Miscellaneous.
The Opposition Policy.
The following resolution which was moved in the House of Commons by Sir John Macdonald, represents the commercial policy of the Opposition—
"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a national Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff, will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion; that such a Policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment; that it will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active inter-provincial trade and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of a reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the various interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this country, eventually, a reciprocity of trade."

An Unsafe Guide.
The readers of the Telegraph, those of them, at least, who are unprejudiced, must often wonder if that paper has no conscience, or if it imagines that there is no hereafter. We have a few words to say about it and we desire to say them in as little offensive way as possible, consistent with what is true and just. Our contemporary, as is well known, was a strong supporter of the late government until within a few days of its defeat. When Sir John's star waned and the Hon. Alexander's power was in the ascendant the Telegraph changed its tune and has ever since, with brief intermissions, been singing the praises of the Grits. A short time ago our contemporary for a few weeks seemed to poise the political balancing pole very evenly, that it had seen the error of its ways and was about to return to its first love. But we are sorry to observe by its more recent utterances that it has returned like the dog to his vomit and is again a partizan of the most devoted Grit type. What has occasioned the various changes in our contemporary's political creed it is, of course, not for us to surmise. We have always been proud of the Telegraph, proud of its enterprise, proud of the noble stand it has often taken in support of just principles of public opinion, and proud of its success as a leading daily newspaper. It can, therefore, well be understood how painful it is to us and to other well wishers to hear the rumors and suggestions which are continually floated as to the causes which operate upon our contemporary's principle, or want of principle. In the discussion of public affairs, with the causes of our contemporary's political infidelity we have nothing to do; it is its effects that we desire to warn our readers against, and we emphasize the fact that a newspaper which changes sides with every incoming administration is a very unsafe guide to follow. The more it is, the more plausible in the presentation of its points, the greater its semblance of honesty and fairness, the more dangerous to political purity and rectitude it becomes. That our contemporary feels ill at ease in its present company the most superficial reader of its editorials can see. Its labored attempts to prove that it and its Grit allies represent the Old Liberals of New Brunswick, and that the Old Liberals have all become Tories is too transparent. It is easier to believe that the Telegraph has deserted its principles than that such men as S. L. Tilley, and Geo. E. King, and A. L. Palmer, and John Boyd, and T. W. Daniel, and Chas. H. Fairweather, and W. H. Tuck, and Chas. N. Skinner, and James Harris, and the hundreds of others who might be named, comprising the leaders and the rank and file of the Liberal party in New Brunswick, have deserted their principles. Does it not strike our contemporary as, at least, something strange to find himself in antagonism with these men, and in sympathy with the Deverbers and the Weldons and the Anglins and all the old "dye in the wool" Tories of former days? Have they deserted their principles or has the editor of the Telegraph deserted his?

Our contemporary in various laborated articles has lately been seeking to establish three points. Stated briefly they are 1st. That he and his Grit angels represent the Liberal party in New Brunswick; 2nd. That the Gov't of Sir John Macdonald was essentially corrupt while the Mackenzie party is the essence of all that is good, and 3rd. That the present Gov't should be sustained because it is a Free Trade Gov't. If the Telegraph were to succeed in proving that black is white, it might be able to establish these propositions also.

On the first point little more need be said. Mr. Tilley who has long stood at the head of the Liberal party in this province is its honored and trusted leader still, and will be sustained and triumphantly returned in the coming election, notwithstanding the defection from the Liberal ranks of Messrs. Barpee, Elder and others, who have gone over to the Grit coalitionists, and who could tolerate in the Gov't such high-toned Tories as Cauchon or Cartwright or Scott, or such a pronounced annexationist as Huntington or me of such doubtful loyalty as Laflamme or Pull-down-the-flag Jones. The coming contest, we have no fear, will show that St. John is true to its old-time Liberalism yet. Call it by what name you please—the principle is there and is sure to triumph.

On the second point it is only necessary to say that the late Gov't was as corrupt as our contemporary alleges it was upheld through its whole course until within a few days of its downfall by this same Telegraph, which now denounces as "disgraced and debauched leaders," the men it then followed and sustained. If the leaders were such a "disgraced and debauched" lot, if they were guilty of such "corrupt proceedings" and "rampant jobbery" as the Telegraph alleges what must be said or thought of such devoted followers as the Telegraph including also such members of the present Government as Smith, Barpee, Cartwright and Coffin, who manfully stood at their back through all this jobbery and corruption, but, at a critical moment, deserted their leaders for place and profit? How is it, people naturally ask, that this "rampant jobbery" was never discovered until the "debauched leaders" were no longer in a position to distribute patronage with Senatorship for price?

But what are the facts? There are no acts of the old Government which will compare with the jobbery, the malfeasance, the corruption which has distinguished the reign of Gritism in this Dominion during the past five years. What about the steel rails purchase whereby three millions of dollars have been lost to the country in order that the Premier's brother might have a good fat job? What about the corrupt jobbery in the matter of the Georgian Bay Branch, the Kamistiquia fraud, the Goderich Harbor job, the useless Fort Francis Canal, the Quebec Graving Dock, etc. etc? What about the wholesale corruption by means of contracts to members of Parliament, and the bribery of the Speaker to the tune of $20,000? Such "rampant jobbery" was never before known or heard of in the history of the Dominion. Even the Pacific Scandal, whose skeleton is trotted out on all occasions to do service for the Grits, pales into insignificance before Mr. George Brown's "Big Push" letter, Senator Simpson's manipulation of public money for election purposes and the wholesale bribery of members of Parliament for the Speaker down, to say nothing of the large amount of public money which goes to the Daily Press in return for the fawning adulations and absolute untruths which are given to the public for the purpose of sustaining this rotten administration in power.

But the Telegraph with the object of turning public attention away from the corruption of the Government holds it up as a Free Trade Government, thinking thereby to deceive the ignorance of the unwary. This Government which came in under false pretences is making a desperate effort to maintain itself in power by the same means. It is not a Free Trade Government and the Telegraph knows it, and to prove this we have only to refer to the tariff and the changes which the Mackenzie party has made in it, all of which have been in the direction of higher duties. If it is Free Trade to tax tea 30 per cent., kerosene 40 per cent., molasses 25 per cent., rice 40 per cent., brown sugar 55 per cent., crushed sugar 40 per cent., tobacco 210 per cent., and other articles in common use in the same ratio, then, indeed is a Free Trade Government. The bluster that is constantly made on the subject of high duties is the real culprit is usually the first and the loudest to cry stop thief!

The fact that so long as the revenue has to be raised from the imposition of duties absolute Free Trade is an impossibility. The question for statesmen to consider is how can these duties be best adjusted so as to yield the requisite revenue and yet bear most equally upon all classes, and interfere least with the general interests of the country. If the charlatans who are shouting Free Trade, and at the same time putting all unbearable taxes upon the necessities of life, would apply themselves to this task we might, at least, give them credit for sincerity however wanting they might be in ability to meet the real exigencies of the country. Failing to do this the public can see that this is only a hollow cry, a pretence made for political effect. Well did Sir Francis Hincks describe the administration party as an "organized hypocrisy," and all this hypocritical twaddle about Free Trade is of a piece with their other work. A Free Trade Government indeed! It added two and a half per cent. to the unenumerated list of imports, increasing the taxation by three millions of dollars. It took Tea from the free list and imposed a duty of six cents a pound, it put a duty on shipping materials and has added in every way to the burdens of the people, and yet its organs try to deceive the public by calling it a Free Trade Government! Time was when we could not have believed it possible that the Telegraph would stoop so low as to lend itself to such disreputable work.—Saint Croix Courier.

The English Press on the 12th in Montreal.
(Daily News.)
The Saxon, who is not often historically minded, asks himself what comes all the trouble and prospect of fighting. He is little the wiser when he is told that the Twelfth of July is the anniversary of the battle of Aghrim. Though every one, by a polite fiction, is supposed to have read Macaulay's History of England, and that a smaller majority of educated people remember the heroic poem on the battle quoted by Thackeray in the "Irish Sketch Book," the common notions about the fight at Aghrim are vague enough. Even when the memory is refreshed, the anniversary seems the very last that decent people, Irish or English, should wish to recall. In the summer of 1691 Ireland was the scene of a great deal of mixed fighting. Louis XIV. had sent St. Ruth, a French general accustomed to deal with Irish mercenaries, to take command of the local forces. St. Ruth was not the only general in the field on the Catholic side, and Maxwell, Tyrconnell, Sarsfield, had their commands, their quarrels, and their cliques. The "English" forces were as little English as possible, Dutchmen were generals; a contingent of Danes had invaded Ireland, and renewed the ancient quarrel; French Protestant refugees served as grenadiers. The allied forces were well paid, well clothed, and well fed. The Irish in Athlone had only the strength of the place and their numbers to inspire confidence. Their outlook was as slack and careless as the outlook of the Turks on the Danube a year ago. When the besiegers of Athlone were on the point of raising the leaguer, and retreating before St. Ruth, it occurred to them to try wading across the guarded ford and assaulting the town. The gallant stroke was favored by fortune and the indolence and disunity of the Irish. Athlone fell, and St. Ruth, in chagrin, staked all at Aghrim on July 12th. The place was a smaller Plevna. A strong slope was defended by breastworks and a bog, and all through the afternoon the allied Protestants forced their way across the marsh and apply cold steel to the defenders of the breastworks. What infantry could not achieve, even in those days of matchlocks, wheel-locks, and the first rude "snap-shooters," cavalry managed to do. A strip of comparatively solid land was discovered, Mackay and Ruvoigny crossed with the English and Huguenot horse, and took the Irish on the flank. The forces of St. Ruth were driven, as often happened in the late war, from earthwork to earthwork. Cooped up in corners, they were bayoneted in heaps, for, truly or falsely, it was said they had given no quarter. On the morning of the battle spectators looking from the height saw the green plain covered with the white, stripped bodies of the dead, lying thick together "like flocks of sheep."

To celebrate this horrid festival of religious and tribal passion the Orangemen hold their processions. Two hundred years have taught them no more than that. They have a good memory for the bloody victory of the partisans of their creed; the Catholics Irish have as vivid a recollection of their defeat. Surely there is no example of such stupid, inveterate hatred. What nation, what race has not plenty of those anniversaries? The Catholics of France do not swagger with music and with trophies on St. Bartholomew's Day. The people are fond enough of anniversaries and dates, but they keep the peace, though the battle did fall on the day and the head of a King on another. The most eager English Radical has no calf's head fast on the day when Charles I. was executed, and the Gunpowder festival of November fifth impels no Catholic to begin shooting at the companions of Guy Fawkes. The Scotch don't remember even the day of Culloden, a date far nearer our time than that of Aghrim. The memory of Dramegoe does not drive Ayrshire or Galloway Whigs to break the windows of their Episcopal landlords. Englishmen go unstoned on the fatal days of Ploddon and Pinkie. It is only the Irish who forget nothing, and learn nothing but the use of revolvers? In the region of the frozen Pole, and in the sands of lion-haunted Africa, Horace said he would remember sweet Lalage. The Celt in the Arctic circle or in Tibet would have a less sentimental recollection of Aghrim and, if he met a countryman of the opposite faction, would make him the Celt of the broken head. It is impossible to understand this strange unruly spirit which knows no amnesty and no statute of historical limitations. Why should Paddy shoot Mike because Frenchmen and Danes, English, Scotch, Dutch, and Irish fought at Aghrim two hundred years ago? Danes and French, Dutch, German, English, and Scotch, have forgotten the affair. Will the Irish never forget?

Is Croquet a Moral Game?
(From the Burlington Hawk-Eye.)
One day this summer we rode fifty miles in a railway car, seated behind four men who were playing with these awful playthings of the devil—cards. They played euchre until they were tired of it. They played a little seven up, pedro and occasionally a triple of poker. We never heard a dispute. Their bursts of merriment occasionally at some unexpected play repeatedly drew our eyes from our book. They never quarrelled, and never called names once. After we got out at our station we sat at the window and watched a party of young men and maidens playing croquet. In fifteen minutes we saw two persons cheat successfully. We heard the one player who did not cheat accused of cheating five times. We heard a beautiful young girl tell two lies, and a meek-looking young man three, and finally we saw the young girl throw her mallet against the fence so hard it frightened a horse, the other young girl pounded her mallet so hard on the ground that it knocked the buds off an apple tree, and both banged into the houses at different doors, and the two young men looked sheepish and went off after a drink. Now, why is this?

Look at this Tariff.
And answer the following questions, all who call themselves Free Traders, square tariff admirers, or who imagine we present tariff to be a 17 1/2 per cent one.
Free Trade implies no duties? Have we a Free Trade Tariff? No, and could not have one every man in Canada believed in the most ultra Free Trade.
A "square revenue Tariff" means a uniform duty on all imports. Have we a square revenue Tariff?
A 17 1/2 per cent Tariff means 17 1/2 cents on each dollar of all dutiable goods. Have we a 17 1/2 per cent tariff? No; our present tariff averages about 25 per cent.

We condemn the present Tariff because it presses too severely upon the masses—upon the laborer of the country, as distinguished from the capital. We condemn the present Government because in their policy respecting sugar and tea duties they still further repress the laborer, in spite of the warnings from Sir John and others, to oppress "the bone and sinew" of the country. Study the following from the Tariff of the present Government, and note the inequality and therefore the injustice of the Tariff. Every article used by the masses is taxed high. Every article that may be deemed a luxury is taxed low, and yet Mr. Mackenzie will go "mooing" round the country expressing his wonder that any working man can be a Liberal. Every article that is necessary to the maintenance and support of the Government, more than three millions of dollars of a deficit were created, and additional taxation had to be imposed—the tariff was so adjusted that the working man had to bear much more than his share of that three millions of taxation? When the Liberal Conservatives compelled Mackenzie to reduce the duty on Coal Oil, (kept on to serve Mr. Mackenzie's constituents) and thus give the people cheaper light, what did the Free Traders say? They said, "Minister do not let us escape in that article, out of their clutches. That was something they could not endure, and so they resolved to put a duty on tea, and so put it on that the poorer grades of tea in general use pay 30 cents of duty on every dollar's worth, while the higher grades only pay 10 cents on the dollar. But we need not longer keep our readers from a perusal of the list which shows up in so glaring a manner the hypocrisy of the Reform Party protesting to be, pro excellentes, the poor man's friend, but in actual practice loading the labor of the country down by every species of imposition, by every sort of burden, they can devise. Here is the list:—

Demerara Rum pays duty equal to about 350 per cent.
French Brandy " " " " 80 " "
Good Port " " " " 20 " "
Good Sherry " " " " 20 " "
Good Cognac " " " " 40 " "
25 per cent Sugar " " " " 40 " "
Crushed Sugar " " " " 40 " "
Common Tea " " " " 30 " "
Choice Tea " " " " 40 " "
Rice " " " " 40 " "
Cinnamon " " " " 40 " "
Molasses " " " " 40 " "
Liquors about equal to 1 1/2 per gal. on package.
Sils pa " " " " 17 1/2 " "
Sodium Sulphate, Ornamental glass 17 1/2 " "
Millinery—Hatters, Flowers, Ribbons, etc. 17 1/2 " "
All sorts of papers, to wear or to eat pay 15 " "
A sugar hogshead pays about $2.00 duty
A molasses " " " " 2.00 " "
A rum punchion only 2.55 " "

ANOTHER EXAMPLE.
The need for the revision of the tariff is evident. There is no class more injured by the present tariff than the Farmers. Take an example or two. Potatoes going from Canada to the United States pay 15 cents a bushel duty. The result is that the Farmer of Quebec paid into the United States treasury the sum of $117,409—Nova Scotia paid the sum $11,065 on its export of potatoes. The whole Dominion paid $668,600 into the United States Treasury. At the same time, owing to the low rate of our tariff as compared with that of the United States, the people of the United States paid only $1345 into our Treasury. Our tariff is only one-third what the United States is taking. Yet the friends of the present tariff think it is such a good one—tea and all—that the Farmers ought to be in ecstasies over it. Isn't Sir John's policy a better one? He says "give reciprocity of trade or take reciprocity of tariffs—our Farmers should not be obliged to lose 15 cents on every bushel of potatoes they ship to the United States, while United States Farmers can send their potatoes into Canadian markets paying only 5 cents a bushel for the privilege. The writer of "Current Events" in the Row-Bow Canadian Monthly thus shows up the character of the Finance Minister and roasts him unmercifully:—

The Independent Dodge.

Mr. B. DeVin, the Grit candidate for Montreal Centre, is now appealing to his constituents as an Independent. The following is from his paper, the Evening Post:—

A Frightful Tornado.

Wallingford, Conn., Aug. 8.—A terrible rain storm over Wallingford about six o'clock this evening and blew over houses and uprooted trees and caused the greatest devastation.

Without a second's warning the tornado struck the town from the north, rain, wind, and hail, sweeping over the town from west to east, and everything movable in its track was carried away.

Vienna, Aug. 10.—The Seventh Division of the Austrian army of occupation, under the Grand Duke of Saxe-Coburg, operating to the westward of the city, has been engaged in battles with the insurgents, on the 5th inst., at Varcakof, and on the 7th, at Jaice.

Edinburgh, July 10.—The Scotsman's London correspondent says that the English intend to gain a footing on the main land of Asia Minor.

materially to the success of the work. The Popoff air bag, as also the wreck, and contributed a lifting power of fifty tons.

BADLY SOLD.—Our talented contemporary, the Telegraph, will be sold yesterday morning. Some of the virulent writers of the Party lately manufactured an imaginary extract from a fictitious paper, the Buffalo Herald, showing that an editorial in favor of protection had been sent to it to publish, so that it might be copied into the Canadian Opposition papers for the purpose of helping the same candidates.

A New Trade is being developed at Point du Chene. Vessels engaged in the deep sea fisheries are this year landing their cargoes there. A few days ago, one train carried away a thousand barrels of mackerel besides a large quantity of lobsters.—Post.

England has already embarked $25,000,000 in the Cyprus colonization scheme.

THE INVIGORATING, FATTENING, AND NUTRITIVE Robinson's Phosphoric Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Lacto Phosphate of Lime, are such as would indicate its superiority to maintain the body in the performance of its various functions.

Invalids, do you wish to gather flesh, to acquire an appetite, to enjoy a regular habit of body, to obtain refreshing sleep, to feel and know that every fibre and tissue of your system is being braced and renovated?
