VALENTINE DAY WEDDINGS

DAVIDSON-LAMB

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Henry T. Lamb, Dorchester, Mass., when his youngest daughter, Clara Florence, was united in marriage to Mr. Ravlin P. Davidson, of this town, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Davidson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chas. Tilton, D. D., in the presence of about fifty relatives and friends of the contracting parties, the double ring service being used.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white georgette with conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. The bride's maid, Miss Helen Alexander, acted as flower-girl, being dressed in yellow chiffon over blue satin, and carried a basket of sweet peas. The groom was supported by his uncle, Mr. J. W. Card, artist, of New York City. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Harry Lamb, sister-in-law of the bride. The ushers were Messrs. Harry, John and George Lamb, brothers of the bride.

After the ceremony, refreshments were served by caterers. The happy young couple then left for a short trip to New York City, followed by the best wishes of many friends. The bride's going away suit was of navy blue velour. After their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson will reside in Wolfville.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass, china, etc., which testified of the high esteem in which she is held by her many friends. The groom's gift to his bride was a gold wrist watch.

STERLING-TAMPLIN

A valentine wedding was solemnized in Wolfville on Wednesday afternoon, when at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Tamplin, their elder daughter, Jennie, became the wife of Alexander Robert Sterling, of Wolfville. The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, was beauteously attired in white satin with embroidered veil trimmed with orange blossoms and carried a beautiful bouquet of carnations, tulips and sweet peas. Rev. A. D. Stirling, of Brookfield, father of the groom, assisted by Rev. G. W. Miller, Wolfville, officiated in the presence of a goodly company of immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties, including a merry bevy of young ladies who were classmates of the bride at Fictus Academy, and Acadia College, Class 23.

The bride's sister acted as flower girl. The usual felicitations and refreshments followed the ceremony after which the young couple left by the afternoon express for Halifax, the bride looking very charming in her Alice blue velvet suit with ruffian coat and veil just to match. On their return they will reside in Wolfville. The array of presents which included checks, linen, silver, and glassware, and other useful articles was very much admired. During the day congratulatory addresses and telegrams from relatives and friends in the Old Country and distant parts of Canada, were received. The out-of-town guests included the Misses Bertha Sutherland, of Pictou; Elsie Macintosh, of Hopewell, N. S.; and Christine Elderkin, of Pictou.

GIRLS GUIDES SLEIGH DRIVE

If songs, yells, choons and chatter are any proof of a good time, the Girl Guides ably demonstrated that fact, when they departed on their sleigh drive, on Saturday evening last.

Packed snugly into two big sleighs, the Guides sang their way to Kentville town, accompanied by Captain Haley, Lieutenant Parry, Miss Harry and Miss Irene Haley.

After a fine skate in Kentville's new rink, they wended their way to the "Green Lantern," where delicious refreshments were served them.

Then came the return drive, and although some of the girls may have grown chawey, the majority were right on the spot, with all the old camp songs of last summer, rounds, patrol songs, and yells galore.

It was one jolly good time, from start to finish, and will not soon be forgotten by the Guides, and their leaders.

During the inaugural exercises yesterday, Rev. Dr. Borden announced his resignation of the presidency of Mt. Allison University and stated that next summer he would be permanently located at Avonport on his farm at that place. The Dr.'s many friends in this vicinity will learn of his coming with pleasure and wish him many years of happy residence among us.

SUCCESSFUL POLITICAL GATHERING

Liberal-Conservative Association Held Annual Meeting at Kentville

The annual meeting of Kings county Liberal-Conservative Association was held in Nickles hall, Kentville, on Monday afternoon with a large attendance, notwithstanding the cold weather. Horton W. Phinney, president was in the chair and opened the meeting with an address, outlining the work of the association during the past year. Secretary-Treasurer G. H. Oakes gave a comprehensive report with suggestions for a campaign for a large membership in the county, which report was enthusiastically adopted.

Reginald T. Caldwell, county organizer, presented a report and spoke of the plans for organization work for the future. The work accomplished by Mr. Caldwell was considered highly satisfactory.

The nominating committee, composed of Messrs G. L. Nichols, J. E. Kinaman, John Ross, J. W. DeWolfe and C. R. Bill, presented their report, and the following were elected as officers for the ensuing year:

Honorary President—T. P. Calkin.
President—Horton W. Phinney.
Vice-President—W. L. Nichols.
End Vice-President—H. G. Harris.
Secretary-Treasurer—G. H. Oakes.
Organiser—R. T. Caldwell.

Strong addresses were delivered by F. P. Quinn, of Halifax, who severely criticized the provincial government in its policy of finance and high taxation. H. W. Corning, M. P., followed in an able criticism of the administration of the Agricultural and Colonization departments of the provincial government.

A smoker was held that evening at which addresses of a stirring nature were delivered by W. L. Hall, K. C., provincial leader, Colonel Joseph Hays, provincial organizer, Mr. Corning, Mr. Quinn and G. C. Nowlan.

A musical program included selections from the Harpers, Annapolis, the Cross-Clark quartette, solos by Felix P. Oinn and others.

ACADIA'S DEBATING TEAM

Interesting Intercollegiate Debate Which Will Determine the Winner of League

At a recent meeting of the Acadia Athenaeum Society, under the auspices of which the annual Intercollegiate Debate takes place, the committee appointed to choose the Intercollegiate team brought in their report which was accepted. Mr. V. L. Penison was chosen leader and associated with him on the team are Frank W. Doyle and H. B. Camp, all members of the Senior Class, W. P. Warren, of the Sophomore Class, in substitute. The debate this year between Dalhousie and Acadia takes place at Wolfville, sometime during the latter part of March, the exact date of which will be decided shortly. The subject, submitted by Dalhousie, is, "Resolved that the right of appeal from Canadian Courts to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council be abolished." Acadia has the affirmative side of the question, while Dalhousie is supporting the negative. Since this is the last debate of the series and since, therefore, the final result of the standing of the teams in the Intercollegiate League is determined by the winner of the decision of this debate, interest is expected to run high and a close contest is anticipated. P. L. Judge, President of the Athenaeum Society, is acting as Manager of the Team.

The standing of the various Intercollegiate teams in the fourth series may be summarized as follows:

	Won	Lost
Dalhousie	3	1
St. Francis Xavier	3	1
Acadia	2	2
Mount Allison	2	2
Univ. New Brunswick	1	3
Kings	1	3

The standing of the teams since the formation of the Intercollegiate Debating League is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Acadia	14	5
Mount Allison	13	6
Dalhousie	11	8
St. Francis Xavier	11	8
Univ. New Brunswick	7	12
Kings	1	18

Just one packet of MORSE'S SELECTED ORANGE PEKOE TEA will convince you that it is the very best tea on the market, the best in flavor, and the best from the standpoint of economy. It's wonderful how many good cups of tea you can make with a pound of MORSE'S SELECTED ORANGE PEKOE.

Some musicians go upon the stage, while others never get further than the orchestra.

INAUGURATION AT ACADIA

Rev. Dr. Patterson Inducted As President With Imposing Ceremony

Yesterday was an eventful day in the history of Acadia University when Rev. Dr. Patterson, the new President, was inducted with appropriate ceremony. The inauguration exercises took place at 10.30 o'clock at the Baptist church which was filled to capacity notwithstanding the disagreeable weather conditions which prevailed.

Principal Silver presided at the organ and rendered appropriate music before the opening of the exercises ending with the procession under the leadership of Rev. Dr. MacDonald marched up the aisle and occupied the seats arranged, followed by Rev. Dr. Manning, who presided, accompanied by the president elect.

On the platform were members of the faculty and representatives of various educational institutions and Mayor Phinney, representing the town.

The chairman called upon Rev. Dr. Goucher, of St. Stephen, N. B., who offered a fitting prayer, after which Rev. Dr. Manning presented the following address:

Honored guests, members of the Board of Governors and Senate, the Faculty, the Alumni, Students of the University, Teachers and pupils of the affiliated schools, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Acadia University is in her fifth year. During this time she has had seven Presidents, all of whom were men of light and leading. It is a great inspiration to review the past and to recall the heroic efforts and self-sacrifice of the men and women of yesterday; for it is their work which makes that of to-day worth while.

We meet at this time to formally install our new President, the fifth in number, who, in true apostolic succession has been chosen by the Board of Governors to fill this office of trust and responsibility.

Dr. Patterson. It is my privilege to greet you, as the President elect of Acadia University and to say it is the wish of the Board of Governors that you be formally installed as the President of the University and invested with the full authority and prerogatives of that office.

The President of a University has a great opportunity to make his mark in the world in which he lives. It cannot well be otherwise, for the constantly increasing number of students who go forth from these halls of learning year by year to begin the battle of life will take with them ideals which must have a decided effect upon their lives and characters in the years that follow.

This conviction had much to do with your selection for the position made vacant by the retirement of your honored predecessor. You were chosen because it was felt that you possessed many of those qualities of mind and heart which would fit you to discharge the duties of this high position with ability and success. Your achievements in Western Canada in the different departments of the service to which you gave yourself with all your might convinced us that here was a man of vision, of conviction and of ability to perform. By your energy, your pluck, your devotion to duty and your readiness to endure hardship, you won the confidence and support of your fellow-workers, and what you did there, we felt you could do here also.

The path you will tread may be to some extent an untraveled one. You are not an Acadia graduate; but you have been among us often enough to have caught the Acadia spirit and being a native of these Provinces you have learned why Acadia is what she stands for and the spirit of our people.

In your work as President you will have problems to solve, difficulties to grapple with, and obstacles to overcome. But if you are the man we take you to be these will only nerve you for the conflict and show the motto you are of.

Mathew Babcock has put the thought I have in mind in his own terse and terse fashion in an ode entitled "Be Strong", in which he says:

We are not here to play, to dream, to drift, We have hard work to do, and loads to lift.

Shut not the struggle, face the facts, 'tis God's gift.

We are hoping for great things from your leadership. Gladly and most loyally we will follow your lead, and if we are true to each other, to our people and to God we shall not fall in our endeavors.

And now, if I have rightly interpreted the mind of the governing Board, the Senate, the Faculty and the Alumni, they will please rise and remain standing.

The Board of Governors and Senate may never so wisely and the Faculty may be splendidly equipped for their work in the class-room, but after all an institution of learning is known by the men and women who go forth from its halls year by year. Will therefore the students of the University, the teachers and pupils of the affiliated schools join us on this platform in pledging their loyal support by also rising in their places.

Dr. Patterson, on behalf of the Board of Governors whom I have the honor to represent on this occasion and at their request, I pronounce you President of Acadia University and in doing so I present you with these keys, a symbol of your authority in the realm over which you are called to preside, and I give you also my hand and welcome you to all the honors and privileges as well as the duties and responsibilities of the great trust which we thus formally place in your hands, and may the God of our fathers, whose we are and whom we serve, lift upon you the light of His countenance and cause His face to shine upon you in all your ways as our educational leader and upon the Institution you are to serve with all your God-given powers.

Honored guests, members of the Board of Governors, Senate, Faculty, Alumni, Students of the University, Teachers and Pupils of the Affiliated Schools, Ladies and Gentlemen, it gives me great pleasure to present to you the President of Acadia University, Frederick William Patterson.

Dr. Patterson replied in fitting terms in which he referred to the splendid past of Acadia and the good work that had been accomplished by his predecessors. On the foundation, thus laid, he said, it would be his earnest endeavour to build wisely and well.

He was followed by Dr. B. C. Borden, of Mt. Allison University, who made a characteristically able and interesting address appropriate to the occasion and much enjoyed. He referred particularly to the unrest which today prevails in industrial circles and made a strong plea for the development of an education which will enlighten this class of our people.

The next speaker was Prof. E. C. Jeffrey, of Harvard, who spoke on behalf of the universities of the U. S. He referred to the excellent work done at Harvard by Acadia men and the close bond which exists between the two institutions.

Rev. Dr. Ross, the president of the Convention, conveyed to the new president the appreciation of that body, and assured him of their confidence in him and of their support at all times in his work.

Dr. Cutten, as the official representative of Colgate University, extended to Dr. Patterson the cordial felicitations of that University, and promised his own personal assistance at any time in anything tending to Acadia's advancement and prosperity. Old friends were delighted to have this opportunity of again listening to his message.

President Patterson then delivered his inaugural address which was a masterpiece of effort and was listened to with much interest. (The Acadian is publishing this address in full, the first installment appearing in this issue.)

The train from Halifax, which was two hours late owing to the snow storm, arrived during the delivering of this address and at the close Premier Armstrong, with Dr. MacKenzie, of Dalhousie, Prof. MacDonald, of St. Francis Xavier and Rev. Dr. Ross, of Halifax, were ushered to the platform.

Hon. Mr. Armstrong, on behalf of the government and the province, extended a welcome to Dr. Patterson as the president of Acadia at which institution he was educated, after which the following honorary degrees were conferred:

Hon. Mr. Armstrong, LL.D., conferred by Prof. Balcom.

Prof. Jeffrey, LL.D., conferred by Prof. Perry.

Dr. B. C. Borden, LL.D., conferred by Prof. Wheelock.

Prof. McLean, D. Litt., of McMaster University, conferred by Dr. MacDonald.

These all replied with appropriate remarks expressing their appreciation and thanks for the honor conferred upon them.

The degree of M. A. in absentia, was conferred upon Mrs. Churchill by Mrs. Rogers, of Amherst, this being the first time that an honorary degree has been conferred at Acadia.

With the singing of the hymn "Oh, Jesus I have promised" and the benediction was closed a most impressive ceremony.

At 1.30 o'clock, at the College Women's residence, a banquet in honor of the occasion was held. The large dining hall was fully occupied with tables, all of which were filled with guests. Rev. Dr. DeWolfe, principal of Acadia Seminary, presided and the blessing was asked by Rev. Dr. Poole, of St. John. A tempting and well ordered repast was served after which the master of ceremonies called upon various speakers who extended greetings from various institutions which

ACADIA ALUMNI CELEBRATE AT VANCOUVER

Inauguration of Dr. Patterson Occasion of Distinguished Gathering

(Special to The Acadian)

Vancouver, B. C., February 15.—The Associated Alumni of Acadia University of British Columbia, at a largely attended meeting held here this evening in celebration of the inauguration of Frederick W. Patterson as President of Acadia University, unanimously endorsed by a standing vote the following telegram sent last night to the Secretary of the Board of Governors of Acadia at Wolfville:

"Associated Alumni of Acadia University of B. C. send their heartiest congratulations to you on the happy occasion of the installation of Dr. Patterson. We know that he will bring to his task the same distinguished executive ability, accurate judgment and breadth of vision displayed in the West. We are glad that Dr. Patterson has been honored by the presidency of a university with such noble traditions of devoted public service, of which traditions we on the Pacific Coast are endeavoring to be worthy. Long live Acadia!"

E. SCOTT EATON, '03, Secretary.
EVELYN F. FARRIS, '08 President.
Hon. Dr. H. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, who came over from Victoria to attend the meeting, and Dr. L. S. Klink, President of the University of British Columbia, in the happiest of speeches, offered their felicitations and best wishes for the continued success and prosperity of Acadia.

The home of Mr. J. W. deB. Farris, K. C., Acadia, '99 and Mrs. Farris, '98, was thrown open to the association for the meeting, which was largely attended and the reception that followed was one of the most brilliant and successful of the season. Men and Women prominent in all phases of the life of the Province joined in completing the newly formed organization, pledged their active support on behalf of Acadia, and afterwards enjoyed a social hour in which old friendships were renewed and college days recalled.

WHO WILL ANSWER?

To the Editor of The Acadian.
Dear Mr. Editor:—For some time my curiosity has been aroused to conditions in the Central Mountain range.

The following are a few of the many questions that arise in that vicinity, of facts that are only too true. I am asking our kind Editor to publish this, for the benefit of the ignorant, and surely some kind reader will answer: as there must be some cause.

First: Why are our roads not worked upon in the Spring of the year when our taxes are supposed to be paid?

Second: When our taxes are paid why not allow each man an equal chance to do with his team; if he has one and so desired?

Third: Also I see clearly as one in a dream, that nearly all our overseers in and around our vicinity are Conservatives when in the "Good Old Summer Time" our Liberal friends have the paying jobs, can they tell us why?

Fourth: Why can't Davison Street flourish a more substantial Post Office, and why is it allowed to run under such conditions as have existed for the past years?

Fifth: Have we a councillor? What are his duties? Where is his abode? Does he hold the title of "A paid Liberal"?

Sixth: If it is the (so called) Murray Government that is supporting such profligate vices as these, little do we wonder, why did Hon. G. H. Murray resign?

Thanking you for your space,
I am just "SLEEPYHEAD"

they represented.

President MacKenzie, of Dalhousie, spoke for that University, Prof. Stevens, spoke for the University of New Brunswick, Prof. MacDonald, for St. Francis Xavier, Dr. Donahue, for Newton Theological Seminary, Dr. Sexton, for the N. S. Technical College, Prof. McLean, for McMaster, Rev. Dr. Ross, for Toronto University, and Rev. G. W. Miller, for the Presbyterian College at Halifax. The chairman expressed his regret that the president of Kings and Dr. Cummings, of the agricultural College, and others, were unavoidably absent. The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close a most enjoyable and successful function.

Last evening a reception in honor of President Patterson was held at the Memorial Gymnasium and was a most successful and brilliant affair. There was a large attendance of friends of Acadia come to tender good wishes to the new president and his family.

DR. PATTERSON'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

SOME IDEALS IN EDUCATION

I think that I can best introduce what I have to say this morning by describing an experience I have had, and a temptation I have faced whenever I have crossed the Rockies. It is known to my friends that I love the mountains. I shall never forget my first view of them.

I was making my first journey into Alberta in the spring of 1901 and was coming into Calgary from the East on the early morning train of the Canadian Pacific. I had been told that if the morning was clear I should get my first glimpse of the peaks when near Gleichen, sixty miles east of Calgary and one hundred and forty miles east of the mountains. The morning was all that one could desire. At nine o'clock as the train neared the summit of a heavy grade the mountains came into view, a great line of snow-capped peaks extending for miles along the south-west horizon. Though many miles away, they appeared not more than twenty miles distant. In the clear air of that Alberta morning, they seemed like great sentinels set to guard the plains and garbed in eternal snows.

I have seen the mountains many times and from many angles since that day. I have watched them for hours from the saddle as I have ridden northward eighty miles east of their base. I have seen them from every angle afforded by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. I have seen them when only their bases were visible, their peaks hidden behind low-hung clouds. I have seen them clear and distinct from base to peak in the glory of the morning sun. I have watched Mount Asiniboin and Stephen and Burgess and St. Donald, and a score of others, at close range and often as I have watched I have bared my head in reverence before these mighty works of God. I have been awed by their mystery and their suggestion of power and of omnipotence. It was impossible not to be reverent, and it would have been easy for reverence to have become worship. The more intimate, I have known the mountains the easier it has been to appreciate the tendency of primitive peoples to associate their mountains with gods and goddesses.

I think of their reverence for a thing, some spirit power and finally to personify them. I have understood why Greeks made the crescent Olympus the seat of the court of Zeus and the dwelling place of their gods; why in Hindu and Buddhist mythology, Sumeri, the Golden Mountain, (said by them to be 84,000 miles high) was picture, as the abode of their gods; why to the Huichal Indians every hill of peculiar shape was a deity; why the Mexicans regarded all mountains as divine and spoke of them and treated them as persons; (Mexicans speak of Mt. Itzicubilli as the wife of Mt. Popocatepetl); and why the Koreans not only personified their mountains but made them the guardians of nearby towns.

I have felt the power and majesty of the mountains such as Job must have been awed before the oriental sun and moon, for when the sun shone upon him in its burning splendor, and when the moon moved before him like a "bar of silver walking through a tropic night," a temptation came to surrender his reason and his will, to succumb to the lure of the senses and to fling a kiss as an act of worship to these heavenly bodies. Hear him when he says: "If I beheld the sun when it shone, or the moon walking with brightness, and my heart had been secretly enticed, or my mouth had kissed my hand, this also were an iniquity to be punished by the judges, for I should have denied the God that is above."

Yet as I have felt this impulse I have also resisted it: for the impulse was, in its essence, a temptation to succumb to the tyranny of sheer mass, to allow things that obtruded themselves on my vision to limit my horizon, to allow the fascination of that which made a powerful appeal to my senses to become a sedative for my reason, a tyranny over my spirit.

The impulse I have described is only one of the many forms in which this temptation comes to us. There is no sphere of life into which it does not enter. It shapes our judgments of our fellows. It invades our domestic life and imposes its standards on our homes. It enters our churches and warps our standards of spiritual values. It finds sanctuary in the field of education and seeks to shape its ideals, mould its policy, and even to stifle its judgments. It is of the tyranny of its standards in the field of education that I would speak this morning.

CONSERVATION OF HUMAN RESOURCES

We hear a great deal these days about the need of conserving our material resources, such as the forests, the fisheries, the minerals, etc., but we don't hear as much about the conservation of our Human Resources, which are infinitely more valuable. There is a great hue and cry about the need of immigration, but very little concerning the desirability of saving for usefulness the many acclimated citizens who are incapacitated by accidents. It might surprise the public at large to know that in Nova Scotia the accidental DEATHS alone amount, on an average, to over 300 each year. About 100 of these are attributable to injuries sustained in the industries, and the balance to public hazards. What does this mean, think of it, enough people killed every ten years to wipe out a town of 3000 inhabitants.

Out of the 200 yearly deaths due to public hazards, 70 children, 14 years of age and under, are the victims. This means that in every ten years, enough children are killed to wipe out a village of 700, many citizens of which are potential Bonar Laws, Joseph Howes, etc. Add to this the stupendous toll of accidents not resulting in death, and you have a sum total of loss, to our Province, beyond comprehension. The unfortunate part is that the majority of these accidents are preventable and caused by carelessness on the part of somebody.

The solution lies in the realization of the individual responsibility which we all should have towards the safety of ourselves and our fellow citizens. This can only be brought about by education, and towards this end every thoughtful citizen should take heed for himself, and also take advantage of every opportunity of interesting others. When a hazard is recognized, immediate action should be taken to remove it, or to warn all who may be subject to it.

This publication is anxious to co-operate in the movement towards the prevention of accidents and the resultant suffering and loss of life and limbs. If any of our readers see an opportunity of advancing the cause we will be glad to offer our columns for their comments and advice.

The alarmingly large amount of unpaid town taxes reported at the end of the year indicates the need of some improvement in the method of collection. It is not the purpose of this paper to seek to add to the burden of the tax-payer but we fail to see that it is a kindness to the debtor to allow his arrearages to go on and accumulate. Eventually the taxes must be paid and we know of no way of escaping such payment. If it is difficult to provide payment of taxes during the year for which these are levied the difficulty will not be lessened when the taxes for a second or a third year become due. The provision of some system by which citizens are made to realize that the taxes are due and payable at a stipulated time, and must then be paid, would work to the advantage of both those who pay the taxes and those who conduct town affairs.

In the city of New York they have adopted the sensible policy of making the offence of "boot-legging" punishable only by a term of imprisonment. It is certainly most refreshing to find that there are some law-makers who are endowed with a reasonable amount of common-sense. We have often wondered why in a country supposedly peopled by rational beings it should be thought wise to allow law-breaking on payment of a prescribed amount. That is just what we are doing today and it should not be allowed to continue. When those who wish to violate our laws find that the privilege of so doing is not purchasable, a better condition of affairs will be obtained than now exists.

Taxes are bearing heavily on the land owner in other places as well as in Nova Scotia. Just now the Legislature of Washington State is wrestling with the problem. The single tax on land has prevailed, but so heavy has the burden become that much land is reverting to the state. An income tax is likely to be put into effect. An additional source of revenue may be the bachelor, a proposition having been put before the House to tax all single men between the ages of 25 and sixty, five dollars per year. This later proposition is a good one.

THE TOURIST BUSINESS AND THE HOTELS

We had the opportunity while in Halifax this week of discussing the tourist question with one of the best informed men in the Maritime Provinces. He said that the two essentials for building up the tourist business in Nova Scotia were good roads and good hotels, that the good roads were well on the way, but the good hotels were still in the dim and distant future. He said that there were incorporated towns in the province in which you could not get a decent meal or a decent bed and that there were very few real good hotels anywhere from Cape North to Cape Sable. The average tourist did not expect palatial hotels in small towns, but he did expect well cooked food and clean, neat rooms. If he could not get these he would not stay in the country and he certainly would not return. As to how to secure better hotels, there should be called a convention of the hotel-keepers of the province; this convention should be addressed by men who knew the hotel business in the small town as well as in the big, and that an hotel keeper's association should be organized, devoted to the improvement of the hotels, which would ultimately and certainly lead to the betterment of the financial position of the hotel keepers and to the great benefit of the whole province.—Pictou Advocate.

A TALE OF A TEN DOLLAR BILL

How it did Good Service and Became Lost

Not long ago a fruit grower received a $10 payment on his crop. Having owed the grocer for supplies for some time, he passed the $10 on to him.

The grocer, in turn, remembered his liability to the hardware man, and forthwith passed the $10 on to him.

The hardware man had occasion to buy meat, and the $10 was handed to the butcher.

The butcher's wife, having received the $10 from her husband, bought some material for the family from the dry goods store.

The dry goods man paid the $10 to the coal dealer towards the coal bill.

As the coal dealer had bought some feed for his team, he bethought him of paying the farmer who had supplied it, and so the $10 again got into the country to start all over again.

In its rounds so far it has served seven purposes, and may have passed through many more hands, performing a similar service, as it passed along. It may even have strayed into the office of THE ACADIAN.

But the fact remains that it is still in the community to start on its rounds once more, and cause satisfaction to all through whose hands it passes.

But—

Had that ten been sent out of town to a Mail Order House, its service to this section would be at an end. It would have been gone forever from the district where it had its beginning—where the product of the orchard caused the $10 to enter into our midst. It is true that one individual may have gotten fair satisfaction from the purchase made, but the contrary may also have been the case, for no opportunity was afforded him of seeing in advance what he was buying. But whether a satisfactory transaction or not, the fact remains that the $10 is GONE, and is of no further service to the fruit growers of this Valley.

Keep every possible dollar at home, so that it may serve each one of us in turn as it passes along from one to the other!

Let it perform the same service as the "Pipe of Peace" in the days of the noble Red Man!

Always keep in mind that the local merchants in all lines are in business to perform the duties of distributors of all commodities to the homes, and this service should be appreciated.

IT'S DEAD RIGHT

The Elmira Signet very properly points out that the expenses in connection with the publication of a weekly newspaper are heavier than almost any other business in the ordinary town, with the exception of the larger factories, and it behooves the citizens of each town and village to give their paper all the support and assistance that they can. "It keeps alive," says The Signet, "the spirit of community loyalty which is now the bulwark of the small town merchant against the mail order houses, and the stores of the neighboring cities, and with the loss of community spirit, which is a town's greatest asset, the town would cease to exist. It would shrink. If it were not for the parochial influence of the local newspaper, many of the stores in the smaller communities would have to close their doors. The statement may look a bit strong, but it is absolutely true. Many business men realize this, but there are some that do not."

Monarch Ranges

Before making your final decision, it will repay you to inspect our line of ranges.

The Enterprise Monarch leads them all for Quality, Service and Appearance.

The linings are made from pure grey iron selected and blended to stand up under the most trying conditions. The walls are constructed of heavy copper fused steel which will not corrode or rust. The fire box is made extra large which makes the Enterprise Monarch a great fuel saver as it burns both the coal and the gas from it.

The cooking surface is extra large as the pipe is connected at the back of the warming closet.

As in the other qualities the Monarch range is unsurpassed for beauty, and is a credit to a well kept kitchen.

There's Room For Explanations In A Telephone Talk

When, a few days ago, it was decided to invite Emile Coue, the eminent French scientist, then in Pittsburg, to visit Halifax, it was felt that the occasion was one in which the tactful and courteous use of the spoken word was preeminently called for.

The mails were too slow; telegrams likely to be too abrupt.

But, to speak to a man 2000 miles off

A few years ago such an idea would have been scouted as the impracticable dream of a visionary.

To-day things are changed.

Thanks to the perfection to which Long Distance Telephone Service has been brought, such a feat is a commonplace of the business world.

A Telephone Call was put in for Emile Coue, and a highly successful talk ensued, each word passing clearly and distinctly over the long stretch of wire.

What although the invitation was refused. The Telephone offers unique facilities for softening rejections, for explaining difficulties in the way of acceptance. Every one was satisfied.

These Long Distance Telephone Talks are indeed all but as good as face to face ones.

W. C. T. U. Notes

Women's Christian Temperance Union first organized in 1874. Aim—The protection of the home, the abolition of the liquor traffic and the triumph of Christ's Golden Rule in custom and in law. Motto—For God and Home and Native Land. Badge—A knot of White Ribbon. Watchword—Agitate, educate, organize. Let us not judge one another any more, but judge this rather, that no man put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in his brother's way. Rom. 14:13.

PROHIBITION IN LABRADOR

Dr. Grenfell as chief magistrate of Labrador, under the British government, refused to issue licenses to sell liquor, and has kept the province dry. He also is rejoiced that Newfoundland is dry, but the drought of the two, he asserts, is menaced because of the international bootleggers who ply their nefarious trade along the coast. "America has done a most splendid thing in adopting Prohibition," Dr. Grenfell said in an interview. "World Prohibition must come, too. I find there is a great call for it everywhere. Liquor in any land is a curse to the morals, the health and the material prosperity. As a seaman (Dr. Grenfell is a master mariner) I have seen many a good vessel lost because of liquor. It was hard to tell a widow that her husband, while drunk, jumped over-board, or that another tipsy man upset a burning lamp on him and burned him to death. Dr. Grenfell asserted as a medical man that liquor is a great hindrance to recovery in case of accident, and a contributory cause to deaths from disease. To Dr. H. H. Russell, founder of the Anti-Saloon League, Dr. Grenfell expressed great pleasure on learning a fact which he had previously not known, that Abraham Lincoln was an abstainer. He asked that the aid of the World League be given to all the peoples with whom he deals and for whose interests he is working so hard, to protect them from international bootlegging. —Forward.

WALLACE REID'S BATTLE WITH DOPE

The battle which "Wally" Reid waged against the demands of morphine was started too late. His one-time magnificent physique was so thoroughly poisoned and debilitated when he took himself in hand, last October that physicians doubted if he could pull through. He surprised them for a time; but the fiends of poppyland had marked their victim. And today he lies dead out there in Hollywood. "Wally" Reid was one of the greatest favorites of screenland. The first news of his downfall came as a shock and a grief to tens of thousands of his admirers. Admiration and sympathy were felt for him from the moment it was learned that he was putting up a brave struggle to "come back." One by one the conditions that are bad in Hollywood are being revealed through some event, more tragic than any that films depict. This is but another way of saying that certain individuals are paying a terrific price for the reform of the movie player's colony. There is some discussion as to whether Wallace Reid won or lost his battle. Morally he won. Physically he lost. But his moral victory was the greater because of the shattered nerves and tissues and brain cells his inner spirit had to work with.

HOLSTEIN CAT

Heleh, a young lady from a large city, was visiting her uncle's farm, and was delighted with the fine Holsteins. One day as she was admiring them, a black-and-white cat came into the barn. Oh, uncle," she exclaimed in delighted surprise, "I didn't know you had Holstein tabbies to match the cows!"

BOOK REVIEW

The attitude of this reviewer towards "The Kaiser's Memoirs", published last year by Harper & Brothers, is a somewhat complex one. She has some difficulty in asking for this book the attention of people to whom the late war brought bereavement. What shall be done unto the man whose blundering ambition brought ruin and death to the doors of all, and who now presents the story of his life to the world he harmed? Shall we refuse to read the book? If it were possible or right to make this a purely personal issue I would suggest that it be publicly burned. But the world is more than a notion of an individual, and the Genius of History will have all her materials. We have now arrived at the time when, in spite of the suffering the war brought upon us, we are prepared to study it from the cosmic viewpoint, and for this purpose to put aside, for the moment at least, all personal and national prejudice. As the personal ambition of the poor vain Emperor was so potent a factor in bringing about the disastrous struggle, his own attempt to depict his motives will have important matter for the student. As for the man himself, there seems to be nothing homicidal about him. He was weak, vain, self-centred and ambitious, the victim of a system that placed the means for changing national destinies in his unstable hands. In the history of the world he must remain a fact, an abominable fact, indeed, but I would never permit personal prejudice to hinder me from probing to the minutest detail the full significance of that fact. So all persons gifted with the historic sense may read this volume, I think, in the same spirit that a scientist, with due regard for his personal safety, examines a dog afflicted with rabies. The book, moreover, is quite readable. The ex-Kaiser has a pen. If he had been the editor of a country newspaper instead of an emperor, his fondness for political issues could have been furnished with an easier and safer vent. Basil King is a Prince Edward Islander, but his work has the flavor of the busy American who finds in the streets of New York, not in the pastures of the little Canadian province, the mother tongue of his imagination. His new book, "The Dust Flower", is a charming story. The hero is one of the wealthiest of wealthy Americans, extremely temperamental, if not neurotic. In a moment of anger with his imperious fiancée he rushes from her presence, determined to marry the first woman he meets who will consent to the hurried alliance. Within a few hours he is married. Now, I will not tell the prospective reader one word more about the plot. The hero, the horrified and repentant fiancée, and the new wife will keep him interested as he endeavours to follow them in their effort to bring harmony out of the most chaotic realizations. The love element in the tale, turgid at the beginning, is at the close clear and idyllic. This novel should be a very popular one. It is published by Harper & Brothers. The price is two dollars.

In these days, when everybody is interested in Emile Coue and his method of healing sick people through auto-suggestion, many will welcome a little book by George H. Ham, entitled "The Miracle Man of Montreal". The Miracle Man is Brother Andre, a French Canadian of humble origin, who by faith and prayer and something else that is doubtless the possession in his body of some hidden force as yet unknown to science, has wrought many marvellous cures. George H. Ham is a Protestant and a man of the world; Brother Andre, whose life work Mr. Ham has chronicled for us in this book, is a monk of the Roman Catholic Church. The story is simple but forcefully told; the cures are well attested; there is no effort to impose upon the credulity of the reader. The true man never carps at phenomena that he cannot understand; he observes and compares, he grapples with the problem in search of law behind the phenomena; but finally he graciously permits the Ruler of the Universe to be wiser than he.

ACADIA PLEASES FANS BY WINNING OVER MT. ALLISON

Acadia Takes 5 to 4 Victory in Overtime

The Wolfville hockey fans had somewhat of a surprise on Thursday night, Feb. 8th, when the Acadia team defeated Mt. Allison in an overtime match by a score of 5 to 4. As Mt. Allison had defeated U. N. B. by 4-3, it leaves Acadia with good chances of winning the trophy. All men on both sides played well, but the spectacular work of Appleby, in the Mt. Allison net during the first period was a remarkable feature. Owing to the captain and several members of the team having the flu, the Acadia team has not had organized practices so that a win was not expected of them.

The first period was contrary to what was expected, Mt. A. men easily scored when they reached Acadia's nets, while the locals, due to the fine work of Appleby, were unable to get the rubber in the nets despite their often proximity to them. Probably the best players this period were Clarke, for Acadia, and Edgett, for Mt. Allison. During the period three players were given the "cooler," two for Mt. Allison and one for Acadia. The period started with a rush by Mt. Allison which failed to result in a score. However, they soon got the puck for their first score and soon after Edgett scored the second one on a brilliant rush.

Then the locals rallied and kept the puck near the red and gold nets but failed to secure tangible results. Again the visitors scored a goal on another rush and with more uneven playing the period ended with the score 3-0 in favor of the visitors. In the second period the Acadians played a much better offensive game than their opponents, but the defence work of Mt. A. was only broken once, while Mt. A. made a fluked score on a face-off in front of the nets. In this period, Appleby again starred, while Captain Hirtle played a great game for the locals. At the puck off Mt. A. started with a rush which was soon broken, and returned to Mt. A. ice, where it remained most of the period. At a face-off in front of Acadia's goal, Mt. A. scored her fourth goal and things seemed pretty black for the Acadians, until Hirtle shot Acadia's first goal. The period ended with the score 4-1 and left the Acadia rooters in somewhat better spirits than they had been at the end of the first period.

In the third period Acadia played a wonderful game and particularly Conrad, who shot two goals. During the first part both sides were pretty well matched, then suddenly the Acadia men put forth a great play which resulted in three goals in quick succession. At this the Acadia rooters went wild with excitement and after a consultation it was decided to continue playing. In the first five minutes Morrison scored the winning goal and the second five minutes was scoreless so the game ended with the score 5-4 in favor of Acadia.

Mt. Allison—Appleby, goal; Winters, Keith, defence; Edgett, Glennie, Wry, forwards; Wilson, Claude, subs. Acadia—Wright, goal; Clarke, Murray, defence; Hirtle, Morrison, Conrad, forwards; Blenkhorn, McLeod, Anthony, subs.

THE QUALITIES OF A FRIEND

He understands those contradictions in your nature that lead others to misjudge you. With him you breathe freer. You can take off your coat and loosen your collar. You can avow your little vanities and envies and hates and vic-sparks, your meanness and absurdities, and in opening them up to him they are lost, dissolved on the white ocean of his loyalty.

He understands. You do not have to be careful. You can abuse him—neglect him—tolerate him. He likes you. He is like a fire that purges all you do. He is like the water that warms you to the bone. You can weep with him, laugh with him, sin with him, pray with him.

Through and underneath it all he sees, knows and loves you. A friend, I repeat, is one with whom you dare to be yourself.—Kansas City Post.

A motion was made and carried that a meeting be held on Mar. 27th for the purpose of appointing a councillor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of D. W. Murray, moved and seconded that H. W. Sangster of Windsor be engaged to prepare bill for the Board of Assembly for drawing, six thousand and two hundred dollars for Electric light debentures, as authorized at the rate-payers meeting held on Dec. 18th, 1922.

On Friday afternoon the monthly business meeting of the "Hantsport Women's Institute" was held at the home of the President Mrs. W. K. Sterling when a number of important business matters were discussed. A most interesting letter was read by the secretary from an absent member, Mrs. R. S. Theakston, of Halifax. It was decided at the meeting to hold a sale the last of March. The responses and readings were of a Valentine nature. A Valentine Box was conducted causing a great deal of merriment. The theme for the entertainment part of the March business meeting will be "Spring".

The "fair" scheduled to take place in the Odd Fellows Hall on Wednesday, Feb. 14th, under the auspices of the "Hantsport Tennis" Club, has been indefinitely postponed, owing to the indisposition of so many of the members.

On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week, Rev. W. E. Smith, M. D., of West China, delivered an interesting and instructive address in the Methodist Church. Dr. Smith has spent twenty five years in China in both Medical and Evangelistic departments. The Drs. splendid work has been largely carried on in the city of Jungshan. "The Beautiful City" On Wednesday evening his address was illustrated with a number of lantern slides.

In the hockey match on Wednesday afternoon of last week on the local rink, between Avonport and Hantsport the score was 6-3 in favor of the latter.

At the Sunday evening service in the Baptist church, a communication was read from Dr. Spidel, Wolfville, extending an invitation to the congregation, to be present at the inauguration of Dr. Patterson, Acadia's new President, which takes place at Wolfville on Thursday, Feb. 15th.

Dr. McKenzie, of the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, was in town on Thursday of last week on professional duties.

On the evening of Feb. 14th, Mr. and Mrs. St. C. Jones, entertained, a family party at their new residence on William street. Although the house is not quite ready for occupancy it was artistically decorated for the occasion with emblems of St. Valentine's Day. The evening was spent in games and contests. A dainty lunch, was served.

Capt. and Mrs. Silas H. Mitchner celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday Feb. 6th.

Mrs. Chas. Dunbar was the guest of her brother Mr. Barnes, of Halifax, en route to St. John where she will visit her mother Mrs. S. Barnes for several weeks.

Mrs. E. Smith entertained a number of her friends at "Bridge" on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Michael Davison is the guest of her daughter Mrs. Seymour Fisher, Ontario.

Personal and Social

Mayor N. H. Phinney was in Kentville on Monday.

Miss Gertrude Dorman, of Yarmouth, is the guest of Mrs. R. B. Blauveidt.]

Mr. R. B. Blauveidt has recently returned from a business trip to Clements-port and Annapolis.

Miss Hazel Clark, of West St. John, N. B., is the guest of her friend, Mrs. P. S. Hilsley, Main street.

Mrs. N. W. Eaton is spending two weeks in Wolfville, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. R. W. DeWolfe.

Mr. B. I. Fry of the Sterling Services spent a few days last week at Annapolis and vicinity in the interests of the Realty Dept. of the Services.

Major MacPherson, who is making a number of trips in the interests of his firm, L. E. Shaw Ltd., left on Monday morning for St. John, en route to P. E. I. and other points in the Maritime Provinces.

The many friends of Mrs. L. L. Franklin, both in Wolfville and throughout the county, will be very glad to learn that she is recovering from her recent severe illness. THE ACADIAN trusts that she may speedily be restored to complete health.

ACADIA TEAM OFF FOR FREDERICTON

Wolfville platform presented a lively scene on Tuesday morning when the Acadia intercollegiate hockey team with spurs and supporters boarded the Halifax express en route for Fredericton. In the drizzling snow a strong number of the student body bade them all good luck, lustily yelling the Acadia spirit into each player by name. Many citizens joined in the well wishing. As some of the players passed the president's residence Dr. Patterson threw up the window and wished the boys good luck. The players to uphold the honor of Acadia are: Wright, goal; Clark and Murray, defence; Hirtle, centre; Morrison, left; Conrad, right; Anthony, Blenkhorn and Collins, spares. All are as fit as fiddles.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sealey, of Kentville, were guests of Mrs. Regina Master on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mrs. Leona Davis and little daughter, of Wolfville, spent several days recently at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. D. Pulsifer, Hants Border.

Miss B. Pattison, of Kentville, spent the week end at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. Pattison.

Mr. and Mrs. McJeffrey returned to Hantsport recently after an extended visit with friends in Shubenacadie.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Taylor removed from Medford, King's Co., last week and are at the home of Mrs. Taylor's mother, Mrs. T. Masters.

There are a number of Pneumonia cases in town, but none reported as serious.

Mrs. Bessie Richmond left on Thursday for her home in Portland Oregon, after spending a part of the winter with friends in Hantsport.

Miss Ethel Rockefeller left on Saturday for Montreal to visit her sister, Mrs. Ruggles Dodge.

Mrs. Eustace Elderkin, of Falmouth, visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. Coffin recently.

Capt. and Mrs. R. Taylor spent Tuesday in Kentville.

Mr. T. Patton, of New Glasgow, spent several days with his family here last week.

Court Rand I. O. T. entertained at a Bean Supper in their rooms on Friday evening.

THE FIRST SHOT

Under the above heading the Halifax Evening Echo makes the following comment editorially on the splendid service which Miss Rosamund Archibald, of this town, is performing in the interests of a better use of the English. THE ACADIAN extends congratulations to Miss Archibald on the worthy campaign which she has launched and wishes all possible success for the movement which is so deserving of public approval.

It is heartening to note the enthusiasm with which the campaign for better English has been launched in Wolfville. Slovenliness in speech is as detestable as slovenliness in attire, and really more offensive to the patriotic citizen. Our language is a priceless heritage, and every child everywhere should be taught to hold it in such high esteem that he could not willingly offend or misuse it.

On every hand now, one has one's sense of nicety and propriety offended by the careless, and in fact almost criminal misuse of the English language. With all the opportunities open to Canadians today to obtain an education, no child over twelve, and no adult under sixty should be lightly pardoned for misusing his native tongue. Of course, careful speech in the home, the school, the office or other place of business, in the pulpit, on the platform and in the press, is of incalculable value in assisting to develop a generation of pleasing and correct speakers.

Good literature, good plays, good songs are all aids to this end, but Miss Rosamund Archibald, of Wolfville, has devised an "English Drill" which, faithfully and intelligently used, will lay the foundation for correct speech among children who have not the advantage of good home training. The movement is on foot to institute a campaign from ocean to ocean in favor of good English and Wolfville's enthusiastic public meeting may be regarded as the first shot, heard, let us hope, from the rocky shores of the Atlantic over the peaks and fastnesses of the Rocky Mountains to the shores of the Pacific. Let Canadians become known for the beauty and perfection of the language used by every class and every age. It is a high ambition and must lead to still higher things.

A special meeting of the Council and Housing Commission was held at the Council Chamber on Wednesday evening for the purpose of discussing the putting into operation of the Housing Act during the coming summer. Mr. W. D. Withrow, the town solicitor, was present and gave a statement relative to the working of the act and answered questions of the members of the Council and Commission. No decided action was taken but the impression appeared to prevail that every effort should be put forth to secure the operation of the act here in the near future.

NOTES FROM THE SHIRETOWN

The Kentville Music Study Club held its opening concert in Town Assembly Hall, before a large audience of music lovers. Dr. A. R. Donohue, President, in his introductory remarks stated that six programs would be given during the season, and all promised to be excellent. The program for the evening was in charge of Mrs. A. Gordon Embre and was very fine, being a splendid beginning and auguring well for the success of the course. Miss Marie Wilson, of Wolfville, was the only artist on the program outside the town, but she was a host in herself. Miss Wilson has just completed a very successful tour of the Western States with a company of artists, and her beautiful, rich, full contralto voice was heard with delight. She is a great favorite with Kentville audiences and received an ovation.

The local artists were all well known favorites and fully up to their reputation as musical stars of a magnitude. The vocal soloists were, Mrs. W. E. Ramey, and Mrs. R. L. Eaton, and the piano-forte soloists, Mrs. A. Gordon Embre, Miss Margaret Outhit and Blanchard Thomson, the two last mentioned are very young artists of great promise in the musical world. A pleasing number on the program was the ladies quartette, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia", by Mrs. Embre, Miss Wilson, Miss Blanchard and Miss Turner. An interesting paper on Russian Music prepared by Rev. B. J. Porter was read by Mrs. S. J. Cross. The paper on "Current Events", prepared for each program by Mrs. J. D. Clarke, was read by Dr. A. R. Donohue and proved most interesting.

At the close of the program a vote of thanks and appreciation for the rare critical treat was moved by Dr. W. B. Moore, seconded by Mr. Tom Weaver, and presented by Dr. A. R. Donohue together with a membership card to the Club to the guest of the evening Miss Wilson. The accompanists were Mrs. A. G. Embre and Mrs. J. D. Clarke.

DR. G. M. GRANT COMING TO THIS COUNTY

Following is a program for the series of addresses arranged to be given in different places in Kings county during this month by Rev. G. M. Grant, D.D., in the interest of the work of Social Service. Dr. Grant is an attractive and interesting speaker and these meetings should be well attended: Sunday, Feb. 18.—Gaspereau at 11 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 18.—Port Williams at 3.15 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 18.—Wolfville at 8.15 p.m. Monday, Feb. 19.—Canning at 7.30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 20.—Canard at 7.30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 21.—Kentville at 8 p.m.

One way to make the rather a little less wearisome is not to talk about it and not to get mad about it.

TRASHY VALENTINES

To the Editor of the "Acadian", Dear Sir—I should be pleased if you could spare me a few lines in your valued paper to draw the attention of the public to the much to be deplored ignorance and vulgarity displayed in the so-called comic Valentines as sold at certain stores, I believe, for two cents each.

These few words are inadequate to express the contempt and scorn with which this class of literature should be treated, or to those whose evil minds flood the market with it to the detriment of the coming, as well as to the present, generation.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT BERWICK

Large Apple Warehouse Destroyed With Heavy Loss

The largest apple warehouse in the Annapolis Valley, the property of the Berwick Fruit Company, Inc., with its contents consisting of 8,000 barrels of apples, two cars of feed, general supplies and equipment, was completely destroyed by fire on Monday afternoon. The total damage, partially covered by insurance, is estimated at some $40,000.

The establishment of the Berwick Fruit Company, a frame building with metal covered roof and sides, was one of the largest in the province, with a yearly capacity of between 40,000 and 50,000 barrels of apples.

Office equipment of the "Kings Co. Mutual Fire Insurance Company," head office of which is situated in the building, was completely destroyed, but the company's records were saved.

NON-CO-OPERATION IN INDIA AFFECTS TEA PRICES

The doctrine of non-co-operation preached by Chandi, has had serious results on the tea industry in India, the largest tea producing country in the world. Natives under Chandi's leadership, have hindered, blocked and passively opposed British rule and authority, which made it extremely difficult for the Tea Planters to secure adequate numbers of Coolies to pluck tea, and once plucked, the Natives have employed every means possible to hold up shipment.

LIFE WAS MISERY!

"I was reading the other day about Neurasthenia, about the large number of people who were troubled with this disease. It is just what my wife had. She felt miserable all the time and was constantly depressed. She would waken in the morning and tell me that something dreadful was going to happen that day. Life was nothing short of misery for her. She was so depressed that I expected she would lose her mind and have to go to a sanitarium and I kept wondering how I would get the money to pay for her. She could not eat and had no appetite for food. She was irritable and cranky most of the time. If she was crossed in any way, she would immediately work herself up into a violent temper. This worried me because she had always had a kind and gentle disposition and nothing which was said or done seemed to irritate her. I spoke to our family doctor about her and he said that her trouble was imagination and that if she would try and forget about her depression and look on the bright side of life she would be all right. Of course I didn't dare tell her this because I knew she would get into one of her tempers. When she got over these fits of temper, she was always weak and ill and more depressed than ever. The doctor said a tonic might help her and gave me a prescription but this did not do her any good. She tried all kinds of other tonics with the same result. Carnol was recommended to me and I wish to state that it is the leader of all tonics. Since taking it my wife has changed completely. Now she is always ready for her meals and work is no burden. It is a pleasure for me to recommend Carnol to anyone who is in need of a tonic or a body builder. Excuse me for writing this letter but I want you to accept my thanks for that wonderful tonic known as Carnol." — Mr. J. M., Toronto.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 7-622 Sold in Wolfville by H. E. CALKIN

SNOW SHOVELING AS AN ELECTIVE AT ACADIA

At first we thought it was a joke—a big joke in fact. Would the students shovel snow? Why, of course they would. We even held a mass meeting in Chip Hall and offered our services before they were asked. What a lark to be free from classes and shovel snow on the railroad! So we turned out on Monday to the Number of one hundred and fifty including several of our professors, and started to work our work to Kentville. Many times have we set out for that happy town and been very eager to get there for various reasons, but never did I see such a crowd of so many different kinds of people so anxious to gain the same direction. Not even the prospect of starving in a snowbank could stop them for there was the same possibility if we did not go.

Of course there were a few "littles of the field" among the college men, who "neither toil nor spin" and so remained at home, but the students set out in a body and hung out until the end. The lucky ones of us were supplied with large mitts of wonderful shape and color, which were the treat of the D. A. R.; but none were so unlucky as not to get a shovel or a pick, in fact the picks were too numerous since most of us had a leaning towards shovels and not very heavy ones at that. We were certainly a jolly crew and jokes were the order of the day. But still drifts disappeared and many a man was seen with something like perspiration on his brow, whose hardest work of late had been to eat three meals a day. At about five o'clock we met the train and were soon eating preserved horse and hard-tack to the accompaniment of tin mugs of coffee, it was called coffee for the sake of courtesy. Tuesday morning saw us working ahead of a train in the direction of Windsor. We missed our ranks a few however who preferred to do their duty by remaining on guard over Chip Hall, but this time we were on the war path in earnest and there was plenty of work for all. The first drift we met reached from Grand Pre to Halifax, and was as high as a house. After the snow was removed there was about six inches of ice to be taken out with our picks. By noon we reached Horton Bridge, and dined on the train. Oh, what luxury! dinner served to all in the palatial dining-car of the "Bluepost" and at the expense of the railroad. During the afternoon the work was much the same, in fact the sameness increased as we advanced.

We as usual worked together in groups and could be easily told at a distance by our bright colored tams and sweaters. Old clothes were at a premium and the more outlandish the costume the happier was the man. In spite of cold ears and feet, of tired arms and backs and the ever-increasing snow we reached Hantsport at night and mustered at the hotel for supper. Those who reached there first may have fared quite well; but when our turn came we found the bill of fare to be bread and tea, so you may imagine the fare of those who came after us. Wednesday we worked down the line past Windsor. The crowd was smaller and the men were tired, but by night we were well down the line and the prospects were good that the road would be open the next day. You may imagine our feelings when thanks to an obliging storm on Thursday, the work of the last three days was undone and the track in an even worse condition than before. All day Friday the storm raged, and although we turned out again and shovelled to Kentville, our tracks were filled behind us and our work went for nothing. Saturday morning we started again with the motto, "Windsor or bust," and we had no intention of doing the latter. By this time the different drifts had become old acquaintances and their faces were very familiar although they had grown wonderfully in a few days. Where a ten foot bank had dismayed us before, we now found a fresh looking mound of fifteen or twenty feet, packed hard and solid. It was a common occurrence to have two yows of men on the drift to stow away the snow passed up to them from below. Foot by foot, drift by drift, we moved ahead, but at nightfall we were only a little past Grand Pre, it may be mentioned that we did not see many American tourists around the home of Evangeline. A good supper of hot soup, sandwiches and good coffee put new life in us and once more we started ahead. About this time Dame Rumor began to stir herself, and reports of a train working toward us from Hantsport began to circulate. At first we were positively informed that the two trains would meet by seven o'clock, next it was eight, then ten, and finally midnight; but still we worked and still no train. It may have been a joke to work all night in a snow storm with freezing feet, icy clothes, and nothing to eat, but we failed to see the point. This might have been because of the darkness, for the railroad with remarkable foresight had furnished two small lanterns for a hundred men, and not having made any arrangements with the moon, we were deprived of her light.

A good many workers were enticed away by the prospect of a seat in the car, but still the work went on and the Acadia men were not wanting at the front. At last soon after the sun made his appearance the two trains met amid mingled cheers of Acadia and Kings. But we still had the delightful task of watering two engines with buckets, which method although very interesting, will never drive out the tank system. Our homeward trip was enlivened by several stops when we had to turn out and shovel our way. But we finally rolled into Wolfville about ten o'clock, tired but happy.

We closed our week's programme by clearing out the Chip Hall larder which operation was well done without aid of either picks or shovels.

WHAT IS SLEEP?

Although more necessary to life than food, we must confess that up to the present the exact cause of sleep is not definitely known.

Careful observation has made us familiar with the physical condition of the body during sleep, and from this it would appear that it is a condition of debility.

Thus, although no physical or mental function is absolutely abeyant, all the normal activities of the organism are appreciably lowered. The blood pressure is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, respiration is slower and less deep, and the amount of air inspired by a normal man during sleep is only one-seventh of that used during similar periods of quiet wakefulness.

The chest and limbs usually increase in size during sleep owing to changes in the circulation which facilitate the passage of fatigue products into the blood stream.

There is certainly an increased vascularity of the skin, which is often flushed, and the brain left with less blood in comparatively anemic. It is owing to this increased action of the skin that we are so easily chilled during sleep.

It is when we come to consider the state of the cells in the brain during sleep that we are baffled and conjecture must take the place of certainty.

The grey matter of the brain is composed of numerous cells, which are connected and linked together by fine nerve fibers. These cells receive sense-impressions from all over the body, and, after interpreting them, send out controlling messages for the proper working of the various organs.

When we try to realize that in a normal brain there are more than 9,000 millions of such cells, all linked up together, we gain some idea of the complexity of this wonderful nervous mechanism.

Each of these cells is provided with fine branching fibers which, on account of their tree-like appearance, are called dendrites—from the Greek word "dendron," a tree.

It is believed that these fine, branching fibers have much to do with sleep, but the exact way in which they accomplish it is not known.

It is thought probable that they either retract, leaving a space which cuts off nerve currents, or, conversely, that they become more intimately connected, causing a general diffusion of nerve energy. Either of these conditions would favor and induce sleep.

It is, however, as well to remember that the real changes may, after all, be in the nerve cells themselves, for when a tree begins to wither the earliest signs are noted in the smallest branches, although the set of mischief is probably in the root.—A Physician in London Daily Mail.

A son, who had left his father in the morning, returned at night to tell him that he had been most wonderfully preserved; for his horse had thrown him, and but for God's good guardian hand he had certainly been killed. His father replied that he had met with yet more remarkable providence and had still more reason to praise God. When the son's curiosity was wound up to the highest pitch, the father added, "I have traveled the livelong day, preserved from all alarm or accident whatever."

The Natural Wealth of Canada Transportation
IN the matter of transportation the various industries of Canada are well served on land and sea. Nature has endowed this country with an abundance of navigable waterways, and these have been supplemented by extensive railway systems linking up every province. Both east and west there are excellent harbours and the leading steamship organizations of the world provide ocean services connecting Canada with every foreign market.

MAKE PERFECT BREAD

ROMANCE OF THE DIAMOND RING

By Ruby I. Kingswood.

It had been talked of for a long time, that Mother Denstair should celebrate her fiftieth birthday with a diamond ring.

Welda, and Jim, and Alex, stood ready to wave a happy goodbye, but as Dad was about to start the machine, the postman came along with a letter, and Jim, scanning the address, stopped him.

Hours fly quickly when hands and minds are busy in loving service. There were flowers to place in the vases, and a gay salad to make, and the birthday cake must have its fifty candles buried evenly in the pink icing.

"Six o'clock? I did not think it was that late! I wonder what can be keeping them," questioned Alex.

"Perhaps they called into Aunt Kate's to show her the ring," suggested Jim.

"No," decided Welda. "Mother never does that. She always comes straight home from town, and anyway she knows we are anxious to see it."

"Oh, well," assured Alex, "Dad's with her, so she's all right; and just take another peep at that table Welda, doesn't it look scrumptious?"

"Here they are!" and with a bound they were all at the door.

"Oh, do let's see it, Mother," coaxed Welda.

"I declare if I had a new diamond I'd be like the girls, and I wouldn't be wearing gloves to hide it," laughed Jim.

Mother Denstair's eyes were bright with happiness as she spoke. "Have patience till I get my wraps off, and I'll tell you all about it. I didn't get, my ring after all."

"Ah, Mother!" came in disappointed exclamations, while three very long faces scanned the happy, one in surprised questioning.

"Great! Hurrah for Mother!" shouted Alex.

"Well, I never!" was all that Jim could say.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

Quiet and sincere sympathy is often the most welcome and efficient consolation to the afflicted. Said a wise man to one in deep sorrow, "I did not come to comfort you: God only can do that; but I did come to say how deeply and tenderly I feel for you in your affliction."

If a fool knows a secret, he tells it because he is a fool: if a knave knows one, he tells it whenever it is his interest to tell it.

The consciousness of clean linen is, in and of itself, a source of moral strength. Seconded only to that of a clean conscience, a well ironed collar, or a fresh glove has carried many a man through an emergency in which a wrinkle or a rip would have defeated him.

A man's name is not like a mantle which merely hangs about him, and which one perchance may safely twitch and pull, but a perfectly fitting garment, which like the skin, has grown over him, at which one cannot rake and scrape without injuring the man himself.

There are cases in which a man would be ashamed not to have been imposed upon. There is a confidence necessary to human intercourse, and without which men are often more injured by their own suspicions, than they could be by the perfidy of others.

A man is never astonished or ashamed that he does not know what another does; but he is surprised at the gross ignorance of the others in not knowing what he knows.

Do you want to know the man against whom you have most reason to guard yourself? Your looking-glass will give you a very fair likeness of his face.

I love the man that is modestly valiant, that stirs not till he most needs, and then to purpose. A continued patience I commend not.

The excessive pleasure we feel in talking of ourselves, ought to make us apprehensive that we afford little to our hearers.

When a man has no design but to speak plain truth, he may say a great deal in a very narrow compass.

What would women do if they could not cry? What poor, defenceless creatures they would be.

Vanity keeps persons in favor with themselves, who are out of favor with all others.

Mortifications are often more painful than real calamities.

When you doubt, abstain.

GIVE THE WIFE A CHANGE

Do you ever think much about the wife? Do you ever say to yourself: "Now, what about that poor wife of mine?"

I suppose you wonder what I'm driving at? I'll tell you. Your wife is probably being neglected. Sounds awful, doesn't it? Like the title of a heartening serial story, "The neglected Wife!"

Well, it's a serial story—and a tragic one. It goes on, day after day, year after year, without stopping ever!

She's there in the mornings, always bright and cheerful. She gives you your breakfast, brushes your coat, and sends you off to work.

Now, let's look at her side of the case. She's been alone all day. And, because most women don't know when to stop work, she's been working all day.

Yet, after all, your wife is human like yourself. She wants to enjoy life a bit. She wants to get out into the world.

So instead of "taking her for granted," take her out! Go without a drink or a pipe or two, and take her out to the movies once a week.

Above all, talk to her. And talk about happy things. Don't let her swell on her troubles—money difficulties, gas bills, and so on. Just make her happy, and there you are!

It's love, comradeship and happiness that go to make the life of a wife worth living.

The Pastor (driving to church, to passer-by)—"Where are you going, John?"

John—"To church in the next parish." Pastor—"I don't like that. What would you say if your sheep strayed to some one else's property?"

Melon-Growing in the Okanagan

There is a certain market-gardener at Summerland, a little settlement on the shores of the Okanagan Lake in British Columbia, who has made his ten acres famous for canteloupes, egg-plants and peppers.

They are grown on the usual "hill" system 5 x 5 ft. apart, and well-rotted mixed farm-yard manure is applied in the spring.

The grower's "long suit" is saving his own seed and he has bred distinct strains of peppers, cucumbers and melons. The "Election" canteloupe is improving every year.

The seed is sown under glass in mid-April and is transplanted twice before being set out in the field between the 5th and 10th of June. It is then ready to fruit at the end of August.

localities that have acquired a taste for these dainties.

From 1/4 acre of early slicing-cucumbers the grower makes at least 3 pickings in the season, taking from 110-120 boxes at each picking. These average a clear profit of 95 cents per box, the prices varying from 60 cents up to $2.00 according to season.

PORT WILLIAMS NOTES

The Port Williams Fruit Company has purchased the property adjoining their warehouse at Port Williams station owned by Mrs. Emma Harvey, who carried on a grocery business. The Fruit Company intend carrying on the same business and already have a man in charge, Ormond Forsythe. Mrs. Harvey will remain in the house for the winter.

Last Wednesday evening several of the young people enjoyed a sleighing party to Wolfville, also enjoying the movies.

Miss Bushay, trained nurse of Halifax, has been attending Jack Zwicker, who has been very ill with "La Grippe", but is well on the road to recovery.

The Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting in Citizen's Hall on Thursday, February 8, at 2.30 p. m. The usual business was carried on and then followed a very interesting program which was prepared by the House and School Committee: reading, Mrs. F. S. Collins; reading, Mrs. G. H. Starr; vocal solo, Mrs. F. Jackson; and following these numbers was an address given by Miss Rosemond Archibald of Acadia Ladies Seminary, on the correct use of the King's English. Those who failed to hear Miss Archibald missed a rare opportunity. She made it very plain indeed that one who wants to meet with success today must give heed to their manner of speech, also that one who is careless in using the King's English today stands less chance of making good than the one who speaks correctly. She was accompanied from Wolfville by three of her English scholars and with them she demonstrated both the wrong and the correct way of using the King's English. This perhaps brought it more forcibly to the attention of the audience who thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated the address from the beginning to the end. After a very hearty vote of thanks was tendered Miss Archibald, refreshments were served and a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. John Donaldson, of Church street, had the misfortune of falling and making an arm one day last week when skating.

The Carnival, which was held in the Williams Open Air Rink, last Saturday evening, was considered a great success. The first prize for the ladies was Miss Hilda Thomson, representing an Indian girl; second prize, won by Miss Hanson, who represented a gentleman's first prize, won by Mr. Gordon Kinsman, as Charlie Chaplin, and second prize by Mr. Edwin Parks, representing a clown.

On Friday evening, February 9, the Busy Men's Bible Class held a banquet in the church vestry. A very pleasant social time was enjoyed by all who were present.

Miss Coleman, primary teacher, spent last week end at her home at Aylesford.

The "Lily of the Valley" Division met as usual last Monday evening and despite the fact that mercury hovered about zero there were a goodly number present and a very profitable evening was spent.

Mr. George A. Chase spent a few days last week in the western part of the province.

The W. M. A. S. will hold a public meeting in the Baptist church next Sunday evening, February 18, at 7.30. The exercise, "The Beautiful City" will be given. The junior choir will sing. Everyone welcome.

Rev. O. N. Chipman is confined to the house with a very bad cold.

A number of people from here attended the inauguration ceremony at Wolfville on Thursday morning, of Dr. Patterson, the new President of Acadia University.

Several of the young people attended the Carnival in Wolfville rink on Wednesday evening, thus celebrating St. Valentine's Day.

Last Sunday evening, Rev. O. N. Chipman gave another of his series of sermons on the Commandments. This makes the fourth. Next Sunday morning he will speak on the Fifth Commandment.

NEW MEMBERS OF THE GOVERNMENT

Mr. J. A. Macdonald, M. P. P. for Kings, a Member of the Executive Council

Announcement is made of the appointment of two new members of the Executive Council of Nova Scotia, Mr. J. J. Kinley, member for Lunenburg, and Mr. John A. Macdonald, the senior member for this county. Mr. Macdonald, who is a son of Mr. Andrew Macdonald, of Upper Dyke Village and a successful farmer of that place, is a graduate of Acadia. He was elected to the House of Assembly in the general election of 1920.

A MISUNDERSTANDING

The proud mother was showing off her son to a neighbor.

"He grows more like his father every day," she said.

The neighbor did not expand with appreciation.

"Dear me!" she said, "Add five and you find everything."

FEBRUARY 16
A DAILY PRAYER:—Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer.—Psalm 19:14.

FEBRUARY 17
LORD OVER ALL:—Thou art worthy O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were made.—Revelation 4:11.

FEBRUARY 18
HOW TO GET AN INCREASE:—Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee. Then shall the earth yield her increase; and God even our own God, shall bless us.—Psalm 67:5,6.

FEBRUARY 19
UNSKAKEN TRUST:—They that trust in the Lord shall be as Mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth forever. As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about his people from henceforth even for ever.—Psalm 125:1,2.

FEBRUARY 20
ETERNAL AND EVERLASTING SAFETY:—The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms.—Deuteronomy 33:27.

FEBRUARY 21
NO CONDEMNATION:—There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.—Romans 8:1.

FEBRUARY 22
NOTHING BUT GOOD:—And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose.—Romans 8:28.

GREENWICH NEWS

Mr. Ormond Forsythe is in charge of the United Fruit Company's store, which was until recently, the property of Mrs. Emma Harvey.

We were much interested to learn that Mr. Lovitt Forsythe, of Port Williams, starred on the Hockey team, Rangers, of that place, in the game played in Kenisville Arena, with a team from Windsor, on the evening of Feb. 7th. Greenwich can claim Lovitt as one of its sons, he having interested friends here.

Mrs. George Bishop and Mrs. Charles Forsythe entertained a few friends for tea and evening, on last Wednesday and Friday, respectively.

Mrs. T. A. Pearson, was again hostess at an "afternoon tea," last Thursday.

Mrs. Hazen Bishop and Mrs. Harris Forsythe, the latter being a former school teacher here, called upon the school one day last week, being appointed the week before by the Community League. The week before, those to call were Mrs. George Bishop, Mrs. Byron Cox and Mr. Burpee Bishop.

Miss Elsie Piper, went to Kentville Friday evening, to visit with friends, returning on Monday morning.

Mrs. Andrew Fenwick and Miss Betty Fenwick, entertained a number of the young people on Monday evening. An evening of enjoyment was spent by all present.

A splendid audience, attended the Community League last Friday evening to enjoy the President's lecture, subject that evening being, "Russia and its Revolution," being enjoyed to the full by an appreciative audience. Mr. Hemmion, deserves great credit and gratitude for these lectures, all free. The solo at first of evening, after usual business, by Evelyn Forsythe, one of our school girls, was much enjoyed. Visitors from outside the place always welcome. The evening this week, will be in charge of the Social Committee and will be an evening with valentines and along that line, a good time may be expected.

Mr. John Fenwick, who has been spending the last three months over at Habitant, left on Tuesday morning for the United States, and we hear he will take a course at a tractor school while away.

Miss Joyce Fraser who has been ill the past three weeks is now much improved.

The "Reducing Record," for the Phonograph, at the home of one of our families, seems to be gaining great interest.

Mr. MacMahon, of Waterville, was calling upon our homes on Tuesday this week, as agent of the four well known Halifax papers.

PREMIER ARMSTRONG

Premier E. H. Armstrong was recently elected to fill the post of Premier Murray, of Nova Scotia, who retired after a service of twenty-seven years.

When this sauce is thick and smooth add the beats.

Oven Stew.—Take a pound of steak cut thin, and cut it into pieces about four inches square. On each piece of steak put 2 small pieces of bacon, then roll each piece and tie or pin together with toothpicks. Pare 5 medium sized potatoes, 2 carrots, a piece of turnip, 1 onion. Put altogether in a large frying pan or roaster; dot with butter. Put in nearly enough water to cover the vegetables. Cook in the oven until the vegetables and meat are well done. This makes a very tasty dish for lunch or dinner.

Mid-winter Conserve.—Three cups canned-red cherries, 2 cups grated pineapple, 2 oranges, 1 lemon, 3 cups sugar, 3/4 cup walnut meats. To the canned fruits add juice and grated rind of oranges, juice of lemon, and sugar. Cook until thick. Add nut meats just before taking from the stove. Pour into hot sterilized glasses. Cover with paraffin when cold.

Southern Beets.—Boil as many beets as are needed then peel and chop them in a half-cupful each. Make a sauce of a half-inch piece of vinegar and water, salt, pepper, a heaping tablespoonful of butter, three tablespoonful of sugar a teaspoonful of cornstarch dissolved in water and the beaten yolk of an egg.

Warden.—What's your name and occupation?

Prisoner.—My name is Spark; I'm an electrician, and I was sent up for assault and battery.

Warden.—Hey, guard! Give this man a nice dry cell.

DELORO ARSENICALS

"Made at the mouth of the Mine"

Deloro Brown Copper Arsenic Dust combines the advantages of low cost of manufacture, (no coal is used), with high fungicidal and insecticidal value. The difference between the Brown and Blue in scab control in 1922 was less than one per cent, or well within the range of experimental error.

The Brown dust used in 1922 was made in a small way and poorly ground in a ball mill. In sticking value it was in no way superior to the Blue Copper Dust.

The Brown dust being put out by Deloro in 1923 possesses the following advantages over that used in 1922.

It is all ground in a Raymond mill and air floated before packing.

Deloro Arsenate of Lime is the most adhesive arsenical yet made and is used in Deloro Brown dust, thus making it infinitely more adhesive than Blue dust mixed with lead arsenate.

Deloro Brown Dust is made in such a manner as to prevent it from caking as rapidly as last year's Blue dust. Samples have been kept over a year without showing any traces of caking.

Experiments in Cornell in 1922 with some air floated, new process dust showed it to be a much better floating material than the Blue Copper dust.

With all these improvements, Deloro confidently expects its Brown Copper Arsenic Dust to prove superior in insecticidal and fungicidal value as well as in sticking value, safety and cost to the Blue Copper Arsenic Dusts in 1923.

Deloro makes a full line of Wettable Sulphur, Lead Arsenate, Paris Green, Nicotine Sulphate, Arsenate of Lime, Nicotine Dust, 90-10 Sulphur Lead Arsenate, Green Potato Dust, etc.,
