TWENTY-FOURTH YEAR

Labour Unions of Canada Enter Protest

SCHEDULE FOR NEW MEASURE FILED

Against the Present Laws and Methods

Animated Interview of Government Ministers With Large Delegation Representing the Industrial Dominion—Mr. Blair Loses Temper and Grows Painfully Personal.

Ottawa, April 6.—(From World staff correspondent.)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. William Mulock, Hon. A. G. Blair and ex-Premier Emmerson, in his private capacity, received twenty-five delegates from the Trades Congress of Canada this morning. They represented labor unionism from the Atlantic to the Pacific. John A. Flett introduced the delegation. A. W. Patten, M.P. (Winnipeg) and Ralph Smith, M.P. (Vancouver) were the only members of parliament who accompanied the delegation. They did so on invitation. Other M.P.'s were not invited, for instance, E. F. Clarke, M.P.

Promise of the Government.

John Flett, in presenting the list of the delegation, told Sir Wilfrid that the government had promised to give an eight-hour day to the I.C.R. employees last year, but up to the present had failed to do so. J. D. G. O'Donoghue, legal adviser to the government, presented draft bills of the proposed anti-contract law. He declared the present act had not helped the laboring men. Charges against the act were often met with the statement that actions were committed "unknowingly," a phrase unknown in other phases of law. A section of the new act aimed to relieve a labor union from the expense of pushing a case to a final trial and put in the hands of the government the right to sue a labor union for an alteration with Sir Wilfrid when he declared that a government interpreter had been sent into Sydney a number of Italians and negroes, who were employed in preference to Canadians.

Donoghue gives his authority.

Mr. Sharkey, an employee of the I.C.R., was asked by Mr. Patten to give his opinion of the situation by declaring that Murray was only an occasional employee.

Blair's strong charges.

O'Donoghue, referring to the trouble at the Kingston Locomotive Works, declared that men were brought from Scotland and Germany under false pretences, and dumped on the Canadian labor market. He declared that the bill would not interfere with any new industry for which there could not be got in Canada. The immigration act would not be interfered with.

W. Patten, M.P., suggested few amendments to the Conciliation Act of 1909, aiming to carry the principle of conciliation as far as possible without verging on compulsion. The Minister of Labor is given large powers. Action is made in the bill, without verging on compulsion. The Minister of Labor is given large powers. Action is made in the bill, without verging on compulsion.

Much time for a hearing.

The request of truckers and chauffeurs of the I.C.R. that the fact that it had taken the men eighteen months to get a hearing from the general manager of the I.C.R. was a fairer one. Mr. Blair tried to vindicate his position and shift the blame to the I.C.R. but P. M. Draper, who presented the facts, declared:

You, as Minister of Railways, have not given us any hearing. You have not given us any hearing. You have not given us any hearing.

Mr. Blair: How long since they got a raise?

Mr. Sharkey, an employee of the I.C.R., broke in with a raise of 1.12 cents a day last year.

TARBU'S AMBITIOUS PLANS

Ottawa, April 6.—(Special.)—From a reliable source, it is learned that the Hon. Mr. Tarbu is seriously considering the invitation offered him by the British Empire to visit Canada, to be in London for a few days, and to be in London for a few days, and to be in London for a few days.

WHAT LABOR UNIONS ASK

1. That the present Alien Law Act be amended and a new act be called the Anti-Contract Law be added. It aims to shut out all foreign laborers who are not citizens of Canada, and to prevent any other country.

OBJECT TO OUTSIDERS GETTING ON THE BENCH

Record of Present Policy in Appointing Judges Since Liberals Came in.

Ottawa, April 6.—(Special.)—It would seem that the admirable policy of the late Sir John Thompson when Minister of Justice, that in selecting county court judges, the appointees should be chosen from counties other than those where they resided and practiced, is evidently to be set aside, as witness the following appointments in Ontario since the Liberals came into power in 1918.

London, April 6.—According to an agency despatch from Constantinople, the army has received there from Monastir, that the Macedonian Revolutionary Committee intends to proclaim a general insurrection in the Balkans, and will, it is said, have secured other employment, but will declare that they will carry the fight on to a finish.

BRITISH M.P.'S ARRANGE THEIR VISIT TO CANADA

Leave Liverpool Aug. 19, and After Trip Across Continent Reach Toronto Sept. 26.

Quebec, April 6.—The following letter has been received by the Hon. S. N. Parent, from Lord Lyden, who is organizing the proposed trip through Canada of the members of both houses of British parliament:

Dear Mr. Parent: I am very much obliged to you for your very cordial invitation, which I have appreciated by the members of the two houses, who are already contemplating the trip to Canada, and will, it is said, have secured other employment, but will declare that they will carry the fight on to a finish.

CASH SUBSIDY FOR G.T.P.

Ottawa, April 6.—(Special.)—Ex-Premier Greenway is expected in the city any day. Before he left the West he made a notable speech at the Kingston Locomotive Works, in which he advocated a cash subsidy to the Grand Trunk Pacific, which has been a long time in the making. It is taken as significant of the turn the campaign will take, that the I.C.R. have got their men so afraid of losing their positions that they do not dare to express their grievances.

Documents in the Bribery Conspiracy

Filed and Make Sensational Exhibit

Where the Balance of the Boodle Funds Went—Contract Between Sullivan and Member for Manitoulin Made Public, With Other Interesting Papers.

Gamey's counsel produced all the papers in the bribery case yesterday. The member from Manitoulin made good his statement delivered in the House on this point. He accounts for some thirty-five documents, all bearing on the charge he makes that agents of the government, high in the confidence of the leaders, entered into a conspiracy to bribe him to betray his constituents. The sensational agreement with Frank Sullivan, the consideration being the money produced in the House, was delivered, $6,000, was the balance of the boodle fund accounted for, having been deposited in Mr. Stratton's own bank. Altogether the filing of all the documents in the case forms a distinct chapter in the sensational and explosive me-lodramatic developments when the various witnesses take the stand for a variety of places, all testifying to a state of facts which forge the chain around those charged with the commission of a crime.

Advanced Another Stage.

The investigation was advanced another stage when the counsel for Mr. Gamey filed with the registrar of the commission at Osgoode Hall the documents. Mr. McPherson personally looked after this important matter. Among the documents were all the letters contained in Mr. Gamey's statement to the legislature on the 11th day of March last, several letters which were not read at that time, the $500 handed over by Mr. Gamey, and a pass book showing what disposition had been made of the other $1500, which he alleged he had received from the Provincial Government in 1912.

Where the $1500 Is.

This last mentioned exhibit clears up a point that has not been explained since the exposure was made. Mr. Gamey told the legislature that he had been placed in a safety deposit vault in order that after his death the eastern estates to which he is alleged to have been a defaulter, might be able to recoup losses which they had sustained through him. In his will Pennell named as administrator of his estate his brother, J. Frederick Pennell, and is said to have left to his administration the sum of $200,000 in insurance. The Commercial adds that Pennell had contemplated suicide for two years.

Anti-Gambling Law Weak

Severe Penalty for "Protection," Too

Here is the Criminal Code

The agitation over suppression of gambling joints has reached some considerable proportions in Toronto. Most of the public officials who are charged with the regulation of this vice candidly admit that joints of this character are numerous in the city. Most of them insist that the law is defective. Chief Grasett says his men are met with barred doors, chains and electric bells when they seek to break into such places.

The World herewith presents the sections of the Criminal Code under which gambling is declared a crime, together with the clauses which declare it an indictable offence to bar the way of officers with "chains and other devices," such as Chief Grasett complains of. Incidentally, The World presents the section of the Criminal Code which declares it an indictable offence for an officer or prosecuting authorities charged with the suppression of gambling or otherwise to fail to discharge the obligations imposed on them.

In other words, the Crown Attorney who fails to do his duty in this respect, is to be punished as severely as the gambler who deliberately ignores the fact that equally guilty of the offence is the individual police officer and inspectors being sent to the penitentiary for shutting their eyes to the presence of gambling joints and brothels on their beats.

Here is the Canadian law on the subject. It reads strong, but the authorities maintain that it is deficient. Incidentally, it may be mentioned that it is the formal law against such crimes found sufficient, with proper efforts of officers, everywhere:

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

Toronto Junction Council, by Tie Vote, Refuses Local Option Bylaw.

HALL CROWDED, INTEREST INTENSE. Petition of 500 Names in Favor and 300 in Opposition Presented.

Toronto Junction, April 6.—The Council Chamber was crowded to overflowing to-night, and a very spirited discussion upon the question of submitting a local option bylaw to the people took place, each side having very able representatives of the cause they espoused.

The petition asking the Council to submit a local option bylaw was signed by 500 ratepayers. W. E. Raney appeared on behalf of the petitioners, and at the outset of his speech said he did not desire to turn the Council meeting into a temperance meeting. The citizens had already declared by a vote of 2 to 1 in favor of prohibition, and while councillors might hold opposing views to the prohibition, it was their privilege to vote as they choose and take what stand they choose in the temperance question. Yet as representatives of the people, it is their duty to submit a bylaw to be voted upon. It was not necessary to have the petition signed by a majority of the ratepayers. There were on the petition the names of over 500 ratepayers, and the effort had been made to canvass the non-resident vote. Upwards of 80 per cent of those asked to sign the petition had done so voluntarily. He read letters from Mr. Shestman of the Canada Cycle and Motor Co., George Heintzman of the Heintzman Piano Co., E. Gurney of the Gurney Foundry Co., Mr. Heitzberg of the C.P.R., and Mr. Rudd of the Radio Harrow Co., to show that the manufacturers of the town are in sympathy with the temperance movement. Rev. Messrs. Wright and C. B. Bunn also spoke, after which Dr. Perfect and Dr. Martin presented a petition with the names of 118 ladies who had not voted to show the sentiment of the community, especially in the home. F. C. Colbeck, principal of the High School, and W. J. Joy, chairman of the Public School wrote letters favorable to local option as a means of advancing the moral interests of the town.

The Other Side. Alex. Heydon, proprietor of the Subway House, spoke on behalf of the hotelkeepers, and a petition signed by 300 ratepayers urging the Council not to submit a local option bylaw for the second year. It would deprive the population to go to Toronto for liquor, and in doing so purchases would be made in city stores which would otherwise be made in local stores. The houses would no longer be public houses, and the trading public would be inconvenienced. By creating an obstacle to drinking liquor, the Council would be depriving the city and suburban hotels for liquor. 4. Whilst Toronto Junction is entitled to 11 hotels it has only six, and one liquor store. 5. The abolition of the hotels would give rise to innumerable evils, and would be a disaster to the town. 6. Prohibition, where tried, has not been as successful as the license system. Mr. Heydon in support of his petition said that he had not canvassed the town to get the names. He got up the petition and introduced it, and remained in his hotel. It was signed by representatives of the Norheimer Piano Co., Heintzman Piano Co., S. May & Co. the C.P.R. and many representative citizens.

After introducing his subject he moralized upon it by giving his experience in the hotel business. He stated that he had lived in a Toronto Junction hotel for 42 years. Every man in the hotel business in Toronto Junction is making money. It is a business, and it is used to drinking liquor. If local option came to effect the people would try it for three years and then be barred from getting a drink they would want it at the more. The men who came to his hotel to try and get a drink on Sunday were the men who seldom came near the house during the week. You gentlemen—looking towards the opposing deputation—can have your little at home and enjoy them; but the men who come to the hotel to get a drink and he enjoyed a glass when it was convenient to take it. All the great men had come from the hard-working men, and all great men had great ailments. His attention had lately been called to a sermon preached by Rev. T. E. Shore. He thought Mr. Shore had judged the people of Toronto Junction by the people he left. If Mr. Shore would come to his house on Sunday and say he wanted a little drink he was not quite sure that he wouldn't try to accommodate him. He might strain a point. If clergyman would come and sit in his bar for one whole 24 hours he would do them more good than reading about all the Saints. Railroad men told him they could get liquor at all divisional points. He believed the hotels in Toronto Junction were better than in other towns, and that for a population of 7,000 people there was less drunkardness and less immorality. He would not like to read the names of all the petitioners, as Rev. Mr. Shore might recognize the names of some of his front-pew men. The Good Book says that men got drunk in those days and they had done in all ages since. He thought there would be less drunkenness if there were more hotels.

From a Property Standpoint. A Royce appeared on behalf of the property interests of the Occidental Hotel. He did not appear to argue the merits or demerits of the act. The Council was acting in this matter in a spirit of justice and equity. They were not bound to submit a bylaw. It was for them to say whether submitting this bylaw would be in the interests of the town.

On a vote being taken as to whether the Council should submit a local option bylaw to the people, it was lost on the following vote: Yeas—Baird, Hearty, Wright, Howell and Chisholm; Nays—Shore, Bunn, and Heydon.

The first squads on night duty take to the street at 8 p.m. and stay out until 4 a.m. The second squad, in a large variety of patterns, goes out for duty from 11 p.m. until 7 a.m., so that for five hours there is a double guard to ensure the safety of the citizens.
