MPORTANT TESTIMONY ON SATURDAY AND MONDAY WHICH FAVORS THE PRISONER.

Rennes, Sept. 5.—Elation is the only word that expresses the feeling of the Dreyfusards after to-day's proceedings.
The tide has turned at last, they say, and Dreyfus cannot be condemned after the evidence given this morning. Yestenday was a fairly good day, but to day's session, they claim, put the verdict out of doubt, and the jadges must acquit Dreyfus.

AMAJOR HARTMANN'S TESTIONY.

The Major, who has done great service for the defence, resumed his im matters and the bringing out of points and phraseology in the bordereau, indicating that the writer could not be disating that the writer could not be Disvfus. In response to questions from Maitre Labori, leading counsel for the defence, and M. Demange, of counsel for the defence, Major Hartmann said any officer attending the Chalone camp could have obtained sufficient information; to write notes on the covering of troops and Madagascar matters.

M. Labori then recalled Gen. Mercier's attack on Capt. Freystaetter on the latter's declaration that the secret dossier communicated to the court of 1894 containing a document concerning a shell, for which Gen. Mercier called the captain a liar. Major Hartmann affirmed that it was quite possible that particulars about a certain shell should have leaked out in 1894.

ANOTHER CONFRONTATION.

ANOTHER CONFRONTATION.

An interesting confrontation between Gen. Deloye and Major Hartmann followed, the General declaring he did not believe the Major was keeping strictly to the truth. Deloye then proceeded to point to what he said were insacuracies in Major Hartmann's testimony. He itsisted that Dreyfus, in the course of conversations with artiliery officers, could have secured information on the subjects mentioned in the bordereau, to which the Major retorted that if any artillery officers could have secured information on the subjects mentioned in the bordereau, to which the Major retorted that if any artillery officer had been questioned by Dreyfus he would already have come forward to say so, as a matter of strict duty. General Deloye, questioned by M. Laborr and M. Demange, said the inventor of the Robin shell told him Dreyfus never asked him for particulars about his shell, except on a minor point. The General added that he came as a technical witness to show Dreyfus could be guilty, adding that it was not his business to say whether he believed him innocent or guilty. He could only any that Dreyfus' contention that it was impossible for him to know certain matters referred to in the bordereau was untrue.

M. Labort asked Gen. Deloye if he tain matters referred to in the bordereau was untrue.

M. Labori asked Gen. Deloye if he knew whether the documents which could have been betrayed by the traitor, especially by the writer of the bordereau, were important, whereupon the general turned to counsel and excitedly cried, "Don't ask me! don't ask me!"

These exclamations created a sensation in court, which was doubled when Gen. Deloye added that there was sufficient in the bordereau to establish that the traitor knew the importance of the documents he was giving up.
The witness said:—"When I read the bordereau I was dismayed."

The letters exchanged between Col. Picquart and Gen. Gonse at the time the colonel wanted a thorough investigation into the case, were then read, and M. Labori pointed out to Gen. Gonse that these letters never alluded to the alleged confession of Dreyfus.

General Gonse replied that it was because he always advised Col. Picquart not to mix up the Esterhazy and Dreyfus cases. Dreyfus, he added, had been condemned, and his case could not be recopened, but they were bound to see if there was not another traitor. The general them made a binier complaint at the fact that his letters had been communicated to M. Scheurer-Kestmer, former Vge-President of the Sentet, who'r jublished them in the book entitled "Pontius Pister."

Replying to M. Labori, General Gonse insisted that Dreyfus, having local back to his case.

A scene between Gen. Gonse and Colonel Picquart followed. The latter of abominable intrigues, and when he received in Tunis a letter of threats from the laste Col. DAILY AND WEEKLY

KILLED BY CIGARETTES.

Albert Wright, of St. Louis, fourted for the last year he smoked, according to the statement of a brother-in-daw, Dr. Conway Bates, of Clayton, from forty to fifty eigarettes a day. He had been ill for two weeks, but no one thought his illness serious until a cou ple of days ago, when he suddenly grew worse and finally expired. Dr. Bates made an examination of the boy an found that his left lung was eaten al most entirely away. His death was du to the cigarette habit. Now, all boys don't die from smoking eigarettes, bu shortens their lives. The practice is very general in Chatham, but it looks as if the people were waiting for a few deaths directly traceable to this cause before they will open their eyes to or of the worst of our modern evits.

ORIGIN AND HISTORY OF THE TROUBLE WITH THE BOERS,

Cape Colony was settled by South African Company in sixteenith century, but passed into possession of Great Britain in meral settlement of 1814; The Cape Dutch were a very conservative peo-ple retaining in the nineteenth century all the barbaric practices of the mi ages. For the most trivial offence criminals were toriured and racked to death, while slavery flourished in its and dreated by the Dutch Afthan their brute beasts. Great Britain did away with all this and abolished slavery. The Dutch, very much dissatisfied, stood this for a few years, and then the great "trek" of the Stantes. The Roers moved some 1500 miles up to what is mow known as the Transvaal, and later settled the Orange Free State. There they found ists, professional men, merchants, and lves for many years free from interference but constantly menaced by the Zulus, whom they eventually, however, drove back to the end of its tether, with a million dollars of debt, with 12 shillings and 6 pence in the treasury. Anarchy came and Great Britain seized the country The Boers determined not long after to regain their independence, and in 1881 they succeeded, British arms suf-

Mr. Kruger:-There will be equal

Sir E. Wood-And equal privileges? Mr. Kruger-We make no difference so far as burgher rights are concern There may perhaps be some slight dif-ference in the case of a young person who has just come into the country. Had this declaration of intention been expressed in the convention, in set terms, the present trouble could never have risen. But the convention was vice was utterly incompetent and alinterpreted by the Transvaal government in a pertificaging spirit, and bit of Volksraad members was a common by bit the rights of the Uitlanders were whittied away. The franchise, which in 1881, was obtainable after a twelve way concessions, others had been applied for, it will be seen how argent reginning of this year (1899) practically forms were needed. Fettition after pe not obtainable at all; for, when a fourteen years' residence-including a per-iod of probotion, during which he incurred all the responsibilities of citizenship, but did not enjoy all its privileges—had qualified the applicant, the consent of two-thirds of the burghers and the approval of the government were still required. Consequently, it is generally felt by the Uitlanders, that it has been the intention of the govern-ment to restrict the fanchise to one privileged race.

For some years after the retrocession the country was fairly prosperous the revenue just about balancing the expenditure. But, in 1887, owing to the discovery of gold at Barberton, a decided change for the better began to manifest itself, the revenue leaping from £236,584 for the last nine months of 1886 to £668,433 for the year 1887. From that time on there was a steady increase, until, in 1896, the total revenue amounted to £4,462,194. The discovery of gold, first in the quartz reefs at Barberton, and later in the unique, conglomerate deposits at Johannesburg, rendered the future progress of the republic certain, and if the rulers had been as wise as nature had been burning political question in the Trans-

LATEST ABOUT DIGESTION FROM THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD.

We are now assured that it depends on how your food is cooked whether it is digestible or not. It is no secret that the favorite soft-boiled eggs are harder to digest than raw eggs, and that hard-boiled eggs are easier to digest than either, for they are digested in 234 hours, while soft-boiled eggs take 33-2. It is interesting to know that if hard-boiled be cut into thin slices and spread on bread it almost accident. He found that roasted meats were digested better than others. Roast beef required only 234 hours to digest it, while boiled beef required 3½ hours, or if it was very fat, 234. Corned beef was not digested until 634 hours. In general, cooked meat is softer, tenderer, and tastes better than raw. Yet if raw mbat is cut up fine, or scraped, it is quite digestible, for then it is exposed to the acids of the stomach thoroughly. Even milk is easier to digest when boiled, requiring but a half an hour, while the raw milk takes 2½ hours to digest. When a long-continued milk diet is prescribed by theiphysician, it should always be taken boiled, if the quantity consumed daily is more than two pints. If a person wishes to live on acthing but milk, he must drink at least three pints a day. Vegetables, too, are easier to digest when cooked, with the exception of cabbage, which is better raw.

"I said I would, and I hadn't gone very far before I met the dog. He was a big, ugly looking brute, and the minute he spied me he made for me.
"I tried to bolt past him, but he was too quick. He caught me by the leg, tore a stocking into shreds and dragged me off the wheel.
"I looked around for a club, but there was none in sight, and an he was about to repeat the dragging off process I dismounted and tried him on a new dodge. I called him up to me and patted him and called him agood dog, but; it was no use. He was bound I shouldn't mount the wheel, and I didn't. I walked back to the farmhouse instead, and he walked peaceably enough beside me.
"Here's your dog, said I to the farmer, who was still in the front yard.
"Well, naow, it's real good of ye, but ye needn't have taken the trouble to bring him home, said he.
"I didn't, said I. 'He brought me.'
"Well, naow, hat's kinder funny, toe, said the old, man, with a grin. 'I trained that dog to bring the sheep home, but this is the first time he ever fetched a calt."

Dodd's Kidney Pills and was Cured.

Neepewa, Man., Sept. 4.-There is a Neepewa, Man., Sept. 4.—There is an old saying that murder will out. It seems to be still more true that the merits of Dodd's Kidney Pills should always be coming to the front. Dodd's Kidney Pills are life-savers, not life-takers however, and the more the knowledge of their value spreads the better it is for mankind. That Dodd's Kidney Pills is the only medicine that will cure Bright's disease, people are continually finding for themselves—by experience. When everyloody has this simple, absolute fact imbedded in their minds—Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure for Bright's disease — that disease will never claim another victim. Mrs. T. H. McKee, of Neegawa, writes, "For tengyenrs I had poor health. I dootored in Ontario for weakness came "For ten years I had poor health. I dootored in Ontario for weakness; came to Manitofas four years ago, and still gree worse. Eight morths ago I was seized with bright's disease. My physician tried his best skill with no goed results. A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took four and a half boxes, and they have made a new person of me. I am in perfect health now."

In a letter written since in response to fin enquiry as to her experience with Dedd's Kidney Pills, Mrs. McKee says:

"Yours to hand, I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills. I believe they saved my life with our Blessed Maker's wish. I have the greatest faith in them, and have ladvised dozens of our Neepawa friends to take them.

train days of the early sixties—have shrugged their shoulders at the men-tion of Whisky Gap for nearly 40 years. 'This is the place, according to their belief, where real "firewater" gushed out of the rocks in a beautiful mountain spring to quench the thirst of a whole company of Uncle Sam's of the early sixties-hav mountain spring to quench the tands of a whole company of Uncle Sam's trained Indian fighters. "It was nothing but pure spring water," they say; "a veritable fountain of youth."

Colonel C. C. Coutant, the author of a history of Wyoming and the proceed days of the west, has learned the true story of Whisky Gap to be somewhat different from the fountain of youth fable. According to historical record of the early days along the governof the early days along the govern-ment overland trail, Whisky Gap re-ceived its name in 1862 during the building of the overland stage routs from Denver to Salt Lake City and the Pacific coast.

The people of Denver had long been The people of Denver had long been working to secure the regular overland stage route, then connecting the east and the west. In 1862 Ben Holliday, a veteran stage man, became proprietor of the great overland line, and he agreed upon a route running through Denver to the west. He decided to discontinue that part of the road running up the North Platte and the Sweetwater rivers and across South Pass, Wy. The many Indian difficulties experienced on this route were the inducements to abandon it.

enced on this route were the inducements to abandon it.

The new trail led by way of Julesburg. Colo., to Denver, and on over the esfablished wagon road to Fort Lupton, and north across Laramie plains, then due west through Bridge Pass, Wy., Joining the old trail leading across the country to the Pacific coast. The change was made during the summer of 1862. All the rolling stock, horses and other property of the company were gathered at the station just above Devil's Gate, in central Wyoming. Company A of the Eleventh Ohio cavalry, with Major O'Farrell in command, was the detailed escort at at the time.

Ohlo cavairy, with Major O'Farrell in command, was the detailed escort at at the time.

During the first day the long line of coaches, wagons, horses and mules made 11 miles from the station where the property had been gathered. The route chosen was directly south from the Sweetwater river. The camp selected was in a gap in the mountains where there were a fine spring and plenty of wood for cooking purposes.

Shortly after going into camp the major discovered that quite a number of his soldiers were intexicated, and he at once sent for Lieutenant W. H. Brown, who was officer of the day, and informed him of the condition of many of the men and gave it as his opinion that some one was seiling whisky in the camp. The command was doing escort duty not only for stage stock and stores, but also for a number of emigrants who had availed themselves of the opportunity for safe conduct over the plains.

Lieutenant Brown received orders to search all wagons, and if he should discover whisky to destroy it. Taking a corporal and three or four men, he commenced the search for the contraband article and found at last a barrel of whisky in an emigrant wagon. The officer ordered his men to roll the barrel out of the wagon, knock in the head andiempty the contents on the ground. This was done, but it chanced that the

This was done, but it chanced that the spot where the whisky was emptied was just above the spring, and the flery liquid went pouring down into the water supply of the camp. The soldiers saw what was going on, and they rushed forward with cups, canteens, buckets and camp kettles to save what they could of the coveted "spirits." Many a man stooped over the spring and drank almost without breathing until he was drunk. One soldier who had succeeded in getting a full canteen from the spring paid his respects to Major O'Farrell at the headquarters tent, assuring his

Major O'Farrell was apprehending an attack from the Indians that night, and the condition of his men fairly disheartened him. He saw at a glance that even a small band of savages could make a successful raid on his eamp, consequently the sober and least intoxicated men were kept on the alert all night. Fortunately, no Indians put in an appearance, and by morning th debauched men had slept off their in

Thus the gap in the mountains where the camp was made received the name of Whisky Gap. For many years it was the favorite camping place for the more credulous of the old freighters and emigrants of the "trail days," but the little spring was never a "fountain of youth" as it had been in the old days, when "firewater" exceed up out of the rocks to quench toxication. gushed up out of the rocks to quench the thirst of a company of United States soldiers.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

CARE OF THE EYES

Carefully in Cold Wate - While Using Them Closely They Should be Rested at Intervals.

On arising in the morning the eyes should be bathed gently in cold water—20 "passes" are said to be decidedly strengthening. While using them closely they should be rested at intervals of an hour or two, for the strain of constant reading or sewing is like that of extending the arms at a certain height immovable. Imagine, then, the taxing of the eyes, which cannot complain save after years of irreparable neglect.

When dust settles in the eyes, warm water will soothe them of any inflammation. Rose water is extremely refreshing, but it should be bought in small quantities, as it keeps but a short time. Five cents' worth will give a daily eye bath for several weeks. Tes leaves and alum water were the eye tonics which our grandfathers used, but in these modern days of absolute hygienic and antiseptic simplicity water, especially in a distilled form, is considered powerful enough.—

This is the time of year when the spangled balloon flyer and parachute fumper is up in the air. At least, if he is not up in the air. At least, if he is not up in the air he is down in the woods deagling among the trees, or lying in a watery grave at the bottom of some lake. He is a daring and spectacular fellow. Some persons would call him fool-hardy. But he has his living to make, and this is his harvest time. It is the time when he goes up and down the country, in more senses than one, giving exhibitions of wonderful intropidity in midair, for the especial delectation of pleasure-seeking crowds at country fairs, summer assemblies, mass meetings, fracernal picnics and popular gatherings of various kinds. If he goes through the season and escapes with his life he may consider himself lucky.

The balloon rose rapidly to a height of about 1.690 feet and then drifted toward the southwest.

Suddenly the balloon began to descend quickly and the parachute opened. Thousands of spectators were watching every movement. They were seized with a panie of terror when they saw the trantic but unsuccessful attempts of Thayer to loosen the parachute from the balloon. Time and again in the abort space of a few seconds he could be seen using every effort and straining every muscle and nerse to free himself from his parachute, until all of a sudden the balloon collapsed. A few seconds later Thayer struck the ground. He was dead when the first man reached his side. He fell a distance of 300 feet, landing on his back on a railroad track. His back, neck, both legs and both arms were broken. Indescens that when he attempted to make his parachute descent the balloon turned over and the gas escaped. The big bag fell faster than the parachute. Thayer had not yet out loose from the balloon. The result was that the balloon succeed the parachute is imm upside down and the seconant was infe helpless. Interesting Chat With the Negro Clergy -Jasper at Eighty.

sas made an international reputation by propounding the doctrine "the sun do move."

Somewhat enfeebled by his great age, the negro preacher spends most of his time in meditation, a strikingly original and picturesque character. John Jaspethas a remarkable head. Tremendonsly high and prominent cheek bones under kindly eyes strongly mark a face of benevolence and good nature. In the pulpit he wears large silver spectacles that add to his otherwise elerical look. A phrenologist would be puzzled to decide where his intellectual humps lie, as his forehead commences with protruding eyebrows and runs at an angle of 45 degrees to the top of his head, when his cranium swells out, only to end in an abrupt precipice.

Newspaper reporters have made him out wholly illiterate and grotesque, and biographers of his own race are prone to picture him as a learned doctor of divinity. Neither picture is correct.

John Jasper does not speak in the negro dialect, as he is often quoted, but in his effort to "talk proper," and in the quaint originality of expression, no less than his vehemence of gegures, the visitor looking for amusement finds plenty to interest him. Of his ministry Jasper himself says:

"I was inspired before I was born. My father told my mother so. She did not

is to be incorporated under the Ontario Companies. Act to acquire as going concerns the businesses, as manufacturers and dealers in Bicycles and Bicycle Parts, now carried on by the following well known Companies including the Plant, Machinery, Tools, Stock-in-Trade, Fixtures, Patent Rights, Trade Marks, Trade Names, Copyrights, Good-will and Leaseholds of the above-named Companies in connection with their said business; and including also all the real property of H. A. Lozier & Company, and The Goold Bicycle Company, Limited.

H. A. LOZIER & COMPANY (Cleveland Bicycles), COOLD BICYCLE COMPANY, Limited, MASSEY-HARRIS COMPANY, Limited, WELLAND VALE MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Limited, CENDRON MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Limited,

THE COMPANIES.

The bicycle industry is one of great importance and magnitude in Canada. The constituent Companies are the leaders in the trade. Their Trade Marks and Brands are everywhere popularly known, and by reason of their world-wide reputation for unrivalled excellence some of the Com-

The Companies give employment to about 1,700 men. Their outputs for the past year aggregated about 38,500 bicycles. The plant and machinery are of the latest and best equipment, and capable of twice that production with but small additional outlay in tools. The factory sites to be acquired by the Company are especially adapted for manufacturing purposes; have advantageous shipping facilities, and will permit of ample extensions to the existing buildings.

Each of the above-named Companies has covenanted not to engage for long periods of years in any business competing with the bicycle business of this Company.

NET EARNINGS.

The steadily progressive character of the business of the constituent Companies is shown by the following Accountants' certificate: We certify that the combined net profits in the business of Bicycles and Bicycle Parts of the Massey-Harris Co., Limited. H. A. Lozier & Co. (Cleveland Bicycles), Welland Vale Manufacturing Co., Limited, Goold Bicycle Co., Limited, and Gendron Manufacturing Co., Limited, for the past three years, are as follows:—

ADVANTAGES.

Amongst the advantages to be gained by this amalgamation of interests, the following may be enumerated:-

FIRSTLY-Reduction in selling and distribution expenses and advertising.

SECONDLY—The economies and improvements in production arising from the practical knowledge of the members forming the Board of Directors, which will be available for cuch branch of the business.

THIRDLY—The economies due to consolidation of management, manufactories, office work, and of buying, distributing, and financial

The Directors are fully alive to the desirability of conserving the individuality and initiative of the various businesses, and will not allow consolidation to act detrimentally in these matters, but there are obvious advantages to be gained, as, for example, in buying in large quantities in the best markets, in the supply of ample capital, and in the manufacture of a large output of high-grade wheels at prices to meet the demands of the public. MANAGEMENT.

The Management of the Company will be in the hands of experienced manufacturers, who have been identified with the leading bicycle companies of Canada in the past, and have made a success of the business.

WORKING CAPITAL.

The Company will commence business without any bonded or mortgage debt and with a working capital in excess of $1,000,000, exclusive of the additional capital available from the issue of the Preference Stock in the treasury ($500,000). DIVIDENDS.

The Preference Shares shall confer the right to a fixed cumulative preferential dividend of 7 per cent. per annum accruing from the date of ngs of the C the further right to repayment of capital in priority to the common stock, but they will not be entitled to further participation in profits or assets. If in any one year dividends amounting to 7 per cent. are not paid on the preference stock the deficiency shall be a first charge upon the net earnings of the Company and shall be paid subsequently before any dividend is paid upon or set apart for the common stock. Dividends will be payable half-yearly on the 1st days of May and November, or such other half-yearly dates as the Directors may determine.

RESERVE ACCOUNT.

The Charter of the Company will provide that 25 per cent, of the balance of the net earnings, after payment of the 7 per cent, dividend on the Preference Stock, shall be annually transferred to a reserve account in the books of the Company, the better to secure to the Preferred Shareholders the payment of the 7 per cent. dividend on their preferred shares, and such annual transfers shall be continued until the amount of said account reaches $500,000, at which sum it is to be maintained, and if it is at any time drawn upon it is to be in like manner restored and maintained.

The amount required to pay 7 per cent. on the preference stock already taken by the Directors and that now offered to the public being $175,000, it is considered that such dividends are amply assured, and the above reserve account of $500,000 has been stipulated for in order th the position of the preferred shares may be rendered independent of any possible contingency.

AUTOMOBILES.

It is intended that an important part of the Company's undertaking will be the manufacture and sale of motors and motor vehicles. This branch of business is a natural outgrowth of the Bicycle industry, and is believed to offer a profitable investment for the capital and the large and successful experience in manufacturing which this Company will command.

Arrangements have been made to have the books of the Company regularly audited by Chartered Accountants. Arrangements have been made to have the books of the Company leguary audited by Charles recommends.

Application will be made in due course to have the stock of the Company listed upon the Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchanges.

$2,000,000 7 per cent. Preference Stock in the above Company will be offered for public subscription at PAR on WEDNESDAY, the 6TH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1899, payable as follows: 5 per cent. on application and the balance of 95 per cent. on allotment. The right is reserved to reject or reduce any application, and subscription carries with it an agreement to accept such reduced amount. The failure to make payment when due forfeits the previous payment. In case no allotment is made the amount deposited on application will be returned.

Subscription Lists will open at the chief offices of the National Trust Company, Limited, Toronto and Montreal, and at the Head Office and Branches of the Ganadian Bank of Commerce, at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, the 6th September, '99, and close at 3 o'clock on the following day.

SNUBBED A GIRL.

This Drummer did but she Quick-ly Brought him to his Senses was Broke and had a Post Office Order for $50 but he Couldn't get it Cashed.

"I had a postoffice money order on a little town out west," said a New York drummer, "one which I got through Chicago, and when I showed up to get it cashed I was dead broke and found the postoffice in charge of a girl about 20 years old. She was chewing gum and reading a novel as I walked into the place, and as she was slow in getting a move on her and I was in a deuce of a hurry I gave her some pretty sharp talk. She sassed me bnck, and we had some lively words for about five minates. I never did a more foolish thing in my life. You know what a postoffice money order is, of course. It makes a man mad all orger to waste the time to get one, and when you present it at another postoffice you must satisfy the authorities that you are the person named. I signed my name and all that, but the girl quietly remarked: 'I don't know that you are the person named. I signed my name and all that, but the girl quietly remarked: 'I don't know that you are the person named. Tou will have to be identified.'

"I had letters in my pocket, or course," continued the drummer, "out she waved them saide. Any one can carry letters around addressed to their proper name. I had my initials on my cuffs.

she waved them aside. Any one can carry letters around addressed to their proper name. I had my initials on my cuffs and collars, but they were no good. I produced telegrams, but she was obdurate. As a matter of fact she bothered me a whole day, and when the office closed I was still without my money. The order called for $50, and I went to every merchant in towa to get the money and transfer it. Nobody would let me have the cash.

Never Read His Own Book.

I send you a book which (or I am mistook) will please you; it pleased me. But I do desire a book of adventure—a romance—and no man will get or write me one. Dumas I have read and read too often; Scott, too, and I am short. I want to hear swords clash. I want a book, to begin in a good way; a book, I guess, like "Treasure Island," alas! which I have never read and cannot, though I live to be 90. I would that some one else had written it! By all that I can learn, it is the very book for my complaint. I want to me it is, and must ever be, a dream unrealized, a book unwritten. Oh, my sighings after romance, or even Skeitery, and, oh, the weary age which will produce me neither!—From "The Letters of Robert Louis Stevenson," in Scribner's.

Philippine Women Love Jewelry.

Philippine women are inordinately fond of jewelry, but at the same time show of jeweiry, but at the same time show excellent state in the matter of design and display. Those of the wealthy classes often order pieces to be made and sent out by the best Parisian firms at enormous expense, but in the way of its exhibition no criticism could be made, except, perhaps, at a bails, or dance, and then tripe bewindering and conducive to monetary estimates.—Woman's Home Companion.

THOUSANDS MADE WELL DURING THE SUMMER MONTES.

How to be Strong and Happy in the Autumn Season.

Harpy indeed are the men and women who, during the summer months, have taken advantage of the disease-tamishing and life-giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. Dangerous silments and wasting diseases have been overcome and banished, and they enter the autumn months full of life and vigor, and with long and happy years before them.

If you are unfortunately, numbered with those who are tired, worn out, nervous, dyspeptic, rheumatic, neuralgic, or your life made misenable by kidney disease, liver trouble or blood diseases, and have met with sad failures in the past under medical treatment and the use of wrong medicines, we would impress upon you the wisdom of trying me a whole day, and when the office closed I was still without my money. The order called for $50, and I went to every merchast in town to get the money and transfer it. Nobody would let me have the cash.

"There was but one way to do, and I did it. I walked into the postoffice next day and said: 'My name is John Blank. Here is an order calling for $50. Yesterday I was fool enough to snub you. Today I beg your pardon. Twe minutes later I had mg' money and was out on the sidewalk, and you can bet your shoes I don't get caught that way again. THE NURSE KNOWS he Testimony on Behalf of Milburn' Heart and Nerve Pills Given by Mrs H. Menzles, Profession-al Nurse, is Well Worth Considering Carefully.

Considering Carefully.

Those who are engaged in the nobibut ardupous work of nursing the sick, know from long training and experience the tage value of any remedy in any certain disease.

When to that is added personal use of a remedy we have the very highest endorsation possible that the remedy will do all that is claimed for it.

The testimony of Mas. H. E. Menzies, professional nurse, corner of Wellington and King streets, Brantford, Ont., on schalf of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is, therefore, of the greatest value, as from her own experience with them she can speak with confidence as to merita. HENRY RANG OFF.

When He Got Home That Night There Was Trouble.

Apropos of nothing in particular—unless it be electricity—I heard a druggist tell of a little occurrence in his shop the other day.

He was aloue and putting up a prescription behind his large partition screen when a stylishly dressed wo man entered and asked with some excitement for the telephone.

He enscenced her in front of it and returned to his work.

She took off her gloves, rang up "central" and began:

"2179—street. Yes, yes, Mr. Henry Wecker. Yes, yes. Mr. Henry Wecker. Yes, yes. He's at No.—Heckman street. Yes.—Oh, is that Mr. Wecker?

Then her voice hardened.

"Henry, why did you tell me you went to Philadelphia Thursday? What? No, you did not. I'know better. Don't you stand there and le tem like that! No, I won't! What do I care for the girl in the telephone office! You just attend to me and let her alone! I'm in a drug store. They're not listening at all. I want an explanation. No, indeed, I will not wait till you come home tonight! By that time you'll have hatched up a, fine story and brought up a couple of brutes to swear to it. Mrs. Wallace says her insband saw you at the club Thursday night and that you were going out to play poker all night. Oh, no, his in this word, the shirt! He's a very nice man, and I am much obliged te him. You woulfa't dare do anything of the kind! What? You won't, eh? Well, you'll quik when you get home! Here, wait a moment. Don't shu off.—

A naturalist tells of an exciting chase he saw between a swallow and dragon fly, which is among the swiftest of insects.

The insect flow with incredible speed and wheeled and dodged with until a short time ago that no the saw between the swallow, despite its utmost efforts, completely failed to evertake and capture it.

Glove Cutting.

The cutters of the great glove houses at Brussels and in France earn even higher wages than the cutters of the most fashionable tailors in London and New York. So difficult is this art of cutting gloves that most of the principal cutters are known to the trade by name and by fame, and the peculiar knives which they use in the business are so highly prized that they are handed down from generation to gameration as birilonoms.
