimy Ridge, and because no subsequent word regarding his whereabouts could be obtained the war office informed his father, E. F. Staples, who is now living in England, that the young soldier is probably dead.

Friends of Pte. Staples received word from the young man's father today, informing them of his death.

Mr. Staples asked the recipient of the letter to convey the news of his son's death to the many London friends of the young man.

Seriously Ill, Too.

Mrs. Mack Hamilton, 263 Horton street, has received an official notice that her son is wounded in the thigh and is seriously ill. He left London with the 70th Battalion.

Pte. Brown.

Wounded for Fourth Time.

For the fourth time Pte. Roy Schuyler, one of four Indian brothers who enlisted with the Canadian forces, has been reported as wounded. An official message was received by his mother at 566 William street, that he had been admitted to No. 24 General Hospital, Etaples, on November 1 suffering from gunshot wounds in the left shoulder and legs.

Pte. Schuyler was the only Indian soldier in the 70th Battalion. He had only been back in the trenches three days, after a two weeks' leave in Paris, when he was struck for the fourth time. The other three wounds received were not serious ones.

Pte. John Schuyler, who enlisted with the 135th with another brother, Pte. Eugene, since returned to England from the trenches as being too young, has been killed in action. Pte. Edward Schuyler enlisted with the 114th and is still in the trenches.

Two brothers-in-law, Sergt. Alex. Nicholas, who went over with the 135th and Pte. Ben Reynolds of the 70th, are still in France.

Dies of Wounds.

Robert Temple, 145 Waterloo street, has been officially notified that his son, Gunner Robert Hope Temple, died of wounds in the second casualty clearing hospital on November 7 from multiple gunshot wounds.

Gunner Temple was a tinsmith at McClary's before he enlisted with the 63rd Battery, and went overseas with it a draft a year and a half ago. He was born in London 22 years ago, dying just two days before his twenty-second birthday. In addition to his parents, he is survived by one brother, Peter, of Silverwood, Michigan, and three sisters, Mrs. Frank Burridge of this city, and Misses Eva and Ethel at home.

Lieut. John Talbot Prisoner.

R. D. McDonald of 471 Waterloo street, was officially notified last evening that his son, Gunner Harold E. McDonald, is in the hospital at Letreport, France, with gunshot wounds in the shoulder and face. He is 21 years old, and prior to enlisting with the 63rd Battery was on the staff of the Merchants Bank.

Gunner McDonald Wounded.

Word was received yesterday by John Talbot of the North River Road that Lieut. Fred Talbot, formerly reported missing, is in a German prison camp.

Lieut. Talbot enlisted here with the 7th Mounted Rifles, with which he went overseas. He later took an officer's course in England, and qualified. He recently joined the Aviation Corps. Before enlisting he was employed by the Canadian Smallwares.

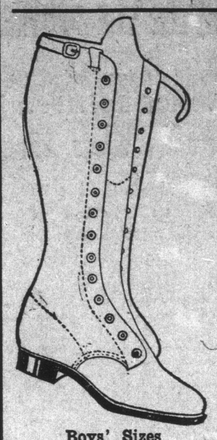

Sister Not Notified.

Although his sister, Mrs. Robert L. Tuckey of Hyde Park, has never been officially notified, Lance-Sergt. D. S. MacArthur, 158,650, has been reported in the press casualty list as died of wounds.

An appeal to the director of record, Ottawa for information brought the reply that he had died at No. 3 Australian Casualty Clearing Station on October 26, of penetrating gunshot wounds.

The dead soldier enlisted in Winnipeg, although he was a Lobo old boy. He had been wounded on the Somme before. At this time Mrs. Robert L. Tuckey was notified of his casualty.

"SPELL" IN GOSPEL IS EMPHASIZED TOO MUCH, HE DECLARES

Evangelist Thompson Says Many Forget the "Go."

LITTLE WORDS IMPORTANT

Gospel Centres Round Them, Though Big Words Cause Wrangling.

"Some people forget all about the 'go' in 'gospel.' They emphasize the last part of the word, and religion is more of 'spell' to them."

"The Bible that is not put into practice is like a cookbook that never bakes a cake."

"The Bible tells you where the treasure is, but it expects you to do the digging."

"The same symbol that stands for the word 'if' stands for the figure one. Some people are better represented by an O. Yet when a one gets in front of six naughts it makes a million."

The above are excerpts from Gordon V. Thompson's talk on "Big Little Words" at the Colborne Street Methodist Church last night. Theologians had wrangled over such words as predestination, baptism, condemnation, and had wasted much scholarship in discussing their meaning and limitations, he said. Oftentimes there was more thought in the little words that were so quickly passed over.

The evangelist spoke on the three words, "I," "hath" and "do," and showed how the gospel was centred around these three little words. The word "I" stood for all kinds of people, though it meant more when Jesus used it than when used by any other person, even Caesar or Napoleon. The word "hath" meant that salvation was a present fact, not something to be accomplished in the future. The word "do" was the secret of happiness and success in the Christian life Religion not put into everyday life was worthless.

Tonight the evangelist gives his address on the "Unpardonable Sin." The meetings are open to everybody, and many attend who are not regularly connected with Colborne Street Church. Five cottage prayer meetings were held this afternoon in homes in the vicinity of Colborne Street Church.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A Reply to Mr. Jarmain.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

It may be of interest to your readers to know that C. E. Jarmain is bookkeeper for E. R. Dennis, who for many years has been active in the Conservative organization. Mr. Jarmain suggested in a letter to your paper last night that George S. Gibbons and Lieut.-Col. Coles should retire to permit the election of Major Cronyn by acclamation. The public may draw its own conclusions, with this this to assist them: Mr. Jarmain seemed at pains to make plain that he resided on Erie avenue, although no doubt the letter was written in "business" hours. Perhaps you can tell if the letter was written on Mr. Dennis' paper and whose stenographer wrote it for Mr. Jarmain.

This was not the first time acclamation has been suggested; but on the first occasion it was done at the proper time, before the candidates were all in the field, and some of the money which Mr. Jarmain would put into Victory Loan bonds already spent by the various organizations. It was then urged that Mr. Gibbons should be allowed to have the seat. Now, as to Victory Bonds. As a Labor man I am of the opinion that the Labor-Liberal candidate and Major Coles would not be able to buy any great amount out of their campaign expenses. Who then is going to spend all this money?

Yours truly,
L. FLANAGAN,

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Increase Weight

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract fully assimilates the flesh-making material in the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new discovery in scientific nutrition, it is now possible to combine into simple and highly concentrated form the exact food elements needed by the digestive organs and to convert them into rich, fat-laden blood. This master stroke of modern food chemistry is called Saltogyn, and has been termed the greatest of flesh builders. Saltogyn not only feeds the stomach with a tremendous amount of fat-making food material in highly concentrated form but in addition enables the stomach to literally soak up the fattening elements of your daily food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved and broken-down tissue of your body. You can readily picture the results when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from ten to twenty pounds of solid healthy flesh. Saltogyn is a food and contains no drugs of any kind, is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient. Standard Drug Company and leading druggists everywhere have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the results it gives as per the guarantee found in every package.

CAUTION.—While Saltogyn has given excellent results in the treatment of nervous indigestion, it should not be taken longer than five days at a time by those who are not willing to gain at least ten pounds in weight.—Advt.

IMMENSE COAL MOVEMENT.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 13.—The shipments of anthracite for the month of October amounted to 7,110,950 tons, exceeding the shipments of June, 1917, which had been the greatest of any month in the history of the industry, by 61,913 tons. Total shipments for the first ten months of 1917 amounted to 64,889,047 tons, an increase over the same period in 1916 of 9,088,427 tons.

NERVOUSNESS AND BLUES

Symptoms of More Serious Sickness.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have suffered with female trouble, backache, nervous spells and the blues. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. Duncan Ross Tells the West Middlesex Electors of Political Trickery.

BY STAFF REPORTER.

CARADOC, Nov. 13.—That opposition to Duncan Ross in West Middlesex in the form of an Independent candidate is not likely to develop was indicated at a largely attended meeting in the Cowan school on the 9th concession of Caradoc Township tonight. Constituents in this section of the riding, misunderstanding their candidate's action in failing to vote with Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the military service bill, were, it was rumored, prepared to nominate another man. That this will not take place was indicated when one of the men who had been a prime mover in drafting a resolution urging the appointment of a candidate addressed the meeting saying that he was perfectly satisfied with Mr. Ross' views and was confident that he would faithfully represent them.

Explains Stand.

Mr. Ross, addressing the meeting, explained once more that he had supported the military service bill because it was such a marked improvement on the act then in the statutes, which gave unlimited power to the Government. Sir Wilfrid, he explained, had been bound by a promise to his constituents in 1911 that he would never support any conscription measure unless the measure were first submitted to the people.

The prospective candidate asserted that when the bill was first brought down in the House he went to his leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, to consult him on his attitude.

To him he made the same statements that he was now making to his constituents, pointing out the superiority of the new act to the old. Sir Wilfrid said "Duncan, you do what you think is right. If you favor it I entirely approve. I am pledged to my people."

Military Service.

Explaining his stand on the military service question, Mr. Ross read to the electors several sections of the old act, by which men could be conscripted in event of an emergency which was defined as "war, invasion, riot or insurrection, real or apprehended." It provided for calling up all men between the ages of 18 and 60 except those exempted by law. In the event of an invasion every man capable of bearing arms could be called up. The exemptions were very few, including only judges, cabinet ministers, deputy ministers of the federal and provincial governments, clergy and telegraph operators in actual employment.

Many people were under the impression, he said, that the men called up by that act could not be sent overseas, but this was not so, as section 69 gave the governor-in-council power to place the militia or any part thereof on active service anywhere in Canada, and also beyond Canada for the defence thereof when deemed advisable so to do by reason of emergency.

Such an act, he declared, to be Prussianism, and asserted that it was more drastic than the German military laws. It was certainly too much power to vest in the hands of the Government then in power.

Didn't Take Boys.

The military service act which he supported didn't take boys at 18 years of age, as did the old act, and it limited the number to 100,000. By Section 11 men in occupations of as great value to the state as military service were exempted if their cases met with the approval of exemption tribunals in their districts. Their chances were ten to one in comparison with the old act.

"I went to the extent of asking that bonafide farmers as a class should be exempted, but the proposition was turned down in favor of the more general term. I do not promise that every farmer will be exempted, in cases where there are three and four boys on a farm, one may be taken, but then, under the old hit and miss plan all four might be taken, and there could be no appeal. I urged that the time for compulsory service had not come. I think yet that our 500,000 men could have been enlisted had recruiting been properly conducted.

A Staunch Liberal.

Continuing, he declared himself to be a staunch Liebral. "I am just plain Duncan Ross," he said. "None of my people were ever anything else but Liberals, and so long as the principles of that party remain what they are none of them will be anything else if I can help it. I don't believe in this hybrid Union Government. There is too much Conservative material for the Liebrals to leaven it. I believe it is formed for the purpose of winning the election for the big interests, and I don't intend to support it. I will go to Ottawa, if returned, prepared to deal fairly with all questions, no matter in which quarter they arise. I will hew to the line and let the chips fall where they may. I am a Liberal all the time, and I intend to fight for Liebral principles."

Conscription of wealth, as well as of men, was demanded by Mr. Ross. "Nothing else will satisfy me," he said. He urged also that the special war tariff of 7½ per cent be removed. Referring to his support of a measure favoring the removal of duty on coal oil, he asked: "Does my opponent in this riding support that motion?"

"He voted in favor of the big interests, in favor of the Imperial Oil Company." Cement, he declared, had met with the same opposition from the "farmer" candidate. "He is going about the constituency telling you that you should have a farmer to represent you," said Mr. Ross. "But does he vote for the measures that are for the farmers' benefits?" He declared that unless Sir Wilfrid were returned and permitted to remove the duty on agricultural implements, these would be selling at rates next year 25 per cent in advance of those now prevailing.

That C. N. R. Deal.

After referring briefly to the C. N. R. deal and the war-time elections act, he made an appeal for the constituents to stand together. "A house divided aggainst itself falls," he said. "I appeal to you on behalf of Liberalism to get together, forget little differences and misunderstandings, and to begin the fight in earnest."

That they might not misunderstand his attitude towards the soldiers overseas, he stated that he was heart and soul with them. "Those boys have gone to fight for Canada," he said, "and 30,000 of them have laid down their lives. We are here in happy and comfortable homes, and I for one, and you for another, are going to see that those boys are not deserted, and that they get the necessary reinforcements."

It would be foreign to every fibre in you, to every drop of blood in you to say that our brave soldiers are not to be relieved. I stand for sending reinforcements, and we will send them to the extent of every man that Canada can honestly spare. Get together. Close up the ranks. Stand by your principles and roll up such a vote that the result will be received with no pleasure in Toronto.

PRINCESS PLAYERS' CHORUS.

These dainty singing and dancing girls perform twice daily, matinee and night, at the Princess Theatre in popular musical comedy and drama.

THE MORAN SISTERS—A high-class vaudeville act at the Patricia, today only, matinee and night. This act is refined and artistic and cannot fail to appeal to the most exacting musical taste.

This colossal spectacle, which cost over $1,000,000 to produce, will be shown at the Patricia Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next. It is the most astounding, appalling picture that has ever been conceived. More than one year was required for its making. Two armies of infantry, cavalry and artillery, fleets of war vessels, battleships, aeroplanes, every death-dealing device this century has produced, was utilized to make this drama comprehensive and convincing. Real cities were built to be destroyed. A hundred other huge, stunning, original features make it a cinema spectacle beyond comparison or description.

PRINCESS

"A SUMMER VACATION" AT THE PRINCESS.

A musical comedy will be presented the last of this week at the Princess Theatre by the Princess Players, entitled "A Summer Vacation," and if you want to laugh come and see this ridiculously funny comedy, for there is not a serious moment in the entire play. It is written for laughing purposes only and fulfills its mission, and deals with life at a summer resort, where the Hogg family has gone to spend their vacation, and owing to their name there are many misunderstandings which keep the audience in an uproar of laughter. Six pretty maidens will sing and dance six of the latest New York hits. An excellent picture program is booked. b

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

OBSERVATIONS POLITICAL.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

With your kind permission I would like to give expression to a few ideas and facts regarding the discredited Borden Government and the present so-called "Union Government."

The formation of this Union Government is really the best thing for the Liberal party, as a whole, and will materially assist them at the coming election in a straight party contest, for that is what it means. I do not think the Union Government is a very happy combination, and in my opinion is destined for an early grave. But there will not be many mourners in either party. And its death will not be caused altogether by the Liberal party, but largely by the disgruntled Tories themselves, who do not relish the idea of being forced to mix and divide their spoils with their Liberals. Do you notice how the Tories are kicking against the Union Government in Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, and, in fact, nearly all over Canada? When the Borden Government found themselves in the mud up to the neck, with six years of mismanagement, extravagance and incompetency, and a certain prospect of being wiped off the map by the electors of Canada, they conceived the idea of forming this Union Government, by getting a few renegade Liberals to assist them in deceiving the public. But, sir, they made no definite move towards a "nion government until they had succeeded by closure in passing all the nefarious legislation they wanted, knowing quite well that a union government would never consent to it, if given the privilege of having a say in the matter. This reminds me of another kind of plotter:

The ostrich covered up his head
In a conspicuous spot;
"Do not disturb me, please," he said,
"For I'm hatching out a plot."

These Liberals must either remain where they are until kicked out, and condone and approve of all they previously strongly condemned in the House, or else resign their ministerial positions and stand by their former colors and professed principles of real Liberalism. Which will they do, think you?

The people of Canada, of all classes and political opinions, know quite well that conscription, the military votes act, and the war-time elections act were all, more or less, conceived, framed and passed with the sole object and intent of winning the elections and keeping the Tories in power. And the Union Government has been formed for the same purpose, as we all know. No doubt you have heard of, and perhaps seen, the Australian boomerang, and how disastrously it operates against the sender. Well, sir, I believe that the disreputable efforts of the Borden Government to retain power in Canada will have the same effect on the Tories as the proverbial "boomerang" when the Canadian people have a chance to express their candid opinions at the polls.

We all know that the Liberal M. P's. who have recently entered the Union Government fought and talked manfully night and day against, and vigorously condemned the legislation of the Borden Government, which could only be, and was, passed with the aid of "closure." That is one reason why I cannot understand and wonder how these so-called Liberals can conscientiously and consistently swallow the "bait" offered to them, and accepted, sit and legislate with the same men they pronounced to be incapable and totally unworthy of the confidence of the Canadian people. I don't think they can stand it very long, and shall not be surprised if some of them soon resign their positions in disgust, and once more try to fall into line with their former political associates. There will likely be two or three of the former Liberals who will remain with the gang, but they are not worthy of much consideration or notice.

The Tories have no monopoly of loyalty, patriotism, or a desire to win the war. Everybody in Canada wants to win the war, don't they? You cannot find anyone in Canada, who does not. The Liberals of Canada are just as patriotic and as much entitled to call themselves "win-the-war" people as anyone else. That cry and its accompanying schemes, with loud-mouthed professions of superiority, was originated by the Tories for political purposes, and is being shouted from the house-tops by them solely as a vote catcher. A stranger would imagine, to hear and read the constant ravings of some of the Tory newspapers, that the Borden Government and its adherents possessed all the virtue, honor, honesty and patriotism in the Dominion. However, to get at the real truth and facts relating to the six years' record of the Borden Government, one has only to read the Hansard of the past few sessions of Parliament, and listen to the voice of the people. They are thinking deeply and will vote silently. Some wonderful surprises are coming to the much discredited Tory party in Canada. Wait patiently and see. But faith without works will not do much good, will it? I firmly believe, and so do thousands of Conservatives, that at the approaching Dominion elections, the Liberal party will victoriously sweep the Dominion from ocean to ocean, and be returned to power with a large majority. Then, and not till then, will Canada be liberated from the devastating Tory incubus that has existed during the past six years. Then, and not till then, will Canadian affairs cease to be mismanaged largely by a hungry bunch of pillaging traitors from the east, and by the prince of boodlers from the west, of whom the Edmonton Bulletin stated a few months ago that "An investigating judge had found him to be a thief and a perjurer." That was rather a hard crack, but no doubt all right. Let us get together, people, and lend a hand by hard work and vote, in returning the Liberals to power, with our illustrious and revered leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, as premier, thereby removing these serious and disgraceful obstacles to Canada's progress and prosperity.

Faithfully yours,
OBSERVER.

"GOD SAVE THE PEOPLE."

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

We are interested in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's question, "Who are the electors of Canada?"

It is a very necessary question for us to consider.

The franchise privileges extended by the Conservative Government to the female relatives of soldiers is a slur on the legislation of a democratic country.

Why did this same Government refuse to give the soldiers themselves—for whom they now appeal as solicitous—an opportunity to vote on conscription before the measure was placed on the statute book?

We were told at the time that conscription was a democratic measure. Then why not have trusted democracy to record its approval of it?

Australia, the most advanced of all our British colonies, with its wise, humane legislation, favoring the workers and producers, its short hours, early closing, unemployment, health insurance, mothers' pensions, etc., turned conscription down.

The civilian vote recorded a big majority, and the soldier vote was seven to one against it.

Would anyone suggest that Australia is not democratic?

Will anyone suggest that she is lacking in courage, remembering the tragedy of her loses at Gallipoli and in Flanders?

Why are aliens to be disfranchised because they did not live in Canada before 1902? It seems a silly reason. Has the mantle of oppression which they shook off their shoulders when they left their old countries fallen upon Canada?

What will their Canadian-born children think of this injustice to their parents? Will it give the children a favorable impression of Canada as a desirable place of residence in the future?

Is this despotic idea intended to impress upon a democratic people what a free, liberal country they are living in?

Will the Conservative politicians never learn from history the mistakes to avoid? Have they forgotten that a little bone of contention on the franchise question started the Boer war? Just a difference of two years in the argument—and think of the awful blood and slaughter that ensued! Do we expect British women and aliens to sit down quietly and take, without a murmur, what the Britishers in South Africa would not tolerate? Is it democratic, is it honest to deprive respectable citizens of the right to express themselves on national questions, and at the same time impose taxes and make demands on them?

Why are Canadian women penalized because they have no soldier relatives. We have a few relatives doing their bit, but we fail to see why it should specially qualify us to vote! Do the soldiers' wives desire to deprive other women of a voice in the country's welfare? We think not. Do the soldiers—for whom many of the disfranchised women have been working so diligently—desire to penalize them? Women are reaping what they have sown in one respect. Why not work for "human suffrage" on broad democratic lines? We should not demand for ourselves that which we deny to others. Let us ask for a vote for every man and woman, irrespective of race, sex or creed. This is the only sane basis on which a democracy can work towards unity. Surely this is what our men are making such great sacrifices for! The world is waking up, as witness Russia. The future of Canada depends very largely upon the attitude of the coming Government towards all its citizens. It would be a terrible thing if in the future naturalized Canadians found it necessary to emigrate to Russia for the citizens' privileges and freedom that are denied them here. "Government rests upon the consent of the people to be governed." Well might Sir Wilfrid Laurier ask, "Who are the electors of Canada?"

We sincerely trust the electors will answer with no uncertain voice, "The people!" God save the people!

QUALITY STANDARD FOR BREAD MAY BE MADE COMPULSORY

Some Bakers Show Tendency to "Skimp."

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—The acting commissioner regarding the cost of living has issued the regular monthly statement of the cost of bread in most of the larger cities of Canada for the month of September. The number of cities furnishing accurate data on the bread costs is increasing. The cost of bread in September shows little change since August. Hamilton shows an increase in cost of .2 cents per pound; Brantford .39 cents per pound; Winnipeg .2 cents per pound; Montreal approximately .5 cents per pound, and Toronto .31 cents per pound. These variances are due largely to the variance in the cost of flour used for baking during the month.

There is a disposition on the part of bakers in some cities to reduce the quality of the flour used, or the quantity of quality, or both of the other ingredients. A compulsory standard of quality may be established unless this practice is abandoned.

Following is a comparison of costs in Toronto and Western Ontario cities:

City.	Per bbl cost flour	cost flour. Per pound	Ingredient.	Baking.	Delivery.	Overhead and management.	Cost of pound of bread.
Toronto	$11.50	4.39	.31	.51	.90	.42	6.54
Brantford	11.33	4.24	.43	.54	.66	.82	6.59
London	11.31	4.25	.52	.54	.86	.68	6.48
Woodstock	11.70	4.25	.61	.59	.50	.39	6.34
Guelph	11.70	4.25	.61	.59	.50	.39	6.34
Stratford	11.70	4.25	.61	.59	.50	.39	6.34

Each baker reporting is required to send to the department of labor the invoice of his purchases of flour during the month. These show the average cost per barrel of flour purchased during September, as follows:

Halifax $12.24; St. John $12.05, Montreal $9.74, Toronto $11.60, Ottawa, $11.39, Hamilton $11.37, Brantford $11.10, London, $11.30, Niagara Falls and St. Catharines $12.00, Guelph $11.12, Port Arthur $10.64, Winnipeg $10.11, Regina $10.41, Calgary, $9.42, Edmonton $8.68, Medicine Hat $9.34, Vancouver $11.59.

RASPUTIN—DEVIL OR SAINT

—by The Princess Radziwill

"The joy of the public at the murder of Rasputin could not be suppressed, notwithstanding the fear of the police. In all the theatres and public places the national anthem was sung with immense enthusiasm. Only a few hysterical women wept over the end of his wicked career."

"As the 'Prophet' was putting on his overcoat to depart Prince Youssoupoff shot him with his revolver at the foot of the stairs."

(Copyright, Canada, 1917. Exclusive district rights secured by London Advertiser.)

Very Little Is Known of the Details Surrounding the Murder of Gregory Rasputin, But the Essential Facts Have Leaked Out, Due to the Immunity Guaranteed the Prime Movers in the Plot by the Unanimous Public Approval of Their Courage in Removing the "Black Monk."

Prince Youssoupoff, a Young Nobleman Violently Opposed to the Things for Which Rasputin Stood, Drew the Lot Which Made Him the Hero of the Adventure—He Shot the Russian "Traitor" at the Conclusion of a Prearranged Affair in His Own Home—The Body Was Thrown Into the Neva River.

CHAPTER VIII (Continued)

Why his feelings had undergone such a change it is impossible to say, but one may make a pretty near guess as to the motives which actuated him. One of the principal motives undoubtedly was the idea that existed among a certain circle of persons that if peace were made with Germany, the English and French officials working with Russian officials in perfecting the defence of the fatherland, and whose presence already had prevented so many machinations, would depart. This would leave once more a free field for the capacity of all the civil and military functionaries of the war office and commissariat departments, who could make a new harvest of rubles as a result of the unavoidable expenses which the liquidation of the war would necessarily entail.

There were, however, some persons who, seeing the dangers in the path in which this nefarious individual was leading Russia, decided that, as nothing else could bring about his removal, it had to be effected by violent means. I do not seek to excuse them, far less to take their part. Murder remains murder, but if ever an assassination had an excuse, this was the slaying of Rasputin, which also implied the destruction of the crew of unscrupulous people of which he was the tool. There was something of self-sacrifice in the conspiracy to which he fell a victim, something of an intense love of the fatherland in the spirit that armed the hand of the man whose pistol sent him into eternity. One may condemn the deed and yet excuse its motive. Though I am not trying to do so, yet I shall not be the one to cry out for vengeance against the over-excited young people who risked everything in the world to deliver their country from evil.

The Murder of Rasputin.

Of the details of the murder we know very little, and even the travelers who have gone abroad since it was committed could only speak vaguely about the circumstances that attended it. It is certain, however, that there was a deeply laid and well organized plot to kill the "Prophet," that about a dozen persons, some of them belonging to the best and to the highest social circles, were concerned in it, and that at last lots were drawn to select the man who was to execute the victim. Among those persons were members of the Conservative faction of the Duma, some officers of several guard regiments, and even ladies of the smartest set of Petrograd. That something was known concerning this plot in governmental circles can be seen from the fact that the minister of the interior, Mr. Protopopoff, who had always been one of the most ardent disciples of Rasputin and who had been working with him for the conclusion of a peace which both considered to be useful to their personal interests, hearing that he was going to have supper at the house of Prince Youssoupoff, sent there the prefect of Petrograd, General Balk, with instructions to watch over the "Prophet." When the prefect appeared upon the scene, he was politely asked by the master of the house to withdraw, as his presence was not required.

Young Prince Youssoupoff, who, by the way, is well known in London, is the husband of the Princess Irene of Russia, the first cousin of the czar. By virtue of his position he could do whatever he liked, even to dismiss curtly the principal police official of the capital. At the supper which he gave on the night when Rasputin was killed about a dozen people belonging to the best circle of Petrograd society were present. What passed during the meal and how the murder itself was committed is not known even now, though several versions of the crime are given. Some say that it was done during the meal, and that the pretext for it was the conduct of Rasputin toward one of the ladies present at the table. Other people relate that they waited until the "Prophet" was on the point of departing, and that as he was putting on his overcoat the young man who had drawn the lot designating him for the deed shot him with his revolver at the foot of the stairs. The body was then wrapped up in a blanket and put into the automobile of a very high personnage, which was waiting in the garden of the house where the event took place and driven to the Neva, where it was dropped under the ice. It seems that after this had been accomplished one of the conspirators went to Tsarskoie-Selo and informed the czar of what had taken place, as well as of his own share in the deed.

In the meanwhile the authorities had become suspicious. At 3 o'clock in the night screams had been heard by a policeman on duty at the corner of the street in which was situated the house of Prince Youssoupoff. He also noticed several persons coming out of the house, not by the usual entrance, but by the garden, which had a door leading into another street. After this, an automobile was seen driving out of that same garden, an altogether strange circumstance. This automobile was seen by another policeman about one hour later in the islands which surround Petrograd, driving close to the Neva and not on the usual road. The next day the garden of Prince Youssoupoff was searched by secret service agents, who found some blood traces on the snow, but the servants of the prince declared that it was the blood of a dog that had been shot the day before. No one dared say or do anything more against the supposed murderers, especially as the body of their victim had not yet been found. The river was dragged and it was not until twenty-four hours after the event that the dead man was discovered under the ice in a frozen condition, with the features so completely battered that they could be recognized only with difficulty.

Rejoicing by the Populace.

The curious thing is that, though it was known exactly where the body had been dropped, it could not be found at once, having been carried away by the current further than had been expected. This gave rise to all kind of rumors, and the friends of Rasputin tried to spread the news that he had escaped and was hiding away somewhere from his persecutors. The tale, however, could not be kept up for any length of time, as the whole capital with an unheard-of rapidity became aware that the most detested man in the whole of Russia had at last met with the fate which he so richly deserved. The joy of the public could not be suppressed, notwithstanding the fear of the police. In all the theatres and public places the national anthem was sung with an immense enthusiasm. No one regretted what had happened, and the people suspected of having had a hand in the murder received messages of congratulation from every quarter. In fact, they became at once national heroes. The murder so far has remained unpunished, and it is more than likely that no one will be brought to account for it.

As for the body of Rasputin, it was first kept in the hospital where it had been taken after its recovery from under the ice. The police received orders not to allow it to be seen by the crowds, which one feared would flock in numbers to have a last look at their "saint," the "Blessed Gregory," as he was called. But to the general surprise these crowds did not manifest any curiosity to view the mortal remains of the man about whom so much fuss had been made in his lifetime, but after whose death the whole Russian world seemed to breathe more freely than it had been able to do for the last ten years or so. Among the clergy satisfaction was openly expressed, and it was only a few hysterical women who were found to weep over the end of the career of one of the wickedest men who had ever lived.

The question most discussed in connection with the death of this sinister adventurer was whether he was to be allowed a Christian burial. He had been, after all, but a sectarian, a heretic, the follower of a creed which was not only reproved by the orthodox church, but also prosecuted by the law of the land. The synod was called upon to pronounce itself on the subject when the advice of the Metropolitan Pitirim of Petrograd, one of the personal friends of Rasputin, at last prevailed, and he was buried with the rites of Holy Church. Some of the ladies who had been the first cause of his having obtained the importance which grew to be attached to his strange figure did not wait, however, for the permission of the ecclesiastical authorities, and a few hours after the body had been discovered Madame W., one of the most hysterical among the many women followers of Rasputin, caused solemn prayers to be celebrated in her apartments for the repose of his soul. She went to fetch his two daughters, girls of sixteen and fourteen years of age, who were living with him at Petrograd taking them to her house and declaring that she would henceforward consider and treat them as her own children.

But apart from this small group of blind admirers no one regretted him, not even the crew of parasites that had surrounded him and exploited him. By one of those strange anomalies, such as can only take place in Russia, Mr. Manussewitsch-Manuloff, who had been the indirect cause of his death, was appointed, together with other secret police agents, to investigate the details connected with the murder of his former friend and patron. Of course, the inquest led to nothing. No one had any wish to see it end otherwise than in oblivion. Every political party in Russia was agreed in thinking that with the disappearance of this dangerous man the dynasty had won a battle just as important for the safety of its future existence as would have been a victory on the battlefield against a foreign foe. The names of the murderers, though pronounced nowhere, were blessed by all sincere Russian patriots, who cried out when they heard that Rasputin was no more, "Thank God that this adventurer is dead and long live the czar!"

Woman Sufferage

Its War Time Aspect

London, England.—The Women of England are doing their duty. They are taking care of the wounded, or if they cannot assist in work of that kind they are adding their savings to promote the good work. They are knitting and sewing for the soldiers at the front. The suffragists have given so little trouble to the Government that it will undoubtedly soften the hearts of those in Parliament, since the "militants" have turned all their energies to aid the fighting men of England, and so sufferage may soon come after this terrible war is over.

Thousands of women in Canada have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of Women's ills by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This temperance medicine, though started nearly half a century ago, sells most widely today, because it is made without alcohol or narcotics.

It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on wrapper.

Many a woman is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down and worn out for no reason that she can think of. In ninety-nine per cent of these cases it is the womanly organism that requires attention; the weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes, are only symptoms. Go to the source of trouble. When that is corrected the other symptoms disappear.

St. Thomas, Ont.—"I wish to say for the benefit of other women who suffer that I recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a great help. I have personally recommended the same to many who in turn have been helped a great deal by its use." Mrs. F. J. Bowden, 19 Oliver St., St. Thomas, Ont.

ITALIANS BEAT ENEMY BACK IN ATTACKS ALONG ASIAGO PLATEAU

Artillery of All Calibres Effectively Supports Brilliant Infantry Corps.

RELEASE SOME PRISONERS

Preparation for New Enemy Attack Stopped By Artillery.

ROME, Nov. 13.—Attacks by the Teutonic allies along the Asiago plateau front have been repulsed by the Italians, according to the official communication issued today.

The communication adds that the enemy, with the aid of large boats, crossed the river at Zenson and established a bridgehead, but that they were repulsed by the Italians toward the river bank.

The text of the communication follows:

"During the night of Sunday the enemy, with renewed and greater efforts, attempted to attack the Mount Gallio Longara-Melletta di Gallio front on the Asiago plateau. During a counter-attack following a desperate struggle, the enemy was repulsed, and suffered very serious losses. Well supported by artillery of all calibres, the 9th Infantry Regiment of the Regina Brigade and the Verona Alpine Battalion distinguished themselves by their bravery.

New Attack Nipped.

"During yesterday afternoon intense enemy movements, which were the prelude to a new attack, were thwarted effectually and stopped by our artillery.

"Near Canove, west of Asiago, our 16th Storming Detachment attacked an enemy detachment, and through its capture released some of our men who had been made prisoner during previous actions.

"From the Brenta to the lower Piave the enemy armies, which in the past days had only been hindered in their advance by rearguard actions and stopped by interruptions on the highways, have occupied territory evacuated by us, and are now in contact with our line.

23 Miles From Venice.

"With the aid of large boats enemy groups succeeded at dawn at Monte San Dona di Piave (about 23 miles northeast of Venice) in crossing to the right (west) bank of the river at Zenson, and in establishing a bridgehead. Promptly faced by our troops, they were counter-attacked and repulsed toward the river bank.

"During yesterday, despite unfavorable atmospheric conditions, a large number of our aviators bombarded enemy bivouacs on the left bank of the Piave, and turned machine gun fire at a low altitude on troops marching along the road on the bank of the river."

C. P. R. WILL ABIDE BY BOARD'S AWARD

MONTREAL, Nov. 13.—On being notified by the Canadian Government of the findings of the conciliation board appointed at the request of the maintenance of way men to arbitrate on a demand for increase of wages from the Canadian Pacific Railway, the C. P. R. has replied that it will, as in duty bound, abide by these findings of the board, under which increases are recommended amounting to a total cost of of over one million dollars additional wages per annum, although it was considered unfair to ask the company to pay higher wages than are being paid for similar work on other Canadian and American railways.

"Union" Meeting Fails to Agree in City of Brantford

BRANTFORD, Nov. 13.—Everything points to a straight party fight in the riding of Brant. A union meeting of ten delegates from the Liberal and Conservative parties tonight failed to decide on a fusion candidate. Tonight's union meeting, which was held in the Temple building, followed the offer of Col. Harry Cockshutt, the Conservative nominee, to resign, provided John Harold, the Liberal nominee, would do the same.

Hon. N. W. Rowell, whose name had been mentioned as a fusion candidate, had notified them that he was not open for the position. Only one motion was placed before the meeting and that was one to adjourn. The Liberals supported John Harold, a strong Union Government supporter, and the Conservatives, Col. Harry Cockshutt, who had been asked by Premier Borden to become a union candidate here after the Union Government was consummated.

The Liberals pointed out that Mr. Harold was a strong supporter of the Union Government, having resigned as soon as the union was formed. The discussion was largely along the lines of the relative merits of the two men, motion to adjourn was then moved, but withdrawn for a time. The Conservatives asked the Liberals if there was a Conservative in the riding they would support as a fusion candidate, and then the Liberals came back with a similar question.

They also wanted to know why the Conservatives would not support Mr. Harold, and it was intimated that he was once a Laurier candidate. As nothing could be done, the meeting adjourned.

UNION GATHERING.

STRATFORD, Nov. 13.—Before an audience of 1,000, the Unionists opened their campaign in support of H. B. Morphy tonight. The speakers were Sir Thomas White, G. G. S. Lindsay of Toronto, Liberal-Unionist, H. B. Morphy of North Perth, Dr. M. Steel of South Perth, Miss Clayton of Listowel and Mrs. (Major) McCrimmon of Stratford. All spoke strongly in support of Union Government and putting into effect at once the military service act.

"We are living in grave times," declared Sir Thomas White. "After reviewing the present situation in Europe, he declared: "On the west front, where Great Britain fights, where France fights and Canada fights, and where next year the United States will fight, depends the destiny of Canada and the Empire, the fate and hope of the world."

Canada, he said, had put forth a great and mighty effort in this war.

"Over in Flanders tonight our four divisions are holding a post of honor; their deeds have thrilled the world."

The principle of unity was elaborated upon. "We must stand together night and day until this job is finished," he said.

Union is Essential.

"Unity of purpose and action is all essential. It is for this principle that Union Government has been formed."

The progress of events in parliament leading up to formation of Union Government was sketched. The issue that divides the Union Government from Laurier is the military service act, he said.

Sir Thomas told of a visit to Vimy Ridge last November and brought the message from Gen. Byng, who declared, "they are sound clean through." "I was told by officers at the Somme that they were going into the trenches 300 or 500 strong where we should have had 1,000," said the speaker.

As to wastage of troops at the front, he declared since January 1, the difference between recruits and wastages, from all causes, was 55,000 men.

"Are we, who argued, entreated and begged our men to go, not bound by an honorable obligation to support the boys at the front," he said. "The national duty of Canada is to continue to prosecute the war by securing needed reinforcements. The issued is whether Canada will continue to prosecute the war and find needed reinforcements for men or whether Canada shall cease her efforts and withdraw from the war.

Must Tax Profits.

Union Government, he claimed, was formed in order that the leaders in parties might unite for the purpose of winning the war. The Union Government has in its program the organization of the country for war—the organization of the resources at home as well as the man-power overseas. Abnormal profits due to war must be abnormally taxed. In industry where food is produced, restrictions will be made that no abnormal profits be made. "When I was in France, I never saw so much virility, quality or virtue in my life. I did not believe it existed in the world until I went to the front and saw the men there."

Tribute was paid to women and the hope expressed that soon women would be completely enfranchised.

"Union Government stands for the mobilization of the resources of the country," he said.

"Do I understand that means conscription of wealth as well as of manpower?" asked a voice from the audience.

"The term conscription of wealth is not very clear," replied Sir Thomas. "If you mean taxation, you will find in Borden's manifesto that the Government will take such steps of taxation as are socially justified and will enable Canada to carry on the war."

"We are already taxed," said the citizen.

Favored Extension.

H. B. Morphy declared himself as in favor of the extension of the late Government, Union Government, and for the enforcement of the military service act at once.

G. G. S. Lindsay, Toronto, indorsed Union Government and conscription. He believed though that they should both have been brought about much earlier. He declared compulsory service had been on the statute books for fifty years, and in 1904 Sir Wilfrid interpreted the old militia act as permitting sending of troops out of Canada. He devoted considerable time to the Quebec situation, which province, he said, had isolated itself, though in the matter of exemption applications from parts of Ontario it was little better.

"The fighting and financing burden must be equalized, and that is one aim of the Union Government," declared Dr. Steele, who declared South Perth was strong for union.

WASH INTERNALLY WITH RIGA WATER

A CLEAR COMPLEXION AND BRIGHT EYES NEED A CLEAN BODY.

Brain Cannot Be Active If Your Body Is Clogged With Impurities.

As the face and hands and body are washed daily to remove impurities, so it is necessary for the same reason that the intestines should be flushed regularly. Drugs will not do this. RIGA WATER will.

RIGA WATER does not bring about harmful stimulation and reaction which follow the use of ordinary drug remedies. It acts in effect as a mechanical flusher. By softening the contents of the intestines it encourages normal, healthy bowel movements, upon which cleanliness of the body and clearness of head mainly depend.

Sold by druggists. Recommended by physicians.

GOVERNMENT LIMITS PACKERS' PROFITS TOO; NOW SEVEN PER CENT

Govt. Will Take Profit In Excess of 15 Per Cent on Capital.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Archie McCoig's agitation for Government control of packing houses and the resultant report of W. F. O'Connor disclosing the enormous profits of certain packing firms, have had some effect.

Official announcement was made this afternoon of the Government's plan to establish effective control over all packing houses in Canada. The action taken provides for a control of the profits of the packers and for the appropriation by the Government of all profits in excess of fifteen per cent, one-half of all profits in excess of seven per cent and up to fifteen per cent, will be taken by the Government. The official announcement states that the control of profits shall be as follows:

1. No packer shall be entitled to a profit of more than two per cent of his total annual turnover, that is, his total sales during any one year.

2. If the two per cent on annual turnover exceeds seven per cent on the actual capital invested in the business, the profit shall be further restricted as follows:

(a) Up to seven per cent on capital, the packer may retain the profits.

(b) If the profits exceed seven per cent and do not exceed fifteen per cent, one-half of the profits in excess of seven per cent shall belong to the packer and one-half to the Government.

(c) All profits in excess of fifteen per cent shall belong to the Government. Suitable regulations shall be made to insure the carrying out of this policy.

Ontario's Vacant Senatorship Goes a "Tory" Stalwart

W. H. Bennett Is Favored by "No Patronage" Union Government.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Wm. H. Bennett, who has represented East Simcoe as a Conservative in the Commons, has been appointed to the Senate.

He was a candidate for the Commons in 1891, 1896, 1900, 1904, 1908, 1911 and at by-elections in 1892 and 1897. He was only twice defeated, in 1891 and 1908. He is in his 58th year.

UNSEEN SUBMARINE SINKS U.S. STEAMER; 5 OF CREW KILLED

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Nov. 13. — News of the destruction by a German submarine of the American steamer D. N. Luckenbach on October 27 was brought here today by 24 survivors of the crew. Five of the crew were killed.

The vessel was sunk about 100 miles from the French coast, off the Bay of Biscay, the survivor said, by an unseen torpedo, whose explosion killed the five men. The survivors were picked up by a Danish ship two days after the sinking.

The five men killed on the D. N. Luckenbach were members of the engineroom force. The survivors escaped in two small boats. They experienced rough weather, with wind and snow, and were in an exhausted condition when picked up by the Danish ship, which brought them to this port.

Mother, why dont you take Nuxated Iron?

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable All the Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?—The Doctor Gave Some to Susie Smith's Mother, and She Was Worse Off Than You Are and Now She Looks Just Fine.

NUXATED IRON WILL INCREASE THE STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE OF WEAK, NERVOUS, CAREWORN, HAGGARD-LOOKING WOMEN 100 PER CENT IN TWO WEEKS' TIME IN MANY INSTANCES.

THE CHILD'S APPEAL

"There can be no Beautiful, Healthy Rosy Cheeked women without Iron."
F. KING, M. D.

"There can be no healthy, beautiful, rosy cheeked women without iron," says Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author. "In my recent talks to physicians on the grave and serious consequences of iron deficiency in the blood of American women, I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron—nuxated iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking women patients. Pallor means anaemia. The skin of an anaemic woman is pale, the flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone, the brain fags, the memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women the roses go from their cheeks.

"In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, degerminated cornmeal, no longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cookery, by throwing down the waste pipe, the waters in which our vegetables are cooked are responsible for another grave iron loss."

"Therefore, if you wish to preserve your youthful vim and vigor to a ripe old age, you must supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt."

"As I have said a hundred times over organic iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only take Nuxated iron when they feel weak or rundown, instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages, I am convinced that in this way they could ward off disease, preventing it becoming organic in thousands of cases and thereby the lives of thousands might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, kidney, liver, heart trouble and other dangerous maladies. The real and true cause which started their disease was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by a lack of iron in the blood.

"On account of the peculiar nature of woman, and the great drain placed upon her system at certain periods, she requires iron much more than man to help make up for the loss.

"Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous rundown people who were ailing all the while double their strength and endurance and entirely rid themselves of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles, in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate, or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. The iron demanded by Mother Nature for the red coloring matter in the blood of her children is, alas! not that kind of iron. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless.

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, tells physicians that they should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their patients—Says anaemia—iron deficiency—is the greatest curse to the health, strength, vitality and beauty of the modern American Woman.—Sounds warning against use of metallic iron which may injure the teeth, corrode the stomach and do far more harm than good; advises use of only nuxated iron.

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—beautiful healthy rosy cheeked women full of Life, Vim and Vitality

"I have used Nuxated Iron widely in my own practice in most severe aggravated conditions with unfailing results. I have induced many other physicians to give it a trial, all of whom have given me most surprising reports in regard to its great power as a health and strength builder.

"Many an athlete and prizefighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has gone down in inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron."

Dr. Scnuyler C. Jaques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But so many American women suffer from iron deficiency with its attendant ills—physical weakness, nervous irritability, melancholy, indigestion, flabby, sagging muscles, etc., and in consequence of their weakened run-down condition they are so liable to contract serious and even fatal diseases, that I deem it my duty to advise such to take Nuxated Iron. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

NOTE—Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians both in Europe and America. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in nuxated iron, that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron, and increase their strength 100 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by the Standard Drug Company, Limited, and all good druggists.

THE BETRAYAL OF THE PEOPLE.

THE people of Canada have a strong suspicion that just as they were betrayed and bled for millions of dollars since war began so they may be betrayed again unless they elect a party that will clean the polluted national stream back to its source. The average citizen may not reason the matter very clearly when he is approached by some arrogant person who tells him he is disloyal unless he votes for union government, but the average citizen has received a fixed impression as to the necessity for purging Parliament of its last stain, and he will carry the conviction born of that impression when he goes to the polls. His war sentiment has been vitiated, and faith in the leadership granted to the Conservatives in the election of 1911 completely obliterated.

He has little faith in anything that savors of the old regime, and he is inclined to look upon those who have gone over with the remnants of the shattered organization as either demagogues or dupes. He is almost certain to label the Union Government a Government of big interests, and his anger carries him to the point where he is ready to place all sincere and honest men allied with the old crowd in one category and one alone, that of those who have denied the people a full right to rule the country.

They remember that the same men denounced the Government as everything to be despised, and they marvel at the ease with which the new members have adapted themselves to the change—and many of them put the accent on the "change."

Canadians who were ready to accept the military service act have been alienated from an unswerving rally to this act because of the treachery practiced at the close of the last session, when a Parliament acting without mandate from the people, placed on the statute books legislation which relieved millioniares of a railway and practically guaranteed them millions for stock which the same Government's experts had declared to be worthless (at the same time refusing to permit Parliament to ratify the bargain) and made of the voting power the very antithesis of democracy. These despicable transactions were devised wholly to help the millionaires and to win the election. The military service act dangled in space while the "grand clean-up" was perpetrated. And thousands of people who were thinking for themselves returned to that intensity of distrust of the present ruling organization, which prevailed during the various scandals that filled the air almost constantly since war began, contracts, Foster and Garland, Fallis, Allison, Yoakum, Hughes, etc.

Union government, resorted to only after three years of war had passed, and after every possible iniquity had been practiced, was another attempt to buttress up the toppling house of cards. It has not commanded the faith of the people. It has not united the parties nor prevented an election. It has embittered the people afresh, and caused the poison of suspicion to enter more minds than ever before.

THE "ALL FOR ME" CAPITALIST.

THE knell of the "all for me" capitalist, such as Sir Joseph Flavelle represents, is sounding. This type of man is the Modern Midas, who wishes for the Golden Touch, and lives to the day when it will curse him.

The man who secures capital and builds with it for the good that may come to humanity is another type. He is the developer of the country, who works hand-in-hand with the laborer. No country could develop without the combination.

The capitalist who uses capital for human progress and who does not worship gold for itself alone is a credit to the country. He may be quite as humble as his brother of toil.

But for the rapacious money grasper, whose every instinct is predatory, there must be new laws looking toward the return of tremendous profits to the people.

Flavelle stands as the great example of Canadian avarice.

CAN THEY BE TRUSTED?

'TWAS the son of an honest Canadian patriot who, when about to cast his first vote and having but a superficial knowledge of politics, determined to question his father with regard to a measure forced through Parliament by the Borden Government in its dying hours, which appeared to him as needing a great deal of explanation before he could consider it good or straightforward business. The puzzle was the C. N. R. purchase bill.

"Father," he said, "what was this C. N. R. bill?"

The answer came quickly, though regretfully, since the father had voted for Borden in 1911: "A steal."

"But, what was its object?

"Frankly, to provide a few million dollars, not too few, either, for those who had a strong pull with the Government."

"Was there any need for the Government to take over the railway?"

"That is a debatable point. A commission advised it."

"Was the stock which the Government is going to buy worth anything?"

"No, according to the finding of the same commission which urged its nationalization. It already belonged to the country, through mortgage, according to the Government spokesmen who supported granting it a loan."

"Why was the bill rushed through Parliament and closure applied?"

"Because there was a great chance that if it were left to the next Parliament the 'moneyed interests' which are said to own the Government would get nothing instead of many millions."

"Was the act of more importance to the Government than the conscription act and soldiers' pensions? Was that why it was pushed along while the others lagged?"

"Yes, son, it was more important to the party, but not to the country. Party was placed first."

"Why the party importance?"

"Ahem; well the party needed funds, but we won't discuss that."

"Just a few more questions, dad. Why was the maximum amount to be paid not fixed at first?"

"Well, you see, the greater the amount the more for party funds, but there was such an outcry that a limit had to be fixed."

"Why was it arranged that Parliament should have no right to reject or amend the commission's award?"

"Oh, son, you're of an inquiring turn of mind. You see, there are reasons which would not look well in print. It was undesirable, from the Borden-White point of view that there should be any loophole of escape left to the nation. Now, boy, I have answered these questions honestly, because you asked me. I am a Conservative, though, and I hate to go back on the party. You see, we are told that conscription is the only issue in this election, and if that is so, don't you think we can vote for the Conservative candidate, especially since the Government is to be a 'Union' one, and things are going to change?"

"Father, tell me, if the 'Union' men are in the majority, will the men who engineered the C. N. R. deal again hold the reins of power?"

"Yes, I suppose they will, but there will be some Liberals in the cabinet to make it 'Union.'

"Dad, could you trust that gang to enforce any law fairly? I know we both favor the compulsory service measure, but we want it to be fair. I could not trust that C. N. R. bunch, could you?"

"Son, I've been fighting down that thought myself, but it's no use. You're right, it would not do. A real win-the-war Government would not waste the nation's money in wartime to please a few friends or sell out to the profiteers. I guess I'll have to change my vote this time. It hurts, but it's honest."

ROGERS FOR THE UNION GOVERNMENT.

HON. ROBERT ROGERS remains in the background, but he is carefully fostering the Union Government movement by every means in his power. He has publicly declared himself for the Union, and his silence at the present time is ominous. His agents are no doubt abroad in the land.

It may be taken as a good sound axiom that the Government for which Hon. Robert Rogers is working is the Government to turn out of power.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

$3,500,000! London takes a proud place in the opening drive for the Victory Loan.

A definite child-saving campaign is to start here soon. This is a cause vital to everyone, and should have enthusiastic support.

President Wilson has developed into a pacifist of the right kind; he wants peace after Germany has been beaten, not before.

Those who have spent time waiting for Richmond street cars lately will rejoice at the promise of immediate service improvement.

Turk soldiers say their country has been sold to Germany. The bargain was a bad one all round. The Turks won't get the money and the Huns won't get the country.

It is impossible to see the great Victory Loan organization working so smoothly and effectively without regretting that the same vigor and national strength had not been turned to account in recruiting.

Von Tirpitz would have Germany the "protector" of Belgium. But how could a weak little nation like the German protect that great bully, Belgium, which threatened the existence of the Teutons so recently?

Bourassa need not have troubled to say: "We (Nationalists) are no more united to the Liberal party than we were to the Conservatives in 1911." It is only a half truth, for they are not nearly so close. In 1911 they were welcomed by the Conservatives with open arms and taken to Ontario points, where their disloyal utterances might help the Tory cause. The Liberals spurn them. Possibly Bourassa realizes he can harm his enemy, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, most by appearing to support him while aiding his friends of the Borden regime.

The Lament of an Ancient Grit

Will somebody tell me where I am at?
Old landmarks I seem to have missed;
Say, am I a Tory or am I a Grit,
Or the man that they call a fusionist?
And who is who, and which is which,
And why is everything mixed?
I'm blest if I know which way I must go;
Will somebody tell me how I am fixed?

The Tory Government is dead and gone;
But a Tory is still at the head;
If what they say is really true,
Why don't the corpse stay dead?
But it moves along in the same old way,
With the same old head on top;
If there are Liberal legs to move it along,
They must hop as they are told to hop.

The Northern grant and the franchise act
The Globe denounced as Tory tricks;
But now the Grits must swallow them all;
And that's where I feel I am mixed.
It is clear the Grits must swallow a lot,
If the stories are true they tell;
But the dish they place before my face,
Has an ancient and fish-like smell.

But one at least knows where he is at;
His feet are still firm on the ground;
Laurier stands where he always stood,
While weak-kneed Grits are wobbling around
So now, if you ask me where I am at,
I can say with a sigh of relief:
"I see the white plume waving in front,
And follow the grand Old Chief."

THE HIGHBROW.

By Earl Reed Silvers.

Dud Treasure lay sprawled out on the sun-baked sand idly watching the antics of a group of men and girls a few yards away. One girl wore a black and white striped bathing suit, short black silk socks and bathing shoes. Dud thought the socks rather immodest, and he mentioned the fact to Tom Hathaway. Tom agreed indifferently.

"Why shouldn't a girl like that wear socks if she wants to," he asked. "It isn't any more than some of our own society women do."

"No, I suppose not." Dud's aristocratic face puckered slightly. "That girl's mighty good looking," he said suddenly.

"Yes but she is probably engaged to that big bruiser beside her."

"I've often wondered." Dud continued, undisturbed by what his companion had said, "if a girl who has never had much chance to know anyone worth while would really care to go with a real highbrow—like you, for instance,"

"Thanks for the compliment, but I'm not a highbrow." Tom smiled wisely. "I should say offhand that if one of us should try to cut out her 'feller,' we wouldn't stand a chance in the world."

Dud's eyes were thoughtful.

"I'd like to try," he said slowly.

"Why don't you?"

"How?"

"That girl you're talking about is here for the summer, probably; at least she's on the beach all day. Why don't you try to pick her up Monday?"

"Do you think I'll succeed?"

"No."

"Why?"

"Because a girl like that hasn't any use for a man like you. She'll think you're only playing with her, and when someone of her own kind comes along she'll drop you quicker than she would the proverbial hot coal."

"What will you bet on it?"

"A hundred dollars."

"Shake."

The two men shook hands solemnly, and Dud Treasure embarked upon the campaign to win the favor of Nellie Drake. On Sunday he planned out his method of procedure. It seemed inconceivable to him that a girl who had never hoped for more than a moving picture show and a glass of soda would decline an invitation to a dinner and dance at the seaside resort's leading hotel, so he determined to ask her on Monday morning to spend the evening with him. And when Monday came he was on the beach bright and early. It was 11 o'clock, however, before the girl made her appearance. Dud was rather pleased to note that she was unattended. As soon as she was settled on the sand, he opened his plan of attack. He had never had much experience with girls whom he would have designated as "middle class," so he decided to approach the subject directly, without preliminaries or fancy trimmings. He walked across the sand, stood directly in front of the fair stranger, and spoke with deference.

"I've been watching you on the beach for the past week," he said, "and I've wanted very much to know you. But I couldn't find any mutual friends, and as I am going to be here for another week only I've decided to trespass on your good nature and speak to you. Do you mind?"

The girl glanced up with rather startled eyes. For a full minute she looked at Dud directly, and it occurred to the man under inspection that she seemed very capable of taking care of herself. When she smiled, he realized that she was one of the prettiest girls he had ever seen.

"No, I don't mind," she said finally. "Won't you sit down?"

"Yes, I will, thank you." But having sat, Dud felt at a loss for something to say. The girl was regarding him with amused eyes as if she were enjoying the experience. There was a brief silence. Then the man spoke.

"My name is Dud Treasure," he announced, "and I'm staying at the New Monterey. Do you mind telling me your name?"

"I'm Nellie Drake," She seemed rather impressed to find that he was staying at the resort's most expensive hotel, and Dud smiled. His plan promised a successful termination.

"Are you staying here all summer?" he asked.

"Yes; I take tickets in the evening at an open air movie."

"Oh!" And you spend the day at the beach?"

"Yes. I'm through every night at 10 o'clock."

"That's fine. Are you going to do anything tonight?"

"Not after the show."

"Would you care to go somewhere with me?"

He expected her to jump at the invitation, but she hesitated.

"I'll bring the car around to the theatre at about nine," he continued, "and we can go somewhere for a bite to eat."

Suddenly she capitulated.

"That'll be fine," she answered. "What kind of car have you got?"

They branched off into a discussion of cars and other things until the vacant beach told them it was lunch time. Dud remarked that he had better go, but neither seemed to take the suggestion very enthusiastically, so he remained. They tried the water a little later, and Dud was surprised to see how well she swam. In fact, he found a certain fascination in her which no girl in his own set had ever been able to arouse. He admitted frankly that her English was not flawless, but he found himself enjoying the occasional slang expressions which she employed.

They swam, and talked, and lay in the warm sun until almost six o'clock. And at a lonely dinner that evening Dud wished fervently that nine o'clock were not so far away.

He was waiting outside the Airdome when she emerged, dressed simply in white. Her sun-browned face was pertly attractive, and in spite of himself he felt a vague thrill as he helped her into the car. It occurred to him suddenly that all the nice girls in the world didn't move in his particular set. He found, too, that she danced well, and when midnight arrived and she suggested that it was time for her to be home, he was genuinely sorry. He secured her promise for the next day on the beach before he left her. That night he wrote to Tom, who had gone to the city for a week. But there was a little of wonder, as well as triumph in his letter.

The two of them spent the next day on the beach, and the next night dancing. Wednesday found them together again, and on Thursday Dud decided that swimming was the best sport ever invented. It was later Thursday afternoon when he mentioned "the big bruiser" to whom Tom call his attention

"Who was the big fellow with you all last week-end?" he asked.

He was surprised to see her blush crimson.

"Oh, that was Jim," she answered carelessly. "He comes down every week."

"To see you?"

"Yes."

"But he isn't coming down this week, is he?" Dud felt very sure of himself.

"I don't know." The answer swayed his confidence just a bit, and, try as he might, he could not force her to any further admission. He went home that night rather doubtful as to the winning of his wager, but on Friday the girl was on the beach as usual, and both spent the day very much as they had spent those preceding. She told him Friday night that she wouldn't be on the beach Saturday morning, however, and Dud went home wondering. He admitted to himself that he was on the brink of falling in love; that the girl wasn't exactly his kind, but that she was good and charming just the same; and that he wanted to "cut Jim out" not so much for the hundred dollars as for his own satisfaction. He wanted to see more of Nellie.

On Saturday morning he lolled about the hotel, wishing that it was time for him to go to the beach. He watched indifferently as the postman left a bag of mail at the office, and approached the clerk without interest to ask if there was anything for him. He was rather surprised, however, to find among his letters a small lavender envelope addressed in a handwriting he did not recognize. And he was more surprised than ever when he read the contents. For the letter was from Nellie Drake, very brief and to the point.

"I'm sorry that I won't be able to meet you on the beach this afternoon or tomorrow," it said. "But Jim is coming down for the week-end. I hope I'll see you before you go home. Maybe if you could stay next week, perhaps——"

But Dud sighed and crumpled the letter in his hand. He knew that there would be no next week for him.

Our Daily Special.

The more you scratch the more it itches.

Luke McLuke Says:

The trouble with most of us is that we find it easier to pray for forgiveness than we do to resist temptation.

It is easy enough for a woman to manage a man if she has sense enough to keep him from knowing it.

After a man has had some success at fooling himself he gets the idea that he can fool other people.

Once in a while you will run into a fair-minded man. A fair-minded man is one who agrees with you.

Most of us would get along better if we were honest enough to realize that our shortcomings are due to laziness.

There are other poor arguments. But calling a man a damphool is about the poorest.

There are a lot of useless folks in the world, including the man who spends half his time wondering how he is going to spend the other half.

Any traveling man can tell you that compliments from the house come by mail, but kicks come by wire.

The old-fashioned man who lacked education and spelled pneumonia the way it is pronounced because he didn't know any other way, now has a son who spells it the way it is pronounced because he is a college graduate and an advocate of simp spelling.

As a rule, a man's mind is on T-bone and Turkey when he is praying for his daily bread.

If a man has a name that is mainly "Z's" and "X's" the betting is that he pronounces his name the other way and not the way you pronounce it.

Leave it to any man and he will tell you that the other fellow's success is due to good luck.

If there were no letter "I" in the alphabet some men wouldn't be able to talk at all.

Lemons for Complexion

Juice of two lemons made into creamy lotion can be used to bleach, whiten and soften the skin.

Make a quarter pint cheaply!

The beauty lotion which is becoming so popular throughout the country is easily prepared by anyone, and a whole quarter pint of it doesn't cost any more than a small jar of the common, ordinary cold creams.

Add the juice of two fresh lemons to three ounces of orchard white and shake well in a bottle. Strain the lemon juice two or three times through a fine cloth so no pulp gets into the lotion, then it will keep fresh for months. Regardless of what price you pay or how highly advertised, there is nothing else really more meritorious in beautifying, softening and clearing the skin. As a tan and blemish remover, also to remove oiliness, freckles and sallowness, lemon juice has no rival. Massage it into the face, neck, and arms once or twice each day, and just see if it doesn't bring out the roses and hidden beauty!

Lemons have always been used to bleach the skin, but pure lemon juice is too highly acid, therefore irritating.

Try it. This sweetly fragrant lotion will speak for itself. Any drug store or toilet counter will supply the three ounces of orchard white at very little cost, and the grocer will supply the lemons.

Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

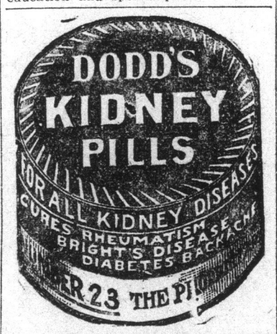

"Granny" Chamberlain

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GREY

Kept her locks youthful, dark and glossy with common garden Sage and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all grey hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Grey, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

FARMER BARTER NOW TALKS ABOUT WIFE'S TROUBLES

All Medicines Failed Until She Took Tanlac—Improvement Wonderful.

John Barter, a well-known and successful farmer on Route No. 5, who has lived continuously on the same place where he was born over fifty years ago, while in town the other day told an interesting story of his wife's return to health through the use of Tanlac, saying:

"My wife had been in a badly run-down condition for two years, suffering from stomach trouble and a rundown condition, and although she was under treatment of several specialists she did not get any better. Everything she would eat soured on her stomach, and she suffered agonies from the gas that rose from her undigested food. For a while she could live on nothing but eggs, but after a time even they acted like poison and made her miserable day and night. She had awful headaches and dizzy spells and her back would hurt so she could hardly stand it; she became so nervous that she could hardly sleep, and was so weak and rundown she couldn't do a thing about the house.

"She is now on her third bottle of Tanlac and her appetite has improved so she can eat most anything she wants, and all her troubles are rapidly passing away. She is so much better and stronger than she was a few weeks ago that the other day she insisted on getting up and milking five cows, and says it didn't tire her in the least. Her improvement has been so remarkable that I am going to take a course of Tanlac myself."

There is not a single portion of the body that is not benefitted by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system. It enables the weak, wornout stomach to thoroughly digest its food, promoting the assimilation of the nourishing products to be converted into blood, bone and muscle.

It overcomes, it is said, that great exciting cause of disease, weakness. It renders the body vigorous and elastic. It keeps the mind clear and energetic and throws off the symptoms of nervousness and indigestion. It builds up the constitution weakened by disease, and mental and physical overwork, quickens convalescence, and is an unfailing source of comfort to all suffering from such troubles.

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Ltd., under the direction of a special representative, and by an established agency in every town.

WOMEN HELP WIN THE WAR

We all know these words.

We have read them blazoned forth by posters and in connection with war loans and victory bonds.

They are words that stick in the mind and force action. We all want to help win the war.

Perhaps you have subscribed to two loans, and you may have given as much as you can to the Red Cross and you may have knitted and sewn till your fingers were pricked. Perhaps you have given to every charitable institution and helped at sales of work and entertainments for patriotic work, but little hard-working women, you have not finished your war work yet.

We have done all things that are possible to be done for the soldiers in the trenches and we are going on doing this as long as there is a war.

Myself, I should think that we should do more for the boys in training; these do not need sympathy, rather, they are deserving of envy; they do not need charity. But there is one thing that we can do for all of them to repay them in some slight degree for what they are doing for us.

They want—and we can give them—the normal sort of social life that all of us crave. Now, every winter since the war commenced we have had soldiers in our district and in our own town, so it is possible and there is the opportunity for you to open your homes to the men here. If you have a billiard table or a good library or anything you would like to share with the men who are away from their own home, and to whom just plain hospitality can bring a good deal of pleasure. Save all your monthly magazines or books that you yourself are tired of. And if you know any young friends who are talented in the way of entertaining, try and get up little social evenings for the BOYS IN KHAKI.

JIMMY COON STORIES

Jimmy Coon Dresses Like a Dandy.

Jimmy Coon is very fussy about his clothes. He seems always to think how he will look in company. Before he goes out for a moonlight stroll along the little paths around Mirror Pond he always brushes his suit, so that it shines like a glass bottle. He seems to dress up more and more as he gets older. He wants to look pretty for the boy Coons. And he wants the latest style in everything he wears. And lately he is very careful to dress so that the girl Coons admire him! Whenever he comes to a little looking-glass, he fixes his collar and necktie; and he turns his head to this side and then to the other side, to see if his hair is parted in the middle.

One day, when the sun was shining brightly on the smooth surface of a little spring of clear water, in an opening in the Great Forest, Teddy Possum hid behind a big tree, to watch Jimmy Coon "fix up," to make a call on a Coon family, a few miles away in the Great Wood.

And Teddy Possum almost split his sides, to watch Jimmy Coon "fixing himself up" to make a call! Teddy Possum had to hold both hands over his mouth to keep from laughing out loud. Jimmy Coon had found a quail's nest; and in eating the eggs, the yellow yolks had run all over his shirt front and on his face and over his necktie, and all over his hands. And Jimmy was scolding and fussing to fix himself up to make a call. He leaned down over the little spring, and washed his face and his hands, and his head and neck, over and over again; and then he would gaze into the little water-mirror to see how he looked.

And Jimmy said to himself, "Now I must shine my prettiest tonight; for I want that Coon family to admire my looks!" And Jimmy Coon put on a pair of black gloves. He said to himself, "I noticed, at the last party that I attended, that all the best-dressed Boy Coons wore grey suits with black kid gloves! That seems to be the best style for this Easter-time. And I think a grey suit and black kid gloves go very well with my complexion!"

Then Teddy Possum said to himself, "What in the world has Jimmy Coon on his eyes? Why, I really believe he is going to wear a pair of smoked glasses tonight!"

"I tell you, those glasses do make me look stunning.

And sure enough, as Teddy Possum looked closer, he saw a black streak across Jimmy's face, with circles of black around his eyes, and a little black mark down his nose; and Teddy Possum had to put both hands again over his mouth to keep from giggling aloud. And he said to himself, "Yes, it is true, Jimmy Coon has on a pair of those new-style tortoise-shell spectacles! That rascal doesn't need glasses, for his eyes are as sharp as mine. He thinks he looks stylish with those smoked glasses! And he thinks he looks like a scholar! My, how he struts about in his vanity!"

And Jimmy Coon grinned from ear to ear, as he looked at his image in that water-mirror. And he said to himself, "I tell you, those glasses do make me look stunning! I do like to see people look stylish!"

And then Teddy Possum nearly split his sides as he saw Jimmy Coon adjust his tail. You know Jimmy Coon has a splendid tail. It is his chief attraction! Why, you know many a lady who would pay almost any amount of money to wear Jimmy Coon's fluffy, bushy tail around her neck! But Jimmy Coon will not give it to any lady. He wants to keep that always for himself. It is a great ornament! And he is very proud of that beautiful plume.

Now as Teddy Possum watched Jimmy Coon, he chuckled to himself, as he saw Jimmy strutting back and forth before that water-mirror, arching his tail in a graceful curve! And Jimmy Coon said aloud, "I believe my lovely tail shows off better when I carry it high! My, how those black and white rings of hair do shine tonight! I never saw my pretty plume so graceful! And the stripes show so plainly! Why, I do believe I'm getting better looking as I grow older; and my ringed-tail just matches the colors in my beautiful grey suit! And the black rings in my plume exactly match my black kid gloves!

And Teddy Possum smothered a laugh with his two hands; and had to sit down to hold his head in his hands, for he was splitting with laughter.

Tomorrow—Jimmy Coon has an accident.

Here's More Mitts.

Dear Miss Grey.—Here I come again, but this time with a little help. Saw where "Old Maid" wished directions for knitting child's mittens. Here are my directions for size 3 years; hope they will be all right for "Old Maid":

Knit plain 1 1-4 inches, then decrease at the beginning of each needle every second round until there are 10 stitches on each needle. Then decrease every round until you have about 6 stitches left altogether. Break off your thread, leaving about 6 inches. Take off stitches on darning needle. Draw close and finish securely.

Now pick up thumb stiches on needles, picking up 3 stitches where you added on for the hand. Knit plain about 1 inch then decrease every round until you have about 6 stitches left on needles. Finish off as you did the hand. Sincerely yours,

"WYNNE."

Ans.—Among the "Wynnes," the "Bostonians" and the "Grandmas," and other readers, too, we'll surely find a way to get those little mittens knit. Directions gratefully acknowledged on behalf of "Old Maid."

Our Bostonian Friend.

Dear Miss Grey,—Isn't it good to be alive these days? But I am just pessimistic enough to admit that beautiful weather has its disadvantages also. Like "Scottie Frae Dundee" I am a lover of nature, and I want to play truant and tramp in the open and gaze at trees and skies and fields. But—three meals a day to prepare and all that goes with it! Then I am knitting my first pair of socks; at least, this second one looks like a sock. It will not be the first mismated pair in the world. Of course I mean world of socks! So I must stick to my knitting.

Have I not told you before that I was a Canadian by marriage and now by inclination?

As I was born and bred in (not old Kentucky), but the hotbed of the American revolution, and patriotism to the starry flag was instilled into me from infancy. I pledge allegiance to my flag and the country for which it stands. I have forgotten the rest, but forgive me, it was all some time ago.

So do you wonder I grieved when Canadians could say old U. S. was asleep, drugged with mammon? Now it is as it should be, and I am proud of "the country I was born in," but not quite so proud as if her boys had marched abreast with our Canadian soldiers to avenge the Belgians. Now, please, everyone read "Fightin' Sons-Of-Guns" in last week's Saturday Evening Post. And who said "Mrs. Homebird" did not want the vote? Perhaps she is like the woman who was asked if she believed in woman's suffrage and replied: "Oh, my, no, I am happily married."

I believe in equal suffrage prohibition, all religions that are lived up to, and I just looked at the clock, so I cannot tell you the rest right down to germs. My reason for all this is simply to inclose the directions for knitting mittens for "Old Maid." BOSTONIAN

Ans.—My one regret is that you looked at the clock, "Bostonian." How very, very much I should like to have heard the rest, even down to germs. Anyhow I enjoyed your letter, and hope you'll soon come again and, well to quote an old office rule, remember "A clock watcher will never be a top-notcher!" So beware.

Verses for "Sunshine."

Dear Cynthia Grey,—I saw in Thursday's Advertiser where "Sunshine" asked for the verses, "The Negro Funeral." Glad I have them for her. Would "Sunshine" return them to me, as time is very precious to me. To copy it would take some time. All my time is given to our soldiers and sailors. It does me good when you give some of those slackers a good slap. Miss Grey, I will not take any more of your precious time. MRS. J. M.

Ans.—It will be a pleasure to forward the verses to "Sunshine," or else have them printed on this page. Sincere thanks for your kindly interest.

How Grandma Knits 'Em.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see on your page a request for instructions for knitting children's mitts. This is how I have knit mitts for my children and also for my grandchildren. Cast on a sufficient number of stitches (on three needles) to fit comfortably around the wrist—rib two and purl two for the length of cuff required. Knit one row plain, then begin to widen for the thumb by making one extra stitch, knit four rows plain, then increase by two stitches on next row, one at either side of added stitch; knit four rows plain. On next row increase by more stitches. This will leave three stitches between the added stitches. Continue to increase at same rate until you have one-third more stitches, lacking three, as when you began. Slip the added stitches on a thread; these are for the thumb. Cast on three more stitches and work round and round until long enough for the fingers, then decrease gradually until only six stitches are left on needles, and with a darning needle run through these stitches to finish off. For the thumb take up remaining stitches, including the extra ones cast on, and work around until long enough for the thumb, then decrease and finish off.

The length for the fingers from the point of division should be the same about as the length from the beginning. The thumb about half that length.

GRANDMA.

Ans.—Thank you, "Grandma," dear. I'm sure our inquirer will now be able to knit the mitts without any trouble.

DAILY BIBLE QUESTION CLUB

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL QUESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Nehemiah's prayer answered. Nehemiah ii., 1-11.

Golden Text—Ask and it shall be given you. Matt. vii., 7.

1. Verse 4—The answer to Nehemiah's long prayer was developing nicely, but the position still looked critical and Nehemiah offered up to God an instantaneous and earnest prayer. What lesson is there in that for us?

2. Which is better, and why, having offered to God prayer for help and guidance in a certain thing, to gradually thank Him for having heard us, and then to go on taking it for granted that our case is safe; or to keep praying until the thing has actually been accomplished? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

3. Verse 5—To what extent is our work in life hindered, or helped, by doing daring things; pushing on with courage in face of great difficulties?

NERVES WRECKED BY ACCIDENT, COULD NOT REST OR SLEEP

London Man Was in Helpless Condition—Was Afraid To Go Out—Watched Like a Child—Tells of His Cure.

London, Oct. 31.—Much sympathy was felt in this city for Mr. Dorsey, who met with a distressing accident, when his foot was smashed in an elevator.

The shock to the nervous system was so great that Mr. Dorsey was in a pitiable condition for a long time. He was like a child in that he required his mother's care nearly all the time. He feared a crowd, could not stay alone, and could not sleep because of the weakened and excited condition of his nerves.

Detroit doctors did what they could for him, but he could not get back his strength and vigor until he fortunately heard of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is no mere accident that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food proves to be exactly what is needed in so many cases of exhausted nerves. It is composed of the ingredients which nature requires to form new blood and create new nerve force. For this reason it cannot fail, and for this reason it succeeds when ordinary medicines fail.

Mr. Laurence E. Dorsey, 39 Stanley street, London, Ont., writes: "About three years ago I got my foot smashed in an elevator in Detroit, which completely wrecked my nerves. I doctored with the doctors there, but they did not seem to be able to help me. My nerves were in such a state that I could not go downtown alone, or go any place where there was a crowd. Sometimes my mother would have to sit and watch over me at night, and sometimes I could not get my sleep at all. But one day last winter I commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and before I had completely used the first box I could see a difference in my condition. I continued using these pills for some time. The result was splendid. I feel so much better, can sleep well at night, can go out on the street and attend gatherings like the rest of people. I am so pleased to be able to tell you what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done for me, and to recommend it to other people."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of six boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.—Advt.

MAGNATES PLAN ON SAVING NEXT SEASON

Retrenchment of Finances Will Be Order of Day in the Big League Clubs—Fewer Players To Be Purchased—Less Expensive Training Trips.

Indications are that the major league baseball clubs will pursue a policy of retrenchment next season.

Spring training in the south is likely to be on a very modest scale, fewer players will be carried, and the opening games may be set back to about the first of May.

A forerunner of the retrenchment policies of major league owners was found in the draft last September, when the clubs drafted fewer players than for the past ten years.

The annual report of the National Commission, showing the players purchased from the minor leagues by major league clubs between the dates of the 1916 and 1917 drafts, showed a total of 127 players who were taken by the big leagues under approval agreements other than optional contracts.

The drafted players total 33, twelve of whom were gotten by American League clubs, and 21 by clubs in the National League.

In all, the major leagues secured a total of 160 players, including both those purchased for trial and those drafted last month. Of this number it is said that not more than 50 per cent will be taken south next spring.

The cost of taking a major league club to its training camp and maintaining it until the opening of the big league season is heavy. The average cost of a training trip is about $7,500, and the clubs which take long trips spend in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Through the playing of exhibition games in minor league towns the big league clubs manage to pick up a few hundred dollars on their way back from the training camps, but they seldom take in more than one-sixth of the total cost.

Of the sixteen major league clubs it is probable that at least ten will take much smaller squads south next March than they have taken in the past six or seven years. Only the best looking recruits will make the trip.

KEPT BOX SCORE, IS DECLARED SANE

Baseball fans who have attempted to keep box scores of ball games will agree with Judge Platt of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., who has just decided that a man who can keep a clean box score is sane enough to be paroled from an asylum.

After being confined for eighteen years in Matteawan, Harry Marx made application to the judge for release.

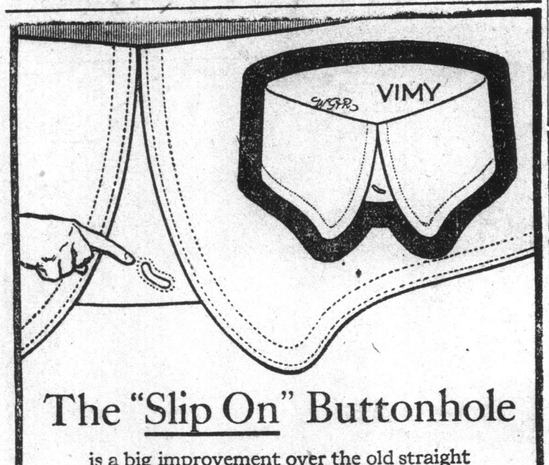

As part of his proof that he had regained his mental faculties he presented to Judge Platt proof of his ability to keep a box score.

STRATFORD TO TAKE STOCK ON TUESDAY

Hockey Club Will Hold Annual Meeting and Look Over Material For Winter.

STRATFORD, Nov. 13. — The annual meeting of the Stratford hockey club will be held on Tuesday evening next.

Stratford's hockey prospects are rather problematical, and it is questionable whether there will be sufficient material to put any kind of a team on the ice. Juniors may develop with the season, but the intermediates look mighty slim.

The "Slip On" Buttonhole

is a big improvement over the old straight buttonhole, and wears much longer.

It makes the buttoning of a W.G.&R. collar a thing of ease—and it makes the collar fit better. The collar button coming to the top of the "Slip On" buttonhole, where it cannot slide, locks the collar so that it cannot gap at the top.

The W.G.&R. collar is the only make with this patented "Slip On" buttonhole. It's a collar worth insisting on getting.

THE SPORT-LIGHT

By Grantland Rice.

(Copyright). Special District Rights Secured by The Advertiser From the New York Tribune.

In our minor league opinion, Colonel John Trotwood Moore has sounded the philosophy needed by the nation now—

"ONLY THE GAME FISH SWIMS UP STREAM."

That's the ringing answer to practically all the troubles of the age.

EXPANDING THE THEME.

Some time ago we evolved a few verses around this idea. We wonder if a new lot could be arranged? As, for example:

It's easy to drift as the current flows;
It's easy to move as the deep tide goes;
But the answer comes when the breakers crash
And strike the soul with a bitter lash—
When the goal ahead is the endless fight,
Through a sunless day and starless night,
When the far call breaks on the sleeper's dream,
"Only the game fish swims up stream."

The spirit wanes where it knows no load,
The soul turns soft down the Easy Road;
There's fun enough in the thrill and throb,
But life in the main is an uphill job;
And it's better so where the softer game
Leaves too much fat on a weakened frame,
Where the far call breaks on the sleeper's dream,
"Only the game fish swims up stream."

When the clouds bank in—and the soul turns blue—
When Fate holds fast and you can't break through—
When troubles sweep like a tidal wave,
And Hope is a ghost by an open grave,
You have reached the test in a frame of mind
Where only the quitters fall behind,
Where the far call breaks on the sleeper's dream,
"Ond the game fish swims up stream."

EYEING THE WELL-KNOWN BALL.

Keeping one's eye on the ball isn't merely a matter of golf. As a slogan it works for any game.

We have in mind the fourth inning of the last world series game. Zim's wide peg had just placed Eddie Collins on second. This brought Joe Jackson up. Jackson lifted a high fly to Robertson in right.

Dave's failure to follow one of the set principles of play brought about his discomfiture. As the high fly started his way, he had it judged perfectly. Then, remembering that Collins, a fast man, was on second, Robertson shifted his look for a flash towards Eddie, dancing off second base.

The eye shift developed the catastrophe. He had taken his eye off the ball, with the usual result. When he looked again the ball was shooting toward him, with the result that it struck and bounded out where ordinarily it would have been the easiest sort of a catch. If this explanation doesn't seem to fit, try judging a fly ball, shifting your eye from its flight, and observe what happens.

This was undoubtedly the reason for Dave's discomfiture. It is also the answer to many infield fumbles where the fielder, for a brief second, lifts his eye to observe the progress of the base-runner, and looks again to find the ball on top of him before he is set for the play.

NEXT YEAR.

There has been considerable discussion concerning baseball for next year. In these tidal-wave times, even next week is beyond computation, much less next month; and still less next year.

But, as a rule, we have observed that "next year" has a way of taking care of itself, and the majority are now fairly well set for any schedule that may come off.

FROM PIT TO PIT.

The average entry, whether in golf or life, soon discovers that he has to play a thick portion of his shots out of pits and bunkers, traps and trouble. And the entry who can't learn to play out of trouble has little chance to spend much of his time in the open fairway.

TEARNEY DELIVERS SERIOUS SETBACK TO MERGER PLANS

Resolution Calls for No Change in Leagues, Without Majority Vote.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—The peaceful solution of the difficulties which have threatened the disruption of the American Association appeared to be imminent before today's session of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues convened.

The resolution prepared by President A. R. Tearney, of the Three "I" League, has been amended so as not to include leagues above class B. This in itself will operate to make it practically impossible for those interests which have been backing the proposal for the formation of a new league, by taking Louisville, Indianapolis and Toledo from the American Association and other clubs from the International League, to get their project before the association. The resolution will provide that no change be made in the territory of any league unless the majority of club owners approve.

Joe E. Tinker, of the Columbus American Association club, who had been represented as being "on the fence" in regard to the project for a new league, has announced himself flatly as being opposed to the proposal. Tinker declared last night he would not be a party to any move which would result in wrecking the American Association or in depreciating the investments of any of the club owners now in the organization. This leaves the club owners in the league divided 5 to 3 against any change.

In this connection President Hickey of the association said last night that the investment in the league totaled in the neighborhood of two million dollars, adding that it was to him "incredible that anyone could desire to take action which would result in wiping out or seriously depreciating property of such magnitude."

Another Meeting.

The association magnates will hold another league meeting today, and in the face of the situation resulting from the changes made in the Tearney resolution, it appeared probable the warring factions would necessarily be compelled to find some solution for their difficulties that would leave the organization intact.

In addition to the resolution of President Tearney of the Three "I" League proposing to redistrict the territory of minor leagues, M. H. Sexton, president of the association, was ready to recommend that authority be granted to leagues of the lower classifications to suspend for the period of the war.

NEW YORK CITY MAY YET OBTAIN SUNDAY BASEBALL

Fans See Good Chance as Result of Recent Mayoral Election.

New York's baseball public may get an opportunity to witness big league baseball every Sunday next season.

Nearly all of the candidates elected last Tuesday in that city for various city offices are in favor of playing the national pastime on the Sabbath, providing there is no disorder or annoyance to that portion of the community which devotes the day to religious observance.

Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn club, has been fighting for Sunday baseball for a number of years. Now Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, has taken up the cudgel in behalf of the Sunday issue.

Believing that a majority of the voting population of New York desires the amendment of the law which prohibits Sunday baseball, the colonel sent out a letter to all candidates from the New York and Bronx counties for election to the assembly, with the object of ascertaining their attitude on the question.

The colonel received favorable replies from all the candidates.

In his letter to the candidates, Col. Ruppert pointed out that the obsolete law under which the prohibition is now enforced was enacted to meet the sentiment of a primitive community which differs vastly from that of the present age. This law, which is the survival of the old "blue law" days of the 18th century, was placed on the statute books in 1787.

DOPESTERS FOOLED BY MILLER HUGGINS TAKING AN ALIAS

New Manager of Yanks Played While at College Under Name of "Proctor."

"Dopesters" have lost a chance to pick up a few stray dollars because of the fact that they have been unable to present to the fan public the playing record of Miller James Huggins, new Yankee manager, when he was a member of the Mansfield, O., team of the Interstate League in 1899.

The reason this "dope" never has been spread before the enthusiasts is that the statisticians did not know Hug, at that time attending the University of Cincinnati, was doing the Eddie Collins and Ed Reulbach stunt and pastiming under an alias.

Huggins, in Mansfield in 1899, was known as "Proctor," and he played in 40 games for the Interstate Leaguers, scoring 20 runs, making 31 hits and having a batting average of .259. "Proctor" played third in eleven games, and short in seventeen, his average in these two positions being .909 and .926.

Some of "Proctor's" associates in the Interstate League of eighteen years ago were Nick Altrock, comedian coacher of the Senators; Bob Gilks, who has been scouting for two years for Huggins' new team; "Jiggs" Donohue, later famous first baseman of the White Sox, and since dead; Johnny Dobbs, now managing New Orleans; Charley Frank, the Atlanta leader; Earle Moore, for many years a star pitcher on the two circuits; "Long Bob" Ewing, who lasted in the majors about as long as Moore, and "Tacks" Latimer, the "Rube" Waddell of backstops.

CURRENT COMMENT On Live Happenings of the SPORT WORLD

The 28th annual meeting of the O.H.A. will be held in Toronto on Saturday, December 1. This event formally introduces the hockey season.

It is reported that the military authorities are considering the building of rinks, with accommodations for good crowds, in the various training centres for hockey this winter. This plan is being put in operation by the United States authorities.

The Pimlico meeting closed on Tuesday, and the Bowie meeting, which was scheduled to open today, will not commence until Monday.

Hamilton's O.H.A. champs are already on ice, getting away to an early start with their training. This is the kind of thing that helps to turn out a championship team.

Jack Hendricks, the Hoosier leader, will not run the St. Louis Cardinals next season, as President McGill of the Indianapolis club refuses to release him. Hendricks' contract has still two years to run before he is free. Branch Rickey refuses to admit that Hendricks was the man he had in mind for his job, but admits that he has withdrawn his first offer.

Sir Adam Beck with his fine hunter, Sir Thomas, won the feature of the National Horse Show at New York on Monday night. The Westminster stables also took another prize with Dout. Miss Marian Beck rode Falmouth to the yellow ribbon in the ladies' hunters class.

The baseball world is watching with real interest the doings of the meeting of magnates at Louisville. Widespread changes are confidently looked forward to.

Secretary John H. Farrell of the National Association presented his report, which revealed the inroads the war has made on the pastime. During the season just closed ten minor leagues were compelled to suspend and several others to shift their territory.

The American and National Leagues and Class AA and Class A leagues have turned $60,000 into the hands of the minors for drafted players, in place of the usual $150,000 or $200,000. The majors are unwilling to spend money on ballplayers who may be drafted for service in the army.

BOXING, WRESTLING, BAYONET FIGHTING, DRILLING, DANCING

All These and More for Garrison "Assault-at-Arms."

Troops at Queen's Park are busily preparing for the "Assault at Arms" which is to be staged in the armories Thursday night, and are looking forward to giving spectators an interesting time. As it is expected that the attendance will be large the doors will be open at 7:30, and from that time until the program begins half an hour later selections will be played by a military band.

A squad will open the program with an exhibition of physical drill. This will be followed by boxing events, contestants of three weights, feather, light and middle, participating. These promise to be interesting, as former champions have entered for the contests. Wrestling matches also should be worth seeing, as men noted for the ability in this line will be the principals.

Exhibitions of bayonet fighting will be used to prove that physical training has not been in vain and that the best trained men always win. It is promised that this exhibition will explain why the Germans fear so greatly cold steel in the hands of the empire's troops. The Soldiers' Glee Club will contribute to the program a number of barrack-room songs. Many surprises are promised.

The events will be concluded by 10:30, and the floor will be given over to dancing. Music will be supplied by the A. M. C. Training Depot String Orchestra, which has won an enviable reputation for itself since its organization.

FORMER CAN. LEAGUER JOINS AMERICAN FORCES

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 13.—"Bill" Riley, the former St. Thomas Canadian League pitcher, has joined a Massachusetts training camp to prepare for overseas service with the United States forces. Riley was in Chicago when the draft law was passed, and was called up on the first list.

Rickey Tries To Explain Affair Over Hendricks

Says McGill Told Him That He Had Promised Hendricks to Release Him.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 13.—Branch Rickey, president of the St. Louis Nationals, who attempted to sign Jack Hendricks, manager of the Indianapolis club of the American Association for next season, issued a statement today replying to charges of tampering made by James C. McGill, president of the Indianapolis club. McGill holds Hendricks' contract, which does not expire until 1919.

"McGill admitted to me that he had given Hendricks his word that he would release him," Rickey said, "and I resent the accusations made by him. When Hendricks informed me that he was at liberty to negotiate I put every penny I could offer into his salary, thinking of course that I would not be called upon to reimburse McGill.

"I regret that I failed to land Hendricks. It was a big disappointment. I want to make it plain, however, that I acted in a straightforward manner. I did not attempt to steal Hendricks. There is no truth to reports that I have opened new negotiations. The deal is off inasmuch as I am concerned."

BONDS OF DOMINION ARE BEST SECURITY IN THE WORLD TODAY

Sir Robert Borden Speaks Before Rotarians in Halifax.

HALIFAX, Nov. 13.—The Victory Loan represents the necessarily urgent efforts towards defeating Germany if those at home are anxious to assist the men fighting in the trenches to carry on to completion the nation's purpose, Sir Robert Borden reminded the members of the Rotary Club at a luncheon tendered him today. The premier alluded to the fact that in asking for money for the loan people were not requested to give funds. They were asked to loan it, the best security known in the world today. The Dominion's security was acknowledged in the European and American continents. Sir Robert referred to the enormous success of the past loans notwithstanding that a leading financier had told Sir Thomas White three years ago that it would be impossible to raise $15,000,000 if unguaranteed by the bankers.

Sir Robert explained the necessity for the loan to market Canada's productions as Great Britain had reached the end of her financing ability here. There was the necessity for co-operation in this country as never before, he urged.

LIEUT. GEORGE DREW NAMED COMMANDER OF 64TH BATTERY

Popular Officer Was Wounded While Fighting in France.

Major Walker first took command of the battery February, 1916, and has sent eight drafts overseas, and has recruited nearly 1,000 men. The battery is at present nearly 200 strong. Lieut. Drew will take over the command of the battery on Wednesday. The other officers have not yet been selected.

GUELPH COLLEGIATE DONE WITH RUGBY

Had Fine Season — Didn't Lose a Game; Played Tie With Brantford.

GUELPH, Nov. 13.—The Guelph Collegiate Institute football team will not go any further this year in its quest for honors. At a meeting held today at the close of school the question of having the team play home-and-home games with Sarnia was discussed. It was felt that the expense of travelling would be too great, and the team is content to rest on the laurels already won. It has had a good season, and has still in its possession the much-coveted Hamilton Cup. The boys did not lose a single game, but played one tie game with Brantford.

SARNIA, Nov. 13.—Sidar Kusch, the Austrian, who has been roaming through Canada since the war started, was sentenced to three months in the Burwash Ontario Reformatory today. Kusch was arrested in Sarnia, having never reported under the law requiring all alien enemies to register.

GERARD WOULD HANG TRAITORS, "HOG-TIE" GERMAN-AMERICANS

It Is Time Everyone Declared Himself.

NO MIDDLE COURSE

Former German Ambassador Makes Sensational Speech.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 13.—"The time for repentance of disloyal Americans and pro-German sympathizers has passed, and the day is at hand when every person must decide whether he is for or against America," declared James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, in an address at a food conservation mass meeting here today.

"Americans are to be congratulated on their efforts to induce Germans in this country to be loyal, but there are still many under the protection of the American flag who are snakes in the grass," said the former ambassador, "The time has come, however, when they must say straightforwardly whether they are for or against America.

"We should 'hog tie' every disloyal German-American, feed every pacifist raw meat and hang every traitor to a lamp post, to insure success in this war. And our traitors are not all German-Americans, but some men high in public life are aiding the Prussian cause. There is no dirtier chapter in American politics than the crusade of these men, whose names you know."

ST. THOMAS COUNCIL ASKS GUN CLUB TO CANCEL PIGEON SHOOT

Many Citizens Object to Live Birds Being Slaughtered.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 13. — The result of a discussion at a special meeting of the city council, held tonight, was the appointing of a committee consisting of Mayor Trott, Ald. Hammond and Meehan, to act with the members of the local Humane Society in requesting the St. Thomas Gun Club to cancel the live pigeon portion of their shoot, which is to be held on December 6 and 7, at the local grounds.

Mrs. (Dr.) T. L. Gray headed a deputation, including ladies from all the societies in the city, and addressed the council, requesting that action be taken with regard to preventing the holding of the live pigeon shoot in the city.

Several of the aldermen were in favor of the request, and urged that a bylaw be passed, but the city solicitor advised that the council had no power to pass such a bylaw.

The matter of entering a protest against the removal of the M. C. R. afternoon mail train for the west, and the morning mail train from the west, was discussed by the members.

It was decided to urge the M. C. R. officials and the Dominion railway commission not to disturb the present service.

CARLOADS OF TURNIPS BEING SENT TO STATES

WINGHAM, Nov. 13.—Many cars of turnips are being shipped from this district to the States, and cattle and hog buyers are also busy securing animals to be sent across the border. Good prices are being paid. Large quantities of potatoes are being shipped to various points, and as a result there is a scarcity on the local market and high prices result.

A mass meeting will be held in the town hall Wednesday evening, at which speakers from Toronto will discuss the Victory Loan. All the prayer meetings in the various churches have been cancelled, in order that everyone may attend.

The funeral of Mrs. C. P. Edwards, held from the family residence on Minnie street yesterday, was conducted by Rev. Mr. Armstrong of the Methodist Church.

BRIDGE COLLAPSE RECALLS ROMANCE OF NORTHWEST

Telegraph Wire Left by Overland Pioneers Was Used by Indians to Build This Remarkable Structure.

The suspension bridge constructed by the Hagwilget Indians across the Bulkley River in Central British Columbia has collapsed and now floats in the waters of Hagwilget Canyon, held by the cables on which it was suspended for more than twenty years. The news will be received with regret by engineers in all parts of the world. This frail structure was regarded as a remarkable example of Indian skill in bridge building and had been a subject of comment in many engineering magazines, while it was also regarded as one of the many features of interest seen from the trains of the Grand Trunk Pacific line. Conceived in the mind of a native and built by his fellow tribesmen, the true principles of the modern suspension bridge were carried into the construction work. The bridge was the third attempt to get a permanent crossing over the Bulkley River, the first two bridges having been swept away by high water. When the Indians built this bridge they had no modern tools, nor did they have nails, spikes or bolts, wooden spikes and telegraph wire being used at joints. The bridge had a span of 146 feet and was 10 feet wide.

Interwoven with the story of the Indian bridge is a romance of the Northwest. The telegraph wire used in its construction was discovered by the Indians at a point some eight hundred miles west of Edmonton and 200 miles inland from the Pacific Coast, where it had been hidden for many years. This is how it happened: Between the date of the unsuccessful and the day of the successful attempts to lay a submarine cable which would connect New York and London, a plan was put forth for an overland telegraph line from New York to St. Petersburg. The close of the Civil War found the country full of men of mettle. Some of the old campaigners were selected and sent to work.

In the meantime, while these heroic explorers were working away in the wilderness, London and New York were coupled up by the submarine cable. Instantly, all interest in the overland disappeared, as the need of the line no longer existed. Away out on the Northern corner of this continent there is a line of fifty-year-old telegraph poles. It is easy to understand and appreciate the disappointment of these brave fellows who had fought the good fight in sun and rain for over a year and a half, only to be told to quit. And that is how they happened to leave the telegraph wire used in the bridge in a cache on the river, along whose banks the Grand Trunk Pacific transcontinental trains are now travelling.

When this enthusiastic band of workers went home, the "silent places" fell asleep again, and the younger generation forgot. After forty years more of unbroken sleep, other telegraph builders blazed the trail, planting poles and stringing wires. What was regarded as a worthless wilderness was hailed as the new Empire of the North, teeming with natural riches. This time they succeeded, for the men were on the payroll of the Grand Trunk Pacific Telegraph Company, and the wires follow the right-of-way of Canada's new line. This modern successor of the overland has become an important factor in handling the telegraph business of a large section of the continent.

PAINLEVE GOVT. LOSES ON VOTE AND STEPS OUT

Vote of Confidence Causes the Resignation of New French Ministry.

FOLLOWS WAR DEBATE

Refusal To Discuss Current Scandals Just Now Brings On Crisis.

Paris, Tuesday, Nov. 13.—The Painleve ministry was defeated by a direct vote in the Chamber of Deputies today, and later resigned. This is the first time such action has been taken by the Chamber since the beginning of the war, as up to the present it has been a point of honor with many deputies not to vote against the Government, but to express criticism by abstaining from recording their votes.

Strong Dissatisfaction.

Strong dissatisfaction with the Government's handling of the Bolo Pasha affair is believed to be the motive which changed this passive discontent to active opposition. Two other things thought to have had a part in the downfall of the Painleve cabinet were the premier's statement exonerating M. Malvy, the former minister of the interior, and the fiasco attending the prosecution of l'Action Francaise, edited by Leon Daudet, the accuser of M. Malvy.

The ministerialist crisis comes on the eve of the inter-Allied conference here, and every effort will be made to settle it quickly.

President Poincare will begin consultations with political leaders tomorrow morning.

OVER 1,000 ENTRIES AT GALT POULTRY SHOW

GALT, Nov. 13.—Over 1,000 birds are on exhibition at the annual poultry show here, which opened this evening at the armory. There was a large turnout of fanciers. All breeds are represented, and all classes well filled with entries from all parts of Western Ontario. Judge Richard Oke, of London, commenced his work at noon, but will not be finished until Wednesday. The show continues until Thursday.

CROMARTY FARMERS ARE BOOSTING PRODUCTION

CROMARTY, Nov. 13.—Twenty-nine claims for exemption were filed at the local postoffice, and have been forwarded to London. Farm help is very scarce in this section, and the majority of those asking exemption are boosting production. This district has many boys in the trenches.

Farmers are very busy getting in their potatoes, turnips, mangles and beans. Every available team has been kept busy plowing. The late beans have been saved in fairly good condition.

A number of Christmas boxes for the boys overseas are being sent away.

CANADA WILL SUFFER BUSINESS SLUMP IF LOAN IS FAILURE

D. B. Hanna Issues Engrossing Circular to C. N. R. Employees.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—"Should the citizens of Canada fail to subscribe to this loan liberally there is bound to be a serious falling off, if not a complete cessation, of the war business that has been coming to this country in such volume, the loss of which would be most seriously felt in every line of business in Canada. This means that the prosperity of each individual is dependent upon the success of this loan."

This is the statement of D. B. Hanna, third vice-president of the Canadian Northern Railway system, in a circular on Victory bonds distributed to all employees of the Canadian Northern system.

The management of the Canadian Northern has perfected arrangements whereby the employees can subscribe to Victory bonds and meet the payments in installments from their pay envelopes during twelve months, the Government to get full payments, however, on dates as set by the minister of finance in the public appeal. The company is conducting a systematic canvass throughout the system in cooperation with the various Victory bond committees.

GERMAN ARTILLERY ESPECIALLY VICIOUS IN YPRES DISTRICT

Shelling of Passchendaele Positions May Be Forerunner of Attack.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The announcement by the war office tonight on the campaign says:

"During the day the enemy's artillery has shown increased activity at a number of points on the Ypres battle-front. Hostile shelling has been particularly active throughout the day against our positions in the neighborhood of Passchendaele."

The British official communication issued today says:

"Belgian troops carried out a successful raid yesterday morning against a hostile post southeast of Nieuport. A number of Germans were killed and several were taken prisoner. The entire raiding party returned.

"Last night the enemy attacked one of our posts northeast of Armentieres, but was repulsed by rifle and machine-gun fire. The hostile artillery developed great activity early this morning northeast of Ypres."

KILLED IN ACTION.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 13.—Charles McDougall, 32 Hincks street, received word today that his grandson, Gunner Charles H. Stewart, was killed in action on November 3.

Hurrah! How's This

Cincinnati authority says corns dry up and lift out with fingers.

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freezone can be obtained at little cost from the drug store, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callous.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone on a tender, aching corn, and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

This drug is sticky, but dries at once, and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this.

MAIMED CANADIANS AID PITTSBURG CANVASS

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 13.—Five Canadian soldiers who have returned from the trenches in France, each with either a leg or an arm missing, assisted workers here today in the campaign to raise $1,500,000 in the Pitts district for the Young Men's Christian Association war fund of $35,000,000. The appearance of the five soldiers at a noonday luncheon aroused great enthusiasm.

KEMP NOMINATED BY HAND-PICKED TORY GATHERING

No One Admitted Without a Ticket—Says Past Government Set High Standard.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—Sir Edward Kemp, overseas minister of militia, was tonight unanimously chosen as the federal candidate of East Toronto Conservatives, one of the men nominating him being Hugh Blain, a former director of the Globe, who deserted Laurier at the time reciprocity with the United States was proposed. In supporting Sir Edward Kemp, Mr. Blain declared the boys at the front would not receive the reinforcements and support they were entitled to if Laurier was elected.

Sir Edward Kemp reviewed Canada's war work and added that the new Union Government would have to work hard if it wished to keep up the standard that had been set for war work by the old Borden Government.

This got the most applause of the evening, for although it was supposed to be a "Win-the-War" Unionist meeting, Hugh Blain seemed to be the only "Liberal" present, and he has not been recognized as a Liberal since he deserted the party in 1911 on reciprocity.

Furthermore, the meeting was "hand-picked," no one being admitted who had not a "ticket" showing him to be a member of the local Conservative organization.

reservedly with Sir Wilfrid in this campaign."

The mention of Sir Wilfrid's name was the signal for a wild burst of cheering, which continued for several moments, being taken up again and again.

Conscription Not the Issue.

Conscription, continued Sir Alan Aylesworth, was now the law of the land. It must be carried out and obeyed, and the coming election did not actually test the question of conscription.

"The consignment of conscripts, as I call them or draftees, if you prefer the legal term," observed Sir Alan, amid laughter, "will have been made, and, of course, with that 100,000 the war is won, and that's the end of it, at any rate that's the end of conscription." (Cheers and laughter.)

If Sir Wilfrid Laurier were elected, as Sir Alan fondly hoped and trusted he would be, he was pledged to suspend the operation of the statute, but there would be nothing left to suspend. Nobody could think that there would eb any more conscription with so little discussion, and without the vote of indorsement of the people. The only proper way to introduce conscription, and the only way in which to make it a success was the first securing of the indorsement of the country as a whole.

Popular or Class Rule?

"This," said Sir Alan, "is the cardinal point of separation between Liberalism and Toryism. Liberalism stands for the rule of the people by the people. Toryism stands for the rule of the masses by the classes. I can't for the life of me see how these principles can coalesce unless one element has changed its views or else tells a falsehood aobut its views. (Cheers.) That's why I am unalterably opposed to this present combination." (Renewed cheers.)

There had been fair promises and much talk by "this new-fangled combination" of the abolition of party patronage. "Note how it has gone aobut it," exclaimed Sir Alan, proceeding, amid jeers and laughter, to instance recent appointments to the Senate, to the bench, and what not, of men who were supporters of the "so-called Unionist combination," to make way for the men—and not the people—it proposed should sit in Parliament.

Delusion and Sham.

"Under such circumstances," added Sir Alan, "to make the pretence of abolishing party patronage is a delusion and a sham." Liberals were urged to support the union upon statements "founded upon falsehood and untruth, and the sacrifice of principles which ought to be sacred."

The union was brought about, in Sir Alan's opinion, to enable Premier Borden to get rid of "some dead wood" and to save a Government "in a desperate position and thoroughly discredited." (Cheers). Its purpose was to "dig the old crew in again, cheat the voice of the people and steal a verdict from the country." Sir Alan scored the franchise bill as "the most shameful and disgraceful and infamous piece of legislation ever placed on the statute books of any country, jammed through the House of rommons by closure."

The Hun at Ottawa.

"With a scorn and contempt unutterable, we contemplate the disgrace that came to the German people when their rulers broke the solemn treaty with little Belgium. What then shall we say of the Hun at Ottawa, who breaks the pledge of England's King given to the poor immigrant, who came to us from abroad looking for British freedom and British justice and fair play?" demanded Sir Alan. "You cannot cloak that kind of thing with respectability."

Sir Alan regretted that any Liberals had participated in union with such worthies, but he rejoiced that there were many men and women, good and true and loyal to principle, who were left. (Cheers.) Some of those who had gone would never return to Liberalism. (Cries of "Guthrie, Bowell," and "We hope not.") He did not see how they could return. "But plenty are left, and those left are of the right stuff," Sir Alan exclaimed. "Liberalism is by no means dead. Look at this magnificent meeting. (Cheers.) I am glad I have such lots of good company, for, so far as I am concerned, principles are principles, and, if I were the last man in the last ditch I would never desert my convictions or vote in North Toronto tor Hon. Sir George Foster." (Prolonged cheers.)

COL. E. M. HOUSE READY FOR PARIS CONFERENCE

London, Nov. 13—Colonel E. M. House, head of the American mission, called the members to a conference today and received reports on the progress of their deliberations with their British colleagues. He expressed himself as pleased with the splendid spirit of co-operation manifested. The reports show that the discussions had accomplished much in overcoming the differences heretofore caused by long range conversations. The members also outlined to Col. House what work remained to be done before they proceeded to the Paris conference.

WILL COARSER FOOD HARM COMPLEXION?

Not if it is Digested—Take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals and Prevent Heartburn, Gas, Sour Risings and Heaviness.

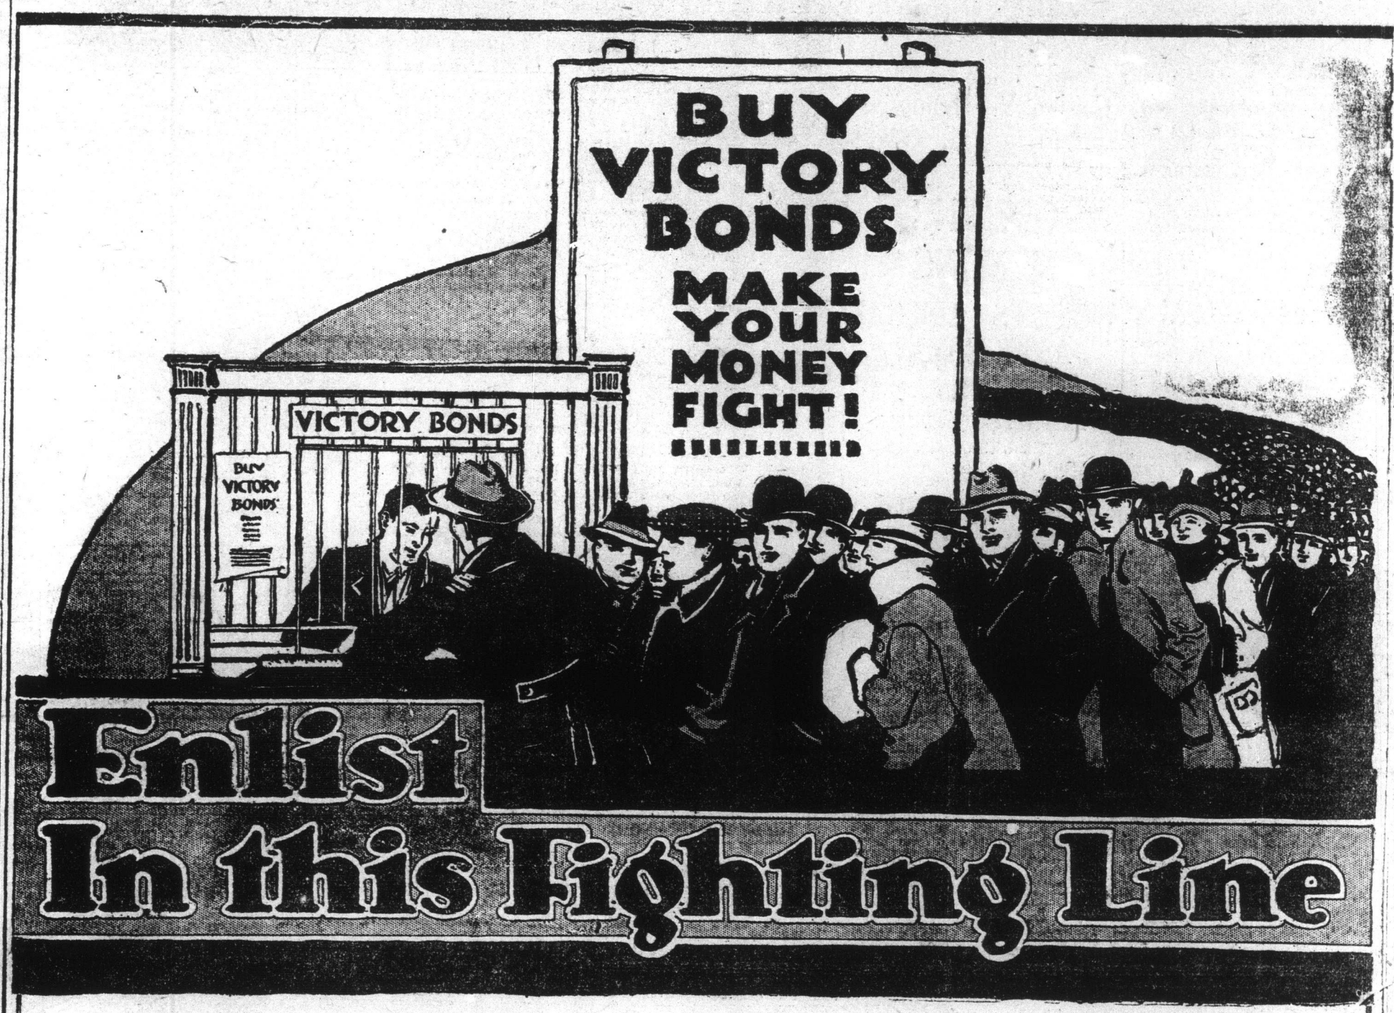

Skipping from dainty food to the rougher variety will surprise the stomach in many cases. Coarser food will not hurt anyone if the digestion is good, but most stomachs will need help. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals will digest the food, clear the stomach and prevent dyspepsia, bad breath, gastritis, catarrh of the stomach, pains in bowels, nervousness, heartburn, belching, bloating, etc.

These are the causes of muddy, blotchy complexions in most cases. No face creams can do any good. Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store, correct the faults of the stomach to restore the complexion to its natural beauty.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE OPENS AT HAMILTON; DEATH ROOM SCENE PRESENTED IN COURT

Quartet Plead Not Guilty to Having Caused McRobbie's Death.

Hamilton, Nov. 14.—Charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Dr. McRobbie, well-known Hamilton physician, on August 19, Harry Smith, J. J. McAuliffe, Walter Scott and Herbert Asseltine, were placed on trial today. The quartet pleaded not guilty. The morning was occupied hearing the evidence of William Perry, a draughtsman, who made blueprints of the scene of the tragedy; witnesses who saw the prisoners and Dr. McRobbie together on the day of his death, and Wm. Bell, an employee of the Crescent Oil Company, on whose premises McRobbie was found dying.

Bell's Story.

Bell told of being called on Sunday by Asseltine to the Crescent Oil office, where he discovered McRobbie lying unconscious in a pool of blood. Smith, manager of the company, and Walter Scott, an architect, were lying sound asleep nearby. McAuliffe was later discovered helplessly drunk in the yard in the rear of the building. Bell called for a physician, and then accompanied the police to the home of Smith, who had departed in the meantime. Smith, he said, was in a dazed condition when detectives placed him under arrest Bell was still on the stand undergoing cross-examination when the noon adjournment was reached.

The trial is attracting more than usual attention in view of the prominence of the men concerned. In the courtroom the police prepared a replica of the death chamber.

Thomas Battles of Niagara Falls is crown prosecutor. The case is expected to last a few days. Many of the jurymen were challenged by prisoners' counsel, but the panel was completed in half an hour.

BURIED AT DURHAM.

DURHAM, Nov. 13.—The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Patton took place today to Swinton Park Cemetery, from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Isaac, Durham, with whom she resided, and where she passed away on Saturday. She was a pioneer of Artemesia Township, her only son, William, now living on the old home farm in that township. With her husband, she came to Durham four years ago to reside with their only daughter, Mrs. Isaac. Her husband predeceased her nearly two years ago. She was in her 84th year.

Make Your Own Cough Syrup and Save Money

Better than the ready-made kind. Easily prepared at home.

The finest cough syrup that money can buy—costing only about one-fifth as much as ready-made preparations—can easily be made up at home. The way it takes hold and conquers distressing coughs, throat and chest colds will really make you enthusiastic about it.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth). Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Shake thoroughly and it is ready for use. The total cost is about 55 cents and gives you 16 ounces—a family supply—of a most effectual, pleasant tasting remedy. It keeps perfectly.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed or swollen throat membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough will disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract and is known the world over for its prompt healing effect on the throat membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Have You Done Your Canning Early?

FIRST CITY M. S. A. DEFAULTERS SURRENDER AT ARMORIES BEING SENT TO 1ST DEPOT BATTALION

Those Found in Class A Taken On Strength Immediately, Others Getting Leave—No Choice of Units for Drafted Men Now, as W. O. R. Is Only One Where They May Be Sent.

Although cases of men giving themselves up to the authorities after neglecting to report for service or claim exemption occurred in this district on Monday, the first cases in this city occurred on Tuesday, when Thomas Pritchard, Toney Dimoff, E. B. Giles, D. Freemantle and W. Jones appeared at the Armories and informed the officers in charge that they had not complied with the provisions of the act with regard to registering at the postoffice.

Owing to the fact that the complete instructions had not yet reached the armories regarding what steps were to be taken in dealing with such cases, the men were given a medical examination, and directed to Deputy Registrar W. G. Wismer, who in turn directed them to the 1st Depot Battalion at Queen's Park. In future such men will be examined and sent to that unit directly.

Pritchard and Dimoff were found to be in Category A, and the others in lower categories than A. The former were attached to the 1st Depot Battalion, and the latter given a week's leave of absence, at the end of which they are to report at the park.

Can Still Claim Exemption.

Owing to the fact that they voluntarily gave themselves up, and did not wait to be arrested, they are not considered deserters, but defaulters, and they still have the privilege of claiming exemption through the officer commanding their unit.

When the men who are unfit return after their leave they will likely claim exemption and be released from the service as physically unfit. Those who are fit have suffered the loss of their liberty, as had they complied with the regulations they would not have been called upon to report until December 10.

No Ottawa Orders.

Definite instructions have not yet been issued from Ottawa regarding the final disposition of defaulters, but they are expected daily. In the meantime those who are in Category A will not be provided with khaki clothing, but will receive an issue of blankets and other bare necessities. They will do their drill in "civies," and will be confined to the camp grounds until further instructions are received.

Men who have signed up their froms at the postoffice and who desire to report for duty before directed by the registrar to do so, now have no choice of units with which they may serve, as the only unit now allowed to accept men is the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R. The same holds true of volunteers, men not in class one, and they must go to the infantry unit. It is thought that the order is only temporary, and that men will be accepted by other units when the expected draft leaves for the east in the near future.

DESPITE BROKEN ARM. MESSENGER 15 YEARS OLD RIDES MORE THAN MILE TO DELIVER HIS MESSAGE

Youthful G. T. R. Employee Displays Unusual Grit in Carrying On With Fractured Arm.

An example of grit and determination to perform a duty was brought to light today when Harvey Walton, 561 Horton street, 15 years of age, and employed as a messenger at the G. T. R. depot, sustained a compound fracture of the left arm at noon when he fell from his bicycle on Grosvenor street. Notwithstanding the fact that he realized that his arm was broken young Walton remounted his bicycle, having an important message to deliver to the superintendent. With one object in view and that to deliver the message he covered the distance on his wheel between Grosvenor street and the depot.

Although suffering the most intense pain throughout the mile and a quarter trip back to the depot, he delivered the message, his face pale from the ordeal through which he had passed. His message handed over, he then informed the officials of his broken arm.

The boy was taken to Dr. Clegg, who had an X-ray examination made of his arm. It was found one bone had been practically driven into the other in the fall. After reducing the fracture, Walton was removed to the home of his parents, 561 Horton street.

ALMOST ONE-QUARTER OF VICTORY LOAN IS TAKEN IN TWO DAYS

Canvassers Are Well Received in All Parts of Lambton.

SARNIA, Nov. 13.—The Victory Loan in Lambton County and the city of Sarnia is very popular. The total amount subscribed in the county today was $113,000. This, combined with the amount subscribed yesterday, means that almost a quarter of the county's quota has been reached in two day's work. The amount subscribed in the city on Tuesday was $37,900, the biggest part of which was comprised of small loans, running from $50 to $100 each, denoting that the loan is proving popular among the people with small amounts to invest.

All the workers report that for the main part they are very well received, meeting few persons who turn the salesmen down flat. Most of the salesmen are met with smiles, and it is only a matter of a few minutes before the signature is attached to the subscription form.

SOLDIER INJURED BY AUTO.—When attempting to board a street car on Dundas street near Queen's Park Tuesday night, Pet. E. Sherring of the 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. R., was struck by an automobile and seriously injured. He was taken in the A. M. C. ambulance to the A. M. C. hospital at Wolseley Barracks, where his condition was reported today to be good. He is suffering from injuries to his head and face and arms, but unless internal injuries develop he is expected to recover rapidly.

Referring to the presence of those representing the press of Italy and the Allied countries, the general said he felt sure of their co-operation at the present solemn moment, adding:

"I do not doubt that all will aid in the common end of elucidating and elevating the public mind, so that all will be animated toward that victorious result to which our country looks forward, even in the difficult and terrible experiences of the present day."

THERE IS TO BE A FUSS OVER QUEEN LIL'S WILL

Hawaiian National Guards Take Charge of Body.

HONOLULU, Nov. 12.—Delayed.—National Guard troops of Hawaii have taken charge of the body of former Queen Liliuokalani, because of a threatened will contest. Control of the body was demanded by John F. Colburn, who declared the former monarch, in a will dated August 29, 1917, appointed him executor of the estate, making many changes in the disposition of the property.

Colburn, former manager of the Kalanianole estate, said the will had been secretly signed. Trustees of the late queen's estate pointed out that Liliuokalani had been seriously ill at the time Colburn claims that she signed the document.

Following a military conference tonight it was decided that the funeral arrangements would be turned over to Kalanianole trustees, who decreed that the body should lie in state tomorrow, with formal wailing, according to the ancient Hawaiian funeral customs.

The jury consisted of Dr. A. J. Irwin (foreman), James Stewart, R. Allen, Alderman Tipling, J. A. Currie, J. Crandell, E. Harrison, E. Lewis.

BOARDS REFUSE 30 PER CENT OF MEN APPEALING

Turn Down Exemption Claims in That Ratio So Far in District.

APPEALS ARE COMING IN

No Decision as to Hearing the Objections to Tribunal Judgments Yet Made.

Thirty per cent of the men who are seeking exemption from military service in this district are being refused, another 30 per cent who were placed in Categories B, C and D are being granted conditional exemptions, and the remaining 40 per cent, who are categorized as E, meaning medically unfit, are exempted totally from service in non-combatant units.

The seven city tribunals had ten cases alloted to each again today. Each tribunal is becoming familiarized with the work now in hand to such an extent that, commencing Thursday, the deputy registrar will give each 25 cases to handle.

Notices of appeals from the decisions of the tribunals are flowing in from all parts of the district. Some weeks, it is thought, will elapse before these appeals will be dealt with, as no arrangement concerning the sittings of the appeal judges have yet been arranged.

A mistaken impression apepars to have arisen from men categorized in B, C and D medical classes. These men are exempted only until such time as called upon for re-examination. Should a re-examination place any of them in Class A, they would be forced to seek exemption on grounds other than those set out in their medical history sheets, or otherwise they would be put in Class A and required for immediaet military service.

Reporting Instructions Soon.

In the case of me nin Class A who have been refused exemption, they will be notified in the near future when and where to rport for duty. None, though, according t othe deputy registrar, will be ordered to units before December 10. Indications are that the work of the tribunals will not be finished by then, and until such work is complete no man will be assigned to any branch of the service.

Returned Men Exempt.

One feature in connection with the claims for the exemption allowed is the number that have been granted to discharged soldiers found medically unfit.

Today Thomas D. Anderson, 95 Bathurst street, and Ian N. McDonald, 140 Bridport street, both discharged soldiers drawing pensions, were exempted.

George W. Stevenson, 167 Wharncliffe road, was granted exemption today because of his peculiar domestic position, being the only support of a widowed mother. That Stevenson comes from a patriotic family, whose members have tried to do their bit, was brought to light when he produced evidence to prove that one brother ha been killed a year ago, a second was now in France, and when last heard from was in the front-line trenches, and a third enlisted some months ago and was now in training.

Record Sufficient.

The tribunal considered that one woman had done enough when she gave three sons out of four to the cause, and had no hesitation in granting George W., the fourth son, exemption.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

HOG PRICES GOING UPWARD ONCE MORE

Another 25c Increase Recorded on Square Today.

Trading on the local market has been unusually slow during the past few days and this condition continued today. Purchasers and produce alike are scarce. Grain is practically the only article of produce offered. A few live and dressed hogs appear, but as a general rule grain predominates and is the only sources of attraction for customers.

Live porkers advanced slightly when about a dozen sold for $16.25, which represents an advance of 25c over Tuesday's prices.

The condition of the hog market is such as to cause a certain amount of apprehension among hog buyers and purveyors. Some time ago the efforts of the packers and buyers of the country were devoted toward the lowering of pork prices. As a result of their efforts a substantial decline was recorded, but the present indications are that hogs will resume the high prices of the previous month. The prevailing values two weeks ago ranged from $15 to $15.50, and at that time it was thought that the drop would be maintained until the new year.

The gradual upward trend of the hog market tends to give the impression that the $19 mark, which was reached in the city two months ago may again be registered.

Dressed hogs sell at $21 to $21.50 per cwt., and it is unlikely that an immediate advance will be shown, notwithstanding the slight jumps recorded in live hogs during the past three market days.

The quantity of spuds appearing on the market has been increasing with each succeeding day, which condition is said to presage a decline of values.

Straw is exceptionally scarce at this time. Farmers approximate the price of straw at $7.50 to $8.50, but the quantity has been insufficient to create an official price.

Small fruits have disappeared from the square with the exception of apples and citron. Imported apples of a very good quality are in good demand, and sell at $4 to $6 by the barrel.

Wheat is scarce and the price remains unchanged. Barley has been unobtainable for the last month, but fortunately the demand for this grain is poor.

MONEY.

New York, Nov. 14.—Wall street bankers have received cable advices stating that the exchange value of the German mark in the Holland and Switzerland markets has recently dropped to the equivalent of about 10½c. The mint valuation of one German mark is 23.8c.

Last March, when German exchange was last traded in on the New York market 4 marks were quoted at 69½c, or about 17c a mark.

WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 14.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Foreign affairs again accounted for the heaviness of the stock market at the opening of today's trading, the resignation of the French ministry inducing moderate selling. United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Canadian Pacific, Marine preferred, Anaconda Copper, Baldwin Locomotive, Central Leather and Mexican Petroleum were included among the active shares that forfeited 1 to almost 2 points, and Brooklyn Transit dropped 2 points to the new low mrk of 40¾. Motors also were heavy, and the general list yielded material fractions. Liberty fours at 99.72 and the 3½'s at 99.20, made fresh minimums.

Noon.—Prices continued to recede during the morning on very light offerings. United States Steel extended its decline to 90, and other leaders added to early losses. Canadian Pacific at 130¼ was at its lowest in over ten years, and St. Paul, common and preferred, established lowest quotations at 35⅛ and 74¾ respectively. Sentiment was further depressed by the steady fall in Liberty Bonds. The fours recorded a new minimum on their decline from 99.80 to 99.36, the 3½'s also breaking to lower ground at 99.26 to 99.10.

1:30 p.m.—United States Steel fell under 90 in the early afternoon, draging other prominent shares to lower levls, but a fractional rally soon ensued.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

FEW DAYS GRACE BEING ALLOWED M.S.A. BREAKERS

No Intention of Lax Enforcement of Law, Says Police Chief.

NO DEFIANCE TOLERATED

Speedy Arrests for Any Who Openly Defy Service Act.

That all men in class 1 who have not signed a claim for exemption sheet or a report for service form are being given every opportunity to surrender themselves as defaulters, and still get a chance, is indicated by a circular from Ottawa received by Chief of Police W. T. Williams.

The circular, dated November 9, is signed by E. L. Newcombe, deputy minister of justice, and is addressed to the chiefs of police of the Dominion of Canada.

The attention of the chiefs is called to the fact that under the military service act they are empowered to arrest with or without a warrant every man who has failed to comply with the act. The reason why nothing so far has been done in this regard is explained in one of the paragraphs, which sets forth that it is because of the Government's desire to grant "a few days' grace" and give every man who has not yet signed a chance to come in as a defaulter, and not to wait until he is arrested, as he will then be classed as a deserter."

Immediate Action for Defiance.

The circular instructs the chiefs that their duty is to act, but not too vigorously for a few days at least. It instructs the chiefs to act without delay and arrest immediately any man who is openly defying the act, and who is known to be boasting of the fact that he has not signed.

"If a case is brought to my notice where any man is openly defying this act, I will have him arrested as quickly as an officer can get to him," said the chief. "If any such case is now known, and any person will bring it to my attention, I will act without delay, as my duty is fully defined in this circular," continued the chief.

If Deputy Registrar Wismer on the other hand sends instructions or information to the police department concerning any man who is known to be openly defying the act, that man will be arrested without further ceremony.

No Lax Enforcement.

"It means that the act is not being enforced in a lax manner. It simply means that a few days' grace is being allowed before more drastic measures are put into effect," said Chief Williams in giving his interpretation of the circular.

The circular closes by saying that further and more general instructions will be sent out to the chiefs of police in a few days.

No provision is made yet for policemen, civil or military, to approach men and ask them to produce their receipts. This will come, it is thought, in the next circular.

GENEROUS FRIEND COST HIM $200 BY PRESENTING BOTTLE

Caused Asylum Employee's Arrest and Fine.

Because he took a chance and drove his motor car into the city without a license, Norman Haviland, who hails from West Lorne, was requested to contribute $10 and costs Tuesday, when he appeared in police court, charged with a breach of the motor vehicle act.

Haviland explained that he brought a party of West Lorne youths into the city to "see a show." He said he had been west since last March and had only returned two weeks ago, and had not bought a number so far this year.

A second charge of having allowed his car to stand on the street minus the required lights was withdrawn.

"A very dear friend gave me the bottle, and I tapped it on the way home," said George Williams, employed at the London Hospital for Insane, in explaining to the magistrate today, when he was asked to plead on a charge laid under section 41 of the Ontario temperance act. Williams was fined $200 and costs, or in default of payment three months in jail.

"That's a pretty steep crack," mumbled Williams, as the shadow of Castle Carter and the prospects of three months' sojourn there loomed before his bleared vision. When found he was helplessly drunk, but was tightly hugging the partly emptied bottle.

LIBERALS PLEDGE HEARTY SUPPORT TO DUNCAN ROSS

West Middlesex Executive Indorses Stand and Will Work for Election.

HE IS NOT A "UNIONIST"

Scandalous Legislation Denounced, as Well as "Party Managers' Cabinet."

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATHROY, Nov. 13.—A most enthusiastic and most representative meeting of the whole Liberal executive of the riding of West Middlesex was held in the town of Strathroy today in the Liberal committee rooms, at which Duncan C. Ross, the retiring member, was heartily and unanimously indorsed. Practically every municipality belonging to the riding as at present constituted for federal purposes was represented.

George Innes of Mosa, the untiring president of the organization, was unable to be present on account of sickness, but in his absence the chair was most ably filled by the first vice-president, John Morgan of Ailsa Craig.

The following municipalities were represented by the following men:

McGillivray—William Amos and John C. Reid.

East Williams—James Smith and James McGregor.

West Williams—Fred Barrett.

Ailsa Craig—John Morgan and J. S. Smith.

Adelaide—Edgar Bogue and Ed Lewis.

Strathroy—O. C. Stoner, B. O. Parker, J. C. Scott and Edwin Morrow (third vice-president).

Lobo—T. G. Turnbull (second vice-president), Lyman Chapman and Walter Campbell.

Caradoc—John Allen McGugan and J. Q. Adamson.

Delaware—Alton Ryckman and Norman Bodkin.

Mosa—William Reycraft.

Metcalfe—J. J. Beattie and Colin A. Munro.

Ekfrid—D. A. Campbell and Charles MacFie.

Glencoe—Neil Graham and Peter D. Keith.

These men were the president and the secretary of the Reform Association in each of the said municipalities, John Morgan being first vice-president, T. G. Turnbull second vice-president, and Edwin Morrow third vice-president of the general association.

Not a True Union.

A general discussion took place, in which each man present expressed his views in regard to the present political situation and the present Government, and the opinion was undivided that the present Government was not a true union or national government, such as was in the best interests of the country, but that it was subservient of democratic institutions, and a deliberate attempt on the part of the big interests and the moneyed people to control the destiny of this country in their own interests for the next five years.

The opinion was expressed that the fight at the present time was the people's fight against men such as Flavelle, Mackenzie & Mann, and the great moneyed interests; that Sir Wilfrid Laurier in his manifesto had struck the right note, and his appeal was a clarion call to the whole of Canada to rally 'round, and fight in the interests of democracy, and in the interests of the soldier across the sea fighting the battle of Canada. Sir Wilfrid's attitude in regard to munition and food profiteers, and in regard to control of the prices was adequately indorsed, as was also his attitude as to the necessity of compelling the wealthy in Canada to make an equal sacrifice with those citizens who are sending their sons to the trenches.

C. N. R. Deal Denounced.

The C. N. R. deal was unanimously pronounced to be the most scandalous transaction of a financial kind that has taken place in this country since Confederation, and the attempt of the Government to steal the election by the fraudulent franchise act was reprobated in no uncertain terms by every man who was present.

In the course of the proceedings the delegation from Glencoe submitted to the meeting the following minutes of the proceedings at a meeting held in Glencoe:

Glencoe, Nov. 12, 1917.—At a meeting held at the above place of the Liberal electors of Glencoe, it was moved by Dr. J. Y. McLaughlan, seconded by William Hills, that if the executive meeting held in Strathroy decided not to have a convention, that we pledge ourselves at this meeting to support D. C. Ross. Carried unanimously.

(Signed), Neil Graham, chairman; A. D. McDonald, secretary.

To Fight People's Battle.

After a general discussion had taken place Duncan C. Ross was requested to appear before the committee and to state his position at the present time. He discussed the present situation in detail, but at no great length. He pointed out to the satisfaction of everyone present that he was a Liberal, had never been anything else, nor could he be, because he believed that this was the people's battle in a manner in which it was never before, in which there were arrayed on one hand the plain people of the country, and on the other hand the classes who desire to rule it in their own interests. He explained his vote and the reason therefor in the selective draft bill, and stated that his position in regard to that was identical with that which George S. Gibbons had taken in London, that if any further attempt was taken by this Government, or any other government, as Gen. Mewburn, in Hamilton, had indicated might be taken, to conscript any more men than those authorized by the act, he would support no such measure, but would insist absolutely upon its being referred to the people. He pointed out that there was nothing in the platform of Sir Wilfrid Laurier otherwise that he or any other Liberal could or would take exception to. He pronounced an eulogy on the manifesto of Sir Wilfrid, stating that he considered it one of the most important and far-reaching political documents that had been issued by any leader of any party since Confederation, and stated that it breathed the true spirit of Liberalism.

The Franchise Act.

He explained the working of the new franchise act in detail, and answered questions of various other members in regard to it. He pointed out the iniquitous provision whereby the Government was empowered to place the vote of soldiers in any riding in which the soldier wished to vote, providing he had no residence in Canada before he enlisted.

Mr. Ross stated definitely that while he was in favor of a national government which was a true union or national government, he was opposed to this Government, which was one-third Liberal and two-thirds Conservative, and which was no over-Conservative that the little leaven of Liberalism was absolutely incapable of leavening the whole lump. He expressed himself as in favor of a true national government, chosen from among the people's representatives after the election, and not in favor of a union government which was attempting by arrangements made through party managers to set aside the will of the people instead of abiding by it. He also dealt with the C. N. R. act, and in conclusion warned his audience that in order to win against the combination of interests at the present time opposed to his election, they must be on the alert to perfect the organizing at every polling division, and make every effort, otherwise, by the manipulation of the vote overseas West Middlesex might be lost to Liberalism.

Attitude Indorsed.

His remarks met with applause at intervals, and his position was considered absolutely satisfactory and indorsed unanimously. The following resolution was passed:

Moved by Dr. O. C. Stoner, seconded by Edgar Bogue, that the executive committee of the Reform Association of the west riding of Middlesex, consisting of the president, first, second and third vice-presidents, and the secretary thereof, together with the chairman and secretary of the Reform Association in each municipality, hereby indorse the candidature of Duncan C. Ross as the Liberal representative for the ensuing election, and we hereby pledge ourselves to further his election by every honest endeavor.

At the close of the meeting every member present attached his signature to Mr. Ross' nomination paper, and if the unanimity and enthusiasm which prevailed are any indication of a successful election, West Middlesex was never in a position in which such a large majority will be enrolled for the Liberal candidate as on the 17th of December.

UP TO COUNCIL NOW TO DECIDE CHARGES OF INCOMPETENCY

Pavement Question Was Considered by Committee Last Evening.

Charges of incompetency in regard to the laying of the pavement on north Richmond street, submitted by R. Cartlidge to Controller Shaw, were considered by No. 2 Committee at a meeting of that body last night.

Reply to the charges of Mr. Cartlidge, City Engineer Brazier said that the city of London possessed the best pavement obtainable, particularly that which had been laid during the last year. He stated that there is no perfect grade of pavement made and that all asphalt made contained a certain amount of odor material.

"Mr. Cartlidge must have been posted on pavements before he made the charges," Engineer Brazier said, "because he knew very little about them a short time ago, when he first began working on the road."

Mr. Brazier added that the city bought a paving plant any difficulty now being experienced in the pavement line would have been eliminated and the city saved a considerable sum.

Commends Engineer.

Controller Saunders thought that the engineer was to be commended for the manner in which he had been carrying on the paving work.

Ald. Moorehead said he had seen the pavements, and thought they should be repaired immediately.

The opinion of the committee seemed to be that Mr. Cartlidge should not have submitted his complaints to Controller Shaw, but should have informed the city engineer about the condition of the North Richmond street pavement before making a charge.

City Engineer Brazier in submitting his report said that all pavement was more or less defective in spots, but that the paving in the city of the past year had been as good, or better, than that of any other town in Ontario.

It was decided to submit Mr. Brazier's report to the city council at the next meeting, when it will devolve upon the council to decide whether they will hear the charges of Mr. Cartlidge, or rest contented with the report of the city engineer.

A request was received from W. L. Mara, asking that a marquee be built in front of his store. The committee decided to allow Mr. Mara to submit his plans for the inspections of the city engineer, the fire chief and the building inspector.

H. A. Brazier, city engineer, reported that he had made arrangements for the storing of water carts.

Robert Angus presented a chart of Victoria Hospital showing the plan of the running steam system, and recommended that all the pipes be installed inside the institution. The committee decided to further consider the matter when Mr. Angus makes a report of the costs of the prospective change in the steam system.

EVENING RECITALS MAY BE INTRODUCED

Women's Music Club Considers Proposal Tomorrow.

A program has been arranged by Miss Minnie Raymond for the fortnightly recital of the Woman's Music Club, to be held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Normal School. George C. Lethbridge is giving a paper on the religious foundations of modern music and the way oratorio started. Those taking part in the program are: Mrs. Charles E. Wheeler, Miss Vann, Howard Fetherstone, soloists. Miss Fraser of Petrolea is playing the Grieg Concerto in A Minor, Mr. Martin taking the second piano part. A double quartet, arranged by Miss Dorinda Abbott, will be a feature.

The question of holding the recitals this season in the evening instead of the afternoon as a "war measure" will be brought before the members. The idea is that, with the Red Cross and other patriotic work, which occupies so much of the day time, the members would feel freer for relaxation in the evening.

WAR VETERANS HAVE STRONG ORGANIZATION

The organization with which members of the Great War Veterans' Association will undertake the coming election campaign got under way at a meeting in the association rooms Tuesday night.

The council ratified the first report of the special Victory Loan committee, which recommended that all civic employees be encouraged to subscribe to the Victory Loan by the council allowing the treasury department to advance the funds required to the extent of 90 per cent. IF ELECTED WILL MAKE PEACE OFFER TO GERMANS

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Alphonse Bernier, one of the young anti-conscriptionists awaiting trial for alleged violation of the Military Service Act, was nominated last night by the St. James Labor Club as the Labor-Liberal candidate in St. James division against L. A. Lapointe, the Laurier Liberal candidate. Mr. Bernier declared that if elected he would try to have the Military Service Act repealed and an offer of peace made to Germany.

SISTER MARY LAYS A SERIOUS CHARGE AT KINGSTON PROBE

Orphans Treated Like Animals In Institution, She Asserts.

CHILDREN IN DUNGEONS

Accusations Against Archbishop Spratt and the Mother Superior.

KINGSTON, Nov. 13.—Clothed in her religious garb Sister Mary Basil was the central figure in a moving court drama which was partially unfolded today before an audience which filled the capacious city hall. In a simple, direct manner the sister, calm and dignified, told part of her story of the alleged assault and abduction. Sister Mary Basil, who is a member of Sisters of Charity, is suing Archbishop Spratt and others for $29,000 for alleged assault, abduction, false arrest and imprisonment. Her evidence had been only partly taken when court adjourned.

Despite the objections of the defence, the plaintiff's counsel succeeded in having an interesting report and letter submitted. The report had to do with affairs at the St. Marys-On-the-Lake Orphanage, with which the plaintiff was connected. It was addressed to Mother Mary Frances Regis of the Sisters of Charity House of Providence, the mother house.

State of Anarchy.

The report was dated April 18, 1916, and said among other things that the rules and regulations were disobeyed at the orphanage; that there was no order, but complete anarchy; that the mother superior, Sister Magdalene, treated every rule with contempt; that the name "Sister of Charity" was an empty title; that the orphans contained in the institution were treated like animals, being kept in a filthy condition, poorly fed and not given enough clothes to protect them from the elements; that some of the children were kept in dark, subterranean passages, where no light ever penetrated, and there consorted with tramps and imbeciles, becoming moral degenerates. "The sisters and novices," said the report, "lived in luxury, while they dragged the institution down into the mud."

Even Graft Alleged.

The report further alleged that in order that Frank McPherson, nephew of the mother-general, might have a chance to make some money, the plumbing system which had been installed at the orphanage only a few years, was torn out much against the advice of a Protestant foreman, and replaced, so the report stated, by an inferior system.

The plaintiff said that a few days after she made the report she repeated to Archbishop Spratt the charges and criticisms set out therein. His grace, according to the plaintiff, said that the novices were largely to blame for any improper conditions that might be found to exist in the orphanage.

Angers Archbishop.

The archbishop became angry, as she pressed her criticisms and finally jumped off his chair. She told him, however, that if matters were not remedied she would report to Rome, but he said he did not care. A few days later the archbishop had a further conversation with her and urged her not to write to Rome, saying that if she didn't maybe he would do something for her or give her something. To this she replied: "I want nothing from your grace. All I want is what the rules give me, namely, a bite to eat, clothes to wear, and descent treatment."

Nothing having come of the report, the plaintiff then addressed a letter to Archbishop Spratt, under date of May 8, 1916, in which she alleged that the mother superior exercised undue influence over his grace. In the letter she made allegations as to a "strange friendship" between the mother superior and the archbishop which made him like clay in her hands.

Petition Sent to Rome.

No steps being taken to remedy the abuse complained of, the plaintiff on September 13, 1916, forwarded a petition and report to Rome in regard to the affairs of the order. To nullify the action of the plaintiff, the defendants, so the plaintiff charges, entered into a conspiracy to damnify her.

On the evening of September 14, she testified, she was assaulted and abducted. One of the defendants, John Naylen, one of the local policemen, entered her room while she had only a light garment on, and with violence threw her on the bed, where she was forcibly dressed in some cast-off garments, Sisters Mary Magdalene, Mary Vincent and Mary Alice assisting. She asked the policeman who had sent him, and he said it was the archbishop, and the Kingston chief of police had given him his instructions.

Didn't Act Crazy.

The officer said they were going to take her to an asylum in Montreal, but she asked him if he thought she were crazy, and he replied that she didn't act like it. She was forced to descend to an automobile, waiting at the door. She had asked to see Father Mea, the chaplain. She was not permitted to do so. As she was being dragged out of the door she screamed, "Father Mea! Father Mea! I want to see Father Mea." Father Mea heard her cries and rushed to the door clothed in bathrobe and slippers. Father Mea, on learning that they were taking Sister Mary Basil to an asylum in Montreal, said he would accompany them garbed as he was. The chauffeur said he would wait until Father Mea dressed.

The party then set out for Kingston Junction, and on the way Father Mea's threat of appealing to the public on the station platform and if this failed to accompany the party to Montreal, where he would institute proceedings in the courts, caused a halt in the proceedings, and the plaintiff was finally returned to the orphanage. This concluded the evidence for the day.

ENEMY PRESS FAVORS ARMISTICE PROPOSAL OF RUSSIAN RADICALS

Believe Temporary Cessation Would Bring Peace Nearer.

BULGARIANS DISLIKE IT

Sofia Paper Maintains Nothing But Keeping Conquered Ground Will Do.

Berlin, Tuesday, Nov. 13.—(Via London)—The Berlin press generally gives a friendly reception to the peace manifesto of the Russian Maximalists. The Vorwaerts, the Socialist organ, and the Germania, the Catholic organ, both raise the question as to whether the Bolsheviki will retain the power in Russia.

The question as to whether the belligerents are ready for a three months' armistice for the purpose of discussing peace, the Vorwaerts says, can only be answered by the German Government affirmatively, declaring at the same time that it does not intend to annex or consent to annexation at Germany's cost. Whatever Germany has to say concerning annexations, it adds, is contained in the Reichstag resolution of July 19 and of the German reply to the pope.

Approve an Armistice.

A temporary cessation of hostilities between Russia and the central powers, the Germania says, would bring peace nearer. It adds that Germany and Austria-Hungary would promptly agree to a limited armistice as proposed and that Russia's allies could not escape the effects of such a step.

The difficulties of arranging such an armistice are pointed out by the National Zeitung, which asks how an armistice would be interpreted. It also asks what Great Britain will expect should the war be halted. While the Allied blockade of Germany would be raised, the Zeitung objects to such a procedure on the ground that England could then calmly restock herself, while Germany would not enjoy any benefits, adding: "For who would supply Germany? The overseas countries yet neutral would count for little."

SOCIALISTS WANT IT.

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—The German Independent Socialists, according to the Tageblatt of Berlin, publish in the Volks Zeitung of Leipzig a manifesto callig upon the Socialist proletariat in Germany to respond to the Russian peace offer made by the Maximalist Government in Petrograd. The manifesto suggests that meetings be held everywhere in favor of a general armistice for the purpose of obtaining a peace without annexations.

ILLUSORY, SAY BULGARS.

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—Aroused apparently by the Maximalists' peace offer the Mir of Sofia, organ of the Bulgarian national party, says that the Bulgarians cannot permit themselves to be troubled by the declarations of Russian illusionists or the Dutch-Scandinavian committee. It adds:

"Bulgarians are completely unanimous that Bulgaria's future imperiously demand the possession of Dubjra to the mouth of the Danube River."

LIBERALS OF BRANT ARE CLAMORING FOR LAURIER CANDIDATE

County Delegates Declare One Will Be Named.

BRANTFORD, Nov. 13.—All possibility of a fusion candidate for the city of Brantford is now at an end as a result of a bitter meeting of the Liberals held in the Liberal Club rooms this evening. There was a strong feeling expressed throughout the meeting for a Laurier candidate, and throughout, the enthusiasm, particularly from the rural districts, was largely Laurier. Last evening Lloyd Harris, manager of the Russel Motor of Toronto, was given 24 hours in which to come to a definite decision. Tonight he stated in a letter that he had decided to allow his name to stand as the nominee of the "win-the-war" Liberal convention. He hoped even yet that fusion could be brought about, but if not, he was in the hands of the Liberal party.

However, the meeting by resolution opposed the sending of the Liberal committee back to the other parties with a further view to fusion. The meeting then waxed warm for a Laurier candidate, and Mr. Harris was communicated with by long-distance phone, and he declared himself as unequivocally and unreservedly in the hands of the Liberal party.

Want Laurier Man.

For a time it looked as if a Laurier candidate would be nominated, but it was pointed out that Mr. Harris was the duly and regularly nominated choice of the Liberals, and he was not opposed. It was declared by men from the county that a Laurier candidate would be put up. Conscription was criticized and the food controller.

"What does Hanna know about growing potatoes?" asked the chairman of the meeting, George Cooke, ex-warden of the county.

T. H Preston pointed out that in 1911 he had run in the interests of Brant County on the reciprocity question, and took a beating, and he asked the men from Oakland to now line up with the city men behind Lloyd Harris. He pointed out that even if Laurier, for whom he had every respect, got into power, there would be no getting away from conscription, as he was pledged to the raising of 100,000 men.
