ABBIE WOOD BEAT FRED CAMERON ON A FOURTH TIME

Outprints Him at the Finish—Ran Seventeen Miles Instead of Fifteen on Montreal Track—Both run at New York Friday.

Montreal, Oct. 31—Abbie Wood of Montreal, defeated Fred Cameron of Amherst N. S., in a fifteen mile race at the Jubilee rink here this evening.

With the exception of a couple of laps in the second mile, Cameron made the pace all the way until the last lap. Wood hung within striking distance of him all through, and on the start of the last lap started a sprint that swept Cameron off his feet. At the finish Wood had the race by about thirty yards.

This was the fourth race between the Montreal and Amherst runners, and each time, the Montreal man has won by his speed at the finish. He has been able to hang to Cameron's pace at any distance from ten to fifteen miles, and then outprint him in the final dash to the tape.

The time of the race was one hour, 38 minutes and 35 seconds, but it was discovered afterwards that the men had run nearly 17 miles. The runners complained when the time for the first mile 5.56, had been hung up that there must be a mistake either in the timing or in the measurement of the track. The error, half way through the race was found to be in the track measurement, but the men finished out the race on the basis of thirteen lap to a mile, and ran just a fraction under seventeen miles.

Wood and Cameron leave for New York tomorrow where the former will team up with Meadows, and the latter with Holmer in the twenty mile race at Madison Square Garden, Friday night.
Halifax, N. S., Oct. 31—Fifty-six long distance runners from all parts of the maritime provinces competed in the Halifax Herald's annual ten-mile championship road race in Halifax today.

In 1907-8 the race was won by Hans Holmer, and last year Fred Cameron was the winner. Today Michael Thomas, a fleet long-distance Indian from the Abegweit Club, of Charlottetown, captured the race, and is now the amateur champion long-distance runner of the maritime provinces.
Thomas took his lead at the start and was never passed during the ten miles, finishing first. A feature of the race was the large number of Indians entered, four red skins being among the first six to cross the finish line.
The team prize for the first four men to cross the finish line was won by the Chebuctos of Halifax, with the All-St. John team second. Sterling, of St. John, was looked upon as a winner, but not in condition for today's race and only got fifth place.
The winner's time was 58.52 2-5.

REV. A. E. BURKE WAS BOYCOTTED

Toronto, Oct. 24—"Be it resolved that the editor be refused admission to any meeting of the United Irish league in future and that this resolution be published in the daily newspapers of Toronto, the Canadian Freeman, Kingston, the Catholic Record, London, and United Canada, Ottawa."

This was the resolution passed by the local branch of the United Irish league last night, F. J. Roche presiding. The editor in question was Rev. Father Burke, of the Catholic Register. What the league objected to was an article published in the Register following the O'Connor meeting here recently. "Irish affairs often get into ruts," it said. "There is a small class of professional Irishmen everywhere butting in on these occasions, that is neither good for creed nor country and the decent element of the community is about sick and tired of them and their pretensions. This sort of thing could not fail to have a discouraging effect and the distinguished speaker was quite aware of it himself."

Previous to passing Father Burke's banishment as above there were some warm speeches in which the Register article was quoted as a wanton insult and an outrage to the canons of ordinary journalistic decency.

THE RACKING PAINS OF RHEUMATISM

Can Only Be Cured Through the Blood—Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Which Act Directly On the Blood.

Rheumatism will rack you just as long as there is acid in the blood to cause rheumatism. That's the whole trouble—acid in the blood. Cold, damp weather may start the pains going but it is not the cause. That is rooted in the blood and can only be cured through the blood. Years ago when medicine science did not know as much about the complaint as to-day, rheumatic sufferers were given something to rub on the swollen tender joints. Some people who do not know any better still adhere to the old fashioned way, but it does not cure their rheumatism—and never will.

When the acid is driven from the blood the rheumatism is gone—it's cured. The thing is to get the right medicine to drive the acid out. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured more cases of rheumatism than any other disease except anaemia. They do this because they enrich the blood supply, thus toning up the system to point where the rheumatic acid is expelled through the natural channels and the trouble disappears. They were intended to do this and they do it thoroughly. Mr. Henry O'Donoghue, Viscount, Sask., says: "About four years ago I came here from Scotland for the purpose of taking up land. Even at so recent a date as this the country was quite different from what it is to-day. Then the nearest shack to me was ten miles distant, and the nearest town much further away. In those days homesteading was not all sunshine, and in the spring of 1907 I contracted a severe cold. I had never been sick in my life before, and paid no attention to the cold, and almost before I realized it I was down with an attack of pleurisy and as the pains of this trouble began to leave me those of rheumatism set in, and my sufferings were something terrible. Help was sent for, but it did me no good, nor did the medicine given me have any effect, and for five months I was confined to the house. Then one day I had an unexpected visit from my brother who came from Australia, and whom I had not seen for nine years. When he saw my condition he at once urged me to get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as he knew of a number of cases in which they had made marvellous cures in Australia. The result was he went to town and purchased six boxes, and before I had used the last box I was out working with my oxen and am now as healthy as any man in the province. For this I must thank the Pills and my brother's advice, and I strongly recommend the Pills to other rheumatic sufferers."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six

HARRY J. BAIG, A SUICIDE AT MONCTON

Arrested for Strange Conduct on Train. Hanged Himself in Lock-Up.

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 1—Harry J. Baig a Jewish junk dealer of St. John, hanged himself in the Moncton police lockup this morning between five and half-past five o'clock. Baig had been taken off No. 9 train on its arrival here from Amherst and was locked up, charged with cutting and destroying seats in the car. Shortly after 5 o'clock when Thomas Donnelly, night call man, had occasion to visit the cells, a shocking sight met his gaze. As he flashed a light into the steel lattice cell occupied by Baig he was horrified to see the prisoner suspended by a rope from the top of the cell apparently lifeless. The man who had been placed in the cell about an hour and a half before was cold in death. Constable Donnelly notified Coroner Purdy of the occurrence a few minutes after his discovery.

When the night express from Halifax arrived at Moncton at three o'clock this morning, the conductor reported Baig for creating a disturbance on the train and cutting the seats. Officer Dryden at once took the man into custody and found him apparently suffering from some mental trouble. The I. C. R. officer telephoned for the city police patrol and had the man sent to the lockup. Upon arrival at the police station, Baig was searched and $97.67 and a flask of whiskey were found on him. He told the police he was going to St. John. The unfortunate man was about 35 years of age. A piece of rope was used by Baig to end his existence, but where he got it the police say they are unable to understand. An inquest will be held by Coroner Purdy.
St. John friends of the unfortunate man were greatly shocked to hear of his suicide. It is said he was a temperate man, but that he had been acting strangely for a month or more. He leaves a wife and six children, living on Pond street.

FOUR INJURED IN MONTREAL RUNAWAY, AND TWO MAY DIE

Montreal, Nov. 1—As a result of a driving accident on the slope of Mount Royal this afternoon, Mrs. James Dalrymple, a well known society woman, is lying in Royal Victoria Hospital fatally injured, with a fractured skull, and Missland Cole, merchant, was also seriously injured. Mrs. Cole and another lady, Mrs. Sanctuary, who were in the carriage, were badly but not fatally injured.

The horses were being driven by Mrs. Cole, and while at the narrowest part of the mountain park drive they ran away, and the carriage collided with a cab. All were thrown violently to the ground and they very narrowly escaped going over the edge of the mountain.

Mrs. Goodin is survived by seven daughters, three, sisters of Providence, one, Sister of Notre Dame, Mrs. John A. Albert, of Caraquet, Mrs. D. Goodin of Orono Me., and Mrs. J. D. Paulin of Newcastle. She is also survived by one son, Henry Goodin of Orono Me. Mrs. Goodin was a native of Petit Roches but resided for some years in Montreal and has spent the last three years here with her daughter. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved family.

DEATH AT CHATHAM OF MRS. CATHERINE O'SHEA

Chatham, N. B., Nov. 1—After an evening spent in Halloween games with her grandchildren, Mrs. Catherine O'Shea, aged 72, widow of William O'Shea, retired to bed and was found by her daughter, Mrs. James McLaughlin, a few minutes later with her hands crossed upon her breast and sleeping her last long sleep. Dr. Duffy was at once notified, but nothing could be done. Mrs. O'Shea and her husband were natives of Ireland, and emigrated first to the States and then to Prince Edward Island. Eleven years ago they settled in Chatham, and about seven years ago Mr. O'Shea died. Mrs. O'Shea leaves a daughter, Mrs. James McLaughlin, with whom she lived, and two sons, John and Patrick, in the States. The funeral will be held to-morrow morning.

SAVED CHILDREN BUT LOST HIS LIFE

Beverly Railway Employee Ran Down Track to Scare Little Ones off the track and was Killed.

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 31—To save three small children, who had wandered on to the railroad tracks in front of an express train, Stephen Jones, a Boston & Maine carpenter, gave up his life today. The children were crossing the tracks near the Chatham street grade, when Jones spied them. Shouting, he ran toward the spot and succeeded in scaring the children so that they ran out of danger, but in his excitement and anxiety the man failed to notice how close the train was upon himself and the engine struck him. He was almost instantly killed. Jones was fifty-five years of age, married, and lived at Rialside, Beverly.

FEAR DIGBY MAN WAS MURDERED

Search for Missing Edward McGregor Without Result.

John Tebo, Jr., Taken Into Custody Charged With Theft of Money From Much-Sought Man.

Digby, N. S., Oct. 31—John Tebo, jr., was arrested in Digby by Chief of Police Cowles this afternoon on suspicion of stealing money from Edward McGregor, the missing man. His preliminary examination will commence to-morrow morning before Stipendiary Magistrate Harvey.

The mysterious disappearance of McGregor, a story of which appeared in Friday's Telegraph, is now the talk of the town. Your correspondent accompanied the chief of police on a thorough search of the missing man's premises late Saturday afternoon. It was learned that McGregor left in his working clothes, that he had evidently had no intention of being gone for any length of time. It was also learned that he had saved up considerable money while living alone, which he continually carried on him, the supposed amount ranging, according to various stories, from $250 to $600.

A large searching party again went through the woods yesterday and today, but no signs of the body could be discovered. That he met with foul play is now the opinion of almost everybody in that vicinity as well as the people of this town.

All sorts of stories, of course, are being told, but only a regular investigation by the proper authorities will bring out the facts. St. John Telegraph.

The Man From Brodneys

"I beg your pardon," said Browne. "This is Lord Deppingham?"

"Yes," drawled Deppy, with a look which was meant to convey the impression that he did not know who the deuce he was addressing.

"Permit me to introduce myself. I am Robert Browne."

"Oh," said Deppy, as if that did not convey anything to him. Then, as an afterthought, "Glad to know you, I'm sure." Still he did not rise, nor did he extend his hand.

"Don't you intend to present me to Lady Deppingham?" he demanded bluntly without taking his eyes from Deppy's face.

"Oh—er—is that necessary?"

"Lady Deppingham," interrupted Browne, "I am Robert Browne, the man you are expected to marry. We are here for the same purpose, I suspect. We can't be married to each other. That's out of the question. But we can live together as if we—"

"Good Lord!" roared Deppy, coming to his feet in a towering rage. Browne smiled apologetically and lifted his hand.

"As if we were serving out the prescribed period of courtship set down in the will. Believe me, I am very happily married, as I hope you are. The courtship, you will perceive, is neither here nor there. Our every issue is identical, Lady Deppingham. Doesn't it strike you that we will be very foolish if we stand alone and against each other?"

"My solicitor," began Lady Deppingham and then stopped. She was smiling in spite of herself.

"Your solicitor and mine can get together and talk it over," said Browne blandly. "We'll leave it to them. I am quite ready to be a friendly ally, not a foe."

"Let me understand you," began Deppingham, cooling off suddenly. "Do you mean to say that you are not going to fight us in this matter?"

"Not at all, your lordship," said Browne coolly. "I am here to fight Taswell Skaggs and John Wyckholme, deceased. I think both of us will run no risk if we smash the will. If we don't smash it the islanders will cheerfully take the legacy off our hands."

"By Jove!" muttered Deppy, looking at his wife.

"Thank you, Mr. Browne, for being so frank with us," she said coolly. "If you don't mind, I will consult my solicitor." She bowed ever so slightly, indicating that the interview was at an end, moreover, that it had not been of her choosing.

"Any time, your ladyship," said Browne, also bowing. "I think Mrs. Browne wants to speak to you about the rooms."

"We are quite settled, Mr. Browne, and very well satisfied," she said pointedly, turning red with a fresh touch of anger.

"I trust you have not taken the rooms at this end?"

"We have. We are occupying them."

"I'm sorry," said Browne. "We were warned not to take them. They are said to be unbearable when the hot winds come in October."

"What's that?" demanded Deppingham.

"The book of instructions and description which we have secured sets all that out," said the other. "It's strange that the servants didn't warn you."

"The—the confounded servants left us yesterday before we came, every mother's son of 'em. There isn't a servant on the place."

"What? You don't mean it? I say, Brit, come here a moment, will you? Lord Deppingham says the servants have struck."

The American lawyer, a chubby, red faced man of forty, with clear gray eyes and a stubby mustache, whistled softly.

"I'll see what I can do, Mr. Browne. Got to have cooks, eh, Lord Deppingham?" Without waiting for an answer he turned on his heel and strode away.

swer he dashed off. The native carriers were leaving the grounds when Britt's shrill whistle brought them to a standstill. The lawyer waved a triumphant hand to his friends and then climbed into one of the litters to be borne off in the direction of the town.

"He'll have the servants back at work before 2 o'clock," said Browne calmly. Deppingham was transfixed with astonishment.

"How—how the devil do you—does he bring 'em to time like that?" he murmured. He afterward said that if he had had Saunders there at that humiliating moment he would have kicked him.

"Good Lord!" roared Deppy in a towering rage.

"They're afraid of the American battleship," said Browne.

"But where is the American battleship?" demanded Deppingham, looking wildly to sea.

"They understand that there will be one here in a day or two if we need it," said Browne, with a sly grin.

"That's the bluff we've worked," he looked around for his wife and, finding that she had gone inside, politely waved his hand to the Englishman and followed.

At 3 o'clock Britt returned with the rebellious servants—or at least the "nick" of them, as he termed the scores he had chosen from the hundred or more. He seemed to have an Aladdin-like effect over the horde.

Calmly taking Lord Deppingham and his following into his confidence, he said, in reply to their indignant remonstrances, later on in the day:

"I know that an American man-of-war hasn't any right to fire upon British possessions, but you just keep quiet and let well enough alone. They just simply know that I can send wireless messages and that a cruiser would be out there tomorrow if necessary, peering away at these green hills with cannon balls so big that there wouldn't be anything left but the horizon in an hour or two. You let me do the talking. I've got 'em bluffed, and I'll keep 'em that way."

Over in the gorgeous vesting Lord Deppingham later on tried to convince his sulky little wife that the Americans were an amazing lot, after all. Bromley tapped at the door.

"Tea is served in the hanging garden, my lady," she announced. Her mistress looked up in surprise, red-eyed and a bit disheveled.

"Ask some one to bring the tea things in here, Bromley," she said sternly. "Besides, I want to give some orders. We must have system here, not Americanisms."

The tea things did not come in. In their stead came pretty Mrs. Browne.

"Won't you please join Mr. Browne and me in that dear little garden? It's so cool up there, and it must be dreadfully warm here. Really, you should move at once into Mr. Wyckholme's old apartments, across the court from ours. They are splendid. But now do come and have tea with us."

CHAPTER VIII
THE MAN FROM BRODNEYS.

It was quite forty-eight hours before the Deppinghams surrendered to the Browns. They were obliged to humbly admit in the possession of their own councils that it was to the obnoxious but energetic Britt that they owed their present and ever growing comfort.

"Good looking."

"As the tall stranger stepped from the boat to the pier Von Blitz turned a look of triumph upon Britt, who he allowed through the crowd a moment late in the afternoon of the day following the advent of the Browns, Lord and Lady Deppingham were laboriously fanning themselves in the midst of their stifling Marie Antoinette elegance.

"By Jove, Aggy, it's too beastly hot here for words," growled he for the hundredth time. "I think we'd better move into your grandfather's rooms."

"Now, Deppy, don't let the Browns talk you into everything they suggest," she complained, determined to be stubborn to the end. "They know entirely too much."

"That's all very good, my dear, but you know quite as well as I that we made a frightful mistake in choosing these rooms. It is cooler on that side of the house. I'm not too proud to be comfortable, don't you know?"

The next day they moved into the west wing, and that evening they had the Browns to dine with them in the banquet hall. Deppingham awoke in the middle of the night with violent cramps in his stomach.

"Don't say a word to Lady Deppingham," he grunted, sitting up in bed and gazing wildly at his valet. "But I've been poisoned. The—servants—ouch!—don't you know! Might have known. Silly ass! See what I mean? Get something for me—quick!"

For two hours Antoine applied hot water bags and soothing sirups, and his master, far from dying as he continually prophesied, dropped off into a peaceful sleep.

The next morning Deppingham, fully convinced that the native servants had tried to poison him, unconditionally discharged the entire force.

Of course there was a great upheaval. Lady Agnes came tearing down to the servants' hall, followed directly by the Browns and Mr. Britt.

"Stop!" she cried. "Deppy, what are you doing? Discharging them after we've had such a time getting them? Are you crazy?"

"They're a pack of snakes—I mean snakes. They're assassins. They tried to poison every one of us last night!"

Britt smoothed the troubled waters with astonishing ease. The servants returned to their duties, but not without grumbling and no end of savage glances, all of which were leveled at the luckless Deppingham.

"Why poison?" demanded Britt. "They've got knives and guns, haven't they?"

"My dear man, that would put them to no end of trouble cleaning up after us," said Deppingham loftily.

Meanwhile it may be well to depict the situation from the enemy's point of view—the enemy being the islanders as a unit. They were prepared to abide by the terms of the will so long as it remained clear to them that fair treatment came from the opposing interests. Rasula, the Ararat lawyer, in mass meeting had discussed the requirements and his restrictions; they knew by this time that there was small chance of the original beneficiaries coming into the property under the provisions. Later came the news that marriage between the heirs was out of the question. Then the islanders laughed as they toiled. But they were not to be caught napping. Jacob von Blitz, the superintendent, stolid Englishman that he was, saw fat into the future. It was he who set the native lawyer unceremoniously aside and urged competent representation in London. The great law firm headed by Sir John Brodneys was chosen. A wide awake representative of the distinguished solicitors was now on his way to the island with the swarthy gentleman which had created so much interest in the metropolis during its brief stay.

Jacob von Blitz came to the island when he was twenty years old. That was twenty years before the death of Taswell Skaggs. He had worked in the South African diamond fields and had no difficulty in securing employment with Skaggs and Wyckholme.

Von Blitz was shrewd enough to see that the grandchildren were not coming to the island for the mere pleasure of sojourning there; their motive was plain. It was he who advised—even commanded—the horde of servants to desert the chateau.

He lived, with his three wives, in the hills just above and south of the town itself. The Englishmen who worked in the bank and the three Boer foremen also had houses up there, where it was cooler, but Von Blitz was the only one who practiced polygamy. His wives were Persian women and handsome after the Persian fashion.

One hot, dry afternoon about a week after the reopening of the chateau, the sista of a swarthy population was disturbed by the shouts of those who kept impatient watch of the sea. Five minutes later the whole town of Ararat knew that the smoke of a steamer lay low on the horizon. No one doubted that it came from the stack of the boat that was bringing Rasula and the English solicitor. Joy turned to exultation when the word came down from Von Blitz that it was the long looked for steamer, the Sir Joshua.

Von Blitz stood on the landing place to welcome Rasula and his comrades and to be the first to clasp the hand of the man from Brodneys.

At last his figure could be made out on the forward deck. His straw hat was at least a head higher than the turban of Rasula, who was indicating to him the interesting spots in the hills.

"He's big," commented Von Blitz comfortably, more to himself than to his neighbor. "And young," he added a few minutes later. Bowles, standing at his side, offered the single comment:

"Good looking."

"As the tall stranger stepped from the boat to the pier Von Blitz turned a look of triumph upon Britt, who he allowed through the crowd a moment

SPECIAL MEETING TOWN COUNCIL

Town council met Thursday night, Mayor McMurdo in the chair. Ald. present: Butler, Clarke, Falconer, Layton, Russell, Sargeant and Morrison. Absent: Ald. Allison.

communications were read: From Dr. Robert Nicholson, tendering resignation as Secretary Town Board of Health. Ald. Clark and Layton moved that resignation be accepted. Ald. Butler and Morrison opposed hasty acceptance of resignation, as appointment to office committee had no nomination ready for vacancy. Ald. Morrison and Sargeant moved that resignation lie on the table one month.

Ald. Clark said that resignation should be accepted as the chairman had already sent in his resignation to the government and now that the secretary had resigned there should be a new one appointed at once.

Ald. Morrison's amendment carried.

The Police Magistrate's report to Sept. 30th was referred to Police committee.

Mayor McMurdo reported from the Union of Municipalities. The Union was doing a great work. Some of the questions discussed were: Taxation, which after much consideration, was referred back to Executive, to be brought up at next meeting; Sinking Funds; Protection of water powers; provincial police; permanent roads; payment of jurors; tax collection, etc. Next meeting would be in Newcastle.

On recommendation of Finance committee delegates expenses of $20.00 was paid.

On recommendation Light and Water committee following bills were paid:

Colonial Lubricating Co.,	$58.50
Millers Foundry	27.30
T. McAvity & Son	11.25
Intercolonial coal mining Co.	280.00
J. Morrissey	5.75
Can. Gen. Electric Co.	50.25
W. J. Hogan	67.80
Jas. J. Stewart	31.80
J. H. Phinney	12.75
	43.25

The Police, Public Works and Ferry com. had no reports.

Ald. Layton for Park and Fire com. submitted following bills which were passed:

For Hose	$165.00
Dickinson & Troy	1.05
	166.05

Ald. Layton also submitted a plan for dividing town into 6 fire districts:

- 1—All the town west of Jane street and north of Pleasant street.
- 2—The town east of Jane street north of Pleasant street and west of Prince William street.
- 3—Town east of Prince William street, to Hon. Allan Ritchie's residence.
- 4—Town south of Pleasant St., and east of Jane street.
- 5—Town west of Jane street and south of Pleasant street.
- 6—The town east of Hon. Allan Ritchie's (Skytown).

Ald. Layton reported that he had got a site for fire bell in Skytown @ $8.00 a year, on J. R. Lawlor's property.

Geo. Stables complained that he had paid his auctioneer's license and others had not done so. Within two years one auctioneer who had paid no license, had run for Mayor, and another is now alderman.

Ald. Russell explained that he had not taken money for acting as auctioneer the last two years.

Ald. Morrison said that those who paid licenses should be protected.

Ald. Russell agreed with Ald. Morrison. He himself had not acted as auctioneer, as he was a town official.

Mr. Stables said that he had laid complaint with Police Magistrate against J. R. Lawlor for auctioning without a license.

Ald. Falconer had nothing to report re Ferry.

Ald. Butler reported for Bye-Law committee: He recommended following changes in by-laws:

- 1—To strike out section re ex-officio County Councillor as superfluous.
- 2—To allow town clerk treasurer's duty Monday and Wednesday nights.

3—To make Board of Health report quarterly instead of annually.

4—To strike out section re Public Charities Committee.

5—To strike out of bye-law 10 requiring licenses—from people not belonging to county doing business in town several provisions not authorized by Statute.

6—To strike out a bye-law peculiar to Campbellton.

7—To strike out the bye-law exempting employes of town or ratepayers from payment of licenses.

8—To repeal bye-law 15 because it was covered by 10.

9—To strike out repetitions re fast driving, bathing and certain sections covered by criminal code.

Ald. Butler said that if a set of by-laws were to be prepared none of which would be in whole or in part covered by provincial or Dominion statute, about two thirds of the draft prepared by last year's Council would have to be thrown out, and much of the rest altered.

Ald. Butler moved, seconded by Ald. Sargeant, that bye-law com. be directed to have printing completed with correction indicated by them tonight, with index.

The Mayor said that it had been brought to his attention re putting of road through old foundry property to street parallel to and between Pleasant and McCullam streets.

Ald. Butler spoke of great stretch between Pleasant street and railway without a street. Mrs. Watt and Mr. McCullam had been willing to give land for such street through their properties.

Matter of streets will be taken up at next meeting. Adjourned.

ONTARIO BAPTISTS ASSIST CAMPBELLTON

Toronto, Oct. 25.—The afternoon and evening sessions of the Baptist convention on Friday were marked by enthusiastic demonstrations of missionary enthusiasm. This enthusiasm took the form of dollars and cents.

In something like two hours, in the latter part of the afternoon and in the evening, a sum exceeding $40,000 was contributed chiefly toward defraying expenses of the foreign and home mission work of the church. Nearly thirty thousand dollars was raised in the afternoon.

The contributions began coming in immediately after the reading of the annual report of the foreign missions. The report itself was somewhat lengthy, and the reading occupied a large part of the afternoon. It dealt especially with the work being carried on in the Telugu at Cocanada in India. The Vancouverian mission had been taken over from the London Mission Society, thus bringing together the Baptist missions in India.

At 5 p. m. the meetings were continued, when Broad street church was crowded. The proceedings opened with a song service, under the direction of Rev. W. E. Boyer, B. A.

The Rev. Dr. Stuber, vice-president of the convention, presided, and introduced the Rev. Mr. Schurman of Campbellton, N. B. Mr. Schurman gave a brief outline of the devastation caused by fire in Campbellton, and made a strong appeal for funds to rebuild the church and other buildings.

That his appeal was not in vain may be gathered from the fact that from the collection alone he received $337, while other donations during the evening were granted to the pastor and congregation amounting to $750 or in all $1,087.

Mr. Schurman, in thanking the assembly for their generosity, remarked that the first cheque he received after the great fire in Campbellton were from Baptists of the city of Toronto, and now they had come to the front with an even greater proof of their generosity.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. They had a most enjoyable time and a highly successful hunt, each one of the members of the party getting a moose and shooting five deer in all.

TOWN CLOCK.

Some years ago a forceful spirit in our midst hammered at the doors of the Powers at Ottawa and secured for our Town a Post Office and Customs building, that was then, and still is a credit to the town; and a monument, (as the only one the town has), to his memory. The strong spirit was silenced, and the structure remains unfinished. The ROUND aperture, reserved for the intelligent face of a Town Clock, still looks down with the blank glass of a SQUARE window, upon the complacent town.

Will not some person charge the cannon in the public square and fire a volley. The unusual sound from their long silent mouths might arouse our Board of Trade.

NEW BRIDGE.

We have for some years been giving public attention to the sad state of Ox Brook Bridge, C. I. Road and we now take pleasure in telling our readers that a new bridge has been built, the hull cut down and the worn out approaches raised. The job was done by days work under the supervision of Mr. James Walsh of Whitneyville, and is a credit to himself and the government.

BRIDAL COUPLE OF A FORTNIGHT TIRED OF LIFE

Man Dead and Woman in Critical Condition as Result of Suicide Pact.

New York, Nov. 1—A suicide pact entered into by a despondent young couple on the upper west side of the city, and carried into at least partially successful execution was revealed this afternoon, when a relative of Mr. and Mrs. Torrea brode into their rooms. Torrea was found dead in bed and his young wife, partially overcome by gas, and a wound in the left wrist, calmly waiting for her life to end.

When Mrs. Torrea was revived in the hospital to which she was taken a prisoner, she said that the knife wound had been inflicted by her husband in the carrying out of a suicide agreement which they made this morning. She told the police that her husband had first cut a deep incision in her left arm and then slashed his own right arm. He then turned on the gas and they lay down to die.

The Torreas were married only on Oct. 17 last. The smell of escaping gas from the room led to the discovery of the dead man and his wounded wife.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was unattended and wore a costume of Alice blue broadcloth and black beaver hat, trimmed to match. Mr. Francis Maguire, a young advocate of New Carlisle, attended the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony a breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bidard left for Quebec amid showers of rice and confetti and followed by the good wishes of many friends.

Miss Sheppard entertained at afternoon tea on Thursday, the 20th inst., in honor of Miss A. Bedard, who was leaving to make her home in Quebec, much to the regret of her many friends here. CAMPBELLTON'S FINANCES

An article in the St. John Telegraph of a recent date and copied in the last issue of the Graphic had many inaccuracies which should not go without correction. In an article on Campbellton's Finances the statement is made that it will require $115,000 to restore the "electric light and educational plants." This is by no means correct. The town officials are asking for authority to issue this amount of bonds, which amount, with the insurance on the property destroyed will be sufficient to pay all outstanding accounts and salaries, and restore the electric lighting plant, sewerage and water, and the school. This is the total sum needed.

Through the judicious management of the electric light manager Farrer has been able to give the town a splendid lighting system at a very small cost, and the plant is now in operation.

The delay of the Dominion Cabinet in dealing with the matter of the assistance to be granted to Campbellton has no doubt been embarrassing to the town, but owing to the continued absence of the Ministers of the crown, and of late the illness of Sir Richard Cartwright, it has been impossible to attend to this business. It seems hardly fair to us for the Telegraph to lay the blame on the local administration. Here in Campbellton we know what the local government intends to do, but it is waiting the action of the Dominion cabinet before it finally deals with the question. This is a very proper course, and is also in the best interests of Campbellton. That the government will agree to assist this town we never for one moment doubted and we hope shortly to announce that the petitions of our citizens has been acceded to.

FINE PLANT IN OPERATION

Electrician Farrer and Assistants Have Done Good Work.

The temporary electric light plant is now in operation and house services are being connected as rapidly as possible, but as there are many, it means much delay, as men able to do this class of work are hard to procure. Today in Campbellton there are a very large number of men engaged in wiring places of business and residences and it will not be long before the plant is earning a large revenue. The street lights will be erected just as soon as it is possible.

The plant installed consists of a large steam engine, one of the ones used before the fire, which has been thoroughly overhauled by the makers, and a generator of the sixty cycle type capable of generating current for 1000 lamps. This latter has been supplied, together with some other equipment, from the Canada General Electric Co., free of charge and is a first class machine in every respect.

In the erection of the out door plant Electrician Farrer and his assistants have done good work. The poles and wiring are of a permanent character, and despite the scarcity of labor was rushed to completion. Mr. Farrer, upon whom practically all the heavy work of the installation of the system fell has proved himself to be a very capable man, and one whom the town should endeavor to keep. After the fire he was offered a very substantial increase of salary to go west and take charge of a plant in a growing town, but like other citizens he preferred casting his lot with the new town of Campbellton. This spirit, backed up by such good work as Mr. Farrer has done in the last two months deserves some fitting reward, and we propose that as soon as the town has in some degree regained its former standing that the chief electrician be given a substantial increase of salary. He earns it, and we are sure all readers of the Graphic who are interested in the town will agree with us.

OTTERTVILLE, Ont., July 8th 1910.

"I am a seventy-nine year old man, and a great believer in, and user of 'Fruit-a-tives'. It is the only medicine I take, and I can truly say that 'Fruit-a-tives' and exercise keep me in my present good health."

Stricture of the Bowels, was the complaint I suffered from and I found 'Fruit-a-tives' to do me more good than any other remedy. My doctor advised me to stick to 'Fruit-a-tives' and I have done so with the best results.

I have been in business here for a good many years and have been a resident of Otterville for over fifty years, so that if you think this little reference from me will serve to induce some others to try 'Fruit-a-tives' I hereby authorize its publication.

WM. PARSONS.

Obstinate Constipation, Paralysis of the Bowels and Stricture of the Bowels can never be cured by common purgatives, salts, senna, "liver pills" and oil have positively no action on the liver. They do not increase the secretion of bile, which nature provides to move the bowels. They merely irritate the membranes lining the intestines. One may as well try to cure a headache by pounding one's head against a stone wall, as to try to cure Constipation with common purgatives. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only true liver stimulant. "Fruit-a-tives" is fruit juices and nerve tonics, and will always restore the liver to its proper condition and cure the most obstinate cases of Constipation.

AN EYE FOR AN EYE

The news of the sentence of Dr. Crippen to be hanged came as a surprise to most people on this side of the water. We have become accustomed to reading of the trials in the American courts, with their long drawn out proceedings, the artifices and stratagems of the lawyers, the advancing and arguing of all kinds of excuses and pleas for the criminal. This sample of English justice therefore comes as a surprise and is an illustration that the processes of the criminal court in England are still carried on with the object of meting out justice, not for the purpose of allowing expert lawyers to force a camel of crime through a needle's eye of technicality, earning for themselves the while, much valuable advertising.—commercial.

A BANKRUPT TOWN

For the past two months certain St. John papers have from time to time made the startling assertion that the town of Campbellton is practically bankrupt, or in other words it has no property value to represent the bonds outstanding. This assertion should not be allowed to go unchallenged. A few years ago when a local paper barely hinted that the finances of Campbellton were in a bad shape and the town on the verge of bankruptcy the business men rose up in arms and threatened to chase the editor out of town, but today the statement is made and nothing is said in reference to it.

Campbellton for a bankrupt town is certainly a thriving one from a business standpoint. We venture to state that the value of the property along the south side of Water street would pay the bonded indebtedness fifty times over. When a piece of property on this street thirty-six feet by a hundred is sold to an outside business man for five thousand dollars, does it look like bankruptcy?

Such statements going broadcast not only injure the town but make it more difficult for every merchant in the town to finance his business. Fortunately the assertion coming from the source it does is not taken seriously by the banking institutions or business houses in Canada, but it is a falsehood which has been ridden to death and those responsible for its life should now allow it to die in peace.

Campbellton is not bankrupt, but is flourishing and prospering every day.

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Warehouses, St. John Harbor, N. B.," will be received at this office until 4 p. m., on Monday, October 24, 1910, for the construction of Warehouse No. 7 and the Extension of Warehouse No. 6.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of J. K. Scammell, Esq., District Engineer, St. John, N. B., and Geoffrey Stead, Esq., District Engineer, Chatham, N. B.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works for the sum of three thousand ($3,000.00) dollars, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender is not accepted, the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

MISS LANEVE IS FOUND NOT GUILTY

London, Oct. 25—After a trial lasting but a few hours in the new Bailey criminal court to-day, the jury found Ethel Clara Le Neve not guilty as an accessory after the fact in the murder of Cora Belle Crippen, for whose death her husband, Dr. Crippen, will die on the gallows on Nov. 8.

The girl heard the verdict and took her acquittal without the least emotion.

When arraigned to-day, Miss LeNeve pleaded not guilty, and witnesses were introduced by the prosecution to show that she had experienced periods of great mental distress following Belle Elmore's death.

The Crown prosecutor, Richard Marr introduced only such evidence as had been brought out in earlier hearings. Miss LeNeve's counsel, Frederick F. Smith, member of the House of Commons, asked the jury to bear in mind that his client had been under the influence of Crippen, one of the most dangerous criminals of recent years since she was sixteen years old. This he asserted accounted for her flight in the doctor's company. There was no proof that she had guilty knowledge of the crime. Counsel said that he took upon his own shoulders the responsibility for not putting Miss LeNeve in the witness box. Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, who presided, in summing up for the jury, said that he saw no reason why Dr. Crippen should have told Miss LeNeve a story different from that which he told to others. The jury was only out 25 minutes.

Give Children Good Bread and Butter

YOU may say bread and all children want plenty of it. In a way, that's true. But it makes considerable difference whether the bread you give your children now counts just as a "filler" or whether it counts for future health. For there is a vital difference between breads made from different flours.

The most healthful as well as the cheapest food in the world is bread made from

Royal Household Flour

This bread isn't merely something to fill a hungry stomach. It is a perfectly balanced food, rich in strengthening, blood-making material. It counts for long life. It counts for a vigorous constitution. It counts for bone and muscle making and good rich blood.

And this because "Royal Household" is made from the finest wheat in the world—the famous Red Fife—selected in high quality grain, most in demand, and most valued in all the markets of the world.

Growing children thrive on bread made from "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD". It gives them just the nourishment their systems need and is the most digestible and tempting form. And it is natural food. It takes the place of meat, at one quarter the cost, and is more quickly assimilated.

There is no better flour in the world than "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD". It is best and most economical for Bread, Pies, Cakes, Rolls, Biscuits, Biscuits, and all family baking.

asked Lady Agnes in her sweetest accents: "I don't apprehend"—began Saunders nervously.

"Saunders," said Britt calculatingly and evenly, "next thing we'll have to begin hunting for insanity in your family. We haven't heard anything from you on this little point, Lord Deppingham."

"I don't know anything about Mr. Saunders' family," said Deppingham stiffly. Britt looked at him for a moment, puzzled and uncertain. Then he gave a short, hopeless laugh and said under his breath:

"Holy smoke!"

When he finally called the conference adjourned and prepared to depart he calmly turned to the stenographer.

"Did you get all this down, Miss Pelham?"

"Yes, Mr. Britt."

"Good!" Then he went away, leaving the quartet unconsciously depressed by the emphasis he placed upon that single word.

The next day but one it was announced that the enemy had moved into the bungalow. From time to time his gray, blue or white clad figure could be seen directing the operations of the natives who were engaged in rehabilitating Wyckholme's "nest."

The chateau was now under the very eye of the enemy.

CHAPTER IX. THE AMERICAN BAR.

"YOU'RE wanted at the phone," Mr. Britt said Miss Pelham. It was late in the evening a day or two afterward.

Britt went into the booth. He was not in there long, but when he came out he found that Miss Pelham had disappeared. The coincidence was significant—Mr. Saunders was also missing from his seat on the window sill at the far end of the long corridor. Britt looked his disgust and muttered something characteristic. Having no one near with whom he could communicate, he boldly set off for the hanging garden, where Deppingham had installed the long idle roulette paraphernalia.

"Say," he said without ceremony, "the enemy's in trouble. Bowles just telephoned. There's a lot of excitement in the town. I don't know what to make of it."

"Then why the devil are you breaking in here with it?" growled Deppingham.

"This'll interest you, never fear. There's been a row between Von Blitz and the lawyer, and the lawyer has unmercifully thrashed Von Blitz. Good Lord, I'd like to have seen it, wouldn't you, Browne? Say, he's all right, isn't he?"

"What was it all about?" demanded Browne.

"It seems that Von Blitz is in the habit of licking his wives," said Britt. "Our friend the enemy met him this evening and told him that no white man could beat his wife, singular or plural, while he was around. Von Blitz is a big, ugly chap, and he naturally resented the interference with his divine might. He told the lawyer to go hang or something equivalent. The lawyer knocked him down. From the way Bowles tells it he must have knocked him down so incessantly in the next five minutes that Von Blitz's attempts to stand up were nothing short of a stutter. Moreover, he wouldn't let Von Blitz stab him worth a cent. Bowles says he's got Von Blitz cowed, and the whole town is walking in circles, it's so dizzy. Well, to make it short, the lawyer has got Von Blitz to hating him secretly, and the German has a lot of influence over the people. It may be uncomfortable for our good looking friend."

"If he should be in great danger down there," said her ladyship firmly—perhaps consciously—"we must offer him a safe retreat in the chateau." The others looked at her in surprise. "We can't stand off and see him murdered, you know," she qualified hastily.

The next morning a messenger came up from the town with a letter directed to Messrs. Britt and Saunders. It was from the enemy and requested them to meet him in private conference at 4 that afternoon. "I think it will be for the benefit of all concerned if we can get together," wrote the enemy in conclusion.

The messenger carried back with him a dignified response in which the counselors for Mr. Browne and Lady Deppingham respectfully declined to engage in any conference at this time.

At 2 o'clock that afternoon the entire force of native servants picked up their belongings and marched out of the chateau. The major domo, suave and deferential, gravely informed Mr. Britt that they were leaving at the instigation of their legal adviser, who had but that hour issued his instructions.

"Not for all the islands in the world," cried Lady Deppingham. "The ideal Queer spells! Please be good enough to leave me out of the insanity dodge, as you Americans call it."

"Is it necessary to make my husband insane in order to establish the fact that his grandfather was not of sound mind?" queried pretty Mrs. Browne, with her calmest Boston intonation.

"It depends on your husband," said Britt coolly. "If he sticks at anything which may help us to break that all I've he's certainly insane. That's all I've got to say about it."

"Well, I'm hanged if I'll pose as an insane man," roared Browne.

"Mr. Saunders hasn't asked me to be insane, have you, Mr. Deppingham?"

"I hope you are not forgetting what I said about the American gunboats," said Britt ponderously.

"Ah," said Ballo, with a cunning smile, "our man is also a great American. He can command the gunboats, too, sahib. We have told him that you have the great power. He shows us that he can call upon the English ships as well, for he comes last from London. He can have both, while you have only one. Besides, he says you cannot send a message in the air without the wire unless he give permission. He have a little machine that catch all the lightning in the air and hold it till he read's the message. Our man is a great man—next to Mohammed."

"Our man is a great man—next to Mohammed."

Britt passed his hand over his brow staggered by these statements.

"Say, he's smoother than I thought. Most men would have been — fools enough to say that it was all poppycock about me sending wireless messages and calling out navies, but not he! And that machine for tapping the air! Say, we'd better go slow with that fellow. Shall I call him up on the phone and head off the strike?"

"Anything, Mr. Britt, to get back our servants," said Lady Deppingham, who had come up with Mrs. Browne.

When Britt reappeared after a brief stay in the telephone booth he was perspiring freely, and his face was redder, if possible, than ever before.

"He was very peremptory at first and very agreeable in the end. I said we'd come down at 4:30. He asked me to bring some cigarettes. Say, he's a strenuous chap. He wouldn't haggle for a second."

Britt and Saunders found the enemy waiting for them under the awning in front of the bank. He looked a man from the top of his head to the tips of his canvas shoes. Every line of his long body indicated power, vitality, health. Both men were surprised by the eager, sincere manner in which he greeted them.

"Glad to see you, gentlemen," he said. "I was a head taller than either, coatless and hatless, a lean but brawny figure in white crash trousers.

"It's very good of you to come down. If you'll come to my shack I'll mix you a real American cocktail, a mint julep, a brandy smash or anything you like in season. There's a fine mint bed up my way, just back of the bungalow. It's more precious than a ruby mine, let me tell you. And yet I'll gladly exchange 300 carats of mint, Mr. Britt, for a dozen boxes of your cigarettes. Do you know, gentlemen, I made the greatest mistake of my life in failing to bring a ton of these little white sticks out with me. I thought of Gordon gin, both kinds of vermouth, brandy, and all that sort of thing, and completely forgot the stuff of life. I happen to know that you have a million packages of them, more or less, up at the chateau. My spies told me. I dare say you know that I have spies up there all the time. Don't pay any attention to them. You're at liberty to set spies on my trail at any time. Here we are. This is the headquarters for the Mine Owners' Association of Japan."

He led them down a flight of steps and into a long, cool, looking room some distance below the level of the street.

"The Mine Owners' association, gentlemen, comprises the entire population of Japan. Here is where I receive my clients. Here is where they receive their daily loaf, if you will pardon the simile. I sit in the chairs; they squat on the rugs. We talk about rubies and sapphires as if they were peanuts. Occasionally we talk about our neighbors. Shall I make three mint juleps? Here, Selim! The ice, the mint and the straws—and the bottles. Sit down, gentlemen. This is the American bar that Baedeker tells you about—the one you've searched all over Europe for, I dare say. This reminds me of home, just a little bit," said Britt as the tall glasses were set before them. The Englishman was still clothed in reticence. "They shan't catch me napping," was the sober reflection of Thomas Saunders.

The enemy was sitting serenely on one of the iron benches.

hanging garden and deliberately interrupted the game of bridge which was going on.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said Mr. Britt, calmly dropping into a chair near by, "this place is full of spies."

"Spies!" cried four voices in unison. Mr. Saunders nodded a plaintive apology.

"Yes, sir, every native servant here is a spy. That's what the enemy was here for today. I've analyzed the situation and I'm right. Ain't I, Mr. Saunders? Of course I am. He came here to tell 'em what to do and how to report our affairs to him. See? More-over, he's getting the evidence of evidence to prove that Skaggs and Wyckholme were men of sound mind up to the hour of their death. He has the depositions of agents and dealers in Bombay, Aden, Suez and three or four European cities, all along that line. He goes over the day's business at the bank as often as we do as agents for the executors. He knows just how many rubies and sapphires were washed out yesterday and how much they weigh. It's our business, as your agents, to scrape up everything as far back as we can go to prove that the old chaps were mentally off their base when they drew up that agreement and will. Of course if we can prove that insanity has always run through the two families!"

"Good Lord!" gasped Browne nervously.

"It would be a great help. If we can show that you and Mrs.—or—Lady Deppingham have queer spells occasionally, it"—

"Not for all the islands in the world," cried Lady Deppingham. "The ideal Queer spells! Please be good enough to leave me out of the insanity dodge, as you Americans call it."
