Clause asking that the council be permitted to issue debentures for $5,000 to complete laundry building at Victoria Hospital -Granted.

Clause allowing exemption to London Rolling Mills for one year-Granted.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, March 24.-London's elaborate and most important bill was considered before the municipal committee this morning, and it must be stated that it fared very well. Only one clause, that asking permission of the Legislature to issue debentures for $100,000 for the purchase of fac-tory sites, was thrown out, and no

Sunday Cars Not Touched.

The Sunday car question was not touched this morning, as there is no doubt, in fact Sir James Whitney has stated, that legislation covering this question will be enacted later in the session, to be followed by another vote of the people of London.

All the other clauses were favorably received. The most important was that of the exemption of the Globe Casket Company. There was some opposition to granting an exemption 20 years, the period asked for, and the term was reduced to 15 years. This exemption does not include school rates or local improvement taxes.

Election Date Changed.

Another very important piece legislation to the citizens of London was the request that the date of holding the municipal elections be changed from the first Monday in January to New Year's Day. The petition was backed by a request from the Commercial Travellers' Associations of London, who form a large section of the voters of this city. The old law was a hardship to them, as it deprived many of them from voting, and ment today with the customary cereterests as well as in the interests oof refused last year, but today the change asked for was agreed to.

The Representatives.

The other clauses were of minor Importance, but were all granted without question. The grant of $5,000 to London Health Association was the most important of these.

The council of London was represented by Mayor Stevely, Ald. Ferguson, Ald. Parsons, Ald. Beattle, Stevenson and City Solicitor Meredith. The Real Estate Owners' Association, who opposed the exemptions, was represented by Mr. John M. Parsons, Mr. John Hayman, Mr. Hugh louglass and R. A. Y. Stinchcombe. Mr. C. H. Ivey represented the Globe lasket Company.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, March 24.-The London bill occupied the attention private bills committee of the Legislature this morning. In his explanation of its provision, City Solicitor T. G. Meredith, K. C., lamented that in London it was impossible to get a two-thirds vote of the people entitled to vote on any

The application for permission to fix the assessment on the Globe Casket Works at $17,500 was explained by Mayor Stevely. The company in a recent fire lost $90,000, and there was a general desposition to aid the firm in this small way.

Ald. Beattie Speaks.

Ald. Beattle championed the cause of exemption in this case. Why should London not be given the same privleges as other places? The general law in twenty-one instances of this nature had been overcome by special legislation of this character.

C. H. Ivey, of London, representing the company, said that if the firefighting appliance and water pressure had been what they should, and what the people are paying for, the loss of company would have been only $9.000, instead of $90,000.

Present Conditions.

'At the present time," he said, "we have neither water nor pressure, and under the present methods it is absolutely impossible to control or cope with a big fire. The people who are opposing this application are the class of people who are responsible in this condition of London. They in this city at 11:25 a.m., from Toronto. ere only a few, I am thankful to say."

WHERE IS MARTIN COLE?

Martin Cole, who lives near Talbotville, and who disappeared so mysteriously from the Sadlier House about six o'clock Saturday night, has not yet been heard from, and fears are entertained for his safety.

Cole left his home early Saturday morning with a light wagon, containing four bags of cloverseed, for sale on the mar-ket. He sold three of the bags, and about six o'clock put his horse up at the Sadlier House, and started down town. From that time no trace of him has been found, and the horse and rig have not been claimed. No one knew of the identity of the man till the name Cole

That night the oldest girl heard a conversation which convinced her that she and her sister were to be burned to death in the big clay oven utilized as a stove. Mr. Beck that the cost was the same to all municipalities for power, as it was purchased at the Falls, but the distance away from the Falls made a difference in the interest and line loss. Distance was the great factor in determining the cost of power to municipalities. In Toronto, for instance, the contract price was $17, but when the consumption increased the price would be materially reduced, probably to $12. Mr. MacKay pointed out that there was no guarantee in the bill that the ratepayers would be protected. "We take the responsibility for anything we do," answered Sir James, "and if we attempt to deceive the

Mr. Reed (Wentworth) complained of an injustice being done the farmers in the matter of easements. Agents of the hydro-electric commission offered only $20 easements for 30 years. That was a childish price for the work and loss entailed by the towers on a farm, and practically amounted to confiscation. The towers and the mutilation of trees seriously depreciated the value of many farm properties. Sir James said this was the first time the House had heard of the matter, and that aggrieved farmers should send their complaints to the hydro-electric signature. E. W. GROVE. 25c. x

Mr. Nickle said he was heartily in accord with the limiting of appeals, but did not favor the method proposed. Law should not be cheap, but good. He favored two permanent courts of appeal, with five judges each. He considered the present court of appeal in Ontario ranked higher than the supreme court of Canada. Mr. Vining had a large number of very fine views, which he had made the framework of a running commentary. Through these views and the accompanying commentary, the audience got a more than usually comprehensive view of the great city of London, which has been the Mecca of so many travellers. From the Bank of England, one of the pivotal points of the great city-a dull, dark building streaked with soot and innocent of windows, yet a build. ing that is the very heart of all the the city. Goods on view day previous financial interests of the world's greatest empire-one moves on to the Tower of London, perhaps the most interesting spot in all the city.

The Tower of London. has been a stronghold, a royal sidence, and a state prison, but it is in the last guise that it is best known to us through the pages of history. Opening towards the Thames is the Traitor's Gate, through which Sir Walter Raleigh, Guy Fawkes and scores upon scores of other unfortunates have passed to their doom. In the bell tower is shown the apartments where Queen Elizabeth was imprisoned, while a royal princess, and before she had become queen; while the brick tower is crowded with the memories of that and 8 months, approved indorsed paper, with interest at 7 per cent per annum. THE LONDON & WESTERN TRUSTS. COMPANY, LIMITED, administrators.

The castle is the oldest relic of Old. London, and is situated in the east city, the original city of London. Even in the time of King Cnut, the city was wealthy, for it contributed one-fifth of the funds demanded for the royal Metropolis of World. It was not, however, till about two hundred years ago that the city began debentures to an amount not exceeding $5,000, for the purpose of paying for the completion of the erection and the equipment of the laundry at Victoria Hospital, and to make necessary alterations in the present contesting world of the said and to make necessary and of the said great Tower Bridge, standing 142 feet The existing debenture debt of the above the water. It is estimated that said city, not including any local improvement debentures, except such portion thereof as is payable by the said corporation at large is as follows:

The word "London" signifies the hill and the pool, and the hill referred to is 601,159 36 probably that now crowned by Sir Christopher Wren's great masterpiece St. Paul's Cathedral, which stands 374 feet from the pavement to the cross, 235,000 00 and was built at a cost of $3,750,000. In its crypt are the remains of some of $3,254,647 98 England's greatest sons. Wellington, and Nelson, and Wren. From there the traveller goes to Ludgate Hill Ludgate Circus and along Fleet street to Temple Bar. Here is a spot now > city, he is met here, as was the old custom, when there was really a gate barring his progress, and he is handed the keys of the city Chancery Lane. Near here in Chancery Lane is the Record Museum, one of the most interesting spots in London, where, in a glass case, is to be seen the great Doomsday Book. From there we go through Lincoln's Inn Fields, past Som-A erset House, to Charing Cross, where once stood the little village of Charings, now one of the busiest parts of 21/2-story the great city, and on again to Trafalgar Square, where stands the great monument to Lord Nelson, with other monuments to Havelock, Napler, and "Chinese" Gordon. Around this square is seen the National Gallery, and the Church of St. Martin's-in-the-Field. Leaving Trafalgar Square, we visit the Parliament Buildings, that were erected at the cost of $15,000,000, and which contain ten thousand apart.

ments. Westminster Abbey. Westminster Abbey, which stands practically as it did a thousand years ago, in the reign of Edward I., crowded vith its added hosts of memories, is within a stone's-throw of the Houses f Parliament. While crossing Westminster bridge, the scene of the inspiration of Wordsworth's great sonnet. and passing north again by Charing Cross, the traveller comes to Piccadilly Circus. There are many French here, said the speaker, and into the port of London is crowded a great part of its wickedness. You will see more evil here in five minutes than you will see in Canada in a year, from ocean to ocean. From Piccadilly it is not far to Hyde Park, where, entering by one of the nine gateways, you are in London's great pleasure ground. In Elizabeth's reign this was a hunting preserve; in Charles the First's reign was used for horse-racing. Between and 7 o'clock some of the finest-

There are now fifty rural mail routes in Canada, serving 3,500 people. In view of the many petitions which are pouring into the department it is expected that within two years many thousands of people will be enjoying the benefits of rural delivery. Meanwhile Mr. Lemieux's policy is to act cautiously, and in this he has the indorsation of representative men of the class for whose convenience the system has been established. The Dominion Grange, as its last meeting, adopted a resolution which, while commending the Government for inaugurating profiting by the experience of other mind. peoples who have adopted this sys-

As the Postmaster-General recently pointed out, there are two systems of system in vogue in the United States, England, France, Germany and Belgium-a veritable postoffice on wheels, equipped with postal facilities, postal notes and money orders, and providing for the delivery and collection of letters, papers, parcels, registered letters, and registered parcels. The other system, known as the star-route system, is much better adapted for a country like Canada. Under this, "any person living on or contiguous to a rural mail route, and not within one-quarter committee of the Legislature. The ordinary mail carrier starts on his route with the mails, and if the patrons on each side of the route have these boxes, he defivers to, or collects from, the boxes, but he does not sell postage stamps, and does not deliver registered letters, unless an order is given him by the patron to do so.

To avoid the mistakes and the inordinate expenditure of the United States postoffices, the department at Ottawa has adopted the star-route border in 1897, the expenditure was only $14,884. Since then it has grown 361,463. For the last fiscal year the 864 41, while the deficit amounted to $16,872,222, two-thirds of which was eaten up by free rural mail delivery. "O CANADA" AGAIN.

An attempt is being made to foist on this country as a national anthem a song known as "O Canada," which had its birth in Quebec Province. Among those active in this misguided endeavor apparently is The London Advertiser.-Windson

London, March 23.-The Polar regions are gradually yielding up their secrets to human perseverance and determination. Lieut. Ernest H.Shackelton, of the British navy, who left his permanent quarters last autumn for a dash to the pole, has succeeded, after an arduous sledge journey 1,708 miles, which occupied 126 days, n reaching within 111 miles of the South Pole, or 345 miles nearer than attained by the "Discovery" exhibition of which he was an officer. Jeffries says he won't fight Johnson at any price. He says he has all the money he wants. Yet the purse offered by Mr. Hillman is over £20,000, of which 70 per cent would go to the winner and 20 per cent to the loser.

Jeffries is probably perfectly right. When he beat Fitzsimmons in 1899, the money paid for admission to see that historic fight was a matter of £15,000, of which £12,000 was divided between the two principals. Jeffries made a good many thousand before that, and, as he never was a waster, he has probably got enough to live on in comfort for the rest of his life. Rankin was the best man on the ice, as per custom. That lad certainly can the game, and he has the brains, He is no bull-headed player, but he uses his head and every move he makes when he has the puck is the shortest and the best way to his opponof condition, and he is strongest to hearts of the spectators. He is a little chap, but he is chunky, and can give and take his bumps with the best of Stratford intermediates played centre for the West in place of Stone of Woodstock; while McLean, of the Simcoes, replaced Lane of the Eurekas at rover for the East. Both the new men showed up well. Simpson is a good man at centre and has a nice shot McLean to strong at rover and his rusnes were arways dangerous. He put in three tallies for Kyle's septette, and did some good defensive work. Matthews and Prodgers had a good set-to on the boards. They strong at rover and his rushes were alhad a good set-to on the boards. They are both good boys. Herbie had it on Prodgers on condition, and finished stronger, but outside of that they were very evenly matched.

He and Andy Kyle make a strong defense, but Brown in the nets, although good, is not quite in the all-star class. Richards and Rein-
