NEW YORK AT FEVER HEAT OVER ELECTIONS

Much Anxiety About the Hearst Vote

Populists, Socialists, and Their Kind May Prove Stronger Than Expected—Tammany and Republicans Enter into Alliance to Down Jerome, and a Battle Royal is Looked For.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) New York, Oct. 16.—We may not have such a dull campaign after all. The Hearst person and Jerome between them are furnishing the elements for trouble. There is very great interest in the showing Hearst will make on November 7. There are even plenty to predict that he will be the next mayor of the metropolis. It is hard to see where he has the ghost of a chance. Undoubtedly McEllan will be triumphantly elected, but it is freely predicted by the wise ones that the Republican candidate, will be third on the list when the votes are counted.

Straw votes are notoriously unreliable as an indication. A number taken in the last day or two in places where large numbers of men are employed give Hearst 45 per cent of the poll. There is no doubt that there is a tremendous feeling of unrest in the community. It has been carefully fostered by Hearst's newspapers, and a very large class of men have forgotten the notorious character of the man and what he has done to the city.

There is going to be a lot of bitterness. The only outright Tammany organ in the city, the Daily News, devoted two pages today to the accusation that Hearst stole $300,000 of money contributed by the people toward a monument for the victims of the disaster to the battleship Maine in Havana harbor. It is headed: "Hearst, where is that Maine monument money?"

It is a fact that Hearst's paper started a fund for a Maine monument, and a great deal of money was contributed. No monument was built, and no one seems to know who became the money.

Jerome Fighting Hard. Jerome is an active agent for all sorts of trouble. Turned down by all the parties, he is preparing a "whirlwind campaign" such as swept him and Seth Low into office four years ago. No one knows just what the outcome may be, but it is very hard to see how he can possibly overcome the massive force of Tammany, all by himself. There is no doubt, however, that there is a desperate feeling throughout the people of New York that Jerome is the one independent man in a responsible office. If a different ballot system prevailed he might even win, or give James O'Rourke a hard run. Some of the leading newspapers have rallied to his support. The Sun led off in a remarkable article in which all the party bosses got stiff necks in the face, including Boss Murphy of Tammany.

JAPANESE RESCRIPT ON THE PEACE TREATY

Declares They Got All They Went to War For—Cautions People About Being Vainglorious and Advises Them to Seek the Arts of Peace—Attributes Their Great Success to Self-sacrifice of All Classes.

Tokyo, Oct. 16, 5 p. m.—The official translation of the imperial rescript announcing the conclusion of peace is as follows: "We have always deemed it a fundamental principle of our international policy to maintain peace in the east and thus secure the security of our empire, and the promotion of the high object has therefore been our constant aim; but last year for reasons dictated by the necessity of self-preservation, we, unfortunately, were forced into hostilities with Russia. "Since the war began our army and navy have made adequate provisions for home defense, and military preparations within the empire itself and have withstood hardships of all kinds during the campaign abroad, and thus have achieved a glorious success. Our civil officials in concert with our diet, have diligently performed their duties in furtherance of our will. All measures for the prosecution of the war and for the administration of domestic and foreign affairs have been properly taken, as the exigencies of the situation demanded. Our people, frugal and prudent, have cheerfully borne the heavy burden of national expenditure and have generously contributed to the war fund, thus assisting, as with one will, in advancing the prestige and maintaining the dignity of the state. "The result is due in a large measure to the benign spirit of our ancestors, as well as to devotion to duty of our civil and military officials and the self-denying patriotism of all our people. "After twenty months of war, the position of the empire has been strengthened and the interests of the country advanced and inasmuch as we have never wavered in our desire for the maintenance of peace, it is contrary to our will that hostilities should be projected and our people should necessarily be subjected to the horrors of war. "When the president of the United

HUMAN BODY FOUND IN OTTAWA AQUEDUCT

Believed to be Albert Gagnon Who Disappeared October Eight

Solicitor General Going to England to Argue Appeal in Alien Labor Case—Grand Trunk to Build Hotel and New Depot.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—(Special)—Solicitor-General Lemieux will leave on the 24th inst. for England where he goes to appear before the judicial committee of the imperial privy council in behalf of the dominion in the alien labor case. Justice Anglin gave judgment in Toronto that Canada could not deport aliens under the alien labor act. The dominion held otherwise and appealed to the privy council against the decision.

The post office and labor departments will present addresses to Sir William Mulock at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the chamber of the house of commons. It is understood that the Grand Trunk will build a hotel as well as a new depot in Ottawa.

A badly disfigured body of a man was found floating a few inches below the surface of the water in the city aqueduct this morning by two pumping station employes. The face and hands were beyond recognition, and the body was in a bad state of decay.

It is believed to be that of Albert Gagnon who disappeared October 8 from his home on Arthur street. A vigorous search for the missing man has been steadily prosecuted since his disappearance and the aqueduct was thoroughly dragged Saturday but with no success. Gagnon was an employe of the Lauriatide Mica Company and was married a year ago last June. He leaves a widow and infant boy.

JAMES H. HYDE TO FACE THE MUSIC

Has Returned to New York and Will Testify at Insurance Inquiry.

New York, Oct. 16.—James H. Hyde returned to New York city tonight prepared to testify fully before the insurance investigating committee whenever he can be called upon to do so. There is now a perfect understanding between the committee and Hyde, and no formal subpoena will be served upon the Equitable's former vice-president. It was also learned today on good authority that William H. McIntyre, the former fourth vice-president of the Equitable, will return as soon as his testimony is needed by the committee.

TERRIBLE TALE OF DEATH AND STARVATION AT SEA

Six Sailors, Crazy by Sufferings, Jump Overboard

Only Two Survivors of Shipwrecked New Haven Vessel to Relate Horrible Story—One by One the Deranged Men Flung Themselves from Raft After Days Without Food or Water.

Boston, Oct. 16.—A typical North Atlantic shipwreck tale in which eight seamen suffered so fearfully from exposure, hunger and thirst, that six of them either died outright, were washed away or crazed by their awful experience, hurled themselves into the sea, was brought out today by the two survivors of the well-known coasting schooner Vannam and King, of New Haven, which was beaten to pieces by a gale off the South Carolina coast on October 6th.

The two men who lived through the five days' and were rescued by the schooner Stullman F. Kelly, are William Thomas and William G. Warner, both about 20 years old, six feet three inches tall, who hail from Antigua, British West Indies.

The six who one by one succumbed, were: Captain William A. Maxwell, of New Jersey; a Chase, name unknown; Engineer, a German, name unknown; Colored steward, name unknown; William Grizzell and Alfred Arthur, both of Jamaica.

The Vannam and King, which has been plied up and down the coast since 1886, left Charleston, (S. C.), for New York on October 3rd with a cargo of hard pine. Two days later she ran into a heavy gale and after wallowing about in the heavy seas for several hours, sprang a leak. The pumps were started, but when a short time the engine room was flooded and the pumps choked.

At 8 o'clock on Friday with her hold nearly full of water, the little schooner was hove down on her beam ends and the crew clambered up on the weather side and lashed themselves to the bulwarks. There they remained, soaked to the skin by every sea that broke over them all day Friday, constantly on the watch for some passing vessel. That night the storm increased in fury and one great wave drenched aboard and snapped both legs of Seaman Arthur and sweeping Seaman Grizzell into the sea.

"Arthur's companions could do nothing to ease his sufferings, but when on Saturday the schooner turned completely over, they managed to cut his lashings and drag him on to a piece of the afterdeck. It was several hours before they were all huddled together on their little raft. That night Arthur died in the arms of Captain Maxwell, and to relieve the overloaded raft his body was quietly dropped into the sea.

Sunday brought a ray of hope when a craft was sighted but the gloom shut in again as she passed by without heeding the little group of arm-waving seamen. That night, however, the weather subsided and a little rain fell, which was eagerly caught in the tarpaulin and brought a slight relief. It was only temporary and not long after Mate Chase's mind gave way entirely, and the raft was again lightened when he threw himself into the sea.

Captain the Next Victim. The next victim of the terrific strain was Captain Maxwell, who on Monday forenoon became violently insane and followed his mate's example of self-destruction as a relief to his sufferings.

The spectacle of two men voluntarily throwing themselves into the sea proved too much for the German engineer, and a few hours after Captain Maxwell's death the raft was lightened for the fourth time when the crazed seaman jumped into the waves.

The last victim was the colored steward, who expired on the raft late Monday night and whose body was also dropped overboard by the two remaining seamen.

Relief came 12 hours later when the schooner Stillman F. Kelly, bound up the coast from Cape Cod, (Ct.), to this port, sighted the little raft and hove to alongside. Both Thomas and Warner had been taken off in slings and for two days were unable to move.

The rescue took place off Cape Lookout in lat. 33.10 and lon. 76.30. The Kelley arrived there this afternoon but the seamen were still too exhausted to land. Each of them lost 30 or 40 pounds in weight during their five days' exposure.

Belonged to New Haven. The schooner Vannam and King, reported lost off Cape Hatteras, was owned principally by New Haven men and was captained by William H. King, the local agent for the vessel, said tonight that the schooner left Charleston (S. C.) about six days ago for New York with a cargo of lumber and that was the last he heard of her. She was engaged solely in the lumber trade between those two ports, having had that run for many years.

The Vannam and King was blown out to sea several years ago and was reported lost after she had been abandoned, but later was picked up by a coast steamer and repaired. The ill-fated boat carried seven men aside from Captain Maxwell. She was built in the Fair Haven shipyard in 1886. Her gross tonnage registered 735 tons and her net tonnage 628. Her length was 100 feet.

FATAL RUNAWAY ACCIDENT AT DIGBY

Percy McNeill Thrown from a Road Cart and Instantly Killed.

Digby, N. S., Oct. 16.—(Special)—One of the saddest accidents that ever occurred in this town took place about 5 p. m. today, when Percy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McNeill, was thrown from a road cart, while his cow was running away on Warwick street near Town Hill. He was killed almost instantly, death being caused by a fracture of the skull. Dr. Morse was immediately summoned and arrived within five minutes, but life could not be restored.

An inquest was held before Coroner Daily tonight with O. S. Dunbar, foreman, while his verdict was returned in accordance with the facts. The deceased was eighteen years of age, a member of the Methodist Sunday school and a regular attendant at church. He was for a time clerk in the Digby post office but left that position to attend Digby academy. His parents and brothers and sisters are grief-stricken tonight and in fact a gloom has been cast over the entire town.

SIR HENRY IRVING TO BE BURIED IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY

London, Oct. 16.—The Dean of Westminster, Very Rev. Joseph Armitage Robinson, after receiving the request, has agreed to a request signed by leading members of the dramatic profession and other persons of distinction, he had consented to the interment of the body of Sir Henry Irving in Westminster Abbey.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts, who for many years had been a friend of Sir Henry, by will bequeathed to the dean, the sum of £10,000 to be offered to place her house in Tratten street, Piccadilly, at the disposal of the Irving family on the day of the funeral. Confidences continue to come from all parts of the world. The latest to be received today were from the Prince and Princess of Wales and from the directors of the Imperial Theatre at St. Petersburg.

The leading actors and managers at a meeting here this afternoon decided to follow the coffin on foot. The nature of the memorial to Sir Henry will be the subject of another meeting.

TWO FIRES AT AMHERST YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Barn Destroyed and Soon After a House Shared the Same Fate—Firemen Run Down a Minister in the Excitement.

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 16.—(Special)—Two fires in quick succession occurred here this afternoon. A barn containing a quantity of hay and other things belonging to Geo. Simpson on Spring street, was completely destroyed. The firemen had hardly reached the station when they were again called to the Highlands by the burning of Heber Johnston's house, which with the contents were completely destroyed. A heavy wind was prevailing but fortunately both buildings were isolated.

Johnston is a hard-working colored man, who had recently built his house, and the loss to him is serious. Both fires were the result of careless boys. While on the way to the fire one of the teams ran into a carriage of Rev. D. A. Steele, throwing him out, the horse trampling upon his leg. Fortunately no bones were broken but his leg was considerably bruised.

AMHERST HAD THIRD FIRE AT MIDNIGHT

Barn Belonging to C. R. Casey Destroyed with Contents—Thought to be Work of Firebug or Tramp.

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 16.—(Special)—Following the two fires of yesterday afternoon the firemen were called out to West Highland at midnight. This time a barn belonging to Charles R. Casey was found to be on fire and had so far advanced that nothing could be saved. The barn contained 25 tons of English hay, two valuable horses and a quantity of sleds and harness. This is supposed to be the work of a firebug or a tramp. There was only $100 insurance on barn.

MULOCK'S FAREWELL TO HIS COLLEAGUES

POLITICAL SLATE FROM WOODSTOCK

The Press (Con.), Predicts a Whole Lot of Political Changes, Local and Federal.

Woodstock, Oct. 16.—(Special)—The Press (Con.), prints a long political forecast of which the following is part: "Frank B. Carvell, M. P., will not again be a candidate for re-election to the Dominion parliament. It is known that at the time John L. Carleton was appointed County Court Judge for Charlotte, Carleton, Victoria and Madawaska, Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave Mr. Carvell his personal promise that that gentleman could have the first vacancy on the N. B. Supreme Court bench. Until recently the position was only worth $4,000 a year, and Mr. Carvell was not any too keen to accept the job at that salary, as he had an extensive law practice and his chances for an Ottawa cabinet position were bright. The scene has changed however. Under the act passed last session, the salary has been increased to $8,000, which is as good as a cabinet position; the salary is for life and entails no risk such as a cabinet position does, where a constituency is liable to go back on a man at any time and leave him out in the cold.

"Mr. Carvell will retire from politics and go on the bench. In two years Chief Justice Luck will have reached the age at which he will be superannuated with full pay. Judge Barkley is the favorite for chief justice and will be given the position. These changes will leave a vacancy and as Liberal lawyers of eminence are none too plenty in the province the member for Carleton will have little difficulty in securing the plan. In this connection Hon. Mr. Emmerson will no doubt feel that in selecting Mr. Carvell he will perform an act of self-preservation.

"Hon. W. P. Jones would then be in line for the nomination for federal member from Carleton. He does not want the honor for several reasons. In the first place he wishes to retain his present law practice which he could not do if he were a representative at Ottawa. The principal reason, however, is that he expects a shuffle in the local cabinet, which will be to his political advantage. Premier Tweedie will retire with the promise of a county court judgeship or the lieutenant-governorship of the province. Hon. Mr. LaBillois has succeeded in getting the promise for the senatorship that Mr. LaBillois held in his pocket, after it was not only satisfied Mr. LaBillois, but the Acadian people as well, although not entirely satisfactory to Messrs. LeBlanc, Cosigan, Gaudet and two score of other applicants. After receiving Mr. Pugsley will become premier and take one of the minor portfolios in the local cabinet; Hon. Mr. Jones will assume the portfolio of attorney general or commissioner of public works; a deal will be made in Madawaska county and Pius Michael will enter the cabinet as a representative of the French people in succession to Hon. Mr. LaBillois. The reorganized local cabinet will call on the elections in fall of 1906.

"Within a few days Dr. W. N. Hand has consented to go on a government ticket in Carleton, which will be made up of Solicitor General Jones, Dr. Hand and Deputy Sheriff Foster, or Andrew McCain. Mr. Foster will be given the preference over McCain. Dr. Hand thinks he will poll such a large vote that he can step in as the logical successor to Mr. Carvell in the federal arena."

Will Miss Him. "If our friend were not here I might say many things of him which I prefer not to mention in his presence. I would have more pleasure to say in his absence. I would tell how much for my part I shall miss him. We have been associated from the time I came into politics 23 years ago. Our associations became more intimate with years. I have relied upon his advice upon his work, upon his energy and upon his absolute loyalty to myself, to our party and to the country. (Hear, hear.)

"It gives me some satisfaction that, at all events, his services will be made available to the country but that he will be able to serve it in another capacity, not so absorbing as his political life, but nevertheless one in which he will be able to give Canada in another form the benefit of his great ability.

"Of his success in his new capacity I and those that know him have no doubt whatever. Sir William Mulock will make a success of whatever he undertakes because he will put all his soul and all his energies into his work. He will not spare his efforts and the only thing I would recommend to him if he will allow me to make a recommendation is to spare himself and not to devote himself with his customary intense vigor to his duties, so that he may gain the needed improvement in his health.

"Therefore, gentlemen, whilst it is a great sacrifice to myself and a great sacrifice to all of us, I have been obliged to request to allow Sir William to go and I have taken this opportunity of asking a few of his many friends to meet at his board just to testify to him in this way, imperfect way our esteem, admiration, affection and friendship for him. In this I am sure I have met the wishes of all his friends.

NORWAY WANTS PRINCE CHARLES OF DENMARK FOR KING

Republican Minority in Storting Making Desperate Efforts for Plebiscite About Form of Government.

Christiania, Norway, Oct. 16.—King Oscar's official refusal of the offer of the Norwegian throne for a prince of the House of Bernadotte is expected tomorrow, when the government will immediately ask the storting to authorize an invitation to Prince Charles of Denmark to become King. It is said that the reply will be favorable and that immediately on its receipt the Storting will proceed to its election.

The Republicans are making desperate efforts to secure a plebiscite. Tonight they publish a manifesto protesting against the election of a king, and favoring a republican form of government. It is understood that the Republicans now control thirty votes in the storting and it is feared that Prince Charles will decline if the Republican minority is sufficiently strong to be worthy of consideration.

NORWAY AND SWEDEN OFFICIALLY SEPARATED

Judge Sedgewick Very Ill. Ottawa, Oct. 16.—The supreme court was to have met this morning, but owing to the illness of Judge Sedgewick and the absence of Judge Girouard, there was no quorum. The sitting was put over until tomorrow. Judge Sedgewick's condition is regarded as extremely critical.

Ill-Health Forces Him to Quit

Declares He is in Perfect Accord With Cabinet in All Respects, and the Saddest Moment of His Manhood is Leaving Public Life—Laurier's Glowing Tribute to His Lieutenant.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—(Special)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave a farewell dinner to Sir William Mulock in the Rideau Club tonight. Those present were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, with Sir William on his right and Mr. Aylesworth on his left, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Hon. R. W. Scott, Hon. Clifford Sifton, Hon. Charles Hyman, Senator Frost, Senator Edwards, Hon. N. A. Belcourt, M. P., Solicitor General Lemieux, R. Stewart, M. P., W. L. MacKenzie King, Dr. Coulter, E. H. Lashinger, W. H. Dickson and W. Mackenzie.

The toast of the King having been loyally honored, Sir Wilfrid rose and said: "I desire to give you one other toast and it is that of our old friend the late postmaster-general and the new chief justice of the exchequer division of the high court of Ontario. It is to me and the colleagues of Sir William Mulock a very sad and very real sacrifice indeed to have to part with him.

"Let me tell you a secret. This is a matter which has been known between Sir William and myself for at least four years. When Sir William Mulock came back from Australia in the year 1901 his health was so much impaired that he begged me to relieve him from the official duties which he had discharged so successfully for many years in the administration. I begged him at that time not to insist upon my accepting his resignation but to continue in office and try if possible to recover his usual health. He consented to my suggestion and preserved in his work, but after a couple of years he had to inform me that he thought he could not regain his former strength and so continue in the very arduous task in which he was engaged.

"You know, my colleagues especially know, that Sir William's health was a very absorbing nature. I again begged him to defer a little longer, but now I have come to realize that he cannot ever again recover his former strength and so continue in such arduous duties. "We all know our friend, Sir William, and we all know that whatever he undertakes he does most thoroughly. We all know also how arduous are the duties connected with administration in a country like Canada. Therefore I came to the conclusion that it would not have been fair to Sir William had I asked him to remain longer in office and very reluctantly I had, at last, to give my consent to his withdrawing from the cabinet of which he has been an ornament and so useful a member."

"If our friend were not here I might say many things of him which I prefer not to mention in his presence. I would have more pleasure to say in his absence. I would tell how much for my part I shall miss him. We have been associated from the time I came into politics 23 years ago. Our associations became more intimate with years. I have relied upon his advice upon his work, upon his energy and upon his absolute loyalty to myself, to our party and to the country. (Hear, hear.)

"It gives me some satisfaction that, at all events, his services will be made available to the country but that he will be able to serve it in another capacity, not so absorbing as his political life, but nevertheless one in which he will be able to give Canada in another form the benefit of his great ability.

"Of his success in his new capacity I and those that know him have no doubt whatever. Sir William Mulock will make a success of whatever he undertakes because he will put all his soul and all his energies into his work. He will not spare his efforts and the only thing I would recommend to him if he will allow me to make a recommendation is to spare himself and not to devote himself with his customary intense vigor to his duties, so that he may gain the needed improvement in his health.

"Therefore, gentlemen, whilst it is a great sacrifice to myself and a great sacrifice to all of us, I have been obliged to request to allow Sir William to go and I have taken this opportunity of asking a few of his many friends to meet at his board just to testify to him in this way, imperfect way our esteem, admiration, affection and friendship for him. In this I am sure I have met the wishes of all his friends.

"I want Sir William Mulock in the new sphere of action upon which he enters and in which he will be a decided ornament to our country. I certainly do not esteem, our friendship, our admiration and our best wishes for his success. (Great Applause.)

Sir Wm. Mulock

Sir William, who was evidently touched, said: "You have just said that I am a jolly good fellow. I certainly do not see in that frame of mind, but in quite the reverse. I will recall the night of my entry into Ottawa to take my place as a member of the House of Commons. Today my political life has come to an end.

"I entered public life attracted by its possibilities and by the glamour that is supposed to surround it, and my imagination pictured at that time what it might be possible for one to do.

"I suppose it is the experience of every man who enters public life that it is not what he imagined it to be. (Continued on page 4, fifth column.)

Hampton and Norton Fair.

Hampton, Kings county, Oct. 13.—Central Agricultural Association No. 22 (Hampton and Norton) held its exhibition on Tuesday and Wednesday, and it might all have been made in the latest and best equipped factory under government control. Of course the judges were able to find sufficient difference to know where to place the red, blue and white cards, although to an ordinary family man it seemed as though an indiscriminate distribution, or casting of lots would have equally settled the question of gold, better.

Upon a long centre table through the hall were displayed all sorts of needlework, embroideries, lace, crochet work, silk patchwork and a variety of other mysteries and vanities alien to the masculine comprehension or composition, but sufficiently wonderful to attract and hold the attention of the hundreds of ladies and girls who lingered before their loveliness.

B., Oct. 13.—The silver anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. James Huggard, a respected couple of this place, was held at their residence on the evening of the 12th inst. About 100 guests were present. After a bountiful table had been served by the committee, various games and amusements were indulged in, which were much enjoyed by young and old.

The following are the presents received by the aged couple: A Morris chair, by Rev. R. Coleman, J. A. S. Kierstead, C. M. Gunter, George Akley, Mrs. William Yail, George N. McIntyre, C. W. Barton, James T. Pickle, D. B. Campbell, Mrs. William Burns, Mrs. Howard W. Snider, Miss Pertie Jones, Albert L. Reed, Claude S. Butter in rolls and jars was shown in quantity and so far as appearance went, it might all have been made in the latest and best equipped factory under government control. Of course the judges were able to find sufficient difference to know where to place the red, blue and white cards, although to an ordinary family man it seemed as though an indiscriminate distribution, or casting of lots would have equally settled the question of gold, better.

Inside the hall attention was largely attracted, not so much to the size of the vegetables displayed around the walls as to the variety, excellence and uniformity of the several kinds of growth on view. Not that size was a minor feature, for there were turnips, cabbage, beets, carrots, squash and pumpkins, as well as potatoes and other articles which might have claimed distinction anywhere, but the noticeable feature was the general exhibition of the art of selection shown by those who had sent in the products of their fields and gardens for public inspection and approval.

The show of fruit was not marked by any special feature, save that though of good quality there was little of it. Grain also was not shown in any marked

Altogether the agricultural fair was a great success, both as to exhibit and attendance and no doubt the society will be encouraged to continue this very pleasing feature of its operations.

EXIT IRVING

Henry Brodribb, better known to all the world as Sir Henry Irving, is dead after a life work of greater value than can fairly be credited to any other English-speaking actor.

Canadian Liberals were talking in that strain years ago, with this difference--they wanted real reciprocity, while the Boston Post, and the interests it represents, seek free access to our market but are unwilling to give us corresponding advantages.

The chief shouter for jughanded reciprocity today in Massachusetts is Mr. Henry M. Whitney, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor.

That there is a price too great to pay for industrial success is very clear from an investigation of conditions in manufacturing cities in Great Britain.

Between the ages of twenty and forty-five Dundee has three women for two men, that the married woman is often the principal, sometimes the sole, wage earner, and that the obligation both to bear and to support a family leads to the usual consequences--broken-down mothers in early life, and ill-nourished, rickety children, who grow into weak, unhealthy men and women.

CONAN DOYLE'S CAUTION Sir Conan Doyle, who is said to have received a dollar a word for some of his stories, has no intention to impart the life of the goose that provides the golden eggs.

break them. When an honest majority is found to assert itself, and to fill the jails with the bribers and the bribed of both parties, the city and the state may again hold up their heads; but not before. The recent scandals may serve to unite the decent elements of both parties and make of them an effective non-partisan organization which, like the Philadelphia reformers, will adopt the simple platform "Thou shalt not steal." Until some such uprising occurs only the petty thieves will go to jail.

THE SHOE ON THE OTHER FOOT While Canada is preparing a "scientific" tariff which will favor those who favor us and penalize those who confront us with a tariff wall we cannot scale at a profit, some of our American friends are making speeches that might have been heard here, almost word for word, fifteen or twenty years ago.

THE SENSIBLE WAY Canada does not intend to permit American fishermen to poach in her waters. At the same time, Canada does not desire to continue shooting up American fishing boats, knowing that the shooting will be ineffective unless somebody is hit, and realizing that a very ugly tragedy must some day be the result of continued target practice.

THE LATE SENATOR FULFORD The death of Senator George Taylor Fulford, which follows the shocking automobile accident of which he was a victim, will be a heavy blow to all who knew him. The senator was but fifty-three years old. He had not only carved out a great fortune for himself but was interested also in several of Canada's foremost industrial companies.

Senator Fulford's ancestors were of United Empire Loyalist stock. He was born in Brockville in 1832, and was educated there. He built up a wonderful business as a manufacturing chemist, having depots in Canada, the United States, England, France, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Brazil and the Argentine Republic.

TO CAN SARDINES AT ST. STEPHEN AND CALAIS Proposition Discussed and May Be Action By 1906 Season. Calais, Oct. 14--The question of establishing sardine factories in Calais and St. Stephen was considered at the meeting of their owners held at the Lodge recently, and a committee of five, appointed at the meeting, will report at a future date upon the feasibility of the plan. There are a large number of vessels along the St. Croix river between Calais and Jore's Point, and the fish taken in them during an ordinary season forms no small portion of the supplies received at the sardine factories in Eastport and Lubec. The prices paid usually are not high and the fish owners are fast becoming convinced that the establishment of independent factories nearer home would prove a profitable investment. It is reported that two parties in Calais are willing to put money into an enterprise of this kind, while on the St. Stephen side of the line the fish owners are enthusiastic over the proposition. There is a hopeful feeling among those connected with the season of 1906 will find two good-sized sardine plants running by the time the little herrings strike in, giving employment to a large number of hands and keeping at home many young men and women, who now find employment in the factories at Robinson, Eastport and Lubec--Bangor Commercial.

MAY BE SKELETON OF ST. JOHN MAN

Startling Find of Hunters in Old Lumber Camp on St. Croix Headwaters.

DISAPPEARANCE OF JOHN HANNON RECALLED

Recluse Who Formerly Lived in This City Was Not Seen Since 1896—Newspaper of That Year Found Near Remains in Bunk—Porcupines Had Picked the Bones.

The remains of a man were found Thursday in an old lumber camp at McCormac's dam, about 10 miles north of McAdam Junction, and there is some belief that the bones may be those of John Hannon, a former St. John man who disappeared from the vicinity of McAdam some years ago.

McCormac's dam is a driving dam about 10 miles north of here, on the North Brook, a small stream connecting the third and fifth lakes on the headwaters of the St. Croix. Three camps were built there several years ago. These are now in ruins.

Last Thursday two young men from McAdam—Harry Carr and Sam Tracy—came upon these camps when out hunting. The bunk house, they noticed, had the door boarded up on the inside with cedar log battens. This aroused their curiosity and they started to investigate. They found the table turned up against the lower bunk and on taking this down they were horrified to find a human skeleton protruding from a pile of rubbish. They then dug out the rest of the skeleton of a man.

Grey Hair, Red Beard. Patches of dark grizzled hair still adhered to the skull and a short reddish beard hung in ragged points to the chin. The teeth were good but two were missing from the right side of the lower jaw. Gray wool mittens were on the hands and the head was protected by a cloth cap of a dark blue color. Only fragments of the clothing were to be seen; the trousers were patched from knee to hip. The feet were covered by one moccasin and one overhoe. A clay pipe was found with the remains, also a fragment of a newspaper with the date of St. John, 1896, and the head was blackened and had been gnawed by the porcupines. The bunk itself looked as if these animals had made their home there for several years. No axe or weapons of any kind were found near the body.

Former St. John Man? It is thought by some that the remains are those of John Hannon, of the Vancouver road, formerly of St. John. This man formerly lived alone in a camp about two miles from McAdam, but in December, 1896, he disappeared, leaving no trace. A meal was found on the table and some meat was in a frying pan when he left never to return. Hannon, however, was an odd man and it is thought that he had lost most of his front teeth, while the man found had only two teeth missing.

Whoever it was, he must have become lost in the woods, stumbled on the camp, fastened up the door to keep out the winter wind, turned up the table against the bunk, crawled in from the door and died. Corner McKenzie will hold an investigation.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE CHOOSES A. L. DYKEMAN FOR ITS PRESIDENT

The teachers' institute of St. John and Charlotte counties closed Friday. In the morning President J. Simpson, Lord read a resolution introduced by W. Frank Hatheway to the effect that as the curriculum of the public schools was already full to repletion, and as the introduction of militarism, with its additional requirements of equipment, instructors and time, would still further crowd it, that the action of Sir Frederick Borden in pushing this movement and in urging the provincial governments to take up the matter, should be discouraged by this institute, and that a petition from the teachers of this combined institute should be presented to the Board of Education requesting it to hinder the taking of such a course.

The executive decided that the county institutes had no power to take part in a discussion of such a matter and the resolution was thrown out.

Papers were read by James Vroom on Plant Life, Miss Hester Edgcombe on Minerals, Mrs. J. M. Lawrence on Birds, and Mrs. W. Kerr and S. D. Scott on the School from the standpoint of the Parent, and remarks relative to the papers were made by Dr. G. U. Hay, Stanley Wilson, J. Simpson, Lord, Inspector Carter, Principal H. S. Bridges and Dr. Manning.

The Closing Session. The sessions of the Teachers' Institute finished yesterday afternoon. A. L. Dykeman was elected president for the ensuing year, and A. E. G. McKenzie vice-president.

Miss Eleanor Robinson gave a lesson on Hamlet, introducing the subject to the institute as she would to her own pupils. Miss Hea was elected secretary and Miss Ella Barlow and W. L. McDermid members of the executive.

The vote was moved by Mr. Vroom, seconded by Chas. A. Richardson, and carried unanimously. Rev. Mr. Allen lectured to a much larger audience in Portland Methodist church school room last evening and his address won hearty praise and congratulations.

The Scots Company Boys' Brigade intended to go to Carleton last night for drill but owing to the inclement weather the trip was postponed. A march-out as far as Rockwood Park was held and company drill practiced in Wright street.

A BARNARDO BOY IN NEW BRUNSWICK

London Journalist Sketches Waif Whom He Found Up the St. John

AN ODD PICTURE This Lad Was Farmer and Nurse -- Going to Have a Farm of His Own Some Day -- Playing a Man's Part, Thanks to Dr. Barnardo.

(By H. Whates, in London Standard.) The following sketch is the fragment of a newspaper article by a special commissioner in Canada. It was written from New Brunswick in February last, and was intended as an introduction to further investigation of the subject of child emigration to Canada--investigation which could not be pursued with sufficient thoroughness, owing to the extent of the snow on the roads. It is, however, a special and interesting interest in connection with the question of the future maintenance of Dr. Barnardo's Homes.

A short street of wooden houses, embedded up to the verandahs in hard driven snow, which was packed into blocks by the force of the wind, led to the edge of the river bank. Below this lay the frozen surface of the St. John--in the neighborhood of Woodstock, a mile, more or less, in breadth. A narrow trail ran across the ice, marked by upright branches of spruce--a deviating course for the avoidance of bad places. Away off this trail were heard the grating of a group of men cutting out great blocks of translucent ice for the summer store in the town, the standing houses covered with thick coarse rugs and the men heavily muffled up in rude skin coats. On the high ground across the river could be discerned the snow-laden roof of a tiny farm house. Following the trail across the river and up the bank, the men who were sawing out and loading up the ice, lending a hand in pushing the blocks on the sled, if only to keep myself warm, for the wind swept down the stream with biting ferocity, and to expend muscular energy was the only way to protect oneself against the physical pain of cold. Above, with a sharp cry, the snow on the ice along the guiding line of spruce, until I reached the opposite bank, and then made my way towards the farm house.

Stepney Farm Boy. A side trail, which was very little used, and would have been impassable had not the snow on the river bank been blown down, led to the farm house, about a quarter of a mile away. On approaching it, a sturdy little figure came from behind the house, through a doorway with a thick reed overcoat, a cap drawn over his eyes. Shading his eyes from the sunlight with woolen-mittened hands, he watched me as I came, and he gave me a half-smile, half-suspicious good-day.

I explained that I was a stranger, a newcomer to this country, and was anxious to carry out my way to the farm house merely for the sake of something to do. Could he give me a "warm up" by his stove? He turned and took me into the kitchen without speaking, and a woman, evidently in her bad health, came forward from an inner room, from which proceeded the peevish cry of a small child. With the laconic observation that "this man had come for a warm up," the lad went out again. A little conversation with my hostess put her at her ease, and as the child was a boy of about thirteen, and he was standing in the snow against the side of the outbuilding. "Jim" was carrying to them armfuls of coarse hay, and was assisted by two small children, a girl of eight and a boy of seven, to whom he was giving instructions in a tone of fatherly authority. Cockney accent struck me at once. Where had he come from? London. Did I know Stepney? Yes. And we talked of East London, the bye-subject of the lad's "bunchy." He was a Barnardo boy. He had no father and no mother--leastways, "not as he knowed of"; so he explained, with what I imagined was a mixed tone of shame and resentment in his voice. He remembered a woman who was not his mother, and she had taken him to Dr. Barnardo's Home when he was five. He had grown up there, and had gone to school there. He could, he said, read and write and do arithmetic; he liked work best. He had been taught to make and mend boots, to telegraph, but the farmer's wife had been ill, and he had had to nurse her and look after the children as well.

A Lad's Ambition. In fact, it seemed that he was in charge of the household--that, child as he was, he was doing a man's work there. I asked him, of course, what he would do when he grew up. It was a tactless form of question, for it was evident that he regarded himself as having already grown old, but the farmer's wife had been ill, and he had had to nurse her and look after the children as well.

He had a letter from one of the boys from an inner pocket a much bumbled letter, written and fairly well spelled, a letter which in itself was gratifying evidence of the quality of the education given in Dr. Barnardo's Homes. He spoke of the life at Stepney, and gave with something like pride, "evidently he had been comfortable and he had had to nurse her and look after the children as well."

NEW SERVICE FOR EDMUNDSTON

Arrangement Made in Conference of C. P. R. Superintendent and People of Town.

Supt. William Downie, of the C. P. R., returned on Saturday from Edmundston, where he was in consultation with Mayor Burpee and other citizens respecting a change in the train service, the present service having aroused the people's dissatisfaction. Mr. Downie said an arrangement would be reached, and he believed it would be fully satisfactory not only to the people of Edmundston, but to the residents of that section of New Brunswick as well. The improved schedule would go into effect on Wednesday, Oct. 18th, but he was not yet in a position to announce the service in detail.

Edmundston, Oct. 14--Supt. Downie, of the C. P. R., has indicated to Mayor Burpee that he will recommend a change in the train service by which an extra train would be put on to arrive in Edmundston at 6 p. m. and leave the next day at 11 a. m. The train will carry through freight only and make the run from St. Stephen to Edmundston without change. The service, it is understood, will give through connection with the Temiscouata going to River du Loup and with Connors both ways. The people of Edmundston say they will be well content with such an improved service.

"ELIJAH" PAYS FOR CRUELTY TO SON

Leviston, Me., Oct. 13--The Rev. Frank W. Sandford, of the "Elijah" of the "Kingdom" at Shiloh, after a long time, great expense, two convictions, a retrial and a disagreement, has escaped, by paying a fine of $100 and costs, amounting to $75.

Judge Emery sentenced him today, for cruelty to his son John, in obliging him to give through connection with the Temiscouata going to River du Loup and with Connors both ways. The people of Edmundston say they will be well content with such an improved service.

Four other indictments against Sandford for cruelty to other children are still on file.

BOSTON BRITISHERS TO OBSERVE TRAFALGAR DAY

Boston, Oct. 15--All the local British organizations were represented by large delegations this morning at a service in St. Matthew's church, South Boston, in commemoration of the centennial anniversary of the battle of Trafalgar, formal recognition of which will be observed here next Saturday.

Rev. Ernest N. Bullock, the rector of the church, preached an interesting historical sermon on the battle and Lord Nelson.

At the formal ceremonies next Saturday, which will be held at Tremont Temple, a large statue of Nelson will be presented to the Victorian Club, which has charge of the celebration, and there will be addresses by Ambassador Sir M. H. Mortimer Durand, Capt. Mahan, Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, R. N., and Commander Takashita, of the Japanese navy.

Henry Erns, with his wife and son, were crossing the track in a driving wagon, on their way to church, when an engine suddenly came around a curve and struck the wagon, smashing it to atoms.

Erns was instantly killed, his head being crushed in. His wife had her jaw fractured and received internal injuries, from which she died eight hours after. The boy had his collar-bone fractured, arm dislocated and skull fractured and his recovery is doubtful.

The other two men saved themselves by clinging to a canoe. Major Hodson, divisional engineer at Ratportage, has gone with grappling irons to recover the bodies.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS CLAIM AN INJUSTICE

Nova Scotia Men Given the Money Making Runs in This Province

New Train Schedule Oails for Re-arrangement, and New Brunswick Clerks Claim They Are Over Stepped.

It is said that much dissatisfaction is felt by the New Brunswick clerks in the railway postal service over the arrangements which came into force Monday consequent on the altered train service. Their mileage will, it is claimed, be curtailed and their expenses increased, a state of things which, it is urged, calls for reform in the interests of the provincial employes. Commencing this morning the peep o'day express will be put back to 7 a. m.--its original time for departure.

The postal clerks who have hitherto been running through on this train to Truro, will in future have a considerably shorter journey. One man will leave the train at Moncton and have to wait there all day, returning on the 6:05 p. m. to St. John. Others will continue only to Amherst and return on the C. P. R. with a man from the Nova Scotia service in charge. Great dissatisfaction is said also to exist among the postal employes on the Campbellton route. They are North Shore men and hitherto have been able to make the run on the maritime through to Halifax and return with, but a few hours in the Nova Scotia capital. By the new arrangement it is said they will be compelled to remain there nearly twenty-four hours with considerable expense to themselves. It is urged that a little give and take on the part of the Halifax authorities would have obviated this delay. The outgoing train from Halifax crosses the one from Campbellton within a few miles of the sister city. The new arrangement could have been made to take charge of the letters for the short run, in the New Brunswick men could have taken the return train to Truro.

It is urged that Nova Scotia has been allowed to get the whip hand in some time past, and secure the cream of the business for her own men. The men suggested is to turn the head quarters of the service as was formerly the case, and permit the men to run to Campbellton and return.

Being paid both on a mileage and a salary basis it is claimed that the New Brunswick employes should have the benefit as far as possible of the lines in their own province, and not be compelled to pay board and lodging expenses by being away from home when not absolutely necessary. It is also set forth that the new arrangement calls for the greater part of the run in New Brunswick Nova Scotia clerks will get the benefit.

DOUBLE DROWNING IN DIGBY BASIN

Digby, N. S., Oct. 12--(Special)--There was evidently a drowning accident in Digby Basin today off Rattling Beach, one of the most dangerous places on the basin, with the wind westerly and blowing hard as it was today.

Three boats left Digby at noon bound to Grandville. One of them contained David Everett and his nephew, Charles Everett. This boat was deeply loaded with brick and was some distance behind the others.

David Ellis and his son Ernest were in Townsend's orchard about 12:30 when they heard loud cries like someone overboard. They hurried to the bank. Two sailboats were in sight, one sailing towards Grandville and the other rowing and sailing toward Digby. They also noticed two parcels floating on the water. The boat going toward Digby soon turned and continued on its trip to Grandville. The men again resumed work in the orchard but continued to think about the loud cries.

The brick-laden boat nor its occupants have not since been seen, and it is thought she foundered.

Sam McGrath, of Victoria Beach, who suggested it to the men who were in the charge of the disaster, says he did not hear anybody yell or see any accident, but he simply missed the boat coming behind him and he had no doubt that it had foundered. Boats are out tonight but nothing has been discovered which will help to throw light on the sad affair. David Everett was about 35 years of age and leaves a widow, four sons and one daughter. He was considered one of the most careful boatmen on the basin. His companion was Chas. Everett, son of the late Chas. Everett, and leaves a widowed mother, he being her main support. He was single and aged 18 years.

The affair has cast a gloom over both sides of the basin and is the principal topic of conversation on our streets tonight.

UNITARIANS BARRED FROM CHURCH CONGRESS

Hon. John D. Long and Other Prominent Delegates Declared to be Not Christians.

Boston, Oct. 13--Barred because they are Unitarians from attending the coming convention of the National Confederation of Churches, which will be held next month in New York, and to which they were chosen delegates, the Rev. Edward Everett Hale, chaplain of the United States Senate, ex-Secretary of the Navy John D. Long, and the Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association, and son of President Eliot of Harvard University, are not angry nor grieved, but, as Dr. Eliot expressed it, "mildly amused."

At least, Dr. Eliot is amused, and Dr. Eliot said that when he told Dr. Hale of it, nearly a week ago, the latter was mildly amused, and as for ex-Governor Long, he states that the news seems impossible and is not worth talking about.

WILL SEEK DIVORCE FROM WIFE LIVING IN FREDERICTON

Thomas Gausby Creighton Turnbull Wants Marriage With Theodora Street Broken.

Ottawa, Oct. 13--(Special)--Thomas Gausby Creighton Turnbull, of Medicine Hat, Alberta, will apply to parliament next session for a divorce from his wife, Theodora Street, at present residing in Fredericton (N. B.).

The boys hardly remember just how it happened--the report and yell all occurred so suddenly. The lady's family members rushed in and found Harold suffering severely with blood flowing from the wounds in his nose and temple. At first it was believed recovery could be hardly possible, for it was clear the bullet had penetrated his head.

Dr. McIntyre was summoned and as soon as possible the boy was hurried to the hospital. There is a good chance for his recovery.

NORTH END BOY SHOT

Harold McKel, a Metcalf street lad, aged about 10 years, was taken to the hospital Sunday morning suffering from a bullet wound in the head.

In company with his brother he was handling a 22 calibre rifle when it was discharged. The bullet struck on the right side of the nose and lodged near the left ear.

Last night the ball had not been extracted, but the boy was in a surprisingly strong condition. He was not only conscious throughout the day but was in good spirits.

He is the son of St. Clair McKel, baker, whose residence is No. 104 Metcalf street. The bakery is near the home. About 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning Harold, with his brother Fred, aged 12, procured a light rifle and commenced an examination in the bakery.

DINES WITH LAURIER

Went Through Country from Coast to Coast and Was Greatly Impressed With Its Opportunities -- Confers With Mulock About Labor Matters

Ottawa, Oct. 13--(Special)--John Burns, M. P. in the British house of commons and a famous labor leader, in company with J. Allan Baker, a native of Canada, now representing an English constituency, arrived in the capital this morning from Toronto. Mr. Burns had a lengthy conference with Sir William Mulock, the retiring postmaster-general and minister of labor, at the Rideau Club, and it is understood the labor situation in Canada was gone over.

In the afternoon Mr. Burns visited the experimental farm and this evening he dined with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, several of the other ministers being present. Mr. Burns, since his arrival in Canada several weeks ago, has made a trip from coast to coast, and the vastness of the west has made so great an impression upon him that he will, after reaching England, issue a public statement, setting forth the opportunities which Canada offers to the worthy emigrant.

Mr. Burns and Mr. Baker will leave for Montreal in the morning, going from there to New York, where they will sail for the motherland early next week.

A NORTH SHORE LUMBER CASE. Suit for Survey Fees; In Court at Newcastle; Sent to Fredericton.

A case of considerable interest to the lumbermen of the province was tried last week at Newcastle before Judge Gregory and a jury. The suit was Parker vs. Bentley, the claim being for 8000 for survey fees on lumber.

The defendant Bentley had a contract with Everett Parker, a brother of the late Parker, for the survey of 8000 feet of lumber in the winter of 1903-4. The lumber was brought out and delivered at the Miramichi boom, but objection was made by Bentley on the ground that the surveying was done on the ground of the relationship between the two men, they being brothers, and because of alleged verbal agreement that Parker should take the mill survey as a settlement. Notwithstanding, the plaintiff made a survey, and there was made by an agent of Bentley, the defendant.

The boom company in making up their case took the plaintiff's survey but the defendant objected that he had nothing to do with the plaintiff's survey and that there was no agreement to that effect. The plaintiff then sued the defendant for the fees of his survey, amounting to $700. At the trial the plaintiff alleged a contract was made with his brother Parker as a contract and secondly as a verbal agreement that Parker should take the mill survey as a settlement. Notwithstanding, the plaintiff made a survey, and there was made by an agent of Bentley, the defendant.

The defendant, in reply, moved for a non-suit on the ground that he made no contract with the plaintiff to make a survey and that he (the defendant) was not a purchaser under the law referred to, as his contract with Parker was to get out the logs from his farm to the stump. The judge expressed the opinion that the plaintiff had not made out a case and ordered a non-suit. The defendant then moved for a non-suit on the ground that he made no contract with the plaintiff to make a survey and that he (the defendant) was not a purchaser under the law referred to, as his contract with Parker was to get out the logs from his farm to the stump.

RIVER DRIVER POND CUTS ANOTHER ONE OF AMERICAN BOOMS

Says He Went Through Van Buren Boom at St. Leonards Sunday

NO ONE THERE AT TIME TO PROTEST

Hauled Over Coming Down, But Cut on the Way Up—Could Have Done More, and Says He Will Follow a Different Course Next Year.

L. W. Pond, of Fort Fairfield, the "Togo" of the St. John river, who was mentioned in despatches as a prominent figure in the Van Buren lumber boom this year, arrived in the city Wednesday and is registered at the Victoria. When asked by a Telegraph reporter if there was anything new in connection with the river operations, he replied: "Nothing except that I cut another one of the Van Buren Company's booms on Sunday last."

Mr. Pond says that on Thursday he came down river to take up some booms on the way down St. Leonards. It was found necessary, he said, to haul two big tow boats and a horse boat over the side bank. "It occasioned me a lot of trouble," said the veteran river driver, "and I don't know why I didn't cut the whole business then and save a lot of more trouble coming back."

On returning Sunday the same difficulty was encountered. "We hauled over three booms first," continued Mr. Pond. "The third was a boom of railroad sleepers. It took four pairs of horses and twenty-four men to get over it, then we came to a sheer boom that had nothing in it and was there for nothing else but an obstruction and that one I cut."

Asked if there was anyone near by at the time to make a protest, he replied: "No, the masses were in church at that time." Mr. Pond says that no one has the slightest idea what trouble he has had with the Van Buren boom. "I could have cut them out of sleepers and let the whole lot of them go down river and been in the right tow, as by the treaty in the river, and furthermore," he added, "I will do things a mighty sight different next year, and if the courts decide against my contention I will navigate the river according to the treaty."

Mr. Pond says nothing special occasioned his visit to St. John this week.

COUNSEL ARGUE PART OF SHIP CASE

Points in Loggie vs. Montgomery and O'Leary Brought Out in the Equity Court.

Argument in the suit of Loggie vs. Montgomery and O'Leary was heard on Friday by Judge Baker in the equity court. Judge Baker presided in the case. Among those present in court during the afternoon was Lieut. Governor Snowball, who occupied a seat near the judge.

George Watt, collector of customs at Chatham, was called by Premier Tveddie to the case. Mr. Watt's evidence was that the cargo of the ship was not damaged by the fire. He contended that the cargo was not damaged by the fire. He contended that the cargo was not damaged by the fire.

When Mr. Watt had concluded his testimony Attorney-General Pugsley presented the grounds on which the plaintiff's case rested. He said the case resolved itself into two branches, the first concerning the question of the plaintiff's claim against the defendant, and the second regarding the trespass which the plaintiff alleged the defendant made in excavating on the plaintiff's property.

On the question of trespass the plaintiff's case rested on documentary title and unimpaired use for upwards of twenty years. He is the second branch, the real boundary line, or the point from which the line is to be taken, is on the southern side of the highway, which, according to the highway act, must be four feet wide unless otherwise marked out, and a four foot highway would make the defendant's excavation a trespass.

The defendant's case rested on the fact that the plaintiff's title was not unimpaired. He contended that the plaintiff's title was not unimpaired. He contended that the plaintiff's title was not unimpaired.

Mr. G. Teed, K. C., opened argument for the defendant. He claimed that the right of the land in question. The case of Ackroyd vs. Smith, 10 C. 184, lay down that the easement interest in and is appurtenant to the land for which it is originally granted, and is restricted to that which it relates, and the second is not assignable. Assuming that the plaintiff had an easement, Mr. Teed contended that they had shown no circumstances on which the court should grant an injunction. The balance of inconvenience must be considered and in the event of an injunction it would undoubtedly be with the defendant.

Again, he said, it is not sufficient to show that some right of injunction would result to the plaintiff if the injunction were not granted. The damage must be serious.

PROPOSE TO HAVE VENEER MILL IN OPERATION HERE

Canadian Men Interested in Mexican Lumber Lands

GEORGE W. FOWLER EN ROUTE TO THE SOUTH

He is President of Company Owning the Property—Proposed to Make St. John a Distributing Centre of Canada.

It is proposed to establish a veneer mill in St. John in the near future for handling the woods grown on the property of the Chemalapa Land Company of Mexico, and to make this city the distributing point for the dominion.

George W. Fowler, M. P., of Sussex, and president of the company, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Toronto. He said he would visit the property, which he said he had bought from the firm of F. H. Hale, ex-M. P. for Carleton county, and Thomas Wright, of Toronto, directors of the company, and accompanied by Mr. Wills, lumber dealer, of Montreal, would leave at once for the south. Their intention was to locate the site for a mill to be erected on the property in the state of Oaxaca at Santa Maria. Mr. Fowler said Mr. Wills would take samples of his firm and it was the intention of the company to handle the lumber in all parts of Canada except British Columbia and the maritime provinces. As yet there had been no de- velopment, but F. C. Baker, formerly of Mount Whately, Westmorland county, had been on the spot for the last three months and they expected soon to commence operations.

It was the present intention of the directors to establish a veneer mill in St. John and to make this city a distributing centre for the province. The lumber on the property consisted of some twenty-five different varieties of woods, including hogan and spruce, and it was the opinion of the directors that there would be a good demand especially as the supply of Canadian hardwood was growing scanty. The property was situated in an excellent location close to the isthmian railway which has been built for the Mexican government by Pearson & Son, and it will be a serious rival to the Panama canal.

The travelers will be seven days on their journey and Mr. Fowler said he expected to be absent about five weeks. R. G. Holey, of this city, is a director of the company, having been recently appointed in the place of Judge G. C. Thompson, of Watley (Ont.), who resigned.

INJUNCTION GRANTED

Application of Assignee in the Matter of Abdallah Sayre.

There are court developments in the suit of Abdallah Sayre, assignee of the estate of Abdallah Sayre, in and in court here this week Judge Barker, after hearing a statement relative to the case, granted an injunction to restrain disposal of certain goods. The statements made before Judge Barker recited that Abdallah Sayre carried on business in Beersville and claimed a store at Beersville which he claimed he owned, but which was insured in the name of his wife Jessie for $12,000; that he had there $8,000 worth of goods, and that he had purchased a short time previous to the fire. It was stated that he was entitled to the amount of stock lost; that, of course, is a matter in dispute, and not in any sense a question of law, and that the goods were left in the Beersville store were burned on July 6, excepting a few hundred dollars' worth, which were saved and which latterly, was alleged to have been sent to Sussex. After the fire, Mr. Sayre, it was said, collected the insurance on the building, $1,200, and that Mr. Sayre, through Dr. Keith, an agent, collected the insurance, and caused it to be paid over to his wife.

Proceedings were taken against Mr. Sayre under an injunction of the court, and the first meeting of creditors was held in Sussex on Sept. 5, when Augustus Ledger, sheriff of Kent, was substituted as assignee.

About Aug. 30 notice of the intention of the Sayres to apply for incorporation was published and since then they filed their petition for such incorporation by which the Sayres, six in number—wife, mother, brothers and sister of Abdallah, stated their intention to pay for their shares partly by the stock of goods at Sussex and partly in cash.

The assignee brings a suit against the Sayres for an injunction to restrain the disposal of any insurance moneys in their hands, and also of goods which they might have, having formerly belonged to Mr. Sayre, and for a declaration that they belong to the assignee.

On Thursday Mr. Justice Barker granted an injunction and ordered the appointment of a receiver to take possession and hold any of the goods formerly belonging to Mr. Sayre that might be found in the Sussex store. A. C. Fairweather, referee for Kings county, was appointed receiver.

A number of St. John merchants, including Messrs. Fairweather and A. H. Hamington, K. C., representing the assignee, went to Sussex yesterday to see if any goods were in the store. They were in the Sussex store. The merchants of St. John, Messrs. D. Magee's Sons, H. W. de Forest, St. Lawrence Clear Company, The Toppa Company, Smith Brothers, Murphy & Company, Mr. Edgett, Mr. Toombs and the Royal Bank of Canada in Montreal; H. Kellert & Sons, J. Collin & Co., The St. Lawrence Tea Company, J. H. Maloney, Abundantia, Sherwin Williams Company in Montreal; The Rock City Tea Company, The Campbell's, C. M. Ferris and Fraser, Thornton & Co., in Quebec.

Frederick Baptist Dissenters.

When the congregation of the Frederick Baptist church took a vote upon the question of Church union there were 10 members who voted in the negative or against the union. These members who were opposed to union are still against it, notwithstanding the fact that the union has been consummated. What steps these members will take is not known and one of them said today that he had no plans, although he felt that it was practically his duty to do so. It has been stated quite openly that the members who were opposed to union would ask for their dismissal from the church now the union has been consummated. It was learned only one gentleman has asked for his dismissal.

Today this gentleman made the following statement: "I am not in favor of the union for the simple reason that we were getting along spiritually and financially all right without the union, and I can not see why we should want it. I do not think it is a matter of life and death, so I took the quietest way of getting out of the whole thing and asked for my dismissal. I have heard nothing more about it, except that I am told that the union doesn't work well across the river where they cannot agree on one pastor for two churches."

Regarding the Gibson pastorate a meeting of the Baptist committees of Gibson and Marsville will be held on Tuesday evening next at the residence of Rev. Mr. Riddout, pastor of the Free Baptist church, it is the opinion that the less said about the matter the better. It is expected that it will work out all right.—Frederick Gleaser.
