Poetry

UNDER THE VIOLETS. BY OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

Her hands are cold; her face is white; No more her pulses come and go; Her eyes are shut to life and light; Fold the white vestures, snow on snow, And lay her where the violets blow.

For her the morning choir shall sing Its matins from the branches high, And every minstrel voice of spring That thrills beneath the April sky Shall greet her with the earliest cry.

Select Literature

"I cannot help it," he said, "and yet it must be true; everything that I do, it will all come out at the inquest. Poor Vivian! Harding, can nothing be done?"

"I will not say it," he interrupted. "Isabel, he was jealous of me, not I of him; we were not good friends, but, poor fellow, I would not have touched a hair of his head."

"Thank Heaven!" he said, brokenly. "It is but once in a lifetime a man can go through this."

CHAPTER IV. Silence and gloom fell upon all—the familiar figure of the Rector was seen no more in the parish. There was a stranger in the Rectory; a stranger occupied his pulpit, preaching the truths he had put forth with such fervour and earnestness.

CHAPTER V. "I cannot help it," she sobbed; and, as I looked into her sad young face, with the look of horror that never left her eyes, I could not doubt her words.

Miscellaneous.

A pony, only 27 inches in height, is on exhibition at the horse show at the Agricultural Hall, Edinburgh.

A nugget of gold, worth $520, was recently found at the Moose River Gold Mines. This is the largest nugget ever found in Nova Scotia.

England, it is alleged, will soon occupy Egypt, with the consent of the Khedive and the Sultan. It is believed that England will establish a protectorate over Egypt.

A factory is established in Kansas City for the exportation of preserved rat's meat to China. This new food will be tinned in the usual manner and sent to its destination.

Over a thousand employees have been dismissed from the various departments at Washington since President Hayes' inauguration, making a saving in expense of over $1,000 per day.

A Stewardess of one of the Cunard steamships is about to retire with a fortune of $25,000, the accumulated sum of "tips" received from generous passengers through her service of twenty years.

The Indian uprising in Idaho and Oregon, last week, was attended with great bloodshed—twenty-nine settlers having fallen victims at the outset, and a great slaughter of the troops under Col. Perry being reported shortly after. General McDowell has been instructed by General Sherman to have the Indians pursued as fast as possible, and pay no attention whatever to boundary lines of the different military commands, but to punish the Indians wherever caught.

A type foundry in St. Paul has lately furnished the types for the "Framvri" an Icelandic newspaper, to be published in the Icelandic colony at Keowatin, on Red River, in British territory, about sixty miles from Fort Garry. This will be the first newspaper published in the Icelandic language. The preparation of the types required the greatest care. They are in the Roman alphabet, but with a great many peculiarities in regard to accentuations and are of a very antiquated form. The Icelandic language is something like the Norwegian language as it was spoken about 1000 years ago.

LOST AT THE FIRE.—We regret to learn that two of our fishing newspapers—the Martha Rowan and Ella P.—belonging to Freeport and Westport, laden with full cargoes for St. John, were totally consumed by the recent fire. The loss is a severe one to the owners, as well as others of the inhabitants, who had sent all the codfish they taken this spring, together with money, for necessary stores for maintenance. The Ella P. was owned by Capt. A. Thurston and J. Denton, of Freeport, and the Martha Rowan by Capt. Isaac Peters.—Digby Courier.

THE TICHBORNE CASE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—A short time ago the Call published news relative to the schooner Osprey, which is said to have picked up the Tichborne claimant. The article was read by Oliver Perry, a prisoner in the penitentiary, who states that he was second mate and carpenter of the three-masted schooner Osprey, which sailed from New York February 1854, for San Francisco. In April or May following they picked up five men in a boat off Brazil—three Englishmen, one Norwegian and one Danish. One of the Englishmen was called Tichborne. Considered him an overgrown boy, about 20. He spoke English with a German or French accent; said his father was a lord or something of that sort, and he had been in South America travelling for pleasure. The "Osprey," after coming here, went to Australia, and it is supposed Tichborne went on her. The captain's name was Owens. Perry is over 70 years old, and his remembrance of circumstances came by degrees; he knew little of Tichborne, having been in the more unsettled portions of the Pacific coast for the past 15 or 20 years, and met Captain Owens at Idaho City, which included the parties who had known Perry and who was always considered reliable, and got into the penitentiary more through misfortune and whiskey than dishonesty.

SAD ACCIDENT.

Yesterday morning Mr. Thomas Casey, the well-known victualler, met with an accident at Westport, which resulted fatally a few hours afterwards. An eye witness of the accident states that just as the early morning train was moving away from the platform, Mr. Casey, who was about to get on board, and grasping the rear rail of one car and the forward rail of another, swung himself clear of the station platform, between the two cars. No doubt he grasped the wrong rails, and intended to jump on the platform of the car; but having no rest for his feet and being a heavy man, he fell between the two cars. The forward truck of the rear car passed over his legs, severing the left leg close to the trunk, and the right leg above the knee. His mangled body was dragged a short distance by the under gear of the truck, but the train was promptly stopped before the unfortunate man was entirely out of sight. Though he had the best of surgical attendants available he was injured past all hope of recovery, and after very great suffering he died between 11 and 12 o'clock. Mr. Casey was known probably to every man in Halifax, and many were the expressions of regret yesterday at the sad and sudden termination of his life.—Herald 29th of May.

During the Crimean campaign of one year and a half 241,000 men were killed in the district of the Crimea. The Russians lost 170,000 soldiers; the English, French and Turks 156,000; and there were 15,000 Tartar victims. Of this total 324,800 were injured in the Crimea, including 210,000 in the neighborhood of Sebastopol. Those killed in battle were 30,000, and allowing an equal number for the losses from wounds, 281,000 must have succumbed from disease. The deaths of the sick persons sent away from the seat of war were about sixty thousand more, which makes the number of dead from the Crimean campaign alone over 410,000.

Special Dispatches to the Morning Chronicle.

EUROPE.

BUCHAREST, June 28.—The fourth army corps from the interior of Russia is now entering Romania via Belgrade, and Ezerov, June 28.—A Russian column of 15,000 strong has arrived before Khorassan, in the rear of the Turkish centre. Capt. Mehemmed, with a brigade, has occupied Kopolkoz, to the west of Khorassan. Ammunition has been sent to Mukhtar Pasha's camp.

A despatch from Galatz says bloody fighting is going on at Pyros on the Danube. Russian troops are crossing en masse, and engaging the Turks, who are making desperate resistance. The slaughter on both sides is terrible.

A St. Petersburg official telegram of June 23rd, says the Russians attacked Zichichian on the Black Sea north of Batoum. The Turks aided by a monitor and an armed population, offered obstinate resistance from retrenchments and high ground, fighting through the day. Towards evening the Russians captured a portion of the enemy's positions. They lost a Lieut. Colonel, 16 officers wounded, 4,000 men killed and wounded.

A special despatch of Wednesday says the Turks were driven back from their landing place at the point of the bayonet. About 6 o'clock the Turkish infantry, some 8,000 in number, made an attack on the troops which had landed, but were repulsed by the musketry of the brigade, which soon occupied the heights. Sistoia will be occupied to-morrow.

An important announcement, through an official despatch from the Grand Duke Nicholas, says the Russians practically command the Danube, having on the 27th effected a passage in force at Simniza, holding Sistoia and all surrounding heights. The headquarters of the Russian army have been transferred to Simniza, the Czar issuing a proclamation to the Bulgarians announcing that his mission is to secure to them sacred rights of nationality and to protect Christians from violence.

The Grand Duke Nicholas crossed the river at Petrochin and declares that 50,000 Russians now occupy the southern side of the stream. By this passage at Simniza both Widin and Nicopolis are isolated from the Turkish quadrilateral.

The Times' correspondent at Bucharest sends the following additional details of the Simniza crossing: At 8 o'clock evening of the 26th, everything was in motion and at 2 o'clock a landing was effected and the tele de pont was secured. The first pontoon was in position at three o'clock, and, as it is extremely probable that the bridges at Simniza and Petrochin are completed before this, and that artillery, cavalry and munitions were passing over.

Losses in the second affair of Petrochin and Simniza are estimated at less than a thousand.

LIVERPOOL, June 28.—Upward of 200 gentlemen, including representatives of all public bodies in town, attending the banquet given Gen. Grant in the large ball room of Town Hall.

A fire last night, caused by friction of machinery in the spinning mill of John Robertson & Co., Glasgow, which confined to the spinning department, entailed loss of four hundred thousand dollars; partially insured. Five hundred hands were thrown out of employment.

CLARK & CO.'S thread works, Paisley, Scotland, were burned yesterday. The work people were saved with great difficulty. Loss $25,000.

LONDON, June 29.—Telegrams to Paris press assert that the Russian losses in crossing the Danube were enormous.

The Deputies of the Croatian Assembly have sent a telegram to the Sultan, praying him to send the promised commission to examine the question at issue between Muslims and Christians. The Deputies refuse the Porte's summons to send delegates to Constantinople to explain their grievances.

A despatch from Bucharest dated the 26th, says the Russian force at Hirsava, reported to be marching on Silistria, are said to be within 40 kilometers of that fortress.

The Turks are apparently concentrating their troops in the principal forts, where they will soon be attacked.

It is reported that the Russians have taken Batoum.

A forward movement of the Turks will immediately take place to meet the Russians who have crossed the Danube.

A despatch dated the 29th says the Russians attempted to cross the river Nikopolis on Thursday in fifty lighters; ten lighters were sunk by shells, and the attempt failed. The slaughter was frightful.

It is stated that Turkish gunboats broke the Russian pontoon bridge during the crossing at Machin, and for a time 8,000 Russians, who had crossed, were isolated, and if the Turks had had force sufficient they could have slaughtered them all.

Servia has ordered at Paris accoutrements for 50,000 men, to be delivered in three weeks.

The Servian field artillery are undergoing rigid inspection preparatory to being moved to the front.

It is stated that the Khedive has agreed to get on board, and grasping the rear rail of one car and the forward rail of another, swung himself clear of the station platform, between the two cars. No doubt he grasped the wrong rails, and intended to jump on the platform of the car; but having no rest for his feet and being a heavy man, he fell between the two cars. The forward truck of the rear car passed over his legs, severing the left leg close to the trunk, and the right leg above the knee. His mangled body was dragged a short distance by the under gear of the truck, but the train was promptly stopped before the unfortunate man was entirely out of sight. Though he had the best of surgical attendants available he was injured past all hope of recovery, and after very great suffering he died between 11 and 12 o'clock. Mr. Casey was known probably to every man in Halifax, and many were the expressions of regret yesterday at the sad and sudden termination of his life.—Herald 29th of May.

A Vienna despatch announces revolutionary risings in Lithuania. Several detachments of insurgents are reported gathering near Slomn and surrounding districts. The Government are taking measures to suppress the outbreak.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 30.—Dervish Pasha telegraphed from Batoum, June 29.—After the recent engagement the Russian removed to their guns from Sampo heights in the Crimea, including 210,000 in the neighborhood of Sebastopol. Those killed in battle were 30,000, and allowing an equal number for the losses from wounds, 281,000 must have succumbed from disease. The deaths of the sick persons sent away from the seat of war were about sixty thousand more, which makes the number of dead from the Crimean campaign alone over 410,000.

LONDON, June 30.—A Russian official despatch says:—After the Russians were driven from their foremost positions near Zewin on the 25th, they retired at night to their previous lines to escape the Turkish fire. The Russian troops fought with great heroism and considerably superior to the enemy were numerically superior. Six officers were killed, 24 wounded and 850 placed hors de combat.

In the House of Lords on the 26th, a petition favoring the integrity of Turkey was referred to the Government.

It is stated that five Russian vessels were sold in New York the past week to American owners for fear of capture by Turkish war vessels.

A telegram from an official source states that the insurgents of Japan have been dispersed and driven into the province of Burgo. Tranquility is nearly restored.

Specialists state a great battle has occurred at Sistoia and Nikopolis. Turkish official accounts represent that the Ottoman troops successfully resisted the Russian attack and repulsed them with great slaughter. Even from the Danube, it is reported that the struggle is progressing along the whole line of the Danube. Latest reports on Saturday state that the result of the battle is unknown.

No crossing has taken place at Turna Magureli, but a demonstration there was made in such force and with such preparation as regards boats and material for pontoon bridges that it would have been turned into an actual attack had a fair chance of success offered. The appearance of the sea there induced a concentration of the Turkish forces and the Russians accordingly made the real attack at Simniza. The Russian forces were massed at Droga, ten miles back from the Danube, and the neighboring villages at about an equal distance from Turna Magureli and Simniza, enabling a quick concentration upon whichever point was presented.

The great camp of Russians is now situated on the plateau beyond the sky line of the heights. The following is the strength of the Russian forces—Three infantry divisions, the 8th, 14th, 30th; two divisions of artillery, one brigade of riflemen, two regiments of Cossacks and several miscellaneous detachments.

The town of Sistoia was occupied by the Russian forces, without serious opposition, on the afternoon of the 27th.

On Thursday, at noon, the approach of a Turkish monitor suddenly raised an alarm and stopped the construction of the bridge. The monitor, however, retired without firing.

On Friday the Czar and Carowitch visited the wounded. They then crossed the river, and amid deafening cheers from the soldiers, the Czar embraced General Dragmoff, calling him as the hero of the crossing.

The long expected crisis which Europe has been awaiting has virtually passed without a struggle. The Russian left in force near Hirsava, and the Turkish troops between Kalorash and Ismail, some thirty thousand, have by this time passed the Danube and driven the Turks to their second line of defence.

LONDON, July 2.—The British revenue receipt for the last three months have increased over £250,000 as compared with corresponding period of 1876.

The "Times" report that a party from Sistoia is easy road to Futara valley and town of Tirova, the ancient capital of Bulgaria, where Russians intend establishing a new Bulgarian Czar administration.

South of Tirova, about six days' march from the Danube, and accessible both by Tirova and route from Sistoia to Molosch or Malokocha, lies the town of Gabaresh, whence commenced the Turkish march on the 14th of June.

It is stated that the Turks are devastating a large portion of Bulgaria for the purpose of preventing the Russians from provisioning their army.

The College of Romish Candidates have ordered the Romish clergy in France to support MacMahon's candidates in the coming election.

The Roumanian forces are preparing to cross the Danube near Kalafat.

It is reported that the Russians stormed two redoubts before Kars, and were repulsed with heavy loss.

Turkish Powers assert a great battle was fought twenty miles south of Sistoia, on Friday and Saturday last, in which a total defeat of the Russians. The Turkish gunboats completely destroyed the Russian bridge between Simniza and Sistoia.

A despatch from Simniza says the Russians are reconstructing pontoon bridge destroyed there by storm Friday night. Thirty pontoons sunk. The crossing of troops meanwhile continues in boats.

A despatch says an English fleet left Grecian waters, and has gone to Besika Bay.

A despatch from Simniza says the bridge was rebuilt on Sunday evening. The Russians attempted to cross the river Nikopolis on Thursday in fifty lighters; ten lighters were sunk by shells, and the attempt failed. The slaughter was frightful.

It is stated that Turkish gunboats broke the Russian pontoon bridge during the crossing at Machin, and for a time 8,000 Russians, who had crossed, were isolated, and if the Turks had had force sufficient they could have slaughtered them all.

Continued from first page. "Oh, Harold, don't!" she cried. "If I think of the future I shall go mad."

CHAPTER V. AND LAST. There were deep sorrow and gloom at the Beeches; Isobel was dangerously ill, and the shadow of death seemed hovering near.

A telegram, sir. Sir John tore off the envelope, read the telegram, and with an exclamation of surprise, started up.

After a minutes' hasty consultation Sir John rang the bell furiously and ordered the doctor to come at once; and he had just time to explain hastily to Lady Fane and drive off to catch the train, which was puffing into the station when we arrived.

It was a long journey—many hours must elapse before we could reach the little out-of-the-way country station from which the doctor had been forwarded. All was shrouded in darkness; in vain we talked and conjectured as the night-mail sped on.

Charlie Austin still lived. In the cold gray dawn of early morning we stood by his bed in the little cottage which he had taken after the accident.

"Bitterly indeed," said Sir John sternly. "And you would have let him die for you?"

The sun was setting; its light shone redly in the little window where Charlie Austin lay. His life was very near its end now, the seat of death was stamped on his face, but the eyes were wistful from restlessness, and his head tossed wearily from side to side.

Vivian, his eyes full of tears, and a look of unutterable love and pity on his face, came forward and knelt down by the side of the dying boy.

He caught her hands in his. "Darling, Heaven has been very good to us. When I went down to the Beeches, and stood and looked at your face lying so white and still, I prayed that you might be given back to me, and you were Isobel—back from the brink of the grave."

Isobel's eyes glistened with happy tears; she laid her hand on her husband's arm, and they paced the deck together, laying many plans for the future, while at times, in low, subdued voices, they spoke of the past.

THE TICHBORNE CASE AGAIN. Roger C. Tichborne, son of Sir James Tichborne, embarked on the ship "Bella," which sailed from Rio Janeiro, on April 20, 1854, and was never seen again.

CHARADE. I went upon a journey, And treasure laid behind; But as my quest was mine, I had a quiet mind.

HE WANTED TO KNOW. A shrewd, active, business looking man tapped at the tickle office of the E. & S. R. recently, and upon the slides being raised the following conversation ensued:

NATURAL HISTORY. Cats are affectionate; they love young chickens, sweet cream and the best place in the front of the fire-place.

PHILOLOGY VERSUS PRIZE PACKAGES. "Have a candy package, boss?" said the train boy, addressing an elderly passenger with a broad brimmed hat and spectacles.

WOUNDED IN THE CORNERS. Brother Gardner was yesterday white-washing the back end of an old house on Catherine street, when the staking gave way, and he had a fall of about fifteen feet.
