CARRANZA HAS TAKEN STAND

Conquerors Usual Ones To Dictate Terms

ALL MAY YET BE WELL

Some Hope of Overcoming Differences Between Mediators and Constitutionalists—Indirect Statement from Huerta

Washington, June 2—While administration leaders still looked to Niagara Falls today for the decision of Constitutional representation at the mediation conference, a semi-official statement from Carranza's headquarters at Durango, criticizing the course of the South American mediators attracted widespread attention. Such expressions in the statement as that the Constitutionalists "point out the fact that conquerors are not usually wont to permit the conquered to dictate terms of peace which is practically what is to be asked of them by the commission," were variously interpreted. Administration officials declined to comment on the statement.

The declaration from Niagara Falls stated that the Durango expression did not alter the mediators' opinion toward the Constitutionalists. Hope was toward the Constitutionalists. Hope was toward the mediators and Constitutionalists could be dispensed by exchanges which recently were initiated by Carranza's note at Niagara Falls.

El Paso, Tex., June 2—A semi-official statement from General Carranza's headquarters at Durango criticizing the actions of the A. B. C. mediators at Niagara Falls reiterating his allegiance as a military leader to Carranza, were the only developments today in the Mexican situation here.

Mexico City, June 2—The views of President Huerta with regard to a settlement to which the Niagara Falls peace conference is directing its efforts have never yet been defined but according to persons close to him he has pronounced that the elections for president, vice-president, senators and state governors should be held on July 8 as decreed by congress. He is doubtful that these elections shall be free and absolutely legal.

Many Mistakes Made In Identifying Empress Dead

TERRIBLE EXECUTION BY THE COILLER STORSTAD'S ANCHOR; RIPPED OPEN EMPRESS' SIDE

Sixteen Times In The Case of One Of The Drowned

WOMEN IDENTIFIED AS MEN

Quebec, June 2—Having discovered that several mistakes had been made in the identification of bodies officials have made necessary absolute proof before allowing the claimant to remove the body. As a result the number of identifications yesterday and today was much smaller than on Sunday.

There was undoubtedly much inefficiency of method in arrangements for the claiming of bodies by friends or relatives. A clerk of the C. P. R. was placed in charge of every twenty-five caskets. As soon as a face was recognized or by jewelry or scars, the body was taken to the morgue. Here they had found the one for whom they searched would report to the clerk in charge. He then noted the name of the victim and the one who supplied the information, age of the deceased, place of residence and other facts thought necessary, and the claimants would receive a burial certificate from Coroner Jellicoe. Thus it would be possible for them to remove the body.

The clerks were not experienced men and had no idea of the many mistakes possible under the circumstances. The majority of those who searched for victims were under duress, strain and many were almost hysterical. They were looking for a certain face, and the most remembrance lacked by the clerks was that several mistakes had been made. A suggestion that the body was very probably one of those recovered from the Empress is being made. The majority were distorted and mistakes were made in many cases.

Women Identified as Men: In two cases bodies were identified as men, which when examined were found to be women. Improbable though it may seem, it was undoubtedly possible that a sailor named Quigley, whose body was claimed by the Catholic church, was buried as a man. When the coroner made his round yesterday afternoon to remove all bodies from the morgue and prepare it for embalming the discovery was made.

Identifications of the Empress Dead: "Whether any of the fifty bodies which were scattered all over the province, were taken care of, and were not returned to their relatives, is a matter which has not yet been ascertained. It is a matter which should be investigated. The process of embalming all the bodies was completed yesterday afternoon and undertakers worked all night to complete their preparations. The coroner, during the afternoon examination of the bodies, with features composed of a more natural expression, clad in the shrouds, with rough cheeks, a better resemblance to the living results. Every unidentified body was photographed and those remaining unclaimed will be held as long as possible. Then, when they are buried, the photographs will be kept, with a description and any remarks in an effort to eventually establish identity.

FRANK O'LEARY NOW SPECIAL POLICEMAN

Another to Be Appointed But Name Not Announced

Frank E. O'Leary was sworn in this morning as a special policeman to act under the orders of Commissioner McLehane under the provisions of the resolution adopted by the common council yesterday afternoon. The commissioner said this morning that his duties would be of a special nature and of such a character that it would not be advisable to say what they are at present as it might interfere with the effectiveness of his work. The appointment of a second policeman was authorized also, but the commissioner said that the other man has not yet been selected.

FIRST OF DEAD TO REACH ST. JOHN

Bodies of Adjutant and Mrs. DeBow

The bodies of two of the New Brunswick victims of the St. Lawrence marine disaster were brought home for burial today, those of Adjutant and Mrs. Everett DeBow of the Salvation Army. Side by side they were placed aboard the baggage car at Quebec and brought together as far as Welsford, where the body of the wife was taken off for burial in the afternoon at the home of her childhood days, where now little boy, made an orphan by the calamity of the St. Lawrence, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKim. The separation took place at the station, when the body of the husband was brought to the city to be taken through to Pettoicodiac tomorrow for burial on Thursday. It will taken to Chamberlain's undertaking rooms today.

A sorrowful father and mother met the body of Mrs. DeBow at the little station at Welsford this morning. It was brought by her old home near strong's Corner. Her brothers and sisters were also there with many friends, all deeply grieved at the sad happening. This afternoon burial took place with a large gathering present. The funeral service was conducted by St. Captain Coombs of the Salvation Army, who, with Mrs. Coombs, Adjutant Beason and Parsons, Ensign Spear, and Captain Forbes went out from the city this morning.

No word of the finding of the body of Frank W. Hamilton had been received today. Divers are engaged at the scene of the wreck in an effort to raise some of the bodies who are still thought to be pinned down in the remains. It is hoped that young Mr. Hamilton's body will be found amongst these. His father, John H. Hamilton, and P. J. Fitzpatrick will leave, as soon as word of the finding of the body has been received, for Quebec to bring it home for burial. A telegram from Major Morris to his sister, Mrs. Milton A. Belyea, of Cedar street, yesterday afternoon, said that the body of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Morris, had been recovered, but his brother, Arthur, body had not yet been recovered. The bodies of Major and Mrs. Creighton have not yet been found.

CONTRACT NOT YET LET FOR ALL THE FILLING

The contract for the construction of the concrete piers for the foundations of the warehouses in connection with the new government wharves at Sand Point has been awarded to the Maritime Dredging and Construction Company, Limited. The work will proceed at the same time as the filling and both contracts are expected to be completed by the middle of August.

Owing to the delay of the previous contract the dredging work on the Beacon Bar will be completed by the Maritime Company before they can complete the fill and they will have only about half enough material from this source for the reclamation. There was some talk of another contract being awarded for the work but arrangements have been made to use the spoil from other dredging operations and the Maritime Company will complete the work under their original contract.

The contract for the construction of the warehouses have not yet been awarded but it is expected that they will be given within the next few weeks so that they will be completed by December 1. The warehouses will be about 800 feet long and 135 feet wide.

E. Cowell at $7 a ton for egg and stove.

ST. GEORGE MAN IS MISSING; INQUIRY IS MADE IN ST. JOHN

An employee of labor in the city received a letter from St. George asking for information about a young man who was supposed to have come to St. John recently looking for work. He is described as being about twenty-four years of age, with dark eyes, curly hair and a spot on one of his cheeks; weighs between 175 and 180; dressed in brown suit and hat. He was last heard of on May 11.

When asked over the telephone this morning, the man who is looking for word of the missing man declined to give his name, but said that it was for private reasons he was enquiring.

FIVE SURE GOLDIE LOCKS WAS THEIR LITTLE ONE

Identification of the Empress Dead in Some Cases Proving Difficult

Quebec, June 2—The feature yesterday of the morgue was the number of disputes regarding the identification of the dead. No fewer than fifty persons contended for the possession of one fair-haired little girl of two or three years, and when the shed was closed at night she was still claimed as unclaimed.

Among the funerals held yesterday in Quebec were those of Mrs. C. Price of New York and Mrs. Archer of Regina and her little boy, all three of whom were buried in Mount Hermon Protestant cemetery after service in St. Matthew's church. Rev. Canon Scott, the rector, officiated, and there were dead presented Mrs. Archer, a niece of Mrs. Price named Miss Townsend, and a few friends.

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

A MISSES' COSTUME

The front and a blouse, having raglan sleeves. Required to make this dress are the following materials:

1/2 yard 36-inch material at the yard. $1.20
1/2 yard 4-inch lace for neck and sleeves at 20c. $1.00
1/2 yard 4-inch lace for skirt at 20c. $1.00

The left and right halves of the skirt are cut on the open material, placing the left half first, about an inch from the edge of the marquisette. From this remaining material the outer belt and underfacing may be obtained. If the half of the skirt advantage may be taken of the extra width of material gained by making an incision in upper part for the draped section.

Now double the material and on this place the large collar, the sleeve and front; then from a double fold get the back and the stay. The outer belt should be cut on a lengthwise or crosswise fold of the goods, but with the exception of the back, which is placed on a lengthwise fold, all of the remaining pieces are cut on a lengthwise thread of the marquisette.

It is probable that a little difficulty will be experienced with the construction of the skirt on account of the lap-over effect at the front. First, turn under the front edges of the right half of the skirt as perforated, lap on left half to double small "o" perforations, notches even and stitch. Adjust underfacing to position underneath upper front edge of right half, double and triple notches even; join edges having single notches to form draped effect. Pleat upper edges of both halves, placing "o" on corresponding small "o" perforations and tack. Turn hem at front edge of stay on large "o" perforations, which indicate center-front. Adjust stay to position underneath both halves, centers even and tack at corresponding small "o" perforations. Close back seam as notched. Sew skirt to lower edge of waist over inside belt, centers even. Sew stay to lower edge of inside belt, centers even. Adjust outer belt to position, centers even.

Pin the neck and sleeves with lace ruffles, and if it is desired to have the ruffle to stand upright about the neck add an invisible stay.

COLUMBIAN MASTER PAYS TRIBUTE TO THE MANHATTAN MEN

The Imperial Merchant Service Guild have received the following communications from their member Captain J. McDonald, who lately commanded the Leyland Liner "Columbian":

Atlantic Transport Line
 S. S. "Manhattan"
 At Sea, May 13th, 1914.
 T. W. Moore, Esq., R. F. G. S.,
 Secretary,
 The Imperial Merchant Service Guild:

Dear Sir,—The late S. S. "Columbian" under my command has been blown up and I have barely escaped with my life. But for the exertions of Captain F. W. Lazell, commanding the above steamer I would be counted as one of the missing. Will you please look over the enclosed statement and make such use of it as you see fit.

(Signed) J. McDONALD.

The statement which Captain McDonald refers to is—

On board the S. S. "Manhattan," Atlantic Transport Line, May 12th, 1914.

This is to certify that after the S. S. "Columbian" caught fire and exploded in Lat. 41 deg. 30 minutes, Long 56 deg. 30 minutes W. on May 4th 6 hours 5 minutes a. m., that I with fifteen other members of the crew left the ship in No. 4 boat (one man was drowned and another died) leaving a total of fourteen alive in the boat. Strong winds were blowing and a heavy sea was running. It was perishing cold weather. We were in the boat for fifty hours, Captain F. W. Lazell of the Atlantic Transport Liner "Manhattan" bound from New York to Antwerp intercepted us and we were taken aboard his ship. The message from the Cunard Liner "Franconia" stating that he had picked up one of the boats of the "Columbian" and the other two were still adrift. Captain Lazell deviated from his course for seventy miles to pick up the boat. We were with him for 2 a. m. while I was lying too with oil bags out in a heavy sea, and bitter cold weather; taking us on board without any mishap, and continuing the search for No. 3 boat for eighteen hours afterwards.

May 11 5 a. m. G. E. Roberts, chief engineer, with bad injury to head, and E. Delf, grossly hurt, were taken aboard and were transferred to the R. M. S. "St. Louis" bound to Southampton, for better medical treatment and to get to the hospital quicker.

Captain Lazell, his officers, engineers, stewards and crew did all they possibly could to relieve our sufferings and make us comfortable. We sincerely hope that Captain Lazell, and all the members of the crew of the "Manhattan" may live many years to come to act the part of good Samaritans.

(Signed) J. McDONALD.

Master of the late S. S. "Columbian".

Royal Gifts to Fund—President Wilson's Sympathy—Liner Can be Raised—Virginian Takes Her Place—Salvation Army Plans

Montreal, June 1—Now that the first burst of excitement and grief at the loss of life through the sinking of the C. E. T. steamship Empress of Ireland has partially spent itself, and the general public is settling down to await the government inquiry before giving judgment as to the responsibility for the frightful accident, an unhappy controversy between the commanders of the two vessels involved is looming large on the horizon.

The truth, it is hoped, will be drawn by the official inquiry, which will open on June 8 or 9 in Quebec or Montreal. A preliminary inquiry was begun today for the government information to be used by the investigating board.

This board will be composed of two judges of the Canadian admiralty court, Sir Adolphe Routhier, judge of court of admiralty, Quebec, and Hon. E. McLeod, chief justice and judge of admiralty court, New Brunswick, appointed by the dominion government; Geo. Vaux, representing the British board of trade, and probably representative of the British admiralty.

London, June 1—The king has donated £2,500, the queen £1,250, the Prince of Wales $1,250, and the Queen Mother, Alexandra $1,000 to the Empress of Ireland fund.

Washington, June 1—President Wilson today sent a message of condolence to the dominion government; Geo. Vaux, representing the British board of trade, and probably representative of the British admiralty.

Montreal, June 1—Discussing the possibility of raising the Empress, Thomas Hall, of the Hall Engineering Works, stated today that the Empress is an excellent sailing proposition.

London, June 1—Arrangements have been made to have the Allan liner Virginian take the place of the Empress of Ireland, which was due to sail from Liverpool on June 12. All the bookings have accordingly been transferred.

RECENT WEDDINGS

An event of no little interest to the people of Jacques River, took place at the residence of Doctor Ellis, on Thursday, May 28, when Miss Muriel Brown and G. M. Ellis, were united in marriage by Rev. J. Coleman. The bride was most becomingly attired in a tailored suit of blue cloth, with hat to match, and was given away by her brother, Claude Brown. After the ceremony a delicious lunch was served to about thirty guests. Numerous useful presents testified to the affection and esteem in which the bride is held by her friends. The parlor was beautifully decorated with white, pink and red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis left on the west-bound train for a tour which will include visits to Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Banff, Vancouver, Seattle, Prince Rupert and other cities. There was a large number at the station to see them off and to wish them "bon voyage."

Sore Corns Dissolved

Removed Without Pain

The best wrinkle of all, no plasters or pads or burning salves—they are all relics of the dark ages. The only sure corn doctor—the one that never fails to lift out a sore corn by the roots—is Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Apply it at night and it dissolves away the painful corn while you sleep. Nothing to equal the painless removal of corns by Putnam's Extractor. Get a 25c. bottle from any druggist.

Doctor Tells How to Shed Bad Complexion

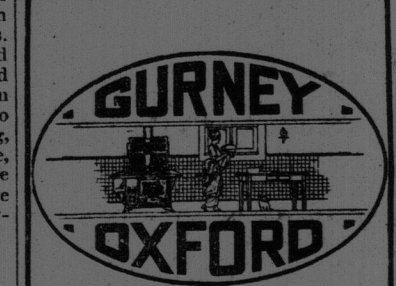

We cannot restore degenerated facial tissue any more than we can restore a lost limb. It is useless to attempt to convert a worn-out complexion into a new one. The rational procedure is to remove the complexion instead—remove the devitalized cuticle. Not by surgical means, however, as the underlying cuticle is too thin, too tender, to withstand immediate exposure. Applying ordinary percolated wax will gradually absorb the offending cuticle. By degrees, a new, youthful skin appears; a skin soft and delicately tinted as a rose petal.

No lady need hesitate to try this. Procure an ounce of mercurized wax of the druggist. Spread on a thin layer before retiring, removing this in the morning with soap and water. In from one to two weeks the complexion is completely transformed.

An approved treatment for wrinkles is provided by dissolving an ounce of powdered exfolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings prompt and remarkable results.—Dr. R. Mackenzie in Popular Medicine.

BECOMING POSSIBLE TO SLAY WITH IMPUNITY

Light Sentences For Killing in Berlin in "Crimes of Passion"—Two Recent Instances

Berlin, June 1.—Berlin appears to have imported for itself what the French have called "crimes of passion," and to have extended their range far beyond the French empire. A series of recent murders and attempted murders of men by women have been so lightly punished that the entire Berlin press is criticizing criminal authorities and jurors severely.

A conspicuous case aroused the press to protest. A young woman informed by her lover that he did not care for her any more, invited him for a farewell walk in the Tiergarten and shot him in the back of the head, killing him instantly. She was brought to trial, not on a charge of murder, but of manslaughter, and the public prosecutor admitted the existence of the mitigating circumstances which under a paragraph of the penal code are present "when the defendant at the time of the commission of the action was in such a condition that he did not realize what he was doing, or suffering under a pathologic disturbance of the senses through which his power of decision was made impossible."

This condition, the state admitted.

was present, due to the young woman's anger at being deserted. The sentence was for a year and a half to the penitentiary.

The most striking of the whole series of "crimes of passion" was the most recent. The woman in the case lived in an aristocratic quarter of Greater Berlin, apartments paid for by an admirer. The man begged her to show a coolness toward him and finally informed her that he intended to sever relations with her. She demanded the payment of a considerable sum, which was refused. Thereupon she invited him to a restaurant for a farewell supper. In a corner of the room, behind a screen, she drew a revolver from her muff and shot him four times. He was in a hospital for weeks and still carries one bullet in his body.

In this case, too, the woman was charged with attempted manslaughter, which involves a much lighter penalty than attempted murder. It was proved on her trial that she had told her servant girl that she intended to shoot the man, and that no woman is punished any more in Berlin for killing a recent lover. She had also written in a similar vein to relatives and friends, and after the shooting she boasted to her servant that she had sent four bullets into her victim.

The jury acquitted her, and the spectators in the courthouse applauded so long and so loudly that the judges ordered the room cleared and threatened fines for contempt of court.

The Kreuzzeitung, fairly representing the views of the entire press, comments: "It is perfectly plain that such verdicts, which we have seen repeatedly in the recent past, signify a danger to the security of the empire."

In administering the oath to a juror which began work this week a Berlin judge referred to the recent crimes by women and warned the jurors against permitting sympathy in such cases to warp their judgment.

URGE HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS

Board of Trade Discusses C. P. R. Recommendations

BREAKWATERS NEEDED

Strong Protest Against Renewal of Gutelius Agreement—Report on Town Planning Conference

Two important matters for the future of St. John, both depending immediately on the present action of the citizens and business men, were discussed at the St. John Board of Trade last evening.

The first was the terms on which it will be possible to secure again the invaluable winter traffic of the C. P. R. passenger boats as against the present artificially fostered preference given to Halifax, the second the means which shall be employed to ensure that the C. P. R. passenger boats shall not be along lines that will not have to be re-considered when the natural increase comes, as it will come, if that other passenger traffic runs through St. John.

A resolution strongly worded protesting against renewal of the Gutelius-Bosworth agreement was moved by W. F. Hatheway at the meeting, seconded by R. B. Emerson, and unanimously adopted.

"That this board renews its demand upon the federal government for fair and equitable treatment in the matter of ocean mails, and that it reiterates its unwavering opposition to the Gutelius-Bosworth agreement, or any other agreement of a similar character which may, in its operation, discriminate against the port of St. John, or deprive it of the geographical advantages it possesses."

In the summary of the secretary, R. B. Armstrong, of the work accomplished since the last meeting of the full board, reference was made to the recent conference with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy at Montreal.

Sir Thomas then stated that St. John was the Canadian Pacific railway's winter port, that his company had suffered great financial loss by reason of the traffic arrangements of last winter, and that they were desirous of utilizing this port to the fullest extent if adequate facilities were provided for them. He said his information was that there would be no new wharves ready for this winter's business. Their intention is to present to the government the advisability of constructing two berths in Lower Cove slip, either at the present wharf, or by extending the present wharf, or by erecting a new wharf, whichever appears to be the most desirable by the department, he immediately started in order that the Canadian Pacific railway may create the additional wharves that appear to be so absolutely necessary.

The delegation which visited Ottawa for business, their last day to present to the government the advisability of constructing two berths in Lower Cove slip, either at the present wharf, or by extending the present wharf, or by erecting a new wharf, whichever appears to be the most desirable by the department, he immediately started in order that the Canadian Pacific railway may create the additional wharves that appear to be so absolutely necessary.

The chairman said that there was no information as to the question being raised in St. John last week and in several conferences with the committee of the board suggested various things which they believed to be required for the good of the port and for the Canadian Pacific railway.

They asked that the C. P. R. be allowed berths 2, 3 and 6, with No. 1 and 5 being reserved for the other traffic as No. 15. They required that the city keep all craft clear of the fairway approaching these wharves, and that the potato sheds on the so-called C. P. R. wharves be made light and in fit condition for the winter. They also asked that all the berths at West St. John be soundered for depths, and a report of such soundering be forwarded to Captain Watson in Montreal; that no craft be placed on the angle facing berths 6 and 7, in order that same may be kept clear at all times. Also that all harbor tolls, wharfees, top wharfees and water charges to be equivalent to the amount as charged by the port of Halifax.

"Their request was so far as the government is concerned, include the extension of Negretown breakwater 700 feet towards Partridge Island, which would have opening between the island and the end of the breakwater, when extended, of 500 to 600 feet, a breakwater to be built from Partridge Island, extending north 82 degrees east from Partridge Island light, about 2000 feet in length, a sea wall in the shape of a breakwater to be built about half a mile north of Partridge Island, and running into the sea 4200 feet, leaving an opening between the shore and the breakwater. The latter is not urgent but recommended as for the best development of the port."

The American Rock to be taken out and the channel widened between the jetty and the inlet to be constructed, or the inshore bulkhead crib bid, and the 400 feet neutral strip to be extended so that the railway can construct its tracks on its property farther inshore.

What Thin Folks Should Do To Gain Weight

PHYSICIANS' ADVICE FOR THIN, UNDEVELOPED MEN AND WOMEN

"Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture and 'rub-on' creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of strength or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strengthening, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peculiar preparation, which is used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient."

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. Leading druggists supply Sargol, and say there is a large demand for it. Where the nearest is not obtainable, splendid results as nerve-tonic and vitality, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

new wharves Nos. 15, 16 and 17, to have the harbor board figures out a return in the angle of 14 and 15 to form a breakwater for any steamer lying at No. 1 berth, and the angle of No. 1 straightened out. No reclamation of land to be undertaken below the Atlantic Sugar Refineries premises. Passenger docks to be provided with up-to-date immigration sheds.

After considering these recommendations the report went on, the council forwarded an earnest request to the government that the wharves and sheds be completed on Nos. 15, 16 and 17, that the filling in behind these wharves be also completed; that the breakwater be extended to the island; that some filling in under a plan approved by the engineers be adopted for the angle between the C. P. R. and No. 1 wharf, and that the reclamation of land on the west side of the harbor, which ever appears to be the most desirable by the department, be immediately started in order that the Canadian Pacific railway may create the additional wharves that appear to be so absolutely necessary.

The chairman said that there was no information as to the question being raised in St. John last week and in several conferences with the committee of the board suggested various things which they believed to be required for the good of the port and for the Canadian Pacific railway.

W. F. Burditt then gave an interesting report of his visit as delegate from St. John to the town planning conference at Toronto. After stating that it was the sixth annual conference and that 74 cities and towns were represented, Mr. Burditt described town planning as good sense and foresight applied to the building of cities, such as a wise man applies to the building of a house. The purpose is to make the city, convenient for work-economical for business, healthful for inhabitants, pleasant to live in and conducive to productivity, efficiency, health and happiness. It is not, he insisted, the mere laying out of a piece of suburban property so as to provide the largest possible number of building lots on a given area; but designed to ensure the greatest good to the greatest number. In other words, it is concerned with the welfare of the community as a whole, its health, its wealth, its safety, its convenience, its education, its righteousness, its pleasure and happiness. City planning points the way to do things, that if done wrongly cannot be righted except at great expense.

One of the chief problems relates to trade or communication within the city and with the outside world. Efficiency and convenience are secured by a carefully devised system of main arteries or traffic thoroughfares, connecting along lines of least resistance, centres of commerce, with centres of industry, and both in turn with outlets by rail and water. Similar main arteries are provided for distribution of the people from these centres to the outlying residential districts.

The basic principles of water front development—was a subject of special interest to water front cities like St. John. Mr. Gougeon's paper had particular reference to the scheme prepared under direction of the Toronto Board of Harbour Commissioners for that city. It is a very comprehensive scheme, in which the improvement of the harbor and extension of docking facilities is only an incidental feature. A fact that will be of interest in St. John is that it is proposed to reclaim some 600 acres of land for industrial purposes, from a marsh or swamp area, at the mouth of the Don.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JUNE 2, 1914

WHY THIS APATHY?

All the members of the board of trade were not in the suburban districts last evening. The fact that quite a number of them may be occupying their country residences for the summer does not account for the other fact that only fifteen members of the board attended a meeting at which matters of the very greatest importance to the future welfare of St. John were up for discussion.

The citizens are indulging in the hope that the members of the city council will not get into the habit of wasting valuable time in discussions which are not edifying or likely to enhance the reputation of the council as a deliberative body.

How would it do for the city council to nominate a standing committee on investigation, as a sort of adjunct to the various departments, and keep it busy all the time? This would enable the commissioners to devote their attention to other matters.

MR. ARMSTRONG VINDICATED In a letter to the press yesterday, Mr. R. E. Armstrong, secretary of the board of trade, urged that the citizens at large support the action of the city council.

To avoid having this book hurried into a corner of the room by the suspicious reader, I will assert in time that this is not a newspaper story. You will see, editor, no prodigy "cut" reporter just off the farm, no scoop, no story—no story. But if you will concede me the setting of the first scene in the reporter's room of the Morning Beacon, I will repay the favor by keeping strictly my promises set forth above. There I did my work at the end of a small space for me at the end of a long table piled high with exchanges, Congressional Records, and old files. Thus it is that I wrote whatever the city whispered or roared or chuckled to me on my diligent wanderings about my streets. My income was not regular. One day Tripp came in and leaned on my table. Tripp was something in the mechanical department—I think he had something to do with the pictures, he smelled like a photographer's supplies, and his hands were always stained and cut up with acids. He was about twenty-five and looked forty. Half of his face was covered with short, curly red whiskers that looked like a dormant with the "wee-wee" left off. He was pale and unhealthy and miserable and fawning, and an astiduous borrower of sums ranging from twenty-five cents to a dollar. One dollar was his limit. He knew the extent of his credit, as well as the Chemical National Bank knows the amount of H. O. that collateral will show on analysis. When he sat on my table he held one hand with the other to keep both from shaking. Whiskey. He had a spurious air, lightness and bravado about him that deceived no one, but was useful in his borrowing because it was so pitifully and perceptibly assumed. "This day I had coaxed from the cashier five shining silver dollars as a gambling advance on a story that the Sunday editor had reluctantly accepted. So if I was not feeling at peace with the world, at least an armistice had been declared; and I was beginning with ardor to write a description of the Brooklyn Bridge by moonlight. "Well, Tripp," said I, looking up at him rather impatiently, "how goes it?" He was looking today more miserable, more chinging and haggard and down-trodden than I had ever seen him. He was at that stage of misery where he drew your pity so fully that you longed to kick him. "Have you got a dollar?" asked Tripp, with his most fawning look and his dog-mere cringing and haggard and down-trodden eyes that blinked in the narrow space between his high-growing matted hair and his low-growing matted hair. "I have," said I; and again I said, "I have," more loudly and inobsequiously, and four besides. And I had had work corkerscrewing them out of old AT-monies might have stood. But he looked the master of nothing. His faded coat was buttoned high, as if it sought to be charitable to deficiencies of tie and linen. I thought of a Scotch terrier at the height of his shifty eyes in the glade between his tangled hair and beard. For one ignoble moment I felt ashamed of having been introduced as his friend in the presence of so much beauty in distress. But evidently Tripp meant to conduct the ceremonies, whatever they might be. I thought I detected in his actions and pose an intention of foisting the situation upon me as material for a newspaper story, in a lingering hope of extracting from me his whisky dollar. "My friend (I shuddered), Mr. Chalmers," said Tripp, "will tell you, Miss Lowery, the same that I did. He's a reporter, and he can hand out the talk better than I can. That's why I brought him with me." (O Tripp, wasn't it the silver-dollar orator you wanted?) "He's wise to a lot of things, and he'll tell you now what's best to do. I stood on one foot as it were, as I sat in my rickety chair. "Why—er—Miss Lowery," I began, secretly enraged at Tripp's awkward opening, "I am at your service, of course, but—er—as I haven't been apprised of the circumstances of the case, I—er—" "Oh," said Miss Lowery, beaming for a moment, "it ain't as bad as that—there ain't any circumstances. It's the first time I've ever been in New York except one when I was five years old, and I had no idea it was such a big town. And I met Mr.—Mr. Snip on the street and asked him about a friend of mine, and he brought me here and asked me to wait."

"I advise you, Miss Lowery," said Tripp, "to tell Mr. Chalmers all. He's a friend of mine" (I was getting used to it by this time), "and he'll give you the right tip." "Why, certainly," said Miss Ada, chewing a gum-drop toward me. "There ain't anything to tell except that—well, everything's fixed for me to marry Hiram Dodd next Thursday evening. He has got two hundred acres of land with a lot of shore-front, and one of the best truck-farms on the island. But this morning I had my horse saddled up, and I rode over to the station. I told 'em at home I was going to spend the day with Susie Adams. It was a story, I guess, but I don't care. And I came to New York on the train and I met Mr.—Mr. Snip on the street and asked him if he knew where I could find G.—G." "Now, Miss Lowery," broke in Tripp, loudly and with much bad taste, I thought, as she hesitated with her word, "you like this young man, don't you?" "But," went on Miss Lowery, "last night I got to thinking about G.—George and I— "Down went the bright gold head upon her dimpled, clasped hands on the table. Such a beautiful April storm. Unrestrainedly she sobbed. I wished I could have comforted her. But I was not a nurse, and yet I was sorry, too. By-and-by the shower passed. She straightened up, brave and half-smiling. She would have made a splendid wife, for crying only made her eyes more blue and tender. She took a gum drop and began her story. "I guess I'm a terrible haysed," she said, between little gasps and sighs, "but I can't help it. G.—George Brown and I were sweethearts since he was eight and I was five. When he was nineteen—that was four years ago—he left Greenburg and went to the city. He said that he was going to be a policeman or a railroad president or something. And then he was coming back for me. But I never heard from him any more. And I— I—liked him. "Another flow of tears seemed imminent, but Tripp hurried himself into the crevice and dammed it. Confound him, I could see his game. He was trying to make a story of it for his sordid ends and profit. "Go on, Mr. Chalmers," said he, "and tell the lady what's the proper career. That's what I told her—youd had better straighten up." "I coughed and tried to feel less wretched toward Tripp. I saw my duty. Can't you see," he said, "what a rattling fine story it would make? You know, and describe the girl, and put out of stuff in it about true love and sailing in a few stickfuls of funny business—joshing the Long Islanders about being green, and, well—you know how to do it. You ought to get fifteen dollars out of it, anyhow. And it'll cost you only about four dollars. You'll make a clear profit of eleven." "How will it cost me four dollars?" I asked, suspiciously. "One dollar to Mrs. McGinnis," Tripp answered, promptly, "and two dollars to pay the girl's fare back home." "And the fourth dimension?" I inquired, making a rapid mental calculation. "One dollar to me," said Tripp. "For whisky. Are you on?" "I smiled enigmatically and spread my elbows as if to begin writing again. But this grin, abject, specious, subservient, I could see his game. He was trying to shake me off. His forehead suddenly became shiniingly moist. "Don't you see," he said, with a sort of desperate calmness, "that this girl has got to be sent home today—not to-night nor to-morrow, but today? I can't do anything for her. You know, I'm the secretary of the Down-and-Out Club. I thought you could make a newspaper story out of it and win out a piece of money on general results. But, anyhow, don't you see that she's got to get back home before night?" "And then," I began to feel that dull, leaden soul-depressing sensation known as the sense of duty. Why should that sense fall upon one as a weight and a burden? I knew that I was doomed that day to give up the bulk of my store of hard-earned coin to the relief of this Ada Lowery. But I swore to myself that Tripp's whisky dollar would not be forthcoming. He might play the knight-errant at my expense, but he would indulge in no wasteful afterward, commencing my weakness and gullibility. In a kind of chilly anger I put on my coat and hat. "Tripp, submissive, cringing, vainly endeavoring to please, conducted me via the street-cars to the human pawnshop of Mother McGinnis. I paid the fares. It seemed that the collocation-scented Don Quixote and the smallest-minted coin were strangers. "Tripp pulled the bell at the door of the mouldy, red-brick boarding-house. At its faint tinkle he pealed, and crunched as a rabbit makes ready to spring away at the sound of a hunting-dog. I guessed what a life he had led, terror-haunted by the coming footstep of landladies. "Give me one of the dollar—quik," he said. The door opened six inches. Mother McGinnis stood there with white eyes. They were white, I say—and a yellow face, holding together at her throat with one hand a dingy pink flannel dressing. Tripp thrust the dollar through the space without a word, and it bought us entry. "She's in the parlor," said the McGinnis, turning the back of her sack upon us. In the dim parlor a girl sat at the cracked marble center-table weeping comfortably and eating gum-drops. She was a flawless beauty. Crying had only made her brilliant eyes brighter. When she crunched a gum-drop you thought only of the poetry of motion and envied the senseless confection. Ever at the age of five minutes must have been a ringer for Miss Ada Lowery at nineteen or twenty. I was introduced, and a gum-drop suffered neglect while she conveyed to me a naive interest, such as a puppy dog (a prize winner) might bestow upon a crawling beetle or a frog. Tripp took his stand by the table, with the fingers of one hand spread upon it as an attorney or a master of cere-

Players We Know

Although it was reported last week that Jack Dedrich, of N. B. and Maine fame, had been removed from the Lynn pitching staff and signed with Pittsburg, it would appear that he is still with Lynn and very likely to stick there.

Dedrich was put on the firing line in a game against Lawrence that went eleven innings and pitched his team to a three to two victory. He was like the proverbial cucumber all through the piece. He was touched six times but he kept scattered and only one of the opposing batters was given a free ride to first. Seven of the Lawrence's left for a three to two victory. Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely damage the whole system when entering it through the mucous membrane, books should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do to the good part is impossible to estimate.

Tripp, I argued gently and philosophically with Miss Lowery, delicately convincing her of the importance of returning home at once. And I impressed upon her the truth that it would not be absolutely necessary to her future happiness that she mention to Hi the wonders or the fact of her visit to the city that had swallowed up the unlucky George.

THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN N. B., TUESDAY, JUNE 2, 1914

BRIDES OF THE EARLY DAYS OF JUNE

A wedding of more than ordinary interest took place this afternoon in St. John's (Stone) church, when Miss Marion deBlois Millidge, graduate nurse of this city, became the bride of Dr. Frederick Thomas Dunlop, pathologist at the General Public Hospital. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Kuhring, assisted by Rev. J. W. Millidge, uncle of the bride, in the presence of many friends.

The bride who was given away by her father, Lewis de Blois Millidge, looked very charming in a wedding gown of white corded silk with veil and Juliet cap, trimmed with lilies of the valley and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Dorothy Fraser, of Chatham, N. B., cousin of the bride, who was gowned in yellow shadow lace with maize tulle and wore a black hat, trimmed with maize flowers and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. John Dunlop, brother of the groom was best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of the bride, 57 Cranston avenue, where a dainty wedding supper was served. Doctor and Mrs. Dunlop will leave on the Pacific express this evening on a honeymoon trip to Canadian cities and on their return will reside at 133 Waterloo street.

A large array of pretty presents testified to the popularity of the bride and groom. Among the most conspicuous was a silver tea service from the nursing staff of the General Public Hospital, with whom both Doctor Dunlop and Mrs. Dunlop were particularly popular.

Wilson-Leonard

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. James' church, Broad street, at half past four o'clock this afternoon when Miss Abbie Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Leonard, 130 St. James street, was united in marriage to LeBaron R. Wilson of Eastport, Maine. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. A. Cody in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. Miss Edna O. Leonard, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and the bridegroom was accompanied by Harry S. Leonard, also a cousin of the bride.

The bride was dressed in a traveling suit of blue broadcloth with blue and tan hat and looked very charming carrying a basket of white bride's roses. She was given away by her father. The bridesmaid wore a very becoming dress of yellow satin with pearl and shadow lace trimmings and wore a purple hat trimmed with purple plumes.

Mrs. Leonard, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue broadcloth suit with white ostrich plumes.

The ushers were Dr. John G. Leonard, cousin of the bride and John A. Ritchie. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Wilson, mother of the groom and Miss Princess Wilson, his sister, both of Leonardville, C. H. Wilson, his brother and Mrs. Wilson of Eastport, and Miss Annie Keough of Bonny River.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will leave on the Montreal train for a short honeymoon trip to upper Canadian cities. They will reside at Leonardville for the summer. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents testifying to her popularity among her acquaintances.

The banns of marriage of Henry F. Butler, of New York, and Miss Josephine Lynch of Fredericton, were published in St. Dunstan's on last Sunday. The wedding will take place on June 17.

TO UNITE CHURCHES FOR JULY AND AUGUST

St. John's and St. Paul's Putting Plan Into Operation For Vacation Period

Letters have been issued by the rectors of St. John's (Stone) and St. Paul's (valley) churches to the people of each parish, announcing that the two churches have planned to unite during July and August. This plan of uniting for two months in the summer has long been talked of and is now to be tested.

During July, Rev. G. A. Kuhring, rector of Stone church, will conduct morning service in his own church and evening service in the Valley and the same plan will be followed by Rev. E. B. Hooper during August, when the morning service will be held in the Valley church. The choirs of the two churches will also unite and by this plan the rector of each church will be present at a month's holidays as also will the organist of each church. The plan will be carried out for the sick of both parishes and will attend all baptisms, marriages and funerals.

GENERAL OBSERVANCE OF KING'S BIRTHDAY

A Change Has Occurred Since Yesterday and Practically All Will Close Shops

The Weather Man Says it is Going to Be Fine and Warm.

The king's birthday will be generally observed by the merchants of the North End.

The Times is asked to say that practically all the west end stores will be closed tomorrow, but open tonight.

There has come over the business community since yesterday a change of intention in regard to observance of the king's birthday tomorrow as a public holiday. Some had intended to keep their places of business open but today practically all the large houses have been heard from and all announced that their stores will be closed all day tomorrow. Bunches of announcements from several firms will be found elsewhere in The Times.

REVIVAL CAMPAIGN.

The meetings yesterday in the Queen's Bunk were very well attended. Last evening Doctor Burrows, preached on "The Hour is Come." That the subject was handled in a masterful manner is evidenced by the number of souls converted. Some thirty desired for themselves that "the hour had come." The solos by Miss Blenda Thompson and George E. Knight were very fine. The choir is growing and doing excellent work under the direction of Miss Thompson.

HARBOR MATTERS

A communication was received from the Board of Trade submitting the report of their harbor bureau on the conference with Captain Walsh and G. G. O'Connell with the latter's recommendation as submitted to the Board of Trade last evening. The request that harbor charges be made to correspond with those at Halifax was not received with favor, as the city wharves showed a deficit of $17,000 last year. The request was referred to the commissioner of harbors for consideration and recommendations.

The St. John Trades and Labor Council submitted several sections which they asked to have incorporated in the lease of the city lands on the west side to the Canada Nail Co. The sections are:

"The company agrees that in the erection, altering or repairing of any buildings necessary for the carrying on of the business of the company, the wages and hours set forth as current by the Department of Labor of the Dominion government will be recognized, also that any contractors or builders employed to erect, alter or repair any such buildings will be compelled by the company to recognize such conditions.

The company further agrees to pay to the employees of the industry, while in operation, wages paid in like industries in this city.

The communication was referred to the commissioner of harbors and public lands for consideration in connection with the preparation of the lease.
