THE MAYOR OF BELLTOWN

(By William H. Osborne.)
William McClenahan had the white man's burden on his shoulders. He had been elected mayor of Belletown, and by and by, naturally, Belletown was made into the Slough of Despond.

William McClenahan was something more than the mere mayor of Belletown. He was the sole proprietor of the white store in New York. He had good staff to sell, and he knew how to talk about it; and people listened, and came and bought. His white store, a store built upon a mammoth scale, was the result. None but McClenahan knew that the receipts of the store barely balanced expenses; that the store was lying quivering on the brink of a precipice.

McClenahan was a bachelor, a tall, broad-shouldered young man of 38 or thereabouts. He enjoyed the luxuries of life; he wanted comfort. He had looked about him for a home, and his eye had rested upon Belletown. He thought he saw in Belletown a place of possibilities. But he had not lived there a week before there settled down upon him the pall of discouragement that all the other Belletowners felt. The place was dead.

The mayor of Belletown had reduced to carry out the conditions of the contract—at least so he had said. The public waited until Monday morning. New York waited Belletown waited. When the 7.40 train pulled into the little town that morning, its passengers from up the road pushed up the platform and leaned far out to see the fun. The station crowd at Belletown had leveled in numbers. Excitement was rampant.

"But, where's the mayor?" queried the crowd. No one knew. But suddenly, as the train once more started up, a nest little trap darted around the corner, a man jumped out, sprinted across the platform and caught the last car of the train. It was McClenahan, clad only in customary garments, and without the sign of a pocket or a sandwich board about him. The people held their breath.

GOES FIVE YEARS WITHOUT A BATH

An Old Man Who Subsists on $10 Worth of Food per Year.
(Detroit News)
Up in the Berkshires, in the town of Dalton, lives John A. Eddy. Though he is a civil war veteran, 67 years old, and lives on $10 worth of food a year, he is said by the St. Louis Republic to be a physical marvel.

He has not taken a bath for five years. Instead he manages himself down to foot every morning with a horse brush. In winter and summer he spends an hour or more every day outdoors, with his bare feet. He is a pronounced one eater. At 10 o'clock every morning he eats his single meal of uncooked corn rolled oats and dates, topped off with water or sour milk. His food costs barely $10 a year. He now wears a suit of heavy blue wool, any man or woman living this; he can exist on raw foods of his own choosing for 100 days under a doctor's supervision. He has not used a razor for 10 years. He expressly stipulates that nothing of the nature of a journey that he receives, but that he shall be allowed to smoke and exercise as he chooses. The tale of a journey that he receives with much pleasure is that of his attendance at the reunion of his regiment a year ago at Bellevue Park, Va. He took this journey on a rail at 10 o'clock in the morning and at noon left home with just 14 ounces of raw peanuts and raisins, which he had calculated would last him for the two days that he supposed he would be away. It was Wednesday, but he did not return until Friday night.

At no other time has he drunk even coffee, relying on water, sugar milk or buttermilk to quench his thirst. One of his most pronounced views is that a man who eats nothing but raw foods will gain a perfect digestion and that he will never become fat. Another is that the eating of onions is the very best method of quieting the nerves and that they also induce sleep, while raw peanuts are the most nourishing food. Asparagus is one of the vegetables that he dearest liked at one time, but because of his abstemiousness he refused to include in the succulent diet that need just this favoring. His objection to salt is of long standing and is owed to a belief that its excessive use stimulates the action of the heart to an unwanted degree. Day after day the happy couple sit at the same table to eat at least one meal, and while Mrs. Eddy indulges to her satisfaction in savory meats and vegetables of all kinds, her husband's repast consists of nothing but one dainty. "When I sit at that table and see good food, I sometimes wonder how I am always tempted to make a shift," he said to the caller. "It is really the only thing that I long for now, and that is the masses of food I used to eat, but I won't eat it simply because of the salt in it. Today I eat four ounces of walnuts and peanuts and will drink about four or five quarts of water and a quart of sour milk with a little sugar stirred in before I go to bed. Tomorrow I will change a little, maybe, taking a handful of rolled oats with my corn and a few dates, but the sour milk at all times as I honestly think that it is the very best of life." At taking his one meal of the day he goes to a small shed in the rear of the house, where he has rigged a short horizontal bar, and there stretches himself in chinning the bar a dozen times at intervals of a few minutes.

RUSSIAN PLANS TO QUÉLL REVOLUTION
St. Petersburg, July 12, 1906. m.—The preparations which the war office has been making at all the principal cities to meet an armed revolutionary movement prove to have been very elaborate. The plans for the defence of Riga have fallen into the hands of the revolutionary paper Mash, which this morning publishes the entire plan of defence. As given, the garrison is divided into three divisions of two battalions of infantry, half a company of Cossacks, and three machine guns, each to prevent the invasion of the city from its three open sides, namely, the canal, the dam and the river Duna; two battalions of infantry, two hundred Cossacks and four machine guns constitute the reserve. The commander, in framing the plan of defence, even designated his successor in the event of himself being killed or incapacitated. Similar plans, it is understood, have been drawn up by every corner of a garrison or city. In addition special troop trains equipped with machine and field guns are in constant readiness at St. Petersburg, Moscow, Kiev, Warsaw and other strategic points.

Financial and Commercial

HERE ARE STATEMENTS THAT WILL SUIT THE BEARS

The New York World Takes a Pessimistic View of the General Stock Market Situation and Advises Caution.

(New York World.)

The coming fall and winter will undoubtedly bring an unusual demand for money from all quarters of the country. To meet this demand it will require the most careful preparation on the part of the banking community, as well as all the aid that the secretary of the treasury can give. Even then, bankers say, there will not be any money to spare for Wall street speculators and should this class of individuals find themselves in a position where their funds cannot be financed there is very little hope of their getting any aid whatever from the banking interests, whose warnings as to the growing stringency which will undoubtedly result from the demands for currency for crop-maturing purposes, have been unheeded and ignored.

UNWISE MANIPULATION.

Money today has more value than most of the investment securities which are dealt in on the New York Stock Exchange. There is no difficulty in raising funds at 5 1/2 to 6 per cent. for long periods. This is a greater return than is yielded by most of the high-class dividend-paying stocks. Wall street offers no inducement at the present time for either the investor or the speculator. Those who follow the reckless manipulation of Reading, Tennessee Coal and Iron and similar concerned and over-valued securities should expect the history of similar speculations, the derelicts of which are still drifting in the vortex of Wall street's relentless manuevering. The speculative structure which places a 4 per cent. stock industrial like Tennessee Coal and Iron at a quotation of 40 per cent. above United States Steel preferred, and a 7 per cent. stock with a creditable dividend history, or which advances Reading common that has only recently recovered from a dividend-paying class at 4 per cent., at one time 30 points higher than Pennsylvania, that has paid cash dividends for fifty-two consecutive years, must be apparent to the simplest mind.

THE WISE TAKE PROFITS.

The record of many years will show that after a long period of prosperity and advancing prices for securities those who have had the foresight and strength of character to turn their securities into cash and calmly and patiently wait for the period of depression before they again see the people making good money out of Wall street. Unfortunately the outsider is too often induced to buy at the top wave of prosperity, especially after the market has had a recession, such as has recently taken place on the Stock Exchange.

A SAFE PLACE FOR MONEY.

Of course, the commission broker is constantly trying to catch the fluctuations of the market for his customers. In ordinary times and under ordinary conditions this kind of trading is comparatively safe, but bankers say today that we are face to face with extraordinary times and extraordinary conditions, and the danger signals should call for extreme conservatism. As the market is now situated, any dealer, such as Mr. Vandell of the Post office, who is willing to sell, would rather than a number of big speculators in a position where they would make serious losses, and it is better that the losses fall upon them than what is known as the outside public. In times of uncertainty the best place for the outsider to have his money is with the trust company or in the savings banks.

(New York Herald, Tuesday.)

Stocks were irregular yesterday within a narrow range of fluctuation. Class preferreds were generally advanced, but little if any significance attached to the price changes. Dealings were wholly professional and the volume of business was much curtailed. In fact, dullness was the distinguishing feature of the market. There appeared to be an almost total paralysis in buying operations, either of speculative stocks or investment issues. Brokers, however, and notably those who were practically unanimous that there was no public buying. On the other hand, however, there was no extensive or forceful liquidation, some little selling there was apparently, for the market ruled heavy during the session, but it was in the way of little dribbles and once easily have been checked had the market shown any buying power. Pools and dilgents made a feeble effort to start things off active and better, but they were quickly discouraged in their efforts.

MAYOR'S REQUEST FILED BY BOARD

His Trip to Ottawa Will Probably be Indefinitely Postponed.

A meeting of the board of works was held yesterday afternoon and considerable business transacted. A communication from the mayor addressed to the chairman of the board called attention to the negotiations with the C. P. R. as to selling or leasing the harbour Protection street and expressed the opinion that the government should be consulted before definite action was taken. The mayor also requested that action being necessary, I have to ask your honorable board, as representing the larger part of the common council, and not having time to secure a meeting of the council, that you would endorse my going to Ottawa in company with Ald. Lockhart to carry out this mission. The mayor also invited the board through the chairman that the stenographer would leave at the end of the week and asked for authority to employ any temporary help necessary.

Some discussion followed on whether the mayor had the right to go without consulting the council or whether the resolution passed last year was intended to apply to the present occupant of the chair. Finally Ald. Christie moved that the communication be filed and that the common clerk notify the mayor to that effect.

The motion was carried and the common clerk left the room to communicate to the mayor the decision of the board. On his return he informed the chairman that his visit to Ottawa had been postponed, as the matter had been dropped. At a later stage of the meeting Ald. Baxter, who was absent when Ald. Christie's motion was carried, suggested that the board should send an expression of opinion in explanation of the action taken. After consultation with the mover it was decided to add the words "as in the opinion of the board the proposed of the C. P. R. does not affect the harbor frontages and therefore it is unnecessary to lay the same before the government by deputations."

The recorder read a detailed statement of the trip to Ottawa and the various acts governing the matter were read. He expressed the opinion that the company had no power to place their rails except upon such streets as might be agreed upon with the council.

On motion of Ald. Willet the report was read and it was decided to refer the matter to the extension through Pond street to report back before the regular meeting of the council.

The recorder reported that the committee appointed to deal with the dredging matter expected to make a satisfactory report in a few days. The same committee will continue to act in this matter.

The committee appointed to deal with the street railway regarding their track on Union street, west end, reported concerning the changes in the N. B. Southern station as stated in yesterday's Times. An additional grant of $400 was made for repairs in Stanley ward. A number of minor matters were dealt with.

FIRE IN THE COTTON MILL

Blaze in Cornwall Mill Yesterday Afternoon.

A fire broke out in the Cornwall Cotton mill about five o'clock yesterday afternoon and for a while the great building appeared an imminent danger. The fire, which originated by means of friction, started in the mule spinning room and when the fire was extinguished it was found that one mule was destroyed and a large amount of damage was occasioned by water. As soon as the fire was discovered, the mill's fire apparatus was set to work and the damage was limited to a very few dollars for the employees to operate the apparatus.

THE PLAYGROUND. There were between 400 and 500 children in the supervised playground at the Centennial school yesterday afternoon, and the children were as happy as usual and giving very little trouble to the teachers.

Among the visitors during the afternoon were Mrs. Skinner, of the school board; Mrs. Chabolin, and Mrs. H. H. Pickett. There will be a meeting of the playground committee on Friday afternoon. On that afternoon also Miss Lewitt has arranged for a gramophone concert for the children.

The wiring over the kindergarten corner in the yard has been completed, and is of great benefit. The croquet lawn has been rolled, and will be completed before the end of the week. The big swing is daily repaired to these grounds.

The question has been asked if any of the children of the poorer people attend. It may be replied that they do, and that all classes are represented in the happy hundreds of bright looking little ones who daily repair to these grounds.

As an illustration of how little noise is made to annoy anyone, the Baptist concert last evening at the school was held in the rear door of the church open, and it opens on one corner of the grounds used by the children.

A PATHETIC STORY OF A WOMAN'S FALL TO POVERTY
New York Woman Formerly Known for Her Philanthropy Discovered in Want in a Gotham Street --- She Was Wealthy Ten Years Ago.

(New York Globe.)
In a little, old, tumble-down, yellow frame house in the heart of the Tenderloin, a woman—once well to do and conspicuous in local charity work—and her two small under-fed children are being cared for by Hattie Brown, the well-known negro missionary, who has been doing good for a long time.
Mrs. Lillian Brown, the daughter of Dr. Samuel Appleton Mason, who at the time of his death, in 1896, was vice-president of the Harlem Republican Club, is being tenderly nursed, week to week, and strength, after lack of food and the necessity of walking the streets at night had sapped her strength and taken her splendid courage until she was about ready to give up. The care-worn, sad-faced woman was found by Hattie waiting anxiously in the street, with her two children, Cornelius, seventeen months, and Edmund, five years old. The two women recognized each other last night—they had met before others were in want—and Mrs. Brown was given shelter by her friend.
Here was a well educated woman who in the bright days of her early life, when money was plentiful, had traveled extensively through Europe, studied several years in Italy, and assisted her mother, Mrs. Emma Josephine Mason, associate of Miss Clara Barton, in the well-known relief movement, reduced to pitiful poverty and found by the Tenderloin missionary, who she had aided in the past. The meeting between the two women was most affecting.
Love for a man whom she wished to reform forced Mrs. Brown to the streets, where, friendless and alone, she wandered for several days and nights. She met Brown, a kindler, at the St. Francis McCormick Home one day and married him when he promised to stop drinking.
All went well for a long time, and then Brown broke his pledge. Finally, after a month ago, one day, he was suddenly and ruthlessly driven out of the house for the small rooms at 397 West Twentieth street was due. Before he recovered and the police got through with him, his home was lost to his wife and children. One week ago Friday they were turned into the street.
Mrs. Brown sought aid at several charity societies, but would not accept the terms they made compulsory—separation from her children. Then she sought a few acquaintances, and was permitted several nights to sleep in hallways. At this juncture her baby became ill and she went to several North River docks and spent sleepless nights watching over him. One night when it rained a kindly watchman permitted her to sleep in a ferryhouse.
"I know John will come and get me, just as soon as he can," said Mrs. Brown today. "He has not deserted me. Before he recovered from his injuries all his love was stolen, work became slack, and he is doing his level best, I am sure, to get something to do."
"Hattie has been very kind to me, and says she will keep my mind that I rescue I had made up my mind that I would walk the streets until I fell before anybody separated me from my children."
"When I went to one society the superintendent said he would place the children in the care of the Gerry Society. Although suffering greatly I couldn't stand that. Then he told me that if I left Edmund with him he could get him a home with some rich family."
"Think of it! Wanted to take him away from me for all time, when all I needed was just a little help while John was getting on his feet."
"Yes, there was a time when I paid $1,000 every year for taxes. One would think there was some way the city could care for me now. But Hattie seems to be the only one who knows what a mother's love for her babies is."
"Fifteen years ago my family owned the St. Marie flats, on East Tenth street, between Avenue A and B, the house now occupied by Louis Cram; another residence at 55 East Fifty-ninth street, and a duplex, and she suddenly discovered that during our absence agents had robbed us right and left. I let the last house go in 1894.
"Although reduced to these bare streets, I still have courage. Hattie has promised to take care of me until John finds work. I am sure he will be here soon."

CANON RICHARDSON ONE OF THOSE UP FOR CO-ADJUTOR

G. O. D. City moved, seconded by Mr. Knowlton, "that at the request of the local bishop it is expedient to proceed with the election of a coadjutor bishop."
Mr. Jarvis moved, seconded by J. Roy Campbell, that the matter be referred back to the standing committee for further information.
Mr. Jarvis said he was opposed to the method of raising the coadjutor's salary. It was evidently the intention of the bishop that the coadjutor should do part of the diocesan work, but he held that this plan could not be carried out. He thought the committee should make some further effort to provide the salary.
Judge Hamilton thought that the standing committee should interview the bishop and ascertain if he was willing to give a part of the salary to the coadjutor. He thought the committee should make some further effort to provide the salary.
Mr. Knowlton said that the standing committee did not propose to put a pistol to the head of the bishop. The committee had given the question careful consideration and had proposed the only arrangement that was possible.
Rev. Mr. Kurling favored accepting the information furnished by the standing committee without further inquiry. He thought the synod had the key of the whole situation in their own hands.
Judge Hamilton said he was glad to know the bishop could sit up two hours.
Rev. Mr. Cowie—"I said two hours."
Judge Hamilton said he was glad to know the bishop could sit up two hours.
He was an independent man seeking information in the public interest, and respected the expressions made by Mr. Knowlton.
On the vote being taken, Mr. Jarvis' amendment was lost by a vote of 65 to 27, and Mr. Otty's resolution was carried by the same vote reversed.
Mr. Otty explained that in regard to the appointment of a coadjutor, the committee were not wedded to any particular mode of procedure. They wanted the question settled in a manner that would remove the possibility of any doubt arising as to the validity of the election. He then moved another resolution, the gist of which was that the synod proceed to select one or more persons in holy orders in the Church of England in Canada or in communion therewith, and transmit them to the bishop to make the formal nomination, and return them to the synod.
Mr. Wallace moved, seconded by Rev. Mr. Kurling, that the synod proceed to the election of a bishop without nominations.
"Chancellor Allen explained that it was not the duty of the standing committee to take any rights from the synod. The plan proposed had been discussed upon with a view of getting over the difficulties and furnishing protection for the future to the gentlemen who were to be chosen.
Mr. Allen's explanation seemed to clear up the misunderstanding that existed, and Mr. Wallace withdrew his amendment.
Mr. Otty's resolution was then put and carried unanimously.
At the suggestion of the chairman the business was suspended, and the synod knelt in prayer.
Business being resumed, the following resolutions for coadjutor were made:
Ven. Archbishop Neale, of Woodstock, by H. C. Talley.
Ven. Archdeacon L. Tucker, of Toronto, by Rev. W. H. Simpson.
Rev. J. R. DeWolfe Cowie, by H. B. Schellinger.
Rev. Canon Harvey, of Woodstock (Ont.), by Rev. Mr. Hall, of Dorchester.
Rev. Canon Newham, of St. Stephen, by Rev. Mr. Spencer.
Archdeacon Williams, of Quebec, by Rev. A. G. H. Dickson.
Archdeacon Pennington, of Brooklyn, by Rev. Mr. Duffy.
Rev. J. M. Davenport, of Toronto, by Rev. Mr. Simpson.
Rev. Canon Pennington, of British Columbia, by R. W. Hewson.
Rev. Canon Montgomery, of Kingston, by Dr. Simpson.
Rev. W. J. Armitage, of Halifax, by Sheriff Sterling.
Ven. Archdeacon Forsythe, of Chatham, was nominated by J. Roy Campbell, but declined to allow his name to go before the synod.
Messrs. Fairweather and Knowlton were appointed a committee to present the names of the candidates to the bishop. It is expected that the election will take place tomorrow morning.
The synod adopted appropriate resolutions on the death of Rev. Canon DeYer, Dean Partridge and Canon Roberts, and George T. Whalley.
An anniversary service was held at the cathedral the evening and attracted a large congregation. The service, which was full choral, was conducted by Rev. E. H. Hecser, of Moncton. The lessons were read by Canon Newham and Archdeacon Forsythe, and Canon Richardson preached a powerful and appropriate sermon.
Prof. C. C. Jones, of Acadia, and Colonel D. McLeod Vines were invited to take seats in the assembly.
Rev. Mr. Campbell then sketched briefly the work being done by the Canadian Bible Society.
The moderator announced that the terms of three members of the executive—Rev. D. O. Gates, Rev. D. Long and Rev. D. H. Hecser—will expire this year. It was decided that the appointment of these be left with the nominating committee, composed of Rev. E. J. Grant, F. Sharp, Rev. R. B. Smith, Rev. A. B. Cobbe, Rev. D. Long, Rev. J. W. Foster, Rev. W. H. Perry, Rev. D. H. Wall, with F. W. Emmons as chairman.
The following resolution was then submitted by Rev. A. J. Prosser and adopted: "Resolved, That the United Baptist Association now in session, having heard the Rev. G. M. Campbell, district secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, desire to place on record its deep sympathy with the work of the society and commend its interest to the congregations under its care."
Rev. Dr. Manning then presented the

MORE TROUBLE IN ASSYRIAN COLONY

Mrs. John Sullivan Makes More Complaints Against Her Husband.

The bells of the Assyrian colony, Mrs. John Sullivan, are again in trouble and this morning in the police court made several charges against her husband.

About ten o'clock a handsome woman dressed in light colored goods and wearing a hat of the American style entered the hall of justice and was soon recognized as Mrs. John Sullivan.

The complainant stated to G. A. Henderson, the clerk of the court, that her husband had taken her five year old child from her, had broken her gold watch and had even taken her bed from under her and had left her lying on the floor. Mrs. Henderson informed the complainant that a husband could not in law steal from his wife. "Why?" asked Mrs. Sullivan, but Mr. Henderson evidently thinking that the explanation would be too deep for her, told her to see a lawyer as this case would have to come up in a higher court. Mrs. Sullivan has had many quarrels with her "hub" and they were always followed in the police court with interest.

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH

Orangemen Celebrate it by Excursions to Digby and Sussex.

Today, the "glorious twelfth," is being observed very quietly in St. John. This morning excursions were run by the local Orange lodges to Digby and Sussex, at which places a good time is expected.

About 300 of the members of Dominion O. O. F. No. 141 and their friends left on the steamer Prince Rupert for Digby, accompanied by the St. Mary's Boys' Brigade band.

At Digby the lodge will be joined by brethren of Centerville, and after a parade the local hall will be entered and address given by speakers belonging to the order, including Hon. C. N. Skinner.

The excursionists will leave Digby on their return at 6 o'clock. A number of lodges headed by the Carleton Cornet Band, left their hall, Germain street, shortly after 7 o'clock this morning and marched to the station, where a special train was in waiting to convey them to Sussex. The train left the depot at 7.30 o'clock with a large crowd.

At Sussex a grand parade was formed, headed by several bands and other attractions were arranged for.

A RECORD YEAR

C. P. R. Earnings Furnish Good Indications of Business Conditions in the West.

C. P. R. net earnings for the year to June 30th last are estimated at $23,500,000, an increase of over $8,000,000, and it is known the gross earnings for the period show an increase of $10,000,000. Other revenue, not including land sales, make total net earnings of $25,200,000. Fixed charges and preferred dividends would leave $15,575,000 available for the dividends of common stock, which at 6 per cent. would take $9,084,000, leaving a balance of $6,491,000. An increase in the rate of dividend on the common stock has been talked of, but it is believed much of the money will be put into the road to cope with the rapidly growing trade of the country and the increase of competition.

It is such statements as that of the C. P. R. that set forth better than anything else can the real condition of affairs of trade and commerce in western and indeed all Canada. The report of the Hudson Bay Company has also a bearing in this regard. It is interesting to note this company has sold during the year farm lands to the extent of 226,397 acres, at an average price of $7.12 per acre, as compared with 114,289 acres, at an average of $6.17. The company's profits for the year were nearly double those of 1904, which is largely due to their operations in the fur trade.—Bradstreet.

ON RIGHT COURSE

Northern Life Benefited From Enquiry of Insurance Commission.

The regular quarterly meeting of the directors of the Northern Life Assurance Co. was held Monday at the head office of the company, London, Ont. The executive committee present were: Matthews Wilson, K. C., Chairman; John Davies, Windsor; N. H. Stephens, Chatham; Malcolm McLaughlin, ex-M. P., Byrnes.

The report of the progress made during the year 1906 is very satisfactory. This company is firmly established in public esteem by the recent examination before the royal commission established the fact that its affairs are well and economically managed, and that it in no instance had the interests of any individual been preferred to that of other the shareholders or policyholders.

The directors congratulate the manager that at the close of the examination by the commission nothing improper or illegal had been found to exist in the company's management, and the manager had been complimented by the commission upon the satisfactory reports returned by him and upon the careful and economical management of the company.

The company's steady growth and increasing assets give proof that the right course has been pursued since its incorporation.

F. S. Bonnell of St. John is inspector for Maritime Provinces.

POLICE COURT

This morning in the police court William Hayes, aged 62 years, was charged with being a common vagrant with no visible means of support.

The old fellow escaped from the Alms House and after the judge had told him this morning that he was liable to be sent to jail for six months, he pleaded to be allowed to return to the alms house. His honor ordered that he be sent back after the defendant had promised not to run away again.

Thomas and Edward John Byron have been reported for fighting and using profane and obscene language on City Road yesterday at noon.
