700 IMMIGRANTS DROWNED SS. NORGE STRUCK HEAVY ROCK 27 SURVIVORS ALONE LEFT

No Panic, But Ship Sank Quickly and Waves Smashed Six Boats.

RESCUED ADRIFT 24 HOURS

London, July 3.—Over 700 Danish and Norwegian emigrants bound for New York are believed to have been drowned in the North Atlantic. Out of nearly 800 souls on board the Danish steamer Norge, which left Copenhagen, June 22, only twenty-seven are known to be alive, and for the rest no hope is held out.

When last seen the Norge was sinking where she struck on the Islet of Rockall, whose isolated peak rises itself from a dead Atlantic sea some 200 miles off the west coast of Scotland. Early in the morning of June 23, the Norge, which was out of her course in heavy weather, ran onto the Rockall reef, which in the distance looks like a reef, which in the distance looks like a reef, which in the distance looks like a reef.

The emigrants, who were then awaiting breakfast below, ran on deck. Except that the hatchways were closed and built for their hundreds of souls and became clogged, there was no panic.

SIX BOATS SMASHED.

The Norge quickly began to go down by the head. Eight boats were lowered and into these the women and children were hurriedly placed. Six of these boats smashed against the rocks and the Norge and her helpless inmates were caught up by heavy seas.

Two boat loads got safely away from the side of the sinking ship, and many of the emigrants who were left on board, seizing life belts, threw themselves into the sea and were drowned.

REAR OFF WITH GAINS

The Norge foundered suddenly, and some 600 terrified emigrants were thrown into the water and drawn down with the sinking ship. Those who could swim tried to reach the boats, but these were already too full, and their occupants beat off the drowning wretches with oars.

The boats kept together for some hours. Practically all of their occupants were passengers and were not used to handling such craft. The boat occupied by their helpmates landed at Grimstad, was a life-boat.

One account says that three boats were successfully launched, the other two holding about ten each. The life-boat made faster progress and fell in with the Salvia, which became one of the other boats is not yet known.

SHIP FILLED RAPIDLY.

One of the survivors said that when he got on deck the Norge was half submerged, and the water rapidly getting lower in the water. Half mad with fright, the survivors all struggled for places in the boats. They fought their way to the life-boat, and an officer stood in the boat, and an officer stood in the boat, and an officer stood in the boat.

THIRTY ONLY WERE

The only hope except for the 27 who escaped is that some few of the emigrants might have been washed up on the barren rocks. Their chance of being rescued even then is practically nil, for the vessels sailing the North Atlantic give Rockall as wide a berth as possible.

FIERY FIGHT FOR LIFE.

Peter Nelson, one of the survivors, described as a young American, said: "For some hours we were crowded with the other boats, but the strong tide drifted us away from the boats and nothing has been seen of them since. The Salvia picked us up and we were well cared for on board. We were all of us lost on the Norge. We had no time in that fiery fight for life to think of getting seats in the boat."

A SURVIVOR'S STORY.

London, July 3.—The steam trawler Salvia put into Grimsby late to-night with 27 survivors of the Norge aboard. Only one of them could speak English. "We left Copenhagen June 22. There were 700 emigrants, Norwegians, Swedes, Danes and Finns, on board. The crew numbered about 80 men. "All went well until June 28. I lay in my bunk until four o'clock. We heard a little bump and then another bump, and then I rushed on deck. Seeing that something had happened, I went below to gather up my belongings. "Scores were rushing on deck and the hatchway was crowded with emigrants. "Continued on Page 2.

Travelers Killed as Revolutionists on June 24 Precipitated Massacre in Province of Van.

Memorial Parade and Service of Whitty's Fraternal Society Was Largely Attended.

London, July 4.—In connection with the cablegram which American Secretary of State Hay received from Istanbul, Persia, July 2, signed by "Armenian Bishops in Persia," saying that Turkish barbarians were massacring thousands of Armenians, and humbly soliciting the United States government "in the name of Christianity and humanity to save innocent lives." The Daily Chronicle this morning prints the following telegram dated Tauris, Persia, June 24:

"It is announced from a perfectly reliable source that in the vicinity of Van, a fortified city of Turkish Armenia, on June 24, Kurds and Turkish regulars attacked Armenian travelers, killing them as revolutionists. This is the beginning of a general massacre in the Province of Van. The people are in terror."

0000 SLAIN.

New York, July 3.—"New York Armenians are doing all in their power to arouse public sentiment to the pitch where America will interfere in Turkey for the protection of Christian Armenians," said Dr. John Archangol, president of the Armenian Union of America, last night.

"Six thousand Armenians were very recently slain in the Province of Van, the Province of Akhikhi where the Kurds of the Province of Van massacred a few hours ago."

DESPERATE TORPEDO ATTACK SUNK RUSSIAN GUARDSHIP

Battleship or Cruiser at Entrance to Port Arthur Was Exploded June 27.

Tokio, July 3.—(3 p.m.)—A belated report from Admiral Togo records a desperate and successful torpedo attack at the entrance of Port Arthur last Monday night, June 27, in which a Russian guardship and a Russian torpedo boat destroyer were sunk.

The guardship is described as having two masts and three funnels. She was either a battleship or a cruiser and she was torpedoed and destroyed. The torpedo boat destroyer was struck and then blew up and sank.

Admiral Togo reports the loss of one officer and 13 killed and one officer and two men wounded. He makes no mention of damage to his fleet.

The 12th torpedo fleet, under the command of Commander Kamada, entered the attack. The Japanese vessels were revealed by the Russian searchlights and the short opened a heavy fusillade on them. The Russian guardship was surrounded and attacked by the Japanese. It was sunk by a heavy volume of water thrown up by heavy explosions.

The Russian torpedo boat destroyer was also attacked and sunk. The Russian vessels were vigorously shelled by the Japanese torpedoes. This firing explains the cannonading heard on Togo Island and gave rise to the belief that a general engagement was in progress.

Vice-Admiral Kamimura gained on the Russian ships and was only five miles in the rear, when suddenly at 9 p.m. all the Russian vessels extinguished their lights and disappeared in the darkness. At that time the Japanese torpedo boats were pressing the Russians, who had been using their searchlights.

The torpedo boats failed to get close enough to the Russian squadron to discharge torpedoes.

Woodstock, July 3.—(Special.)—As a result of the shooting of William Swartz, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel at Embro on Friday night, a warrant was to-day sworn out for the arrest of William Tisdale, high constable of Oxford county, charging him with shooting without proper justification.

MORE POWER TO THE AUDITOR-GENERAL: There is nothing in the record of Auditor-General Macdougall and nothing in the issue which he has made with the Dominion government to justify the charge that he is trying to play the role of dictator.

Why this recourse to the constitution every time the Dominion government is called upon to defend itself? The people are not worrying about the constitution.

In the case of the auditor-general, it is not contended that J. Lorne Macdougall has taken violent measures to defame the premier and surround himself with a noisy set of ministers.

He has simply asked for authority that will enable him to properly audit the public accounts. What act has he committed that suggests a desire to interfere in questions of policy?

Whose ministerial authority has he invaded, and in what way has he sought to set himself against the will of the Dominion parliament?

The trouble is not in J. Lorne Macdougall's disposition to usurp the powers of ministers of the crown. It is in the determination of the ministers to infringe on the authority of the auditor-general.

A strong auditor-general can only partially safeguard the public interests. An auditor-general such as this Dominion government evidently desires does not afford sufficient protection to justify the maintenance of the office.

The ideal auditor in the sight of the Dominion government and its newspaper supporters would be an official who would see no more than the ministers wanted him to see, who would pass accounts that were not open to challenge and shut his eyes to transactions that would not bear the light of day.

No doubt such an official will be found, no doubt such an official will be found to succeed J. Lorne Macdougall. But worse than the loss of J. Lorne Macdougall to the public service would be a successful misrepresentation of the actual facts to the public.

The retirement of the present auditor-general will not be the overthrow of a would-be "dictator," it will not be a grand vindication of responsible government. It will be the triumph of the worst influences in the Dominion government, the open door to irregularities which any unscrupulous official of influence may desire to commit.

The present auditor-general is an exceptionally strong and courageous official. He declares that the public interests cannot be protected with the present audit act. What, then, is likely to be the conditions under Mr. Macdougall's successor?

Auditor-General Macdougall's request for an amendment to the audit act is answered by the argument that his powers are wide enough already. It is told that the treasury board and not the executive court as the supreme court should decide all appeals from his decisions.

What is the treasury board but a sub-committee of the government? The members may be the very ministers by whom the auditor-general has clashed. The government will act on the advice of the sub-committee, and parliament to which the appeal may be finally taken, is certain not to repudiate the action of the government.

The so-called "appeal to parliament" is in reality no appeal at all. Parliament responds to the government, the government to the sub-committee of the government, known as the treasury board, the treasury board to the minister who happens to run foul of the auditor-general.

A record of the number of appeals against decisions of the auditor-general that were not upheld by the treasury board would be a highly interesting study. Still more interesting would be a list of occasions upon which the treasury board was overruled by the government. The climax of interest would be reached in instances of parliament overruling the decision of the government. The fact is of course that the Dominion parliament never did revise the government's decision in a matter affecting the authority of the auditor-general, rarely if ever has the government overruled the treasury board or the auditor-general's ruling. If he sees fit to appeal against, the chances are a hundred to one that the auditor-general will be overruled.

What wonder, then, that the auditor-general asks that the dispute be referred to the supreme court? This is the practice in the United States and the system works well.

The United States are probably as jealous of their constitutional right as the people of Canada, and it would be ridiculous to suggest that in delegating these powers to the supreme court the United States executive has surrendered an important function of constitutional government.

General Macdougall's request is a very proper one. In nearly every difference of opinion the auditor-general is right and the minister is wrong. The audit act cannot therefore be made to swing along the lines of rendering the ruling of the auditor-general secure against the appeal of the minister.

WHERE BANDITS ARE BREED. Ian Perdicaris and Cromwell Varley have brought the bandits of Morocco into sudden notoriety. The capture of another British subject, by the bandit Muley Ahmed, the story of their captivity and the negotiations for their release throw an interesting light on the government of Morocco. Not least the circumstances associated with the work of the bandits was the thrilling intimation that Muley Ahmed was hiding in the inaccessible mountains, and could not be unseated.

This is the old familiar tale of bandits in Spain, Italy, in Bulgaria, and some other Balkan states, notorious bandits claim attention from time to time. They are always reported as having taken to the "fastnesses of the mountains," or to the "inaccessible mountains."

It might be thought from these narratives of the exploits of bandits, that the bandit is the natural product of forest fastnesses and inaccessible mountains, and that he is to be found in the physical features that Spain, Moroccan and Bulgarian bandits are supposed to thrive on. Then, why not the bandits? Morocco is about the size of Ontario; Italy could be comfortably deposited in one-third of the province of Newfoundland would have room to spare for the State of Morocco. And yet we do not hear of bandits suddenly descending on Toronto, Ont., Victoria, B.C., or St. John's, Nfld. to carry off unsuspecting citizens to the wilds of Muskoka, the inaccessible mountains of British Columbia, or the rocky caverns of the lone sentinel of the St. Lawrence.

The Sultan of Morocco, who was so impressed with the inaccessibility of Muley Ahmed in the inaccessible mountains, would have a high old time administering the affairs of the Province of British Columbia, if he had bandits in the midst. In the vicinity of the Rockies, Muley Ahmed and his associates would have a fair chance of dying of old age if he had to contend with the Sultan of Morocco instead of the mounted police.

THE NEW TARIFF. Industrial Canada deals very fully with the new tariff in several of its aspects. In regard to the dumping clause, it says that the government was asked to add to the duties the difference between the slaughter price and the fair market price in the United States and the duty thereon. The writer thinks it will be very difficult to prove fraud.

The American manufacturer may in other cases the importer may not be aware that the goods are being slaughtered. Industrial Canada believes that there are many cases of this kind.

Mr. Fielding's speech is described as distinctly protectionist in tone, while Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech leans toward free trade, and his cast of mind is steadily growing in that direction.

Under the new system an administration not in sympathy with the principle of protection and in favor of reciprocity with the United States might almost as well be a committee of the Dominion government, the open door to irregularities which any unscrupulous official of influence may desire to commit.

The present auditor-general is an exceptionally strong and courageous official. He declares that the public interests cannot be protected with the present audit act. What, then, is likely to be the conditions under Mr. Macdougall's successor?

ing Hon. Sydney Fisher a week's board.

One of these days Admiral Kamimura will satisfy what appears to be a morbid curiosity on the part of the Vladivostok squadron to find out how deep the Russian is.

Two Russian battleships of the Port Arthur squadron have made a record of twenty knots an hour. The despatch does not state what Japanese admiral was chasing them.

With due deference to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's definition of a "foreigner," it may be suggested that a "foreigner" is a man who can get a job on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

Deputy returning officers at the next federal elections have only to mark "private," "secret," or "confidential" on the election returns, and the Dominion government will see that they are duly suppressed.

Grover Cleveland may be elected president of the United States, but if he contemplates another Venezuelan message, let him remember that Hon. Sydney Fisher is now head of the Canadian militia and will stand no trifling.

Of course, Lord Dunsandel was wrong in saying "myself and the Dominion government" in certain European governments. In Spain, Italy, in Bulgaria, and some other Balkan states, notorious bandits claim attention from time to time. They are always reported as having taken to the "fastnesses of the mountains," or to the "inaccessible mountains."

THE ORIGIN OF EVIL. Goldwin Smith in New York City: The General Slocum disaster, falling like the Tower of Sion on a number of innocent victims, has turned the thoughts of many of your correspondents to the origin of evil. The origin of evil is a part of the mystery of the universe, as to which all that can be said is that it is a mystery still. Materialism offers no solution. A material origin of being not only is impossible, but is inadmissible; we have no other reason for assuming that the evidence of our senses is to be trusted, or that the instincts of our nature which speak of something beyond.

We are apt to think of evil as a separate existence, embodied in Satan or Eblis, and disputing the world with good as embodied in St. Peter. These things, good or evil, are alike parts of the constitution of the universe. The same thing may be good in one aspect, or in one relation, evil in another. The evidence of our senses is to be trusted, or that the instincts of our nature which speak of something beyond.

THE COMPANY CLIMBING DOWN. Chicago, July 2.—The Union Traction Company, thru one of its attorneys, W. E. C. L. G. S. Henderson, has made an objection to the severance of its negotiations with the City of Chicago, particularly as to the proposed sale of the company's local transportation.

Mr. Gurley's attitude is more pacific than that of his brother attorney, Mr. Miller. It was suggested in the city hall that his conciliatory attitude may be the result of the fact that the company stands ready to contribute to the relief of the city's financial straits.

DR. THEODORE HERZL DEAD

FOUNDED ZIONIST MOVEMENT

Aimed at the Establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine.

Vienna, July 3.—Dr. Theodore Herzl, president of the Zionist Congress, died here today.

Dr. Herzl was born at Buda-Pesth on May 2, 1860, and after obtaining the degree of doctor of laws from the University of Prague, he published a number of pamphlets and volumes of essays and light sketches, but gradually became attracted to Zionism.

His connection with the Zionist movement brought Dr. Herzl into contact with the various congresses in London and elsewhere, which have been held and in support of his object he issued a work on "The Jewish State" and "The New Ghetto," and a novel, "The Palestine Problem." He also edited a paper in Hebrew, "Kerem B'Yehoshua," and with the German weekly, "Die Welt."

He was a young fellow scarcely in his twenties. He is a mechanic by trade, but has before this been successful in stage activities. He had accomplished many successful feats upon the revolving ladder, a combination of saws and power wheel, with which he gave a number of entertainments, and in which he had done some turns which were very daring.

WILL CONTINUE THE STUNT

Bert Walton, Who is Learning to "Leap the Gap," Says He's Feeling All Right.

Bert Walton has nerve—lots of it. If he hadn't he would not have gone to work and attempted to emulate the miracle, both instant death and serious injury, he was determined yet in him to try it over again. But he will, sometime this week.

Walton is a young fellow scarcely in his twenties. He is a mechanic by trade, but has before this been successful in stage activities. He had accomplished many successful feats upon the revolving ladder, a combination of saws and power wheel, with which he gave a number of entertainments, and in which he had done some turns which were very daring.

DOES 'TERRITORY' RESTRICT TO DOMINION OWNED LANDS

Mackenzie and Mann Hold That the C.P.R. is Not Allowed Privileges in Ontario.

Ottawa, July 3.-[Special]-The board of railway commissioners was engaged Saturday in hearing a case which has an important bearing on the project of an independent line from Toronto to connect with the Temiskaming Railway at North Bay.

The application of Saturday was by the C.P.R. for approval of its plans for a branch line of railway from Sudbury to Kleinburg, twenty-one miles west of Toronto.

First-That the limit of time within which this branch should be built was fixed by the act of 1881, and that, therefore, they had no right to build at the present day, and that only, that the liberty to build branches without special charters and simply by depositing plans was confined to "any part within the territory of the Dominion."

Where Does It Apply? If the contention of the C.P.R. were correct regarding the construction of branches under the original C.P.R. charter, and that the ten years' limit did not apply, then the C.P.R. could for hundreds of years to come, whenever the company pleased, build a branch line, which could not have been in the contemplation of the parliament of Canada when that charter was granted, and as to the territory, if it were not confined to the place where the Dominion owned lands, as in the Northwest, it would give power to build branch lines of railway in the Province of Ontario and elsewhere, where the Dominion did not own lands.

Mr. Mackenzie, who is opposing the application, said that the Dominion did not own lands in Ontario, and that the C.P.R. could not build a branch line there.

Mr. Mann, who is also opposing the application, said that the Dominion did not own lands in Ontario, and that the C.P.R. could not build a branch line there.

BURGLARY NEAR INGSTON

Kingston, July 2.-Burglars entered the store and dwelling of J. R. Smith of Westbrooke on Thursday night and stole $750.

The entry was made by a cellar window to the store, where the cash drawer was taken. The men then entered the post-office and took the money there. Proceeding upstairs they entered the room where Smith was sleeping. One of them crawled quietly to the foot of the bed and stealthily searched Smith's clothes, from which he took a roll of bills and some change.
