guests assembled this evening for the Thanksgiving dinner, given under the auspices of the American Society in London, John Morgan Richards was

n the chair. Paul Cambon, the French ambaseador to Great Britain, replied to the health of President Roosevelt.

Henry White, the United States harge d'affaires, responded to the oast, "The Charge d'Affaires," proposed by Justice Walton. M. Chambon paid a feeling tribute to the late President McKinley, whose death, he said, had shocked France and knit the sister Republicans in closer bonds of sympathy and sorrow. While President Roosevelt was an unknown quantity in the world, said M. Cambon, his was a cultured personality, and his election to the presidency had been received in France with the hap-piest anticipation of carrying on those cordial relations which had existed between the two countries for over a century past.

Justice Walton paid a high tribute to Mr. White's efforts to promote good eeling between Great Britain and the United States.

Mr. White, replying, said he had long been acquainted with the cordial feeling Great Britain entertained for the United States, and that he re-gretted that Joseph H. Choate, American ambassador to Great Britain, who had done so much to cultivate these relations, was not present at this Thanksgiving Day dinner. Mr. White said it was the time for fam-ily talks, and that he hoped to be forgiven if he referred to the prosperity

London, Nov. 28 .- Three hundred | which made the secretary of the United States treasury the envy of every treasury in the world. If America's friendship for Great Britain was pro-nounced, this did not mean, went on Mr. White, that Americans held any less cordial feelings towards France or any other nation in the world. Mr. White then spoke highly of President Roosevelt, whose ability, courage and steadfastness of purpose could not, he said, fail to produce a great effort for the welfare of all the nations of the universe. Conan Doyle, the novelist, produced perhaps the greatest effect of the evening by declaring the pendulum of the British world had now shifted to somewhere between New York and Chicago. "There is no use in disguising this important fact," continued Mr. Doyle; "yet if the English-speaking races should be compelled to meet a common foe, the world would soon see how quickly these same Englishspeaking people would close up their ranks, and march shoulder to shoulder for the advancement of civiliza-

Then Anthony Hope, the novelist, spoke. He said the only thing which remained to be done to bind the nations more closely together was for someone to find a common denominator for English and American jokes.

Admiral Sir Edmund Robert Fre-mantle referred to the friendly relations existing between the navies of Great Britain and the United States. Major-General Sir John Charles Ardagh, director of military intelligence in the war office, paid a high tribute to Newton Crane, consul for the American claimants before the South African compensation committee, for the cordial way in which Mr. Crane had met the members of the commission

DEAD NUMBER 30!

Employes of the Penberthy Injector Works Detroit All Acounted For.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 30.-All of the employes of the ill-fated Penberthy Injector Works have been accounted for. Supt. Downes and Bookkeeper McEldowney made a careful comparison yesterday of the pay rolls of the company with the list of identified dead, the injured in the hospitals and the employes who had reported as having escaped, and concluded that six were still missing. Supt. Downes kept messengers busy all morning trying to get information regarding the missing employes, and at noon an-nounced that all had been found to be alive except Wm. Smith, who has appeared in the list of dead as Wm. Mann. The Wm. Smith, whose name was confused with that of Mann, is a boy who escaped uninjured. The men who were at work clearing away at 30, is not likely to be increased, as the debris finished the job shortly before noon, and ceased their efforts, be making satisfactory progress

Special Bargains in Our Tug and Two Barges Sunk in Lake Erie.

> A United States Transport Goes to the Bottom-Fate of the Crew Unknown.

THREE VESSELS SUNK. Ogdensburg, N. Y., Nov. 28 .- The tug Dauntless and the barge Robert Vale Light. The barge was loaded with 22,000 bushels of wheat at the Ogdensburg elevator, for Montreal. While running out through the ice in the channel, the hulls of both boats were cut through, and efforts were made to back them out. They sank before reaching shallow water. The

A UNITED STATES TRANSPORT WRECKED.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 28.—A dispatch came to the war department today from Gen. Chaffee, confirming the press report of the wreck of the transport Wright. Gen. Chaffee's dispatch was very brief, saying simply that the vessel had struck on an uncharted rock and had struck on an uncharted rock, and that the question of the rescue of the vessel was problematical. STRANDED AT UNALASKA. STRANDED AT UNALASKA.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 27.—Advices from the north bring news that the long overdue schooner, Ralph J. Long, from Nome, lies stranded at Unalaska, with 115 passengers. The vessel is out of food, the passengers have spent all their money to obtain the absolute necessities of life, and they now appeal for help to the war department. Frank Brown of this city. and they now appear for help to the war department. Frank Brown, of this city, presented a resolution to the Seattle Chamber of Commerce today reciting the facts in the case, and urging the necessity of immediate aid of the passengers and crew. The members of the chamber were unanimous in favor of acting upon the content of the chamber and a request will be were unanimous in favor of acting upon the matter at once, and a request will be made to the authorities at Washington asking them to send a revenue cutter or some government vessel to bring down the starving people. The Long reached Unalaska on Oct. 5, out of food and water. Since that time the conditions have grown worse. The storekeepers at that point refuse to advance enough provisions to allow the schooner to reach Puget Sound, and the passengers are afraid to venture out in a heipless condition. venture out in a helpless condition.

GONE UP IN SMOKE!

Property Worth Nearly $1,000,000 Destroyed in New York Fire-Other Conflagrations.

New York, Nov. 29.—Property worth from $750,000 to $1,000,000 was destroyed by fire last night in the vicinity of Tenth street and the East River. Several firemen were hurt, but none seriously. The fire started in the plant of W. E. Uptegrove & Bros., manufacturers of boxes, veneers and fine woodwork. All of Uptegrove & Co's mill was destroyed. From rove & Co.'s mill was destroyed. he Standard Oil Company's dep oil were drained into the water to preven a great explosion and resulting confla-gration. The walls of the larger Upte-grove stable fell in and crushed the stable of the Standard Oil Company in stable of the Standard Oil Company in the rear. After the fire was thought to be under control it broke out again and spread to the works of the Mutual Gas Company. The carpenter shop, paint shop, boiler house, coal house and stables were destroyed. The fire then turned back across the street, and the immense store of lumber owned by Hegemeyer & Sons was ignited. It comprised some 18,000,000 feet of valuable woods. The lumber yards of J. M. Sautspaugh were also reached by the flames, and great damage done. Fire Crief Croker estimated that the total damage would approach $1,000,000. He would estimate estimated that the total damage would approach $1,000,000. He would estimate the loss to J. M. Saulspaugh as $125,000; William F. Uptegrove & Bros., $350,000; the Mutual Gas Company, $100,000; G. M. Hegemeyer, $150,000, and the Standard Oil Company, $75,000. OTHER FIRES.

New York, Nov. 28.—The works of the National Enameling and Stamping Company, in Brooklyn, were entirely destroyed by fire early yesterday, and George Koch, a watchman, was burned to death. Loss over $500,000.

Bradford, Ont., Nov. 28.—The Burgess acetylene gas works here were partly destroyed by fire this afternoon. Some of the street mains were opened to let the gas escape, and an explosion was thus avoided. Loss heavy; no insurance.

HOGS ARE AFFECTED BY THE SMALLPOX!

Serious Outbreak of the Disease in the Stockyards at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Dr. C. H. Zink, inspector in charge of the United States bureau of animal industry at the East Buffalo stock yards, discovered today what he believes to be an outbreak of smallpox among a consignment of hogs. The animals were received from St. Louis last week, and they passed the first inspection. After they had been slaughterlast week, and they passed the first inspection. After they had been slaughtered, Dr. Zink, in making a microscopical examination of the viscera, discovered what he believed to be evidence of small-pox. The slaughter houses are in the Polish district, where the local health authorities are at present engaged in fighting an outbreak of smallpox. The government bureau officials are under instructions to work in conjunction with the local health authorities in suppressing the outbreak, and this afternoon Dr. Zink brought specimens of the diseased tissue to the bureau of health and submitted them to Dr. Wende, After examination Dr. Wende unhesitatingly confirmed the diagnosis of Dr. Zink. "If the disease develops in animals the same way as it does in human beings, I should unhesitatingly call it smallpox." said Dr. Wende. "These tissues bear all the characteristic marks of the disease. They are evidently of a contagious nature.

evidently of a contagious nature. The pittings and destruction of tissue are apparent, as well as the characteristic smallpox pustules." IMPERIAL DEFENSE. Toronto, Nov. 29 .- Col. Denison addressed 300 people on "Imperial Federation" in the Orange Hall. At the close of his address, this resolution was passed: "That this meeting is of the opinion that special duty of 10 per cent should be imposed at every port in the British possessions on all foreign goods, the proceeds to be devoted to imperial defense, by which each port would not only be doing its duty towards imperial defense, but at the same time be receiving a preference over the foreigner in the markets of the world.

COLOMBIAN TROOPS DEFEATED BY REBELS

he Government Forces Lose Over 100 Killed and Wounded.

Colon, Colombia, Nov. 28 .- In a fierce battle today the government forces were defeated. The government troops, 300 strong, under Gen. Alban, on reappearing at Bueno Vista this afternoon, opened fire on the Liberal forces under Col. Barrera. The latter were not entrenched, but having the choice of ground, occupied the top of a small hill at Buena Vista. The fighting, which was of the most savage nature, lasted until 5:30 p.m., without stopping, when the government forces, owing to the great loss they had sustained, were compelled to give way and retreated toward Frijolos. Over a hundred men were killed or wounded, their bodies lying all along the railroad. A train on reaching Buena Vista was unable to pass, owing to the pile of corpses blocking its passage. About twenty wounded men fere taken to Panama on the evening train. The Liberal loss was again insignificant. It is said to be less than a dozen men. Col. Barrera is now twice a hero. Much regret is expressed at the fact that he was not detailed to prevent the passage of Barbacoa bridge. The Liberals at Colon are once more jubilant, owing to the fact that Gen. Alban's forward march has been stopped. This has changed the aspect of affairs at Panama. Reinforcements of government troops in small batches have been joining Gen. Alban continually.

FRIEND. London, Friday, Nov. 29 .- According to the Daily News' Rome correspondent, the pope has just lost his oldest friend. This was Commendatore Pacelli, who was 103 years old. It is stated that he was the oldest man in Rome. He was director of the inland revenue under the Papal Gov-ernment before the fall of the pope's temporal power, and he lived afterward in the hope of seeing this power restored. Pope Leo often received him and chatted with him concerning events that occurred during the firs half of the nineteenth century, regarding which Commendatore Pacelli's

Kansas City, Nov. 29 .- To Carrie Nation's husband, Judge Gillett granted the divorce upon the ground of gross neglect of duty. When Mrs. Nation first started out on her career of "Joint" smashing, a year ago, Mr. Nation seemed to be in sympathy six years from nervous prostration, and having spent nearly all I possessed in doctor bills without any permanent relief, you can imagine what a God-sent blessing I feel South American Nervine has been to me. The first few doses gave me great relief. It took six bottles in all to cure me, but I feel I am cured to stay cured."

STRENGTH OF THE ENEMY!

Boers Have 70 Commandos in the Field.

Some 20,000 Horses Bought in Hungary for British Remounts-A New Regiment, "The King's Colonials."

London, Nov. 29 .- A dispatch to the Times from Pretoria confirms the statement regarding the narrowing of the areas open to the Boers. The dispatch says that there are 70 recognized commando bands, numbering from 50 Transvaal, 31 in the Orange River Colto 400 men, 26 of them being in the ony, and 13 in Cape Colony. Those in the Transvaal include 1,100 men north of the Delagoa Bay Railway, who have Not a Patent Cure-All. Nor a Modern 20,000 square miles in which to roam. The striking arm of the British force now numbers only 45,000 men.

THE COMPENSATION QUESTION. A Durban dispatch says: The Uitlander committee has issued a report of their interview with Lord Alfred Milner, governor of the Transvaal and British high commissioner in South Africa. This report asserts that in this interview Lord Milner said that compensation to British subjects on a general scale would be impossible; the amount required would be so enormous that the idea could not be entertained. With regard to the war debt the report says Lord Milner expressed his that the British Government would not lay a heavy burden on the, Transvaal.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Are Doing Their Usual Good Work on the Island.

Southern Harbor, Nfld., Nov. 25 -For over six years Maurice Best has suffered greatly with Kidney and Stomach trouble. He has been gradually growing worse, although he has been under the doctor's treatment all At last he read in an advertisement how Dodd's Kidney Pills were curing men and women all over the island of trouble similar to his own, and he commenced to use them. They have cured him completely, and restored to him his old-time strength and vigor. He says he will always recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in proof of his earnestness he has already got his brother and several others to use them, and all with the most happy results. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only remedy that has ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes, or Dropsy.

The Breeding of Men.

Mr. Francis Galton, in a recent Huxley lecture, has, according to the Times, "added one more to the many Utopian great change in Hampstead, once a schemes, which ingenious and sanguine minds have delighted to construct." This particular scheme, however, is "Natural Inheritance." This gentleman is great on heredity, and thinks that he has got it down to an exact science. He proposes, therefore, to pick out those who possess good, moral and physical qualities, and let them marry with those of a similar class from the opposite sex, and thus improve the species. He says: "An enthusiasm to press itself by granting diplomas to a own interests, but to carry the spirit select class of young men and women; by encouraging their intermarriage, by hastening the time of marriage of women of that class, and by provision for rearing healthy children." That is certainly a pretty and attractive programme. But as the Times says, there are great difficulties in the way. "The clever young man may not wish to to see the church in all its branches marry the clever young woman; he may have enough cleverness in his own erative part in the municipal side of the class, who were plagued by the independent committee prying into their ments to set at naught likes and dislikes, and the upshot will be misery and disappointment."

There are many other difficulties, as the critic remarks: "The plain man | These are wise words, and this is a will say that this scheme, even if ex- high ideal, well worth working for by cellent for buildogs and pointers, is mere moonshine in a world of men and women: and the plain man's opinion is statistics." The collision took place right in front of G. W. Huss' farm. At the time both Mr. and Mrs. Huss were in the house. They heard the roar and crash, and the house was jarred and the windows rattled. Immediately after this came a shrieking of steam from the bursted engines that was piercing to the ear. Mr. Huss ran piercing to the ear. Mr. Huss ran across the ten-acre field intervening, and by the time he got to the wreck it was on fire.

"The blaze started as soon as the collision took place," said Mrs. Huss, "and it seemed that the cars took fire all at once. I could see people trying to get at the windows of the forward car of train 13, and then fall back into the flames. You could hear the shrieks and groans of the wounded and dying, even above the shrieking of the steam. The steam kept up its horrible din for fifteen minutes. whole neighborhood was aroused"-her eves filled with tears-"I understood that most of them were mothers with babies in their arms."

ONE HUNDRED MISSING. Peru, Ind., Nov. 28 .- Twenty-five persons who were injured in the Wa- the immigrant train, and that bash wreck arrived here this morning on a train traveling in two sections. Lucie Virgiles and Trubuzzi Silvestro, although frightfully injured were able to talk briefly. They were well acquainted with the people in their party, and say that 100 of the Italians missing and unaccounted for. Among the wounded at the hospital is 12-year-old Carmen Paer, who cries unceasingly for his uncle. His uncle, however, is dead, having given his own life to save the boy. The boy's protector, whose name was Thomas Gerbarger, had made his body a shield to protect his nephew. When his lifeless body was picked up the boy was found under it only slightly injured.

A KANSAS CITY VICTIM. George W. Youmans, one of the victims, was a well-known building and paving contractor and a member of the board of public works in Kansas City. Mr. Youmans was the father of Frank E. Youmans, a well-known young broker, under arrest in Detroit charge of embezzlement in Kansas City. Mr. Youmans went east to per-suade his son to return to Missouri and face the charge.

The Loss of Life.

DIFFERING ESTIMATES. Detroit, Mich., Nov. 28 .- When night fell over the scene of yesterday evening's awful calamity, those who had ed out that there are now 14 passengers known to be dead. The bodies of eight of these have been recovered, and it is considered that the fragments of other bodies now at the morgue at Adrian will account for many more than the 12 dead necessary to make up Superintendent Burns' estimate of 20. In addition to the comparatively few fragments recovered and sent to the morgue, those who were early on the scene say that many more pieces were discovered which crumbled to powder while they were being removed. Superintendent Burns said he was unable to tell the exact number of Italian immigrants aboard the immigrant train, but thought there were not more than 50. Passengers on the train, and those who were early on dispute this, and say the number was nearer 80. Superintendent Burns had received no report as yet from Ticket Collector Eames, of the immigrant train, who probably knows nearer than anyone else the number of Italians in the cars. Coronto Hamilton, of Adrian, em-quest at once. The official list of the dead given to the local papers shows the names but ten dead and 48 injured, but Detroit newspaper men who were the scene of the wreck, and talked with survivors of both trains, say that the official list does not bear out the statement of the passengers and evidence of the horrible loss of life which they witnessed at the spot where the accident occurred.

The Free Press says that the loss of life was in round numbers 100, and that the statements made by the Italian immigrants bear out this claim. The immigrants say there about 125 of their nationality on about 25 of them escaped. While there are only ten of them known to be dead, it is asserted that the other were completely incinerated, and that with the removal of the wreckthe bodies crumbled to dust, which was scattered by the wind which swept across the country. If the names of these dead are ever known it will be when friends make inquiry for them, and in many instances this seems highly improbable St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 28. Joseph H. Ramsey, jun., of the Wabash Railway, said: "The reports we have received show that not more than 10 persons were killed and 30 injured."

GAVE THANKS FOR BLESSINGS

Thanksgiving Services at City Churches Yesterday.

Interesting Sermons, Good Music and Liberal Offerings Marked Services.

Thanksgiving Day was marked in the usual manner by morning services at the different churches. There were large congregations at the various services, and they united heartily in rendering thanks for the year's blessings.

The services in the Presbyterian Churches were accorded better attendance than has been the case in several years. At St. Andrew's Church Rev. Dr. years. At St. Andrew's Church Rev. Dr. Johnston gave an interesting address on Psalm exxxviii., 1: "Before the gods will I sing praise unto thee." His theme was the danger of magnifying second causes, and forgetting the supreme source of all blessing and the one object of all worship. Good music was rendered by the choir, solos being sung by Miss Agnes Templeton and Miss Myra Pickard.

At the First Presbyterian Church Rev. W. J. Clark, the pastor, delivered a short address, dwelling on the many blessings

THE SWITCHMEN'S STRIKE SPREADS.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 28.-The switchmen's strike gives evidence today of rapid disintegration, and by tomorrow morning the officials of the different railroads with terminals in Pittsburg, declare that traffic will be resumed as usual. The crisis is attributed largely to the action of the Brotherhood of rainmen at their two meetings yesterday in deciding against assistance and sympathy for the strikers. The Pennsylvania office stated that the trike has practically been settled, and that most of the men had returned to ittsburg, Nov. 29.-A report from McKeesport says that at a meeting of the switchmen a general strike order has been issued for that city. It is likely the McKeesport lodge of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will follow the lead of the Pittsburg lodges in ignoring the strike.

The Common Dread of Kidney Disease

Due to the Sudden and Unexpected Deaths Which Result-Constipation a Frquuent Cause-The Unusual Efficacy of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Kidney disease may last for years, and at times may seem to disappear entirely, but unless radical treatment is taken death is likely to result at some unexpected moment. The most frequent case of kidney ailment is constipation and neglect to keep the bowels regular and active. With con-stipation the excretory functions of the kidneys fail, the convoluted tubes become choked up and the tissues are gradually wasted away. The liver cells are compressed and destroyed, and the most complicated ailments arise. So far as is known Dr.Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the only treatment that gets at the cause of kidney dis-ease by quickening and regulating the action of the intestines, as well as in-vigorating and restoring the kidneys themselves. There must be some great secret for the phenomenal and continual success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Gradually the demand for them has increased until now there is no similar remedy that has anything like the sale of this great prescription. It seems safe to conclude that much is due to the fact that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and combined influence on the kidneys,

Mr. Wm. Boyne, of 19 McGee street, Toronto, says: "I was afflicted severely with kidney disease, stone in the bladder, incontinence, deposits in the urine, severe pains in the back, and strains over the loins. ASSOCIATION OF TEACHERS

Semi-Annual Meeting Held at the Collegiate Institute.

Instructors of London's Youth Get Together for Mutual Benefit-Programme for First Session.

The semi-annual meeting of the London Teachers' Association was held today in the upper assembly room of the Collegiate Institute. There was a full attendance of teachers, besides visitors. Mr. R. A. Little, the president, occupied the chair. The opening exercises were conducted by the Rev. G. J. Bishop, of the First Methodist Church.

Following these, Mr. Bishop delivered very interesting and helpful address to the teachers. He spoke of the great improvement in education which he had witnessed during the last forty years. Nowadays the responsibility was impos-ed almost entirely on the shoulders of the teacher. A vote of thanks was ten-dered the speaker.

Mr. Little, the other delegate, also reported on his visit as a delegate. He said that in his opinion the policy of the education department is to avoid making unnecessary changes in our educational system.

Miss A. Powell, of Wortley road school, then read a well-prepared paper on "Art." The essayist advocated the abolition of drawing books and the substitution of drawing books and the substitution therefor of locks sheets of yellow wrapping paper and soft lead pencils. A great deal depended, she said, on position in drawing. No rubbers should be used. "Memory sketches" were to be preferred to sketching with the object in front of the student. Several charcoal sketches were exhibited to illustrate the capabilities of charcoal sketching. The objects of art studies were to cause an appreciation of beauty, to be followed by origination. Careful directions were given as to the various technical details in drawing and sketching.

Ottawa, Nov. 29 .- J. W. McRae, one of Ottawa's best known business men, accidentally shot and killed himself this morning. He was cleaning a Mauser rifle, but apparently did not know that there is always a cartridge in the Mauser barrel. The bullet struck him on the point of the chin and came out at the top of his head. Death was inat the top of his head. Death was instantaneous. Mr. McRae was a prominent Conservative, and for years was president of the local Conservative association. He was one of the original promoters of the Ottawa electric raliway, and was president of half a dozen business enterprises, as well as secre-tary-treasurer of the Canadian Railway Accident Assurance Company. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters to mourn his loss. He was APPOINTED TO ST. THOMAS CUS-

MORTALITY RETURNS.

The total deaths in Ottawa for the welve months ending Oct. 31 numbered 1,273, as against 1,150 for the pre-vious twelve months. Consumption was responsible for 125 deaths, pneumonia for 102, diphtheria for 65, and scarlet fever for 52. During the summer months there was a heavy mortality among children, the deaths from infantile diseases numbering 166. In reference to the utterances of the English newspapers condemning officials of the governor-general's household for attending the Redmond lecture, a high official stated that Capt. Bell and Mr. Guise were merely there to hear the addresses, and not as representatives of his excellency. They occupied seats in the audience. Fresh orders from the war office for nay for South Africa have been received at the department of agricul-ture, which will take until the end of

"The Little Red Schoolhouse." Hal Reid's latest play, "The Little Red Schoolhouse," with the author himself in the leading role, pleased large audiences at both the afternoon and evening performances at the New Grand Opera House yesterday. The author was called before the curtain at night, and in a sincere little speech thanked the audience for their appre-ciation, and promised to come back to London as often as possible. The piece possesses all the heart-interest for which Reid's melodramas have become noted, and should have as successful a run as its forerunners. deaths, one existence being stopped in its own length in the second act, while the final curtain goes down with a dead morphfiend and a wounded child on the stage, while off in the wings lies bad one in the lot. Take just is much better today. He expects to the main villain, untimely slain by the unerring gun of a convict guard Any other title would be about as applicable as the one selected, as the little red schoolhouse plays very little part in the unfolding of the story. A possible fault is the over-frequent and not always reverent use of the name of the Deity. It is wholly unnecessary, and jars gratingly upon the sensibilities of a class whose favorable attitude towards the theater should be given every encouragement instead of introducing features liable to estrange it. The company is up to and a little over the average presenters of melodrama. Hal Reid himself is a capable actor, who shines as a por-trayer of "nature's noblemen" roles. J. H. Wright was excellent as the hypocritical and malignant step-brother, while Otto Meyer was good he muchly wounded veteran of Roles were acceptably doubled as the muchly wounded '62. One of the best features was Miss Lola Stantoune's artistic violin playing. She rendered several solos in a really creditable manner. Miss Nellie Franklyn and Mr. W. S. "THE TELEPHONE GIRL." A comedy in which there is from first to last not a dull moment, replete with pretty girls, catchy music, uncturus comedy, and presented with an excellent cast, and with the aid of eierant scenery and ornate costumes, is bound to win out. Such a play is "The Telephone Girl," the frothy musical delight from the New York Casino, which comes to the New Grand next week.

MACKINTOSH-MAGEE.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized yesterday at the bride's parents', Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Magee, 528 Dundas street, when Mr. Wm. Mackintosh, manager of the Compensating Pipe Organ Company, of Toronto, was married to Miss Jane Magee, of this city. The contracting parties are well known in this city, Mr. Mackintosh having resided here some years. The service was performed by the Rev. George J. Bishop assisted by the Rev. C. T. Scott, and in the presence only of immediate friends and relations. Although the wedding was of a very quiet nature, the many handsome presents received testified to the number of friends wishing the couple their good-will. Mr. and Mrs. Mackintosh left in the evening for Toronto, where they will reside.

MR. YEIGH'S ILLUSTRATED LEC-

Rebecca, on Saturday afternoon.

Thanksgiving night was made enjoyable to a large audience in Dundas Street Methodist Church by Mr. Frank Yeigh, of Toronto, with his illustrated lecture on "Scenes in Britain and Brittany." It is rarely that a couple of hours pass as rapidly as in looking and listening with Mr. Yeigh. The views thrown on the canvas were surprisingly clear and graphic. In Mr. Yeigh's tour in Europe during the past summer he had the discrimination and artistic taste to avoid the too wellknown and commonplace, managing always to obtain fresh points of view and unhackneyed scenes. Mr. Yeigh's accompanying lecture, or travel-talk, is not only of literary merit, but delivered with satisfactory elocutionary effects. Our contemporaries of the press, elsewhere, will be perfectly safe

The course laid out was from the Collegiate Institute to the south gate of the asylum grounds, through the grounds to the corner of Oxford street and the asylum side road, and back to the Collegiate, across Carling's Heights. the Collegiate, across Carling's Heights. In the Junior race there were twelve contestants, and they made splendid running, Fred Hodges winning in 43½ minutes, followed by Kingsmill, Higgins, Phelps, Dipp. Forsyth, Blair, Craig and Atkins, in the order named.

In the senior race there were five boys running, Chester Rowntree winning in 43½ minutes, Jack Carling and Frank Macarthur coming in second and third A. Dann and L. Woods, two ex-students, also ran, making the course in 42 and 43 minutes. F. Hodges' effort is especially creditable, as the course was considerably creditable, as the course was considerably over five miles.

Four Caskets Filled With Blackened and Burned Fragments Buried This Afternoon.

Adrian, Mich., Nov. 29 .- It is believed now that the last of the bodies recovered from the Wabash wreck near Seneca Wednesday night and brought here, has been identified. Mayor Reynolds today received a telegram dated Sherman, Texas, saying: "Can you advise if Ann Upton, an old lady, with ticket sold here to Chatham, Ont., was injured? (Signed), Wm. Upton."

Mayor Reynolds wired back a deand inspiring points which it containscription of the woman to Mr. Upton, and it is believed that the remains will be ordered shipped to Texas before the day is over.

All the burned and blackened fragments of what were once human bodies have been placed in caskets and will be buried this afternoon in Oak Grove Cemetery. There are four caskets filled with these pieces. Coroner Hamilton began an inquest this morning.

FIXING THE RESPONSIBILITY. Detroit, Mich., Nov. 29.—Conductor J. Martin, of the Wabash eastbound train which was in the collision, said today that the orders given him at Mount Pelier were to pass the west-bound at Seneca. "My orders,' said he, "which I took to Engineer Strong and read over to him, and which agreed with his orders, read: 'No. 4, engine 609, will meet No. 3, engines 88 and 151, at Seneca, and No. 3, engine 623, at Sand Creek."

This bears out Superintendent Burns that Engineer Strong, of the east-bound, either misunderstood or forgot

When Conductor Martin's statement was repeated to Engineer Strong later, the engineer said: 'If I made an error, I was not alone to blame. The other three members of the crew must have understood as I did or else they would Capt. A. Mahan Says That British Prestige Has Been Increased.

London, Nov. 29.-Capt. A. T. Mahan has a very interesting article in the December National Review on the South African war and British prestige. Upon the whole, he sees abundant room for criticism in detail, but does not find any British military record to cause or warrant loss of prestige. The British army is today a vastly more useful instrument than it would have been two years ago, and this gain will last for at least a decade as a matter of international calculation, just as the disbanded but tempered force of the United States remained after the civil war. Captain Mahan points out that the Boers have much in common with the North American Indians as combatants, and that the British army has been engaged since the fall of Pretoria in a task analogous to that of which the United States army during the past century in recommending their readers not to had so large an experience. This was startling. It is impossible to describe the excitement that followed. It was simply unparalleled in the history of auctions. A mania seemed to have seized both the opponents, and to have gradually extended itself to the lookers on. Applause began to resound, which, however, soon resolved itself into breathless slience. If the shade of Jones could only have been present that great unknown master would have felt that he had not lived in vain. Bets were freely offered and taken, some backing Mr. offered and taken, some backing Mr. Grode, others the hunchback.
"A hundred!" at last exclaimed the lat-

"A hundred and fifty!"
"And seventy-five!"
"Two hundred!" said Mr. Grode, triumphantly bringing his fist down upon "And fifty!" said the hunchback, excitedly. "Here goesh! Dammed if I give It seemed to have become a point of honor, for whose sake men are content to ruin themselves for a mere caprice.
"Three hundred!" said Mr. Grode, with the perspiration streaming down his forehead.

"Three-fifty!" said the other. It was not shillings they were offering -it was pounds.
"I say, Levi," said one of the brokers, apparently of his own persuasion, "what is it?"

"Ah," said the latter, "help me—four-fifty—Moses—five-fifty—Grode onshe—six-fifty—did me like this—eight—before—thoushand—he bought—twelve—what looked like—fourteen—jusht such rubbish—sikshteen—ash thish—and it—eighteen turned out—twenty-five—ash there wash—three thousand!—underneath, such a Rubensh!—Five!—lovely!—he cleared—sheven!—fen thoushand by it—eight—he -sheven!—ten thoushand by it—eight—he knowsh all about these thingsh—eleven—and he wouldn't—twelve—go ahead like thish if he didn't know ash there wash shomething behind-fourteen.—She here goesh!—shiksteen—sheventeen—eighteen—

"I can shtand it!"
"Curse you," muttered Grode to himself. "Twenty thousand!"
"Guineash!" cried the hunchback.
"Twenty-five!"

"Twenty-five!"
There is no need to proceed. A glorious Titian, now the pride of one of the greatest galleries in Europe, was sold at that sale for eight thousand pounds: the "Dead Magpie," by Jones, went to the hunchback for eighty thousand.

CHAPTER IV. Mr. Grode threw a glance of angry hatred at his successful rival, and then came up to him blandly. "I wish you joy of your bargain!" he said, half politely, half sneeringly. "Do you know that you'll have to pay for this rubbish? I don't suppose that Mr. Cranstoun will not consider it quite so much a joke as you and I."

"I can afford it. Mishter." answered.

Levi, slapping his trouser pocket.
"I want that picture," said Mr. Grode, bluntly and candidly. "Old associations, and all that sort of thing, you knownever mind what. One must be sentimental and soft-hearted sometimes, you know, hang it all! Tell you what, I'll give you eighty-five thousand to be off can afford it Mishter," answered give you eighty-five thousand to be off our bargain—there's a chance for you! other angry glare round him he left the room and the house.

"Mishter Grode ish a very shentimental man—very; and sho am I," said Levi to one of his fellow-dealers, with a tremendous wink of his green eye, as he took his prize under his arm.

His defeated rival for the charms of the dead magning was certainly in a most

His defeated rival for the charms of the dead magpie was certainly in a most violent rage. His fresh complexion had deepened to an apoplectic red, his veins were swollen, his scowl was as black as midnight, and he strode rapidly along, with his fists closed almost desperately. At last his seven-league boots carried him on his way home as far as Russell Square. He walked on the garden side of the road, and, suddenly happening to raise his eyes as he passed the railings, saw within them a sight that increased tenfold his symptoms of anger, except that it caused him to stand as still as if he had been struck to stone. And yet that it caused him to stand as still as if he had been struck to stone. And yet the sight that he gaw was charming enough in its way. It was nothing less than that of a pair of lovers engaged in the closest and most affectionate conversation, so much wrapped up in themselves and in each other as to be almost heedless of the almost public character of the place in which they were.

With an oath he hurried onwards to the gate, but found it locked, so that he was obliged to go home for his own key before he could turn the duet into a trio. He thundered at his own door as if he were a visitor's footman, and, having strode in, searched violently for the key in every drawer and cupboard of every room in the house, littering every floor bell, like a man in a thundering passion as he was, and shouted out to the maid servant who had answered him before: "Where's the key of the square?" "Please, sir, Miss Felicia has taken it." He stamped and swore till he almost made her gay ribbons uncurl themselves and stand on end. But there was nothing to be done immediately, except to pace up and down like a hyena in a fume; a task which he set himself immediately.

It may be remembered that her father had sent her crying to her room, or, rather, on her way thither, for she was encountered on the stairs before she reached it by Elise, who, not perceiving the state of distress in which her young mistress was, spoke to her with an air of knowing mystery.

"Oh, m'selle," she said, feeling in the pocket of her dress, "I have a letter for you."

First the girl searched in one pocket, and then in another; she felt herself all over, and ended by giving herself a good shake, to see if what she sought might chance to drop upon the floor; but the note was nowhere to be found missing note was nowhere to be found. A horrible thought flashed into the mind of Felicia. She remembered the letter that she had already seen in her father's hand, and which had long since been reduced to ashes. Had she been a man, she would have sworn, and have probably included in her wrath the innocent Elise. But as it was, "Oh, Elise!" she exclaimed, clasping her hands together, "you have lost it—you must have let it fall somewhere. I know where it is—you need not look for it any more."

"I must have dropped it, I am afraid, m'selle. But you have found it, then?"
But Felicia did not remain to reply. She had run, or rather flown, upstairs, and was in a few seconds safely bolted in her own room, where she threw herself or her bed and let her tears come n her own room, where she threw her self on her bed and let her tears com was long before their flood was over, but it exhausted itself at last, and eft behind it a bad headache and a fever-sh desire for active movement, in spite ish desire for active movement, in spite of the pain; but as there was absolutely nothing to do, unless she broke her promise—a proceeding that never even suggested itself to her—she adopted the only possible outlet for her energy by putting on her bonnet and shawl and going to walk in the great, black, leafless garden of the square, which is pretty enough in the month of lilacs and laburnums, but which in that of mud and snow was exactly in sympathy with her dull wretchedness. Her lover, she knew, would not have communicated with her without some special reason and without sufficient cause; and to think that, at that very moment, for aught she knew, or very moment, for aught she knew, or could ever know, he might be ill, or unhappy, or expecting her do something of the last importance, was simply distracting

There was good reason why she should choose that garden for her walk. How often had she been there with him—not only in the month of lilacs, but in every month of her year of love! So she entered it, and walked up and down, only avoiding that part of it which had hitherto been their trysting-place. She had not the heart to look upon it now that she had become the most miserable girl in the whole world. It is true that many she had become the most miserable girl in the whole world. It is true that many who have learned the intimate connection of the bitter with the sweet and the sweet with the bitter, would, seeing that she had the consciousnes of loving and of being loved, have held her to be a subject of envy rather than of pity. But love invariably hugs to itself the bitter in preference to the sweet, and rejoices in misery; if it can manage to be miserable it will. It forgets that such wretedeness itself is sweet, and that there are able it will. It forgets that such wretchedness itself is sweet, and that there are plenty of prosperous and satisfied and not unhappy men and women in the world who would give more than half they possess to recover those happy days when they were so unhappy. But then Felicia was too young to prize her unhappiness as it deserved to be prized. Foolish girl! Those black, barren shrubs, that looked like as if they could never bear anything but festoons of soof. shrubs, that looked like as if they could never bear anything but festoons of soot, were preparing for her even now a glorious surprise. As she came slowly along one of the paths, called by courtesy of gravel, she became aware that she was no longer enjoying the luxury of solitude. She suddenly looked up, and it was he.

was he. He was ne.

He was—well, what matters it what he was like, when we regard him through her opal eyes? But to other eyes also besides hers he was quite passable, being, although still quite young, a man, and a good-looking and honest one: a little grave as becomes one not without little grave, as becomes one not without brains, and gentle looking, as becomes a gentleman.

"My own darling!" he said, as he took and you'll have the pleasure of taking me in besides. Eighty-five thousand!"

"Guineash?"

"Guineas."

"I'll just take a peep at him firsht. Maybe he ish more than he looksh," replied the Jew, passing his hand over the cracked surface of the picture meaningly, and tenderly.

Grode fidgited and perspired. "No," he said. "now—on the nail. I mayn't be sentimental ni five minutes, I'm an ass, as it is, to want to spend eighty-five thousand guineas for old association's sake. Come, Levi, is it done?"

"No, Mishter, you're not an asshneither am I," he answered. "So I'll jusht take a look at him."

"And lose eighty-five thousand guineas? On my soul, I can't offer a penny more. Perhaps by tonight I shall have come down to eighty-five pence—and if I sleep on it——"

"Never mind, Mishter. If you yantsh "Never mind, Mishter. If you vantsh him, you will vant him tomorrow ash vell. Sho I vill shleep upon him too."
"You're a—" No matter how Mr. Grode finished the sentence. With another angry glare round him he left the room and the house their own "And yet you come by accident? Well, I must thank fate then—that is to say you, darling, after all, for I know of no fate but you."

AT THE TOP.

It is a laudable ambition to reach the top of the ladder of success. But many a man who reaches the topmost rung finds his position a torment instead of a triumph. He has sacrificed his health to success. A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in the ears, dizziness, spots be-fore the eyes or palpitation of the heart; any or all of these symptoms point to weakness and loss of nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures discases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition.

By perfect and abundant nourishment distributed to each vital . organ it enables the co-operation of all the organs to pre-serve the perfect health of "For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Secord, E.a., of 13 Eastern Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not bear any solid food in my stomach for a long time; felt melancholy and depressed. Could not sleep nor follow my occupation. Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientionsly recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

TERRY TRIMMED!

And It Only Took Two Rounds for "Young Corbett" to Do the Trick--- The Local Rifle Match--- Hamilton's Tigers Down London's Rugby Kickers.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 28.—Knocked out in the second round, of which 1 minute Hartford, Conn., Nov. 28.—Knocked out in the second round, of which I minute and 44 seconds had elapsed, was the referee's verdict of the fistic battle between "Young Corbett," of Denver, Col., and Terry McGovern, of Brooklyn, who has held the feather-weight championship unflinchingly since he won it from George Dixon eighteen months ago. Outwitted and outpointed, with a fighter just the same as himself, McGovern had to lower his colors this afternoon at the Nutmeg A. C. to Young Corbett, within seven minutes from the start of the fight. "Young Corbett," who, outside of ring parlance, is known as Billy Rothwell, of Denver, Col., got the better of the champion in less than two rounds of fighting, and he did it so perfectly that there was and he did it so perfectly that there was no doubt about it. The shock to the Greater New York enthusiasts who crowded the boxing pavilion when the little champion was knocked out in the second round, was a repetition of the disappointment exhibited by the adherents of John L. Sullivan when Corbett defeated him in New Orleans.

Terry was as fit as the proverbial fiddle, but he was not fast enough for his man but he was not fast enough for his man. From the word "go" the lads went at each other like game cocks, and it looked as if either would go out in the first round. McGovern got the worst of the opening round, and in his endeavors to get in left himself open several times. Corbett just stood off McGovern on every lead and trick, but the little Brooklyn boy went on as if there was nothing to it but the winer's end of the purse boy went on as if there was nothing to it but the winner's end of the purse.

When McGovern was knocked down in the opening round there were cries of dismay from his backers, but his wonderdismay from his backers, but his wonderful recuperative powers were equal to the occasion, and he was on his feet within seven seconds. This downfall seemed to take the stamina out of McGovern, but he fought the round in clever style, and tried hard to stem the tide of deteat which seemed to have set in against him. He tried all his rushing work, which proved so profitable on former occasions, SAW NO OPENING. 'When Terry came back to his corner at the end of the first round he said: "That's the toughest guy I ever met, but I'll lick the toughest guy I ever met, but I'll lick him just as soon as I see an opening." That opening did not come very handily for the Brooklyn boy, as the little Denver pugilist had then taken his measure. Down went Terry in the second round, and when he got up he quickly rushed like a wild man. The then showed a lack of self-restraint, and in a burst of bad temper hit out left and right, irrespective of all rules and usages. These tactics apparently were just what Corbett spective of all rules and usages. These tactics apparently were just what Corbett was looking for. Terry was mixing things up with whirlwind velocity, and throwing science to the winds. It was anyone's fight at this stage, but Terry fell into a trap, as Corbett feinted, and suddenly sent his right out when McGovern was side-stepping. This blow just grazed McGovern's head, but a moment later Corbett feinted him again, and after a rattling exchange sent his right over to the jaw, and Terry went down and out.

and out. AFTER THE BATTLE. While the fallen champion was fran-While the fallen champion was frantically trying to regain his feet, the crowd was yelling madly. The referee said McGovern was unable to rise and continue the fight, and declared that the young Denver lad had won. He won on his merits, as he took chance for chance. Terry was crestfallen as he returned to his dressing-room. He said: "Well, you can't teil how things can be accounted for. I hope to make another match with Corbett, and I am more than confident that he will not be able to put it over on that he will not be able to put it over on Young Corbett was very demure when he emerged from his dressing-room. At first he was reluctant to talk, but finally said: "I was sure I would beat McGovern, and my opinion was based on what I had seen and beaut of his I feld the I had seen and heard of him. I felt that I had him from the first punch, but I was cool-headed all through. When I began to sting him he lost his head, and when he lost his head it was all over. I had him right there, and with a right-swinging uppercut I landed the blow which won the battle." which won the battle.'

THE CROWD. Shortly after noon the visitors began to arrive from New York, and the doors of the Nutmeg Club house were almost broken down by the mob of people, who with or without tickets, tried to push in The seating capacity of the colliseum is about 3,000, and there were fully 3,000 persons struggling for admission. TERRY THE FAVORITE

TERRY THE FAVORITE.

There was little or no betting. Joe Vendiz had a bunch of money at the ringside, offerings as good odds as 3 to 1 on McGovern, with no takers. A few siy bets were made that the contest would not last ten rounds, at odds of 8 to 5. Several were made at even money that the contest would not last six rounds. The sum and substance of the betting end of the fight was that McGovern held sway and Corbett was nowhere.

After a preliminary bout between sway and Corbett was nowhere.

After a preliminary bout between Young Starr, of Philadelphia, and Jim Burke, of New York, in which Starr was the victor in 2:21, Sharkey was introduced and said: 'I am ready to box Jeffries, and if I get a show I will give a good account of myself. I will box anybody on earth, except a colored gentleman.'

Bob Fitzsimmons was called upon for a speech. He said he had defeated both Sharkey and Ruhlin, and had challenged Jeffries for another go, but Jeffries had flunked. Fitz said: 'I decided to die with the Horton law, and have made up my mind to devote the remainder of my life to teaching young Americans how to defend themselves.'

Govern and sending him to the floor. Mc-Govern took five seconds of the count, and came back like a wild man with left and right swings. Science was thrown to the winds, and the boys began slugging. At this stage it looked like any-body's fight, should one of the vicious swinging blows land. While Corbett kept his head and seemed to bore in better, his body blows were apparently no stiffer than those of his opponent. However, he kept on forcing McGovern half across the ring, and finally Terry forgot his defense. He simply saw a hurricane of blows coming toward him, and there was no guarding on his part. Suddenly a right swinging uppercut landed squarely on the point of the jaw, and McGovern went down and out. He was not rendered unconscious, but it was evident to all present he knew that the championship had taken wings. Referee White tolled off ten seconds while McGovern valiantly struggled. But it was all over, and in a few minutes the new champion was in his dressing-room, receiving cogratulations, while McGovern was wondering how it all happened. Govern took five seconds of the count

THE RIFLE. RIFLE MATCH.

RIFLE MATCH.

The Seventh Regiment team won in the rifle match with the Woiseley Barracks team, which was fired at the new ranges yesterday afternoon. The margin was not large. Although the day was rather cold, the sport was much enjoyed, and it is expected that many similar matches will be held in the future.

The conditions of the match were ten men on each team, and firing at three ranges—200 yards, 500 yards and 600 yards. Firing commenced at 1 o'clock at the 500 yards range, the Seventh making an aggregate of 221 to their opponents' 200 points at this distance. At 600 yards several of the Seventh broke badly, and the Barracks reduced their lead to three points, with the 200 yards to be shot. At this range the former increased their lead by seven points, winning the match by ten points. Major Denison, of Wolseley Barracks, and Major Hayes, of the Seventh Regiment, were range officers. The score:

SENSE ABOUT FOOD.

Facts About Food Worth Knowing.

It is a serious question sometimes to know just what to eat when a person's stomach is out of order and most foods cause griping and pains.

Grape-Nuts Food can be taken any time with the certainty that it will digest. Actual experience of people is valuable to anyone interested in foods.

Mrs. Ella Nation, 1.452 Grand avenue, Terre Haute, Ind., "Had suffered with indigestion for about four years, ever since an attack of typhoid fever, and at times could eat nothing but the very lightest food, and then suffer such agony with my stomach I would wish I never had to eat anything. I was urged to try Grape-Nuts Food, and since using it I do not have to starve myself any more, but I can eat it at any time and feel nourished and satisfied, and dyspepsia is a thing of the

"When my stomach used to have that burning, hungry sensation, my heart would flutter, just as sufferers with stomach trouble know about, and when I was so weak I could hardly walk I would get up and get some Grape-Nuts and cream and eat them. and the trouble would stop right away, and I kept growing better and better.
"My husband also had an experience with Grape-Nuts Food. He was very weak and sickly in the spring. Could not attend to his work. He was put unthe doctor's care, but medicine did not seem to do him any good until he began to leave off ordinary food and use Grape-Nuts. It was positively surprising to see the change in him. He grew better right off, and naturally he has none but words of praise for Grape-"Our boy thinks he cannot eat a meal without he has Grape-Nuts, and he learns so fast at school that his teacher and other scholars comment on it. I am satisfied that it is because of the great nourishing elements in Grape-Nuts. "It is a pity that people do not know what to feed their children. There are many mothers who feed their youngthe medicine down them. The real way is to stick to proper food and be healthy and get along without the medi-cine and expense."

FOOTBALL.

LONDON LOST. London was defeated yesterday at Tecumseh Park by Hamilton's stal-wart Tigers, one of the fastest senior teams in the Dominion. It was a batate relatives of the contracting par- tle of weight. The tigers were heavy and won. The Tigers were not a bit faster than the home team, and the game seemed to be nothing but a tangle of sweaters, all kinds of legs, and all the other football bric-a-brac, the egg-shaped sphere of pigskin very seldom coming within view of the spectators. That London stood the racket the way they did is very much to their credit, as Hennessy, Field and Hueston were unable to be present. They would have added much to strength of the team, although the lighter players made some fine plays. When Referee Jack Hobbs blew his whistle for the last time the score stood 7 to 4. When the Tigers lined up shortly after three, they immediately created the impression that if weight were to win the fight, the result might be decided beforehand. The Tigers averaged about 180 pounds each and every man on the team was well "schooled." Both teams were in excellent condition-London, the best, if anything, as they showed in the last half. The Tigers' first move was a rush; they had won the move and were kicking with the wind, and while the opponents took each other's measure, the ball was played in the open for a short time. This was the longest period for which the ball appeared to the

The Tigers were well content with the treatment, both in the game and elsewhere, and their captain said that London had the fastest scrimmage the Tigers had ever been up against, and frankly admitted that London picked up greatly in the last half and if the game had continued the chances for Hamilton would have been dark. Mr. Jack Hobbs refereed to the satisfaction of both teams. The only kick coming from Hamilton was on the ruling on an off-side play which gave London the chance, which they took, to score. No one was injured in the play and no ill-feeling arose. The work quickly. McNee made a neat re-turn kick. Hamilton got the ball in the preliminary scrimmage. It was passed to Gray, then to Moore, who made a drop kick. Regan got the ball, passed to Reid. who covered five yards. Several scrimmages, gaining nothing, followed. Hamilton got a free kick, which was not followed up well. The ball was finally carried by Hamilton to within five yards of goal, when Hamilton received a free kick, and London was forced to rouge.

play, and was checked and carried afteen yards across the line for a safety touch.

Hamilton 3, London 0. The ball was pushed by the Tigers to the 25-yard line. After scrimmaging. it was worked to the line by Guy, where he was checked, but not before scoring the touch down. Hamilton 7, London 0.

Frank Reid made a splendid rush, followed by a shorter one by Frank Taylor, which carried the pigskin to the 10-yard line. Here London's high-est hopes were dashed, by the un-welcome whistle for half time.

In the second half Hamilton failed to score. The rest seemed to have reversed the fortunes of both teams. The Tigers' scrimmage had weakened, and London's whole team seemed much strengthened. Clean, short runs by F. Taylor and MacMahen were the first steps of London's success. Hamilton secured the ball again, but the return kick by Taylor to touch was a clean This was the start of the most prolonged and desperate set of scrim-mages ever seen on the local gridiron. At last a free kick for London broke these monotonous proceedings. It was followed by one from the Tigers.] Mc-Nee caught the ball and gained ten yards. After several more moves the scrimmage of London made the strongest rush of the day. The stalwart Tigers were unable to check the onslaught, and London scored. McNee failed to convert.
