ZEPPELIN RAID CAUSES SERIOUS LOSS OF LIFE

UNITED STATES TO INVESTIGATE GERMAN "HOAX" STORY

GENERAL HUGHES REVIEWS TROOPS AND PRESENTS COLORS

FIFTEEN DEAD AS RESULT OF ZEPPELIN RAID

Same Number Wounded On English Northeast Coast.

ATTACK MADE IN EVENING

Fires Started By Bombs Poured From Airship.

PUT OUT BEFORE MORNING

Official Statement Given Out in London Gives Few Details.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 16.—A Zeppelin airship visited the northeast coast of England last evening and dropped bombs, fifteen deaths being reported from the district in question and fifteen persons were wounded.

Some fires were started by the projectiles from the Zeppelin, but by this morning they had been overcome.

This information was contained in an official announcement made in London today.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 16.—The latest air raid on the British coast was the most fatal of them all.

Zeppelins flew over the northeast coast of England last night. This morning fifteen persons are dead from missiles thrown down by the flyers, and as many more are wounded.

Never before has an air raid on England taken such toll in human life. This is the third air attack in a little over two weeks. May 31 was the date of the attack on London from the clouds, with four persons killed, and on June 6 the east coast of England was the scene of attack, with five fatalities.

Russians Retiring.

In the eastern arena of the fighting the Russian forces still are slowly and stubbornly retiring. The latest official report from Petrograd admits the withdrawal of Russian troops across the Galician frontier into Russian territory from Czernowitz, at a point between the Dniester and the Pruth. The same report sets forth that fresh German forces, brought up near Jaroslau under cover of heavy artillery fire, compelled the Russians to retire for some dis-

WASHINGTON WILL LOOK INTO CHARGE

To Investigate Story That Dr. Gerhard Was Really Meyer.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, June 16.—Published charges that Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard, for whom the United States arranged a safe conduct with the Allies that he might return to Germany with a personal message from Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, was in reality Dr. Alfred Meyer, chief of the supply department of the German army, who had been secretly in the United States buying munitions of war, are to be investigated by the state department.

Simultaneously, another version of the story—that Dr. Alfred Meyer, while not passing as Meyer-Gerhard, has been in the country and sailed with the former for Christiania, incognito, also will be looked into.

Bernstorff Vouched for Him.

State department officials and members of the diplomatic corps here recalled that at the personal request of Count Von Bernstorff, former Secretary of State Bryan asked the British and French ambassadors for safe conduct for Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard, a representative of the German Red Cross, who was returning to Berlin to carry a personal message from the count after the latter's audience with President Wilson in the midst of the diplomatic negotiations with Germany.

No question until today, however, had arisen at the department as to whether Meyer-Gerhard might really be Meyer, or if Meyer was in the country secretly buying war supplies.

Up to Department.

At the British and French embassies it was said the development was considered one purely for the state department to determine if it had been imposed upon. At the German embassy all officials were absent.

One report, which referred to Dr. Alfred Meyer as purchasing arms here, spoke of an attempt to buy obselete United States army rifles, and said former Representative Herman Metz had conferred with former Secretary Bryan on the subject. Mr. Bryan said today he had no recollection of any such conversation with Mr. Metz.

Lazy Ministers Roundly Scored By Brandon College President

[Canadian Press.]

Edmonton, June 16.—That many of the methods in vogue in modern theological colleges are unadulterated bunkum, and that some of the ministers of the present day "sleep in" so long they have no time for study, were some of the statements made at the Baptist convention by Dr. H. P. Whidden, president of Brandon College.

SPEED OF LUSITANIA SUPPOSED SUFFICIENT TO DODGE TORPEDOES

Cunard Officials Give Evidence Before the Commission of Inquiry—Had Not Enough Firemen or Coal To Use All Boilers.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 16.—The inquiry into the sinking of the Lusitania was resumed today, with the examination of Alfred A. Booth, chairman of the board of the Cunard Steamship Company. The Attorney-General, Sir Edward Carson, asked Mr. Booth why it was that the Lusitania was economizing by using only nineteen of her twenty-five boilers at the time she was torpedoed.

"So far as submarines are concerned, there is no difference between 21 and 24.5 knots," Mr. Booth replied.

Mr. Carson then asked whether there was any difference between eighteen knots, the speed at which the Lusitania was proceeding when attacked, and twenty-one knots. Mr. Booth replied that no steamer making more than fourteen knots was known to have been struck by a torpedo from a submarine until the Lusitania was hit.

No Wireless Instructions.

The witness said that the Cunard Line Company was unable to communicate with the vessel by wireless except through the admiralty, and therefore had given no wireless instructions to Capt. Turner. General instructions given previously covered the closing of the watertight compartments, the swinging out of boats on entering the danger zone, and an order not to slow down to take on a pilot or to lie to off Liverpool for the tide. It was left to Capt. Turner's discretion to arrange the time of the vessel's arrival. He said that all he knew relative to warnings issued to intending passengers was what he had read in English newspapers, having received no dispatch on this subject from the New York office of the company.

What Is "Schedule?"

Mr. Booth was cross-examined by an attorney representing survivors as to whether the company "took any steps to prevent the Lusitania from doing what she did do, that is, entering the war zone on schedule."

Witness replied he did not know what schedule time meant, but Capt. Turner

Mayor Stevenson Is No Tool of "Brute Force" Element In London

Does Not Jump To Find Jobs For Ward Heelers, But Wants It Understood That He Is Not Afraid of "Kaiser-Canadians."

Mayor H. A. Stevenson lays no claims to being a genius, nor does he try to wield the mailed fist. But as the chief executive of the city, who was elected by one of the largest majorities ever given a mayor in London, he is out against petty grafting and job-hunting.

He does not strive to rule London on the policy of brute force. Most people in London want to live peaceably, and there is only one clique that strives to apply doctrines at present obnoxious to the London people. The mayor wants it understood he is no Kaiser-Canadian. With this element Mayor Stevenson has dealt fairly and without fear or favor. Their "spies" are repeatedly on his trail, and his whole life as mayor is a fight against the insidious influences that have controlled and still seek to control the life of every public man in London.

Now, because the Mayor of London has turned down their job-hunting "ward heelers," who seek positions with the city rather because of incompetence to get anything else to do, than any ability to hold a position, he has been made the object of brutal attack.

NO JOBS FOR RELATIVES.

Mayor Stevenson does not believe in loading up municipal offices with his friends or relatives. He has placed upon the heads of departments the responsibility for all appointments. Every day he is buttonholed by those who seek places for friends or relatives, and every day he refers the seekers after office to the responsible heads of departments. As a result they are whining.

A desperate attempt is made to saddle the responsibility for the present heavy tax rate upon the present mayor. Anyone who will take the trouble to ask the city treasurer the amount of the overdrafts received from last year's administration, will find that the mayor of this year has been up against the most difficult problem with which a chief magistrate of the city was ever faced.

A MILLSTONE ON CITY'S NECK.

He has had little chance to make any movement toward constructive works he has in mind, because of the millstone of taxation hung around the city's neck by incompetents, and those worse than incompetent—the wild cat financiers who have added many mills to the tax rate by permitting heavy overdrafts to be saddled on the city and have allowed the electrification project to become a heavy charge against the ratepayers, by borrowing money for which there was no authority to the extent of almost a million dollars. Those who are responsible for the unsold debentures of the London and Port Stanley Railway know what the city of London has been reaping through a policy of deceit, treachery and the applications of blind brute force in the administration of the affairs of the city.

NOT A "HIGH TAXES" MAYOR.

No act of the present mayor or his "incompetent" supporters, as they are called by the "high taxes" organ, can be presented against H. A. Stevenson. He has had great difficulty in keeping the tax rate where it is at present. What expenditure of his has caused one mill to be placed on the tax rate? Every dollar of wasteful expenditure may be laid at the door of those who now seek to throw the blame upon him.

DASH AWAY AND SPEND.

The newspaper which supports the doctrine of "dash away and spend" in this city, last night had the following to say:

"Never in the history of London have the taxes been so high, and this despite the fact that the taxable assessment is $5,000,000 greater than it was a year ago. A feeble attempt is being made by the mayor and his supporters to place the blame for the high rate on the previous councils, but the fact remains that had there been A MAN in the mayor's chair, the expenditures would have been kept down and the people's pocketbooks would not have been plundered."

A BETRAYAL OF THE CITY.

Were it not such pathetic humor it would be to laugh. This is the newspaper that without a word of protest praised the wild policy of extravagance of the last few years which culminated in overdrafts for the present year of more than $100,000, which had to be paid out of current revenue, a matter of at least three mills on the tax rate. The newspaper that made the above assertion is the mouthpiece of the apostles of brute force. It has been treacherous to the citizens of London in that it has deceived them on many occasions, as it seeks to deceive them in the above paragraph. May London be delivered from such evil influences as those which seek to dash the present mayor to pieces and to place the city again in the hands of those who have its financial life blood upon their fingers at the present time.

MR. GUY OPEN TO CONVICTION

New General Traffic Manager of L. & P. S. R. Was Opposed to Electrification—Admits Grand Trunk Withdrawal a Serious Matter.

W. M. Guy, for some years chief clerk of the Pere Marquette in this city, has accepted the position of general traffic manager of the London and Fort Stanley Railway. He has also been accepted by the railway, and the deal is closed.

In view of the fact that Mr. Guy was known to be ardently opposed to the electrification of the road at the time when the Pere Marquette was opposing the project and before the Pere Marquette was given the contract for rebuilding the road, The Advertiser called Mr. Guy, who is known to be one of London's most genial citizens, and asked him about his present views.

Open to Conviction.

"What do you think of the prospects?" was questioned.

"I think they are all right," said Mr. Guy.

"But you opposed electrification some time ago," it was suggested.

"Yes; but a man is always open to conviction," said he.

"And are your doubts all removed?"

"Well, it may be a little early to make any statement, but I don't see why we can't make it go," was his reply.

Hard to Replace.

"What about the business of the Grand Trunk?"

"Well, if we lose that it might be hard to replace it all," said Mr. Guy.

Mr. Guy said he would be pleased to talk of the prospects of the road at any time.

The Pere Marquette has announced that it is soon to retire from the local field, giving its business to the L. and P. S. R.

THE MAYOR KEEPS DUCK AND HOPES HE MAY BE ABLE TO GET A HORSE

Mayor Stevenson is being "muckraked" by the paper which supported the Glaubitz party at the last election, because he showed someone the card of a man with whom he had traded a setting of ducks eggs.

The mayor admits that ducks is one of his hobbies.

"And some day perhaps I'll be able to trade a pair of my ducks to some of the buyers and get a horse for them," he stated. "You know its rather a good thing to have a few ducks around the place in these times. A man may be able to get in a fair way of making a fortune."

"HON. BOB" HEARS WINNIPEG INQUIRY

Turns Up in Court To Listen To Evidence in Scandal Case.

ACCOUNTANT ON STAND

W. A. Hunt Cannot Recollect Incident Regarding "Prime Costs."

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, Man., June 16.—Hon Robert Rogers was present in court when the royal commission resumed this morning at 10:20, and it was reported he would be subpoenaed and called as a witness later in the day.

Ernest Todd, manager of the Royal Trust Company, was the first witness, and was further examined regarding R. M. Simpson's box in the vault. The box itself has not yet been produced, and it is understood strong opposition will be recorded against the commission obtaining access to its contents.

J. J. Paddington, district superintendent of the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, will be examined today regarding the destruction of telegrams between Winnipeg and certain eastern points wanted by the commission as bearing on matters under investigation Hook To Be Called.

M. G. Hook, connected with the case through his negotiations with Salt, as related in Minneapolis last week, will also be called today. Apparently the ex-cabinet ministers will not be called until tomorrow at the earliest.

W. A. Hunt, assistant accountant in the provincial architect's office, was examined by C. P. Wilson, Liberal counsel, in regard to 'prime costs e would not swear that it was not he who instructed Leonard Easton to put the notation "All prime costs omitted" in the copy of the original specifications made in response to the order of the Legislature for returns. He said he had no recollection of it. Counsel reminded him that a subordinate of his named Andrews testified to a different effect before the public accounts committee.

Cannot Recollect.

Hunt also admitted that at an interview between employees of the Government, while the public accounts committee was in session, Leonard Easton stated it was Hunt who got him to put in the note. Nevertheless, witness said he could not recollect such an incident.

Ernest Todd, manager of the Royal Trust Company, recalled to the stand, filed with the commission records showing a visit paid to Dr. R. M. Simpson's strong box.

TRUST COMPANY TO FIGHT.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Winnipeg, June 16.—The Royal Trust Company intends to wage a big legal fight to prevent the royal commission from getting inside the safety deposit vault rented by Dr. R. M. Simpson, head of the Conservative association for many years, chief of the patronage committee and treasurer of the party's campaign fund, now at the front.

It is believed by Liberals that the balance of the campaign fund of $50,000 is still there, saved up to fight protests against members, also valuable documentary evidence bearing on distribution of funds during the campaign.

GEN. HUGHES WELL PLEASED BY UNITS

Urges Necessity For Ginger Upon Soldiers in the Camp.

SEES BAYONET DRILL

Orders Test of the Virtues of Anti-Chlorine Device Offered.

TALKS TO THE OFFICERS

Need of Vim in Movements Emphasized By Chief of Volunteers.

An inspection of all overseas troops in London was made this morning by Major-General Sam Hughes, minister of militia and defence. The general arrived at 11:15 via C. P. R., and was immediately taken to the mobilization camp at Carling's Heights. There the 7th Canadian Mounted Rifles, 33rd and 34th Battalions of infantry swung past in troops and columns of platoons respectively, as the general and his aides, the headquarters' staff and several civilian members of the general's party took up their position at the reviewing post on the parade grounds.

All corps made a good showing, and the general complimented the officers on their appearance afterwards.

Wounded Officers Here.

With the general came Capt. Dansereau, 48th Highlanders, Toronto, and Major Kircaldy, two Canadian officers of the first contingent who were wounded in the fighting at St. Julien. Capt. Dansereau, who was promoted by the general this week, was wounded in the head, and the bandage around the entire skull added a grim touch of the realities of war to the general review.

Col. Duff, P. S. Scott, M.P., and M. A. Secord, all of Galt, joined the general's party there and came to London with him. They lunched with the officers of the general staff and Sir Adam Beck, who was out in full uniform. Gen. Hughes introduced the wounded officers, who acted as his aides, to Lady Beck.

The inspection was the first official act of the general, who is here to present the battalion colors to the 34th Battalion.

As soon as the inspection was completed the minister of militia ordered the officers brought together, and gave them a general lecture on the necessity of ginger on parades, the use of bayonet exercises, the necessity of knowing how to shoot, and a few other things.

See Bayonet Drill.

Then he witnessed a portion of the 34th put on a bayonet fighting exercise, under Sergt.-Major A. Caudle, went through the orderly office of the 33rd Battalion, heard Paul Newman of Toronto explain the virtues of his respirator guaranteed against chlorine gas, made arrangements to have Major A. V. Becher, medical officer of the 33rd, make an official test of the same and had lunch with Col. L. W. Shannon and the officers of the divisional staff.

A Slight Confusion.

There was a slight mixup in the arrangements made to meet the general. Col. Shannon and other officers of the divisional staff, who were at the C. P. R. station, were notified that the general had left his private car at Quebec street, and had gone to the camp. The officers immediately left the station, but when the train pulled in the minister of militia was still on board. There was a hurried return of the divisional cars and the general was hustled to the camp.

The General Review.

The general review of the troops was the first consideration, and it was put through with a vim. The band of

MANY VISITORS ARE HERE

Special Rates Bring Thousands From Guelph and Other Points.

After they had been dedicated by Capt. H. D. Peacock, chaplain of both brigades in camp, the battalion colors of the 34th were officially presented to the battalion by Major-General Sam Hughes in the presence of all the overseas troops and thousands of citizens and out-of-town visitors in Victoria Park this afternoon.

Before Monument.

The 33rd and 34th Battalions of infantry and the 7th C. M. R., which paraded dismounted under Major C. H. Reason, were lined up before the soldiers' monument, from which the presentation was made.

City officials, prominent out-of-town guests and the divisional officers were there, as well as representatives of the Red Cross Society, the Daughters of the Empire, the Woman's Canadian Club and similar organizations.

Special excursions from Guelph, Preston and other towns from the district in which the 34th Battalion was raised, brought in thousands who witnessed the color presentation and the manoeuvres that succeeded them.

Gen. Hughes to Niagara.

Gen. Hughes was to leave immediately after the presentation, going by special train to the mobilization camp at Niagara On the Lake.

As announced before, the colors that were handed over to the 34th were those presented to the battalion by C. E. Freer, manager of the Bank of Montreal in Guelph, and one of the firm friends and admirers not only of the battalion commander, Lieut.-Col. A. J. Oliver, but of the whole battalion as well.

The battery is being raised in Guelph and London, although men will be accepted at other points in the first division. Col. Shannon announced today that it would in all likelihood be trained here for some time at least.

The staff of Major Coghlan of Guelph, who has been selected to command the battery, has not yet been announced.

MARCONI BAND PARADES. — The splendid band of the Marconi Club went for a short ride about the city this afternoon, playing many patriotic selections, before going to Victoria Park to take part in the military celebration and presentation of colors to the troops.

Mr. Justice Sutherland, announced by the deputy clerk of the county court today.

The three infant children were taken as wards by the aid society several months ago, on the grounds that they were not being properly cared for by the parents.

An unusual point in the judgment is that the aid society must pay damages amounting to $50.

CHICAGO STREET CAR STRIKE CALLED OFF

Will Settle Trouble by Arbitration—Cars to Operate at Once.

Chicago, June 16.—The strike of 14,000 street car men was called off shortly after 5 o'clock today. All points at issue will be settled by arbitration. Operation of cars on all lines was to be resumed as quickly as the striking men could be notified.

The end of the strike, which has tied up electric transportation for two days, came with the selection of Mayor William Hale Thompson as the third member of a board of arbitration, the main question at issue. Officials of the companies will select an arbitrator by Saturday, it was announced. W. D. Mahon, international president of the Street Car Men's Union, probably will be named to represent the men.

Sessions of the board of arbitration probably will be begun early next week, it was announced. The plan decided upon stipulates that all questions at issue will be heard without any advance concessions having been made.

Announcement of a settlement came too late to start cars for the rush hours early today, and the great armies of workers were obliged to again depend on the thousands of motor busses, moving trucks, ice wagons and railroad suburban trains for transportation.

Officials of the traction systems telegraphed to eastern labor agencies not to employ any more men as strike-breakers.

OFFICIAL THINKS GIRL SPY FOOLISH

Has Learned Nothing But What Is Common Knowledge.

WILL GO TO THE MERCER

German to Whom She Gave Information Is of Little Account.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, June 15.—Inspector of Detectives George Kennedy says that he knows al about Louise Markesfeldt, that he has found out the name of the German with whom she was associated, that her efforts at spying were of a very crude nature, and that nothing she has done in this direction need cause any worry, either to police or military authorities. Briefly, Louise Markesfeldt obtained information which is more or less common property. This information she is alleged to have conveyed to her German friend, who is now out of the city. No special effort will be made to bring him back. The inspector says that the girl's ultimate disposition will be a committal to the Mercer as "a person without visible means of support."

"The information which she is said to have communicated to her German confederate was regarding places in Ontario where shells are being made, the location of troops in training and their time of departure for Quebec," said Inspector Kennedy. "We have traced the girl's movements and ascertained that she has been in London, Berlin, Strathroy, Niagara Falls, and other Ontario towns, but in none of these places has she gained any information that would be of material benefit to the enemy. We know the name of the man who worked with her, and he is a person of no consequence. We do not intend to give out his name, because he may come back to Toronto. If he does come back, he will be arrested, but if he doesn't we will not make any special effort to get him."

A False Alarm

The inspector believes that Louise Markesfeldt is a romancer. He thinks her imagination inflamed by stories and reports of dynamitards, bridge-wreckers and German plots led her to conceive the plan to pose as a clever German spy. Her own egotism, the inspector thinks, defeated her purpose. In plain English, the inspector thinks she is "a false alarm."

Barnardo Superintendent Doubtful.

Detective Maurer believes the girl to be a tool in the hands of local Germans. She is known to have recently visited different places in the United States, but for what purpose she declines to say. In her possession was a scrap of paper, inscribed with the words in German, "God punish England."

To the matron of the Margaret A. Cox Home for Girls at Peterboro, where Miss Markesfeldt was sent by Dr. Barnardo's Home in London in November, 1907, she seemed a perfectly normal girl. This afternoon the matron said:

"She came to us, aged 10, and before that had been in the Lambeth workhouse, London. I do not think she is likely to have known very much before that age. We have kept track of all her movements up to September last. As regards her own story, of travel in the United States, and her work as a spy, I think it is pure romancing. The war has probably gone to her head, or, what is quite likely, she may have fallen into the hands of Germans in Toronto, who have used her for their own ends."

From Guelph it is reported that the girl was employed there as a domestic at the home of Mr. H. E. Cosford, manager of the Nell shoe store, two years ago, and that she paid another visit to the town early this spring. She is remembered there as a strange-acting girl, and on several occasions, both while in Guelph and after she had left, a foreign-looking gentleman called to see her, and it was known that she had correspondence with a Major Guilderstein.

At Niagara Falls, where she spent a few months last year, she was employed as a domestic by Rev. James Barber, and repeatedly stated that she was a German spy. While there she seemed over-anxious to mingle with the soldiers on guard duty at bridges and power plants, and paid repeated visits to the armories to try to converse with the soldiers, and she showed a keen interest in war pictures. All her sentiments were strongly pro-German.

CELEBRATE SIXTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Friends and Relatives of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Munroe Assemble To Offer Congratulations.

On Thursday afternoon, June 10th, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald N. Munroe, townline, Mosa, was the scene of a most interesting event, when many of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm C. Munroe called to offer their congratulations, it being the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. The house was tastefully decorated with peonies and carnations, by the daughters.

Mrs. (Dr.) Smith and Mrs. Wood, who presided at the tea-table, were ably assisted by Misses Annie Dewar, Bessie McIntyre, Jane and Effie MacKellar and served guests numbering about seventy. Mr. Munroe was presented with a gold mounted cane, suitably inscribed and Mrs. Munroe with a silk dress, by their family. Mrs. John Secord, Mosa, Mrs. J. H. MacFarlane, Detroit, Mrs. James Walker, Metcalfe, Mrs. Duncan Dewar, St. Thomas, John of St. Clair, Mich., and Donald on the homestead, Peter of Margaret, Manitoba, being the only one absent. A number of their grandchildren — of whom there are twenty-one—were present. One of the absent grandsons is with the No. 3 Field Ambulance, now serving in France.

Mr. Munroe was born 82 years ago on the farm on which he still resides, and Mrs. Munroe, whose maiden name was Mary McNeil, was born 80 years ago on an adjoining farm. Both are hale and hearty and engage actively in the duties of home and farm. They are staunch Presbyterians, Mr. Munroe being for many years an elder in Burns' Church, Mosa, where he has worshipped in three different edifices. In politics Mr. Munroe is a Liberal and a lifelong reader of The Advertiser.

Three of those who were present on this occasion, were also present at the fiftieth anniversary, and at the marriage ceremony sixty years ago. They are John Dewar, who was groomsman, Donald McGregor and Alexander McLauchlan.

PECULIAR APPLE WORM LIKE WILL-O'-THE-WISP

Comes From Soil, Disappears, and Shows Up in the Branches.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINGHAM, June 15.—Further inquiries into the activities of the strange worm which has been working havoc in orchards near here, show that it only attacks one kind of apple tree, the Northern Spy. A Lincoln, whose trees have suffered, says the grub comes from the soil and seems to disappear as soon as it emerges, only to come to view again in the trees, hanging to a web resembling that of a spider.

The only way of destroying the pest so far discovered is to use torches and burn it off the trees.

Amos Tipling, one of the largest flax growers in this section, has nearly 250 acres which promise to yield a good crop. He has had 25 hands working all winter, and has now left for Southampton to employ Indians for the "pulling."

Albert Toms of Bluevale has decided to volunteer for active service, and will leave his three motherless children in the care of his parents. He has arranged to sell his farm stock and implements and rent the land.

Elocutionists In Pleasing Program

Pupils of Miss Georgia M. Newbury Delight Big Audience.

A well-balanced program, which admirably demonstrated the scope of the training received in the elocution department of the London Conservatory of Music under the direction of Miss Georgia M. Newbury, was presented last night by advanced pupils before a large and appreciative audience in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.

An arrangement of the third act of "The Piper," by Josephine Preston Peabody, made serious demands upon the dramatic ability of Miss Edna P. Lancaster as "The Piper," and Miss Gladys M. Wright in the role of "Veronika," both of whom acquitted themselves most creditably. The introduction to this number was given by Miss Newbury.

Miss Ethel M. Reynolds proved herself particularly happy in the interpretation of child numbers, and her group of James Whitcomb Riley selections, "At Auntie's House," "The Happy Little Cripple" and "Our Hired Girl," was much enjoyed.

Miss Olive Robinson infused into her reading of the well-known classic, "The Death of Sidney Carton," by Charles Dickens, a pathos and depth of tragic feeling which stamped her a young artist of much promise.

A picturesque number followed, described on the program as "Aesthetic Physical Culture Drill," when, to the rhythm of music played by Miss Annie Brock, six graceful young girls in flowing Grecian draperies, proved themselves mistresses of the art of the poetry of motion.

A diverting playlet, "The Kleptomaniac," revealed the versatility of several who had already appeared. Miss Gladys M. Wright was now a scatter-brained and loveable young society woman, who, on discovering the loss of her purse, developed hysterics. Miss Ethel Reynolds provoked much mirth as the doll-like wife of "Charlie," whom she ceaselessly quoted. Miss Cora Patton, portraying Mrs. Armsby, blond and somewhat cynical, and Miss Edna P. Lancaster as the capable spinster friend, who could run her own business and that of her friends as well, proved themselves most skillful in the delineation of character parts. Miss Jane Metcalfe had a double role, that of society reporter, with a keen scent for news, and also that of a supercilious social climber. Miss Zella Lane satisfactorily performed the duties of a minor part, that of Katie, the maid.

Miss Rowena Weld, a talented pupil of Miss Dewey, gave a much-appreciated violin solo, a Massanet selection, taking the place of Master Harry Jarvis, whose name appeared on the program.

The recital of last night was an attractive one of a series in connection with the Conservatory closing exercises.

TAKE DIP FROM RIDOUT ST. IS WORKS BOARD'S PLAN

Will Recommend Road Be Raised One Foot at Intersection.

The board of works, at its meeting last night, decided to recommend to the board of control that Ridout street, at Grand avenue, be raised a foot. A great many complaints have been made regarding the present conditions at this point, many citizens claiming that their property is interfered with.

The committee also recommended that the board of control at once take up the matter of paving York and Talbot streets.

Superintendent Dodd presented a report, showing the cost of street watering to May 31. The work is well within the estimates and it is expected that a surplus will be left for the purchase of additional equipment. The board may purchase a motor cleaner.

A history of all the London men leaving for overseas service will be secured at once.

SUCCESSFUL RECITAL.

Pupils of Miss Eggleston Acquit Themselves With Distinction.

Last night Miss Florence Eggleston was showered with congratulations at the conclusion of a highly successful violin recital given by her pupils in Dundas Centre Methodist Sunday School room, assisted by Miss Ruth Young, soprano; Gladstone Paul, cellist; and Miss Eulalie Young and Wilfrid Short accompanists.

Even the most inexperienced of those taking part revealed a grace and skill in bowing that reflected greatest credit on the teacher and won for themselves the delighted approval of the audience. While all acquitted themselves most creditably, special mention must be made of Wilfrid Short, whose command of technique and artistic rendering of the De Beriot "Air Varie" was a distinct surprise in a student's recital. Another pupil for whom a musical future is predicted is Mary Carmichael, who played the Berceuse from Jocelyn (Godard) with a richness and purity of tone and artistic feeling remarkable in so young a girl.

A pleasing introduction was the opening quartet for violin, cello and piano, while the ambitious symphony, by Carl Eschman, proved an appropriate finale.

Miss Ruth Young, soprano, was one of the revelations of the evening. Not only is her voice exceptionally clear, sweet and flexible, but training has developed its natural beauties. Her enunciation is satisfyingly distinct and her interpretive ability of an unusually high order. Her numbers received enthusiastic encores, and at the conclusion of the first shew as presented with a magnificent cluster of sweet peas.

The following was the program:

Spanish Tanze, Moritz Moskowski—Marjorie Miller, first violin; Wilfrid Short, second violin; Gladstone Paul, cello; Eulalie Young, piano. The Dance of the Shadows, Newman—Jack MacGregor. Simple Aveu, Thome—Shirley Johnston. (a) When the Dew Is Falling, Schneider; (a) A Birthday, Huntingdon Woodman—Miss Ruth Young. Berceuse, from Jocelyn, Godard—Mary Carmichael. Second Symphony, Dancia—Mary Carmichael, Wilfrid Short. The Last Rose of Summer, Fantasie by Danbe—Marjorie Allan. Air Varie, De Beriot—Wilfrid Short. Haymaking, Needham—Miss Ruth Young. Il Trovatore, Fantasie, Verdi-Alard—Marjorie Miller. Symphony, Carl Eschman—Wilfrid Short, first violin; Marjorie Miller, second violin; Marjorie Allan, third violin; Gladstone Paul, cello; Eulalie Young, piano.

AMMUNITION DESTROYED BY A THUNDERBOLT

Building at Dominion Arsenal Catches Fire During Storm.

QUEBEC, June 15.—One of the buildings of the fulminite works, which was situated on the Plains of Abraham and utilized by the Dominion Arsenal authorities for the storage of ammunition, was struck by lightning this afternoon and the result was the destruction of about half a million rounds of small arms ammunitnon which had been rejected by the Government inspectors, either on the score of being slightly over proof or because of low velocity. There was no fulminite stored in the building at the time and there was no loss of life, while there was only the one building damaged.

BRITAIN TO BATTLE AGAINST GERMANS FOR LOVE OF HONOR

Bishop Williams Upholds the Cause of the Allies in Eloquent Charge.

THE PART OF CANADIANS

Dominion Never Hesitated to Throw In Lot With the Motherland.

A masterly charge by Bishop Williams, in the course of which he asserted his conviction that Britain could not have avoided participation in the war without losing her honor, and that eventual victory for her and her allies was absolutely assured, was the feature of the opening meeting of the annual session of the Synod of Huron in Bishop Cronyn Hall yesterday.

"The year past," his lordship said, "has been a momentous one. We, in Canada, have been spared many of the horrors which the war has brought to the people of other countries; we have lived in security while other countries have been laid waste, and we ask ourselves the question: 'What can we do to show our thankfulness?' Nothing we can give would be commensurate with the blessings we have received, but it is our bounden duty to do what we can.

Climax In History.

"This year marks a climax in the world's history. It is the hour of destiny for the whole world. It closes an old and opens a new era. It marks a dividing point of time. In generations to come it will be looked back to as the time of the 'great divide.' And the British Empire will be affected not least among the nations. The unity and cohesion it has developed among the various parts of the Empire are the wonder of the world.

"In times of peace it was easy to split hairs in academic discussion of the question whether Canada would be at war if Britain were at war. When the time came the question answered itself. It was settled by instinct. We knew instinctively that 'divided we fall, but united we stand.' We never hesitated about throwing in our lot with the mother country, and we shall keep on until the war has been decided satisfactorily."

Britain—Champion of Weak.

Referring to Britain's participation in the war, his lordship declared that, as the champion of the smaller nations for 300 years, she could not have stood aloof while Belgium was ravished, and have kept her honor. Ten months of the war had opened our eyes to the fact which even the Germans had ceased to deny, that on their part the war was one of aggression. More than that, we know now that Germany's intention was to subject England after having subjected the other nations first. Therefore, Britain was fighting not only in defence of the smaller nations, although she was fighting for that, too, but she also was fighting for her very life.

The war was even more than a life and death struggle between Britain and Germany. It was a war of opposing principles, a world conflict, for Germany was seeking to impose on the whole world her "kultur." Upon its issue hung the destiny of civilization.

If Germany were successful, it would mean turning the clock of civilization back a thousand years. The last ten months had proved this and had supplied examples of what German "kultur" really was. And if the murder of old men and women, the rape of young girls, ruthless devastation of unoffending countries and atrocities of all kinds were fair examples of German kultur "from all such, good Lord, deliver us."

Can't Doubt Final Issue.

"We cannot doubt what the final issue will be," continued the bishop, "but we must be strong and very courageous to meet what is ahead of us before that issue is decided."

It could be assumed, he said, that war was inconsistent with the ultimate ideals of Christianity. He thought, however, that the contention of some people that all war was unjustifiable, was erroneous. Christianity had to deal with men and nations as they were, not as they ought to be. Selfishness existed and must be combatted. Besides, the supreme end to which God was leading us was not peace but righteousness. We should prosecute the war with unquestioned faith in the righteousness of our cause.

That the war in one sense was a judgment, his lordship maintained. This was not a popular aspect of it, he said, but the fact had to be faced. In the Bible, war was recognized as one of God's judgments, and we must not think that anything in this world occurred without God. If nations lived the true Christian life wars would be no more, but man had freedom of choice and could choose the evil and reject the good if he so desired, but when he did such punishments as war were likely to result.

Cause a Righteous One.

If this were true, it concerned us to know in what respect we had offended. While he was fully convinced of the righteousness of the cause for which we were fighting, we were not entirely free from a share of the failure to conform to God's laws which had brought the judgment upon the world and we should be shortsighted if we did not see in it something more than a judgment upon Germany, although she, no doubt, was the worst offender.

The time, he continued, was ripe for a great revival of Christian faith. The experiences of the war, both for men and nations, probably would cause an upheaval of the old order and a reorganization of our social, national and international life.

He thought that more Anglican chaplains should be appointed to bring the proportion into alignment with the proportion of Anglicans among the soldiers. Of the men from Canada who had joined the overseas forces, three out of every five were of the Anglican faith. He urged, too, that special prayers be used, both in public and private, for the men at the front. They should be used at week-day services, and certainly at every Sunday service.

Finances in Good Shape.

His lordship reviewed the financial situation throughout the diocese, and expressed the opinion that the showing was splendid, in view of the extra claims which the war had made on the resources. He hoped that this year the M. S. C. C. contribution would be made up to the full apportionment. This had been nearly accomplished last year.

He referred to a misunderstanding which apparently had arisen as to the power of select vestries to deal with funds. These bodies, he declared, had no right to use moneys contributed for diocesan purposes, or for the M. S. C. C., for other purposes. Their rights were purely local.

Church extension in the cities, he said, had not been entirely satisfactory. Missions were placed too far away from the parent churches, with the result that in many cases a generation probably would have to pass before they had a sufficient population to maintain ministers of their own. One fact upon which the synod could congratulate itself was that not a single mission charge was vacant now. He stated that there were 167 clergy in the diocese, as compared with 161 last year, and that these represented about 160 fully organized parishes and missions.

The territory over which these were distributed had an area of about 12,000 square miles, and he thought that possibly some time in the near or distant future it might be necessary to consider some means of providing additional episcopal oversight.

Changed Attitude of Science.

His lordship spoke at some length on the changed attitude of science towards religion. The negative and dogmatic skepticism, which had characterized it formerly, seemed to be disappearing.

A committee to report on the principal features of the bishop's charge was appointed as follows: Clerical—Ven. Archdeacon MacKenzie, Canon Tucker, Canon Davis and Canon Howard, Lay—Matthew Wilson, E. G. Henderson, Judge Holt and Charles Jenkins.

John Ransford of Clinton was reappointed lay secretary to the synod, and Rev. R. J. M. Perkins of Ingersoll again occupies the position of clerical secretary.

Canon Craig gave notice of a motion to put on record the synod's concurrence in the spirit of a resolution passed at the meeting of the bishops of the Church of England at Fort William in April last, pledging themselves to abstain from drinking liquor, or from treating anyone else, during the war. This motion also embodies a statement of the synod's loyalty to the crown.

Another notice of motion expressing the loyalty of the synod was introduced by Rev. W. F. Brownlee of St. Thomas.

At the evening session a notice of motion, of which the mover and seconder are Rev. W. J. Doherty of Hensall and Rev. J. W. J. Andrew of Berlin, respectively, was introduced, which, if adopted, will express the synod's request to the General Synod to restore the second verse of the National Anthem, which begins, "O Lord our God, arise."

A number of amendments to existing canons were passed on the recommendation of E. G. Henderson of Windsor. The first change provides that Huron College shall be considered as a charge for the purpose of licensing professors at the college, in order that they may participate in the benefits of the synod funds.

Guard Against Friction.

Considerable discussion took place as to the necessity for safeguarding the amendment in some way to prevent people from other parishes attending the chapel, and consequent friction between the officials of the college and the rectors of the other parishes. The balance of opinion, however, was that no bar of any kind should be placed on worship, and a man should not be prevented from attending any place of worship he wished. Moreover, it was thought that no difficulty would arise in the present case, since the chapel was a purely college institution and was on a private estate.

The other amendments were to enable priests acting as chaplains to the forces on active service to participate in the superannuation fund, provided they had accepted their commissions with the bishop's consent, and to overrule in the case of ministers acting as chaplains the clause which suspends his right to participation in the benefits of the widows' and orphans' fund, if he leaves the diocese with or without permission for two years or more.

Both of these gave rise to very lengthy discussions, although the difference of opinion existed only with reference to their wording, and not to their principle. Rev. H. W. Snell of Drumbo and Rev. D. W. Collins of Exeter thought that the privileges it was proposed to extend to chaplains should be extended also to ministers serving in any capacity in the crown forces. However, the bishop ruled that this phase of the question had not been raised in the notices of motion printed in the convening circular, and therefore could not be considered.

Just before adjournment Mr. Henderson submitted a motion to adjourn after this morning's sitting until 4 o'clock, in order that the delegates might have an opportunity of witnessing the presentation by the Minister of Militia of new colors to the 34th Battalion. The matter was left over until this morning.

LONDON GROCERS PLAN EXCURSION TO DETROIT

The Retail Grocers' Association of London at their meeting last evening arranged for their annual excursion to be held on Wednesday, June 23 to Detroit. A special train will leave the city at 7.30 o'clock in the morning.

Besides being a holiday for the grocers and their assistants, it promises to be a souvenir day for those who take advantage of the occasion. The McCormick Manufacturing Company and D. S. Perrin Company are to distribute packages, while the Grocers' committee will also hand out fruit and lunches through the trains. A regularly constituted lunch counter is to be established in the baggage car, but it is promised that the refreshments there in the liquid line will be limited to orangeade, grape juice and buttermilk.

To Regain a Healthy Girlish Complexion.

If you would have a clear, fresh, girlish complexion, one ounce of ordinary mercolized wax will aid you in this direction more than shelves full of cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This wax, procurable at any drug store, completely absorbs a bad complexion, revealing the healthy, young skin underneath. Its work is done so gradually, day by day, that no inconvenience is caused. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and removed in the morning with soap and water.

Another valuable rejuvenating treatment—this for wrinkles—is to bathe your face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½-pt. witch hazel. This has a remarkable action in smoothing out the lines and "firming up" the loose tissue.

This Leaves the Skin Free From Hairy Growths

(Toilet Talks.)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get delatone.—advt. M12J16

HOTELMAN IS FELLOW-MEMBER OF HIS CHURCH

This Is Why Mr. Nicholas Asks Retention of Queen's Park License.

BOMB SHELL TO WORKERS

Shopkeepers and Head of Fair Board Plead For Hotel Cause.

London citizens, a majority of whom voted for license reduction early in the year, had a shock today with their morning paper and their morning coffee, or whatever beverage they prefer for breakfast. The bomb in the case that created all the disturbance was in the shape of a report of a petition from London presented yesterday to the provincial license commissioners asking for the retaining of bar privileges for three of the hotels on the docking list—the Queen's Park, presided over by Orr & Hill; the Brunswick, whose proprietor is Robert McIntyre, and the Windsor, where P. J. McEvoy is in charge.

The surprise lay, not in the fact that a deputation representing the Licensed Victuallers' Association, and hotelmen had waited on the commission, nor yet in the fact that a petition was presented.

The license reduction committee and sympathizers with advanced temperance legislation were well aware that strenuous measures would be adopted to oppose the cutting-off edict. They also had heard rumors, or knew positively, that a petition had been circulated.

Strong Forces Gathered.

The startling feature of the dispatch was the statement that the petition had the support of church officials, transportation forces, prominent merchants and the president of one of the most prominent boards in the city and district. Rev. J. H. Boyd, chairman of the license reduction committee, was aware of the visit to Toronto of the opposing forces and also that a petition had been prepared.

"What will your committee do in the matter?" he was asked.

"In regard to that, I am not prepared to make any statement. However, I can say we will call a meeting immediately to take steps as may be found necessary to cope with the new situation. It has been a great surprise to me to read that church wardens have petitioned for the retaining of bar privileges. I cannot believe they have the authority of St. Matthew's Church. It has also been a surprise to see the name of Mr. W. J. Reid. He must surely be speaking for himself and not in his official capacity as president of the fair board. I do not believe the board, as a whole, would indorse such a proceeding.

Not Board's Sentiment.

Prof. Bowman believes if President W. J. Reid represented the fair board in signing the petition, only one course remains open to the citizens who voted for the cutting off of six licenses—to boycott the fair. He believes, however, that the directors of the fair could not possibly compromise themselves in such a manner, and that any officer signing this petition on behalf of the board would not be representing the organization fairly.

What of the circulation of a petition?

Businessmen of the east end admit such a petition was circulated. They also admit it was largely signed, though they didn't care to have their names mentioned. One stated that many signed the petition to have the bar privileges of the Queen's Park Hotel retained because they considered it better run than the Duke of York, and that if any licenses were going to be cut off the Duke of York should be the first to get the axe. But he didn't want his name mentioned.

The Reason Why.

Was it true that the church wardens of St. Matthew's, Messrs. Nicholas and Fox, had signed a petition for the retaining of bar privileges for the Queen's Park Hotel. Nicholas, speaking on behalf of the wardens, stated he and his brother warden had done so for the reason that Mr. Hill, one of the proprietors of the Queen's Park Hotel, and his wife were among the best members of St. Matthew's Church.

Mr. Orr, who with Mr. Hill, shares the partnership in the Queen's Park Hotel, called up The Advertiser office this morning asking for a correction to be made.

"That The Advertiser reporter?" he asked.

"Yes."

"I'd like you to make a correction. I notice you have in the headlines to the report about the deputation visiting the provincial license commissioners that churchmen line up behind city's three threatened bars. This isn't correct. It's unfair to the churchwardens of St. Matthew's. They aren't behind three bars being retained. They are just behind one of them, the Queen's Park. It isn't fair to mix them up in that way, and I don't think they'd like it. They only signed the letter asking for the retaining of license privileges for the Queen's Park. They recognized we had run our hotel properly, and said, without being asked, they appreciated the fact and would support us. Will you please see that correction is made?"

MANY LONDONERS LINE UP BEHIND THREATENED BARS

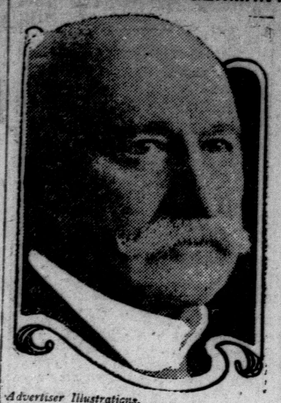

TORONTO, June 15.—London supplied the new provincial board of license commissioners with its first shock. It was proposed to cut off the bar privileges of three of the hotels of that city: The Queen's Park, presided over by Orr & Hill; the Brunswick, whose proprietor is Robert McIntyre, and the Windsor, where P. J. McEvoy is in charge. These gentlemen asked a reconsideration of the cutting-off edict. With H. M. Graydon of London, and Mr. James Haverson, K.C., they presented themselves before the entire board today.

They had the church lined up behind them. They submitted an earnest advocacy of their cause from the wardens of St. Matthews Anglican Church. They had the transportation forces on their side. The superintendent of the Grand Trunk car shops, the master carbuilder, the agent of the C.P.R., and the superintendent and the roadmaster of that system all urged the excellence of their claim. They had the directors of the Western Fair Board, in a letter from the president, Mr. W. J. Reid.

Merchants and Farmers.

They had a largely signed petition representing, according to their counsel, every merchant in the vicinity. They contributed letters of support from various large manufacturing firms. They produced petitions signed by over 25 bona-fide farmers in the adjoining rural municipalities in strong support of the local option forces, Mr. Albert Grigg, TALBERT J. ALBERT of Maryland a veteran in the diplomatic world, now American consul at Brunswick, Germany.

M.P.P., Algoma, who testified that, while a strong supporter of local option in his district, he was impressed with the excellence of the hotels under consideration.

On top of all this came the persuasive words of Mr. Haverson. "My clients," said he, "want everything to be determined upon its merits They recognize that if their private interests conflict with public service, then the public service must have the right of way. They ask nothing that is not for the public interest." He pointed out that all classes of the community, and particularly the farmers, had suffered from the fact that in such a market city there was not nearly sufficient hotel accommodations.

Will Visit London.

The chairman, Mr. J. D. Flavelle, at the close contented himself with assuring the petitioners that all the data presented would be fully and carefully considered. The board will probably visit London itself within the next few days and see the hotels in question and look over the situation, he subsequently told The Advertiser. Other commissioners concurred in this project. They had manifestly met with entirely new conditions and were anxious to adjust themselves to the situation as it is on the spot.

During the discussion, Mr. Graydon submitted a new technical point, which, however, he did not press. Dealing with the new act, he maintained that its wording left doubt as to the authority of the new provincial board to interfere with any action determined upon legally and within their jurisdiction by the local boards which preceded the central body.

FRENCH TO HAVE STEEL HELMETS

Will Protect Against Shell Fragments and Spent Bullets.

Paris, June 16.—French soldiers in the field soon are to begin wearing light steel helmets, suggesting in their design the antique head pieces of men-at-arms. In color they will be grey-blue, harmonizing with the service uniforms which French soldiers have been wearing for several months past.

The ministry of war has adopted a design for this helmet, after a prolonged examination of various different types submitted. The new helmet will afford considerable protection to the head from fragments of shells and rifle bullets travelling with the lessened velocity. The customary cap will be retained for service behind the front.

Two Thirty-Cent-Fare Days for Road to Port.

No comment is required on the schedule of rates announced for the London and Port Stanley Railway further than to say that citizens were promised that the 30-cent fare would be charged each day during the summer.

According to an announcement made by Sir Adam Beck, the fares to be charged will be 30 cents on Wednesday and Saturday, with the same rate for school picnics. The rates were "arranged exclusively" by Sir Adam, but after some plain speaking by the mayor.

The regular rate to Port Stanley and return will be 70 cents, for Sunday to Monday 60 cents, for holidays 50 cents, one day.

The fare charged on the road for several years was 30 cents during the summer months.

the 34th Battalion, under the direction of Bandmaster Baldwin, played the march past. Lieut. Col. A. J. Oliver, commander of the 34th, was with the general during the review, and Capt. McCrae, adjutant of the same battalion, acted as the orderly officer of the parade. Major Clifford Reason and Lieut.-Col. Alex. D. Wilson, O. C. of the 7th C. M. R. and 33rd Battalion, respectively, paraded at the head of their own commands.

Orders a Trlot Fast.

Following the march past at a walk the general requested that the Mounted Rifles be brought past at a trot. Then the infantry battalions were marched back in battalion formation, the lines spreading from one side of the parade ground to the other.

In all formations the men showed up splendidly and made a great impression.

Following the dismissal of the battalion the officers of the three regiments formed a semi-circle around the general and listened to his lecture.

Compliments 33rd.

He prefaced his remarks with the statement that the 33rd Battalion had made great progress since his last visit to the city. Bayonet exercises took his attention next, and he wanted to know what the local battalions were doing in this respect. It was here that he requested Lieut.-Col. Oliver to parade a squad to go through the exercises with the spring bayonet rods provided for that purpose.

Shooting Counts.

From bayonet work he switched into rifle shooting. "It's rifle shooting that counts," he declared, and repeated the statement in several different ways. He declared that ability to handle a rifle gave confidence to the soldier, either officer and man, and to do justice to themselves the officers must know their musketry and be competent to act as instructors to their men.

"Have everyone trained in your command," spake the general. "Have your subalterns trained so they can take their captains places and have your captains trained so they can take the command if the colonel gets potted. Have men in each platoon trained to take command of it if the sergeant gets his, and so on down the line have somebody always ready to take the other fellow's place if anything occurs."

Equals Five Germans.

The general wound up his address with the advice that every officer and man who had come back from the front was unanimous in their opinion that one Canadian was equal to five Germans, equally armed and trained.

"The only way the Germans can ever defeat the Canadian is by overwhelming odds," declared the speaker. They have shown it in the past, and I know that you, too, will show it in the future when you get to the firing line."

Anti-Chlorine Device.

The general expressed the greatest interest in the respirator invented by Paul Newman of Toronto. The latter had telegraphed for an appointment with the general and was promised one here. After the respirator had been explained by Mr. Newman, the general called Major A. V. Becher and instructed him to have a full report prepared on the contrivance.

The inventor offered to allow the medical officer or any other person to make chlorine gas. He further offered to stay in a closed room with this gas for a period of fifteen minutes, or more.

EMULATE CANADA'S SOLDIERS AT FRONT

This Advice of Mr. Jenkins To Synod Members in Re Missionary Work.

SOLDIER BOYS LAUDED

Canon Tucker Makes Plea For More Splendid Endeavor Along Missionary Lines.

That members of the Anglican clergy should demonstrate the same splendid activity and spirit that characterized the Canadian soldiers in the recent fighting in France, in their missionary zeal and endeavor in Ontario was the plea of Charles Jenkins, Petrolea, who presented the report on missionary work and religious education in public schools at the meeting of the Anglican Synod this morning.

The speaker, in remarking on the missionary work of the church, said that the deeds of the Canadian soldiers would live from day to day, and that Canadians annals would be much richer when the heroic action of the brave boys at the front had been read into them. That there was an enormous amount of work to be done along missionary lines in Northern Ontario, especially, stated Mr. Jenkins, and especially in the Algoma and other districts near by. That public opinion should be so formed as to stand solidly behind the church in its missionary work was urged. Only in this wise would the best results be attained.

In the matter of religious training in the schools, the speaker was of the opinion that no progress had been made in this work within the last 30 years, but later W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., of Brantford, took exception to this statement, saying that the work in this regard as at present being promulgated in the schools was as far advanced as the times permitted of. He claimed that the training of a child, a mind along religious lines was the function of the parents, and that if the child grew to manhood and womanhood without knowledge of the word of God, the catechism and other religious creeds then the father and mother and not the state was to blame. This seemed to meet with the approval of the other members of the Synod, who voiced their appreciation of his words in a hearty burst of applause. "Mr. Jenkins," said Mr. Cockshutt, "was a perambulating encyclopaedia of ecclesiastical terminology."

Canon Tucker, in brdinging in an amendment to the resolution formed by Mr. Jenkins and his confreres on the committee, made a lengthy statement of the missionary work being done in Canada at the present time and said that this work, although fair, was not nearly as comprehensive or thorough as it should be. He told of various needed changes in the department of missions and aligned work and thought, as did Mr. Jenkins, that it was only in having public opinion thoroughly in heart with the movement that the true work could be accomplished. Canon Tucker made a strong plea for securing greater efficiency in the work of the whole church so that the endeavors of the diocese would dovetail into the endeavors of the general and diocesan boards. "We can make our influence felt and secure greater influence on general and provincial synods and they on us," he said. "We should enlighten public opinion and the diocesan synod is where this enlightenment should be born."

Speaking of the lack of religious education in the schools, Canon Tucker said that the work was held back through lack of organization. That the other religious organizations were of a like mind with the Anglicans in this matter he was sure of, and if only the public opinion of Episcopalians could be turned so that they would get behind the clergy and back them up in all endeavors for good, then align the Presbyterians and other like bodies in the same work, great results would come. Only through co-ordination could the best come.

The indiscriminate opening of Canada's doors to emigrants from all foreign countries was referred to by Canon Tucker, who thought that the refusal to allow Hindus to enter Canada, although they were part of the great Empire of which the Dominion forms a part, was a matter which, along with others having to do with the same question of emigration, needed inquiring into. Judge Ermatinger of St. Thomas spoke along similar lines.

Canon Tucker's amendment to the resolution of Mr. Jenkins in relation to the work of missions and religious training in the schools, which was to the effect that sub-committees be appointed which should go thoroughly into each separate matter and make exhaustive reports, was carried.

The order of rules were suspended in order that the committee on the bishop's charge might bring in its report. It was to the effect that the duplex envelope system should be used in all churches, that the church extension in cities should be referred to the executive committee for action, and that the question of episcopal oversight be studied and reported on from time to time to the executive committee in order that the matter might be brought before the Synod.

An invitation from the girls alumnae of Western University to the clergy to be present at their garden party Thursday afternoon and evening was read by the bishop.

The synod adjourned at 1 o'clock until 3:30, in order that the members might have the opportunity of witnessing the presentation of the colors to the 34th Battalion in Victoria Park by Major-General Hughes early in the afternoon.

BUSY BEES, IMPROVING EACH SHINING HOUR BACK TO 1875, "SWARMED" AT WESLEY HALL

Miss Gregsten Gathers Her Beloved "Hive" About Her in Fortieth Gathering of Happy Children's Class.

A swarm of happy little "Busy Bees," under the guidance of the sweet-faced "Mother Bee," Mrs. E. H. Gregsten, delightfully entertained a large audience in Wesley Hall on Tuesday evening.

It was away back in 1875 that Mrs. Gregsten gathered around her a group of little bees, and through all the changes the First Methodist Church has known, the band of "Bees" has survived. Today the little bees are taking the places once occupied by their fathers and mothers, and on Saturday afternoon meet the beloved "Mother" from 2 to 4. At the weekly meetings, there is some sewing of a kindergarten variety, then a program entirely prepared by the children.

An Early Influence.

No tot who has reached the dignity of three is excluded.

It isn't so much the practical work accomplished that is the aim of the leader, but rather the giving of the children an upward lift and early in life turning their thoughts and hearts in the right direction. Many grown-up men and women who attended the concert last night recalled among their first impressions in life the weekly gatherings of the "Busy Bees."

Listening to the songs, the instrumental selections and the recitations they were forcibly reminded of similar gala occasions of their own childhood days.

During the first part of the evening, Rev. Dr. Flanders presided, calling upon Mr. J. A. Magee to take charge the second half.

Departed Bee Remembered.

The first hymn was sung in memory of a beloved Bee who has passed away during the past year.

One of the interesting features of the evening was the chorus singing of 35 children from the Protestant Orphans' Home, who are numbered among the Bees. The musically-talented Milligan family, though members of the Memorial Methodist Church, kindly contributed numbers, the assistance of Mr. Grant Milligan, one of London's foremost young violinists, being especially appreciated.

The children were trained for the concert by Mrs. Joseph Stone, to whose ability the success of the program was largely due. Miss Andrews assisted, playing organ accompaniments.

A Treat of Candies.

At the close of the entertainment the children enjoyed a treat of candies from Mr. Thomas P. McCormick, who is known as successor Bee to his father, the late Thomas McCormick, who always provided the treat.

The following took part: Muriel Burridge, Ruth Barbour, William Foster, Grant Milligan, Harry Milligan, Marion Johnston, Isabel Mortimer, Irwin J. Stone, the Home children, Edna Burridge, Elsie Groves, Ruth Hickson, Alex. Hoffman, Helen Goldstein, Nellie Milligan, Melville Towton, Dorothy Adams, Miss Minnie Pearson, Arthur Abbott, Marjorie Percie, Florence Harley, Ruth Johnston, Nelson Sumner, Edna Barbour, Gladys Forbes, Hodson Abbott, Louise Wilson, Marjorie Mortimer, Valerie Hoffman, Kathleen Jones, Nellie Hornby. In addition several choruses were given by the Busy Bees.

HOBO HORDE NOT READY TO ENLIST

Develop Sore Feet and Other Complaints When Requested.

16 TAKEN IN ONE NIGHT

Constable Hughes Had His Net Out and Caught Some Odd Fish.

Sixteen "hoboes" made London a convention point last night to discuss methods of finding work, they said, when the sixteen, unshaven, tattered, in need of hair cuts and collars, were lined up in the police court this morning. They were arrested last night in the east end Grand Trunk yards by Grand Trunk Constable John Hughes.

Each one carried a small lunch and a dull razor, a chew of tobacco or a corncob pipe, in small parcels wrapped in newspapers. The convention was in the committee form last night when Officer Hughes and his assistants swooped down on them. They were arrested in couples and batches and shoved into a box car on a siding, used as a temporary jail.

Means of finding and getting work was presumably the subject of discussion, and if the constables had been less hasty, the convention might have assumed large proportions. As it was Mayor Stevenson lost the opportunity of addressing the workless sixteen from a railroad track dais. Instead, the police station last night was their "doss house," and the court room their convention hall. Each one had his say to the presiding officer, Magistrate Judd.

All "Looking" for It.

Fred Sheard came out from England some time ago, he said. He was looking for work. So was Gladstone Burgess, who hails from Ingersoll. Henry Greiff could not get a boardinghouse, and work he declared was elusive. John Shea from Toronto was on his way to Sarnia to work on the boats. Then there was Fred Hopperman and Arthur Parker who were heading for Niagara to pick fruit. Parker is from St. Thomas. Thomas Shaw and James Stark both came from Sarnia, going to Toronto, while Hugh Grey and Jas. Wilson were from Toronto going to Sarnia. All were in earnest search of work.

"This doesn't work out right at all," the magistrate interposed.

"We've been looking for work all along the road," Stark said.

"I know I can get a job at Sarnia," Grey assured the magistrate. "All I want is to get there and work."

Robert Has a Bad Eye.

Robert Hunter came to London to enlist, but a bad eye caused his rejectment. Alex. Wilson from Toronto, and John McKegnie from Owen Sound, were both heading for Sarnia. John Grigg was the only alien in the line-up. He comes from Detroit, and was bound for Thorold, while Peter Boyle from Sarnia wanted work at Welland. Floyd Campbell, 19 years old, and the youngest in the convention, said his home was in Sarnia. He was all alone last night, he said. In the eyes of the "gaycats" or regular hoboes, lads like Campbell are "Prussians" or amateurs. They were taking no notice of him last night.

Who Knows What to Do?

"What will I do with them?" the magistrate asked of the court room in general, when the workless ones had told their stories.

"What will I do with them? Can't anybody tell me what I can do with them," he exclaimed aloud, as the sixteen hoboes trained 32 glassy eyes with fish-like expression upon him, and shuffled their feet. No answer was forthcoming.

At last the magistrate had an idea.

"All of you fellows who want to enlist and serve your country instead of riding around on freight trains at the expense of the people, can go free. A policeman will take you up to the camp and see that you are enlisted, if you are acceptable." Several of the prisoners nodded their willingness.

"All those who can't enlist I suppose will have to go free, too, but if you are ever caught again in London you will get six months in jail," the magistrate warned.

Then the troop of "bo's" shuffled out of the court, and doled out their little parcels of lunches, tied with rags and ropes.

Not One Volunteered.

"All those who want to enlist, come forward," the sergeant commanded, stepping back a pace. Not a single hobo stepped.

"Well, Mac, what's the matter with you? Aren't you coming up to the camp?"

"I got sore feet," Mac muttered.

The excuses were told along the line. Some had bad eyes. Some were sick. Most of them had sore feet. "I been wa'kin' ties for a hundred miles," one weary man declared.

So they were sent back to the cells, to be dispatched at three-minute intervals in couples, into the street.

Magistrate Judd ordered a nightly round-up of tramps and trespassers in the east end railroad yards hereafter.

SPEED OF LUSITANIA

had been given entire discretion.

Mr. Booth said he received no word from Capt. Turner during the voyage. On the morning of the day the Lusitania was torpedoed the Cunard Company asked the admiralty to communicate with the ship concerning threats against it.

Attorney for the survivors asked Mr. Booth why he had stated the Lusitania was being run for reasons of economy, merely to pay expenses.

The witness said the bookings of first and second-class passengers were nearly normal, but that the number of steerage passengers was only one-third the normal, which occasioned a loss.

No Detecting Apparatus.

Donald MacMaster, representing the Canadian Government, asked Booth whether there had been installed on the Lusitania an apparatus for the detection of submarines. The witness responded he had no knowledge of any workable device of this sort. Mr. MacMaster then asked whether by calling out both watches all the boilers could have been worked, as it was admitted the Lusitania had a sufficient supply of coal.

Baron Mersey, president of the court of inquiry, interrupted: "What difference would the speed make? He pointed out that the testimony thus far taken indicated that a speed of eighteen knots might have been regarded as ample to escape a submarine.

Spy Theory Possible.

Mr. Booth said no instructions had been sent to the Lusitania to run at full speed through the danger zone. He also said that on account of the war there were many poorly trained men in the crew.

The attorney for the Stewards' Union asked whether there were Germans working on the Cunard dock in New York. Mr. Booth replied that perhaps German-Americans or Americans of German descent were employed there. The attorney then asked whether it would have been possible for a spy to board the Lusitania for the purpose of signalling submarines. Mr. Booth answered that he was not prepared to say this would have been impossible, but the company took all necessary steps to prevent such action.

Shore of Men and Coal.

Baron Mersey elicited from Mr. Booth that the Lusitania had neither coal nor firemen enough on board to make the trip across under full boiler pressure. Addressing Sir Edward Carson, Baron Mersey said he desired to know where the danger zone began, and whether arrangements could not have been made for the ship to traverse this zone in the dark. The attorney-general promised to endeavor to supply this information.

Able Seaman Quinn, who was in the crow's nest of the Lusitania when she was struck, then took the stand. He said he saw the torpedo coming, and he expressed the opinion that the Lusitania could not have escaped even if she had been "going a hundred knots an hour."

Naval Commander Anderson, who followed Quinn, dwelling upon the importance of speed to avoid submarines, declared that if the Lusitania had made 21 knots and taken a zigzag course, she still could have reached Liverpool at the earliest possible moment for crossing the bar, and that she would have had a much greater chance to escape the submarine.

DIVERS SUGGESTED.

London, June 16.—Examination of the Lusitania by divers from a neutral country, with a view to ascertaining what she had on board in the way of arms and ammunition, was suggested in the House of Commons today by Laurence Ginnell. The practicability of this suggestion was questioned by Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, owing to the depth at which the vessel is lying, and because that locality is not free of hostile craft.

Mr. Runciman said he thought there would be no difficulty in the way of ascertaining all the material facts by means of the board of trade inquiry.

I. O. D. E. Will Ask For Donations Large and Small.

ALL LINEN IS WELCOME

Cronyn Hall Kindly Loaned Between Hours of 10 and 6 Every Day.

The individual chapters of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, in London, will have charge on different days next week, of the hospital supplies shower, which the order purposes conducting. Commencing on Monday next, the Lord Roberts Chapter, under the regency of Mrs. Ernest Smith, will have charge. Tuesday, the Trafalgar Chapter; Wednesday, Lord Elgin Chapter; Thursday Princess Patricia Chapter; Friday, Hamilton Gault Chapter, and Saturday, the Sir John Carling, Sir George Ross, and Scott Memorial (children's) chapters.

Through the kindness of Canon Tucker, Cronyn Hall is to be used for the shower, and here may be sent donations large and small, the hall being open from 10 to 6 o'clock each day.

Following are the proper measurements for hospital linen: sheets, when finished, 60 by 90 inches, pillow slips, 34 inches long and 17 inches wide, when finished; wash cloths, 9 inches square, made of Turkish towelling or knitted; mouth wipes, made of old linen, four inches square. Towels should be either huckaback or Turkish. Men's white handkerchiefs for hospital use are asked for.

The many uses to which worn household linen, old tablecloths and cotton sheets are put in the military hospitals render them invaluable. Surgical dressings, pads and first aid work require quantities of this material and donations of the same will be highly appreciated. Bolts of towelling, gauze, webs of flannelette, factory cotton and sheeting will be most acceptable for the shower. All such gifts will be made up by members of the I. O. D. E., several sewing machines already being placed in Cronyn Hall and more are to be installed next week.

FIFTEEN DEAD

tance on the right bank of the River San, after three days of desperate fighting.

Some Ally's Success.

On the remainder of the eastern front the Russians apparently are contenting themselves with repelling the attacks of the enemy, excepting on the left banks of the Tismenitza and Stry Rivers, tributaries of the Dniester, where they claim to have taken numerous prisoners and machine guns, and to have recaptured villages wrested from them by the Austrians.

Little news comes to London from the Dardanelles, with the exception of the official intimation that the Turkish forces are showing a sensible weakening.

Indecisive in West.

On the western front the fighting during the past twenty-four hours has been indecisive. According to Paris, the most important activity has been confined to the artillery, but a wireless dispatch from Berlin relates the complete failure of a violent French infantry attack to the north of Arras.

Germany is showing considerable bitterness, judging from dispatches reaching London, over the air raid yesterday on the city of Karlsruhe.

The press is demanding retaliation. On the other hand, Paris reports officially that this raid was a reprisal for the dropping of bombs by the Germans on open French and English towns.

Alternate Attacks.

Beginning with the German air raid on the municipal area of London May 31, in which four persons were killed, the last sixteen days have brought reports of aerial attacks by both sides, all of which indicate a determination to force the fighting from the clouds.

An air attack by the birdmen of one side has been followed so closely by a counter-attack from the other, although on a different locality, that retaliation is strongly indicated.

For instance, yesterday morning 23 aeroplanes delivered an attack upon the German city of Karlsruhe, killing 19 persons and wounding 14, and inflicting material damage. The raid on England mentioned in the foregoing dispatch follows this onslaught well within 24 hours.

The Various Raids.

The most important aerial engagements of the past two weeks, over the continent and England are as follows: Aeroplanes of the Allies attacked the headquarters of the German Crown Prince June 3, and two days later a German aeroplane dropped explosive bombs on the French seaport of Calais. On the 6th of June, a Zeppelin airship visited the east coast of England and five persons on the ground below were dead before it sailed away.

It was on the 7th of June that Warneford, the young Canadian aviator, destroyed a German Zeppelin in an air duel over Belgium. From his aeroplane he wrecked the dirigible and caused the death of her crew. On June 8 Ghent was badly damaged by a British air raider, and the following day Venice was bombarded by an Austrian aeroplane. On the 12th, two days later, British airmen attacked the German dirigible sheds at Evere, Belgium.

Those Short Stories

EXTRA CONSTABLES FOR ARSENALS AT QUEBEC

Quebec, June 16.—Although the danger of attempts to damage or destroy the arsenals, laboratories, arms and ammunition factories in Quebec is quite impossible, the authorities felt safer to have the various buildings better protected, and this afternoon some 20 employees of the Ross rifle factory have been sworn in as special constables.

Quite a number of women are on the new constable list.

THE DIARY OF MARS

A Zeppelin raid over the northeast coast of England last night caused the heaviest loss of life among non-combatants from such attacks during the war, with the exception of yesterday's raid by French aeroplanes over Karlsruhe, Germany. Details of the attack on the English coast are held back by the British censor, as was the case in previous raids, but it is announced officially that 15 persons were killed and as many more wounded, and that several fires were started by the bombs. The attack on Karlsruhe caused the death of 19 persons and 14 were wounded seriously.

The invasion of the Province of Trent by the Italians is proceeding steadily, and according to the Italian general staff the dominating positions are being occupied gradually. The Austrians, who have dispatched 25,000 men from Trent to resist the invaders, have not yet accepted battle. On the Isonzo front the Austrians have prepared elaborate defences, including in some locations several lines of trenches of masonry or concrete.

German claims of new successes in Galicia are confirmed in part by an official statement from Petrograd. It is said the Germans brought up fresh troops and the Russians were compelled to fall back. No mention is made of Mosciska, capture of which was announced yesterday at Berlin.

The British army on the western front has resumed the offensive. It was announced in London today that the British had carried another line of German trenches west of La Bassee.

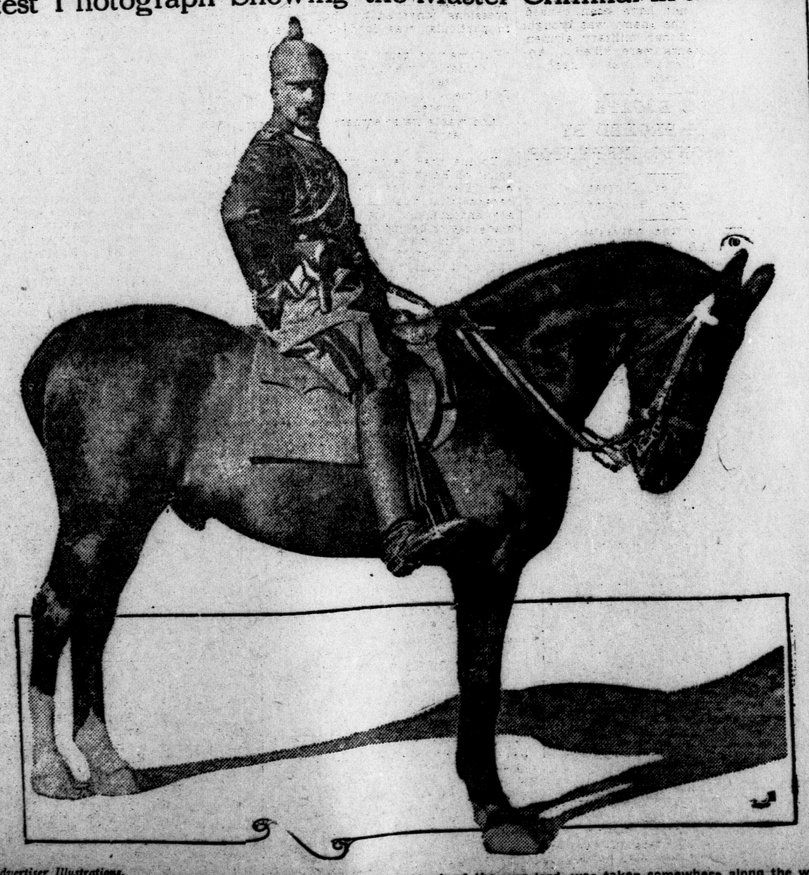

A French torpedoboat has been sunk in collision with a British steamer. Six members of the crew were drowned.

BERNSTORFF'S MESSENGER IS HEAD OF THE KAISER' ARMY SUPPLY DEPARTMENT

Paraded in States as German Red Cross Lecturer and Learns of Military Conditions—Takes Secrets Back to Germany With Him.

[Canadian Press.]

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Tribune prints the following:

"Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard, 'German Red Cross lecturer' and Count Von Bernstorff's special envoy to the Imperial Government, who landed yesterday in Christiania, Norway, has perpetrated a gigantic hoax on the state department of the United States, according to evidence now in the hands of the Tribune.

"He is none other than Dr. Alfred Meyer, privy councillor of the first rank, chief of the department of army supplies of the Imperial German Ministry of War.

"The real Anton Meyer-Gerhard has not been out of Germany since the beginning of the war and has been reported among the wounded on the east front. His name was assumed by Dr. Meyer and the protecting mantle of the Red Cross thrown about him that his identity and true mission to the United States might not become known to those outside of German officialdom Gets Inside Information.

"His much-advertised Red Cross propaganda was a farce. He came here to purchase such war supplies as he could obtain and, incidentally, to learn the condition of military preparedness in this country. He takes to the German War Office information of great importance, which he has gathered in his dealings with various munition brokers and manufacturers.

"His Excellency's activities have been carried on with the knowledge and cooperation of Ambassador Von Bernstorff. In fact they arrived together on August 24, 1914. Since then they have been in close communication. The scheme worked perfectly, and the state department apparently has not had the slightest suspicion that Dr. Meyer-Gerhard was not Dr. Meyer-Gerhard at all.

Did Allies Know?

"It is a fact, however, that the French and British Embassies at Washington did not issue a safe conduct guarantee, as in the case of Dr. Dernberg. But they are said to have made it plain that they would not interfere with an accredited representative of the Red Cross."

Purchased Munitions.

The Tribune says Dr. Meyer made strenuous efforts to purchase the 350,000 Krag-Jorgensen rifles owned by the United States and, failing in that, he devoted his attention to the concerns which held huge contracts with the British and French. He actually purchased from factories in Connecticut quanties of cartridges manufactured for the Allies.

He was able to do so, says the Tribune, by offering an advanced price which made up for any inconvenience the companies might have in explaining their failure to deliver the goods to their original customers. Some of the ammunition thus secured was shipped to Germany by way of Italy before that country had decided to open hostilities.

WASHINGTON NOT CONCERNED.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 15.—A rumor was in circulation in Washington tonight that the German Government had taken advantage of the United States in arranging passage on the Scandinavian Line steamer United States for Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhard.

According to one phase of the rumor, Dr. Meyer-Gerhard is not on the United States, which arrived today at Christiansand, Norway, but allowed a man named Meyer, who is attached to the German war office, to take his place. Meyer, according to the story, has been in New York trying to arrange for sending munitions of war to Germany. The other phase of the story was that both Dr. Meyer-Gerhard and Meyer had sailed on the United States.

Ex-Secretary Bryan could not be seen tonight. Officials of the State Department said that they were not concerned in the matter, granting it was true that Meyer had gone on the United States. The arrangement for Dr. Meyer-Gerhard to go to Germany, they said, had not been made by this Government.

It was known to the State Department unofficially, it was explained, that he would sail on the United States, but the Government had not arranged that he should have safe conduct. It was known to the Government, however, that he carried certain letters that would show his identity.

As for Meyer, it was said, this Government had no interest in him and had never heard that he was a passenger on the United States.

SHELL COMPEIGNE AT 20-MILE RANGE

Germans Drop Bombs in French Town 45 Miles From Paris.

ENEMY CLAIMS VICTORY

Says French Suffered a Defeat During Attacks Near Arras.

[Canadian Press.]

PARIS, June 15.—In retaliation for the bombardment of undefended French and English towns allied aviators dropped 130 projectiles, many of large calibre. today on Karlsruhe, the capital of Baden, causing damage which was serious.

Another interesting feature of the day's events, recorded in today's official statement, was the bombardment of Compiegne by the Germans, from a distance of 20 miles. Compiegne is 45 miles north-east of Paris and twenty miles from Soissons, the nearest point to Paris on the battleline. These long range guns of the enemy are in concealed positions, which French airmen are endeavoring to locate. It was said little damage was done to the town.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

PARIS, June 15.—10:40 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the French war office tonight:

"During the course of last night local infantry actions developed in the region to the north of Arras—in the sectors of Lorette and Neuville—and to the south of Arras, at the Toutvent farm. All the German counter-attacks were repulsed and we have maintained our gains.

"To the north of Neuville we have taken possession of several German lookout posts.

"Today has been marked in these two regions only by an artillery combat; our batteries have violently shelled the German trenches.

"The attack directed by the enemy on the night of June 14-15 against the trenches which we captured at Quennevires, east of Tracy-Le-Mont, was carried out by eight battalions. Prisoners declare that the losses to the enemy were considerable.

"On the rest of the front there is nothing to report.

Attack On Karlsruhe.

"In retaliation for the bombardment by the Germans of French and English open towns, the order was given to bombard this morning the capital of the Grand Duchy of Baden. At 3 o'clock in the morning 23 aeroplanes set out for Karlsruhe.

"Although caught by a northeast wind they arrived over the town between 5:50 and 6:20 o'clock. They dropped 130 projectiles of 90 and 155 calibre on the objects which had been indicated to them, particularly the chateau, an arms manufactory, and the station. A great number of fires broke out during the time the aeroplanes were flying over Karlsruhe. A serious panic was observed in the station, from which trains departed hastily, proceeding in an easterly direction.

"The machines were subjected to a violent gunfire, particularly on their outer trip at Saverne (Zabern) Strassburg, Rastatt and Karlsruhe, and, on their return, at Blamont, Phalsbourg (Phalzburg) and Saverne. All of them returned except two."

GERMAN REPORT.

BERLIN, June 15.—At army headquarters today the following announcement was made:

"The French yesterday suffered a fresh defeat. In spite of the heavy losses they sustained on the 13th of June they continued the attempts to break through the line between Tievin and Arras, with great stubbornness. The French attack, which was carried out with large forces in close formation, broke down everywhere with heavy losses under the fire of our troops.

"Northwest of Moulin-Sous-Toutvent we have not yet succeeded in regaining portions of the trenches lost by us on the 6th instant. In Champagne, north of Perthes and Les Mesnil, fighting continues."

"Yesterday the open town of Karlsruhe, which is far from the theatre of operations, and not in any way fortified, was attacked with bombs dropped by hostile airmen. So far as is now known, some eleven citizens were killed and six injured. Military damage could not have been caused. One aircraft of the enemy was brought down by one of our military airmen, and the occupants were killed. Another enemy aircraft was obliged to land near Schirmeck."

PRISONER'S ESCAPE IS BEING PROBED BY TORONTO INSPECTOR

Takes Officials of St. Thomas Jail in Confidence—Report Expected Soon.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, June 15. — W. W. Dunlop, provincial inspector of prisons, arrived in the city today and is making an official investigation of the escape of four prisoners from the Elgin county jail, Saturday. After the inspector had made a complete tour of the jailyard and the jail, he held a session with the county officials in the prosecuting attorney's office. The discussion took place behind closed doors.

Inspector Dunlop will make a report to the department in a week or ten days. The four escaped prisoners are still at large, notwithstanding that every place in the vicinity had been requested to be on the lookout for the fugitives. It is thought that, perhaps, the quartet are in hiding with friends in the city. It seems strange that they could all remain out of the toils such a lengthy period without being seen.

ST. THOMAS, June 15.—The Huron & Erie Loan Company of London has purchased a lot on Talbot street, between Ingram & Davey's store and the Bell Telephone building, and will erect a fine office building this summer. March, has succeeded in establishing a healthy business.

Major General W R BIRDWOOD

Advertiser Illustrations.

MAJOR-GENERAL SIR WILLIAM R. BIRDWOOD is commander-in-chief of the Australians and New Zealanders at the Dardanelles. He was reported last month as wounded after heavy fighting. Until recently he was Secretary to the Government of India in the Army Department. His rise has been rapid, for he is not yet fifty. He has served in many campaigns and has many medals and decorations.

To My Old Friend "Clis"

"Clis" is dead. And in the manner of his passing he had his wish. He hoped to die in harness. Failing that, then at least with his boots on. He had not been as well as usual for some weeks. He complained—no, complained is scarcely the word, for no one ever heard "Clis" complain. He explained, apologetically, as though it were something that should not be, even at 82, that his legs appeared to be going back on him, and he was no longer able to wield the bucksaw in the good old way. (He had been taking daily exercise in that fashion in the basement.) "But I have made a discovery," he confided to me on the Saturday evening before his death. "You know, my arms are still as good as ever. I have a good handsaw, and I find I can sit down to it and still get my daily exercise with the mill-slabs." And he chuckled quietly to himself at the thought of having outwitted Father Time to that extent at least.

* * * * *

He pinned his faith to exercise, simple food and proper rest, and held them in greater regard than doctors and medicine. And those of us who knew how "Clis" worked in the heyday of his newspaper career, and the hours the inadequacies of those early days imposed on him, often marvelled at the constitution that made his daily and nightly toil endurable for three, let alone thirty-three years. But even in those busy days he often moved, for diversion, all the snow from one side of his backyard to the other, not once, but several times during the course of the winter, merely to keep unused muscles fit. So that when he told me on Saturday evening that he was going to see a doctor I felt a little concern, and called again on Sunday evening after his return from the consultation. I tried to get him to talk about his condition, and though he was plainly tired he preferred to talk about the beauties of the June Sabbath evening as we sat in the twilight on the cool veranda. And from the weather he went on to tell me how much he was enjoying re-reading his copy of the poems of Oliver Wendell Holmes. And with a memory that is not often to be found at half the age nowadays, he repeated snatches of verse, the wit and drollery of which had caught his fancy. His love of books grew with passing years and leisure to enjoy them. Often he would surprise those about him by repeating with scarcely a pause Grey's Elegy, which he had carefully committed to memory in his youth. He loved to dwell on the sparkling fancies and vivid impressions conveyed by that poem, and in particular was fond of the verse:

"Full many a gem of purest ray serene
The dark, unfathomed caves of ocean bear;
Full many a flower is born to blush unseen,
And waste its sweetness on the desert air."

* * * * *

To me that verse breathes the very spirit of Edward Clissold. I am calling him "Clis" in this little sketch tonight because that was the term of affectionate endearment his newspaper boys made use of behind his back, and it was always his own newspaper signature. But I never could, as other did, call him thus familiarly to his face. It seemed to me that I should be lacking in proper respect for the man to whom I owed so much to address him thus, though I was quite sure he would not himself have that way about it. He was a "gem of purest ray serene" that lighted the pathway of many an aspiring cub reporter. There was one sure way the latter could acquire a wide and useful knowledge of the English language. "Clis" was a stylist, and one had only to go up to the proofreader's den after the sheet had gone to press and see in what way and for what apparent reason "Clis" had blue-pencilled the stuff the birth of which had perhaps caused you such exquisite mental pain. Some reporters hotly called it slashing and butchery, maintained that "Clis" had a grudge against them, and drifted back to the grocery trade. Others, seeing in it the necessary and merciful interposition of the knife of the skilled surgeon, "read, marked, learned and inwardly digested" the amputations, excisions, revisions, spelling reforms, punctuating and paragraphing, and eventually graduated with the regard and esteem of the quiet man whose thoughtful word of commendation was as good as, and perhaps more useful than, the parchment that some have gained in much more pretentious surroundings.

* * * * *

"Clis" was the acme of patience and the pink of courtesy. Only once in 33 years was he ever known to use a cuss word in the office. Even the uninitiated know what election night means in the average newspaper office, and the initiated can appreciate what it meant in the office of the staunchly Liberal London Advertiser, with David Mills as managing editor, and with the telegraphic dispatches indicating that Sir Oliver Mowat had evidently met with defeat. The editor, Archie B., for some reason known only to himself, failed to turn up at the office, and "Clis," as news editor, in addition to trying verbally to satisfy the friends whose party allegiance had won them the entree of the inner sanctum, was endeavoring to reduce to order the chaos of several reams of "flimsy," write a summary of the provincial situation, plan the location of tables, get off his nightly dispatch to the Toronto Globe, and sketch a colorable editorial to save the bacon of the truant Archie—when the phone bell rang. It was very late, but, in accordance with his reputation as the most patient man in the business, "Clis" dropped everything and answered the phone. Those not so busy but what they could listen were mildly scandalized to hear him, after a moment's pause, shout, "Aw, go to h—!" while he incontinently slammed the transmitter into place. To his son Malc., who was then on the reporting staff, he seemed to feel that, as a parent, and possibly as an editor, some explanation was due, and thus it came out that the man on the phone had called up to inquire if the editor would kindly let him have the name of Ellen Terry's second husband!

* * * * *

Many an intimate picture of early London "Clis" has given me. He heard the very first brass band to visit London play on the old court house square. And he was so torn between duty and desire, and so taken with the music that he could not make up his mind whether to remain and listen or run home and break the news to mother. He recalled also the first circus that came to London town, and of far greater interest to the small boy than the big tent itself was the fact that the one and only elephant was taken down the street in full view of the juvenile world and allowed to wallow and bathe and spout in the river at the Forks to its heart's content. Once a friend had left a halter at Port Stanley and the lad Clissold secured an unaccompanied trip to requisition it, and with the privilege of paying his own fare one way. The fare was a shilling each way, and the journey was by stage coach, and with the Port filled with the sailing and fishing vessels of those busy days, it was a long remembered experience. The headquarters of the stage-coaching industry was located on York street, where the Grand Trunk depot now offends the eye. When "Clis" was last in London, and possibly yet, the poplar trees that bounded the coaching yard before the days of railroads, were still standing behind the station. He quite well remembered when upturned stumps was the fashionable fencing on Queen's avenue (then North street), east from Richmond, and when east of Wellington street seemed to be a veritable No Man's Land. How well he remembered the incidents of youth. Rather tragic was his story of his boyhood chum, who was sent by his mother to Carling's old brewery on Waterloo street, opposite Lake Horn, for a pitcher of brewer's yeast. Returning, the lad drank some of the yeast, forgetful of the fact that he had eaten freely of dried apples. The verdict was "Death by Misadventure." He was working as a small boy in Henry Mathewson's confectionery shop, just about where Perrin's plant is now located on Dundas street west. The Robinson House, on the southeast corner of Dundas and Ridout streets, with its imposing balcony, was at that time the fashionable hostelry and was decorated in honor of the impending visit of Lord Elgin. In front of the hotel a beautiful evergreen arch of welcome had been erected. On this bright morning the Orangemen of London marched up with axes and chopped down the arch. And in the "tumult and the shouting" little Edward Clissold worked valiantly to get the shop shutters up and save the windows (and the sweeties), from the mob.

* * * * *

It's a long hark back from June, 1915, to June, 1849, but "Clis" could talk familiarly not only of London of the middle of the century, but of men and places he had seen during his travels about the States as a journeyman printer. He had looked on the faces of men who, like Lincoln, have been dead these fifty years. With a printer's stick for a passport and a printer's rule for transportation, he made his way from New York to New Orleans before the Civil War. He was working his way down the Mississippi about the time Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain), was getting his experience as a river pilot. He could tell queer tales of the Klu-Klux Klan and the political unrest preceding the Civil War. Among his treasured possessions he had MSS. of Horace Greeley, his old editor, and Charles Dickens, whose stories were published serially in the New York Tribune when "Clis" was a compositor thereon. He was a neat, and an orderly, and a methodical man. To the very day of his death he faithfully kept a diary. In the early days he used to make his entries in Ben Pitman shorthand, which still differs slightly from Isaac Pitman, particularly in vocalization. About a year ago he asked me if I could locate a Ben Pitman text book for him, and told me he wanted to brush up his knowledge of the system so that he might the more readily read the shorthand character formed sixty and more years ago. I got him the text book, and marvelled anew at the perennial freshness of the mind that could turn to Pitmanic shorthand, with its minute exactitudes, at 81!

* * * * *

And so when "Clis" modified his habit of life sufficiently to go and consult a physician I was a little concerned. That was on Sunday evening. On Wednesday evening I looked in again, but it was nine o'clock, and he had retired, and I did not see him. Thursday morning he rose at the accustomed hour and dressed. Then he called his daughter and told her he felt ill. She hurried to get him a little hot water, and when she returned he was unconscious, and he died as the doctor arrived. He had passed as he had wished. He had not lost the use of either limbs or faculties. He had retained his love of little children, his liking for flowering things, his fondness for music, and his interest in the great drama of life. He had been blessed with the loving attention of kindred, the affectionate esteem of his friends, and the beneficent protection of his employers. And he deserved it all. Tonight he is sleeping near his beloved wife, in sight of the blue Laurentian hills, the same hills he gazed on as a lad of nine, when, with his people, colonists from the old land, he passed up the Ottawa to go down the Rideau on his long journey by boat and stage-coach to Western Ontario. As the preacher was committing his body to the grave came the rattle of musketry from the ranges between the graveside and the river. Strange reminder this of "Clis's" only recollection of his passage through Bytown in 1843, which he mentioned as recently as Sunday last. His father had landed at the foot of the locks (where Sir John Franklin had laid the cornerstone only 20 years before), and taking his musket and his boy, had gone into the bush and shot some wild birds. And at a shop, at the top of the locks, where the Chateau Laurier rears its proud head today, they had bought bread. Trust the small boy to remember something of consequence!

* * * * *

And "Clis" is dead! And tomorrow he will not come. And it was his day. And there was some new music. And the spirea was in bloom—though he thought it might have been winter killed. The Chief Gardener has gathered the flower. Fortunately it was not born to blush unseen and its sweetness was not wasted on the desert air. Though the golden bowl be broken and the silver thread is snapped the life he lived remains. It was a simple, kindly, unostentatious life, a miracle of fidelity, patience, trust and humility, the embodiment of hope, and of faith and of charity. And it bore the great impress of love. In our hearts he has reared his own enduring monument. There we will lay the white flower of what to his friends seemed a blameless life. "Clis" would not have thought so, perhaps, and would have said "Bosh" could he have seen this well meant tribute, but then "Clis" was very exacting—with "Clis."

And "Clis' is dead!

FOE BELIEVES BELGIUM WILL STAY UNDER YOKE

"Neutral Observer" Says Germany Has Taken $1,250,000,000 As War Indemnities.

LONDON, June 16. — 3:42 a.m. — A "neutral observer," 'who has been visiting Germany, and has written a series of articles for the Times, in one of his articles today declares that it is the admost universal belief of German people that Belgium will remain German, and that the Belgian Congo will become a German possession.

The writer says that since the occupation of Belgium by the Germans it is estimated that Germany has taken $1,250,000,000 worth of property of all kinds, including raw materials and manufactured products, as war indemnities, out of Belgium.

"Revolvers made in Belgium," the writer continues, "are now a part of the regular German equipment. The bayonets and swords now used in the German armies are almost exclusively of Belgian manufacture, while it is intended, when the need arises, to take the overhead wiring in Belgium to make good the copper shortage in Germany.

WOMAN FOUND ON BRIDGE WITH HER MEMORY GONE

London Authorities Pick Up Former Montreal Domestic.

LONDON, June 15.—A well-dressed, refined woman, about 27 years of age, apparently an American or Canadian, is in an infirmary here suffering from loss of memory. She was picked up at midnight last night on Westminster Bridge by the police. A card in her possession bears the name, "Mr. A. R. Gilham, 116 Grosvenor avenue, Westmount." On her handkerchief were the initials, "E. M."

A WESTMOUNT DOMESTIC.

MONTREAL, June 15.—Edith Miller is believed to be the person mentioned in the London dispatch. She came from England two years ago to service in the home of Mr. A. R. Gilham of Westmount, but six months later she went out of her mind and was confined for a time in the Longue Pointe Asylum. She was sent back to England about nine months ago because of her mental trouble.

Mr. Gilham is connected with the Norton Griffiths harbor contract for the Government at St. John, N.B., and he recently removed to St. John.

SHOOTS MAN DEAD IN HIS CHICKEN HOUSE

Montreal Butcher Fires Two Charges From Shot Gun.

VALLEYFIELD, Que., June 15.—Horace Filiatrault, 27 years old, was shot dead early this morning by Rosario Poirier, butcher, in the latter's chicken house. Poirier heard a noise in the chicken house at about 2 o'clock in the morning and went to a window with a loaded double-barreled shotgun. He called, but there was no answer, so he fired one barrel of the gun.

As there was no movement, a moment later he fired the second barrel. Then he heard a cry of pain, followed by a call of "mother," and running to investigate, he found Filiatrault bleeding to death. The wounded man was taken to the house of his widowed mother, with whom he lived, and died a few minutes after. Dr. Besner, the coroner of the district, has the matter in hand.

MACHINE GUNS URGED TO REPLACE RIFLES

London Mail Wants Unlimited Orders Placed for Quick-Fire Guns.

London, June 16—2:57 a.m.—The Daily Mail, in an editorial today, urges the Government to hasten the production of machine guns by placing orders for unlimited quantities in England, Canada, and the United States.

"The Germans," says the editorial, "are virtually substituting men armed with machine guns for the old-fashioned infantry armed with rifles. Experience is proving that an army which attempts to fight machine guns with rifles is committing the same mistake as the man who runs a footrace with a locomotive."

Dr. Meyer-Gerhard failed to catch the night train for Berlin, and will proceed to the German capital tomorrow morning.

WOODSTOCK MAGISTRATE HAS CAUSED WORRY IN SUMMONING RELAY MEN

Good Offices of Sam Hughes Is Sought On Speeders' Behalf.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, June 15.—The fact that the local police department has issued summonses to two of Canada's best-known motorcyclists, Tommy Smith and Ernie McIntosh of Toronto, who, when making the speed test between Windsor and Ottawa, tore through Woodstock at what is estimated at the rate of fifty miles an hour on Saturday morning when the streets were thronged with the usual crowd of market shoppers, evidently is causing Toronto cyclists much worry, as it was learned this afternoon that they have brought their case to the notice of the Hon. Sam Hughes, Mayor Church and Chief Grassett of the police department, Toronto.

It is asserted that Toronto and the other large cities gave the riders full freedom and that they tore through Toronto at fifty miles an hour. Mayor Church of Toronto is taking up the matter with Magistrate Ball of this city, to affect a settlement.

There was no information sent to this city that the racers were coming through this city, and that the event was under military auspices, according to Magistrate Ball, who said this afternoon that "The information against the riders has not been withdrawn."

There were many narrow escapes from injury when the riders flew through Woodstock.

REDMOND POISONED

CUTWORM ON RAMPAGE CUTS CORN AND CLOVER IN SOMBRA TP. FIELDS

Agricultural Expert Advises Sprinkling of Poisoned Bran to Kill Pest.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

PETROLEA, June 15.—The farmers of Sombra are in considerable danger from the cutworm, which they at first mistook for the army worm and tried fighting them with furrows and postholes.

In one place a five-acre field of clover was cleared and in another a thirteen-acre field of corn was destroyed by this pest. G. G. Bramhill, district agricultural representative, was called upon, and went to the scene. He advises that the farmers sprinkle poisoned bran on the stuff affected.

The cutworm is quite voracious, and eats only through the stem just above the ground, so that a few worms can destroy a large crop. Like the army worm they work at night, withdrawing into the ground during the day. They breed and flourish in old sod fields, and Sombra is badly infested with them.

TEN WITNESSES IN CONSPIRACY CHARGES

Grand Jury Opens Hearing in New York in Lusitania Case.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, June 16.—Ten witnesses were under subpoena to appear today before the federal grand jury investigating the charges of conspiracy resulting from affidavits that the Lusitania was armed when she left here on her last voyage. Several of the witnesses were members of the neutrality squad attached to the office of the collector of the port. They were expected to testify that they had made a careful search of the Lusitania and found no guns on board.

The Experience of One Who Knows and Places Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills First.

It is not difficult to secure a medicine that will effect movement of the bowels. To cure Constipation and the complications which arise from it is another matter.

I suppose during my life I have used nearly all the best-known pills, as I have been subject to Constipation and digestive troubles. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I can honestly say that of all the pills I have tried nothing has suited me better—no griping—action always insured, and fine for the kidneys. This is how I have found them after a thorough test, and you may use this statement if you like."

WHEN RHEUMATISM STRIKES THE HEART IT KILLS—"NERVILINE" THE CURE

Effect of Nerviline on Chronic Cases Is Almost Magical.

Exposure to wet or cold is apt to bring on an attack.

The muscles stiffen, the joints swell, and exertion brings on excruciating twinges.

Often the pain shifts from one part to another, and this is dangerous, as the heart is apt to be attacked. Death as a rule follows a heart attack.

The pain of rheumatism is quickly rubbed away with Nerviline.

This is a swift, lasting, and safe way to cure rheumatism. You can depend on Nerviline. It has the power, the penetrating force, the control over pain that is so essential to a rheumatic remedy.

Lots of testimony to prove Nerviline's certainty to cure.

The following letter is from Mr. E. G. Sautter, Port of Spain, Trinidad: "Last year I was severely troubled with rheumatism. I had it in my arms, shoulders and knees. The pain was at times excruciating, and laid me up so that I couldn't work. I went to Smith Brothers' Drug Store and was advised by the manager to use 'Nerviline.' That was excellent advice. I used Nerviline as directed and was cured, completely cured of every trace of my old enemy."

Once you use Nerviline you'll realize it's different from all the others—that it contains something that gets right "at" the pain the minute you rub it on. The large, 50-cent family size is the most economical—get it today, or else the 25-cent trial size. Sold by dealers everywhere, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Canada.

QUATRE BRAS.

A HUNDRED years ago today was fought the battle of Quatre Bras. This little village is about ten miles southeast of Waterloo, deriving its name of the "Four Arms" from its situation at the intersection of two highways, one to Brussels and the other to Namur.

On this battle, occurring at a point some 60 miles directly east of Lille, Byron wrote his famous lines beginning "There was a sound of revelry by night." Then Briton and German fought together for freedom against the tyranny of Napoleon. "Brunswick's fated chieftain" fell as our ally. Prussian Blucher was not far away, fighting at Ligny against Napoleon himself, while the British forces held Quatre Bras against Ney. It was this victory that made Waterloo possible two days later.

Will the Germans celebrate the 18th of June by a grand attack on the British lines at Ypres? Last September they made an unsuccessful attempt to repeat Sedan on its anniversary and site. They may try a coup at our expense this week. But it is our lucky time, and Sir John French may find his grand opportunity. He might himself take the offensive, but not unless he is good and ready. Our British generals are neither sentimental nor theatrical.

STANDING TOGETHER.

THERE are first the men behind the guns, and back of the men behind the guns are the men at home. To these last directly was Premier Asquith speaking in his summing up of the situation in the British Commons Tuesday. The nub of his statement was that the United Kingdom was united in the determination to prosecute the war to a successful issue. That was the feeling that the Coalition Government demonstrated to friend and foe alike. All sections of the community were now standing together, however they may have been working at cross-purposes before.

Mr. Asquith's words are encouraging in that they indicate that personal and political differences have been swept aside, and the country is being organized to back up and make all-powerful the men on the firing line. This is one respect in which Germany has had the advantage of the Allies. Her civil and industrial life to the smallest and most insignificant detail has been made to dovetail with the operations of the army. Everybody and everything has been organized with the purpose of keeping the army supplied with the material of war and unhampered in its action. This is what Mr. Asquith urges as the vital necessity for Great Britain, and the Coalition Government is to set the pace.

Although speaking to the people of the British Isles, Mr. Asquith's words are as applicable to Canadians as to the Homeland. The overseas Dominions are into this war up to the hilt, willingly and cheerfully doing their share. We are sending the finest of our men to the front, and without hesitation donating vast sums that the Empire may triumph. From coast to coast are countless men and women making great sacrifices, devoting time, energy and money to the common cause. But is the civil, domestic and industrial life of the Dominion being used to the best advantage as aids to Asquith, Kitchener, Lloyd George and French? Why not some form of coalition Government for the Dominion, when the strongest men of the land could organize, guide and direct, so that the greatest service could be got out of every part of the community with the greatest speed?

HOW THE NAVY HELPS.

NOTHING more vividly illustrates the effectiveness of the British navy in this war than the steady stream of reservists pouring from America into the countries of the Allies. From ports of the United States and Canada daily go hundreds, and in some cases thousands, of Russian, Italian and French reservists, with here and there a sprinkling of Servians. Particularly just now is there a rush to the colors of the Italian second line men. It is calculated that in the United States alone these number half a million. If but half answer the call, it will make a fine addition to the forces of our latest ally.

And this is possible because the Kaiser's ships have been either swept from the seas or are securely locked up. If only a small section of the German fleet were loose on the Atlantic, none but the swiftest of the liners would dare put to sea. As it is, the German fleet has been unable to prevent in the slightest degree the flocking home of the fighting men of Great Britain and her allies from all quarters of the globe. For months it has been in progress, and will continue as long as the war lasts. With all the powers engaged in the conflict there is a vast reserve strength in men overseas, but, thanks to Albion's navy, only those nations of the quadruple alliance are able to draw on it. It must be especially exasperating to Germany and Austria that they cannot utilize some of the millions of their fellow-countrymen abroad who are anxious to get to the front.

Before Italy declared war on the Huns, no doubt small numbers of German and Austrian reservists were able to sift through by way of Italy, but with this last door closed against them the Teutons are completely cut off. A French military expert says that Russia, France and Italy between them have close to three millions of reservists scattered throughout the world, and that two-thirds of this number will in time find their way to the front. Add to this Great Britain's overseas contingents, and there will be no lack of men to fill the gaps made in the lines on all fronts. And this is possible because the British navy holds the Kaiser's grand fleet in a grip of iron. Those inclined to charge the navy with inactivity should keep this in mind.

THE LATE DR. WILLMOTT.

THE death of Dr. J. B. Willmott, dean of the Dental College of Ontario, removes the virtual founder of a great profession in this province. In 1875 he established a school of dentistry, he and Dr. Teskey being the original staff of instructors. From such humble beginnings has grown under his care during forty years the great College of Dental Surgeons.

Modern dentistry is one of the greatest blessings of an advanced civilization. Electric light, sewing machines, self-binders, even the newspaper, are nothing compared with the possession of good teeth, a sweet breath, a sweet temper and a sound digestion, to all of which dentistry greatly contributes. It is a branch of surgery wide in its ministrations, tangible in its beneficial results and advanced to the last degree of scientific and mechanical skill. Few of us want to go anywhere to live where a dentist is not readily accessible.

The ancients of Rome and Egypt had their dentistry, but without the subtle steel instruments, the electric power and light, the anaesthetics and the scientific knowledge, what did it amount to compared with the dental practice of today? Our toothless grandfathers have told us of the horrors in their time. In some villages it was a matter of debate whether in case of toothache recourse had better be had to the vague skill of the general physician or to the strong arm and violent instrument of the local blacksmith.

Thanks to the process of the suns, and thanks in no small measure to the long labors of Dr. Willmott and his assistants, a new chapter of happier living has been opened in Ontario. Who cares for toothache now, if he ever has it through his own fault? Hurry over to Dr. Blank and he will cure you with a certainty not paralleled in most departments of the healing art. A great benefactor of our time is dead.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Judging from the actions of Mr. Bryan, that last note of President Wilson's was a discord.

Vienna claims that the Russian front has broken down. But they can't break the Russian back.

There are some folk so soulless they will not grow a geranium because it can't be made into a pickle.

Hungary's crops are reported ruined by the heat. Evidently the sun itself objected to the Kaiser's attempt to secure a place in the sun.

Horrors of the war have spread even to South and Central America. The professional revolutionary, unable to get arms and munitions, has to go to work or starve.

Le Gallienne, the poet, claims that there is nothing so beautiful as a "velvet dusk of June." True enough, but so many of them are spoiled by one's skidding on venturesome toads.

"My stay here has been most gratifying and satisfactory. From the bottom of my heart I salute the American people and bid them good-bye, with the sincerest wishes for them in my heart."
—Dr. Dernberg. Sarcastic or sincere?

The German proposal that German agents vise all cargoes, as do the British commissioners, and thus save from attack by the German submarines, is rich, considering that nine out of ten vessels are British. What a fine chance the Kaiser's agents would have to plant infernal machines! Germany would be crooked about this, just as she has been in evey other phase of the war.

A PLAINT FROM PARIS.
[London Opinion.]

——Mr. Atkins, loq.:
I'm lyin' 'ere in the 'orspital
In a swanky great 'otel,
With painted ceilin's and gilded walls,
And everythin' awful swell.
There's velvet curtains an' droopin' palms;
But I'd give the bloomin' load
For 'alf an 'our in "The Golden Pig," What's down the Mile End Road.

We're nourished like lords and fightin' cocks
On chicken soup and such,
And made-up dishes with fancy names
As I don't fancy much.
An' some of 'em brings us real champagne
To moisten our fevered lips;
But I'd give the lot—and welcome, too—
For a plate of fish and chips.
I've got a duchess to wash me face,
And flutter around me bed.
To see as I gets me beauty sleep,
And bandage me wounded 'ead,
But I'd change 'er any day to 'ear
The girl as I used to court,
Sing out, as she slapped me on the back,
"Why, 'Arry! Buck up, old sport!"

THEY COME AND GO.

"Do you keep any servants?"
"No, of course not,"
"But I thought I saw one in your kitchen?"
"Oh, we have servants on the premises a day or two at a time; but we don't keep them."

TEN MINUTES With the Short-Story Writers

IMITATION.

By John Wilstach.

Burrows dressed with the greatest deliberation, while he looked critically at himself in the cracked mirror of his dresser. It is not one of the most satisfactory things in the world to arise from slumber knowing that breakfast must be eliminated, to save further strain on a shrinking pocketbook. Food at such a time seems doubly precious; but after an effort, Burrows banished the temptation of a morning repast from his mind. He sat down on the rocky bed, carefully arranged his newly-pressed trousers, and chewed the end of a cigar that did not hail from Havana.

A visitor from Mars, peering through the narrow window of the bedroom, might have been astonished at the contrast between the chamber and its occupant. Burrows was suspiciously well dressed; his grey suit was above the reproach of a tailor, and, since he had just turned his cuffs, his linen defied scrutiny. Why, then, this poverty-stricken room, fitted with disabled furniture and cheap pictures? Had Burrows dropped in to see a poor relation, or was he with a slumming party?

Both guesses fly wide of the mark. He was neither a millionaire in disguise nor a criminal hiding from justice, but, alas, merely an actor out of a job!

Such being the case, Burrows was following the rules of the game, as dictated by Broadway. In other words, he was "putting up a bluff."

Before leaving for the street he went to the window-sill and picked a pansy, the last left in a large tin can.

"Ah, well!" he murmured. "A flower in the buttonhole may take attention from shoes down at the heel."

The hint of the country was the finishing touch. He might now deceive theatrical agents into believing that his vacation was not enforced. They must never know he mourned the luck that had left him, a month before, stranded in Texas.

He stumbled down the rickety stairs. Reaching the street, he clutched his gloves in one hand and started for Broadway, the camping-ground of his profession just before the theatrical season opens. Perchance good luck was awaiting him around the corner, impatient because he had overslept himself. Hope springs eternal in the breast of the idle actor.

The street looked as inviting as ever. It was thronged with players, all waving the flag of prosperity, so that the rents and tears might not be seen. Success seemed to be in the air; it shone from gleaming canes and varnished boots. The mad handshakes of long-lost brothers blocked the way of simple pedestrians, and gossip mingled with the dust from the street and the sound of sirens on speeding automobiles.

Burrows headed for the Howard Agency, at Thirty-ninth street. He had a daily round of calls which he made at this and other places, always to hear the formula:

"Nothing yet!"

This time, however, he had a surprise.

"Good morning, Mr. Burrows," greeted Mrs. Howard. "I have good news. You are aware that rehearsals have already started for 'The Imitator'?"

"Yes, of course," said Burrows, lying cheerfully.

"Mr. Sandal, the manager, came here this morning to get a man for the role of a parson, who lends most of the comedy relief to the play. The man they have is not satisfactory, and they want to make a change. I thought at once of you, and tried to get you on the telephone."

The actor coughed.

"The telephone has—I think—been taken out—temporarily. I trust you made an appointment for me, Mrs. Howard?"

"I did," she replied, "but I forgot to mention the salary you were in the habit of receiving."

"I'll attend to that," concluded Burrows, "after a look at the script."

"To play a parson!" he muttered to himself, as he started for the hall where rehearsals were being held. "Margaret will be amused when she hears about this, and so will Mr. Barrington!"

He smiled as he pictured the father of the girl to whom he was secretly engaged—a dignified and somewhat pompous clergyman.

"Well, I'll make him consent to our marriage yet!" he exclaimed.

At Crescent Hall the company were reading their parts from manuscripts. Mr. Sandal came from a position at a small table, as Burrows entered, and greeted him cordially when he had explained his errand.

"The role we want portrayed is a difficult one," he explained. "I will give you until tomorrow to look it over. You'd better not undertake it unless you can create the character of a parson without a glimmer of humor, who is quite oblivious of the amusing situations he is creating because of his stupidity. If you show you realize the humor of the lines, the force of the part is lost. See? Come around tomorrow morning at 10."

The actor was left standing, gazing at a little roll of typewritten pages. It was a peculiar part that he was asked to play. Suddenly he was seized with an inspiration. He raised his right hand dramatically, as if addressing an invisible audience.

"If I only dared!" he exclaimed. "If I only dared!"

Then he came to a sudden determination.

"Yes, I'll do it! The Rev. John Barrington shall help me—whether he wishes to do so or not—to succeed on Broadway!"

After he reached the room which he called home, Burrows lighted the gas-jet and looked over the part. It was hard for him to restrain expressions of mirth as he brought out some of its amusing points. There was no doubt that he could give a striking rendering of it, if he put his plan into operation.

The Rev. John Barrington had a strong objection to his daughter having anything to do with an actor. He hated the stage and everybody even remotely connected with it. Burrows had long feared that he would be unable to overcome the clergyman's prejudices; and now he intended to do something that would put him forever beyond the pale. His only hope was that if he succeeded in making a hit in his new part, Margaret would agree to an elopement.

His plan was this—to take Mr. Barrington as a model for the character of a clergyman with no sense of humor; to imitate his talk, his walk, and all his mannerisms, with which Burrows was familiar. It would be a sure and certain way of making a hit as a character actor.

The next day, when Burrows attended rehearsal, by keeping the picture of the Rev. John Barrington constantly in mind, he succeeded in creating an exceedingly funny part, on which he was congratulated.

He was furiously busy at rehearsals until the opening night.

No matter how many times an actor has appeared in New York, a premier performance always put him on edge. All the old guard of first-nighters are on hand, as well as the dreaded critics. Burrows went to his dressing-room in a feverish state, and nearly had stage-fright when he heard the cue for his first entrance.

"The Imitator" pleased the audience from the start of the action, and continuous laughter proved that Burrows was making a personal success as the solemn parson. He had copied the Rev. John Barrington to the life, and so obtained an air of convincing reality.

After the final drop of the curtain he received word that there was a gentleman at the stage-door who wished to see him. The actor gasped for breath when he saw that it was Margaret's father.

"Now I'm in for it!" he murmured, as he rallied his waning strength and courage.

They met in the hallway, both men dressed in black.

"Mr. Burrows," began the Rev. John Barrington, "I wish to congratulate you on your courage in showing the public that a man of the church can be dignified in all situations, however trying they may be. I fancied, sir, that I saw some resemblance to myself in your bearing and manner, and I take it as a genuine compliment. You bore the ridicule of the audience bravely. My ideas have changed regarding allowing an actor to become one of my family, and I am willing that your engagement to Margaret should be announced."

SEEMS UNLIKELY.

The optimist beamed.

"Splendid," he said. "According to the latest returns there are 420,000,000 Christians in the world."

"That may be," said the pessimist, "but when any scandal attaches to your name it is mighty hard to believe it."

PETER'S VERSION.
[Exchange.]

On the last day of school, prizes were distributed at Peter's school. When the little boy returned home the mother was entertaining callers.

"Well, Peter," asked one of the callers, "did you get a prize?"

"No," replied Peter, "but I got horrible mention."

THE TWO MYSTERIES.
[Mary Mapes Dodge.]

We know not what it is, dear, this sleep so deep and still;
The folded hands, the awful calm, the cheek so pale and chill;
The lids that will not lift again,
though we may call and call;
The strange, white solitude of peace that settles over all.

We know not what it means, dear, this desolate heart-pain;
This dread to take our daily way and
and walk in it again;
We know not to what other sphere
the loved who leave us go,
Nor why we're left to wonder still, nor why we do not know.

But this we know: Our loved and dead,
if they should come this day—
Should come and ask us, "What is life?"—not one of us could say.
Life is a mystery as deep as ever death can be;
Yet, oh, how dear it is to us, this life
we live and see!

Then might they say—these vanished ones—and blessed is the thought,
"So death is sweet to us, beloved!
though we may show you naught;
"We may not to the quick reveal the mystery of death—
"Ye cannot tell us, if ye would, the mystery of breath."

The child who enters life comes not with knowledge or intent,
So those who enter death must go as little children sent,
Nothing is known. But I believe that God is overhead;
And as life is to the living, so death is to the dead.

THE FAIRIES.
[Grif Alexander.]

You wonder where the fairies dwell?
To tell you what you ask
Is quite an easy task.
They live and work each fairy spell
In baby's eyes
When glad surprise
Wakes up the tenderness that sleeps
Within your heart.
They play a most important part
Where careful Mother Nature keeps
The various hues,
The pinks and blues,
To tint the flowers
For golden hours
In May and June.
They teach the birds
Songs lacking words
But rich in tune.
They chase the clouds across the sky;
Incite the breeze
To stir the trees;
Provide the clover for the bees
With ease.
Make kisses play with bread and cheese;
Create the buttercup;
With honey fill it up.
And every day
Some little fay
Will teach some happy child to play.
Where joyous laughter's ringing out
Be sure a fairy's thereabout,
And strange it is, where'er they roam
The fairies always are at home,
And that is why without a doubt,
We never, never find them out!

BLESSED ARE THE POOR.

My little grandson, four years old, asked me to buy him a little wagon. I told him I could not get the kind here in the country, so he told me to write and ask his Grandma LaPorte to buy him one. I told him she didn't have any money to send him anything. He thought for an instant and said:

"Grandma. God didn't have much money when he made Grandma LaPorte did he?"

WAS COVERED WITH BOILS

Could Not Get Rid of Them Until She Used BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

When the blood becomes impure the first symptoms which manifest themselves are a breaking out of the various forms of skin trouble, such as boils, pimples, abscesses, ulcers, etc., and the only treatment you can use is some sort of a good blood-cleansing remedy which will put the blood into a perfect condition, and thus eliminate all the different poisons from the system which cause these different eruptions to occur.

The best blood-cleansing remedy on the market today is Burdock Blood Bitters. All we ask you is to try it and be convinced. Thousands have used it during the past forty years, and have nothing but praise for its curative powers.

Mrs. John Fitzgerald, Plantagenet, Ont., writes: "I am one woman who cannot speak too highly of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was covered with boils, and could not get rid of them. I was advised by a friend to try B. B. B., which I did, and I can truthfully say that it completely cured me. I have never had a sign of a boil since."

See that our name appears on both the label and wrapper, as there are many imitations placed on the market which are said to be "just as good."

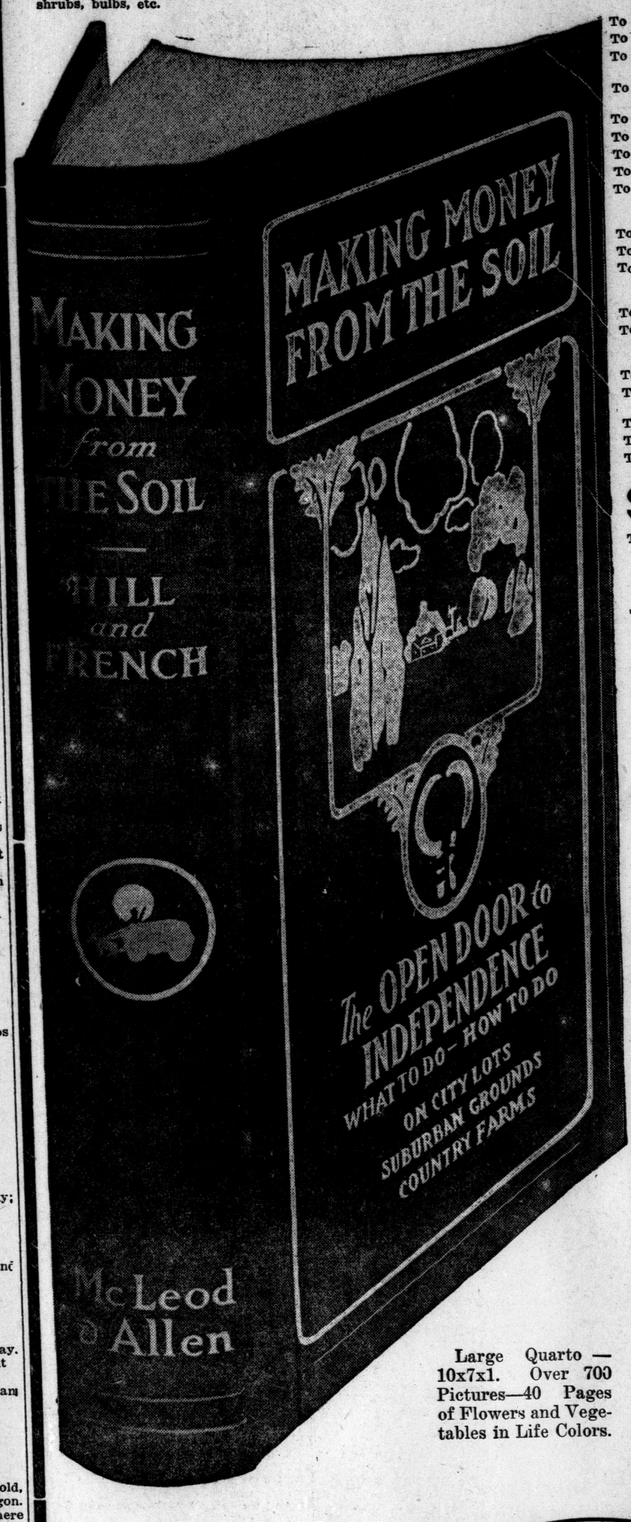

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Pineapple Desserts.

Dear Miss Grey,—Please give two or three pineapple recipes — something quite nice for "special" desserts, frozen ones preferred.

ANN HATHAWAY.

Ans.—Pineapple Bavarian Cream.—Two tablespoons granulated gelatine, one-half cup cold water, one pint grated pineapple, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice, whip from three cups cream. Soak gelatine in cold water. Heat pineapple, add sugar, lemon juice and soaked gelatine. Chill in pans of ice-water, stirring constantly; when it begins to thicken, fold in whip from cream, mold and chill. This is a delicious "company" dessert, though rather expensive for daily use, if you must buy cream.

Pineapple Cream.—Two cups water, one cup sugar, one pint grated pineapple, two cups cream. Make syrup by boiling sugar and water fifteen minutes; strain, cool, add pineapple and freeze to mush. Fold in whip from cream; let stand thirty minutes before serving. Serve in tall glasses, and garnish with candied peel.

Pineapple Pudding.—Two and three-quarters cups scalded milk, quarter cup cold milk, one-third cup corn starch, one-quarter cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-half pint grated pineapple, whites three eggs. Mix corn starch, sugar and salt, dilute with cold milk, and add to scalded milk, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, afterwards occasionally. Cook fifteen minutes. Add white of eggs beaten stiff, mix thoroughly, mold, chill, and serve with custard or cream.

Answer for Grace.

GRACE.—1. In some cases the needle leaves tiny red scars, but not if applied properly. Average price is 50c to $1 a treatment. This is believed to be the only method for satisfactory results.

A Summer Home.

BESSIE M.—The summer home is for any girl wishing a quiet, safe holiday stopping-place. Write to Miss Ludwig, secretary Y. W. C. A., London.

From Two Brides-Elect.

Dear Miss Grey,—Having heard of your wonderful page, and read of it, too, we ventured to write for some assistance. We are both brides-to-be on the same day in the latter part of June.

1. What is the luckiest day in June to be married on?
2. What color dress would you advise, one being blonde, the other brunette?
3. What are the meanings of these names (they being young people we intend to invite to the wedding): Dora, Irene, Mildred, Gladys, Leta, Frank, LeRoy, Virgil, Lawrence, Fred, Cora?
4. A recipe for bride's cake.
5. What clothing would you advise for a honeymoon trip by water, for about two weeks (not considering expenses)?

Thanking you in advance and hoping to see this in print soon, as we have no time to lose. We are, as ever, your two readers,

A BRUNETTE AND BLONDE.

Ans.—1. The entire month is considered lucky, is it not? According to an article which I recently read, June 7 and 15 are not supposed to be days of as good omen as the remainder of the month.

2. Is anything nicer than white for a wedding? If you are not being married in a suit, would certainly advise white. If you are having a suit, a tan shade, or blue, would be nice for both dark and fair girl.

3. Dora, gift of God; Irene, peace; Mildred, mild speaker; Gladys, lame; Leta, same as Letitia, which means happiness; Frank, free or frank; LeRoy, a friend; Virgil, a laurel; Lawrence, a crown of laurel; Fred, abounding in peace; Cora, a maiden.

4. Two pounds raisins, seeded, and cut in half; 2 pounds currants, 1 pound dates, stoned and chopped; 1 pound chopped almonds or walnuts, 1 pound mixed peel, cut fine; 6 eggs, 1 pound butter, 3 cups brown sugar, coffee cup molasses; ½-cup lemon juice, ½-cup ground mixed spices, 3 cups flour, good teaspoon soda dissolved first in a little hot water, then stir into the molasses. Stir all together thoroughly and bake in a moderate oven.

5. A suggested list is as follows. Travelling suit in blue or tan, with voile blouse and hat to match; short tweed skirt, two wash blouses, long separate coat or sport coat, outing hat, two wash dresses of crepe or muslin, a dinner dress of silk, pair Oxfords, pair of pumps, underwear, dressing gown, stockings, handkerchiefs, etc.

The travelling suit will be worn "going away," and en route to the boat, also if you are stopping over in cities by the way. On board, a heavy coat is always welcome, particularly if the weather is cool.

What to Talk About.

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my second letter to your Mail Box. I received no answer to the other. Hoping to see this in print, I remain, B. A. C.

1. While talking to a girl, what should you talk about?—a few points, please
2. When courting, what would we talk about?—a few more points.
3. While out driving, what would I talk about?—quite a few points.
4. Do you know of a book on this line? Send name, please.
5. When you get introduced to anyone, and they say "Pleased to meet you," what would you say?
6. Is it proper to talk to a girl about things that are going on, such as garden party? How would you explain yourself in such things?
7. If anyone said anything sharp, would you print a few good answers, please?
8. If anyone asks questions, what would you say to shut them up?
9. What is proper to ask a girl—to go home with you, to dance, to ride, to treat her?
10. What do you think of my writing? I guess this is enough for this time. Answer as soon as possible. I am, yours, B. A. C.

Ans.—Well, B. A. C., I guess the reason your former letter received no reply was because I didn't really think you could be in earnest. However, I shall try now to make amends.

In talking to a girl (especially if you wish to make a good impression on her and seek to win her favor), there are some subjects it is always wise to let alone. For instance, never, never hint that you notice her shiny nose. Ten to one, she's fervently hoping you'll turn your back a minute, so she may have a chance to dab it with a powder rag. Another topic to avoid is criticism of her clothing. No matter if you think her hat a scream and her dress "frumpy," endeavor to give her the impression that you think her just the cutest thing in shoe-leather. There's only one class of people that likes flattery better than woman—that is, man—so never be afraid to tuck in a word of praise here and there, when talking to a girl. She won't credit half you are saying. Of course, but yet she likes to hear it.

Unfavorable remarks about her relations are also out of place. If you do regard her mother as being the poorest cook in the country, never fail to praise the rhubarb pie, and always ask for a second helping of the salad, when dining at her home. As to her father and uncles, although you may deem them "as mean as mud," it's a good stroke to commend them at every opportunity.

So much for what not to talk about. There yet remains: the weather, her health, her mother's health, her grandmother's health, and anybody else's health you can think of; then the garden party, by all means talk of it and any other local festivity; the fruit crop, Bryan's recent action, the war, the price of butter, the minister's last sermon, brave deeds you have done (these may comprise anything from playing truant to shooting a bear), the color of her eyes (you will have to look well into them, of course, in order to talk about this); whether eating ice-cream makes the hair curly—oh, goodness, B. A. C. there's just oceans of things to talk about, isn't there? And with all my help, I'm sure you won't need a book on the subject.

5. Say "thank you, the privilege is mine."

6. While I advised you above to mention the garden party, if you're "hard up" and can't afford to treat, better keep silent, perhaps.

7. Query not definite enough.

8. My friend, people are asking me questions every day of my life, and as my bread-and-butter depends on it, I am not studying how to "shut them up," but rather encouraging 'em to keep right on.

9. It is quite proper to ask a girl to do all these things. Gracious, B. A. C., but I'm afraid you're going to be a heart-smasher!

10. Well, not much to say the truth.

Her First Venture.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am an interested reader of your Mail Box. This is the first time I have written to you.

1. What day did December 25, 1902, come on?
2. I have dark brown hair and grey eyes; what are my colors?
3. Could you give me a recipe for a good plain fruit cake?
4. What are the meanings of these names—Jennie, Annie, Edith, Kathleen, Tom, George, John and Alfred?
5. May I call again?
6. Have you the song: "I Wonder How the Old Folks Are at Home?"

Hoping soon to see this in print. I remain yours, WINDBAG.

Ans.—1. Thursday.

2. Depends very largely upon your complexion; if clear, you should look well in many shades; if otherwise, best stick to quiet colors—blues, brown, dark red and pale shades of pink or cream.

3. Hardly know what you mean by a "plain" fruit cake, but here is one not very rich. A few currants and sliced peel may be added if you wish: Half-cup shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 1 cup sour milk, 2 eggs, 2½ cups flour, teaspoon soda dissolved in the milk, teaspoon each of cinnamon and cloves, 1 cup raisins. Bake in a long loaf tin.

4. Jennie, gift of God; Annie, grace; Edith, happiness; Kathleen, pure; Tom, a twin; George, a landowner; John, gift of God; Alfred, good counsellor.

5. Yes.

6. No—could anyone send the words?

Who Knows It?

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you kindly print for me the song called "The Light of Day"? The words of the chorus run something like this:

"What's the reason, daddy,
That I can't see like you?
I often wonder what you're like,
For you're so kind and true."

If any reader could loan me the music I would forward a stamped envelope willingly. With best wishes,

AN ENGLISH MAIDEN.

Ans.—I do not know the words of this song, but would be very pleased if any of our readers could supply words and music. Can anyone send them for "English Maiden"?

Thanks "Soldier's Wife."

My Dear Miss Grey,—Through your columns I wish to extend my heartiest thanks to "Soldier's Wife" for her kindness in sending the ribbons which I asked for a short time ago.

I was out of the city for a number of days, and did not see her letter, or I should have replied sooner.

The ribbons were just what I wanted, and I am indeed most grateful to "Soldier's Wife," and would be pleased to reciprocate in any way I can. Very sincerely yours,

GENEVIEVE LE CLAIRE.

Ans.—Your kind letter of thanks is gladly published for the benefit of "Soldier's Wife." Rejoice to hear that the ribbons suited.

PANSIES.

Pansies for thoughts—
At daylight I found them
Sweet with the freshness of the morning upon them,
Tossed in their passage,
Love was their message—
Pansies for thoughts.

Pansies for thoughts—
In my brown hair he fixed them,
Love in his eyes as he stooped low and kissed them;
With hope without measure
Life opened together—
Pansies for thoughts.

Pansies for thoughts—
On a wee grave we left them,
Hovering angels leaned over and blessed them;
Safe from all sorrow
We'll meet her tomorrow—
Pansies for thoughts.

Pansies for thoughts—
How the skies bend above them;
Pansies for thoughts, how the wind seems to love them;
One little flower
Gathered forever—
Pansies for thoughts.

Pansies for thoughts—
When sunlight is dying
Low in the west and the night winds are sighing, Earth's bitter leaven
Fits us for Heaven—
Pansies for thoughts.

ERRORS AND BUNCHED HITS CAUSED LONDON'S DEFEAT

Reisling Men Gained Early Lead, But Hams Got to Graham In Sixth, and Crossed the Plate Five Times, Two Errors Aidin g Them to Score

[Special to The Advertiser.]

HAMILTON, June 15. — Patsy Dougherty was wild today, but he was given erroriess support, and the Hams managed to double the score on London. The Cockneys gained an early lead that for a time looked to be a winning one, but a sixth-inning rally put the game on ice for Cristall's men. The locals made Graham nervous in the first inning by landing on his offerings for two three-base clouts, but only one run resulted. In the sixth the Hams hit freely and ran wild on the bases, which, along with a couple of costly errors, gave them five runs. Outside the first and sixth innings, Graham pitched good ball, and with proper support would have made the score closer, although, on the day's play, the Hams were deserving of a victory.

The London team is without the services of Merritt, who was confined to his bed through illness, and Reisling covered the first sack. Lamy was also feeling far from well, but managed to finish the game. Graham struck out seven men during the pastime, and allowed but two to walk.

Hams Started Early.

Hamilton got busy early in the struggle, and the centimetre guns cut loose against the enemy in the initial frame. M. Harris got Graham off to a good start by striking out, but Manager Cristall led his braves into the battle by driving one to the right field fence, which gave Cy Reidy a great Marathon training, and which got the Hamilton pilot to third base. Kelly Harris failed to advance him, an infield out being the result of his efforts, but Tiffany came across with the needed, in the shape of another three-base slam, the fence at left centre being the target this time. Woods failed to get the ball past Graham and the little rally ended.

Hamilton got men on in the second, third and fourth, but was unable to get an occupant on first in the fifth. In the sixth, as was the case on Monday, the Hams started the rally that won the game. Tiffany, who had hit in each of his two previous trips to the plate, struck out, but Woods beat out an infield hit and stole second. McGroarty made the Hams' third triple of the day to deep right, and scored Woods. Westlake got a life when Whitcraft failed to hold his pop fly. Westlake stole second and Pembroke walked, filling the bases. Patsy Dougherty singled to right field, scoring McGroarty and Westlake, and M. Harris' sacrifice fly brought Pembroke across the plate. Dougherty stole second, and in the attempt to catch him Bowden threw the ball into centre field, and the Hamilton pitcher scored. The Hams were never dangerously near round the circuit after that, Woods being the only man to get on in the remaining two frames.

The Cockneys were aggressive in the initial inning, but without results. Myers walked and Whitcraft advanced him by a well-placed sacrifice. Schaffer flied out, but Lamy sent one along the first base line that was too hot for Cristall to handle. He reached second on a passed ball. The visitors pulled hard for Cy Ikeidy to come through with a hit, but Cyrus was unable to connect with the pill at all, let alone safely.

Where London Got Three.

Dougherty's wildness got him into a heap of trouble in the second inning. After Eckstein struck out he allowed Reisling to walk, and Bowden sent a Texas leaguer over second, Graham also walked, and Myers singled to right field, scoring his manager. Whitcraft followed with a single to left, which brought Bowden and Graham across the plate, but Schaffer and Lamy both flied out to Cristall, and London's Panfest suddenly terminated. The visitors started off in the fourth inning in a manner that made a tally appear inevitable, but nothing happened in the way of plate-crossing. Bowden hit to the right field fence for three bases, but made a very foolish attempt to steal home, and was an easy out.

The story of London's retirement in the sixth and eighth innings can be told in the same words. On both occasions, Cy Reidy, who was the first man up in both the sixth and eighth innings, flied out to Westlake, and Eckstein died in the same manner. Reisling and Bowden jogged to first in each of the innings mentioned, but were left on the bases when Graham struck out. The three men who faced Dougherty in the ninth failed to show even the least sign of a rally.

Reisling Is After More Men To Strengthen Team

New Pitcher and Second Baseman Are Needed Badly—La-Bate to Draw His Release—Team Is Making Poor Showing On Road.

[BY BERT PERRY.]

Manager "Doc" Reisling and his Tecumsehs wind up their week's trip on the road at Hamilton today, and will return to London this evening to meet Stewart's Saints at Tecumseh Park for the next three days. The present tour has not been a profitable one for the locals from the standpoint of games won and lost. To date London has won only one of the six games played since leaving here a week ago. Poor pitching and errors in critical places have cost the club the most of its games.

More Sickness on Team.

The team is in a further disorganized condition by the illness of Lamy and Merritt. Lamy played yesterday at Hamilton, but he was sick enough to be in bed. The Saranac Lake boy is a game lad and he never quits until he is forced to. Unless he has improved it is not likely he will appear in today's game. Merritt has been playing pretty fair ball for London, and his illness will further cripple the club. He was confined to his bed in Hamilton yesterday and may not be able to get in the game again for a few days.

Graham Has Sore Arm.

Pitcher Graham is also suffering from a sore arm, and "Cuz" Hammond's wing has shown little or no improvement. Dillinger is getting in better shape every day, but he will not get into a game until the team returns here. The southpaw has been working out over in Tecemseh Park the past couple of afternoons, and will soon be ready to take his turn on the mound.

Myers Won't Do.

There is no doubt that "Doc" Reisling will immediately start in to strengthen up his team. The doctor realizes, just as everybody else, that he has far from a pennant-winning aggregation, and that at least three new men are needed. Myers is not playing the game at second base, and there is no doubt that he will not do. He is not showing as good form as he displayed here when Rube Deneau had the club, and he was not good enough then. The pitching staff will have to be bolstered up right away. Joe La Bate will be released as soon as the team arrives in London, according to a local official. Reisling has a chance to place him in another league. Another good twirler will be secured. "Red" Juel, the Northwestern College sensation, whom Reisling was trying to land, is with the Chicago White Sox at present, but Comiskey is anxious to place him with a minor league for seasoning, and London may get a chance to land him. Douglas, a team-mate of his, is with the Saints.

WITNESS VANISHES

Heinz Hardenberg Was to Have Sailed Lusitania Was Armed.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, June 16.—Capt. William M. Offley, chief of the secret service of the department of justice here, confirmed today the report of the disappearance of Heinz Hardenberg, who was to have testified before the federal grand jury which is investigating affidavits made by Gustav Stahl, and, presumably others, to the effect that the Lusitania had four guns mounted aboard the day before she sailed on her last trip.

REISLING SHAKES UP BATTING ORDER FOR TODAY'S CONTEST

Lamy, Reidy and Eckstein Will Lead Off in That Order — London Manager Is After New Infielder, Who May Report By Monday—Merritt Also Laid Up.

[BY BERT PERRY.]

A shake-up in the London batting order will occur for today's game at Hamilton. Manager Reisling is going to try a new line of attack to see if better results can be obtained. The new order of going to the plate is as follows:

Lamy, c.f.
Reidy, r.f.
Eckstein, l.f.
Whitcraft, s.s
Schaffer, 3.
Reisling, 1.
Myers, 2
Danford, c.
Hammond, p.

"Doc." Reisling thinks this new order of things will help the team considerably. Lamy is a good lead-off man on account of his speed. Cy. Reidy and Eckstein are two good, dependable hitters or bunters, and Whitcraft and Schaffer are splendid clean-up men. Merritt is still confined to his bed, but may be able to jump into the game tomorrow when the team returns home. Lamy is also feeling better. Whitcraft has been quite sick, but has gamely stayed in the game. The boys have been troubled a great deal with sore throats

After New Infielder.

Reisling is after a new infielder and expects to land one by the first week. Merritt has cinched the first base job. His work has been commented on all over the circuit. Shaughnessy thinks he is one of the best first sackers that ever broke into the Canadian League. He is only a youngster and his hitting and fielding have been of considerable help to the club.

"Doc." is also making negotiations for a new twirler. He has two in line so far, but is going to be absolutely sure he is going to get a good one before taking either. One of them is out on the coast at the present time with the Portland, Oregon, club. The other is an American League recruit.

"The more I see of the other clubs, the better I think of my own club," said Reisling today to The Advertiser. "Just as soon as we can get free from all this sickness and the pitchers can deliver, we will start to climb so fast that the other clubs will not see us for dust."

HAMILTON SCRIBES THINK LONDON TEAM IS WEAKEST

[Hamilton Spectator.]

The Cockneys, as they performed yesterday, appear to be about the weakest team that has yet played here, and the great wonder with the local fans is that they have kept up so well in the race. Hamiltonians have now seen every team in the league, and the opinion here is general that the Chirpers could stand strengthening.

[Hamilton Herald.]

Certainly the Londoners did not look any too strong yesterday. Minus Eddie Linneborn and Louie Bierbauer, of last year's squad, they appear very ordinary. Edmund Lamy, the speed skater, in the middle pasture stands out head and shoulders above the rest of the squad. His fielding is clean cut and he's a bad actor with the stick. He did not get any hits, but chased the outer gardeners to the limits every time he stung the ball. Myers, on second, appeared weak, both of his errors proving costly, and Danforth, behind the bat, is slow. With him behind the bat in every game the Hams would no doubt pilfer many sacks. Of course that is on his showing yesterday.

BIG ENTRY FOR SATURDAY'S MEET

Program Will Undoubtedly Furnish the Best Athletic Features Ever Staged Here.

The Manufacturers' Athletic Association's track and field meet, which is to be held on Saturday afternoon at Queen's Park will provide the best program of sports ever held by this association.

Entries are coming in very fast, both in the closed events, for the employees of the manufacturers of London only, and the open events, which are drawing the best athletes from Toronto, Hamilton and Detroit. Besides such local athletes as Hunter, Adams, McLean, Wortman, Lightfoot and Burridge, who have always done credit to London in these events in past years, have also entered.

Murphy, Siviter, Forsythe and Cook, of the 34th and 33rd Battalions, who have a good reputation, have entered in the military events, an dno doubt will give a good account of themselves in the sprints.

NURSE'S KIDNEY COMPLAINT

Cured By Dr. Cassell's Tablets After Operations Failed

She was too weak to walk alone.

In frightful pain for hours at a time.

Had undergone two operations.

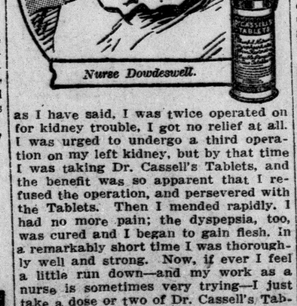

Faced With a third operation she took

DR. CASSELL'S TABLETS

And was cured.

Two years ago Nurse Dowdeswell, of 37, Alfred street, Gloucester, England, wrote to say that Dr. Cassell's Tablets had cured her of acute kidney trouble, and saved her from operation, and she now tells her story for the benefit of fellow sufferers in the Dominion. She says:

"I am pleased to say that I have had the best of health since I told you of my cure by Dr. Cassell's Tablets some two years ago. People remark on how well I look. When I think of what I suffered before I knew of Dr. Cassell's Tablets, I feel I can never sufficiently praise your splendid medicine. Kidney trouble had reduced me to such a state of helplessness that I could not walk alone. I had undergone two operations, and taken endless medicine; but nothing helped me. Often I was in frightful pain, pain that lasted for hours at a time. I was also a martyr to dyspepsia, and so weak and spiritless that I used to wish I could die and be done with suffering. Although,

Nurse Dowdeswell.

as I have said, I was twice operated on for kidney trouble, I got no relief at all. I was urged to undergo a third operation on my left kidney, but by that time I was taking Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and the benefit was so apparent that I refused the operation, and persevered with the Tablets. Then I mended rapidly. I had no more pain; the dyspepsia, too, was cured and I began to gain flesh. In a remarkably short time I was thoroughly well and strong. Now, if ever I feel a little run down—and my work as a nurse is sometimes very trying—I just take a dose or two of Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and they never fail to set me up again. They are just splendid."

That is the testimony of a trained nurse. That such a lady should praise Dr. Cassell's Tablets is sure evidence of their curative value.

Dr. Cassell's Tablets put new life and vigor into the kidneys by strengthening the nerves that control kidney action. That is why Dr. Cassell's Tablets cure even very severe cases. Here is another instance which further emphasizes the extraordinary healing and vitalizing powers of the great British remedy, Dr. Cassell's Tablets

ACUTE KIDNEY PAINS Made Her Life a Torture.

Mrs. Ada Elliott, 6 Russell Grove, Regent Park road, Coventry road, Birmingham, England, says: "I first of all noticed that something was wrong with me when I wanted to stay in bed beyond my usual time. When I got up I trembled from head to foot, and cruel pains caught me in the small of my back. My head ached fit to split, and I had no heart or energy for anything. I had the best advice, and was told that my kidneys were affected. Medicine after medicine was tried, but no matter what I took or did the grinding pain went on. All food disagreed with me until I got to dread meal-times coming round.

Mrs. Ada Elliott.

"My skin was of a sickly, unhealthy color, and puffy rims formed round my eyes, and I dragged out the miserable days as best I could. All I wanted was rest, and to be free from the constant pain which was tearing the life out of me.

"The headaches and backaches became worse and worse, until there were days and days when I could hardly stir. I got very little sleep at nights, and this added to my sufferings. I was completely worn out, for my nerves went all to pieces. A few months ago I read a report of Dr. Cassell's Tablets having cured a long-standing case of kidney trouble and nervous prostration. I started taking the tablets at once, and am delighted to tell you that I am now cured. The wretched headaches and grinding backaches left me, and my health is now splendid."

Largest Sale In Britain. Popularity now world-wide

These cures are real cures, complete and lasting, and the accounts related, true beyond all question, are given out of sheer gratitude for new health, strength and vitality brought about by Dr. Cassell's Tablets. This genuine and thoroughly tested remedy is now in world-wide repute for Nervous Breakdown, Nerve Failure, Infantile Weakness, Neurasthenia, Sleeplessness, Anaemia, Kidney Trouble, Dyspepsia, Stomach Disorder, Wasting, Palpitation, and they are specially valuable for nursing mothers and girls approaching womanhood. All druggists and storekeepers throughout the Dominion sell Dr. Cassell's Tablets at 50 cents. People in outlying districts should keep Dr. Cassell's Tablets by them in case of emergency. MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 13-year-old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it, and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound, according to directions on the bottle, and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run-down when she started taking the Compound, and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy." — Mrs. Martin Helvig, Plover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy.

TASK OF ALLIES IN DARDANELLES WILL BE PUSHED

Operations There of the Highest Importance, Says Asquith.

STRAITS NOT FORCED

Work Slow On Account of Difficulties of the Ground.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, June 15.—7:16 p.m.—There have been so many rumors recently that the Allies had forced the Dardanelles that Sir James H. Dalziel asked Premier Asquith this afternoon, in the House of Commons, if there was any truth in such reports.

"None whatever," was the reply. The Premier said that it was not in the public interest to say anything now about the Dardanelles. "The operations are of the highest importance," he added, "and they will be pushed to a successful conclusion."

TRENCH WARFARE.

LONDON, June 15.—The following announcement concerning operations at the Dardanelles was given out here officially today:

"The situation on the Gallipoli Peninsula has developed into trench warfare. After our success on the 4th instant the Turks have evinced a great respect for our offensive, and by day and night they have to submit to captures of trenches.

"On the night of the 11-12th of June two regiments of a British regular brigade made a simultaneous attack on the advanced Turkish trenches, and after severe fighting, which included the killing of many snipers, succeeded in maintaining themselves, in spite of bombs, in the captured position.

"On the morning of the 13th a counter-attack was made by the Turks, who rushed forward with bombs, but coming under the fire of the naval machine gun squadron were annihilated. Of the fifty who attacked, 30 dead were counted in front of that part of our trenches.

"The situation is favorable to our forces, but is necessarily slow on account of the difficulties of the ground. The Turkish offensive has sensibly weakened."

MAJOR SUTHERLAND BACK FROM WAR WITH A BENT ARM

Norwich Officer Home on Three Months' Leave.

WOODSTOCK, June 15.—A pleasant surprise was given tonight to many of his friends, when Major D. M. Sutherland, who was wounded in the battle of Langemarck by shrapnel shell fire, stopped over in this city on his way to Norwich, where he intends spending about six weeks with his mother.

The major, whose arm is crooked as a result of a piece of shrapnel shattering it at the elbow, is looking well and fit, and is loud in his praise of the gallant conduct and splendid fighting of the Canadian troops in all the battles they have been engaged in.

Major Sutherland has been granted a three months' sick leave, and arrived in New York on the liner Corunda.

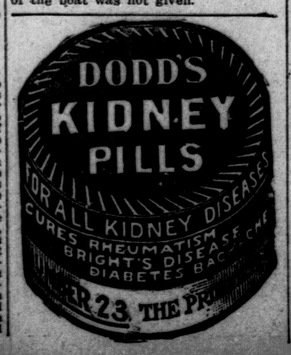

A flesh wound which he received in the head is completely healed up.

He is anxious to get back to the firing line as quickly as possible, he stated, but would not give an opinion as to when the war might end.

GERMANS ADMIT LOSS OF SUBMARINE U-14

AMSTERDAM, June 15.—The German Admiralty today officially admitted that the submarine U-14 has been destroyed by the British and its crew made prisoners, according to Berlin dispatches tonight.

Announcement was made in the British House of Commons last week that a German submarine had been destroyed and its crew made prisoners. The name of the boat was not given.

GIVES WASHINGTON FACTS ON AIR RAIDS OVER OLD LONDON

British Ambassador Submits Points at Washington—No Protest Asked.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 15.—German attempts to bombard London from aircraft were brought formally to the attention of the American Government today by Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador. No request for a protest to Germany was made. The ambassador merely called at the state department and submitted to Secretary Lansing a statement of the facts from the British viewpoint.

After referring to the growing frequency of raids in sections of London by hostile aeronauts, Sir Cecil declared that the great city practically was unfortified; absolutely so far as the residential sections were concerned. Millions of people were crowded in congested quarters, he said, and it would be impossible for British artillerymen to defend these sections against aeroplane or Zeppelin attacks, because any shells sent into the sky towards aircraft almost certainly would work great destruction of life when their fragments returned to earth in the crowded city.

Many Americans There.

The ambassador also pointed out that a large number of Americans and other non-English people are residents in London, and that located there are the foreign embassies and legations and many hospitals and charitable institutions, all of which are greatly endangered by the Zeppelin attacks. As airships usually operate in thick weather, at night, or above the clouds, Mr. Lansing was reminded their commanders can only approximate in the most general way the landing spot of the bombs they drop.

The history of the German airmen's attacks on London so far, the ambassador asserted, is that they have had no effect whatever upon the army or defensive works, and that their destructive powers have been felt entirely by innocent non-combatants and private property.

Soon after the war in Europe began, Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, sent a vigorous protest to the state department against bombardment of Belgian villages by German airmen.

AUSTRIA NEGLECTS CHANCE TO RESUME BELGRADE OFFENSIVE

Appears To Be Encouraging Servia's Albanian Plan—Sends Troops to Italy.

[Canadian Press.]

ROME, June 15.—8:35 p. m.—Via Chiasso and Paris, 11:55 p.m.—According to reports received by the Italian General Staff Austria is indirectly encouraging Servia in her Albanian plan, the nature of which is indicated by the recent incursion of Servian troops into that country. It is reported here that Servia and Greece have reached an agreement respecting the partition of Albania, trusting once it is accomplished, that it will be ratified by the peace conference.

What appears unusual in the situation is that Austria, whose ultimatum to Servia resulted in the war, instead of seizing the present opportunity to resume the offensive against Belgrade, now that part of the Servian troops are engaged in Albania, has removed some of her forces from the Servian front to face the Italians.

In an official statement issued June 12 by the Servian Press Bureau, it was explained that the Servian expedition into Albania was deemed necessary because that country had been a hotbed of Austro-Turkish intrigue, resulting in Albanian raids in Servia. At the same time, it was added, Servia realized that the Albanian question would be definitely settled by Europe.

CARSON DID NOT WANT TO JOIN THE CABINET

Only Strong Pressure Induced Him to Take Step.

LONDON, June 15.—7:40 p.m.—Sir Edward Carson, the Irish Unionist leader, like John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist party leader, in the House of Commons, did not want to join the coalition cabinet, said Premier Asquith today in a speech of tribute to those who were according the Government support.

"Sir Edward Carson at first declined when it was suggested that he should join the administration," the Premier said, "and it was only strong pressure and his sense of public duty which made him associate himself with the Government."

Mr. Asquith said he regretted extremely the absence of any Nationalist in the Cabinet, but he said he had done all he could to obtain the co-operation of all.

MUNITION WORKMEN DELAYED BY OTTAWA

Failure To Send Blanks Keeps Men Back at Windsor.

WINDSOR, June 15.—Skilled workmen, eager to assist the British empire in the manufacture of war munitions are being detained in Windsor because the application blanks forwarded from Ottawa to be filled in here by applicants have already been used and other blanks have not yet arrived.

About 40 forms were sent here a week ago. Nearly 30 applicants have since made known their willingness to go to England at once. Some came from the United States.

MOSCISKA CAPTURED; CAPITAL OF GALICIA IS AGAIN IN DANGER

Mackenzen Telegraphs the Kaiser That He Hopes to Have Lemberg By July 1—Russians Falling Back.

LONDON, June 15.—10:46 p.m.—The Austro-German rush in Galicia is on again. Both Berlin and Vienna officially lay claim to progress along practically the entire southeastern front, and Lemberg seems again to be in danger.

Gen. Von Mackensen has telegraphed the German Emperor that he hopes to capture Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, before July 1, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Amsterdam.

Mosciska, to the east of Przemysl, has been captured by the Austro-Germans, and, according to the German contention, the Russians are falling back south of the railroad connecting Przemysl and Lemberg. All the Russian counter-attacks have been repulsed, with gains for the Teutons, from a point north of Przemysl into Bessarabia.

Far off as this front is from England and France, it is being watched more closely than the western front, because it would appear that these operations are being pressed in an attempt to clear Galicia of the Russians, preparatory to a breathing spell in the east, which is likely to be followed by a crushing blow aimed at Italy.

RUSSIANS RETREAT, SAY GERMANS.

BERLIN, June 15. — Army headquarters made the following announcement today regarding the eastern theatre of war:

"East of Shavli German troops stormed the village of Danksze and took 1,660 prisoners. The position recently won southeast and east of the Mariampol-Kovno road were repeatedly attacked yesterday by a strong force of the enemy, which had no success. Our troops advanced on the Lipowo-Kalwarya front, pressed back the Russian line, and captured the Russian advanced trenches. On the River Orzyc our attacking troops stormed and took the village of Godnoroczec, southeast of Chorzetten, and Czerwonagora, and the villages there, as well as the briges east of this place. The booty taken at this place amounted to 365 Russian prisoners. Attacks by the enemy against the point at which we broke through north of Bolimow failed.

"The enemy, who was defeated on the 13th and 14th of June by the army of Gen. Von Mackensen, has been unable to regain a footing in the positions prepared by him. To the northeast of Joarow the enemy was driven back from the position at which he had stopped, the booty increasing.

"The Russian forces south of Przemysl-Lemberg railway have been forced to retreat. The troops of Gen. Von Der Marwitz yesterday took Mosciska. The right wing of the army of Gen. Von Linsingen stormed the heights east of Zekel. Our cavalry reached the district south of Mariampol."

CLAIM GAINS IN BESSARABIA.

VIENNA (via London), June 15.—10:18 p.m.—The following official communication was issued today:

"There is heavy fighting along the entire Galician front.

"The army of Archduke Joseph Ferdinand, after the capture of Sieniawa, on the east bank of the San, has advanced in a northern and northeastern direction. The castle and farm of Piskorvice were stormed yesterday and numerous prisoners captured.

"Fighting heavily, the army of Gen. Mackensen is advancing on both sides of Krakowiec, southeast of Jaroslau, and towards Oleszyce (northeast of Jaroslau).

"South of Misciska the troops of Gen. Boehm-Ermolli are attacking fresh hostile positions, covering the road to Grodek (on the railroad between Misciska and Lemberg).

"On the Upper Dniester strong Russian forces are defending the bridgehead at Mikolajow against the advancing allies, under Gen. Linsingen, while further down the river the troops of Gen Pflanger and Gen. Baltin are standing before Nibniow (south of Mariampol), and Czernelica, maintaining the captured town of Zale-Szczyky against all Russian attacks. Portions of this army again have forced the Russians, making a stand in Bessarabia, between the Dniester and the Pruth Rivers, to retreat, driving them toward Chotin and along the Pruth.

"The number of prisoners taken in Galicia since June 12 has been increased by several thousands."

PEERAGE FOR BUCKMASTER.

LONDON, June 15.—7:20 p.m.—Sir Stanley Owen Buckmaster, who last month stepped from the post of chief censor to that of lord high chancellor in the newly-organized British Coalition Cabinet, was raised to the peerage today by King George. The new peer assumes the title of Baron Buckmaster of Cheddington.

GOES TO ASSIST IN OPERATIONS AT DARDANELLES

Lord Brassey

LONDON, June 15.—10:15 p.m.—Earl Brassey, the veteran owner of the famous yacht "Sunbeam," who joined the royal navy division at the outbreak of the war, is under orders to proceed to the Dardanelles. Lord Brassey, who is 79 years old, is a well known authority on naval questions and the compiler of navy statistics.

He has been civil lord of the British admiralty as well as secretary to the admiralty, and has served on several royal commissions formed by the British Government.

Foe Manoeuvres To Strike Blow At Russ Centre

Germans Try to Divert Attention By Fierce Attacks On Flanks.

LONDON, June 16.—3:01 a.m.—Telegraphing from Petrograd, the Times' correspondent says:

"The enemy's feverish activity on the extreme flanks—in the Baltic provinces and in the Dniester region—is generally interpreted as an endeavor to rivet Russian attention on these orders in order to facilitate a blow on the centre. In Galicia the movement of the hostile armies continues in a northerly direction in a series of attempts to cut a path from an outflanking movement to settle the fate of Lemberg.

"The bombardment of Shavli by heavy artillery is deemed to foreshadow the adoption of the tactics which proved successful on the San. It is noted that the Germans are now assembling in the Baltic region not only heavy artillery but considerable reinforcements which they perhaps removed from the San. The Germans on the Bzura River are employing liquid fire in hand to hand encounters."

NORWEGIAN STEAMER SUNK BY GERMANS

Torpedoed Off Hebrides Islands—Crew Is Rescued.

LONDON, June 15.—6:45 p.m.—Advices received here from Stornoway, Scotland, relate that the Norwegian steamer Duranger, formerly the Norwegian steamer Ceylon, has been torpedoed and sunk by a submarine off the Hebrides Islands. The crew of 21 arrived today at Stornoway.

The Duranger was 289 feet long, of 2,280 tons gross, and was built in 1888.

TRAWLER TORPEDOED.

LONDON, June 15. — The British trawler Argyll was torpedoed and sunk today by a German submarine.

Of the crew of eleven men, only four were saved. These were landed at Harwich on the east coast.

The Argyll was sent to the bottom without warning, and went down in less than two minutes.

IMPORTANT TOWN LOST TO RUSSIA

Mosciska, captured by the enemy, is situated on the river Wysznia and is an important town on the railway running between Przemysl and Lemberg. It is 37 miles west of the Galician capital. The struggle for this position has been particularly desperate since June 8, when the Austro-German forces opened the attack on the place with an extremely active artillery fire. Recent Russian official statements announced that the Teutonic allies were employing asphyxiating shells and were sending masses of infantry to assault the town.

ITALIANS POUND AUSTRIAN FORTS

Opening Way for Infantry to Proceed In Great Force.

CAPTURED TOWN JOYFUL

People of Grado Celebrate Reunion With Italy, Cheering Emmanuel.

ON THE ITALIAN FRONTIER, June 15 (via Chiacco and Paris).—Looking over the situation on the Italian frontier as a whole, there would appear to be reason to say that the Italians for a day or two have been left comparatively undisturbed. Consequently, they have continued pounding away with their heavy artillery all along the Trentine, the Carnic and the Tyrolean fronts. They have been attacking forts which dominate important roads, forts that Austria has spent the winter in modernizing and strengthening.

Italian army officers claim that excellent results have been obtained, results which promise to open the way shortly for an advance of Italian infantry in force.

Many of the prisoners falling into Italian hands say they come from the Servian frontier. This would seem to indicate that Austria has sent men from the Servian line for service on the Italian line.

CAPTURED TOWN CELEBRATES.

UDINE, Italy, June 15.—(Via Paris, 3:19 p.m.)—The mayor of the town of Grado, 22 miles southwest of Gorz, recently captured from the Austrians, issued a proclamation today declaring the loyalty of the population to King Victor Emmanuel. The reunion to Italy was impressively celebrated by the people.

The inhabitants, driven from their homes by the war, are now returning to the districts captured by the Italians. In some places Italian names are being substituted in the streets for those bearing Austrian names.

Trieste Consul Arrested.

Signor Canova, who was left in charge of the Italian consulate at Trieste when the war broke out between Italy and Austria-Hungary, has been arrested and sent to a concentration camp. Although assured by the governor of Trieste and other Austrian authorities that he would not be molested, he was distrustful of their promise and took refuge in the American consulate. The first time he went out of the building he was taken into custody.

DEPLORES TARDINESS IN ABOLISHING THE BAR

Resolution Adopted By Toronto Methodist Conference.

TORONTO, June 15.—The Methodist Conference today passed a resolution deploring the fact that Canada and the British Empire had not made more rapid strides in abolishing the liquor traffic.

The proposal of the Lord's Day Alliance to fight Sunday baseball in Hull, received the indorsation of the conference, which desired to call the attention of the alliance to some parts of Northern Ontario where league ball was played on Sunday.

The committee believed that such games were in violation of the Lord's Day act. The report also included private golf links, etc., in the condemnation.

TURN AVALANCHES LOOSE.

INNSBRUCK, Austria, June 15. — Twenty-five thousand Austro-Hungarian troops left Trent yesterday and are now advancing against the Italians on the Riva-Rovereto front.

The Austro-Hungarian troops are employing dynamite in the Alpine passes, blowing up rocks and loosening avalanches on the advancing Bersagleri. The heights dominating Caporetta, on the Isonzo front, have been occupied by the invading Italians.

Good Advice On Hair Culture

How to Stop Falling Hair and Drive Away Dandruff.

Once a day, if only for one minute, every woman, and every man, too, for that matter, ought to rub the scalp vigorously with the tips of the fingers.

The blood supplies nourishment to the hair, just as it does to the skin, and frequent massaging gently stimulates the scalp and causes the blood to flow more freely.

Both men and women should be careful in the choice of a hair-dressing. A good one used regularly, not only destroys dandruff germs, but keeps the hair from falling, and causes it to grow profusely and lustrous.

Parisian Sage is the hair-dressing, grower and beautifier most in demand by discriminating people. So certain is its tonic action on the scalp and hair, and so sure is it to give the limit of satisfaction, that the manufacturers guarantee Parisian Sage to abolish dandruff, to stop falling hair and itching scalp, or refund your money.

Parisian Sage is free from grease and stickiness, and once used will never be displaced by any of the ordinary commercial hair tonics.

A large bottle costs but 50 cents at your druggist's.

"I have used Parisian Sage for some time, and think it has no equal as a hair beautifier and scalp cleaner."—Mrs. William Hoglund, Sault Ste. Marie.

For aches, pains, rheumatism, etc., try Parisian Mustard Cerate. Its effect is wonderful. Use in place of mustard plasters, poultices or hot applications. 25c a tube.

GERMANS PUT UP WHITE FLAG, THEN FIRE ON RUSSIANS

All Bayonetted by Czar's Troops for This Vile Trick.

SOME WINS AND LOSSES

Enemy Takes Ground and Villages, But Is Driven Back Elsewhere.

[Canadian Press.]

Petrograd, via London, June 16.—The following official statement was issued last night at the war office:

"Fighting continues in the Shavli district without substantially modifying the situation.

"During Monday night the enemy delivered a futile attack in the direction of Nyszynice and Bakh, as well as several isolated attacks in the district north of Przasnysz, all of which we successfully repulsed."

Ally Yields Ground.

"In Galicia the Germans made good their losses by bringing up fresh troops not before seen in this front, and they resumed the offensive in the Jaroslau district on the right bank of the San, supported by a strong artillery. After three days of hard fighting we yielded some ground to the enemy on the right banks of the Lubazowka and the Wysznia, a tributary of the San.

"On the Dniester on Sunday we delivered a successful counter-attack on the left banks of the Tismenitza and the Stry Rivers. Here we made 1,200 prisoners, including 29 officers, and captured 7 machine guns. The same day the Germans attacked in the sector south of the bridgehead of Jidgatcheff, taking the village of Rogouhzno.

Violated White Flag.

"At dawn of the following day we delivered a counter-attack and recaptured the villages of Rogouhzno and Jouravkoff. We secured also a gun with its equipment and several artillerymen. In this engagement the Germans hoisted a white flag and treacherously opened fire. Consequently they all were bayonetted by our soldiers.

"The enemy continues his attacks on the bridgeheads near Nijnioff, employing strong forces of artillery to this end. During last Sunday we repulsed these attacks and made over 1,500 prisoners.

"Between the Dniester and the Pruth, in the region of Czernowitz, we have withdrawn beyond our frontier."

GAS AROUND DELAWARE EXCEEDS EXPECTATIONS

Large Acreage Leased Up—Optionists at Hyde Park.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

HYDE PARK, June 15.—The success of the Delaware natural gas development is greater than anyone anticipated it would have been. There have been two wells sunk already, and gas from these is now the motive power for the engines which are now busy drilling a third. This latest well is now down 2,600 feet to rock, and will be continued to a depth of about 4,000 feet.

The drilling is being carried on just outside the village, and the company has options upon thousands of acres in that district. Experts are trying to lease a number of farms around Hyde Park for the purpose of drilling for gas also.

HORSE AND RIG STOLEN FROM INGERSOLL LIVERY

In Addition to Good Outfit, a Stranger, Aged About 35, Is Sought.

INGERSOLL, June 15.—The assistance of the police has been sought by D. A. Bonesteel in hunting a livery outfit, hired at his stable on Monday afternoon. A stranger, described as about 35 years of age, wearing a dark sweater-coat, hired a horse and light wagon to make a short trip to the country and since that time nothing has been heard of his whereabouts. It was learned that he did not go to the place he mentioned. The horse was sorrel in color, 16 hands high, and weighing about 1,100 pounds. The wagon has a yellow gear and was newly painted.

MANY OF WINGHAM'S SOLDIERS WOUNDED

Only Two of First Contingent Unhurt, Says Corporal Copeland.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINGHAM, June 16.—R. C. Copeland, mail clerk here, has again received word from his brother, Ermin S. Copeland, who left here with the 1st contingent, was wounded and is now in the firing line again. He tells of some of the other Wingham boys who went with him being wounded.

E. S. Copeland left here last August as a private, under Capt. Sinclair with 26 others, some of whom lie in graves on French soil, while others are in hospital. Only two have been lucky enough to escape unhurt. He received promotion to lance-corporal and is now full corporal. He was wounded on the 5th of May, discharged from the hospital on the 20th, and went back to the trenches on the 24th.

The letter is to his mother and says:

Corp. E. S. Copeland,
1st Canadian Battalion,
1st Infantry Brigade,
No. 3 Coy., British Exp. Force,
June 1.

Dear Mother,—I have again joined my company and have already spent a few days in the trenches in one of the very important points along the line.

The Germans shell our trenches a great deal, and it is most nerve-racking to have to sit tight and take it as we have to do, while holding our trenches. Lochie Aitchison was pretty seriously wounded the other night, on May the 23rd, when a shrapnel bullet from a "whizzbug" hit him in the back. I think his spine must be injured, for his legs were paralyzed when the boys carried him, but we sincerely hope he will soon be better, as he was a good soldier.

The "whizzbug" is something new the Germans have invented. It is very vicious, and gives one little or no warning. You can hear the big shells coming in time to duck, but these come too quickly.

Most of the boys from Wingham have already been listed in the casualties, Templeman and Howard being the only two who have been out here since the first and have come through safely. Howard had two small scratches, and Templeman has bullet holes in his clothes, although he has not been touched. On April 23, I had the left shoulder of my overcoat ripped by a large piece of shrapnel, but it never hurt me a bit. Have had letters from you and several friends from Wingham. Must close now, hoping you are all well at home.

Your loving son,
ERMIN.

HUGHES IMPATIENT OVER INVENTIONS

Tells Man Soldiers Cannot Carry "Coffee Pot" Respirator Into Trenches.

HAS PLENTY OF RECRUITS

Says Nearly All 35,000 Are Secured—Has War Heroes With Him.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, June 16.—General Hon. Sam Hughes, minister of militia, was in Toronto for half an hour today, on his way to Niagara and London camps. On his staff, the general is now carrying two war-scarred soldiers, who figured in the great fight at St. Julien.

They are Capt. Dansereau of Toronto, adjutant of the 48th Highlanders at the front, and Major Kirkcaldy of Brandon, Man. Both were invalided home because of their wounds.

Major Kirkcaldy had been wounded in the chest by German shrapnel at St. Julien.

To Tell Conditions.

"These two fine fellows are on my personal staff for a time," explained the general, "because I want to take them around to Canadian camps so that they can tell our troops of actual conditions at the front. We want the men to know what they are going to face. These officers have been there and know. They can tell, and their talks to officers should be useful."

Major Kirkcaldy is an old soldier, having been in the Black Watch some 25 years ago.

Those Shell Contracts.

General Hughes was asked about the complaint that Canadian manufacturers were not getting all the shell contracts that they could handle.

"I read General Bertram's speech," he said. "The trouble is that Canadian firms are all trying to get in on this shell making now when they discover that there is money in it, but they wouldn't touch it at first."

Hughes Impatient.

Much of General Hughes's time was taken up today by a Toronto man who wanted to sell the militia department an apparatus for supplying oxygen to soldiers who have to face German gas fumes. The affair was somewhat in shape of a large coffee pot. The minister of militia showed some slight signs of impatience.

"The men could never carry a thing like that in trenches," he said.

"Have you ever been on the firing line?" queried the general.

"No, but ——"

"Well, it wouldn't work. The men could not wait for this until they have their lungs or their stomach burned out. They must have something that will make them immune."

Then he turned to your representative and made it clear that to the minister of militia in war time life is just one invention after another.

"I have had thousands of them fired at me," he said.

"How is enlistment?" queried the representative.

Plenty of Volunteers.

"Fine. We have the 35,000 we want almost all secured now. We have over 120,000 men organized and under arms in addition. We are getting a good class of men. Everything in that direction is going well. We will soon have 150,000 men under arms."

General Hughes declared that there was a common mistake made in referring to the action in which the Canadians figured so gloriously as "the battle of Langemarck." "The Canadians were not at Langemarck. That was where the Algerians fled. Our men were at St. Julien, and that is the name we should give to the action."

The general is loud in his praise of the French infantry also. He thinks they have done superb fighting.

AMERICA'S ACTION CAUSING STRIFE IN PAPERS OF BERLIN

Some Defend Delivery of Ammunition To Britain and Allies.

REVENTLOW VERY BITTER

Condemns These and Also Justification Made For Britain's Blockade.

Berlin, via London, June 16.—Count Ernest Von Reventlow, the naval expert of the Tages Zeitung, returns this morning to the attack upon the article of Eugen Zimmerman, general director of the Lokal Anzeiger, in favor of efforts toward a German-American understanding.

In an article headed "German propaganda for deliveries of weapons to Germany's enemies," Count Von Reventlow says the defence by German newspapers of these weapon deliveries is one of the most incredible things which has occurred during the war.

Encouraging Allies.

He attacks the Voerwartz for its approval of the Lokal Anzeiger's proposal and again assails the latter paper for declaring there was no occasion for indignation at the attempt of Britain to starve out Germany, which was held to be legitimate warfare.

The count says the press of the countries opposed to Germany will rejoice to learn that its own views are held and furthered by a portion of the German press. He argues that if the Lokal Anzeiger approves Britain's starvation plan, it therefore disapproves of the submarine campaign.

No Secret Understanding.

The Kreuz Zeitung also attacks the Lokal Anzeiger for its article of Monday, especially the declarations concerning the sale of weapons by Americans. Prof. Otto Hoetzsch, a regular contributor to the Kreuz Zeitung, declares there is no truth in the report of a secret understanding between the United States and Great Britain, and warns against rendering the relations between Germany and the United States more acute by the publication of statements of this nature.

Supports Anzeiger.

The Boerse Zeitung adopts the same point of view as the Lokal Anzeiger, that there may be another side to the question of the shipment of American arms to the Allies. This newspaper refers to Germany's opposition at The Hague Conference to the prohibition of this practice, and declares the reproach that America is selling only to the Allies to be untenable for the reason that it cannot sell to Germany. The most that can be said, this newspaper declares, is that this is a departure from the ideals of humanity. The Government might possibly forbid this traffic, but it would make itself more unpopular than it is.

Mr. Bryan's suggestion to forbid such traffic, the newspaper goes on to say, would almost entirely remove the points of friction between America and Germany.

TALK OF "RETALIATION"

Nineteen Killed and Many Are Injured At Karlsruhe On Tuesday.

[Canadian Press.]

Karlsruhe, Baden, via Wireless to London, June 16.—Nineteen persons were killed and fourteen seriously wounded, while many others were slightly injured during the attack made upon this city early yesterday morning by a fleet of French aeroplanes. The people remained calm, but are incensed because of an attack upon an open town.

A French statement yesterday said the attack upon Karlsruhe was made by 23 aeroplanes, which dropped 130 projectiles, causing a large number of fires. It was stated a serious panic was observed at the railroad station.

URGES "RETALIATION."

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, via London, June 16.—Commenting on the aeroplane attack upon Karlsruhe, Paul Becker, assistant chief editor of the Tages Zeitung, terms it a "nefarious and senseless act," for which "unscrupulous retaliation is demanded." He declares that Germany hitherto has retaliated for the bombardment of defenceless unfortified cities only by the bombardment of military localities, but that an example now should be made.

Herr Becker suggests that the best step would be a bombardment of the western portion of London. He thinks the retaliatory measures should be extended also to other departments of warfare.

D. S. O. GIVEN TO BRANTFORD PRIVATE

[Canadian Press.]

Brantford, June 16.—A letter has been received by J. Bloxham of this city stating that his son, Pte. Charles Bloxham, who joined the Winnipeg Rifles, forming part of the 10th Battalion, C. E. F., has received the distinguished service medal for services rendered at Ypres. The Winnipeg regiment was the one which held its trenches all day on the first occasion of the use of asphyxiating gas, and it is thought that it was in this connection that he was honored.

KING CONSTANTINE PASSES QUIET NIGHT

Washington, June 16.—King Constantine of Greece passed a quiet night, according to the bulletin received at the legation here, although his pulse was intermittent and the affection of the intestines and kidneys persists. The temperature is only slightly over normal.

GERMAN AUTHORITIES KEEP LOSSES FROM THE PEOPLE

Told of Nothing But Real and Imaginary Victories—Count Reventlow Angry With Objectors to Submarine Warfare.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 16.—A Rotterdam dispatch to the Daily News says: Count Reventlow, the German naval writer, is apparently getting very angry with the Germans, who in increasing number are asking whether it is worth while endangering relations with America by a continuance of submarine warfare. Admiral Von Tirpitz has throughout found in Reventlow his warmest supporter of the war on helpless seamen.

Not Their Fault.

He says: "The effects of war are so clear and simple that those who cannot see them and appraise them at their right value show themselves not so weak in understanding as in character and will force. For the sake of peace we may remark that to be weak of intellect cannot be looked upon as a reproach. It is a thing that cannot be helped.

Hiding All Losses.

"It must be recorded that more than ever the German authorities are carrying out the policy of hiding the losses from the people. The Germans have yet to learn the result of Lieut. Warneford's brilliant exploit, nor have they been informed of the attack on the Zeppelin shed near Brussels, nor of the destruction of the Zeppelin there. The only announcements now made are those of real or imaginary victories.

This is the wording of the dispatch as received, but there seems to be a lack of connection between the opening paragraph and those following, it seems improbable that the last paragraph was written by Reventlow.

JAPAN PROTESTS AGAINST BOYCOTT

Said to Have Sent Note to China Concerning Movement.

[Canadian Press.]

Tokio, Japan, June 16.—According to announcement made today by a Japanese news agency, Japan has sent a protest to China concerning the anti-Japanese movement in the republic.

Negotiations which culminated with China's acceptance of Japanese ultimatum last month has been been manifested principally by boycotts of things Japanese. A recent dispatch said that British and Russian volunteers had dispersed an anti-Japanese riot at Hankow for their own protection, and a message from Tokio the latter part of May declared that considerable uneasiness was felt in the Japanese capital because of the receipt of private reports to the effect that anti-Japanese agitation was spreading through South China.

FRENCH TORPEDOBOAT SUNK IN COLLISION

[Canadian Press.]

Cherbourg, June 16—Via Paris, June 16.—The French torpedo-boat No. 331 sank today after a collision with the British steamer Arleya. Six of the warship's crew were drowned. The others were rescued by torpedo-boat No. 337.

The torpedo-boat No. 331 was launched in 1907. It had a displacement of 97 tons, and could make 26 knots an hour. Available shipping records contain no mention of a British steamer Arleya.

AUSTRIANS BUILD STRONG DEFENCES

Elaborate Entrenchments Along Isonzo River, Says Italian Official Report.

ENEMY OFTEN REPULSED

All Attacks on Italian Positions Driven Off—Conventions Broken.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, June 16.—An elaborate system of entrenchments has been prepared by the Austrians along the Isonzo River, according to an official statement signed by Gen. Cadorna, issued at the war office today. At some points there are several lines of trenches, some of which are of masonry or concrete. The trenches are guarded by many mines and batteries.

The communication, which declares repeated Austrian attacks in Carnia were repulsed, was as follows:

"On the Tyrol-Trentino-Cadore front we gradually are occupying dominating points. Except for distant artillery fire and new but unsuccessful attacks on June 13 against the summit of Vellone in the upper valley of the Piave (Carnic Alps), lour adversary has not shown in this region any particular sign of activity.

More Intense Attacks.

"More intense attacks have been made repeatedly by the enemy in Carnia, either near the defiles of Val Sesis, which still is strongly held by us, or especially against the rear line of Mont Avostanis, to the defile of Monte Croce. Here on the morning of June 14 the enemy made a vigorous attack preceded by an intense artillery fire, which began in the night and became very violent at daybreak. The enemy was repulsed and pursued at the point of the bayonet.

"Long distance artillery actions occurred also in th zone of Monte Nero, on the Seleme-Mazli front, and on the Kozliak.

Elaborate Defences.

"Along the Isonzo, near the line from Podgora to Montforton and to the intersection of the Monfalcone Canal, reconnaissances showed the precise quality of the defensive works prepared by the enemy on the Isonzo front. They include entrenchments, sometimes in several lines and often in masonry or concrete, reinforced by metallic sheeting and protected by a network of mines or batteries often placed below the earth.

"A very active night surveillance is exercised by the enemy, aided by searchlights and rockets, with telegraphic and telephonic communicaton.

Breaking Conventions.

"An examination of some of our wounded shows that the enemy is using explosive projectiles. An inspection of the remnants of projectiles where there has been fighting also shows that the enemy has been employing devices explicitly condemned by international conventions.

"Heavy rains yesterday afternoon and last night have disturbed living conditions in our camps, but have tempered the heat of the last few days. The health of our troops continues excellent, and their spirits always are high."

ITALIANS ATTACKING.

[Canadian Press.]

Udine, Italy, June 16—Via Chiasso and Paris.—Italian troops are continuing with great vigor their attacks upon the Austrian positions at Gorizia.

The Austrians are defending the town from the height of Podgora, to the west and from invisible trenches extending from Podgora to Mount Fortine, in the Isonzo valley. The Austrian trenches on this front are protected with steel armor and connected with underground passages. The men are able to fire from under cover, and at the same time they are supported by artillery in the hills behind them.

Enemy on Defensive.

Italian army officers describe the Austrian actions everywhere as purely defensive, except in the Carnia zone. The best troops have been concentrated apparently for an offensive movement.

Fighting is going on fiercely both night and day between the Inferno valley and Malborgetto. This battlefield is at an elevation of 7,000 feet. Italian reports declare that up to the present the Austrian attacks have resulted in failure.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, June 15.—Wheat dropped under $1 today. Exporters were said to be sellers of October futures. After opening 2½c to 2¼c lower, there were further breaks. Damage reports from the south, however, caused a steadiness for some time at the decline. Oats and flax were both on the down trend. There was an improved demand for cash wheat, Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 grades being wanted by exporters, and quite a fair amount changed hands. Ontario millers were also in the market for cash wheat. Oats were also in fair demand; low grades were in keen demand, while barley and flax were neglected.

Total inspections on Monday were 250 cars, of which 182 were wheat and 53 oats. In sight today were 140 cars.

Wheat futures closed 2⅞c to 3¼c lower; cash wheat, 2⅝c lower on No. 1; other grades not quoted. Oats closed ⅝c to 1⅛c lower on futures, and 1c lower on cash. Flax closed 1c to 1⅛c lower.

Cash grain:

Wheat—No. 1 northern, $1.18¼; No. 4, $1.08; No. 5, $1.01; No. 6, 96c.

Flax—No. 1 N. W. C., $1.53¼; No. 2 Canadian western, $1.50¼.

Chicago, June 16.—Wheat advanced sharply today on account of unfavorable weather over the Southwest, with predictions of frost in North Dakota. Drought in Western Europe counted also against the bears. The absence of export business, however, acted somewhat as a check on the bulls. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅜c to ½c off to ⅜c up, were followed by a rise to more than 2c above last night's level all around.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, June 16.—Premier Asquith's financial statement was much discussed on the stock exchange today, and caused a shade easier tendency. Colonial stocks and Japanese bonds were frequently marked, and oil shares were easier. But the other sections lacked support.

American securities started a shade under parity and finished dull after an idle session.

The plentiful supply of money makes the maintenance of discount rates difficult.

WALL STREET.

New York, June 16—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The regular price movement which characterized yesterday's stock market was continued at today's opening. United States Steel and Reading recorded initial fractional advances, but other active issues, including coppers, were lower, Amalgamated declining 1¾ on an offering of 1,400 shares. War shares and allied stocks, notably Bethlehem Steel, Goodrich and Federal Mining, common and preferred, receded 1 to 6 points. Reading soon lost its gain, and some of the specialties made fractional recoveries, after which the market lapsed into dullness.

Noon.—Prices made general improvement in the course of the first hour, with dealings in diminishing volume. Gains were again limited to minor specialties, like United States Alcohol, Cuban Sugar, Continental Can and Allis-Chalmers, preferred, these advancing 1½ to 5 points on obvious manipulation. Chesapeake and Ohio rose a point in connection with reports that the existing dividend may be maintained, and Canadian Pacific steadied in the absence of foreign pressure. Steel held better than other leaders, most of which were inclined to droop. Bethlehem Steel convertible fives were the feature of the firm bond market.

1:30 p.m.—War issues weakened in the afternoon, Bethlehem Steel selling 4 points under yesterday's close, with 1 point losses in Westinghouse, American Locomotive, New York Air Brake and Crucible Steel. Coppers and trunk line shares were lower.

BACK FROM HILL 60 TO RECOVER NERVES TO MEET FOE AGAIN

Lieut. G. Maitland, of Wilkesport in Big Fight—Poisoned by Gas Bombs.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

ST. THOMAS, June 15. — Lieut. George A. Maitland, A.V.C., Imperial Army Corps, reached this city at noon today en route to his home at Wilkesport, ten miles from Brigden, on the St. Clair-Courtright branch of the Michigan Central Railway. While waiting some three hours for train connections, the officer called on a few acquaintances. The doctor's nerves show that they are still affected from his terrible experience with the poisonous gas used by the enemy at Ypres. He thought that after spending a couple of months on his father's farm he would be well enough to return to the big fight. The lieutenant is the first man to reach St. Thomas after having survived the famous battle at "Hill 60." It was his duty to follow the British cavalry charge, to look after the disabled horses, and also to supply remounts.

Dr. Maitland, in narrating the fight, said the scene was magnificent, especially to watch the British cavalry, supported by artillery, from a side position, charge toward the enemy in large clouds of dust.

Hill 60 Is Reduced.

Hill 60, as it is known on the war map, was at one time of considerable height; today it is almost levelled to the ground, torn away by great shells. At the time the Allies' troops made their famous advance, the Germans were not occupying the hill, but were on the opposite side of it, with the big artillery guns pouring fire in on one side. The English troops charged over the eminence into the German lines.

"The triumph was dearly bought," he declared today. "Hundreds of men and horses were left lying on the field. The Army Medical Corps and the Veterinary Corps, a section of which I was in command, watched this charge from a distance back, and when it was over we pushed forward to rescue wounded men and horses.

Shoot Gas at Medical Men.

"We were in the midst of this work when the Germans threw gas bombs which exploded all around us. I hardly know how to describe the awful sensation that I felt following these explosions. The nearest comparison I can give is that of getting smoke mixed up with mustard into one's eyes and lungs. It is terrible. You feel as if you were burning up. I was mounted, and my mount was also affected by the gas, but kept up for some time. We went back for a distance, and then the mare tumbled to her knees, and I with her. I was faint, but managed to throw myself clear. This was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and I lay there on the ground until 9 o'clock the following morning, part of the time conscious and part of the time unconscious. A relief party took me to the base hospital, and from there to Wellesley Hospital at Aldershot, in England.

"I am going up on the old farm to pitch hay for a month or two, and after I have sweated this gas out of my system I am going to return to the battle front," said Lieut. Maitland in conclusion.

BRITISH PAYMENTS TO BE MADE IN AMERICA

Will Facilitate Settlement for Detained Cotton Cargoes.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Notice was given by the British Embassy today that authority had been granted for the settlement and payment at the embassy here and at the consulate-general in New York, of the claims of American exporters on account of detention and appropriation of cotton.

This arrangement will affect a large number of shippers whose cargoes, consigned to neutral countries of Europe, have been seized under the British order-in-council against commerce with Germany and Austria. It is expected to facilitate settlements, as proofs of ownership and destination can be submitted and verified much more quickly in the United States than in the British ports in which the ships are detained.

CANADIAN SERGEANT OBJECTED TO SURRENDER

Tells of Two Platoons Being Captured by Enemy at Ypres.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 4.—The capture of some of the Canadian troops during the last week of April, presumably at Ypres, is described by Sergt. Thomas Jones of the 8th Battalion of the 90th Winnipeg Rifles, in a letter to a brother in London. He writes from a German prison in Westphalia as follows:

"The trench we occupied with two platoons was practically isolated during the daytime, owing to the ground at each end being open to rifle and machine gun fire.

Two Officers Gone.

"On the 23rd of April we lost two out of the three officers, one killed and the other badly wounded, besides numerous casualties in other ranks. I was practically in command from then onwards. There was still Lieut. Ball left, and late on the afternoon of the 25th we were joined by a captain, another lieutenant and other non-coms and men from different parts of the line, but I was the only one who had the real experience necessary to maintain the situation intact.

Two Days of Hell.

"The last two days may be described as hell. Shells seemed to come from all directions, front, flanks and rear. Our artillery was silent, possibly removed to some distant part of the line. Our support also seemed to have gone. Telephone communication was broken. We repulsed two attempts at attack by the opposing infantry. Finally, just about dusk on Sunday—we had intended to retire after dark if no information as to reinforcements was received—we found the Germans had broken through the line and completely surrounded us. Against my wish the officers decided to surrender.

"I cannot tell you a great deal, owing to censorship by German and British officers."

BERNARD SHAW SAYS NORTHCLIFFE IS LUCKY TO HAVE HIS FREEDOM

If Skeffington Deserved Six Months for Speech, Former Earned Sixty Years.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 16.—Bernard Shaw has written to the wife of Sheehy Skeffington, who last week was sentenced in Dublin to six mothhs at hard labor for making an anti-recruiting speech, and released last night owing to impaired health from a hunger strike. Mr. Shaw contrasts the treatment of Skeffington with Lord Northcliffe.

"The latter," says Shaw, "not only endeavored to stop voluntary recruiting by refusing to insert war office appeals, but actually, with the same object—that of bringing about conscription—publishes a letter from the Bishop of Pretoria, conveying the impression, not only to the British but to the German public, that the British army in Flanders was outnumbered, and must presently fall a prey to its enemies unless conscription was at once resorted to.

"Now, it is clear that if Skeffington deserves six months for his act, which would not have reached a thousand people but for the prosecution, Lord Northcliffe must deserve somewhere about sixty years. I can only congratulate him under the circumstances on being still at large."

GERMAN FINED $25 ON CHARGE OF SEDITION

Western Farmer Says He Was Drunk and Talking Nonsense.

[Canadian Press.]

Calgary, June 16.—Raynold Horden, a naturalized German farmer, was let off with a fine of $25 and a warning in the criminal court on a charge of sedition. He confided to a German-speaking Scotsman in a hotel here that he was going to join half a million Germans from Canada and the States, who intended finding their way to Germany.

Horden said he was drunk at the time, and could not go back to Germany, as he had deserted from the Kaiser's army to come to Canada.

FUNERAL ON TUESDAY

Archbishop Langevin To Be Buried in Winnipeg Cathedral Crypt.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, June 16.—The body of Archbishop Langevin is expected to reach Winnipeg Saturday morning, and the funeral will take place Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Boniface Cathedral. The body will be laid to rest in the crypt of the cathedral. It is expected the body will lie in state in the cathedral Sunday and Monday, but definite arrangements in this connection have not yet been made.

The funeral will be an impressive spectacle, church dignitaries attending from all over Canada.

TURKISH STORIES.

[Canadian Press.]

Constantinople, June 15—Via Wireless to London, June 16.—A statement issued tonight at the Turkish war office was as follows:

"On the Dardanelles front our artillery destroyed on Sunday enemy positions for bomb throwers and machine guns opposite Ari Burnu. One of our aviators dropped bombs in the enemy's camp.

CLAIMS "JITNEYS" SHOULD BE UNDER SOME REGULATION

Manager King Points Out That "Guerillas" Run When They Please.

HAMILTON TAKES ACTION

Charges $12 Per Seat For Each Vehicle Operated On Streets.

The jitney service was not maintained yesterday morning. This occasioned quite a bit of adverse criticism, the general view being that if the service was to become a regular thing, as its promoters claimed for it, then some regulations governing it should be made and enforced. At present about the only regulation is that each car pay a city tax of $5 yearly, which places the conveyances in the same class as a cab.

Just who is responsible for the making of regulations relative to jitneys seems to be a moot question. That it is a matter for the Dominion Railway Board to deal with is the consensus of opinion, although some claim civic officials may exercise their powers in this regard.

$12 for Each Seat.

At the present time Hamilton city officials have this matter under advisement, and at a special meeting of the city council Monday afternoon had a preliminary struggle with a bylaw looking to the regulation of jitneys. While the provisions were not definitely agreed upon the suggestion was made that a license fee of $12 a seat should be charged for each seat in the car, not counting the driver's seat, which would work out to $72 a year for a seven-passenger car, and $60 a year for a five-passenger car. It is also proposed to force owners of cars to carry insurance covering accidents of all kinds and injury to passengers.

Must Be Regulated.

That it is absolutely essential to the citizens of London that this new car service be placed under regulations, just as the street railway is placed under regulations, was the opinion of C. B. King, manager of the London street car lines. If no laws govern their going and coming they can do about as they please. They can run when business is good and remain inactive when few people are about. This is what the jitneys are doing at the present, claims Mr. King. When there are many abroad the jitneys are scurrying about seeking and getting trade. He says their service appeals to some people whose only chance of riding in an automobile is by paying a nickel fare and getting aboard a jitney car. They charge a straight five-cent fare. If they are to continue to do business they should be compelled to make the same concessions as other services of like kind. And they should be forced to give a steady, daily service.

Use Public Streets.

Mr. King pointed out that a jitney car travels over the paved road and in a good day's work would cover possibly 150 or 160 miles. The average motorist in the city would not make more than 15 miles through city streets in the same time. It is a well-known law that the friction of rubber tires, whether solid or inflated, results in more or less wear to paved streets. The citizens on these abutting streets are the ones who must pay for this.

Then, as was pointed out, unless jitneys are regulated in some sane, sensible way, the lives of citizens are endangered, to a more or less degree. The cars go through the streets at a rate of 15 miles an hour, and rarely ever stop at corners unless passengers are waiting. Their cars hold so few passengers that they are quickly filled, and then there is no necessity to make any stops until the ultimate destination has been reached.

Not Up to Chief.

Chief of Police Williams says the regulating of the traffic does not come under his jurisdiction. In the chief's opinion the matter is one to be dealt with by the Dominion Railway Board.

GARIBALDIS LEAVE TO FACE THE FOE

Crowd Gathers to Bid Five Grandsons of Patriot Farewell.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, June 16.—Five grandsons of Garibaldi, the patriot, left for the front today. In addition to Gen. Ricciotti Garibaldi, their father and their mother, a large crowd gathered at the station to wish the departing soldiers success. Several short addresses were made at the station, and as the train pulled out there were cries of "Long live Trent!" "Long live Triest!" and "Long live the Garibaldi brothers!"

GERMANY HURRYING RECRUITS TO COLORS

Summons 1916 Draft at Once Instead of in October.

[Canadian Press.]

ATTRACTION OF AUTOMOBILE WORK.

Although the various branches of the auto industry offer so many opportunities to the young man desirous of entering an attractive and paying profession, there does not appear to be enough thoroughly qualified men to satisfy the ever-increasing demand. An employer is not willing to turn his garage into a schoolroom for teaching a man the technical details of a car, but wants to get in touch with a man who knows a car from A to Z—the man who has the technical end—the man who has studied. A very interesting free booklet, "Automobile Running," can be obtained at the local office of the International Correspondence Schools, 236 Dundas street. This little book tells you how to qualify quickly and at small cost for one of these well-paid positions.

TURKISH SNIPERS PICK OFF ALLIES' OFFICERS

Heavy Loss Caused by Activities of These Hidden Pests.

[Canadian Press.]

Athens, June 16.—A great proportion of officer losses to the French and British forces in the Dardanelles is due to the activity of the Turkish snipers, who have special instructions to pick out the officers. A correspondent with the French force writes:

"The danger to officers in this part of the peninsula from snipers is very great. Parties of ten or twenty Turkish sharpshooters crawl past our lines at night and either hide in a tree or get into an abandoned trench or shell hole. There they lie concealed from view, waiting for an opportunity to snipe at some isolated officer passing within range of their rifles. They are instructed to disregard firing upon private soldiers if it involves any danger to themselves, but to miss no chance to bring down an officer.

"In many cases the sniper's eagerness for this duty is assisted by stories of the huge loot to be obtained from the pockets of the officers. Some of the snipers who have been caught were found with large sums of British and French money, as well as other property belonging to officers."

GRAND DUKE DEAD

Constantine Constantinovitch of Russia Member of Royal Family.

Petrograd, via London, June 16.—Grand Duke Constantine Constantinovitch, president of the Imperial Academy of Sciences and head of the department of military schools, died last night of heart disease, at the age of 57 years. He was a member of the reigning family, and his heir is Prince Jean Constantinovitch.

Grand Duke Constantine Constantinovitch, who was a general of infantry, was one of the commanding figures in the Russian nobility. He had not been exempt from revolutionist plots, for an attempt was made in 1907 to blow up at Orel the train on which he was a passenger. He was severely arraigned with other grand dukes in 1908 for attempting to influence the actions of the Duma.

TRIES TO FORM NEW PORTUGUESE CABINET

[Canadian Press.]

Lisbon, June 16.—President Braga has requested Jose Castro, acting premier and minister of the interior, to form a new cabinet. Senhor Castro became head of the minstry upon the resignation of Premier Chagas on April 25, after the revolutionary outbreak.

Britain Tightening Export Restrictions

Many Foodstuffs Placed on Totally Prohibited List—Enemies Shut Off.

[Canadian Press.]

London, June 16.—There is a further tightening of the ring by which food supplies are prevented from entering Germany, Austria and Turkey. An order-in-council this week announces that the exportation of certain important foods for man and beast is totally prohibited, while other foods and forage may only be exported to France, Russia, Spain and Portugal.

Goods that must not be sent to foreign ports in Europe other than France, Russia, Spain and Portugal (Russian Baltic ports are banned as are also neutral countries such as Holland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark), onions, poratoes, rye, rye flour, rye meal, buckwheat, millet, molasses, arsenic and its compounds.

VIOLENT INSANE PATIENT SENT HERE FROM WINDSOR

Ripped Restraining Sheets and Broke Powerful Strap Binding Feet.

Windsor, June 15.—An insane man, who has been detained at Hotel Dieu for several days, was sent to the Asylum at London on Tuesday morning. The man had become violent and restraining sheets were not strong enough to hold him.

Eluding attendants at the hospital on Sunday afternoon, he broke a powerful leather strap which was bound about his ankles and ran east on Erie street to the cemetery. He was clad only in garments furnished by the hospital and was barefooted.

It was not for some time that his absence was noted and several searching parties, in motor cars, were sent out after him. The man was captured near the racetrack after a long chase, in which he attempted to outdistance a speedy automobile.

AMERICAN NOTE TO BERLIN PLEASES NORWAY

She Has Suffered Most From Attacks on Neutral Ships.

[Canadian Press.]

Christiania, via London, June 16.—The Norwegian press, in publishing the American note to Germany, expresses satisfaction that the most powerful of neutral nations has called upon Germany in plain words to stop her warfare against peaceful merchant ships of neutral nations, of which Norway has lost more than any other country, although on friendly terms with Germany, but not able to protect its commerce against "treacherous German submarines."

The Norwegian mail and passenger steamer Iris, which plies between Newcastle and Bergen, is reported to have been attacked by submarines on two trips. On one occasion she was struck by a torpedo, which did not explode, and on the other was missed by a few feet.

GERMANY TO YIELD OR CAUSE RUPTURE

Paris Paper Says Only Two Ways Left by American Note.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, June 16.—Commenting on the German press reference to the second American note on the torpedoing of the Lusitania, the Temps says it is clear that the German papers are acting under orders from the German foreign office, whose policy evidently is to try to excuse the issue by shirking important points and concentrating on the minor ones.

Germany probably will spar for time, but, concludes the editorial, "President Wilson has shown he is not a man to be drawn aside from the vital issues. Germany has no alternative but yielding or rupture. The line of reasoning adopted by America leaves her only these two ways out."

Careful consideration of the American note seems to have convinced the French public and press that its mildness in form and tone in no way disguises the fact that Germany is asked to give a plain answer to a straightforward question. In anticipating further German evasion, the Temps expresses the general view. A majority here considers that if Germany is finally forced to answer in a straightforward way her reply will be defiant.

BUTTE MINERS' UNION LEAVES FEDERATION

Breaks Off Connection With Western Organization, Hinting at Irregularities.

[Canadian Press.]

Butte, Mont., June 16.—Alleging that in the twenty years of its affiliation with the Western Federation of Miners it had contributed $1,000,000 to the federation for which it had not received one cent's worth of benefit, and hinting at irregularities in the handling of strike funds by federation officers, the Butte Miners' Union, the parent organization of the Western Federation of Miners, in resolutions made public today, formally withdrew from the federation, repudiated the contract which existed between the two organizations, and ordered its charter returned to federation headquarters at Denver.

36th ANNUAL MEETING OF THE HIGH COURT CANADIAN ORDER FORESTERS

Over 500 Delegates in Attendance

The 36th Annual Meeting of the Canadian Order of Foresters, convened on Tuesday afternoon, the 15th of June, in the city of St. Catharines, at 2 p.m. Delegates are in attendance from all parts of the Dominion, every province being represented. The High Court meets in this city for the first time since its inception.

The following officers of High Court were present at the opening session: J. A. Stewart. High Chief Ranger, Perth. Ont.; J. A. A. Brodeur, High Vice-Chief Ranger, Montreal, Que.; Alf. P. vanSomeren, High Secretary, Brantford. Ont.; Robert Elliott, High Treasurer, Brantford, Ont.; Dr. U. M. Stanley. Chairman of the Medical Board, Brantford. Ont.; W. G. Strong, Superintendent of Organization, Brantford, Ont.; W. L. Roberts. First High Auditor, Brantford, Ont., and A. Shultis. Second High Auditor, Brantford. Ont., and N. J. Stevenson, Toronto, Ont.; R. T. Kemp, Listowel, Ont.; A. R. Galpin, London, Ont.; F. H. Davidson, Winnipeg. Man.; A. R. Coffin, Truro, N. S., members of the Executive Committee.

In addition to the above, A. L. Jones, District H. C. R., Brandon, Man.; A. K. Berry, Past District H. C. R. Holland, Man., and D. E. McKinnon, District High Secretary, Winnipeg. Man., representatives from the District High Court of Manitoba, were present.

The annual reports of the various officers of this Order are again of a very satisfactory nature, showing that the steady progress which has been its experience since its inception in 1879 was continued in the year 1914, which is the period covered by these reports.

This Order confines its business entirely to the Dominion of Canada. In all its departments, in spite of the adverse general conditions which have been experienced in Canada, uniform progress is demonstrated.

The increase in the insurance funds during the year amounted to $375,-295.94, this increase being the second largest in the Order's experience, and only some $5,000.00 less than the largest increase in any one year, which occurred in 1912. The standing of this fund at the end of the year, after the payment of 599 death claims, amounting to $613,890.12, showed the funds on hand of $4,740,-368.01, the amount at the present time being $4,884,441.13. The yearly revenue derived from the investments of the Order now constitute a very substantial amount of the annual income. Interest earned on investments of insurance funds during 1914 amounted to $223.761.64, and paid 36.44 per cent of the total death claims on the Order.

In respect to the matter of investments, it is interesting to know that the Order confines the investment of its funds to the purchasing of municipal and school debentures of the Dominion of Canada. During the last two years, with an exceptional market in such direction, from the investor's point of view, the Executive Committee has been able to take very extensive advantage of the situation.

The Sick and Funeral Benefit Fund shows a larger net increase than that experienced in any previous year in the Order's history, the increase for the year being $56,071.58. Interest earned on investments of Sick and Funeral Benefit funds (these investments being of a similar nature to those made of the Insurance funds) amounted to $18,723.10, and after the payment of 7,319 Sick and Funeral Benefit Claims, amounting to $188,-430.35, the amount standing at the credit of this fund was $403,284.77, the same fund at the present time standing at $409,583.63.

The General Fund is also in a satisfactory condition. Many special charges, incident to the war, including donations to national and patriotic funds, and the arrangements for carrying members on overseas service, hereafter referred to, have been arranged as anticipated, without any inconvenience to this Fund.

In respect to membership also substantial progress was made, the membership at the end of the year 1914 standing at 91,557.

Besides the ordinary benefits from its Life Insurance and Sick and Funeral Benefit departments, special provision is made under the constitution of the Order for assistance to those of its members suffering from tubercular trouble of any kind. A special grant is made, extending over a period of six months, with a view to assisting to defray the cost of treatment in any of a number of sanitaria in Canada making a specialty of such cases, and the membership is urged to take advantage of such treatment in the incipient stages of the malady.

It is gratifying to note, after a perusal of the reports of all the officers, the far-reaching benefits that are being derived by the membership in the various directions in which this society endeavors to be of assistance to the individuals composing same. Since 1879 about ten and a half millions of dollars have been paid out in benefits by this society, and, in fact, the whole record of the Order as submitted in these reports, is well worth the perusal of those who, perhaps, have been skeptical regarding the permanency and stability of fraternal insurance concerns. These reports furnish evidence of careful management in the conduct of the Society's affairs, and reflect credit on its administration.

A point of general interest, as indicating proper selection of risks, is the death rate. This for 1914 was 6.54 in the thousand, and the average death rate since the inception of the Order, over a period of nearly 36 years, is 5.31 per thousand.

In looking into the report of the Superintendent of Organization, we find he has been able to report the institution of forty-two (42) new courts, demonstrating that the Order continues to establish agencies as new fields for the prosecution of its business opens up. Particular attention is evidently being paid to establishment of subordinate courts only in such places as offer a reasonable prospect of permanency.

The Order has pursued a very liberal policy in respect to those of its membership who have volunteered, or enlisted, for overseas service. Not only is the insurance in such cases kept in force as the ordinary rates of those who were in membership at the date of declaration of war by England, but the insurance and sick and funeral benefit assessments for all such members are being paid by High Court out of the General or Expense Fund of the Order. New business, involving war risks, has of necessity to be declined, and is the only safe course for the Order, but the arrangement as made relieves the members of older standing from the necessity of payment by them of their ordinary assessments, and yet provides for the proper premium being collected and credited to the Insurance and Sick and Funeral Benefit Funds of the Order, in the usual way.

As usual on such occasions, a very considerable amount of business awaits the attention of the delegates, and it is expected that the sessions will probably occupy their attention till the 18th instant.
