Unable To Attend School, They Are Getting Into Considerable Mischief.

Two boys attending an east end school are the proud possessors of minor skin affections which preclude school attendance.

Although it may seem inconceivable to grown-ups, who are too busy to perceive its merits, the boys consider the affliction as their dearest possession. They are barred from school. and through each long and glorious spring day they wander the streets, safe from truant officers or police.

Often Dr. Weir meets the two boys down town, but he can do nothing to interrupt their joyful career. The matter has occasioned him considerable worry, because he knows they are continually getting into mischief and are having a distracting influence on less fortunate children who are forced to sit in school day by day. "I am going to see if I can't put a stop to it," he informed The Advertiser this morning. "I believe every child afflicted with a skin disease should be quarantined at his home. He is just as great a menace wandering the streets and playing with other children as he would be if he sat in school all day long."

Dr. Weir promised to take the matter up with the proper authorities. The attendance officer is also having trouble with a boy who, when not aying hookey, attends school in Vest London

Testerday he received a report that the boy, who belongs to one of the senior grades, induced a smaller child to buy candy at a store where the child's mother has a charge account The two then shared the profits.

Weary of the Gospel in Jazz.

Dr. Lorne A. Pierce, literary adviser to the Methodist Book Room, in an article under his name has some what to say to the preacher of today who is attempting to compete with the week-end attractions of the world. Likewise he singles out what he calls the "jazz gospel songs," and says people are weary of them.

No occupant of a pulpit is going to resent fair criticism of methods employed in churches, and Dr Pierce has cast his arrow in a direction that is vulnerable. He does not like "jazz gospel songs," and when he states his belief in that line he will find that he is speaking for a great company of people who are heartily cases tunes used to old popular songs are taken and used with sacred words; in others the words and music places. are new and as wierd as they are new. There is grave doubt if much of it is written by consecrated men and women who see in a song an opportunity for an outward expression of an inward affection.

It may be that we are not living in the age when there are great sacred song writers, or perhaps the present generation is so wedded to the old songs that citizens to be gobbled up by the cities. they refuse to recognize what scant amount of merit may creep into some of the old ones. But it is a fact that the old songs are built right into the very soul of the people. If you doubt it, do a little observing. Watch the average congregation when the organist hits off on a new hymn that may be strong in technical possibilities for the organist, but mighty confusing to the layman in the pew, and the success or failure of a hymn depends on the latter class.

We have heard ministers pull "Nearer, my God, to especially when it comes to the wording, "E'en though it sive of hope, than "Jerusalem, the Golden," or "The Sands of Time are Sinking"? What more prayerful and stance. There is no attempt at a spectacular orchestra- this work. tion, heither is there any suggestion that the music is the very latest 1923 model.

Building London's City Hall.

London may yet see a city hall started this year. The move has been considered and abandoned several imes in 1923, but it is likely that a move will be made

It seems to be the sensible thing to do, providing the National Railways a success. gures can be secured that will be within range of the inancial ammunition we have on hand. London has worked itself into a fairly good financial position in are valuable, and they have increased in price since station here?" being taken over by the city.

In all, the city now has $281,844.50 on hand, plus the site of the old McCormick building, where it is proposed to put the new city hall. Included in this sum is $61,305, being the value of the Spencer property now sed by the city as a municipal building. That building can be sold for more than the purchase price, because as soon as it was stated that the new city hall would be rected across the street an offer of over $90,000 was nade for it, and it would be safe to estimate $100,000 as the selling price. The city also owns property on the Pederal site which can be sold. Two voluators have stimated that these places are worth $36,000 more than when the city bought them, so the increase in the value f civic holdings in the neighborhood is about $75,000. This, added to the amount now held, makes about $356,000 on hand for the work.

London's new city hall will not be as ornamental as me. The idea is fairly well established that it must ouse all civic activities, some of which are now scatered around the city. There might be room for some lices as well, providing a certain amount of revenue.

The idea of going ahead now is reasonable. There not even room for an argument as to the necessity of new civic building. The public utilities structure on he corner acts as a kindly prop to the old structure.

Dundas street east is the logical way for business to evelop. Richmond street south runs into wholesales has a match, the boiling will come later on. nd is cut off at the tracks. Richmond street north uns into public buildings and church property. Dundas est slopes off to the river, but Dundas east opens up ide at Wellington, and should be a good business street. The city council will have the approval of citizens merally if they go to work on this proposal. They an get some idea of costs by looking at the Central ollegiate close by, which cost last year $350,000.

If there is not enough money on hand to complete ie building the ratepayers, when the time arrives, ould probably sanction the raising of the balance.

nearly all these towns find time to do many other things; they always locate enough time to bowl, or indulge in some form of outdoor recreation; they have time to attend to their own premises. A cemetery is a place that can be made attractive, or allowed to get so run down that it becomes a reflection on the town. The final resting-place of pioneers, of men and women who have contributed their quota to the development of a municipality, is sacred ground, and should be so regarded. In honoring the dead in this way any community pays fine tribute to the living.

Cities Are Big and Towns Are Small.

In the Watford Guide-Advocate this week is a list Watford boys and girls living in Calgary; there are names in the list. No doubt other cities all over Canada could furnish a list of equal or greater length.

This World Is the Poorer In Genius Because Parents Fail To Foster It

"If Parents Want To Develop Genius, They Must Take It Before Adolescence."

STUDY CHILD'S MIND

They Must Be Reached While They Are Full of the Wonder of the World.

By GENE STRATTON-PORTER. Famous Author of "Freckles," "The Girl of the Limberlost," etc.

In my progress through this world with what I am pleased to hope is a fairly keen eye for the affairs of human nature, one of the things that has wrung my heart inexpressibly is the talent coming under my immediate observation which has been lost to the world through the stupidity and the mercenary hearts of

Everyone believes in the genius of a world-renowned list of painters, poets, sculptors, authors, scientists and inventors; but many fail to grasp the concrete idea that these bright and shining lights who have performed scientific miracles, who have filled the world with household comforts who have brightened it with beauty, inspired it with poetry and entranced it with music, all came into the world as little children, the great and overwhelming majority children in homes that knew nothing of wealth or position, many of them

There have been observant persons who have figured that a great national cataclysm was productive of a race of especially endowed genius. Any outstanding period of national stress during which the minds of the people have been unduly inflamed, have thought deeply, and have aspired to great heights, have suffered severely, has produced strains of genius apparent in children born during that period.

Several such waves have swept over this country, a strongly and particularly marked one during and fol-

There have been many times in my life when I could have wrung my hands and wept over the stupidity and the mercenary spirit which prevented parents from developing the genius which they knew existed in their children; but because they were their children they were either too selfish or they had not the faith to believe that their own flesh and blood could produce an artist of marked

There are very few children born into this world who do not come with a predilection in favor of some one certain thing. Once, my sister Florence, in discussing genius in a letter to me, wrote the following paragraph, which seems to me to be the best exposition of the subject I

Now is the time to study your children as parents never have studied children before in the history of the world.

I can point out no concrete example that will better illustrate what I mean in this direction than that of Hilda Conklin, a little girl not yet ten years of age, the daughter of a woman who is a professor of literature in Smith College,

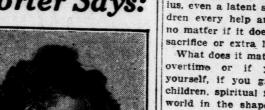

When the mother of this child discovered the spark of genius that set the child searching for words with which to materialize the dreams that were in her small brain, she encouraged the little person to express in words her feeling upon any subject that interested her, and, without the child's knowledge in the beginning, she copied her exact expressions.

SAILOR ESCAPES DEATH

AT POINT EDWARD WHARF Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, April 27.—John Morrison, a sailor on the Northern Navigation steamer Huronic, nearly lost his life today when he was thrown into the St. Clair River at Point Edward as the Huronic gave a lurch from her moorings. David Stark of Point Edward, a watchman on the Canadian National, hurried for a rope, and was successful in throwing this to the struggling sailor and drawing him to safety on the dock. Morrison was exhausted by his immersion and his efforts to gain land.

LONDON'S LOSING FINE LITTLE CHILDREN.

The four delightful little people pictured above are the small sons and aughters of Adjutant Fred Martin of the Salvation Army and Mrs. Martin, who are leaving in a few days with their parents to live in Toronto. Reading rom left to right, first comes the mischief of the family, Yvonne May. Just now, she's watching for the "doggie" that seems to have usurped "birdie's" place. Looking over her shoulder is Master Edwin Barnard, known to his many friends as "Teddy." Delma Fern is the "little mother" of the brood, who is always thinking of beautiful things. Frederick Ronald, named after Ronald Gray, may be the baby, but he is also very much "boy." The four were all born in London.

It may be small comfort to know it, but the fact is children always quarrel. The family group is so close in mind and body that their edges rub and cut and, as children have not had sufficient experience to teach them restraint and control follow their impulses and fight. We are born that way. When we are annoyed, the first impulse is to strike out and abolish the thing that is annoying us. Experience teaches us better. We brush the pest away, killing him quite as effectually. We ignore the spot and turn our minds away from the annoyance. But the the annoyance. But that takes training through experience and a certain philosophy attained by much Spotlessly Clean. When you go through Westminster Hospital you cannot help but be impressed with the spotless cleanliness convenience and general air of pro-ficiency. Under Dr. B. T. McGhie superintendent, Westminster has done more than any other hospital in anada in bringing returned soldiers back to health and happiness. The annual cost of maintenance proaches close to half a million dol-of that great sum is not well spent? Westminster is not confined treatment of soldiers exclusively. It eares for both sexes. Several nurses were accepted into the institution as patients, and three still remain. Becoming hysterical and irresponsible when long streams of mangled and when long streams of mangled and bleeding soldiers were carried from the front line trenches for treatment in nursing stations, many nurses collapsed. Some could not endure the sight of bloodshed and lagony. Their minds gave way, and Canada is now attempting to restore them, by furnishing tender treatment at Westminster Privates and officers of the high-

London's Many Advantages

Industrial

For diversity of employment London stands in a unique position. Here there are industrial advantages not enjoyed by any other city of its size in Canada. The manufacturing establishments of London number well up toward the 500 mark and in them are manufactured commodities of every description from large sturdy motor trucks to dainty silk hosiery. In London the men, the women, the boys and girls can all find employment in bright, airy, sanitary factories where the welfare of the employee is of paramount importance and is thus recognized by the firms for whom they work.

London's industrial area is now an accomplished fact. All the needed improvements have been arranged for and industries across the line in the United States or Canadian industries contemplating expansion are now assured carefully-chosen property, all improved, where transportation facilities and everything for convenience and expediency has been well looked after.

Religous

London is a city of Churches. There is a wonderful opportunity afforded the citizens and "the stranger within its gates" of worshipping according to the dictates of one's own conscience. Each and every denomination has reared churches which are not only models of architecture but models in the sense that every church should be-a place where man may get just a little closer to the Cause of all things good.

Recreational

Supervised playgrounds have been conveniently located in different parts of the city where the growing youth of the city, and their elders too, may disport themselves to their hearts' content, at the same time having the proper supervision of leadership so essential to develop the all-round athlete. The equipment at these playgrounds is the best available and in no small measure is responsible for the splendid showing made by the youth of London in all lines of sport.

Educational

The rising generation in London has had an army of friends who, thinking of the ever-growing competition in all fields of endeavor. have looked well after the educational necessities and now in this, the Porest City, are to be found advantages in almost every line of learning, not surpassed in any city in Canada. From the primary or Kindergarten Grades up to the University, in each and every department. London is exceptionally equipped. Whether it be medicine, theology, music, or technical instruction the facilities for acquiring this knowledge are as good as any to be found even in cities twice or three times the size of London.

Prospects

London is growing. London is progressing. London is developing. Here in the Forest City are advantages enough to suit the demand of the most exacting. The city where over 70 per cent. of the citizens own their own homes, own their own railroad to their own summer resort, own and operate their own public utilities, possess all the educational advantages necessary for any calling, is certainly a GOOD CITY TO TIE UP TO-A GOOD PLACE TO MAKE YOUR HOME. There are numerous contemplated improvements which will make for a still better London. New schools, a new university, and His Worship the Mayor assures us a new Made-in-London City Hall are a few of the betterments in view for this year.

LONDON—THE CITY OF CONTENTMENT AND GOOD BUSINESS

Exhibit of London-Made Products Next Week

Monday, April 30 to Saturday, May 5-Main Floor

This exhibition is only another service this store is glad to be in position to render our local manufacturers and the citizens of this community. We conceived that our low broad fixtures would be ideally adapted for the display of London-made products; that such an exhibition would be of mutual benefit to every citizen of London, and that this space could be devoted for a week to such displays without the slightest interference to business. This proposition was submitted to the manufacturers (as many as could be accommodated), who have enthusiastically co-operated by placing in our store most attractive displays. These exhibits will be placed tonight after the store closes at 5:30, and the whole exhibition will be in order and open at 9 o'clock Monday morning, and remain in place until 5:30 Saturday, May 5th. This small effort on our part we trust will further demonstrate that this store is not looked upon only as a store, but a community centre, and above all a part of our civic organization having the welfare of London at heart.

EMPLOYED GIRLS

SERIOUS CITIZENS

Type of Whom London May Be Proud Prominent Among Industrial Workers.

The woman industrial worker in London, as well as every other city others. in Canada, is no longer "just an employee," a little cog, and perhaps an unimportant one in a big machine.

She's a real personage. If she has achieved the age of 21 years, she is a voter and a citizen, and her vote counts one in sending candidate to parliament or keeping him at home, just as truly as the vote of the biggest manufacturer in the country counts one in the same way. She's a power in the com-munity and in the land, and in conequence an individual with whom be reckoned.

Before she's 21, she's a potential citizen, and getting ready to use or abuse her weapon of the ballot. London has special reason to be proud of the fine type of girl to be found in the industries which help to give the city a prominent place on the map of the Dominion.

he Federation of Girls'. Clubs of the London Y. W. C. A., has a large representation of women and girl industrial workers. And these girls, in their fortnightly meetings of the past two seasons, seriously discussing together the things that matter most in life, have built up for themselves codes for home-building, social re-lations, business, health, and finally, service, contained in a little bulletin

At a federation meeting some time ago, when the question arose, "Are we making the standards too high to be practicable?" a gentle-voiced, sweet-faced girl arose and said with compelling conviction, "We'll never have any chance of reaching the star to which we hitch our wagon, unless we start driving in that direction.

Sixth Manufacturing City

R. H. Coats, Dominion Statistician, in an address delivered in this city recently, stated that London is Canada's sixth manufacturing city, with only Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg and Vancouver ahead. Ottawa, Quebec and St. John's, Mr. Coats stated, used to have precedence, but London has now passed these centers as a manufacturing city.

According to the latest government enumeration of the Canadian manufactures, this city has 424 industries, manufacturing over 70 distinct lines, employing over 11,000 people and an annual production exceeding in value forty million dollars.

GIVE A THOUGHT TO

Would it not be good business for every Londoner to increase his or her purchases of London-made goods? Why? Well, it would keep London factories busy, would give employment to more London people, who in turn would spend more money in London for food, clothing, shelter—the necessities and some of the luxuries of life-and would quicken the flow of business in every artery of trade.

Replacing Rapidly As Feasible In London Less Desirable Old Buildings.

When visitors of note come to town officials and other people with civic pride take them to see the new university in process of building, the new medical college, hospitals, schools, parks, views, the homes of London, and of very special importance, model factories.

The factories, they realize, are fust as true an indication of the progressiveness, the intelligence and the idealism of the community, as institutions of education, healing and philanthrophy.

London is proud of the fact that a number of her factories are equal to the finest on the continent, so far as lighting, heating, sanitary ditions, equipment and provision for the safety and comfort of employees are concerned.

Especially is this true of the new buildings, crected within the past few years, where it has been possible to start from the foundation up, in-corporating the latest and best ideas in construction of industrial plants. In the case of old plants of long standing, it has been necessary to remodel, rearrange and endeavor to come up to the standards required by government inspectors, while awaiting the time of expansion to justify new building operations.

EMPLOY MANY WOMEN. BUT MANY MEN AS WELL

London Industries Offer Wide Variety of Opportunities

In the midst of the "family institution" manufacturing plants of London where men and women advanced in years have been employed practically all their working days, a comparatively new industry has sprung up and flourished. The "textile" made its debut in war years. An important reason for choosing this city as a desirable one in which to establish branches, or to try out new ventures in the making of hosiery, gloves, and underwear, was the condition of the labor market. Lonlon could supply members of intelligent women and girl operators, it was understood. And so the machinery was installed, the pay nolls open-ed, and "textiles" were added to the list of "staple" industries.

Bracken's Measure Is Defeated In Legislature On Second Reading.

Winnipeg, April 28.—The wheat board bill, introduced in the Legis-lature by Premier John Bracken, providing for Manitoba's participation in the establishment of a Western compulsory wheat board, was defeated in he Legislature early this evening, when the measure was up for second eading. The vote was 24 to 21. Rejection of the bill means that the province will not take any part in a nove which may be made by Saskatchewan and Alberta to establish a wheat pool this year. Both these provinces have passed acts providing for participation in the wheat pool, concurrent with the act passed by the federal government last year.

Although the measure was brought before the house by a member of the cabinet, its rejection does not involve the defeat of the government, as the party was not bound to vote for or

WEEKLY REVIEW

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, April 28.—Prices moved within a narrow trading area this week, but the undertone was firm. Bond prices also fluctuated within narrew and irregular limits, the feature of that market being the strength of the Ffench issues, most of which established new peak prices for the year. Professional activity centered largely in the oil shares. The cut in mid-continent crude prices resulted in extensive short selling, but this was checked by the announcement of an agreement of California producers to limit production. Offerings were increased later, however, when gasoline prices were cut one cent a gallon for the second time within a week. Marking up of the raw and refined sugar prices to the highest levels in more than two years revived interest in the sugar shares. Automobile shares also were quite active in response to record offerings. Studebaker was heavily bought toward the end of the week on reports that the earnings for the first quarters, to be published next week. INDUSTRIAL DEMAND IS ATTRACTING LABOR

Banking and Money Conditions Are More Favorable To Bond Prices.

Moody's Weekly Review says in part: "Heaviness of security prices seems due partly to presidential campaign due party due party due to description and monetary conditions are temporarily more favorable to bond prices; but after midsummer the reserve ratio of the federal reserve banks promises to sag again and commercial paper discounts to rise. "Public interest in the cement industry is keen. The contradictory price quotations appear to indicate that average mill prices of cement declined slightly last year. The business is highly competitive, so that cement prices did not rise even in the great building boom of 1922. Presumably their trend before many months should be downward.

"Railroad stock and bondholders are now receiving only 14 cents out of each dollar of gross revenues against 26

Everything the Farmer Trades In

AT SATURDAY MARKET

Many Housewives and Farmers Attend, and Session Proves Active.

Grain Markets WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, April 27.—With 'weather conditions in the spring wheat territory much improved, the local wheat market showed an easier tendency today, and closed 1½c lower for May and le down ing the first part of the day, but turned heavy toward the final hour.

There is good business going on at the seaboard in Manitobas. Between 250,000 and 350,000 busheis of wheat, all Manitobas, was worked for export on Thursday. Opening of navigation trade is quiet, and private cable bids are about 3c under the cost of shipment.

Trading in coarse grains was very light, and all classes showed an easier tendency, closing fractionally lower than yesterday.

Cash grains, both wheat and coarse, were all quiet today. Odd cars were changing hands, but the lateness of navigation opening is holding up active trading.

Chicago, April 27.-Improvement in he outlook both for the spring crop and the winter crop had a bearish effect on the wheat market today. Prices closed unsettled, %c to 1½c net lower, with May $1.25½ to $1.25% and July $1.23½ to 1.23½.

Corn finished at 1½c to 1½c to 1½c decline; oats ½c to %c down, and provisions varying from a setback of 5c to a rise of 2½c.

Warmer weather northwest and clear skies there appeared to promise better conditions for completion of the same time crop authorities in the winter wheat belt, especially in Nebraska, were sending reports of the help which recent rains had given to fields that previously were supposed to be of but little worth. Downturns in Liverpool quotations, accompanied by word that shipments from Argentina and from Australia were larger than had been expected, counted also as a handicap on wheat bulls here.

Rallies which from time to time placed in the wheat market failed to develop any lasting selling quality, and the close was at almost the bottom figures of the day.

Offerings of corn from private elevators here exercised a depressing influence on values of corn and oats. Prices closed unsettled, %c to 11/2c net there being no local freights to pay from the Toronto yards.

Sales are made on a basis of Winnipeg weights and freight and pre-vailing market price on the day of shipment. This means that the Ontario farmer buys a load of western feeder cattle graded according to quality, finish and weight at Winnipeg. It is stated that the pool shipments com-ing from the west are finding great favor with the eastern farmers. The avor with the eastern larmers. The cattle sold were on the basis of $5.50 o $6.50, Winnipeg weights and reight. Following the decline during the week, prices ranged from $5.25 to $6 in the closing market.

In Monday's market there was a strong and active demand for heavy, export cattle, with prices practically unchanged from the previous week and ranging from $7.75 to $8.25. All requirements in this class were practically filled in the opening market, so that for the balance of the week here was no export demand, except or a few odd steers to fill up a car.

Owing to the general lateness of the season and the consequent de-terred opening of the port of Mon-

Costs no more, lasts longer

WHEN a farmer sees how neat, tidy and strong a poultry run always is with Frost Bantam Brand Fence, he thinks it should cost a lot more than it does.

Then he goes to the Frost dealer and gets a pleasant surprise. He finds it costs far less to have Frost than it does to be always patching up the old-fashioned netting.

The paying poultry business is the one that has everything spic and span. Poultry Pays! During the year ending March, 1922, poultry production in Canada amounted to $55,000,000. In Ontario it was $19,800,000.

(Dominion Bureau Statistics)

Next time you are in town just take a look at Frost Bantam Brand Fence and ask the price. It is No. 15½ gauge wire with No. 12 (heavier) wires top and bottom; heights 24 to 60 inches, uprights 3 in. apart; laterals spaced 1 in. to 3 in. and 6 in. spart. Made of the wire that made Frost Fence famous — drawn, annealed, toughened and extra heavily galvan-ized in our own factory. It stands the strains!

It costs no more in the first place and then begins saving you money by lasting years longer! Why pay as much for ordinary poultry fence—get Frost Bantam Brand Fence once-for-all.

Make It Easy For People To Pay

"How can I make it easy for people to buy?" Getting ready to sell a thing with Want advertising, that is a good question for you to consider. All over the country are businesses which prosper because their owners realize the rewards of making it easy for people to buy. And the principle applies to small articles as well as large ones. It is especially applicable to much Want Ad selling.

'Free delivery' has made it easy for people to buy many an advertiser's offered things. All the buyer has to do is phone. Sales naturally are greatest.

Making it easy for people to inquire always facilitates sales. Give your 'phone number if you have one if it will help, your address, too-and your name. Say if you can, "Shown any time during the day or evening." One advertiser said: "Phone, and I will call for you in my car."

An advertiser offered his farm for sale, because he planned to move to the city. He knew he would be buying a city home, also that he could swing such a deal with a small down payment. So in his Want Ad, after describing his farm, he said: "Small down payment, balance long terms; or will take city bungalow in trade." The small initial payment he stipulated made it easy for people to buy. This advertiser's correct belief was that to each one in the market who could pay all cash, there were several who could handle on terms. Easy terms are one of the most successful plans for facilitating sales. And in this connection it should be pointed out that the sum involved need not necessarily be a large one. Granting a buyer credit "till next pay day" has sold many things involving only small amounts of money.

Offering to take stated things in trade is often a good plan for "making it easy for people to buy."

Want Ad readers are appreciative folks. Let your Want Ad make it easy for them to buy, and watch them respond. (All Rights Reserved.)

Rev. John Fraser was the next DUNDAS STREET CENTER minister, settled in St. Thomas, probably in 1847 or 1848. Before this time, and also for the next ten or twelve years, there long intervals when no minister was available for supply. But in 1841 Mr. Duncan Mc-Coll had been sent to Canada as an ordained Catechist to give aid in mission work. He settled in Westminster Township, and for many years rendered valuable service, both as Epworth League Anniversary pulpit supply and in the oversight of Presbyterians in Yarmouth, Southwold and Dorchester Town-ships, with frequent supply over a wider district. Orchestra at evening Mr. Fraser carried on the work in Yarmouth, and in 1850 Kilmartin congregation was organized. There is no mention of communion there is no mention of communion there until some four years later. The names of communicants were probably on the St. Thomas roll and they went there to attend service. The first recorded meeting of session in the log church was in 1851. This was followed by similar meetings from time to time in the church or in the homes, and Mr. Fraser continued to hold frequent services in the church until 1856, when Yarmouth was separated from St. Thomas and united with Dorchester (now Belmont) con-

This year (1856) seems to have marked a new stage in the life of the CHRISTIANITY AND THE SOCIAL ORDER congregation. First, there was the union with Belmont early in the year. Next, regular student supply was given for the first time during the summer months, Mr. Archibald Mc-Diarmid preaching to each of the congregations on alternate Sabbaths in both Gaelic and English. Then in September the first communion in their own church was observed, Rev. Duncan McMillan of Aldboro, by appointment of presbytery, taking charge of the services, receiving a considerable number of members into ull communion, and baptizing many One report also assigns to this year the replacing of the old log church by a new frame edifice. This, how-ever, is doubtful. The Belmont church was built that year, and other items in the report referred to would indicate a later date for the building of Kilmartin church. In 1858 a joint meeting of session was held, Rev. A. Young of St. Thomas presiding, when was decided to ask presbytery for communion services to be held in Kilmartin church. The request was

Meanwhile Drummer the Wood-pecker and Mrs. Drummer were busi-ly hunting a dinner. They had gone over to the Old Orchard. Now that the work of building that new home was done they were quite willing to rest. They were very happy. There were no happier people in all the Old Orchard. They didn't say much, for that is not their way. But each knew just how happy the other was. And not once did it enter either head that it was possible for anything to be wrong at their home.

It took them some time to satisfy their appetites, for while they had been working they had not eaten as much as they would have liked. You see, they hadn't wanted to take the time to hunt for food. Every lover of mystery stories has reveled in the tales of Sherlack Holmes, master detective mind. But few know that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes and exponent of spiritism, was the original of his famous character and solved mysteries that baffled police and scientists alike.

Lady Doyle tells how her husband, without ever leaving his desk, and without the aid of the celebrated magnifying glass and hypodermic needle of Sherlock Holmes, was able to furnish solutions to crimes that the London police had given up, and to clear mysteries that had foiled Scotland Yard.

Sir Arthur sees in the Biblical accounts of spiritual appearances, simply materializations of spirits, probably through ectoplasm. He has given his interpretation of many of these mysteries in his lectures, and is at work now upon an "Outline of Spiritism," which will record its his-

The vote came unexpectedly, after the house in committee had carried a division, a government amendment providing that the licensing and importation sections of the convright act should not apply to works of an author who was a British subject (other than a Canadian) or of a citizen of a country adhering to the Berne convention. This would continue the protection of Canadian policies against American publishers until the United States should adhere to the Berne convention.

Lowest Insurance Rates All 1923 McLaughlin-Buick models have been awarded Class "A" ratings by the underwriters, because of the safety of their construction. The transmission lock on this model also materially reduces the cost of theft insurance.

It is a noteworthy fact that Mc-Laughlin-Buick owners prize their cars so highly that they are reluctant to part with them even for new McLaughlin-Buicks.

Soccer Notes

Critics assert that should West Ham United be enabled to stand the heavy strain of their recent league and cup tie games in their most crucial game today with Bolton Wanderers in the English Cup final at Wembley Park stadium, they ought to nose out the Trotters by the orphan goal. The question arises, can the Hammers win both the league pennant and the cup? Both are within their grasp, but it is doubtful if the Londoners can achieve the double event. While the team has gone from victory unto victory; there is an end to endurance, and it may be that the weaters of the red and claret will crack under the strain. The next two weeks will truly be the testing time for West Ham, for besides today's crucial game they have yet to meet Notts County in home and home league games with the two-game series hinging a whole lot as regards their promotion. County in home and home league games with the two-game series hinging a whole lot as regards their promotion next season to the English First Division League. Outside of the playing personnel of both elevens, there is always keen interest taken in the selection of officials for the final game, and an English referee considers he has reached the crest of his ambition when he officiates in an English Cup final and a further honor to referee an international match. The final at the new Wembley stadium will be in charge of D. H. Assan of West Bromwich, while the linesmen will be Messrs, R. Crump of Surrey and W. H. Moody of Grimsby. A few words about the players of this remarkable team, which is the best that has carried West Ham's colors for a dozen years, may be appropriate at this time:

keen interest to win the British Amateur Golf championship. The Americans have been hard at work every day since their arrival here Monday night, and their earnestness is making a decidedly favorable impression.

Englishmen, who watched the play over the Surrey courses, singled out Gardner and Wright as the most polished golfers on the team; Johnson as a rather too boisterous player; Ouimet as less accurate than formerly, and despite his reputation, they declare Sweetser neither an attractive nor convincing player. All of which shows Englishmen realize at the outset they face foemen worthy of their steel.

The average club owner seldom signs a manager for more than one year. Now and then an owner gets reckless and signs a manager for two or three years while the utter paralyzation of lower jaws and palpitating hearts of cautious folk brings every available physician to administer first aid to their frostbitten brains.

This one-year contract stuff is not generally due to a lack of the owner's faith in the manager. It usually comes from the feeling that the public may turn in a year's time or personal differences may arise between owner and manager.

Enter Branch Rickey, who has managed the St. Louis Cardinals since Miller Huggins stepped out of that berth. Rickey has signed a five-year contract twith the Cardinals to a pennant. He shakes his head doubtfully toward the pennant season, which indicates anything you wish to think about it, but he really looks toward 1924 as the blg year.

He doesn't manage his ball team on Sune and a sked to sign for ten. There's one to have psychological trend in the game. Rickey has been subject to much censure, but he is deserving of sympathy and a good share of praise. Death summoned two of his players within a year or so. Bifl Dillhoefer, a catcher, and Austin McHenry, an outfielder, who was making rapid strides towards stardom as a batter. In 1921 McHenry totaled an average of .352. He ranked third in the league in driving in runs. Bill Doak, leading hurler on the team in '21, who the first six-games he pitched in '22, then hit a tobaggan. SPEAKS ON GOITRE

Bone Lesions Are Scientifically Described By Chicago Surgeon.

Recent developments in research work on diseases of the thyroid gland, nown to the laymen as goitre, were explained to members of the Western Ontario Academy of Medicine who gathered at Western University Medical School yesterday afternoon. by Dr. Henry S. Plummer of Rochester, Minn. Dr. Plummer, who is an authority on diseases of the thyroid gland, presented many interesting features in the study of this medical problem, and at the conclusion of his address, held a clinic on several patients present who are suffering with

Dr. Dean Lewis, of Rush Medical College, and the Presbyterian Hospital College, Toronto, was the second speaker of the afternoon, his paper dealing with bone lesions. .Dr. Lewis is an outstanding bone surgeon of America, and his able description of his subject, illustrated by lantern slides, was listened to with interest by the many physicians of London and district who were present. Introduced by Dr. George A. Ramsay of London, Dr. Plummer related memories of London since his boy-hood days. This distinguished spe-cialist of the Mayo Clinic humorously told those present that when a small boy he and his father passed through London on a train, and during the brief stopover, he saw a porter of a local hotel ringing the largest dinner gong that he had ever seen.

"I immediately made up my mind that my ambition would be to own a dinner gong, and lead all the other boys back home down the street. said Dr. Plummer, "and while that is over 35 years ago, every time I hear a dinner gong I think of London." In his opening remarks on diseases f the thyroid gland Dr. Plummer reviewed the confusing nomenclature as applied to them in the medical world. He stated that in his talk he would endeavor to eliminate much of this complexity by "boiling down" the subject to the most simple classification. He then proceeded to out-line the function of the thyroid gland which he declared was to elaborate thyroxin, an active agent released in the blood, which was first isolated by one of his colleagues doing reearch work at the Mayo Clinic. The exact physical chemical complex of thyroxin, he stated, is at present unknown to science, but observation lead to the belief that it conrels the rate of formation of poten tial energy in the body. Dr. Plum-mer compared the thyroid gland to a transformer of energy such as those employed by electrical engi-neers. He reviewed the theories advanced to explain the exact activity of this gland, and passing on pre-sented a resume of its common dis-

Included in this list was the hyperactive gland of puberty in girls, which has been counteracted in a measure by the administration of small quantities of iodine periodically as a routine. Research conducted at the Mayo Clinic had shown that administration of iodine in this serious disease has gone far in reducing the death rate and Dr. Plummer passed the information on to Western Ontario medi-cal men to utilize in treatment of their patients. Lugol's solution was utilized, and Dr. Plummer quoted statistics which served to prove that the research work has revealed a method of reducing the mortality in such cases of goitre. Of 915 operations done for goitre last year at the Mayo Clinic but four deaths had resulted, the speaker attributing this fact to the administration of iodine during each crisis. He described these results as "most spectacular."
Whether this drug should be employed as a routine Dr. Plummer was not prepared to state definitely, but expressed the belief that future work would reveal this as a fact. In conclusion he stressed the seriousness of exopthalmic goitre.

"The fellow who does not have many deaths from exopthalmic goitre is the follow who is the fellow who does not have many bad cases shipped in on him," was Dr. Plummer's significant concluding sentence. A discussion of the paper followed the clinic, those taking part including Dr. C. Mowbray of Hamilton, Dr. Clifford Reason, Dr. A. J. Grant, and Dr. Robert Fergusón.

The difficulty of making a diagnosis in osteo myelitis acute as this condi-tion is known, was emphasized by the Chicago surgeon, who stated that if the diagnostician is to err he should err in favor of prompt surgical treat-ment. He urged the doctors present to be

Dr. Lewis characterized tardy diagnosis in these cases as most unfair to the patient, whose life is placed in greater jeopardy, and to the surgeon, who is not given full opportunity to save the life that re desires.

The value of X-ray in the diagnosis of sarcoma was a salient point in his address.

WILL AMEND ACT

Important Change In Medical Measure Is Considered.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, April 28.-The legislature today put itself into a position to finish its work next week. There was little acrimonious discussion. afthough the premier brought down some information to throw enlightenment on a debate of the night before. Yesterday there was an important amendment to the medical act introduced and the official recognition of Drs. F. H. Banting and C. H. Best as discoverers of insulin, the new treatment for diabetes.

Just after the house opened the premier introduced the bill which put aside, governed by university regulations. $10,000 a year for Dr. Banting and Mr. Best for research work. Dr. Banting becomes the pro-fessor in charge and Mr. Best the assistant.

Captain Ramsden (Southwest Toronto) brought to the premier's at-tention the matter of making permanent the appointment of returned sol-diers who had been in the service for 12 months. He wanted a guarantee put into legislation. The prime ented a resume of its common disrders.
