Two weeks ago the bureau of immigration to Minneapolis was notified from Washington that Stanton was wanted for crossing the boundary line. This made him liable to arrest under immigration laws, which will be sufficient to detain him pending investigation of his identity. At the county jail Simon denied that he was Stanton, the he admitted crossing the frontier without examination. He was quite optimistic, saying that arrival of identification from his famlly would clear up matters.

The Conservative Party

At last, what The World has been saying for years is admitted by all-the Conservative party at Ottawa is full of dissension and insurgency. But how hard it has been to get it out, and what abuse has been heaped on those whose only aim was to put the party in the way of once more governing Canada with a progressive policy and with leaders that would evoke enthusiasm and devotion!

An Ottawa despatch in our news columns is to the effect that a thoro-going reorganization is at hand. It is to be hoped that this is the case. Great stress is laid on the fact that Hon, George E. Foster is to retire, a broken man. But he has not been the main cause of dissent. And that George Taylor, the chief whip, is to go. Also that A. E. Kemp is to come forward in North Toronto. Mr. Kemp has been one of the most active of Mr. Bgrden's advisers up to date; has the gift of business. But not of politics. Associated with Mr. Kemp is Mr. John S. Willison of The Toronto News, and they have been active factors in the inner circle. What the Kemp-Willison faction seek to effect is to reorganize on their lines under Mr. Borden. These are the very men, leaving Mr. Borden out, that constitute one source of dissatisfaction. What progressive views has either Mr. Kemp or Mr. Willison to raise the hopes of the people? What Mr. Willison---who is acting as party doctor--- has to explain is why has not Mr. Borden seen all the things that are now admitted, and why was not the need of reform-now so much called for by these men-undertaken long ago? The inspired statements from Ottawa on Saturday were simply that Foster, Taylor and Monk are out -Mr. Borden will now have a chance. So be will, but it will be, first of all, a chance to explain. Not that Mr. Borden may not be the best man to lead, but the whole situation is up for review. No thoro-going reorganization can be effected otherwise.

Said an old-time Conservative, a companion of Sir John Macdonald: "We must get back to the ways and the program of the old chief. The Conservative party has the ability to frame and work out a national policy for Canada, better than the Liberals, or any third party. have got into dissensions, and we've gone astray; we must get together again and get back. Expressions of confidence in this man or that man, putting forward the claims of this man or that as leader, or deputy leaders, is not the work immediately ahead of us. First of all, let us find out who are in the party, and who are in it for no reason other than the party's and the country's welfare. There are men who must step aside, instead of entrenching themselves inside. There is no pressing need now for a rush convention to line everyone up-on the surface. A rush convention would not be attended by Quebec: we must take a little more time to find out what the Quebec wing have in their mind. They are worth listening to. So must time be given to what is called the insurgent members' at Ottawa to smooth themselves out. They must not be forestalled. There is little confidence in the inside council that seem to have surrounded Mr. Borden for years-they have certainly failed, and the feeling of insurgency may really be against them. And then there is the question of platform. Platform first; men afterwards.'

"during the pre-election trip over the Dominion. Mr. Hanna is a strong man, but there would be considerable difficulty in persuading him to leave provincial politics. Forces, however, are at work now to bring this about possible."

Mr. Lennoz, while admitting that there was room for some changes in the opposition line-up, didn't think there was any immediate cause for alarm. "It's time enough to let these matters go till the Conservative convention." said he. "Anyhow, it's pret-ty hard for anything disastrous to happen to an opposition. If the government were divided in their opinions it might be opportune to fire off some skyrockets, but under the present circumstances, nothing hasty should be attempted."

You will have to excuse us for enthusing on the record we have made recently on exclusive clothing at the lowest possible price--- the Mill Price, but it was and is certainly wonderful the way the old customers come back for more clothes, and an army of new ones keep us busy filling their requirements.

Everything is sunshine with "The Scotland Woolen Mills Co." and as far as we know, and by the unstinted patronage we get, why there is a bunch of satisfied men in Canada to-day. Getting "bang-up" clothes, made to order, for fifteen dollars is getting clothes satisfaction.

City Realty the Best Investment

There is no better way of making and saving money than by investing it in land in or near a prosperous and growing community. It is the best tangible asset you can own. With the growth of the city the lots you own autom atically double and treble in value, earning bigger profits on your investment than in any other proposition that may be placed before you with the element of risk eliminated.

bors, and will make the property increase greatly in value as it is built up, thus making it a capital investment as well as a high-class home.

The property on the west overlooks the Rosedale Ravine and Reservoir Park, and several of the remaining lots have this beautiful outlook. On this side of the property residences ranging in price from $8000 to $40,000 have been built. One lot on the ravine, containing over 200,000 square feet, will make a magnificent estate. The size of the lot warrants the building of a large mansion, with stables and the necessary out-buildings, and the site for the house overlooking Reservoir Park will make it one of the most sightly places in the section, overlooking the country for miles around.

Water and electric light are already on part of the property, and the rest of the improvements are all applied for and will soon be installed.

 The lots will be rapidly taken up, and any wishing to obtain homes in Toronto's Arcadia must act promptly.

UR CITY LOT DEPARTMENT has the best equipment in Toronto for the handling of city property. On account of our having holdings in every section of Greater Toronto, we can cater to all tastes, and you are sure of getting suited when in our hands. We make a specialty of re-selling, and can dispose quickly of any properties placed in our hands. If you are thinking of buying anything in Greater Toronto, consult with us.

Our large business has been built up on the foundation of fair dealing, and we know that we can give you satisfaction and add you to our already large list of satisfied clients.

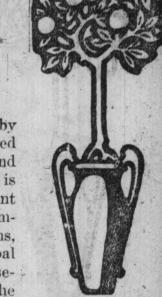

Suburban Lots

UR SUBURBAN PROPERTIES have the cream of locations, within the environs of Greater Toronto, at prices ranging from $6 per front foot up to $100 per front foot. It doesn't matter what your requirements are —either for a moderate price lot suitable for a modest cottage or bungalow, or a high-grade estate to accommodate a palatial mansion—this department can suit you.

With the advent of the new car line, which has its proposed terminus at the entrance to St. Andrew's Gardens, it will be in quick touch with all the principal thorougnfares of the City. The beautiful Rosedale Heights lies just to the north, and all the properties to the south and east are highly restricted, guaranteeing an exclusive class of neighbors. This property is also restricted to a good class of residences, which must be detached dwellings. situated only one to a 40-foot lot, costing not less than $4000.

We have 1000 feet frontage in this garden plot for quick disposal. It will be advisable to get our prices and terms before buying elsewhere, as we can offer advantageous inducements.

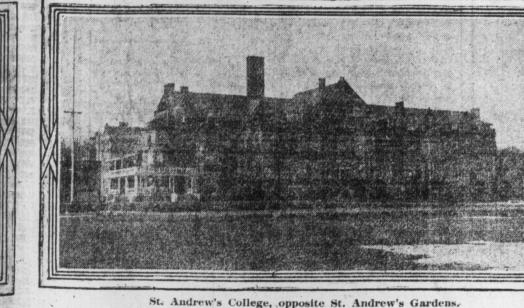

Toronto is the New York of Canada

The reason for the steady expansion of Greater Toronto is the increase in its manufacturing plants, the establishment of new industries, and the extension of its railway facilities. This industrial growth tends toward commercial prosperity, increases the city's population, and creates a big demand for residential property.

The time to buy for either investment or a home is now, while the city is growing, that you may reap the benefit of the increase in realty values that is absolutely certain.

Will Lead the English Team in the International Cup Contest. Captain J. Hardress Lloyd, who has been selected as captain of the Eng-lish polo team to compete in America

American Horse-Breeders Worried for the International Cup, has gained considerable reputation as a player. His club membership includes that of Detroit Fairgrounds. Closing stake announcements have been made by the associations that will conduct race meetings on the track at the Michigan State Fair Grounds at Detroit. The sport loving public is interested in that these announcements are proof positive of the efforts of the driving club and agricultural society to bring the fastest horses in training to Michigan. The popularity of light harness racing in this state is well known, and those who patronise the contests will be given to see the kings and queens of the turf at their best. The Detroit Driving Club names four events to close on April 15. The M. and M. is at the head and is $10,000 for 2.24 trotters, no deviation in 21, years. The Chamber of Commerce pace for 2.13 class, with no restriction as to rigging, which is what the trainers want. The stake is $5000, and that for 2.11 trotters, a success since its insugarized in a for 2000 nauguration, is for $2000.

The event on the Blue Ribbon pro-gram is $2000 for four-year-olds, which promises to be one of the sensational races of the year if other tracks will take it up and make it an object for the owners and trainers. This event shows the disposition of the driving club to keep abreast of the times and do its share in the encouragement of the men who make the racing. On the heels of the driving club's list comes that of the Michigan State Fair for the fall meeting. September 19 to 24. This is the first time the agricultural society has gone into the front rank in the matter of racing, which has been found to be one of the most valuable and attractive fea-tures of the state fairs in New York, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minneapolis and lsewhere. The state fair list foots up $28,000, which allows the giving of some big events. The 2.17 trot and the 2.15 pace, each for $5,000, are the headliners, and should assemble important fields. The 2.12 trot and 2.06 pace for $3000 apiece and the four-year-old trot for $2000 add much to the excellence of the early closing card, entries to which will be received up to April 12. The state fair also will stage an event for three-year-olds to be pro-moted by the Michigan Trotting Horse Breeders' Association.

SASKATCHEWAN LANDS of choice Saskatchewan Land at $15,00 to $30.00 per acre, on easy 6,000 Acres terms. Part of purchase price can be arranged to be made in crop payments; conditions made known on application.

This land adjoins a splendid settlement of 30 years' standing, well supplied with schools, churches and improved roads. It has sufficient poplar bluff to serve as firewood for many years, and good spring water at a depth of 15 feet.

The land can be purchased in half or whole sections, and arrangements may be made to break any portion purchased and left ready for seeding next Spring.

This is a rare chance for a practical farmer, with little capital, to secure the highest class land in the Province for wheat growing. It is undulating prairie, with clay loam soil; excellent market facilities, being only twelve miles from the Main Line of the C.P.R., and on the Melville-Regina G.T.P. branch now under construction, which will give a station within a few miles, and only thirty miles from the Capital. Also of excellent Alberta Land, at $15.00 per acre, situated thirty miles 2.500 Acres northwest from Edmonton and twelve miles from Morinville Station. on the C.N.R. This land is admirably suited for stock-raising or mixed farming, having considerable meadow land, well watered and shaded with poplar bluffs, and two miles of frontage on a beautiful lake. For further particulars apply to owner.

The Worla,

World Office, Saturday Evening, April 2. Tho the Cobalt securities markets during the past few days have assum-ed a waiting attitude, and are expect-ed to continue to fluctuate within narrow limits for the immediate fu-ture, it is believed by the majority of raders that the development of even a slight incentive for a resumption of sullish operations will inaugurate an upward movement of greater or less groportions. It is not expected, how-ever, that any sensational advance will be made, unless some material factor is encountered, but rather that the upward swing will be a gradual one, the direct result of stock ab-sorption for investment purposes. The whole list exhibits good rallying power at the present low levels, and it would not prove at all surprising to see ma-terial appreciation in prices for many of the generally favored issues, should any improved buying be in evidence. Lakes. t cannot be said that the public ve shown much inclination to enter market on the recent advances the market on the recent advances. Day to day trading has been in larger volume than the general run, but it is believed that professional operations have been responsible for much of this increase in transactions. That there is a bulky short interest in some of the cheaper securities is generally ac-knowledged, and it is asserted that many traders are inclined to take the buil side, so that considerable covering of commitments has been made. This in itself would account for the recent builges in certain of the mining stocks, while that advances should not hold follows as a natural result of the evi-dent desire to take profits on 'any desire to take profits on any

There have been few developments in relation to the higher priced stocks for some time now, and this depart-ment of the market seems to have drifted into a rut. The floating supply of these securities is being held at a yery low ebb, and, with little or no inclination to pick up the shares at present levels, prices are maintained comparatively unchanged from day to day.

If the workings on the lower level of the property are in as good shape as they are represented to be, the earn-ings of the company are bound to in-crease materially during the next three months, so that at the meeting of directors in June for dividend pur-poses there should be at least a dis-cussion of the proposition to increase cussion of the proposition to increase the rate. The action of the stock of late gives no evidence of any such prospects, however, and it remains to be seen whether such deductions are TINNER-PROS flable on not. With the exception of one or two of the generally active specialties, the cheaper Cobalts have been character-ized by narrow trading and consequent small fluctuations. There has been evidently little or no incentive to pick up these issues, and, up to the mo-ment, it cannot be said that the specu-lative following in the mether be-BARRET, EVEN RRY IF SUITED rich, poor, young, olics, etc. Sampla e. It is felt, however, that some such amalgamation will in all Kerr Lako probability be put thru within a year or so, but it cannot be said that any definite ideas of the proposition have been formed. Should a merger of the ORLD important properties be effected, and Cobalt placed in a position for the first time in its history to convert for material profits its low-grade ores, the Ontario silver mining stocks would undoubtedly receive a great impetus, and move to higher levels all round. The or any specific whole district would be ultimately the beneficiary of the policy of consolida-tion and centralization, but, despite the many and continued reports from New York sources, it is not felt locally that there is any possibility of an im-mediate action along these lines. The markets close the week with good resilient powers displayed by the majority of the mining stocks. There is apparently little disposition to sell tocks save on bulges, and should a larger speculative movement be en-gendered, it is believed that prices for the whole list would undergo better-ment to a greater or less extent. G. G. The total shipments for the year 1907 were 4,640 tons, valued at $6,000,000; in 1906 the camp produced 5120 tons, valued at $3,900,000; in 1905, 2144 tons, valued at $1,478,-196; in 1904, 153 tons, valued at $120,217.

ELK LAKE

I advise my clientele to watch ELK LAKE. This district is just coming into the shipping list. Several mines have already shipped and a great many others have ore ready for shipment, which will be sent out this summer. This district is destined to equal Cobalt and when you consider that Cobalt has paid over $12,000,-000 in dividends in the past five years, you can realize what the possibilities are in store for the ELK LAKE district. I advise the purchase of MCKENZIE MIN-ING & EXPLORATION COMPANY stock, a corporation which is owned and controlled by Toronto people.

LUCKY GOOFREY A MINE NO LONGER A PROSPECT Operations on the Property Which

ELK CITY, March 30.-(Special.)-I have visited the Lucky Godfrey and been down in the open cut from which the shipment of 18 tons of ore was made last Saturday. This cut is about 50 feet in depth. In the early parlance of Cobalt mining it would be termed gophering, as much of it was goughed out in order to make the shipment gophering, as much of it was goughed out in order to make the shipment before the sleighing went. There is a reason why gophering was done at the Lucky Godfrey and it was not born of ignonance, as was the case with mines in Cobalt, which we're more interested in the quotations of the stock at the next morning's min-ing exchange than in the development the stock at the next morning's min-ing exchange than in the development of the property. The Lucky Gedfrey's open cut is not a reservoir for water and the future of the property is in no way impaired by the modus operandi of getting out the ore. A shaft will now be sunk in the vein to a depth of 150 feet before any drifting is done. There is a 12 drill compressor on Rose Lake into which the vein runs and there are 19 tons of piping and 2 bollers on the way to the mine. These cannot now arrive till next winter and thru the summer work will be much hampered as there is now only a 25 h.p. boiler capable of running 2 drills at the mine. Until last November all the work was being done on an aplite vein near the corginal discoveries of the claims. A shaft was sunk 95 feet and good sil-ver values encountered all the way was made, was an exposed vein close to a trail which the men were passing daily. Within reach of the hand from the trail were hags full of sliver nug-gets and moss like muck in which was sliver like fligree and sponge. Fifty bass of this spongy muck was incor-porated in the shipment. It was '0 p.c. sliver.

Col. Thompson, of Ottawa who was at the mine when I called, informed me that the shipment consisted of about 6 tons of high grade ore running about 10,000 oz., 3 tons running about 2,000 oz. and nine tons of low grade wall rock running about 600 oz. to the ton. There are about 1000 tons of low grade ore in the dump rich enough to ship by boat, but which will probably be kept until the day when concentrators are introduced into the camp.

Introduced into the camp. It was a lucky find and shows the importance of trenching likely ledges, before singing. The discovery of this vein turned the Lucky Godfrey from a prospect into a mine. Last No-vember it was not considered one of the possible shippers. It proved to be the first to ship from the Montreal River District and this shipment will inches in depth. Waiking is impos-sible, and there is no sleighing. Long Lake was abandoned three days ago, and the teams have been going five infles around in order to reach Chari-ton. On Tuesday 30 sleighs loaded with dynamite and supplies, some with three teams attached, pulled their heavy loads thru the mud to their destination. Teams from all over the district, which have been used thru the winter, are being shipped back to 1 old Ontario by every train. The Calcite Lake Mining Company of Lost Lake got their 6 horse-power engine across the river before the break up and were the last to get their machinery in. The future is clear! Two hundred acres in the centre of which is a vein, an initial shipment from which in three months, with inadequate ma-chinery, pays all expenses of past de-velopment and machinery; with money in the treasury, leaves no one to worry over the question, "Does Cobalt owe you anything?" The cobalt on the Lucky Godfrey gives promise of mak-ing the shareholders rich. There may be scores of veins on these properties of which this is only one. Little or no trenching was done till November, when this veln was uncovered. The ore is among the most interest-ing I have seen. World Office, Saturday Evening, April 2.

Nova Scotia Steel this week. Aiready there are signs that someone is at-impting to get from under. The steels and coals are being liquidated at every favorable opportunity, as the plausible rumors in this and other issues are about worked out. Mon-treal Power and Montreal Street Rail-way were the last to be introduced to the worn and "buying for control" bosh, and some financing will be need-ed to keep the Montreal speculators from getting out in a hurry, and while they have a semblance of their mar-gins left. acements of important gold ents come as a climax to a of bad news for those trying to and unload New York stocks. engagements to the value of Gold engagéments to the value of 1,750,000 were announced on Friday. Such arrangements for exports of the vellow metal had been looked for by those who saw the only method of ignidating European obligations by gold, by securities or by commodities. The latter have been out of the question for some time, owing to high prices and the want of a surplus. Securities have been tried, but these have not been acceptable, and now the only recourse is to pay up in the one form always acceptable, tho not at all times convenient.

Just how much gold will have to go out can only be told after the end of the movement. It is, however, ad-mitted that the United States debts are heavy, and a big outflow of the Standard metal can only be avoided by making a substitute. Bonds and short term notes of considerable di-mensions have and are continually or term notes of considerable di-ensions have and are continually ing ascured, and it is possible that urope may take some of these, while steadily refuses to buy the listed ocks. The gold movement is the first al acknowledgement of the advance the Bank of England's rate to 4 a the Bank of England's rate to 4 er cent. New York money rates ave not advanced in sympathy, but erhaps this is in deference to the sigencies of the stock market, rath-r than to a desire to allow natural behods to take their wonted course.

methods to take their wonted course. Strikes, crop, damage reports, gold exports and fears of supreme court decisions, have failed to be entirely reflected in the prices of stocks. Wall Street never allows itself to be gov-erned by conditions. If it did there would be no money made by those who see to the framing of prices. Modest declines, have resulted when the man-ipulators tried to get out a few shares, but as soon as traders tried to take advantage of the situation, support was at once put in, and then an atwas at once put in, and then an at-tempt made to frighten out the shorts by an incipient rally. Fighting the lecline is the proposition which now confronts the big fellows, and as they tre adepts at the game they need no ree advice how to best accomplish heir purpose. If they can keep long holders in, and increase the number in each consecutive decline, the path iccess is easy. One important feature of the mark-recently is the gradual fading away what might be termed the investsecurities, if any in this market pigs $9.70 to $10.55; bulk of sales $10.70 to $10.85.

Wall Street Gossip.

gins left. No palpable attempts have been made to create a speculative boom in Toronto, yet the margin amounts have grown considerably since the first of the year and weakness on other ex-changes is already being felt. Spec-ulative holders are beginning to think of taking small losses, as they see no immediate prospects of profits, and with few exceptions buyers of shares are much more anxiously sought on the exchange than sellers. Further decreases in deposits with the char-tered banks are regarded as a matter of course, and there is not the slight-est desire among local financial in-stitutions to increase their call loans. The bond market is not nearly as so das it was, altho there still exists a fair absorptive power for investment securities. Immediately the Toronto market outlook is not encouraging and securities cannot be recommended except to those who buy outright and hold as investment. Wall Street Gossip. Joseph says: It is unlikely that the Tobacco decision will come down on Monday because the court will pro-bably adjourn, out of respect to Judge Brewer's memory. Vanderbilt shares will be fairly well protected at their going level. Buy New York Central, Better get long of Pan Handle. Buy Rock Islands. Hold C. & O. We continue to find evidence of good buying of Rock Island, Southern Paci-fic and Amalgamated Copper. Bull points are developing in Texas and Pacific. The new orders for cars are causing buying of Car Foundry and the equipment stocks. Smelting buying orders towards 79 are said to be for both long and short account, and the stock may be over-sold.—Financial Bulletin.

On Wall Street. Erickson Perkins & Co. had the fol-lowing: To-day's stock market was about what we anticipated, with clos-ing prices not much changed for the standard issues, except for a sharp setback in American Tel. stocks and weakness in the bonds. Perhaps the feature of the market was the ab-sence of selling pressure. The bear offerings have for the most part come to an end. Perhaps the bears are waiting for developments in the To-bacco case on Monday. The stock market itself gives no intimation of any decision in the trust cases next While traders will go slow in their long commitments pending Tobacco decision possibilities the good stocks are well bought on all the drives and the way is being prepared, so far as we can learn, for a good bull move-ment later in the month. At the mo-ment some attention will be paid crop reports and the Missouri statement ment note in the information will be paid crop reports and the Missouri statement expected to-day is not likely to be anything but poor, there is a chance however, that the government figures of next Friday will be better than generally anticipated. Condi-tions in the northwest are exceptional-ly bright, and those who buy and hold the Hill stocks and northwestern should make a great deal of money. We also feel very favorably inclined to the long side of the good Trunk Line stocks, especially Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & West-ern, Reading, Atlantic Coast Line, Southern Pacific and Atchison. The latter will be well supported pending any decision in the trust cases next week. The Western Maryland Railway pre-ferred has declared a quarterly divi-dend of one per cent., payable April 20. INSPIRED.

John S. Willison of The Tor-onto News has been called in as party doctor and political spe-cialist, and has been in active touch with Mr. Borden for some time. The following in The News of saturday night may be taken as inspired from head-quarters in Ottawa. It is inter-esting reading, especially in the light of the comment: Why has it taken so long to find it out? :

The permanent inst-ineutenancy of the Conservative party will be decid-ed during the recess. A Reorganization of the Party. A complete reorganization of the party is afoot. This is much required. The lack of cohesion has been very apparent this session, and some news-papers have attributed this to Mr. Borden: Such an assertion is unfair to the opposition leader, who possesses all the good qualities essential for suc-cessful leadership, but whose unfailing kindaess and courtesy of demeanor have sometimes been mistaken for want of firmness. Whips Are inefficient. There are two reasons to account for the fact that the Conservative party has not been such a successful opposition as the talents of some of the members of it should have made possible. The truth is that the Con-servative whips, as a body, are hope-lessly inefficient. Most of them were appointed in the days when there were very few men of ability in the Con-servative ranks. Government's task is more difficult than that of restraining officials in regions like the Soudar from dealing with native races as i they have neither rights nor feelings. That task may become enormously harder if Col. Rooseveit, representing a democratic country, champions the demands of rough-rider officialdom. He will be here about the time when, as now seems inevitable, a gen-eral election will be held. Then any political, or even politic-philosophic pronouncements by him might be seri-

The lords intend to contest every foot of the road, accepting the principle of re-form as sound, but insisting that any changes made in the second chamber shall have to do with its composition and not with its authority. The line-up is definite. John Redmond does not abate his demands upon the gov-ernment for a resort to the royal prerogative on the demands for guaran-tees that enough Liberal lords will be created to "swamp the Tory peers." But it is understood that even Lloyd-George, originally the cabinet sponsor for such a course, concedes now that Mr. Asquith is right in holding that a government supported by groups with ambitions often in sharp concould not make out a convincing for King Edward's consideracase

All that has happened in the ast between Canada and the States may be forgotten We are coming to now the people of the United States better for they are moving over to live with us. They are people of a great nation and a great race. They speak the language of Canada and we are glad to see them here. We could not call in better partners to realize quickly the magdificent destiny that is unquestionably before us.

Some newspapers in United States are becoming alarmed at the increasing exodus of American farmers to Canada

The following editorial from The Chicago Record is reproduced in full as a typical expression of opinion. Nothing more interesting on this particular subject has yet appeared in print. It is headed "The Movement of Americans Toward Canada," and is as follows:

"The exodus from the United States to the Canadian Northwest has been a serious fact for some seasons past. The loss in men has been ascertained; the loss in money has been approximated. But the means by which, within the past year, our country has been despoiled of more than eighty thousand of its best citizens and of some $100,000,000 in cash have not yet become matters of general information.

"The principal agent in our spoliation is the Canadian Pacific Railway, and it has been able to accomplish much by clever advertising. It has millions of acres of the best wheat lands in the world, and it wants tens of thousands of the best farmers in the world to cultivate them. Its agents, midely active, have found that the best way to r perous farmer leave a fairly satisfactory farm is to offer him a better farm, ready made.

Case of Commander Peary of And Shackleton's Welcome

The way of the Arctic discoverer is not a pleasant one, especially if he be a citizen of the United States: Dr. Cook has been proved to be a fraud of the first magnitude and Commander Peary has not yet succeeded in establishing himself and his claim to have discovered the pole among his own people. Congress in substance has asked him for more proof and declines any national honors. His lecture trips have been more or less of a failure, and it has been openly stated in congress by his. critics that he could not have made the speed he claims to have made in the days that he was making his dash for the pole. Never before, it is stated, has any Arctic explorer made half the number of miles that he claims to have made in the immediate vicinity of the pole. All the reply that Peary is able to make is that he cannot furnish further proof until he completes contracts with his publishers. In other words, Peary is in the unfortunate position of having his word and his reputation made subsidiary to the interests of his publishers. Either thru desire to make money or to pay his expenses by means of his books he has had to make contracts which, he claims, tie up his freedom of proving the discovery which he made. The people of the United States are thus to-day in quite uncertain attitude toward their Arctic explorers.

It is different in the case of the Englishman, Lieutenant Shackleton, who went after the South Pole and who got within less than 100 miles of it. Shackleton, who is now in America, has been received everywhere, especially by the president and official circles at Washington; he will have his lectures no doubt largely attended; and he is passing current wherever he goes as an intrepid explorer without any boastful-ness and whose word is accepted in the frankest kind of way. The New York Sun's article on the brave young Englishman was remarkable for what it did not say of Peary.

We do not now say that Peary did not discover the North Pole, but we do wish to say that quite a large number of his countrymen are asking for more proofs than he has yet offered. So that again is a prophet without honor, save in his own country.

"No more raw land sold to raw settlers. The railroad itself has become a wholesale pioneer. It divides up and distributes the land, builds house and barn, breaks the fields, plants the first crop, provides the necessary tools and machinery. The new settler simply moves from one farm to another. And along with the establishing of model farms goes the laying out of model towns.

"Where new lands require irrigation the railroad goes into the irrigation business. No waiting on a slow government: no dependence on the casual workings of private enterprise. Already it has watered a million acres and sold and settled them.

"What was but recently an experiment is to-day a fixed policy. And what the Canadian Pacific has done the Grand Trunk Pacific on opening up, is likely to imitate.

"The propaganda has been extended to Europe... Traveling experts on farming and irrigation are lecturing thru the most promising sections of the old world, particularly among the Scandinavians, and are drawing a seasoned, industrious stock to a new and well-suited environment.

"Such is the organized movement with which the American government has to contend. What similar methods have we? What machinery for giving such methods effect? We ought to have something better to depend upon than a vague belief in a gravitational force that will some time or other draw the northwestern provinces into our system and restore us the men and money that we are losing."

Shackleton stated that the verses of this noted Canadian writer had inspired him often during the lonesome hours of the long journey towards the South Pole. In answer to he rather invidious omparison often drawn between the ablic spirit of British municipalities and that of Canadian, it is commonly urged that Canada does not posess that leisured class who, in the old country, give their services freely in civic administration. This is true in minor part, since it is undoubted that there are many more in Britain who pursue no private avocation than there are in Canada. But it is incorrect that this class appear to any really material extent on the role of British city and town councils. By far the larger proportion are engaged in active business, and personally engaged at that. Take, for example, the composition of the London County Council, a body where, if anywhere, the representatives of the leisured classes should be found. Moreover, the last council, with its large "Municipal Reform," really Conservative, majority ought, in any case, to have provided an unusually large proportion of those who, in Britain, favorably incline to that party. Yet in its ranks were 21 merchants. 10 manufacturers, 18 lawyers, 11 workmen, 10 retired civil servants and 26 "gentlemen," or persons whose independent means exempted them from the necessity of pursuing any regular occupation. Even this proportion is considerably more than is present in the English provincial and Scottish city councils. LONDON, April 2 .- "We South Africans quite regard the United States as a British colony," said Sir Pleter Bam in a review with The World correspondent.

"I am sure you look awfully Ameri-can," I replied somewhat irrelevantly. "Ah, you're mistaken, I'm a Canadian by descent," altho a naturalized American citizen.

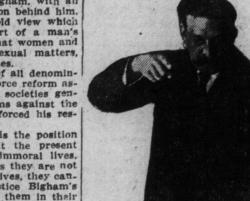

"There you are. Same blood. It wasn't so long ago that the Knicker-bockers and Vanderblits of the United States and the Bullers and Bams of South Africa were smoking together before their old Dutch firesides. No wonder we still think of you as brothers, as colonials.'

Sir Pieter is of entirely Dutch descent and he was the first South African without English blood in him to be knighted. Furthermore he is an Imperialist.

Tho "consolidating the Empire" has long been a by-phrase in present day politics, Sir Pieter is the only man who has offered a practical solution of the problem of colony representation. Scheme of Representation.

In most cases, the suggestions have been based on the idea of the colonies having some sort of representation in work, and was compelled to work in the house of lords. Sir Pieter's schem owever, is simpler, more feasible and English Motorists Striving to Cut Out Dust Nuisance-Mudless and Dustless Road Will Come-Comment on Report of Reyal Aute Club Committee on Roads.

From the report of the dust and dustless roads committee, which has is again coming into its own. When just been issued by the Royal Auto- we had no use for the highways, we mobile Club, it is quite evident that when a solution to the dust problem is more or less a matter which did not found the general public will have to thank the motorist for the trouble he has taken in this important matter. Some people run away with the idea neighboring village. The crude state that the dust nuisance only exists for of the road was a source of enjoyment. the pedestrian or cyclist. It never, so the pedestrian or cyclist. It never, so country lane were the essence of rust-it would seem, if one may judge from city. The village has nothing in comthe scathing letters appearing in the general press, from time to time, oc-currs to the non-motoring mind that the dust is just as great a nuisance to the motorist as to the dweller by the Essence of Rustleity.

Here are three facts which should be borne in mind, included in the committee's report. Up to the close of the season 1908 the road authorities had not thoroly admitted that motor traffic had become so important that the dust difficulty must be met by re-surfacing the roads. To-day this is generally admitted. The consequences are important, for in a few years we shall have a dustless road in the sum-mer and a road free from mud in the winter, both of which feats were thought impossible less than five years ago. The past year has witnessed many efforts on the part of road auth-orities to find a way out of the diffi-culty, and as the report points out, Here are three facts which should culty, and as the report points out, the authorities have bestirred themselves to a keen study of the question. Many of the authorities have put down experimental lengths of dustless road, and in several instances great lengths of the highways have been subject to varied palliative methods. Generally Admitted Now.

Another prevalent mistake on the part of the man on the road is the assumption that the motor-car is alone the creator of dust. It is a very common mistake, and one that should be combated whenever occasion arises. Dust existed long before a self-pro-pelled vehicle swept gracefully over seminator of dust, but that the plain the roads. That it did not rise so the roads. That it did not rise so frequently is quite another matter. The most ardent motorist is willing to admit that as the car is constructed type of motor-car is the greatest of-fender in the making of dust, I think, to-day it is the chief artificial dis-

is entirely a mistaken assertion. On a windy day ten years ago dust was a most common thing to be met with in shoals on the roads. So long as it was the wind that raised the storm nobody thought of complaining, but when we arrived at the stage of mancreated dust clouds we were soon mad with the creature who had dared to us with such an insanitary Duff.

Everybody cried out against the car-that beastly, dust-creating, stench-emitting monster. Most of us never thought that man was at fault in the building of his roads. Now, however, this is generally recognized, and we are positively near a solution of our troubles. At the end of last year Mr. Walker Smith, of Edinburgh, publish-ed a very exhaustive book on dustless roads and tar macadam, and he has dealt in a most thoro manner with the Whole question of modern results the whole question of modern require-ments and modern construction of roads. Here is one conclusion which tends to confirm the opinion I have for some time past expressed in these columns: "The main factor in the creation of dust is undoubtedly the fact that the binding of a macadam road as at present constructed is in-sufficiently good." Again, I find in this matter of binding that Mr. Walt-er Smith is at one with the experts on the R. A. C. dustless roads com-mittee that "if macadam roads are to be constructed, a bituminous binding or matrix must be employed." Thus we have progressed-for the dustmillennium we shall have to pos

In all there are about 75 factories turning out com-mercial vehicles exclusively, while a number of others include pleasure cars in their output, and more than half of these have already been heard from. There is only one thing which will prevent the contest from taking place, and that is the fact that the manu-facturers are over their heads with orders for new trucks, and this might prevent them from giving any time to contests of any nature. An easy remedy will be found for this, how-suggested that the time of the event be set at some time in the fall, pos-sibly about the middle of September. The reason advanced for this is the the automobile industry?

It should be one of sympathetic interest. No invention or development or transportation during the past half century, with the exception probably of the steam railroad, has done so much to contribute to the profitable employment of the laborer and skilled mechanic

It is only a matter of a couple of decades since the evolution of the high-wheeled bicycle into the safety, the little runabout and the splendid modern motor car. During that time hundreds of millions of dollars have been expended thru factories in which these lines have been produced. Last year the automobile industry had jump-ed into third place in the United States, and presumably the ratio in Canada would be about the same.

The automobile has done more than anything else to rel hoarded money. Men who would be tempted by no luxury in the way of travel or any form of indulgence have joined in the great outpouring of money for expensive motor cars. It has been the medium by which the man who has made wealth has handed it back to the laborers and the skilled mechanic. These are facts that cannot be controverted. They have been admitted by such eminent labor leaders as Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federa-tion of Labor, John Mitchell and others equally competent to speak of the sociological effect of the automobile on labor.

It has cost money to build every automobile that speeds its way over the streets of the city or the highways of the country. That money has gone to play its part in providing for the families of the people and has stimulated industry in many directions. The attitude of the workingman and skilled mechanic and the public generally should be one of encouragement for an industry that has grown to such stupendous proportions that it now ranks among the leaders in the fields of industrial activity.

Many persons who contemplate vis-iting the Passion Play during this year were much worried because of the ordinance of Oberammergau forbidding the use of power cars in the village territory. Representations were made to the Passion Play committee on be-half of the Americans who wanted to take their automobiles with them and as a result the ordinance has been re-scinded during May, June, July, Au-sust and September of this year. In order properly to care for the au-tomobilists who visit Oberammergau, the Passion Play committee has built a free-proof garage with accommoda-tions for 200 cars and their attendants. Every parts plant of any importance in the United States is literally work-ing night and day, and in a vain an-deavor to satisfy the tremendous de-mand upon its facilities, resulting from the enormous output of half a hundred or more automobile factories. An old broken knife was used to crowd the mixture into the cracks, then the openings at the bottom of the jackets were plug. the bottom of the jackets were plug-ged with corks and the jackets filled sed with corks and the jackets filled with a solution of sal ammoniac and water. This solution was allowed to stand in the jackets for 24 hours, then drained and a new solution put in for another 24 hours. This sealed the cracks completely and not a drop of water has leaked out and the car has been running for some time. The paste is so smooth that the break is not perceptible.

FOUR THOUSAND FORDS SHIPPED SINCE JAN. 1.

At the Ford plant, the fiscal year commences October 1, and all records date from then. For the first quarter, ending December 31, 2810 cars were shipped. Since Januaray 1, up to and including Saturday, March 19, 3378 cars were shipped, making a total for the five and one-half months of 6188 Model T cars. cars.

T cars. But real activity began last week. The first warm day resulted in orders, orders, orders, by wire, mail and 'phone. But the big plant at High-land Park was ready for it. On Mon-day 140 cars were shipped, and for the five and one-half days, for the factory closes at noon Saturday, the total shipments reached 689 cars.

thought enough of the E-M-F- Company a few days ago to pay $6,000,000.00 for about 60 per cent of its stock. ISN'T IT LOGICAL TO SUPPOSE that the E-M-F "80" is a "WONDER"? If it was a "LEMON" E-M-F stock would not be worth a nickel, and if the car was only mediocre the stock would be worth less than 100 cents on the dollar, but, as a matter of fact, the stock is ABOVE PAR, which, to-gether with the fact that the MORGAN COMPANY made the deal, simply goes to prove what we have always contended, that the E-M-F is the best car in the world for the money, and the equal of many higher priced cars.

A handsome, roomy, 5-passenger touring car, light in weight, dependable as the day is long, economical as a car could possibly be and the easiest car to take care of that was ever built. It has the specifications of the $1,500 car, the handsome appearance of the $2,500, and the quality, material and workmanship of the $3,500 car, i.e., quality unsurpassed and accuracy to the half thousandth of an inch. There are no experimental features whatever in the E-M-F car. All are proven. There is no element of doubt. The factory says and we say YOU MUST AND WILL GET SATISFACTORY SERVICE FROM YOUR CAR.

Perhaps it defied him for a time, mocked grimly at his efforts. Then, when I went on board the barge, and the rope swung against the plank, knocking it from under my feet, cannot you see Bagot, white-faced, perspiring, peering over the side of the car to discover who it was that shouted defiance to the un-seen assailant? He would wait, still as a mouse, conscious that the bai-loon was slowly settling, probably re-volver in hand, ready to shoot. Then he heard me fail, and with one su-preme wrench he swung the body clear, and it crashed down, while the bailoon bounded a couple of thousand feet skyward as if it were glad to be rid of the token of a crime."

THE tunic has been too great a friend of the winter gown, and has decorated costumes too successfully, to be relegated to the oblivion of a style that has gone. It is not surprising to find that the idea is emphasized on spring costumes, and there is hope for every woman in the fact that the tunic line can be drawn anywhere, so infinite is the variety.

There is a suggestion of the tunic at the front only in the linen model, with its attractive transparent bodice. Here the front edge is curved upward, dropping in a straight line to the edge of the skirt. Coarse braid in an irregular design defines the outline and forms the broad side decoration.

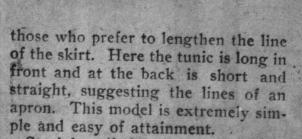

The Russian tunic, belted and buttoned, is always becoming, crossing over to one side and continuing in a straight line to the hem. This latter, by the way, is not the straight line of the usual model, but is curved up slightly at each side. A broad hem is used to edge this shape.

With a panier line from which all fulness is eliminated, the tunic is . fashioned very successfully on the afternoon gown. Over a skirt that is pleated at the lower portion, the tunic is placed and held at the front by but-tons. In this instance the long line for it reaches to the hem at the backis broken by two rows of silk braid.

To the uninitiated there might be a question as to just where the embroidered tunic laps. 'A false hem is shown just a little at one side of the front, but the real fastening is at the back. Embroidery is effectively used as trimming.

in this one made him stop and glance back. The mother was kneeling beside her dying child. He glanced at the scene carelessly. "I must write a treatise on this case," he murmured. "Never knew another like it in all my experience."

A single ray of the setting sun crept thru a chink in the shutters and glided down the room. The specialist watched down the room. The specialist watched it climb and rest across the pinched white face of the child. It made a golden halo of the tangled yellow curls that nestled on the forehead of the little one. Perhaps there flashed before the mind of the man, a scene very similar to this one, that belonged to the olden, golden days that lay years and years behind; for into his eyes there stole a light that killed their hardness. Perhaps his soul struggled beneath the bonds that leashed it down, for he took a step or two backward, toward the cot.

But the ray of sunlight crept suddenly and quickly away and out, and with it passed the soul of the child. And down the dim steps of the hospital, the specialist passed briskly, the cold, probing expression once more in his eyes.

Wait for the Wagon

Out in the region of vast distances beyond the prairie country, which is the west to the uncomprehending easterner; on beyond the mountain tract which in turn, is the west to the uncomprehending prairielander, there lies an unrailroaded empire where the wagon freighter still plies his trade as industriously as in the days of the forty-niners, says The New York Sun. There are hundreds of these freighting routes in active use to-day, averaging from 100 to 200 miles in length. In fact, altho the waggon freighter has been driven from the first trade routes by the railroads, the progress of building the latter has been so far behind the west's development that the busi-ness entrusted to him to-day is greater than in the days of long hauls. An old document recently produced at an interstate commerce hearing in at an interstate commerce nearing in San Francisco cites the testimony of Leland Stanford before the senate committee on Pacific railways that in 1872 the railroads had to meet the competition of ox teams. At this same hearing it was shown that to-day freight rates are higher than they were at that time. The freight tariff of 1872 was produced, showing that the average freight rate between Reno, Nev., and Sacramento, Cal., at that time was 94 cents a hundred pounds, whereas it now averages from $1.07% up to $1.29 a hundred pounds.

An old darky who lived some distance from town had a very sick mule. He drove into town to see the village veterinary as to what to do for the mule. The doctor told him to get a pound of calomel and a hollow glass tube and blow the calomel thru the tube down the mule's throat. About a week after that the darky appeared in town looking very dejected and pale. He met the doctor on the street and said: "Say, boss, I got the calomel and the tube and put the cal-omel in the tube," and just then the doctor asked him if he blew it down the throat of the mule, and the darky said: "No, boss, old Pete he done blew into the woods, which afforded a nov-elty never to be forgotten. Riding on an elephant is like sailing on a small boat in a heavy sea. Arriving at the grounds of the Rajah our party was escorted to a build-ing, built of bamboo in two days time. It was a square one story structure, seating about 300 and that evening it was packed to the doors with the family of the Rajah. Thurston could not help smiling as he made his entrance and remembered that his host was the happy possessor of all these women and thought of the old American joke of the mother-inlaw and wondered if the Rajah ex-perienced any trouble in that quarter. Each act went with painful silence, even Thurston's best creation was re-ceived without a sign of approval. Finally in disgust Thurston sent for the Rajah and asked him, thru his interpreter, what was the matter with the audience.

The Rajah asked "Why?" Thurs-

The Rajah asked "Why?" Thurs-ton replied "There is no applause, the house is as dead as a morgue." The Rajah remarked "Oh, that is all my fault. I told them before you arrived that if anyone made a bit of noise while your show was going on I would punish them, so it was my threat that has kept them so quiet. Rest assured they like you and your Rest assured they like you and your show and it will be the talk of my harem for many days."
