At The Federal Capital

During the week ended, May, 7th, very considerable progress was made in the business of Parliament, although, on the whole, it was a very quiet week. The time of the House of Commons was for the greater part occupied in committee of supply. Different departments of the public service made considerable progress in voting their estimates. In addition to this, a number of bills of importance were advanced from stage to stage and finally passed. One of the subjects that perhaps involved the greatest amount of discussion was taken up on Monday, May 2nd. Up to that time Mondays had been devoted to private business, that is to say, Monday was private members' day, and, as has more than once been intimated in this correspondence, resolutions and bills in the name of private members were discussed more or less, sometimes withdrawn and sometimes pushed to a conclusion, even to a division. On Monday the second discussion arose on the adjourned debate on the second reading of the bill to amend the Civil Service Act. The opposition to this bill in amendment was initiated by Mr. A. K. McLean, of Halifax who strongly opposed the Government's measure and spoke at great length in his opposition. His remarks occupied the greater part of the afternoon. The debate was then continued well into the night by members on both sides of the House, and finally an amendment in the shape of a six months' hiatus was presented by Mr. McLean. It was almost midnight when the discussion came to a conclusion and a division was called, when Mr. McLean's motion for a six months' hiatus was defeated by a vote of 72 to 57, a majority of 15 for the Government. It will be noted that this is a small majority, indeed the lowest that the Government had during the present session. But this can be accounted for in this way; a considerable number of Government supporters from Ontario, who always go home for the week end, had not returned, as they seldom come back until Tuesday morning. As the figures will show only a small membership, about one half of the total, were in the House when the vote was taken. No political capital can be made out of the fact that the majority was so small, because no Government member voted for Mr. McLean's amendment.

Tuesday also was a quiet day in the House of Commons, and was devoted almost entirely to voting supply in committee of the whole, with the addition of advancements of some public bills and orders. During the afternoon Sir Louis Davies, Chief Justice of Canada and Deputy of His Excellency, the Governor General, came down to the Senate Chamber to give his assent to a number of bills that had been passed up to that time. As usual, this afforded an opportunity for Colonel Chambers, the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, to come down to the House of Commons and make his usual bows to Mr. Speaker and inform him that the Deputy of the Governor General requested the presence of the House of Commons in the Senate Chamber. This function is admirably discharged by Colonel Chambers, as everyone knows who are present when he comes with a message of this kind, makes his announcement and is rewarded by very generous applause by the members of the House of Commons. Accordingly, the Speaker with the Commons went up to the Senate Chamber, when the bills that had been passed received the royal assent.

Wednesday was another quiet day and devoted to supply. The principal feature of the discussions of Wednesday was a valuable contribution to the debate by Sir Robert Borden, who made an excellent exposition on the matter of preserving our Archives. It will be readily understood that this is a subject of very considerable importance. The Archives are the basis and foundation of our National History, and it is of the greatest importance that they should be carefully preserved, and that proper accommodation should be afforded for this purpose. Up to the present considerable has been done in this regard. A building of excellent quality has been erected for the custody of all matters pertaining to our Archives; but it appears that the accommodation had become limited. As a matter of fact it is crowded in consequence of the constant and rapid accumulation of state papers and documents of the greatest importance to our National History. It was for the purpose of encouraging further expenditure and for greater efforts to furnish accommodation and suitable preservation of papers, documents and records of a National character, that Sir Robert intervened in the debate and spoke at such length and so interestingly on this important National phase of our history.

Parliament did not sit on Thursday, the 5th, Ascension Day, which is a holy day and has always been observed by Parliament. On this day a large number of Senators and Members of the House of Commons went to Montreal, as the guests of the Montreal Harbor Commissioners at Canada's great ocean port. Many phases of the great commercial metropolis, and especially the enormous shipping operations of Montreal were observed. Among other incidents of the day of a very pleasing character was the opportunity afforded of viewing the launch of a great steamer from the docks of Vickers at Maisonneuve. A steamer, which was placed at the disposal of the guests, was towed down into close proximity of the great sheds in the yards of Vickers, Ltd., and right in front of the shed where the new steamer was built came to a halt. The recently completed ship could be plainly seen from aboard the steamer. She was already equipped for the plunge, and only waited on the launch-way the word to take the water. At the given signal, daily decorated, she moved gently and smoothly down the ways and glided into the waters of the St. Lawrence just like a bird. It was of course a highly interesting spectacle, and one that ordinary laudemen have not very frequently an opportunity of enjoying.

Friday, the 6th, was another quiet day, and devoted to the advancing of bills from one stage to another, and the voting of supplies. The 7th was the first Saturday on which the House of Commons sat this session. The sitting was from two to six o'clock in the afternoon, and did not re-assemble in the evening. Supply was the principal work of Saturday, as well as Friday and the other days of the week. The Order Paper, had by this time been fairly well cleaned up, and every movement of Parliamentary procedure was in the direction of clearing the decks for the Budget Speech, to be delivered on Monday, the 9th. By the time six o'clock had been reached, it was felt that a fairly good day's work had been accomplished, and all left in good humor and looking forward interestedly to the fiscal statement to be made by the Minister of Finance on the 9th.

Concluding his budget speech in the House of Commons on Monday evening, May 9th, the Finance Minister, Sir Henry Drayton, said: "Mr. Speaker, we in Canada have a great task before us. The world is sadly out of tune. May we help in restoring harmony? Trust and confidence are sadly lacking. Class interests are advanced with selfish insistence. Unemployment is with us. Faith in our fellowmen is weakened. Doubt of the future is often voiced. And what is the trouble? The sun still shines—the rivers still sparkle—our lands are as great and as fruitful as ever—our resources just as vast. Shall it be said that the work and sacrifice of the past few years were in vain? That we Canadians of today do not think that Canada, for which so great a stream of heroic blood was shed—a Canada great enough to die for—is a country not worth living for? Living for Canada! Ah! To do that means living for and helping our fellow-Canadians; means the realization that no real advantage can be taken by this class at the expense of that—that the wrong of one works to the injury of all—that Canada requires honest, clear thinking and the abandonment of racial, class and political prejudice—that our task is worthy of the efforts of a united Canada, and the best, unselfish, constant work of each and all of us. If we can but again renew faith—the one in the other, and in our country—live for Canada and in the faith of our forefathers, the future holds no shadows for Canada."

Special Services At St. Dunstan's

Sunday, the Feast of Pentecost, was fittingly celebrated at St. Dunstan's Cathedral. In the morning at 11 o'clock Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by His Lordship Bishop O'Leary, assisted by the following:—High Priest, Rev. O. Kiggins; Deacon of Honor, Rev. P. Hughes; Sub-Deacon of Honor, Rev. J. C. McDonald; Deacon, Rev. R. St. John, Rev. J. Rooney; Master of Ceremonies, Rev. Maurice McDonald. The sermon by Rev. J. R. Rooney, on the Feast of Pentecost, was excellent. The choir rendered the Mass of St. Alphonsus in "F" and during the Gradual Mr. W. J. Brown sang the "Veni Sancti Spiritus." Mrs. Byron Brown presided at the organ.

In the afternoon the rite of Confirmation was conferred upon 170 candidates by His Lordship, Bishop O'Leary, Rev. Fr. Hughes was Master of Ceremonies and Rev. Fr. Rooney and Rev. R. St. John were assistants. The last named preached and the children were afterwards addressed by His Lordship and given the total abstinence pledge until 21 years of age. The ceremony closed with Pontifical Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Information coming to Toronto from Winnipeg, said that a gentleman of the last named city recently sent the hides of two cows to Brandon for sale. The distance from Winnipeg to Brandon is not very great, but when he received his returns he found that when the freight charges were deducted all he had left for the two hides were 16 cents in postage stamps.

Nothing can beat an Income Office to make people take an interest in International Expenditure.

At Bluefield, W. Va., on May 2nd, 6 persons were killed and 27 injured when a Norfolk and Western Railroad Passenger Train ran into an open switch.

From Brockville, Ontario, under date of May 4th, comes this information: While ploughing in his field Patrick Brady, 70 years of age, was overcome. He was just able to walk to his home, where he died within a few minutes.

A severe earthquake was recorded on May 1st on the Georgetown University Seismograph, starting at 12.46 a.m. and lasting until 2 a.m. The estimated distance was 1,800 miles. A quake was also registered at the Dominion Observatory, Ottawa, early on the same date. Possibly it was the same one.

Under date May 1st the following intelligence comes from Kingston, Ontario: A loaf of bread containing a dead mouse was handed by a citizen of Kingston to Sanitary Inspector Carson on Friday night. The Inspector after examination, expressed the opinion that the mouse had jumped into the dough that was being prepared for the oven.

Western Canada was visited by a tremendous windstorm early last week. The gale played havoc at Saskatoon. Among other things it lifted the roof of the old City Hall, now used as a day nursery, and laid over an unoccupied automobile in 3rd avenue. Several plate glass windows were broken and chimneys, etc., blown down; telegraph and telephone lines badly demoralized.

A curious circumstance in connection with fires arose in Montreal on the 2nd inst. A blaze was started at a restaurant on St. Dominique Street shortly after noon a couple of weeks ago. It was a warm day and it was shown that a defect in the plate glass window had concentrated the sun's rays on inflammable materials in the store, leading to a fire which caused damage estimated at $198.00.

A Norwegian five masted ship, the Jastenes, sailed from St. John, N. B., for Queenstown on Saturday April 30th. Two ladies took passage on board the ship. They were mother and daughter, from Chatham. This was not a passenger ship. They in their anxiety to visit their friends in the Old Land signed on as members of the crew. They will go ashore at Queenstown and will come back by the same ship when she calls at Queenstown on her return to St. John after discharging her cargo at a continental port.

At St. John's, Newfoundland, a plan had been arranged to relieve unemployment by giving work on city jobs in relays, but after it had been started serious difficulties arose. The first detachment of 300 having worked for a week were expected to give way then for another 200 to take their place. The first batch thought that they should not relinquish their place, but continued on their work regardless of the remaining unemployed. Thereupon the unemployed swarmed into the City Hall and demanded an enlargement of the labor scheme, so as to care for a greater number of men out of work.

It is announced from Montreal that on Saturday, April 30th, the last day for the payment of Income Tax, there was so great a rush at the Shaughnessy Building that they were not able to find room inside. In consequence of this an extraordinary course was adopted to secure the tax; clerks, guarded by two mounted police, presented the unusual spectacle of receiving the taxes in the open air. There was a steady stream of tax payers all day and up to mid-night on Saturday. It is estimated that the total received Saturday amounted to about three millions of dollars, making a grand total for the week of between nine and ten millions of dollars for the City of Montreal.

FOR OUR
January Carnival of Economy
The old year took away, forever, we hope, the old burden of war prices. For months conditions have been working toward the great climax that brought the remarkable merchandise that is here assembled for this our greatest January Carnival of Economy.

The results came in two ways: 1st. The drastic lowering of prices on our own stocks, down to the new low basis, and often far below it—to double your interest in January buying in our store.
2nd. We have combined the markets—taking utmost advantage of the opportunities created by far sighted manufacturers who were ready to co-operate with us in presenting to you now the lowest prices that will be possible, for the next six months, at least.

We can just see the delight of our Customers when they see the splendid assortment of goods, in every department of our store, and then realize that prices are away down to the bottom, where it is a pleasure to buy things.
Many Manufacturers have ACCEPTED LARGE LOSSES.
We shall forgo a large part of our profits on the new goods and accept large losses on our own mark-downs—to inaugurate this first New Year under the New Management and
THE MOST STIRRING JANUARY PRICE-UPSET THAT THIS COMMUNITY HAS EVER KNOWN.

No matter what you need or desire, now is the best time for months to come to buy it. Some of the reasons are told on this page; but scores of others are here that can get no mention today, even in this broad space.

Much controversy has been going on in the press lately relative to large eggs. Now comes along a claimant from Edmonton who thinks he breaks the record. This remarkable egg was laid by a Plymouth Rock pullet. There were two shells with about half an inch of space between them filled with the same material as the white of an ordinary egg. The outside shell was about the same size as a double yolked egg, while the inner shell was the size of a normal one.

St. Louis Fur Exchange 5th & Chestnut St, St. Louis, Mo, U.S.A.

Look. Read. Realize!

We cater to the men's trade, and no other. If you were sick you wouldn't call to see a Tailor, or a Blacksmith, about the condition of your health. Of course not; you would call to see a Doctor

If you wanted a Suit or an Overcoat would you go to see a Doctor, or a Shoemaker? Not at all. You would go to see a First-Class Tailor.

WELL, there's where we shine!!! We study the business. We know what suits a young man we know what suits a middle-aged man, and we know what suits the old gentleman—both in goods and in style. It does not make any difference whether you want your clothes Ready-to-Wear, or Made-to-Order. We are equally in a position to suit you. We do not let a suit or overcoat leave our establishment until it suits and fits the man who is buying. Our prices are always right when you take the quality into consideration.

Do not forget that we are sole agents for the famous W H Leishman & Co., Wholesale Custom Tailors. We have an elegant stock of Overcoats to show you at the present time.

Overcoats, Made-to-Order-from... $30.00 to $48.00
Overcoats, Ready-to-Wear..... $15.00 to $36.00

Success Is a Habit

Our habits make us. We are creatures of habit. Whether we are a success or a failure is a question of how we do things without thinking. To Save is the only way to success

Gloves

We have just the kind of Gloves you need—lined and unlined. Also Wool Gloves for this time of year. Suedes and Tans—both combination. Price..... $1.00 to $4.00

Underwear

Come and get your Underwear before it is all sold. We have all kinds—two-piece and light and heavy weight. Prices per suit $1.90 to $5.50

Prayer Before The Blessed Sacrament

Again I come before Thee, Lord, To fill my post of love, To join in praise and homage here...

Uncle Phil's Umbrella

Mary passed him as he was examining the hall on his hands and knees. 'Paul Shee!' she exclaimed, 'are you crazy?'

The old umbrella stood once more in its rightful place in the rack in the hall, unopened until the evening of All Saint's Day.

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—a soothing and strengthening the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

'No umbrella, John?' queried his mother. 'I do believe you'd forget your head if it wasn't fastened on. Here, take Uncle Phil's. And thus finally equipped, the little party set out.

John let the others precede him into the pew, and having the end seat, he dropped his umbrella on the kneeling bench.

As the next morning was the Feast of All Saints and as their duty to their dead demanded that the Sheas attend Mass on that occasion, they retired early, John, after some persuasion, having agreed to let the matter of the broken umbrella lie over until the next day.

Minard's Liniment

Minard's Liniment will cure Dis-temper. 'Ma, is Mr. Fulhouse very old?' 'No, dear; why do you ask?'

'I think he must be, 'cause I heard pa say last night that he raised his ante.'

'What did I tell you?' interposed a gentle voice. It was Mary speaking. 'I know God and the Poor Souls would find a way out.'

'They all nodded a reverent assent. —Matthew A. McGovern.

THAT PERSISTENT HACKING, RACKING, COUGH

Can Be Quickly Relieved By Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

The terrible, hacking, lung-racking cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it, is a great danger to your health, and the longer it sticks, the more serious the menace becomes.

The constant coughing keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy that loosens the phlegm and heals and soothes the lungs, thereby fortifying them against serious pulmonary diseases.

Mr. J. W. F. Whitley, Vermilion, Ala., writes:—'I wish to express my thanks for what Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has done for me. For a number of weeks I had been suffering from a very severe hacking cough, and all the remedies I used failed to relieve me. At last I secured a bottle of "Dr. Wood's," and after taking it I secured great relief. Needless to say, I secured a supply on hand.'

'Dr. Wood's' is 35c and 60c a bottle at all dealers. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark; manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

deathbed—I know you will come to me from the ends of the earth if you hear of my sickness—I propose to tell you that there is a message for you hidden in the handle of my old umbrella, which must not be read until after my will is probated.

'May the wealth bring you more happiness than it has me, and may you remember me frequently in your prayers, is the last wish of your affectionate brother. PHIL.'

Tears were flowing down Mrs. Shee's cheeks as her son finished reading.

'Poor Phil,' she sighed, so that is what you tried so hard to tell me about before you passed away.'

'Come on, mother,' cried John impatiently. 'Let's go down to the bank. They'll be open by the time we get there.'

Even in his wildest dreams John had never imagined anything like the sight which met his gaze when he opened that wonderful drawer in the safety deposit vaults of the First National. Every bit of space was filled with bonds of every variety, and his eyes grew bigger and bigger as he saw the denominations.

'Why, another! he ejaculated. 'I never suspected that Uncle Phil was so rich. There must be hundreds of thousands here. Now you won't have to place any stint on your charities. And the children can go to college and I can return to the seminary.'

'What did I tell you?' interposed a gentle voice. It was Mary speaking. 'I know God and the Poor Souls would find a way out.'

'They all nodded a reverent assent. —Matthew A. McGovern.
