

Sixth Victim In Harlem Ice Cream War Is Slain

You Got the Wrong Man, Exclaims Target for Bullets, as He Faces Gunman.

New York, June 16.—The police have sent out a general alarm for two men who are wanted for the death of Michael Nicolosi, manager of the Novelty Water Ice Company, who was shot in front of the company's plant. The shooting is the sixth within two years, believed by the police to be due to business rivalry between Italian ice cream vendors and manufacturers.

Nicolosi was leading a can of ice cream into a truck when the two gunmen suddenly approached him from behind and fired eight shots, four of which took effect on their victim. The dying man faced his assailants just before he fell and cried out "You got the wrong man." When an ambulance surgeon arrived he was dead.

Immediately after the murder the residents of the various tenement houses in the neighborhood began firing shots from their windows to attract the police. Passersby for blocks around ducked for cover, believing that a battle between rival gangs was in progress.

When detectives arrived all trace of the gunmen was lost. It was learned that they had run into one of the houses near the scene of the shooting, but a search of it failed to reveal them.

Manhole Explosion Fires Elevated

Pillar of Flame Leaps to Woodwork of Brooklyn Line and Ties Up Traffic.

New York, June 16.—An explosion of gas in a conduit of the Brooklyn Edison Company at Hudson and Myrtle Avenues, Brooklyn, hurled a manhole cover against the structure of the Fifth Avenue Elevated line and a thirty-foot column of flame ignited the woodwork. Glass was cracked in several buildings shaken by the blast.

It was reported that a woman and a girl had been hurt by broken parts of the manhole cover, which was shattered in its contact with the ironwork of the elevated, but the police said an investigation had shown that no one had been injured. There were many persons on the elevated station at Navy Street, a block away, and some fled to the street in the excitement.

The column of flame soon died down but fires on the L structure were burning when firemen reached it. The firemen could do nothing against the blaze in the manhole and an emergency crew was called from the Edison Company's repair department. Sand was dumped in until the fire was smothered. A repair man who entered the hole reported that a short circuit of electric

Explorers Uncover Babylonian Ruins

Masonry of Oldest Sumerian Period Found as Heat Halts Work for the Present.

London June 12.—Professor S. Langdon, Director of the Oxford and Field Museum expedition to Mesopotamia, writing to The London Times gives the following preliminary report of this season's work:

"In a previous communication to you the discovery of stamped bricks of Samsuiluna, seventh King of the first Babylonian dynasty, 2080-2048 B. C., was mentioned, and Mr. Mackay, the Field director, established the identity of Kish in the lofty ruins of Ohelmer early in March of this year. He then located the temple of the war god Ilbaba on the northeast side of the stage tower and found brick stamps of this king with the following inscription in Sumerian:

"Samsuiluna King of Sumer and Accad, built and raised on high the temple Meturag, the temple of the god Ilbaba, in Kish, which his ancestor Samsuilu had built."

"A pavement of the Aramaean usurper Adadapalidinnam was located in April and several stamped bricks which commemorate his reconstruction of this temple were recovered. One of these was found by the British explorer Ker Porter a century ago and brought to the British Museum. Until Mackay began excavations at Ohelmer this formed the slender evidence for the location of the famous and most ancient capital of Babylonia. Adadapalidinnam belongs to the fourth dynasty, Circa, 1095-1074 B. C.

"Walls built by Nebuchadnezzar. "Numerous walls and pavements of the last reconstruction of a temple and stage tower by Nebuchadnezzar in the sixth century B. C. had been recovered. These preliminary discoveries proved that the excavators must be approaching more ancient strata which belonged to the earliest history of Babylonia, and in May, just before the intense heat compelled cessation of our work, Mackay found walls of plano-convex bricks, a sure indication of the oldest Sumerian period.

More Years of Better Roof Service. EVERY one admires a beautiful, distinctive roof of Vulcanite Hexagon Slabs. In soft green or Indian red, it adds attractively to the appearance of any home.

And it is unusually practical and economical, too. The patented design makes the slabs double thick everywhere—giving double protection, as well as more depth and body to their pleasing appearance. Vulcanite Hexagon Slabs are easy and economical to apply, because they space automatically, saving both time and money. They can be laid right over old shingles, giving a fire-and-weather-resisting roof that is an enduring source of beauty and protection.

Vulcanite Roofing of the same high quality also comes in individual shingles, four-in-one slab shingles, and in rolls, both slate surface and smooth finish—for home, farm and industrial buildings. You can identify the genuine by the Vulcanite name and the Beaver trademark. Ask your dealer for full information or write us. We will send free samples and a booklet on request.

cast sides of the stage tower. Not only are the fronts of the stages built with deep and well-made recesses, but the first stage, which rests on the Temenos platform, has rows of chambers connected by a corridor, and beneath the pavements of some of these chambers inscribed tablets were found. "A lofty tower which stood on the western side of the temple area was known as Unikkidurmah, far famed for its admiration, and is apparently one of the best preserved stage towers of ancient Babylonia. The earliest temple did not possess these huge pyramids and the reasons for their introduction into sacred architecture by the Sumerians shortly before 3,000 B. C. are unknown.

"The original height of the tower at Kish cannot have been less than 180 feet, and its four sides measured more than 200 feet. This is the first discovery of a series of chambers in a stage tower. Only two sides facing the temple court have been uncovered. "It is not likely that chambers and corridors extend around the entire base. Evidence was found on every hand that Kish suffered terrible destruction in the late period of the Persian and Parthian invaders. Chambers were found denuded and every trace of furniture which might have given an indication of their purpose has disappeared. They were probably lodgings for priests who served in the great Temple of Ilbaba and the war-goddess Inlial. She is frequently mentioned in recovered inscriptions and a fine representation of her on pottery plaques has been found.

"The season's work ceases just at the beginning of the most interesting stage. The importance of Kish consists in records of the old period of Mesilim and the Third Dynasty of Kish in the thirty-seventh century, B. C., who inaugurated a great period of Sumerian and Semitic civilization, an age of perfection of writing and of fine art.

"Beneath the ruins of the still larger and apparently more ancient mound at Ingharra, two miles east of Ohelmer, lie supposedly the palaces of the early Kings of Kish who ruled all of Sumer and Accad at various periods from 3000 B. C. to the rise of the Emperor Sargon, 2872 B. C., who is said to have been a priest at Kish.

"Excavations in Ingharra will begin next season in connection with those now in progress at Ohelmer."

MOTORS And Their Care

Don'ts for Washing the Car.
Don't use hot water.
Don't use body polish.
Don't permit mud to dry upon the finish.
Don't use soap on the hood, body or other painted parts.
Don't permit water to dry, but rub the surface with soft, clean cloths.
Don't wash the hood of the car while it is hot. Permit the hood to cool first.
Don't use anything other than a soft, wet sponge for washing finished parts.
Don't fail to use plenty of clean, cold water. The temperature of the water should be between 49 and 69 degrees Fahrenheit.

For Economy's Sake.

When a tire goes flat the car should be stopped immediately, to prevent the rim from coming in contact with any obstructions, such as stones, car tracks, etc. Neglect to do this will bend the rim at its edges, destroying it, or making it defective enough to injure the tire when it is put on thereafter. A bent rim should be immediately straightened by an expert mechanic to avoid unnecessary tire expense.

For Efficient Lubrication.

When a motor is not equipped with a drainage device to get the dirty oil out of the crankcase compartments, it is advisable to have a large petcock installed at the bottom of the crankcase so that the dirty oil can be drawn off readily and quickly.

Causes of Wheel Misalignment.

The misalignment of wheels is not always the fault of the bent axle. It may be a broken spring, loose spring shackles, sprung frames, loose steering knuckles, bent pinions, worn-out bearings or wobbly wheels.

Cleaning the Closed Car.

Closed cars need plenty of ventilation and more cleaning than open vehicles. The cleaning process should be done with a vacuum cleaner and not a whisk broom or duster. Fumigate the interior occasionally with a mild disinfectant. Spraying with perfume is a good germ killer and will suppress the odor of tobacco smoke.

Consistency of Warm-Weather Oil. In the summer months the gear cases should be filled to level with a much heavier oil than is used during the cold weather, for the reason that the added heat from the atmosphere tends to thin the lubricant and bring it to the proper consistency. This change of oil should affect all the gears.

heavier oil than is used during the cold weather, for the reason that the added heat from the atmosphere tends to thin the lubricant and bring it to the proper consistency. This change of oil should affect all the gears.

Abuse of Fenders.

Never mount any extra heavy equipment to fenders. Signal lamps, tires, suitcases, boxes, etc., should be attached to the frame or other rigid parts of the car. Fender brackets and sheet metal are designed to carry only their own weight.

Installing New Radiator Hose.

When a new hose is installed to connect the radiator to the water jacket of the engine apply some white lead on the pipe to which the hose is attached. The white lead will do much to prevent a leak between the hose and pipe.

Proper Use of a Wrench.

A monkey wrench should never be drawn backward from the jaws, as this movement is likely to bend the bar. The wrench should always be pulled toward the jaws.

A dented fender, which has been damaged by collision, should be straightened out and painted over with quick-drying enamel, in order to prevent rust and decay.

Carbon deposits can be minimized by avoiding badly gassed fuel liquids or lubricating oils which tend to make a solid residue.

Always use goggles for the eyes and a saturated solution of ordinary baking soda on the hands when working around a battery.

A loose gasoline tank is likely to spring leaks if permitted to rub against the frame or metal support.

use a vitreous (stone) or glass vessel, never a metal one.

Hard steering will result from allowing the knuckle pivot pins to become dry or rusty.

It is much cheaper and better to install new springs than it is to patch up old ones.

Soft tires create a drag, and the car is slow to pick up speed.

With proper care the life of a good car is estimated at 50,000 miles.

CROWDED SCHOOLS CAUSE OF ROUND-SHOULDERED GIRLS

London, May 25.—(By Mail)—Since children have been required to stay at school until they are fourteen years of age, a large number of the older girls are found in Bedfordshire to be stooping and round-shouldered, declares "The London Daily Mail."

This is said by the school medical officer to be probably due to the great rate at which many of the girls have grown and the fact that the seating accommodation in the schools is not satisfactory for the taller girls. Before the war many of these taller girls used to leave school and go out to work after becoming thirteen. In 1914 the average height of "leavers" was under four feet eleven inches, but last year almost one in six was 5 feet two inches or more in height.

"Girls of this age," says Dr. Herdman, "are apt to overgrow their strength, and if the sitting space is at all cramped and the desks have not suitable backs the only way for the girl to rest is to lean forward."

"With boys there does not seem to be the same tendency to become round-shouldered."

Aid 17,172 Children Mistreated In Year

Society for Prevention of Cruelty Reports Alarming Gain in Crimes.

The review of the work of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children for the year ended Dec. 31, 1922, presents a record of 17,172 cases involving the protection of children under 16 years of age and shows a slight increase in the number of children received for shelter over the year before. The report is issued on the eve of the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the organization and contains a brief survey of the society's history.

With regard to the present conditions confronting the society, Judge M. Linn Bruce, President, in his annual address said in part:

"The record of crime against children, especially against young girls, as shown in the report, is alarming. Such atrocious crimes have been more frequent since the great war, due doubtless to a recognized recklessness following the world-wide upheaval and the loosening of necessary and salutary restraints. This condition our society is meeting as vigorously as possible and is insisting on speedy and severe punishments against convicted offenders."

The society points with pride to its new and permanent home on Fifth Avenue at 145th Street, which, in connection with the adjoining Heckscher Foundation, it claims as the most complete institution of the kind in the world. It contrasts the new home to the one small room at 100 East Twenty-second Street which it first occupied when, in 1874, the case of a persecuted little child who could find no protection except from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, indicated the need for such an organization as exists today.

Describing the work of the society, Ernest K. Coulter, general manager, in his annual report said:

"The records of the year showed that 17,172 cases involving the safety and protection of children under 16 years were acted on, 1,702 of these having been received in the last month. The number of children received for shelter was 6,364, a slight increase in the number sheltered in the previous year."

"The society has been represented constantly in the various courts, including the Children's Court. Its officers have been on duty day and night throughout the year, and its offices have never been closed.

"On the side of the society's participation in the prosecution of adults for cruelties to children, its officers and agents appeared in 365 cases before City Magistrates' Courts, and the society prepared for trial at the Courts of General and Special Sessions 809 cases involving offenses against little children, with the result of successful prosecutions by the District Attorney, of approximately 75 per cent."

"Since the origin of the society more than 400,000 complaints have been acted on by this organization. It may be stated most conservatively that the safety and protection of more than a million and a quarter children were involved in these cases."

As a result of action at the annual meeting of the Board of Directors and ratified by the society, a gold medal is to be presented each year by the society in recognition of the most distinguished service for child protection.

The committee which will shortly bestow the medal for 1922 includes Peter G. Gerry, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Louis Wiley, August Heckscher and Mr. Coulter.

DODGE BROTHERS TOURING CAR

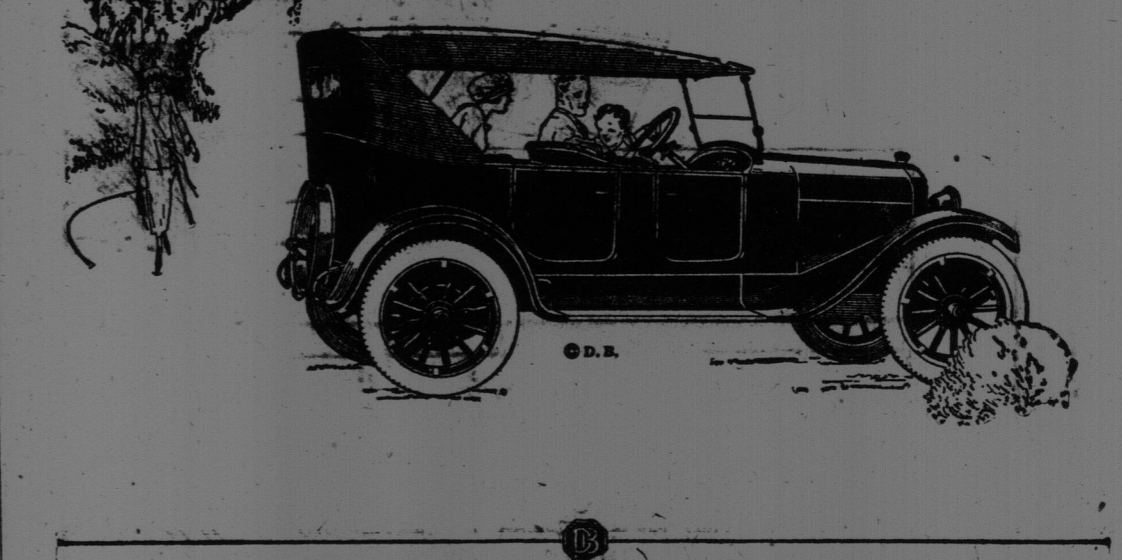

If there is one word which will sum up the average owner's impression of Dodge Brothers Touring Car, that word is dependable.

If there is a word to express the quality which Dodge Brothers have striven, above all else, to build into the Touring Car, it is—again—dependable.

Indeed, it is not too much to say that the word dependable has come to be definitely associated, the world over, with Dodge Brothers Touring Car—and the other vehicles bearing their name.

Nor have Dodge Brothers built this enviable reputation through advertising. They have built motor cars, so dependable in fact, that the word has presented itself automatically to the public mind.

Does It Cost More to Build Cord Tires?

Most assuredly! The cord fabric costs more than ordinary fabric. There is more rubber employed. Expensive machinery is necessary to complete the various processes. More care and detail is essential to the proper construction.

In Firestone Cord Tires this extra cost has been reduced to a bare minimum by constant experiment and efficient production methods. But when you come to consider the added comfort and extra mileage they deliver the final cost is far lower.

Firestone Cords make driving easier—they lessen the demands on your motor—they save gasoline bills—their remarkable resilience absorbs road roughness and inequalities—they practically do away with fabric friction and embody a surprising wear-resistance.

The steadily increasing demand for Firestone Cords—the pacemakers of cord construction—emphasizes the fact that owners are becoming tire-wise—are finding out that extra mileage without additional cost embodies true tire economy.

We stake a reputation we have spent many years to build on each Firestone Cord we put on your car—surely the highest assurance of quality and super-service any car-owner could possibly wish for. Ask your dealer.

Pauline Lord Asks Why London Has So Few Plays From U. S.

Actress Playing Title Role In O'Neill's 'Anna Christie' Says Foreign Productions are Welcome.

London, May 25.—(By Mail)—Miss Pauline Lord, an American actress who has made such a stir by her brilliant performances in Eugene O'Neill's "Anna Christie," at the Strand Theatre, said to William Pollock, of "The London Daily Mail," the other day:

"Why is there so much fuss about the number of imported plays and players on the London stage just now?"

"Why, it's nothing to what we always have in the States. There, so long as a play's a good one, we don't care where it comes from. On the contrary, we want it. And as for 'foreign' actors and actresses—well, there are almost as many Britishers acting in our theatres regularly as there are in yours. Before I came away from New York recently there were English players in most of the pieces running. It doesn't seem to me that you can ever say the opposite about London."

"You cannot. There are at the moment thirty-seven London theatre giving stage plays," Mr. Pollock declares. "Less than half these plays come, either wholly or in part, from foreign sources."

"The outcry that our stage is overcrowded with plays and players from abroad is grossly exaggerated. The complaint does not stand examination. Even when the forthcoming production of "Little Nelly Kelly," an American musical piece; "The Plantation" company of colored performers at the London Pavilion, the visit of the Guitrys from France, and the coming of Fritzi Massary, Berlin's fifty-nine-year-old musical comedy star, to Daly's, are added to the importations list, the balance should still be substantially on the native side."

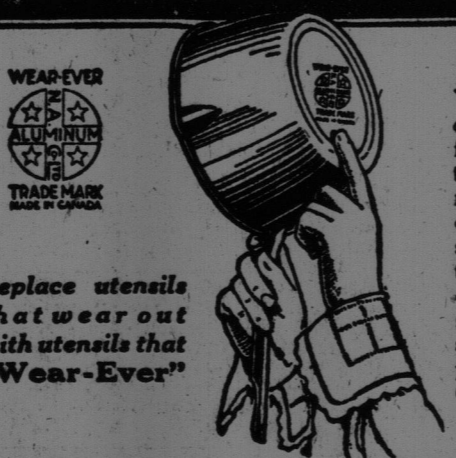

"The business of the theatrical manager is to provide what is likely to be acceptable to the majority of players. He would be a fool both commercially and artistically if he were to take the attitude: 'I will not produce this very good play and company because they are American (or Czech-Slovakian or French or German); I

AD. MEN WELL SATISFIED WITH THE CONVENTION

Good Growth in Membership and Revenue Increased.

New York, June 16.—With a sustaining membership of 1,043, including many of the biggest business executives in the United States, as compared with only 884 a year ago, and a budget swelled by $45,821 increased revenues during the year ended June 1, the Associated Advertising Clubs following its convention just held at Atlantic City, has sent its delegates home to all parts of the world to resume their work for the truth-in-advertising movement, with the knowledge that the public is behind them, as never before in the history of their organization.

plus in the general fund May 25, 1923, of $14,461, and in the vigilance fund of $25,402, totalling $39,863, as against a general fund surplus of $25,518, and a vigilance fund of $7,640, totalling $33,158, on June 1, 1922.

During the year there was paid off a bank loan of $10,000. The membership was shown to have increased more than 1,000 during the past year, being now 1,043.

An interesting feature was an income of $8,178 for small city organization work, with an expense of $3,085.86, showing that the work of establishing a parson being granted to S. C. Pandolfo, now serving a term in the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, was passed by the convention. Pandolfo was president of the Pan Motor Company of St. Cloud, Minn., and was convicted in the United States Court at Chicago in 1919, on the charge of using the mails to defraud. Formal application has been made for pardon, despite the fact that less than six months of his sentence of ten years has been passed.

The Neosho Club Plan proved of such outstanding importance to the British visitors that the latter declared Gurney Lowe's representation of the work one of the high points of the convention to them, and in the last hour of the convention one of the London delegates came forward to express the hope that the Associated Clubs would aid in making the work known over-seas.

A resolution protesting against a pardon being granted to S. C. Pandolfo, now serving a term in the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, was passed by the convention. Pandolfo was president of the Pan Motor Company of St. Cloud, Minn., and was convicted in the United States Court at Chicago in 1919, on the charge of using the mails to defraud. Formal application has been made for pardon, despite the fact that less than six months of his sentence of ten years has been passed.

ARTHUR SPENCER WINS SECOND RACE

Takes National One-third Mile Cycle Event at Newark — Leads With Ten Points.

Newark, N. J., June 15.—Arthur Spencer, twice champion of America, won the one-third mile national championship, the second of a series of eighteen races to decide the professional championship of America, by defeating Cecil Walker and Willie Spencer at the Newark Velodrome Wednesday night.

The standing for the championship, counting the quarter-mile titular race that Arthur Spencer won in Newark Tuesday night, is as follows: Arthur Spencer, ten points; Ray Eaton and Cecil Walker, three each; Palmiro Mori Orlando Piani and Willie Spencer, two each.

Walker did the unexpected when he won the third semi-final, with Willie Spencer starting off in the lead and was out in front going into the last lap with Willie second and Freddie third. Willie sat on Eaton's rear wheel until the last turn, when he gave the bike everything he had and rode around Eaton, nipping him at the tape.

Arthur Spencer won the second semi-final, beating Willie Keller and Alf Goulet. Goulet took the lead a lap and one-half from home, but Arthur Spencer went around him a half lap from home, taking Keller with him. Arthur had too much speed for both Keller and Goulet, and they trailed him home in that order.

Walker did the unexpected when he won the third semi-final, with Willie Spencer starting off in the lead and was out in front going into the last lap with Willie second and Freddie third. Willie sat on Eaton's rear wheel until the last turn, when he gave the bike everything he had and rode around Eaton, nipping him at the tape.

Gifford A. Cochran Pays $25,000 for Sun Flag — Rosenberg is Largest Purchaser.

New York, June 15.—Thirteen bidders in the bidding for the property of Willis Sharp Kilmer of Binghamton, who was sold in the paddock of the Belmont Park track before Wednesday's race, bringing a total of $55,000.

The largest investor was L. Rosenberg, a New York recruit to the turf, who took four of the most highly prized. These sons of Sun Briar were handled by a division of the Keene Stable at one time and had the horses of the late Matthew Corbett for years.

URIC ACID Does NOT Cause Rheumatism!

Furthermore, I claim that Uric Acid is a NATURAL and NECESSARY substance in the body of every now-born babe—that without it we could not live! Strange statements? Yes—to you perhaps, because you have always been told differently.

But my book, 'The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism,' just published, tells you the real truth about Rheumatism. Tells what actually DOES cause it and how it is now being successfully treated in the most effective manner by entirely new, advanced scientific methods.

The writing of this unusual book is the result of my twenty years study, experience and research in this disease and I want every sufferer of RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS, SCIATICA, GOUT, etc., no matter in what form, to read it at once.

WORK FOR CONVICTS FEDERAL PROBLEM

Joint Congressional Committee Seeks Ways to Prevent Idleness.

Men are Eager to Work — Supt. Votaw Urges the Making of Shoes for Army and Navy Use.

Washington, June 15.—What to do with the more than 6,000 Federal prisoners in Atlanta, Leavenworth and McNeill Island (Wash.), was the problem before a joint committee of Congress, hundreds of these prisoners, all men—the women Federal prisoners are in State prisons—are idle because there is no work for them to do, and work must be provided, the prison authorities say, if the Government is to do its duty to these unfortunates.

The trend of official opinion as to the best solution of the problem appears to be employment of the prisoners to manufacture articles for the Government, most annually purchase in large quantities, such as shoes for the army and navy, furniture for the Government departments and bureaus, and perhaps blankets and sheets for the numerous hospitals now under Government control and operation. It is argued that such employment would not compete to any considerable extent with private industry. It is believed, however, that union labor will protest if this is done, and that is one big obstacle to be overcome.

The committee named by the vice-president and the speaker of the House to study the problem and report a solution at the next session of Congress consists of Senators Dillingham, chairman; Overman and Shortridge, and Representatives Montague of Virginia and Graham of Illinois.

Heber H. Volaw, superintendent of federal prisons, brother-in-law of the vice-president, was the principal witness at a hearing before the committee today. The latest figures, Mr. Votaw said, show there are 5,553 men in the federal penitentiaries, of whom 2,532 are in Atlanta, 2,619 at Leavenworth, and 402 at McNeill Island.

Says They Should Have Work. Superintendent Votaw contends that the Government owes it to these men to provide work for them and thereby make it possible for hundreds to learn a trade, which on their liberation will make it possible for them to make honest headway in civil life.

Mr. Votaw called the attention of the committee to the fact that in the cotton mill which is operated in conjunction with the prison at Atlanta.

An Atlanta factory, he said, is manufacturing most of the canvas used by the post office department in the making of mail bags, while the navy department also is consuming a large part of the canvas being done in the cotton mill.

Mr. Votaw said that the Government is obtaining its canvas supplies at a price between 25 and 30 per cent. less than the price in the open market. The men employed in the factory receive a small wage, which averages about $2.75 a week, 25 per cent. of which they are permitted to spend, the balance being devoted to the assistance of their dependents. There are between 600 and 700 prisoners at work in the mill.

"In the Atlanta mill," said Mr. Votaw, "the men are not only willing but anxious to be employed. They are well behaved and among them are some long term prisoners, who have families and whose dependents are in need of help. A few civilians are employed as loom fixers. And I will say that the men who have worked in the mill have secured good positions in textile mills on their release, and our reports show that they are doing well in the world."

Referring to the situation at Leavenworth, Mr. Votaw said that prison was admirably suited for the manufacturing of shoes, being in the centre of the rawhide industry. He pointed out that the army and navy use annually 600,000 pairs of shoes for the enlisted forces, and suggests that the Leavenworth prisoners might be used to supply these shoes at a large saving to the Government.

"In 1919," said Mr. Votaw, "there were manufactured in the United States over 831,000,000 shoes, and in 1922 the total reached 22,000,000, and so you can see that these 600,000 pairs for the army and navy would be a very small part of that total and would not be an interference to any appreciable extent with private industry. Of course, we do not even suggest that the Government shall sell any of the shoes to persons outside the service named, in other words, all that we suggest is that these men be employed to manufacture articles for state use only.

"They are entirely too many idle men in our Federal prisons. In these institutions there are now 3,000 men for whom employment should be provided. A large proportion of these men are in prison because they did not want to work for a living, and for that very reason it is our duty to teach them industry and thrift. A man who stays in prison for five years with nothing to do comes out very little better than he was when he went in. Idleness in these prisons is bad business, no matter how often you view the problem."

Mr. Votaw said he would submit to the committee a complete discussion of the problem in which all of the plans suggested to relieve the situation will be set forth in detail.

The committee adjourned pending the submission of that report, subject to the call of the chairman.

possibly. Commissioner Bullock was in the chair. J. S. Gregory reported on the site for a summer camp at Seaside Park and said the estimated cost to keep twenty children there for the summer was $600. The report of the administrative committee was presented by Dr. William Warwick, who told of the building of clinics held. The report of the house committee was presented by Mrs. T. N. Vincent.

Mr. Skelton then tendered his resignation as treasurer, and Mrs. Skelton as a member of the board. He expressed deep regret that he was forced to sever his connection with the institution. The chairman said that the Health Centre and many other organizations would suffer a great loss through Mr. Skelton's removal. Mr. Gregory endorsed the chairman's remarks and, on his motion, seconded by Mrs. J. H. Doody, the resignations were accepted. Mr. Bell was then appointed to fill the position of treasurer temporarily. At Mr. Skelton's request an audit of the books was directed, and F. P. Blanelet was appointed auditor to the institution.

Great regret was expressed by all the members present at the resignation of Mr. Richard O'Brien, and on motion of Mrs. Doody, the secretary was instructed to send a letter of condolence to Mr. O'Brien.

During July and August it was decided to meet in the afternoon instead of in the evening.

The delegates to the convention, together with the members of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association were tendered a joint reception by the province and city in the legislative assembly this evening.

A Secret of Great Strength and Powerful Muscles

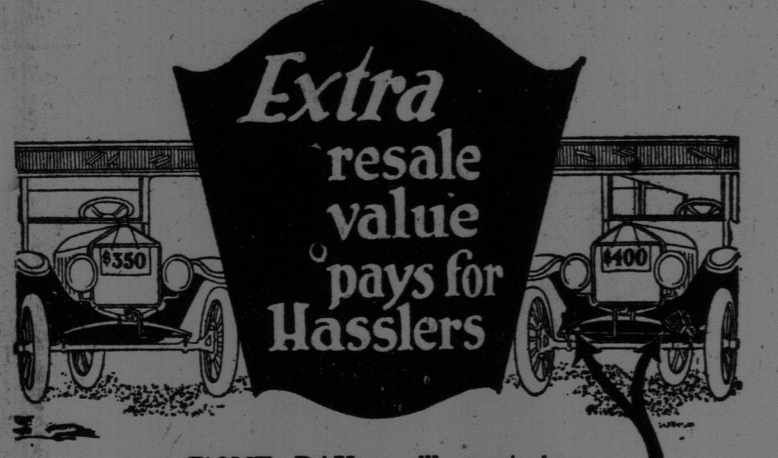

Jack Dempsey, World's Heavyweight Champion, Reveals a Secret of His Training for Great Strength, Energy and Endurance
Science has now proved that your real strength, energy, and endurance, that mysterious force that enables you to dominate and control others and win in every walk of life, all depend upon the strength and nature of the millions of cells that compose your body and brain; that the physical strength of these cells depends absolutely on the food you eat, that is, the material with which they are built, just like a house that is built of boards and nails is not so strong as one built of stone and iron. The most important element in building strong, forceful cells is a peculiar form of iron known as Nature's Iron. This iron is found in the peels and skins of certain fruits and vegetables, but modern methods of cooking throw away these important things, away so that today's food is twenty per cent deficient in iron. Jack Dempsey, World's Heavyweight Champion, when training, takes regularly this newer form of iron, known as Nature's Iron. When great athletes like Dempsey realize the importance of iron in the blood, it would seem that every man, no matter what his size, who wants to increase his strength and bodily powers, would realize how these important things should be built up his energy and endurance. This Nature's Iron has secured surprising results in twenty-two secret weeks. Nature's Iron is tasteless and may be obtained from any reliable drug store.

No Hit No Run Game.
Milltown jumped into the lead in the Border League last evening when Groves' star pitcher turned St. Stephen back without a hit or run, while his team mates were piling up nine runs. Dwyer started to pitch for St. Stephen and was replaced by Shields. The St. Stephen team has been weakened as a result of Charlie Paul having a sore arm and being unable to take his turn in the box.
Two games were played in the City Amateur League last evening the Garrison team defeating St. George 6 to 5, and the Clippers and St. Rose's tying, the game ending 7-7.

Dispute Over Home Run.
In the South End League last evening the St. John the Baptist team defeated the Cotton Mill nine by a score of 8 to 6. The game, however, it is understood will be protested on the grounds that a hit by Martin, which went for a home run with three on should have only been a single. The ground rules allow only one base on a ball going under or over a fence and the question arises what happened to the ball as the fielders were unable to find it. The box score and summary of the game follows:

Yarmouth, N. S., June 16.—The South Boston "All Stars" here for a series of three games, lost to the Yarmouth Baseball team, 1 to 0 yesterday afternoon, and won last evening 9 to 2.
Olympics Defeat Ramblers.
A fast game of ball was played on St. George diamond last evening when the Olympics defeated the North End Ramblers, 8 to 7. The winners got away to an early lead and maintained it throughout, largely due to the clever pitching of Sparks. Features of the game were a three base hit by Morris and two two-baggers by R. Lee. The battery for the winners was: Sparks and Lunney; for the losers Ballard and Morris.

Two Games in Pro League Today
Two games will be played in the Two I League here today between St. Peter's and Fredericton, one this afternoon at 3 o'clock and the second this evening at 7 o'clock. As the league leadership is at stake both teams can be depended on to present their strongest line-up and good games should result. Fredericton have five consecutive wins to their credit and will have to lose both games today to drop from first place. McCourt, who has been going strong, will be one of the pitchers to oppose the Green and White team, while Sepka, a southpaw, is due to arrive in the city today in time to pitch one of the games. St. Peter's choice will be between "Lefty" Strecker, Stafford and Twigg. It is expected that O'Connor will appear at short for St. Peter's as "White" Gibbons is leaving the city for a well-earned rest. His friends are confident that with a rest "White" will be able to get back in trim and play his former snappy game.
The Moncton team will be at home to Quincy today. There is a report current that Ward will be traded to the Vets. for Buchanan. Manager Ford released Noonan after his poor showing Thursday evening. Ford did not think his southpaw was trying in some of his last starts. He was expecting four new men today including Marleham, a snappy shortstop who was with the team last year, and Hughes, a pitcher. It is said that Ford has other changes in mind.

Premier GASOLINE
NINE years ago Imperial Oil Limited served its customers throughout the Dominion from its one refinery at Sarnia, Ontario.
To-day—a great oil refining system stretches across the continent from Atlantic to Pacific. Five additional plants, located at Halifax, Montreal, Regina, Calgary, and Ioco, B.C., now manufacture petroleum products for distinct sections of the country—and supply them more adequately, more quickly and at lower costs for transportation.
At each of these modern refineries the same methods apply. Highly trained petroleum chemists constantly check every process of manufacture. Beginning with a thorough analysis of each crude petroleum "batch" before it enters the stills this supervision continues until the final rigid tests have qualified the different products for consumer use.
The experience of 50 years refining practice governs all operations and the standards of quality at one plant are the standards for all.
"Facts Worth Knowing" is a booklet which tells more fully of Canada's oil industry and details particularly with the subject of gasoline. If you have not already received your copy, address IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED, 44 Church Street, Toronto.

"THE GIRL OF THE GOLDEN WEST"

The rivals and the girl.

presented by EDWIN CAREWE DAVID BELASCO'S GREAT STAGE SUCCESS

The stage play that became an opera—the opera that made a wonderful book is now a marvelous motion picture.

Here are situations that live with the tensely and daring of their action. Here strong men vie for the one woman's love. Here is the life of the "Gee" with his curses, his drink, his fight, his unforgettable scuffle.

Edwin Carewe, who made "Mighty Lak a Rose" has imbued this picture with the feeling and realism that only he can master.

DEMPSEY RESUMES SPARRING AT CAMP

Champion Wears a Head-guard to Protect Cut Eye While Boxing Six Rounds—Shows Punching Power

(New York Times.)
Great Falls, Mont., June 16.—Jack Dempsey has entered upon the serious part of his training for the defence of his title against Tom Gibbons on July 4. The world's heavyweight champion went through seven rounds of work on Thursday before a full-sized crowd, and thrilled the spectators with an exhibition of his hitting prowess. Dempsey sparred six rounds—two round each with George Godfrey, Jack Burke and Harry Drake. Before donning the sparring gloves Dempsey went through one round of shadow boxing to limber up.
Against Godfrey and Drake Dempsey's hitting prowess was shown. Godfrey was floored by a left hook, followed by a right cross to the jaw. Drake, who was the last of the men in the ring with the champion, was driven, groggy and helpless against the ropes in a neutral corner of the ring by a left hook and right swing to the chin. Against Burke Dempsey had no opportunity to demonstrate his hitting strength. The Pittsburgher was fast and elusive, and avoided the heaviest punches.
The workout was shorter than those to which Dempsey had been accustomed. The champion eliminated the fast bag and heavy bag punching. The day's exercise was mainly for the purpose of limbering up after the champion's respite from sparring for the last week, and the weather was a trifle cooler than it has been in a week. The champion worked in an indoor ring which was flooded by sunshine tempered by a light wind.
Dempsey's Defence Poor.
The workout showed that defensively and in punching accuracy and timing, the champion is not quite up to his standard. Godfrey and Burke punctured Dempsey's defence with right hand swings and right uppercuts to the face and landed with rights to the body.
Boxing critics, who compared the Dempsey of today with the Dempsey of two years ago at Atlantic City, found a marked difference from a physical viewpoint. Dempsey today does not appear as rugged and strong as the husky champion who prepared for Georges Carpentier at the New Jersey resort. In other respects, however, Dempsey is impressive.
The champion faced Godfrey in the first sparring session and started with greater vigor than he has exhibited in any previous workout here. Lashing out furiously with left hooks and right crosses, Dempsey drove his colored sparring mate to the ropes in the first five seconds and then pummeled Godfrey about the ring under a volley of punches which had the negro bewildered. A left hook made Godfrey's knees sag and a glancing right sent the negro down on his hands and knees. Dempsey quickly stepped forward, arrested Godfrey to his feet and the pair resumed milling. The champion fore and aft pounded him rights to the heart and wind which carried considerable force. Godfrey, however, stuck to his guns and at times stopped the champion's rushes with rights driven against an unprotected jaw as Dempsey rushed in wide open.

Burke was the next to face the champion, and the two went through a lively six minutes of work. The Pittsburgher, however, proved a more elusive target for Dempsey's attempts for the jaw and stood up well under the champion's body drives. Repeatedly, too, Burke connected with right to the body and face.

Drake Is Groggy.

Against Drake, Dempsey worked quickly in the first round, and in the second had the English heavyweight in retreat. Near the end of the second round, as Drake was backing away, Dempsey landed with a left hook and followed with a right to the jaw which sent Drake helpless against the ropes, his arms hanging limply at his sides and his jaw absolutely unprotected. Dempsey rushed in quickly and pulled Drake's head on his shoulder, clinching until the English boxer's head cleared. Then the champion took things easy, pecking at Drake's face with a left jab and brushing his right over occasionally. The jabbing started a stream of blood from Drake's nose and at the call of "time," Drake's face was a bloody smear. After the outdoor workout Dempsey returned to his living quarters for a session of body calisthenics in which he engaged every day before receiving his rub down.

Dempsey worked with a headguard on as a protection for his injured eye. Before donning the protecting leather affair Dempsey treated his eye to an application of collodium and covered the wound with cotton dipped in the fluid. The injury appears to have entirely healed now. The stitches have been removed and Dempsey said the eye was all right, but at the same time the champion does not want to invite a re-opening of the wound and has decided on the use of the head guard until thoroughly satisfied the wound has healed entirely.

The workout marked the entrance of Dempsey upon the hardest part of his preparation for Tom Gibbons. According to the programme announced by Manager Jack Keegan, Dempsey will continue daily workouts without interruption from now until two or three days before the bout in Shelby.
