THE PETI

Our last ramble through Paris together was oddly serious, almost tragic. It was a stormy spring day, the young leaves yellow against an inky sky; the high roofs shining like very od silver in the hot fittul sun. As always happened in our expeditions, we had no notion where we were going; the Louvre, as usual, had already closed, and without more ado we got into the nearest tram, quite vague about its destination. It set us down at last, after interminable stoppages in the Faubourg St. Autoine, at the Place du Trone. I had never been there, and the name was to me syronymous with the Reign of Terror. This reminded my companion that in that neighborhood was the burial place of the poor guillotined folk; a friend of hers, many of whose family rested there, had told her of it, and she was taken with a pious whim to go there. We were setting out on this rather vague quest when the skies shrouded everything in crape, and we took refuge from the coming storm in a little cafe of that humble and rather questionable quarter. Being Ascension Day, whole familes were abroad; and two of these crowded in the same place, with stray workmen filling up the other tables. We had some briny beer, and a girl came round with queencakes, like small hath sponges, in a white basket. Down nattered the rain, with claps and rumbling of thunder; people talked little or in undertoues; and even the children running in and out among the tables seemed unnaturally quiet. We fell to talking, of course, of the Revolution; of Grandfather F— having been in it as a child, and never speaking of the country save' as "Bloody France." Those little Gascon nobles, even in their remove South, had had a tricolored Commissary and a perambulating guillotine among them. What should we have felt if we had been there—how behaved? I knew for certainty the fine, smilling serious politeness with which my companion would have taken it ali; as to myself. — one hoppes that such circumstances bring forth their crop of appropriate good, manners! And, looking around us at

First we were taken across a tidy, arid yard into the chapel; as Phillstine, bare, stale and unprofitable as bourgeois French Catholicism could make it. It was empty. Only before the altar knelt two white figures draped in long crimson scarfs. A moment later in came two others to relieve these, for this is a convent of the Perpetual Adoration. The nuns were oddly dressed in white flounced gowns and little goffered caps. flounced gowns and little goffered caps, the great crimson scarfs trailing like the great crimson scarfs trailing like inappropriate warlike banners about their grandmotherly costume. The two newcomers curtsied and bowed to each other; the first couple went, the second stayed; as they saluted one another one realiked that they seemed come out of a family portrait by Ingres, and the flaming scarf, symbolical of the blood shed for men and by men, became the shawl with which Corinne of Tolstoy's Natacha danced.

In this fashion, relaying each other Natacha danced.

In this fashion, relaying each other day and night, do the nuns of the Perit Picpus expiate by constant prayer the blood-guilt of the Revolution.

Of the victims, thirteen hundred guillotined at the Barriere du Throne from Prairial to Thermidor—not three months!—lie at the end of the Nuns' Garden, under the rank grass guarded by stunted arbor Vitae. Lie, all the thirteen hundred, pell-mell, it would seem. But the little common burial ground is preceded by a gloomy yard of great stone and iron mausoleums, escutcheoned and coroneted. The descendants and relations of some of those victims come to rest in dreary nown pear, where there to rest in dreary pomp near where they lie mixed irrevocably with La Roture in the common ditch. Not a plant, not a blade of grass in thir black aristocratic place. So that the little dank field behind the grating and the shabby cypresses looks living and cheerful by comparison. comparison.

And in the wall of this lamentable place, sooty and rust-stained by the neighboring factory chimneys, is fastened a tablet of white marble, with the name of Audre de Chenier, and a poor little crown of green tinware. Even in that grimy place the slab has kept the sparkle, the unmistakable salty purity of marble from Greece; something which symbolizes, far better than any leaf or flower, the genius of that poor No.

WEEKLY WEATHER SYNOPSIS.

Victoria Meteorological Office, Sept. 21 to 27, 1904.

Sept. 21 to 27, 1904.

The weather during this week has not been as fine as the past several weeks. Rain occurred both here and on the lower Mainland open the 21st, during the passage of an ocean low barometer area down the coast, and again on the 27th rain became general throughout the province, and amounted to nearly an inch on the lower Mainland. This precipitation was due to an important storm area which was centred off Vancouver Island. It also caused a southerly gale both on the western seaboard of Vancouver Island and southward to the mouth of the Columbia river. The low barometer area which caused rain here on the 21st developed as it moved southward until, when over California, it caused abnormally heavy rains and thunderstorms, and at San Francisco over four inches fell in 48 hours. In the vicinity of Port Simpson the weather has been exceptionally fine during the first five days. In the Territories and Manitoba the weather has been generally fair with occasional showers and comparatively cool, except upon the 27th, when the temperature reached 70 in several districts. At Dawson rain fell upon one day and frosts occurred upon the first three days.

LOCAL

(From Friday's Daily.) Splendid Fruit.—There is on exhibi-on in the window of the Paterson Shoe company's store, on Government street, some beautiful apples, grown at Spence's Bridge. They are a German fruit known as the Berghlehimier. The apples are large, of beautiful color and excellent flavor.

yesterday afternoon in response to the request of Mayor Barnard. Again this ernoon most of the stores will be sed, so as to give all an opportunity attending the exhibition.

Provincial Police.—Supt. Hussey, of the provincial police, who has been on the sick list for several months past, yesterday resumed his official duties. Mr. Hussey's many friends will be glad to learn that his vigorous health has been almost completely restored. Mr. Bullock-Webster, who has been acting superintendent of provincial police, has returned to Nelson as chief constable of the Kootenay district.

A Big Project.—Canadian Pacific railway omicials are now discussing a big scheme for improving the grade over the Selkirks at Rogers' pass, and the plan is suggested of constructing a tunnel through the mountain between the Clacier and Bear creek. If this is carried out, it will be one of the largest engineering constructions on the line, vi and will be of great advantage to the company. The tunnel would be three miles in length, and would cost a large sum, as the boring would be nearly all through solid rock.

Honeymoon Here.—At Vancouver on Wednesday a quiet wedding was solemnized at the First Congregational church manse, the principals being Mr. Jehn Halfort and Miss Lena Winifred Johnston. The bride was assisted by Miss Ella Barkon, while Mr. T. Halfort supported the groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Simpson in the presence of a few immediate friends of the contracting parties. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Halfort left on the Princess Victoria for Victoria, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Pilotage Vacancy.—According to the Vancouver papers, it is reported in shipping circles that Captain Andrew Bjerre, master of the steamer Active, owned by the B. C. Mills Timber and Trading Company, intends to apply for the vacancy on the Vancouver pilotage service caused by the death of Captain E. C. Bridgman, and the probabilities are that he will get the position. Captain Bjerre has had considerable experience in deep water navigation, and before his appointment to the Active was in command of the sealing schooner Beatrice, and also of the steamer Queen City. It is understood that the commissioners are likely to make the appointment at an early date.

Imported Fruit.—The rigid inspection of fruit from the states of Oregon, Washington and California has resulted in much cleaner shipments being made. The condemnations this year, because of the presence principally of codlin moth and San Jose scale, have been very large, and since the middle of Angust a marked improvement in the quality of fruit has been noticed. The credit of this is due to the yigilinee of the inspector's office. Observation on the part of the examiner has led him to believe that some of the fruit had been previously inspected at Seattle or other places, and evidently not having passed the mark, were sent on to Vaned the mark, were sent on to Vancouver in the hope that any imperfec-tion or presence of pest might be over-looked.

Famous Traveler Here.—J. T. Wilkinson, the man with the glebe-trotting habit, dropped into Victoria from St. Louis, where he has been taking in the property of the control habit, dropped into Victoria from St. Louis, where he has been taking in the World's Fair, leaving just to take look at the Victoria exhibition. Since last visiting Victoria "Wings," as he is popularly known, has traveled 20,000 miles further than the distance necessary to encircle this mundane sphere so It is latest jaunt has been through the Yellowstone Park, the grandeur of which from a scenic standpoint he never tires of telling nor his auditors of hearing about. He is looking in splendid health. About the only habitable country on the face of the globe which Mr. Willkinson has not visited is Australia, and his next trip will probably be to that country.

Flour Cheaper.—Secretary Elworthy, of the Board of Trade, has received the following important self-explanatory communication from Jas. A. Loutt, of the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. "Regarding the correspondence you had with my company some short time ago about the price of flour. As I promised individual members of your exchange I would use every effort to faire their request complied with, and I have had several communications with my principals on the subject, also interviewed the traffic manager of the C. P. R. on his recent visit to the coast, and am pleased to advise you that the result is that, taking effect on October 1, our prices for flour, f. o. b. cars to Victoria, will be the same as Vancouver, or a reduction of 5 cents per barrel on our present prices f. o. b. Victoria."

World's Fair Rates.—There was an error in advising the dates of sale of special round trip tickets to St. Louis via the C. P. R. in yesterday's issue of this paper. Mr. Abbott advises that they should read October 3rd, 4th and 5th, and 27th, 28th and 29th.

Pioneer Weds.-Rev. G. K. P. Adams on Wednesday evening united in mar-riage the well-known pioneer of Atlin, Mr. William Richards, to Mrs. Annie E.

Politicians Active.—Much activity is observed in local political circles, consequent upon the announcement of the date of the general elections for the Commons. Campaign organization meetings and nominating conventions will no doubt be arranged by both parties at an early date. The Liberal nominating elevention for New Westminster will be held on October 6th.

Pheasant Season.—Tomorrow will see Theasant Season.—Tomorrow will see the opening of the season for the shoot-ing of pheasant and quail, and no doubt a number of local sportsmen will try their luck. From reports received from points on the E. & N. railway the birds points on the E. & N. railway the birds are particularly plentiful in the Somenos district. An excellent opportunity is afforded those who wish to be on the ground bright and early Saturday morning, as a special train leaves the E. & N. depot at 9:00 p. m. Famous Traveler Here.—J. T. Wilkinson, the man with the globe-trotting habit, dropped into Victoria from St. Louis, where he has been taking in the World's Fair, leaving just to take look at the Victoria exhibition. Since last visiting Victoria "Wings," as he is popularly known, has traveled 20,000 miles further than the distance necessary to encircle this mundane sphere. His latest jaunt has been through the Yellowstone Park, the grandeur of which from a scenic standpoint he never tires of telling nor his auditors of hearing about. He is looking in splendid health. About the only habitable country on the face of the globe which Mr. Wilkinson has not visited is Australia, and his next trip will probably be to that country.

PORT ARTHUR BLOCKADE. Chinese Captured While Attempting Carry Mails From Fortress.

Carry Mails From Fortress.

Chefoo, Sept. 30.—A Japanese torpedo destroyer at midnight last night landed near Chefoo 18 Chinese whom the Japanese had taken from a junk which was attempting to run the blockade and carry mail from Port Arthur.

The captured junk was burned. The Japanese say that two Russians disguised as Chinese were kept prisoners on the destroyer and that two Chinese perished in the flames of the burning junk. The Chinese, who left Port Arthur September 27th, confirm the Associated Press advices of September 28th saying that the last assault was the old story over again, the Japanese intrepidly entering the Russian position, but being unable to remain in face of the fire from the large forts.

A Market Found For the Rare Mineral Found In

Cariboo. From Our Own Correspondent.

Valueouver, Oct. 5. Police Sergeant Harris saw a Chinaman on Cordova street today with highly infamed eyes and a painful limp. Thinking of the recent case of leprosy he took the Chinaman to Dr. Underhill, city medical health officer. The Chinaman was asked to remove his clothing, and did so, but he refused to take off one shoe, saying that it had not been off for three months as the foot was sore. On the months as the foot was sore. On the shoe being taken off it was found that some of the toes were gone and the case was at once pronounced leprosy. The Chinaman said his name was Ah Jack. He said he had had the fatal disease for three years. He was isolated in a shack until tomorrow, when he will be added to the Darcy island colony. This makes the second leper colony. This makes the second leper discovered here during the past two weeks.

'In conversation with E. P. Gilman, M. E., it was learned that a market has been found for the Scheellte ore discovered in fair quantities in Cariboo and identified last year by Messrs. Pellew-Harvey, Bryant and Gilman, provincial assayers of Vanyear by Messrs. Pellew-Harvey, Bryant and Gilman, provincial assayers of Vancouver. The yellowish white chalky looking chunks now at the offices of the above firm, were brought in from Cariboo, where the locater said it was deposited in the form of large stringers. It was not known what it was at that time, but after identification and assay it proved to be rich in the valuable commodity known as tungstic acid. it proved to be rich in the valuable commodity known as tungstic acid.

The Scheelite contains from 75 to 80 per cent tungstic acid, from 18 to 19 per cent lime and some silica and oxide of iron. The composition being tungstate of lime. Tungstic acid itself is utilized for several purposes. It is used under numerous conditions for making uninflammamble muslin, etc., for hardening steel and plaster of paris, and for uninflamamble muslin, etc., for hardening steel and plaster of paris, and for many other useful and economic purposes. Some firms have been found who will make contracts for the mineral in considerable quantities, the price paid being about 30 cents per pound for the tungstic acid contained in the ore, or 86 a unit for the tungstic acid. If this is figured out it would appear at first sight as if the owners of the Scheelite mines in Cariboo had a pretty good thing. Two factors, however, must be taken into consideration in figuring out the profits of mining the Scheelite, the quantity of Scheelite that can actually be obtained in proportion to the hatel all mining and the enormous freight rates. For instance, it might obtain that for every ton mined but one-quarter or one-third would be Scheelite and that this fact on top of the burdensome freight rates would grous the industry. the burdensome freight rates crush the industry. It is und

One million and a half feet of lumber has been purchased by the Britannia Copper Company of Howe Sound, a million feet being bought from Robertson & Hackett alone. The lumber is being used in the woodwork of the plant proper and in building sheds and cottages for the principals to be resident on the ground.

The aerial tram will be ready in a week for the big cable. The tram is three and a half miles long running east and west two add a quarter miles and the balance of the distance up quite a steep decline north and south. The tram has an elevation of thirty-five hundred feet.

It will largely depend on the weather as to when the work will be completed. But it is altogether likely that the first shipments of ore will take place early

The development work will proceed very rapidly, as nature has done much to expose the ore, and in some places it can be quarried out like sandstone.

Two hundred men are now engaged at the mines, but the number will be largely increased and in time the operations of the mine will be a great benefit to Vancouver owing to their close proximity to the city.

The invention which has caused the greatest interest of late in Vancouver is what is known as the Kincaid roller bearing, patented by John Kincaid of Vancouver. Everyone knows what the ball bearings of a safety bicycle are and how they revolutionized cycling. Mr. Kincaid's invention is alleged to be, not only a vast improvement on the ball bearings, but on any attempts that have been made along the lines of replacing balls by rollers. The bearings are double cone shaped rollers, and can be applied to any journal, thus making their double cone shaped rollers, and can be applied to any journal, thus making their use almost universal. It is well known that the grit accumulating in ball bearings crack the balls and allow them to crowd together and the balls are subject to much friction. The roller bearings run in grooves of chilled steel, the whole piece being moulded not manufactured, and has a lateral as well as horizontal movement and the rollers run through a bath of oil at each revolution. Each roller can carry between ten and twenty pain or on at each revolution, mach roller can carry between ten and twenty pounds and still there is no friction, and it is claimed no wear, no end thrust, no collar or shaft required, and that the saving is 40 per cent in fuel and 90 per cent in cil
