WEDNESDAY, JUNE 21, 1893.
BATHURST SCHOOL INQUIRY.
(From the St. John Sun.) BATHURST, June 6.—When the enquiry was resumed this morning, Hon. Mr.
White and Mr. Lawlor pointed out that the evidence so far put in had been presented in such a way as to confuse the reading public, not being followed up with regard to the charges in their order, several localities being dealt with without any one being finished before the other was taken up. They suggested that a more simple mode might be pursued.
Mr. Skinner said he and Mr. Fowler were doing the best they could to proceed in the most direct way.
Judge Fraser saw there were difficulties in the way of putting on witnesses in the most direct order, and was satisfied that the counsel for the Protestants were doing all they could under the circumstances.
Smuel Gammon, inspector when the grammar school was built, testified that the floor space of the two rooms on the ground floor was 27ft. 9in., with two rooms of the same size upstairs. There were also two small rooms upstairs, 8ft. 6 in. by 18ft. The ceiling of all the rooms is 11ft. 9in. in both flats. Made school furniture about two years ago. Mr.
O'Brien's order was to make the same as in the public school. Witness took the furniture to the convent, and the sisters told him to wait till they saw Fr.
Barry. The father came and said it would be better to let it remain till the children came, when it could be arranged to suit the ages of the children. When witness's children left the public schools they were in the 7th grade. A couple of years ago O'Brien told him they had taken a grade out of the public school and transferred it to the convent.
O'Brien said you'll have to send your children to the convent. Witness replied that he would not. O'Brien replied, then you'll have to keep your children at home. Witness answered, I will.
To Mr. Lawlor—Thought it was in vacation time he made this furniture.
Witness's children were in the 7th grade when the grammar school when Mr. Crockett was discharged. They did not leave the public school until the grade of the changes Mr. O'Brien and would take place. Presumed the sisters were teaching under their ability. He would not send his children to the convent building on principle, no matter who taught there.
To Mr. White—Supt. Crockett heard the protest of the Protestant minority and told them they would not be compelled to send their children to the convent schools.
To Mr. Skinner—Would not send his children to the convent, because it was under control of the clergy.
Gideon M. Duncan, M. D., secretary of trustees of Bathurst village since 73 or 74, was examined by Mr. Skinner. The school building was 32x45. Witness gave size of rooms, etc. On the basis of 60 cubic feet of air to each scholar, the building would accommodate the actual attendance, but not the number enrolled.
The smaller room is not used; understand an idea of that nature might be inferred at one time it was used as the intermediate department.
In the convent are three rooms; one, the advanced department, is 23x31 feet; others each 30x21 feet. The ceiling is 8 feet 6 in. or 8 in. not 10 ft.
10 in. These figures were taken from the trustees' report. On the basis of 150 cubic feet of air to each scholar, the building would accommodate 28 pupils and the other two 23 each. Last year, Dec.
31st, 92, the returns gave an enrollment of 144—29 in the advanced department, 46 in the intermediate and 50 in the primary. All these did not attend. The enrollment was made on the basis of the number of scholars attending. For the term ending Dec.
31st, 1892, the average attendance was
100. That was more than was required for the number of scholars attending. For the term ending Dec.
31st, 1891, the average attendance was
for the number of scholars at-
tending. For the term ending Dec.
31st, 1890, the average attendance was 83, and at the superior school 23. Witness followed this with a mass of figures as to school attendance for some years, etc. He said, failing to get a teacher for the superior school two sisters were transferred there from the convent. The Protestants objected and after a conference with Supt. Crockett the sisters returned to the convent taking the primary pupils' lock with them.
the superior school and accounted for the falling off in attendance. Paid $5 a room rent for the convent schools. Fr.
Varley wrote to Mr. Leaky, chairman of the trustees, requesting that the sisters be employed. This letter bore date July 31st, 1890. Minutes of meeting of trustees, August 4th, 1890, at which these three sisters were engaged, were also produced and read. The correspondence with Chief Supt. Crockett on the subject was next read. Witness said Mr. Crockett then came on in January, 1890, and held a conference with the trustees re the grading and employment of the sisters in the superior school building. No change was made at that conference. The trustees insisted that superintendent should take this necessary step. For a short period, say about two years, three teachers were employed, sisters included, at the end of December, 1890. That was more than was required for the number of scholars attending. For the term ending Dec.
31st, 1891, the average attendance was
100. That was more than was required
for the number of scholars at-
tending. For the term ending Dec.

ing the primary pupils' lock with them.
room rent for the convent schools. Fr.
of trustees, August 4th, 1890, at which
pondence with Chief Supt. Crockett on
the subject was next read. Witness
the trustees re the grading and employ-
ed, sisters included, at the end of Dec-
required for the number of scholars attending. For the term ending Dec.
31st, 1891, the average attendance was
100. That was more than was required
for the number of scholars attending. For the term ending Dec.
31st, 1890, the average attendance was
for the number of scholars at-
tending. For the term ending Dec.
31st, 1890, the average attendance was 83, and at the superior school 23. Witness followed this with a mass of figures as to school attendance
