Babies' Fund Nears $50; Three Days More to Aid

While some more dollars for the fund which The Times opened in response to a request that the four children born to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mahaney, St. James street, might be honored with the presentation of a bank account started by the people of the city, the amount received up to noon today had not quite reached $50.

It is the hope of those who proposed the fund and of this newspaper that a very much larger sum will be taken when the fund is closed on next Saturday. There are still three days during which those who desire to have a part in this excellent movement may send it a dollar each to the editor of The Times, and it is hoped many will do so and help to make a substantial sum to present to the four new citizens. It should grow to several times its present proportions.

He Shaves to Live But Writes For Love

Vancouver Heights, Jan. 2.—There are more ways of making a living in Vancouver than are listed in the directory. And some of them are much more pleasant and profitable than others. There is a Vancouver barber who shaves only in order to achieve a stake with which to live on during spells at his preferred occupation of story writing. He can write stories, has won more than one world-wide open competition for story writing. But he can't make a good enough living at it. Newspaper workers will appreciate the point. As a change from barbering, which he does not like, even as a stake-maker, he periodically closes his barber shop and runs a pretentious and repair tailor emporium. In his spare moments he also teaches two foreign languages and gives lessons on a musical instrument. His daughter is doing well at the University of B. C. He has complete libraries of the works of many well-known writers.

He paid tribute to the police officers and prohibition inspectors and pointed out how St. John could have a Happy New Year. His remarks were as follows: "Without intending to make any address I think it would not be out of the way when standing on the threshold of a new year to express my complete satisfaction at the kindly relations existing among those who have to do with the administrative and executive police relations in this city, and to say that my wish for all is that the year upon which we now enter may be an exceedingly prosperous and happy one."

REMANDED ON SHOOTING CHARGE. Charles Simon in Court After Gun Play in Syrian Hall. As a result of a shooting in the Syrian Hall, Prince Edward street, last evening, Louis Corey, a contractor, of 18 Brunswick street, and Thomas Stephen, a contractor, of 258 Prince Edward street, are in the St. John Infirmary each suffering from a bullet wound in the leg. It is stated that Simon and two friends started to assault George Corey, when Louis Corey endeavored to separate the fighters. Simon is said to have then gone to the opposite side of the hall and drawn a revolver from his overcoat and fired a shot which passed through Louis Corey's right leg and then lodged in the knee of Mr. Stephen.

The defendant was later arrested and this morning in the police court was charged with wilfully shooting with a revolver and doing previous bodily harm to Louis Corey and Thomas Stephen. He was not asked to plead and was remanded until it has been determined just how serious are the injuries sustained by his victims.

Charles Simon was discharged from the gun, and with one shot wounded two contractors tried to leave the city by the Montreal C. P. R. Express last evening but was captured by John Shallo, who took him from the first car on the train, escorted him to Prince Edward street where he tried to break away and was then taken in custody by the police.

Big Six. Dr. McCourt and Dr. Fleming looked after the treatment of the injured men. The ambulance had been summoned to the hall. There was a quick response, but on arrival at the Hall there was no information received that any person was injured, and on information that a man had been shot and had been escorted to Brunswick street, which is only about fifty yards from the house, and the place in question being the home of Louis Corey, it was assumed that Louis Corey was the injured man, and on instruction from Dr. J. A. McCourt, Mr. Corey was conveyed to the St. John Infirmary. Power Hears of Shooting. Sergeant Detective Power was notified of the shooting shortly after it happened, and started out on an investigation. He interviewed Thomas Stephen, in the home of his mother, and Stephen stated that he had not been injured and that nothing had happened to him. It was rather a surprise later on in the night for the Sergeant Detective to learn during his investigations that Stephen had been shot in the knee and was being sent to the Infirmary.

Detective Power worked on the case and finally located the revolver that had been used by Charles Simon. The gun had been thrown from Prince Edward street to the roof of the Assinian Hall where the Sergeant Detective located it. The revolver is of 38-calibre.

GROFF CLAIMS HE WAS FOULED

Knocked Out in Third by Palmer—Williams Defeats O'Brien.

Andy "Young" Palmer, of Waltham, Mass., scored a technical knockout over "Billy" Groff, the Wimping boxer, in the third round of their scheduled eight-round main in the semi-final of the Army bouts last night, and Jack O'Brien, of Boston, was stowed away by Irish Kid Williams, of New York, in the fourth round of the main bout.

The main bout had proceeded barely three rounds when Williams, the New York boxer, forced O'Brien, a Jewish boxer from Boston, to take a long count. It was several seconds before O'Brien revived from the effects of Williams' first punch.

The first preliminary was between Battling Mason and Stocky. The weights were announced as: Stocky, 181, Mason, 129. Mason was given the decision by Referee "Tom" McCullough. It was a perfectly fair decision but the crowd's sympathies were with the younger of the boxers and the decision was heartily booed.

An Open Letter

To All Readers of This Paper:— It is not revealing any secret when we say that the most unseasonable weather this winter, combined with other general business conditions, has foiled the best business heads in their Clothing Trade.

We bought our usual big stocks of high-grade clothing expecting the general amount of business during November and December, but the abnormal season has left considerable merchandise on our hands. To clear this, we realize that we have to offer not only good clothing, but an actual money saving opportunity. We are therefore arranging a "Sale" in which every suit or overcoat in our store will be marked down, so much so, as to make a real reason for you to buy now.

The prices on everything have been cut so drastically as to bring them within the manufacturers' price. Tomorrow the Sale will be announced. It is the biggest sale of overcoats we have had in our 20 or odd more years in business. You will save.

CHAS. MAGNUSON & SON. FOOTNOTE—The firm of Chas. It is the intention of the Company to continue this policy and the above letter, although announcing the most drastic reductions ever made during their business career, carries out their policy of honesty and fair trading.

COMMUNITY SERVICES

The Rotary Club of St. John devoted the period of its luncheon on the last day of the year to a discussion of the club's relation to the individual member and the community, and to a consideration of ways and means of rendering more effective community service in the new year.
One member made a personal reference that is worthy of note. He frankly admitted that Rotary, its fellowship and code of ethics, had greatly changed his outlook as a business man and a citizen; and had made him more keenly conscious of his obligations to others and his duties as a citizen. Another, while heartily granting that such services as the club has rendered in giving money, aiding in raising funds for good causes, relieving distress, and encouraging forward movements has been of great value, declared that this was not enough. It is the duty of members to exert their influence in and through other organizations having special objects that are good, but he would have the Rotary Club put its strength behind a movement or movements where the community need is obvious, but where no organization is now on the job.

This is good counsel. There are in the Rotary Club more than a hundred men, each representing a different business or profession. Most of them are young and vigorous men, of good business training, and having as their motto "service above self." A Rotary Club ought to be the Golden Rule in working clothes. What might not a hundred of such men accomplish in this city in their leisure time—acting as committees and then as a solid body of citizens? The impact of such a force could not fail to produce good results.
The Rotary Club is at present behind the movement for a juvenile court. In the spring it will erect a pavilion at the Allison recreation field near Rockwood Park. The suggestion has been made that it take up the question of a Community Chest, to take the place of tag-days. Other suggestions will doubtless be made, for if the members are to be busy there are enough of them to form many working committees, and the way to keep men interested is to keep them busy. The question of the vocational high school is one of immediate interest that ought to command the attention of men who believe in education and in the proper care and training of boys. What has been said of the Rotary Club applies to the younger organization, the Gyro Club, whose members are also keenly interested in community welfare. Its members are younger men, but they, too, have a stake in the city and an obligation as citizens who desire to make St. John a better city in which to live. Other organizations have a specific business or benevolent purpose. These two are free to aid those others, but also to keep fresh trails. May good fortune attend them both throughout the year.

BUILD FOR THE FUTURE

The city of St. John will not grow toward Carleton but away from it, in the direction of Millville and East St. John. A vocational high school should be located with that fact in mind. There is also another consideration. A vocational school building should be planned for its special work. When it was proposed to use the old Oddfellows Hall, the utter unfitness of that building, and the cost of making it even an approach to what such a school building should be, at once provoked a storm of protest. St. John must build for the future. It has never hesitated to build a good house to be used as a public school. The penny-wise and pound-foolish policy should not now prevail. We are building not merely for the young generation of today, but those of the future. Let not St. John, take second place to small towns in Ontario when it is a question of providing the means of education. Moreover, one quarter of the cost of a new vocational building, one half the cost of equipment, and sixty per cent of the salaries of the teaching staff are provided by Government grant. It is agreed that economy in expenditures is wise, but let us not economize at the expense of the children who have a right to such training as will enable them to become producing factors in the community, able to compete with those who receive their training in other provinces. Vocational high school worthy of the name should be one of the city's aims this year.

LOWER TAXES; VOTE ON BEER

Some interesting adjustments of taxation were made by the British Columbia Legislature which has recently been prorogued. The Vancouver Sun says:—
"Of prime importance are the tax changes. Business people will be called upon to pay just one-half as much in the matter of personal property tax as last year. Farmers will also have their taxes on farm lands reduced 20 per cent. Automobile license fees have been reduced 25 per cent. On the other hand, motorists will be called upon to pay three cents a gallon extra for their gasoline, the proceeds from which will be used for the improvement and extension of the road system of the province. Industries and buildings using fuel oil will also be called upon to pay one-half a cent a gallon as a tax to the province. The amendment has been changed his outlook as a business man and a citizen; and had made him more keenly conscious of his obligations to others and his duties as a citizen. Press Comment

PRISON REFORM

(Victoria Colonist.)
There are suggestions that can be of basic to any nation containing in a report of the Commissioners of Prisons and the Directors of Convict Prisons of Great Britain just published. It appears that very great advances have been made in the task of educating prisoners and weaning them away from a life of crime. The educational and recreative facilities of British prisons are interestingly described in the report. The object of these is emphasized, is not to make prisons pleasant but to construct a system of training such as will fit the prisoner to re-enter the world as a citizen. The first requisite of this is held to be greater activity of mind and body and the creation of habits and interests. Longer hours of harder work are regarded as the first item on the program. Next come some of the many features of unnecessary degradation in prison life, and the promotion of self-respect. These features include broad lines calculated to arouse some intelligent interest and to raise the level of mental and moral broodings. Finally comes the endeavor to awaken some sense of personal responsibility in the inmate, by the introduction of methods of limited trust.
Features introduced systematically into prison life in Great Britain are lectures, debates and concerts. The inmates are kept informed of the main current events by a weekly summary of news read by the governor or chaplain in every prison.
Efforts to steady interest in the efforts toward improvement, but there are some prisons where the inmates show lack of intelligence and where but little can be done.
The whole campaign is conducted on the basis of humanity and with the sole purpose of ameliorating prison conditions in the hope of eventual reform among a goodly percentage of the prisoners. Britain is well ahead in this type of work. No country has been quick to introduce new features into prison life, and it is noteworthy that as these ameliorations grow the average period of confinement is reduced, and well, the number of recidivists on convictions, both absolutely and relatively to the population, is reduced. The average for the five years which ended 1918-1914, both as regards conviction on indictment and summary conviction.

GOVERNOR COX

(Boston Transcript.)
The press of this State will honor the motives which induce Governor Channing H. Cox to announce his intention to retire from the public service at the end of his present gubernatorial term. He has done the State good service. His record has been useful and honorable. His administration has resulted in noteworthy public economies; his influence upon legislative enactments has been excellent, particularly so with reference to the liquor laws. All citizens, we believe, without regard to party, are glad that he has filled more than a year to serve his State, and they are glad that he has done so. It is a case of "well done, good and faithful servant," and by no means a farewell at that, for though in this case the servant of the State prefers to be not also the servant of fame, he will stand in connection with the liquor act and the government can at any time test the feeling of the people either of the whole province or any part thereof, as to the desirability of changes for which agitation may arise. Among the most important of the permanent changes in the act which requires all clubs in which members desire to keep their own liquor for personal consumption to take out licenses from the liquor control board, while municipalities are deprived of the right to license clubs in any way. Whether the regulations governing the sale of beer will be drafted and published before the plebiscite is taken was not revealed in the course of the debate on the liquor act changes, but there may be a demand that they be published in advance of the vote, so that the people may know what the real issue is.
The passage of this act shows that the last word regarding liquor control in British Columbia has by no means been spoken. The result of the plebiscite will probably be to create wet and dry districts side by side, so far as beer is concerned, and such a condition will not be permanent. It has never been satisfactory, and leads to continued agitation and further changes in the law.

A NEW ANGLE ON ALCOHOL

(Boston Post.)
After two months of voting, the Scottish people have again turned back an attack by the dry forces. The wets have even captured an outpost, or two in the local option campaign. In the Scotch, prohibition has not made much headway in Scotland.
It is interesting to note that throughout Europe, because of economic pressure, there has been a sell, in the January Century, calmly thrusts to one side the whole problem of the morality or immorality of prohibition. It makes no difference, he says, whether it is good or bad. Increased efficiency here, attributable to the morality of the prohibition, is necessary for Europe to adopt it or fall hopelessly behind. Mr. Russell's ideas will be vigorously attacked, but his article is suggestive and provocative of thought.

BRAINY CHAMPIONS

(Vancouver Sun.)
Cables from Ireland carry the breathless news that South Tyrone's annual drinking competition has been won by a man who drank 15 quarts of stout at one brief sitting.
He poured the liquor into a basin, mixed eggs with it, as suggested by the law.
Chances are that one exploit will lop from him to ten years off his life. A human stomach could stand that sort of treatment without injury.
New York's annual drinking championship will be held about the New Year. It will be won by the man who can drink most bootleg whiskey and still live. The champion will probably be blind for the rest of his life, but what will that matter so long as he is champion?
So long as we have that queer kink in our mentalities that impel us to excel the fellow who can do himself the most harm in the shortest space of time, the fool-killer is going to be kept busy.

THE ROAD TO RUIN

(Louisville Courier-Journal.)
For a State as well as for an individual, one of the easiest things is to plunge into debt. Reasonable indebtedness, based on prudent capacity to pay and in actual need for the expenditure, is no worse for a Government than it is for one of its citizens. But the expenditure should be sanctioned by reason; the debt should be assumed with great effect by the opportunity of the measure. Toronto also voted yesterday on daylight saving and adopted it for another three years.

CHRISTMAS MEMORIES

A greeting called Christmas Memories is sent out by A. Maude Bailey, a former provincialist, now living in Boston.

Dear old home down East

How cheerful and cosy you used to be. The pantry was full, the lamps were bright. How happy we were on Christmas night. But now, poor home, I pity you so. Cold and alone 'neath your blanket of snow. Our loved one's voice, the stamping of feet. From far and wide we all would meet. For Christmas meant so much to us then. And how we'd love to live it again. But things have changed since we closed your door. The ones we loved have gone on before. No Daddy to hold us in his knee, No mother to make the cakes so sweet. The pie, and bread we loved to eat. But will carry on Christmas wherever. And let those memories be our guiding star.

Girls Deserting Stage

London—There's a death of pretty chorus girls in London now. Higher wages in the theatres are attracting them into offices and shops. Many beauties have quit the stage in recent months, according to one old timer who's been in the theatrical business half a century. And it's good for them, he declares, to find others equally as charming.

London's Traffic Deaths

London—London's traffic death toll is appalling. Life after life is being sacrificed on the altar of haste and recklessness. In three months, there were 19,368 street accidents, according to Scotland Yard. In them, 158 persons were killed, and 1,700 injured. The fatalities were attributed to automobiles. Yet there are fewer traffic policemen here today than 10 years ago.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Perry Murphy. During the signing of the register, Miss Anderson, of Fredericton, sang very sweetly "Oh Promise Me." After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Murray Wright. Deaths Mrs. Ester Elizabeth Gillam. The body of Mrs. Ester Elizabeth Gillam, wife of Dr. A. C. Gillam, of the Murray Drug Company, Colchester, S. C., was brought to the city yesterday and taken to the residence of her mother, Mrs. Charles O'Brien, 82 Prince Edward street, from which place she was buried on Thursday. Mrs. Gillam died at the Columbia Hospital, at Colchester, S. C., on Thursday morning, Dec. 27, after an illness of three weeks in the institution. She was born on Jan. 27, 1868, and has made her home in Columbia since her marriage to Dr. Gillam. She made a large circle of friends in Columbia, and she is deeply saddened by her early death.

Mrs. W. R. Johnson. Bathurst, Jan. 1.—The death of the J. H. Dunn Hospital recently after an illness of slightly more than a week. Mrs. W. R. Johnson, removed from the life of Bathurst one of its best known figures. Mrs. Johnson was a member of a family which for over 100 years has been exceptionally prominent and active in the life of the community. She was born 88 years ago and after securing her early education in the schools of Bathurst and her girlhood days, attended the Normal School and took up the profession of teaching. It is interesting to recall that she made the journey to the province's metropolis on that occasion by the stage road to Chatham, thence by stage coach again to Fredericton and from there to her destination by boat, the most rapid route then available, the trip consuming four days of continuous travel.

The young teacher returned home by the stage route on the completion of her course, and for some time taught school at Dalhousie. Shortly after her marriage she settled in Bathurst and here she has lived a busy and useful life ever since. Her husband and her were both in the town for nearly half a century. Mrs. Amelia E. Potts, widow of Benjamin P. Potts and a well known and highly respected resident of the city, died suddenly yesterday. Mrs. Potts was about her residence, 161 Charlotte street, as usual on Monday and yesterday morning. She was stricken with apoplexy and died at 11:30 a. m.

Mrs. Potts was born in this city 74 years ago, the daughter of the late John E. Ganong, for many years on the city book it over. Mrs. Potts was a life-long member of the old German Street and Queen Square Methodist churches. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Frederick Green; one brother, William D. Ganong, and a sister, Mrs. Julia G. Colby, of New York. The funeral will take place from her late residence at 8:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Arthur R. Carloss. Arthur R. Carloss passed away at his residence, 240 Duke street, on Tuesday morning after an illness of but a few hours and the news of his death came as a great shock to very many friends throughout the city. Sincere sympathy has been extended to the bereaved. Mr. Carloss who was in the employ of the Canadian Customs department had been about his usual duties on Monday and only complained of feeling ill on Monday evening. His illness very quickly became serious and he died at 4 o'clock on Sunday, suffering from heart trouble. His interests in the community were widespread. He came to Canada from England about 30 years ago and was a son of the late Richard and Mary Carloss of England. He was a member of the New Brunswick Lodge F. and A. M.

Expulsion of Greek Royal Family Interpreted As Revolutionist Coup To Establish Republic

COLONEL PLASTIRAS

(By Charles P. Stewart) Washington—Elimination of supposed vacation Dec. 19 of King George II ends the Glucksburg family's tenure to the Greek throne.

reigned as George I from 1868 until 1913, when he was assassinated. As a ruler he was very satisfactory, led his troops through the Balkan wars, against Turkey, and greatly extended Greek territory.

KING GEORGE II

His son Constantine succeeded him, refusing to join the allies when the World War broke out. He said it wasn't to Greece's interest to enter the allies—and many Greeks—said it was because of his friendship, cemented by a German marriage, for the central powers. The Germans being beaten, he lost his throne in 1917 and his second son, Alexander, became king. Alexander died in 1920 and Constantine came back.

As king again, Constantine went to war with Turkey for Asia Minor. Not only were the Greeks beaten, but 1,000,000 Greek refugees from Turkey were dumped into the country—a fifth its population.

THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT

Jack's mother had several barrels pressed into order.

There was to be a party in the House That Jack Built! A sort of house warming, you might say, for the house was just finished, and Jack and his mother and Jill, his sister, had just moved from their old house on Pippin Hill to the pretty little cottage on Broome street, named in honor of Mother Goose.

Jack thought they ought to change the name of the street to "Dust-Pan" in honor of Daddy Gander, as Mother Goose was away so much, but Daddy Gander wouldn't hear to it. He said it was bad enough to have one secret to keep without another one to worry him.

Well, anyway, the party in Jack's House on Broome Street was going to be a wonderful affair. Peter, Peter Pumpkin Eater helped to decorate, and to use his own words, as he had more empty pumpkin shells than fifty growing lobsters, he said he would cut Jack's lantern faces on every one and put candles inside, provided the Candlestick Maker would donate them for nothing.

What's that, my dears? Fifty growing lobsters wouldn't have any pumpkin-shells? Why, of course not, they would leave empty lobster-shells! How stupid of me! But I do believe you knew what I meant all the time.

Social Notes
Of Interest

The grandest function of the season was the delightful ball given by the officers of the St. John Fusiliers, 28th Battalion, C.E.F., in the Armory on New Year's Eve, when about 800 guests enjoyed the occasion. The New Year was met cheerily by the whole assembly, who were assembled on the huge ballroom floor, at midnight, with their only light a fine representation of the moon, wonderfully lighted and bearing the inscription 1924. A clock struck 12 and immediately the orchestra led in Auld Lang Syne, the dancers clasped hands all around the immense room and sang heartily.

The decorations of the Armory were much the same as at the Armistice ball, with the Christmas ideas more prominently put forward, especially in the dining-room, where red and green made the table brilliant, all lighted with red candles. There were many novelty dances, the buffet or paper cap dance, confetti, balloon and spot light dance, as well as the moonlight dance, all of which were made irresistible with the fine music of the orchestra, conducted by Alfred Jones of the Armory. Red, white and blue lights flashed intermittently throughout the evening, making a very pretty effect.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Robinson have been spending the New Year holiday with Mrs. Robinson's mother, Mrs. Vera Fox Gagnon. Mr. Robinson returned yesterday, but Mrs. Robinson will remain at her former home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peters were delighted to be surprised by a visit from their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fisher, of New York, who arrived unexpectedly on Saturday to spend the New Year with them. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher expect to return to their home in New York this evening.

Mrs. Robert Cochrane and Miss Edith Cochrane, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ferguson, coming last week from Montreal.

Dr. Doris Murray left last evening for Baltimore, Maryland, where she will take up advanced studies in medical work. Dr. Murray has established herself personally, as well as professionally in the hearts of the people of St. John, especially the small people, who love her sunny disposition and appreciate her skill to heal or prevent their ills. Dr. Murray carries with her the heartiest good wishes for her future work, wherever it may be, from her professional friends and her many patients big and little.

Mrs. C. A. Murray and Mrs. E. L. Botsford, of Montreal, left on the Minnedosa, from this port, last Saturday for a trip to Europe.

Miss Constance Murray, youngest sister of Dr. Doris Murray left with her last evening for New York, where she will join a party of friends from Montreal, with whom she will take an extended tour through Europe.

Mrs. Florence Land, who was the principal teacher at Silver Falls public school for several years, has been in Haccourt since the beginning of last term, and is now preparing to leave for her new charge. Mrs. Land went to Haccourt for the Christmas holiday, to spend time with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Gough and Rev. Mr. Gough at the Methodist parsonage. She was called to Sussex, during the last illness of Mr. Robert McFee, to be with her sister, Mrs. McFee, during her time of sorrow. Mrs. Land is now in Sussex, where she will remain until the school opens for the New Year.

Miss Marion Smith, R. N., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Smith, Fredericton Junction, for the holiday. Miss Smith is public health nurse at Sussex.

Several relatives and friends of Captain and Mrs. C. H. Rusb, Douglas avenue, called at their residence on Wednesday afternoon and evening, Dec. 29, to extend good wishes to the mother of Mrs. Rusb, Mary Perkins, who that day celebrated her 80th birthday. The time was spent pleasantly and greatly enjoyed by the guests of honor, Mrs. Perkins. Refreshments were served throughout the afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilnot, of Fredericton, R. R. No. 1, are in the city and will reside at 71 Waterloo street for the winter.

Outraged Love Makes Repentant of Mother Who Contracted Sale of Her Unborn Baby

San Francisco—Cattle are traded. Chattels are sold. But cold words of the law are not sufficient to contract sole right to a baby's smile. This from bitter experience Mrs. Frances Maher here has just learned. Regretfully she headed her brain and not her heart when she let Mike slip from her arms at birth into the yearning embrace of childless Mrs. John Fleming "for a price."

Even before the angels brought little Mike with his dimples and pink little toes had been decided to the other woman by the mother, who, with three other babies to care for, feared there would not be enough left to care for Mike out of his daddy's $68 monthly salary.

Advertised Baby for Sale. And so it happened in this strangest of birth contract cases, that Mike became the "prenatal bargain" advertised for sale by Mrs. Maher, who now says she was distracted and unaware of what she was doing when telling the world of her willingness to barter unborn Mike away.

The "bargain" went through as agreed, with Mrs. Fleming taking to bed following Mike's arrival to simulate visit of the stork at her home. In another part of the city, Mrs. Maher, the real mother, lay with aching heart and awakened conscience and with her arms empty—arms that were beginning to feel the urge for Mike's departed care.

In bedouing mercy she had consented to the parting, hoping Mike might be better cared for and spared possible privation consequent upon a fourth mouth to feed from the father's meager salary as an army bandmaster at the Presidio.

But all this solemn calculation dispersed like chaff when the surge of mother love mounted to claim its own. For, like Rachael of old, the heart of Mrs. Maher sobbing for her baby, would not be comforted.

To court then she came. And likewise did Mrs. Fleming. Mike, now five months old, was the center of contention. The apple of their eyes.

Other Woman Claims Him. "He is mine," said Mrs. Fleming. "Under rule of law and law." "I contracted for him. Paid for him. I love him and want him. His mother did not."

Judge Louis H. Ward sitting as Solomon heard the plea. He listened in silence. But the silence was broken by an adjournment to take the matter under advisement. Mike, in the arms of the "other woman," slept contentedly through it all.

But late that night—as a Christmas present—the law-protected right of Mrs. Fleming was erased by her own consent and she turned Mike back to his mother.

Mr. has any further mention been made of the money expended by the Flemings in behalf of Mrs. Maher's hospital bills nor any other part of the contract which included care of Mrs. Maher's sister, Hawaii.

Mike is back. That is all Mrs. Maher can say or care about. And the smile on his cherubic face which she garnered away before it came to glow upon her is at once a Christmas boon and a lesson—A lesson to teach her, she says, that baby smiles cannot be sold.

For love won't countenance such trades.

PRINCIPALS IN BABY-CONTRACT SALE

Mrs. Frances Maher (upper left), "Baby Mike," sleeping contentedly in the arms of Mrs. John Fleming, his foster mother, and Judge Ward (lower right).

"Contracts are nothing with love, I parted with my baby, judge, because I was not in my right mind from agony of brain and body. Let me have him. My arms ache to hold him—for just a little while."

Back at Love's Lullaby.

To such entreaty the court waded adjournment to take the matter under advisement. Mike, in the arms of the "other woman," slept contentedly through it all.

But late that night—as a Christmas present—the law-protected right of Mrs. Fleming was erased by her own consent and she turned Mike back to his mother.

NEWS NOTES OF BAPTIST PEOPLE

The following paragraphs are from the Maritime Baptist:

Rev. E. A. Allaby, now serving as pastor of the Forest City, York county, N. B., group of churches, spent a few days of Christmas week in St. John, as also did Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Colwell, who are caring for the church on Whitehead, Grand Manan.

Dr. C. R. Blackall, now in his ninety-fourth year, has been compelled to lay aside all forms of service and is in serious doubt if he will ever resume correspondence with friends and publications. He yields to necessity. He is still editor emeritus of the Sunday school publication of the Publication Society.

Dr. W. Reginald Morse, Dean of the Medical Department of the Union University in Central China, is en route home with his family for their furlough. Dr. Morse is expected in England some time during January and will spend some time in research in medical schools and hospitals in London before coming to his home in Nova Scotia. Dr. Morse is a missionary of the A. B. F. M. Society.

Many of our readers will be interested in the following from Rev. H. T. Cousins, Ph. D., chaplain of the U. S. Marine Hospital, No. 66, Carville, Louisiana, U. S. A. "I have been laid aside with a severe illness for over three months, and even now am not able to take up my duties in the hospital. I think I shall be obliged to go away for a rest, and change on the hills, before I am able to preach again. There is a glorious work going on among the lepers. Mrs. Cousins is conducting most of the services during my illness. I crave an interest in the prayers of the many friends of the Maritime Provinces."

When it was stated in the Maritime Baptist for last week in connection with the resignation of Rev. Joseph Ainsworth from the pastoral care of the Maugeville, Sheffield, group of churches, that Mr. Ainsworth's pastorate was the second longest, at present, within the bounds of our convention, the editor's memory surely was an apt illustration of the school boy's definition of memory as "the thing one forgets with."

Mr. Ainsworth's pastorate is the third longest in our convention. The second in length is that of Rev. David Hutchinson, D. D., at Main street, St. John, now nearing twenty years. A great day in the history of the Simcoe, Ont., Baptist church, of which the Rev. H. C. Newcombe, B. A., is pastor, was Sunday, Dec. 2nd. The occasion was their annual rally day, which this year came unavoidably later than usual. The Rev. Chancellor T. Cousins, Ph. D., the special preacher for the day, was greeted with large congregations to whom he delivered able and appropriate messages.

The total cash offerings for the day amounted to $1,851.81. On Nov. 1 Mr. Newcombe entered upon the eleventh year of his pastorate with $2,288.46. Mr. Newcombe was at one time pastor of Temple church, Yarmouth, N. S.—The Canadian Baptist.

SALES TAX NEWS. The following information concerning the sales tax new regulations was received in a telegram yesterday morning by Miss Frances Alward, secretary of the New Brunswick Retail Merchants' Association, and came from E. M. Townen, Dominion secretary of the R. M. A.: "Department of Customs and Excise has issued a ruling that merchant tailors, dressmakers, milliners, furriers and florists selling exclusively by retail to the consumer are classified as retailers and are not required to take out sales tax licenses. This regulation does not apply to furriers-making goods 'for stock.'"

HOUSEHOLD HELPS. When renewing a window-glass, use old photograph needles for glazing points. They make good ones. When using a picture frame the second time, they make excellent spigots for the hard wood that is used in frames.

If leather shows signs of wearing, it may be restored to its former smoothness by applying the white of an egg several times to the worn place. Old paint from woodwork is easily removed by using steel wool and denatured alcohol.

If you use glycerin instead of oil for lubricating the egg-beater and the meat-cutter, there will be no bad taste imparted to the food.

Before using paint, stand it upside down for a few days in the can before opening and it will mix more thoroughly.—From the Designer Magazine for December.

GRAPEFRUIT.

When planning a meal that includes grapefruit, remember this is an acid fruit and must be used in careful food combinations. Too much starch served in the same meal with a grapefruit dish is sure to cause trouble. A reasonable amount of starch served first is perfectly proper. As when a grapefruit salad is served after the meat course at dinner. But halves of grapefruit served before a cereal at breakfast is a bad combination.

Grapefruit and oyster salad is a nourishing, hearty salad that might form the main dish for luncheon. Hot bouillon, salad, brown bread and butter, with nuts and raisins for dessert, furnish a well-balanced meal.

Grapefruit and Oyster Salad. Two grapefruit, 16 oysters, 1 pimento, salt, olive oil. Remove peel from grapefruit and divide into sections, removing every bit of membrane or skin. Wash and drain oysters and combine with grapefruit. Let stand an hour. Drain from juice and arrange on a bed of lettuce. Sprinkle with salt and pour over olive oil. Garnish with strips of pimento and serve with toasted crackers.

Grapefruit Ambrosia. Two grapefruit, 1/2 cup shredded coconut, 1/2 cup whipping cream, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, 2 tablespoons marshmallow. Cut fruit in halves and remove the tough centre and membrane. Loosen pulp, but leave in the skin. Sprinkle with coconut and sugar and let stand on ice for two hours. Whip cream until stiff, add salt and marshmallow and top each half with a large spoonful.

Grapefruit Ice. Three-fourths cup boiling water, 1 cup sugar, 1 1/2 cups grapefruit juice, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 1 egg (white), 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-8 teaspoon salt. Mix salt and sugar and let stand in fruit juice until dissolved. Soften gelatin in four tablespoons cold water and add boiling water to dissolve. When cool stir in fruit juice. When beginning to jelly, add the whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a mold, pack in ice and salt and let stand four hours. Serve garnished with preserved cherries, drained from their syrup.

Jiffy Chocolate Candy. 1/2 pound sweetened milk chocolate. 1 cup chopped walnut-meats. 1/2 pound marshmallows. Break the chocolate in small pieces, add the marshmallows and melt together in a double boiler. When thoroughly melted, add chopped nuts. Pour on a buttered platter and allow to cool.—From the Designed Magazine for December.

Broken China. You can mend thin china with white of egg and quicklime. Beat the egg stiff, coat the clean edges thickly with it and dust with powdered unslaked lime, then press together at once and fasten firmly.

Dog Teams Are Arriving at Pas For Famous Race

Grayson, Russick, Pranteau and Winterton to Drive 200 Miles in Day.

W. A. Macdonald writing in the Boston Transcript says that since the All-Alaska Sweepstakes passed away the greatest sled dog race in the world has been the Hudson Bay derby which is held every year at the Pas, a little town in Manitoba. Compared with the race the Eastern International looks very small. The Hudson Bay race is 200 miles and the Eastern is 100, but the difference is more than appears in that. The 130 miles of the Eastern race is to run through three days and the 200 miles of the Pas is done in one. Two hundred miles in twenty-four hours behind dogs pulling a sled that is about eight miles an hour with no stops. It is what Arthur Walden once called a man's race.

W. A. Macdonald writing in the Boston Transcript says that since the All-Alaska Sweepstakes passed away the greatest sled dog race in the world has been the Hudson Bay derby which is held every year at the Pas, a little town in Manitoba.

Among the first of the teams reported to have arrived at the Pas is that of "Shorty" Russick who came in second last winter and afterward won the Banff dog race. Shorty was a rank outsider last winter, but heavy bets are already being made that he will win next March. Before he started last time it was generally believed that he would not be able to complete the course. He was driving a team of hounds thought not to have staying power. Russick arrived at the Pas a week ago today having driven his seven fast dogs down from his home in the wilderness 150 miles to the north. He said they made good time on the trail. They are training on a diet of breakfast and eggs.

But to win this winter's race Russick will have to beat Bill Grayson who is considered the brainiest dog driver in the north. Grayson drove Charles B. Morgan's famous team to victory in 1922 and 1923 giving Morgan the Burns Cup which had to be won three years to be his permanent possession. Billy Winterton drove the Morgan team in 1921 and he, too, has arrived at the Pas with eight dogs of his own. Winterton drove his own team last winter using the lead dog which he won for Morgan in 1921. Grayson Driving Creighton.

This winter Grayson isn't driving for Morgan, but for Thomas Creighton, one of the owners of the Mandy mine. Morgan's driver, 1924 winner Bert Hayes, George Bancroft, superintendent of the Mandy mine will enter a team after having been out of the game two years and disagreed, and for him. Other owners expected to enter are Solomon Cook of Grand Rapids, Man., who finished third in 1923; Sam Pranteau of Grand Rapids; Larry McKay of Grand Rapids; Emil St. Goddard of the Pas; Early Brydges of the Pas, and Carl Sherman of Moose Lake.

There is a new cup this winter, the Mattie trophy. There is also $2,500 in prize money, the first prize being $1,200. Word has been received in the Pas that there may be an entry from Quebec presumably the winner of the Eastern International. This looks as if Jean Lebel and the Brown Corporation had their eyes on fast company. It would be interesting to see Lebel in competition with men like Grayson and Russick in a 200-mile dash. He won the Eastern International at Quebec last February after taking the northern New Hampshire race earlier in the same month. He came in second in the first International held at Berlin, N. H., in 1922 being beaten by Arthur Walden. Lebel is a canny driver and his dogs are always well trained. How the driver and the dogs would stand the Manitoba pace would be worth competition with men like Russick, who they would have fifteen days before the starting at the Pas, but part of this time would be occupied in ship-grooming which gives that natural-looking gloss and well-groomed effect to your hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy, lustrous hair. Beware of greasy, harmful imitations.

BEER CLUBS MAY SOON PASS AWAY

Drought in Liquid Refreshments by Glass in British Columbia Possible.

Vancouver, Jan. 2.—What becomes of the beer clubs in British Columbia? Amendments to the liquor act deprive the cities and municipalities of power to issue club licenses for this year. Such licenses are issuable only by the attorney general under the new act. The licenses will apparently confer much the same privilege as that given by the present city license, which on paper is simply that of allowing members to keep their own liquor on the premises and consuming it there.

Will Defend His Title in Boston Against Weller Cochran.

They play in Exhibition Hall, Mechanical Building, Jan. 10, 11 and 12, and the very fact that Hoppe is putting in such careful preparation for the match is proof enough that he holds Cochran anything but lightly, even though Hoppe came out on the long end of their recent championship playoff in Chicago by a matter of almost 400 points in 1500.

News Notes Gathered From the World of Stage and Screen

NEWS NOTES OF BRITISH STAGE

Jane Cowl to Play Juliet in London—The Beggar's Opera.

By the testimony of many Englishmen, the American theatre, since the late war, has far excelled the British. Yet there are Britons who still believe the U. S. stage brought and ridiculed, says the Boston Transcript. The London Morning Post hears that Miss Cowl will act Juliet in that city next spring. "Quite honestly," it comments, "Americans make a Shakespearean play into a show, using just what they like best and cutting the rest out."

A play of Barrie, scarcely revived on either side of the Atlantic, since it was a new piece in 1909, is about to be remounted in London, "Alice-Sibylla-the-Fire." Miss Temperley will now succeed to the part of the mother originally acted by Miss Terry. It is credited reports that the original investment in "The Beggar's Opera," as reported in 1920, was no more than £700 or $8,000. In three weeks, the profits had paid the cost of production; while for three years those same profits accumulated daily. To a "second run" add a "second revenue." This resident company at Oxford has found such favor with University audiences that from modest beginnings it is going onward to a third assemblage. Goldsmith and Congreve, even to Spenser in "Edipus." It acts each week. Mr. Jones as a third adviser, who has civily complimented Thomas Hardy upon his powers as a dramatist.

Trojans And High School Win

Former Defeat Collegians; Latter Win Over Y. M. C. A. Harriers.

About 150 spectators witnessed two stellar attractions for New Year's day at the Y. M. C. A. last evening, when the local High School squad sprang a big surprise by downing the Y. M. C. A. Harriers, leaders in the City Intermediate League, 29 to 26, and the Trojans Seniors defeated the Collegians, 60 to 28. The intermediate game was much more exciting than the senior match, the well-oiled Trojan machine chalking up points with monotonous regularity. Outstanding in the senior game was the work of Wilson, Urquhart and "Beef" Malcolm, on the sharpshooting line for the Trojans. Les Keer, who has been laid up with an injured foot, was out and turned in his usual sterling game. Holmes showed up well also. Urquhart scored 20 points, which shows that the west side boy is doing a real comeback this year after an off season last winter. Malcolm scored one point less than the entire Collegian team, which was made up of Paul Fraser, Tommy Robinson, of Acadia, Bill Donohoe, Clayton and Kincaid, of U. N. B., and Chessman, now attending McGill.

OPERA HOUSE SHOW IS VERY AMUSING

"Mrs. Wiggs" Receives Clever Treatment by the Carroll Players.

Allice Hegan Rice's famous three act comedy, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," received a wonderful presentation at the hands of the Carroll Players at the Opera House on Monday and at two performances on Tuesday and Wednesday. The comedy, which is a masterpiece of farce, is a study in the life of a woman who is married to a man who is a complete idiot. Interest in the matter of quadruplets is very keen in St. John at the present time. Therefore reference to a quartette of babies born a few weeks ago to Mr. and Mrs. George L. Wittig of Baltimore, will be interesting to a few of our readers. Mrs. Wittig paid a great compliment to the motion picture fraternity when she was passing her brain for fitting names for the three female members of her recently arrived quartette. The lady's naming was easy—to him was given the title Howard Jackson Wittig, after the Mayor of Baltimore. But the female members of the troupe each received a throw the house into fits of laughter. Only One Annual Match Was Played

St. Andrew's Club Had Ice But Thistles and Carleton Matches Postponed.

The annual match between the rink of the President and the Vice-President was played on St. Andrew's Curling Club yesterday, the result being an even break, each scoring 98 points. About 64 players took part in the game. The rink was soft in the forenoon but in the afternoon it got better. A club bonspiel will be held Saturday night. The annual match between the President and Vice-President was not held yesterday, intended by the Thistle Curling Club owing to the poor condition of the ice. Play, however, in this competition will start tonight. At a meeting Monday night, the club discussed season plans. Three new members, E. R. Bates, C. P. Wetmore, and W. H. MacFarlane, were elected.

The Carleton Curling Club also was unable to hold its annual competition between the President versus Vice-President. Play will start tonight. The club held an enthusiastic meeting last night when season plans were discussed. The club will play for the McLellan cup at Bathurst on January 30. Virginia Doesn't Know Which of Her Many Natures Is Her Real Self

(By Jack Jungmeyer)

Hollywood, Dec. 29.—"Be yourself" That is studious's slangy reproof to those who go temperamentally amuck, lapse into loud silences or carry their acting off stage. It assumes that under every player's pose there is a solid, identifiably easily recognized—rather tame, formal, bidimensional self, always the same. Virginia Valli, recently confirmed to stardom, disputes this assumption. She believes the soul of an actress, at least, isn't so single an equation. She holds that even so subtle a stimulus as a new dress may amply alter personality, while a sustained role may evoke profound changes of being.

VIRGINIA VALLI

Seeking to define her innate nature, Miss Valli says she discovered with considerable perturbation so many selves clamoring for recognition and priority that it was like looking in a mirror maze. One might, if melodramatically inclined, term her "The Woman With Seven Souls," or something like that. And in the psychology of the actress, as she revealed it, that might not be so bizarre a thought as "the young girl" school supports. For the actress, beyond the range of most folk of more prosaic realm, explores the dim crevices of self with their store of race heritage in order to make her emotional and character roles convincing. If she is toric period, stages in woman's evolution, the implications of wealth or poverty, mental or spiritual development. Few people outside the profession may guess the influences of this constant, though varied and fascinating masquerade. "These are the psychological etchings of make-beliefs; the reciprocal effect between what one is innately and what one assumes to be. Finally it is difficult to define the limits of individuality."

Even her close associates consider Virginia Valli elusive, difficult to categorize, seldom "the same," although she has peculiar charm and popularity. The camera has not twice caught the same likeness of her. In fact, her portraits, hinting at the multiple self, show striking dissimilarity. People are always telling her she looks like someone else they know. She asserts that what little she knows of that part of herself she has definitely isolated, is very uninteresting and certainly not worth projecting upon the screen. She has studied Freud in trying to clarify her impulses and the better to interpret motivations of her screened heroines, latterly portrayed in the forthcoming "Wild Oranges" and "The Sign of the Cross."

Self-possessed, dignified, reaching 24 without having been a flapper, Virginia Valli has accumulated her "Seven Souls" by serious application to her profession, by shrewd observations and a nature of fine intuitions. Which, if any, is dominant, I am unable to say, after having seen evidences of several at the studio and at the home dinner interlude in company with her husband—for Miss Valli is indeed elusive. But I suspect it is that self which glows and purrs in the silken costumes of colonial days.

U. S. SKATERS ARE AWAY TO FRANCE

Six Speed Men and Miss B. Laughlan Sailed Today.

New York, Jan. 2.—Six men and one woman, comprising the U. S. champion group of speed and fancy ice skaters, sailed today on the President Monroe on the first lap of their journey to Chamonix, in the French Alps, to represent this country in the Olympic interscholastic football arena this year has arisen regarding basketball. The application of Moncton High for admittance to the league composed of Fredericton High, Rothesay Collegiate, and St. John, was refused at a meeting here of representatives of the various schools interested. It was stipulated, however, that if Moncton so desired, it could form a section and play-off for the provincial title.

There is also a possibility that Lady Diana will play the important role of the Nun, for which Rosamond Pinchock was originally engaged. One of the climactic scenes of the production shows a mob attacking the Nun violently, administering blows. Members of the house staff at the Century, said that members of the family of Miss Pinchock, who is now in the hospital, had made representations to the management that such a tack might result in real injury to the girl, who is unaccustomed to stage performances. Later, it was said, the management has been rehearsing Lady Diana as the Nun as well as in reserve for that part in case by chance Miss Pinchock should not always be available for the role.

New York, Jan. 2.—Five thousand boys from the lower East Side were entertained at a Christmas theatre party at B. F. Keith's Hippodrome through the courtesy of E. F. Albee. They all were assembled by officials of the Boy Club of New York, which has 10,000 members on the East side and is a powerful influence for good citizenship and civic training among the youths of that district. The Christmas party was arranged through the officers and trustees of the organization. The guests assembled in lines on sixth avenue in front of the Hippodrome at 9:30 a. m., and when the doors were opened they poured in a steady stream in the basement of the theatre, where they marveled at the completeness of the tiny municipality with its layout of stores, houses, post office, jail, fire house and other features. They were particularly interested in the tiny farm with its midwest farmer, animals and tiny equipment and in the various small animals, the deer, wallaby, lion cub and of course the elephants.

Although by far the greater part of the audience was youthfully masculine there were a few girls. Among the most interested of the guests were two tubercular boys and girls from the Riverside Clinic, who came down in special buses accompanied by their nurses. For 200 years Holland has been a leading factor in the cocoa industry. Today Amsterdam alone has 15 factories engaged in the manufacture of cocoa and chocolate.

"Babe" Dye Jost St. Pat. Toronto, Jan. 2.—Babe Dye, came into the fold here yesterday when he signed a contract to play for the St. Patrick National Hockey League again. Dye will play against Ottawa here tonight. He had declared he would not play hockey this year until he was reasonably sure that he would not be sold to a minor club by the Buffalo International League, and he kept his word.

In three years, Lopez leaped from earnings of $25 a week to $250,000 a year. Lopez conducts his own orchestra at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York. A similar situation as occurred in the interscholastic football arena this year has arisen regarding basketball. The application of Moncton High for admittance to the league composed of Fredericton High, Rothesay Collegiate, and St. John, was refused at a meeting here of representatives of the various schools interested. It was stipulated, however, that if Moncton so desired, it could form a section and play-off for the provincial title.

WILL ALTERNATE IN 'THE MIRACLE' ROLE

Lady Diana and Princess Will Draw Lots for Opening Honors.

New York, Jan. 2.—"The Miracle," Max Reinhardt's production of the medieval spectacle, will open at the Century Theatre on Thursday evening, January 10. It was weeks later than the original date of presentation, set for Christmas.

The much mooted point as to whether Maria Carmi (Princess Matchabelli), noted Italian actress, or Lady Diana Manners, stage and screen star of England, would play the leading role of the Madonna now seems to be theatrical pot. It was reported that the two titled actresses had agreed to draw lots to determine which of them would play the part on the opening night and that afterward they will alternate in the role.

Mount A. Team Defeats St. Johns

Collegians Win Out By A Score of 9 to 3.

The hockey season was officially opened in St. John last evening when the Mount Allison University players defeated the St. John's team by a score of 9 to 3. The game was officiated by Commissioner Wigmore, who threw in the puck for the face-off, and was witnessed by nearly 500 fans. While the Collegians showed no decision advantage, the St. John team acquitted themselves creditably in view of their lack of practice, and show promise in developing into a speedy aggregation. DENIES THAT HE ANNOYED GIRLS

Thomas Anderson in Court in Case Referred to in The Times.

Thomas Anderson was arrested this morning on a charge which included annoying some girls, as mentioned in The Times of Saturday. When he was brought into the police court he absolutely denied the charge and kept insisting that he was not guilty.

Mrs. Ella Haley told about seeing a man, who, she said, resembled the defendant, in the hallway of the Maritime Clothing Company Saturday morning when she was going to work. She said the defendant looked like the man, but was not wearing a long coat. He said he next saw him on a team in Mill street and identified him immediately.

Margaret White and Nettie Donohue also testified that they had seen a man in the hall when they were going up to work. They were quite certain that the defendant was the one, but both agreed that he had been wearing a shorter coat.

The defendant again denied the charge and asked to be permitted to send for a witness. This was granted a few minutes later V. E. Blanchard Ferris arrived in court. He told of leaving his home in Leaside street, on arriving near Portland street, meeting the defendant, who was looking for him to ascertain if he had anything to be done that day. He said he knew that the defendant was on the freight shed in Pond street to take some crates of chickens to the market. He was unable to account for his actions after that, but expressed an opinion that he "would have to go some" to get to Union street there.

Magistrate Henderson said he would look into the case. Later it was reported that the case would be resumed at 2.30 o'clock.

YOU HAVE TO TELL IF A POLICEMAN ASKS

Two Sydney Girls in King Square Last Night Now Held.

Two pretty girls, one wearing a fur coat, the other a cloth coat, were in the police court this morning on a charge of vagrancy. They did not mind the experience until Sergeant Ralph Dykeman ordered them to keep their mouths shut when they were read their rights. When the charge was read to them they did not give any explanation, but said they were from Sydney, N. S. One gave her name as Mary Munro, the other as Catherine Munro. Magistrate Henderson turned them over to Matron Ross. She said she would enquire into their case.

The Times learned that the girls were arrested by Sergeant Detective Power last night. He was going through King Square and as the girls passed he turned and looked at them. One is said to have asked him at whom he was looking. He demanded to know their names, it is stated. One said to have told him she did not have to tell who she was. She was informed that she did not get the gist of it, but gave a satisfactory account of themselves they were taken to a cell at police headquarters.

"Hiram," said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Horneum, "have you any particular plans for the new year?"

"Well," said Hiram, "I was thinking maybe I'd keep the law this year."

"Have you been a breaking it?" asked the reporter.
