TODAY'S DEVELOPMENTS.

THE OFFICIAL BULLETINS. London. June 25,-11:27 a.m.-Anxious suspense over the condition of King Edward VII., shared, as is evidenced by shoals of telegrams from abroad, by the whole civilized world, hardly will be much lessened by the bulletin just issued by the attending physicians at 10:30 this morning, as follows: "His majesty was very restless, and had no sleep during the early part of the night. He obtained some sleep, however, after 1 o'clock this morning, is free from pain, and no untoward symptoms presented themselves. CROWDS DISAPPEAR. London, June 25.—The streets London today seemed deserted, compared with the beginning of the week. The chief points of interest were Buckingham Palace and Fleet street. At both localities crowds of people surrounded every bulletin board and anxiously bought numerous "extras." A curious fact in this connection is that some of the outlying suburbs had no general realization of the postponement of the coronation till the residents read the morning papers. The demand for papers in this city and the nearer suburbs yesterday absorbed the whole supply before reaching the outer fringe of London. The general postoffice is overburdened with telegrams. The second bulletin was regarded as being somewhat favorable, and the good impression which it created was enhanced by the arrival at the palace shortly afterwards of the Duke and Duchess of Aosta, who came from Dor-chester House to lunch with the royal family. New York, June 25 .- A special cable was received today by the New York Medical Journal, from its London correspondent, whom they consider the highest medical authority in Great Britain, and who is in intimate touch with everything that transpires at the bedside of the King. The correspondent, after describing the operation, says: "The recovery from anaesthesia was his condition being favorable on Wednesday at noon.' CAUSED A SENSATION. London, June 25 .- Consternation was caused in the Hotel Cecil last night, where many of the colonial premiers and other distinguished guests of the government are stopping, by a report brought from the palace by an officer to the premiers stating that oxygen is satisfactory; the patient passed a rest-less night, succeeded by improvement, being administered to his majesty. THE TRUTH TOLD. London, June 25 .- 1 a.m.-Croakers, who have been insisting that the King had a stroke of paralysis at Aldershot, and was fatally ill, have not been well informed. There was no stricture of that kind ten days ago, but the indi gestion and intestinal disorder from which the King was apparently recov ering when he left Windsor. He dined heavily at Aldershot, after a fatiguing day, when he had been exposed in weather, and had eaten little breakfast and luncheon. There were symptoms of what the doctors now describe as perityphlitis, but those subsided, and they did not consider them-selves justified in interdicting the coronation until there was a recrudescence of the disorder on Monday night.

There are pessimists who contend that the King has been alarmingly ill for ten days, and that the truth has been deliberately concealed by court transmitted and were not delivered to- officials, who have been deceiving the public. PERITONITIS FEARED. The following statement was made by the highest medical authority: Until the tubes now draining the cavity of the abscess have been withdrawn it will be impossible to feel certain that the King will pull through. What his physicians have now to fear is that peritonitis or hemorrhage may supervene. There must always be this danger in such cases. RECOVERY WILL BE SLOW. Again it is a fact that the abscess due to perityphlitis may have a fatal issue without any warning symptoms. All the indications are often masked until after the post-mortem, and there are many cases on record where the disease was only discovered after death from an extraneous cause, such as an accident. Whatever the outcome, the King's grave illness must invalid him for a long time."

take place tomorrow. But as the order-in-council has been passed approving of their liberation, and as they have been advised of this, there is no reason to believe that the order will be canceled. There was also certain grounds for giving these prisoners their freedom apart from its going to be done in connection with the coronation.

A VETERAN PASSED AWAY

Niagara-on-the-Lake. Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., June 24 .-Monday, at "The Bungalow," Niagara, there passed away one of the most respected citizens of the place in the person of Capt. Percy Beal, late of her majesty's 30th Lincolnshires. Capt.

Sir John Beale, Baronet, of Maidstone, Kent, and son of Wm. Beale, master in the court of chancery.

At an early age Capt. Beale entered the imperial service as a subaltern, and was always distinguished for his gentlemanly bearing and undaunted valor. A line from the report of Col. Fenwick, C.B., who commanded the 16th Foot at Lucknow, states: "Lieut. Beale commanded a party of volun-teers on the 12th of March, 1858, at the advance made on the great Emambara, and led them, under a very heavy fire, down a street occupied by rebels on every side, and performed the service most gallantly. It was attended by important results; the rebel posi-tion was taken in rear. I consider

Death of Captain Percy Beale at Valuable Barns and Cattle Pens in Ashes-Loss, $8,000.

> Ilderton, Ont., June 25 .- Fairfield stock farm, the property of J. H. and E. Patrick, was the scene of a disastrous conflagration here last night at 9 o'clock. The extensive stock barns and sheep pens, the pride of Ilderton and the finest in Middlesex, were totally destroyed, together with his large assortment of farm implements and a great quantity of hay, grain and feed of all kinds. The fire was caused by a trap door falling on E. W. Patrick and causing a lantern which he carried to explode. The loss is estimated at $8,000, and the amount of insurance is not definitelyknown, but is estimated as very light. Although it took but a few minutes to reduce the immense barn to ashes, all the prize Lincoln sheep . saved. Sympathy of the neighborhood was ex-

BECAUSE COAL IS SO DEAR A BLIND MILLER'S METHOD

Steam-Yachting Is Becoming One of the Most Remarkable Busi-Altogether Too Costly.

Owners of Steamers Are Not Doing-So Much Cruising as Usual.

New York, June 24.—Three commo-dores and several ordinary yachtsmen were enjoying themselves on the plaz-za of one of the yacht clubs on the Sound a few days ago. One of the commodores owns a steam yacht. He has been an indefatigable worker for his club's welfare for some time, and as a result the club has boomed considerably. It has a new house and a big membership.

It was suggested by one of the yachtsmen that as the commodore had done so much for the club it would be well if the club should honor him in some way. The commodore listened to the eulogistic remarks and then quietly

"All this is very nice, and I'll tell you just what you might do. Just now I should appreciate a present of a few tons of coal. Steam yachting is becoming too costly."

The high price of hard coal just now it troubling owners of many steam yachts considerably. Steam yachting is always a costly pleasure, but this year the cost is proving to be too much for many yachtsmen. Coal on a steam yacht is a big item in the running expenses of the vessel. Some of the big yachts when run constantly consume from 15 to 20 tons of coal a day. The small ones, of course burn less course, burn less.

Hard coal is favored by yacht burners, because there is no smoke, and the yacht can be more easily kept clean. The grates of most of the yachts, too, are not adapted for burning soft coal.

So far this season there has been a marked absence of steam yachts at the big regattas. There are fewer steam yachts running from the country homes of their owners.

Many yachts are now in commission, but instead of steaming about the harbor, Sound and rivers, many of them are kept at anchor in some convenient harbor. Occasionally they will go out for a short spin in order that those on board can get cooled off a little, but there is no constant steaming as there is when coal is selling at its normal price.

A few of the yachtsmen have had soft coal grates put on their vessels, but they do not like the change, and unless the price of coal goes down very soon the steam yachts will be laid up and there will be many more salling yachts in commission.

Mr. Rogers' Figures Dissected

[Hamilton Herald, June 12.] More than a month has now gone by since Oscar Wentworth Rogers, the telephone man, was to come here and save Hamilton from the Bell Telephone monopoly by organizing a company, installing a plant, and furnishing an up-to-date service, charging only $15 for business telephones and $10 for house telephones. Where is Oscar? Those who pinned their faith upon the voluble and volatile conversationalist feel like Mariana in the moated grange:

They only say, "The prospect's He cometh not," they say, say. "We are aweary, aweary Oh, Oscar, step this way." The Herald doesn't know Oscar cometh not; but perhaps one reason may be that he has promised far more than he can perform, and knows it. While this journal has all along been doubtful of Mr. Rogers ability to make his glowing predictions come true, it has not dogmatized on the subject, not being presumptu-

J. Dommerque, M.E., who does Mr. Rogers the honor of making him and his Canadian telephone projects the subject of an article contributed to the Telephone Magazine and printed in the May number of that periodical.

Let it be understood that the Telephone Magazine and printed in the May number of that periodical.

Let it be understood that the Telephone Magazine and printed it will be many moons before he recovers the use of his leg.

phone Magazine is not an organ of the Bell Telephone Company. It is devoted to the interests of the independent telephone companies, and is posed to the Bell company. And for hese reasons the publication of Mr. Dommerque's article in the magazine is all the more significant.

Mr. Dommerque has nothing to say about the figures quoted by Mr. Rogers to the Hamilton aldermen, but deals with the projector's promise to supply Toronto with 5,000 business and 5,000 house telephones, the rates to be $18 and $12 respectively. He makes an elaborate estimate of the cost of installing an automatic telephone equipment for 6,000 subscribers. To reprint his calculations in detail would require two or three columns of space; we will therefore quote only the conclusions at which he arrives.

According to Mr. Dommerque's estimates, the cost of conduit work would be $162,000; of pole line work, $143,-679; wiring, $72,000; total cost of wire plant $502,749. The depreciation on wire plant would amount to $53,516 25 annually, or $9 per subscriber, and the annual charge for interest would be $30,164 94, or $5 per subscriber. For switchboard equipment, $125,000 would have to be provided, and for subscribers' stations $66,000. The annual depreciation on account of switchboard installation and subscribers' stations would amount to $19,100, or $3 18 per subscriber, and the annual interest charge on this account to $11,460, or $1 91 per subscriber. The annual cost of operation is set down at $30,000, or $5 per subseriber; the current supply at $1,-500, or 25 cents per subscriber; fixed annual charges, $24,000, or $4 per subscriber; rent, say $1 per subscriber. Adding the various items of annual expense, according to Mr. Dommerque's estimate, we find they amount to $29 34 per subscriber. Leaving off the cost of operating, and assuming that an automatic switchboard will not cost any more than a manually operated switchboard, the total annual expense per subscriber would be $24 34. But Mr. Dommerque adds: "Making, however, a comparison between an automatic system and a nonautomatic system, the above figures cannot be taken into account, because we know that an automatic system is more expensive to maintain than a non-automatic system, and surely an automatic switchboard and subscribers' stations must be more expensive to build than a manually operative

In the light of such figures as these, it is not singular that Mr. Rogers finds it uphill work to organize companies in Canadian cities to supply these cities with telephone services at rates as low as $10 and no higher

Novel System by Which He Weighs the Grain He Sells.

Meriden, Conn., June 25.—Hugh Lee, scaler of weights and measures, a few days ago, in his tour of inspection, stumbled on to one of the most re-markable business men in Connecticut, D. F. Dickerman, who owns the grist mill on the Westfield road, formerly belonging to W. H. Baldwin, which he conducts in a very successful manner. He is blind, but he has been at the mill so long that he knows been at the mill so long that he knows every plank in the building, and without assistance is able to grind the grist of the farmers, as well as sell grain and feed to others. One of the most interesting portions of his work is the weighing of the grain and feed which he sells. He has devised a system whereby he can weigh out any quantity with accuracy. He has a number of little sticks which are cut just the length to mark off on the arm of the scale the different weights. By selecting his 50-pound stick, which he can pick out by feeling its length, he places it against the end of the arm of the scale, and then moves the pendant up until it reaches the other end of the stick. He has sticks ranging from 5 to 50 pounds. And if he wanted to beigh 80 pounds he would take his 20-pound stick and place it at the opposite end of the arm, which is graduated for 100 pounds. After setting the scales to weigh what he wants he puts his goods on the platform, and by putting his hand lightly over the arm is able to tell when the scales balance, and thus he weighs accurately any amount he desires.

All the different grains are kept in different bins, and he knows where to find every article in his place. He handily waits on the farmers who drive up to the front door to buy feed for their stock. In operating the ma-chinery of the mill he is just as me-thodical as clockwork, and anyone watching him would never dream that ork Butchers Form a -Capital, $1,000,000.

TO FIGHT BEEF TRUST

New York, June 24.--The New York Retail Butchers' and Meat Dealers' Protective Association held a meeting at Terrace Garden last right and at its close Edward O'Neill, president of the association, announced that it had decided to form a million-dollar company to begin a fight on the beef

About 500 members of the association attended the meeting, to which reporters were not admitted. The meeting lasted until midnight, when President O'Neill made this statement on behalf of the association: "We have decided to form a company with a capitalization of $1,000,000 to oppose the beef trust. The company will be on a co-operative basis and enough money was pledged at the meeting to begin its formation. An abattoir will be built and the company will be known as the Retail Butchers' Abattoir Company. "Ther are 25,000 butchers in Greater New York and they will all have a chance to fight the trust through our company. Arrangements have been made with cattlemen and ranchmen in the west to ship to this city every week 2,000 head of cattle. This is only as a starter, however. There are 15,000 head of cattle sent to this city every week.

"Beef is higher now than it has been in twenty-seven years. It is not our fault, although the consumers blame us. We are told that cattle were never cheaper and easier to be had." President O'Neill said he could not say yet where the abattoir would be built. A permit is necessary. He said that all the retail butchers would have an opportunity to subscribe for one or more shares in the new com-

Craters Plainly Seen in One Cor- | Changed Clothes While Ransackner of Oneida County.

Interesting Chapter of the Near-By He Threw Away a $300 Watch, But insanity, and she is not responsible State's Geological History.

Utica, June 25.-Oneida county has a number of good things, but it is doubtful if the ordinary inhabitent realizes that it has extinct volcanoes taking a quiet snooze in the northwest corner of the county. P. J. Loveland, of Taberg, contributes an interesting chapter to the geological history of the county. He contends that these extinct craters are plainly in evidence on the farms of Messrs. Mack and Kulp in the Stone Hopper district near Taberg. They are on top of the hill and their tops are like three immense kettles set in an arch. They are from 100 to 200 feet deep, and to all appearances have filled up perhaps 50 to 100 feet from their original depth. Two of them are nearly dry, but the upper one has a pond in it, with no inlet or outlet to be seen. It is supposed that at some period in the past these craters belched out an immense quantity of water, stone and sand. The stone and mud, being heavy, fell near the crater, forming the hill. The sand, being lighter, followed the water spout further, making the sand plains found between Taberg and Camden and McConnellsville. The water was so abundant that there was a great inland sea where Taberg is, and another at Bloss-vale and one at McConnellsville. It is evident that there was no fire when those volcanoes had their eruptions, as no scoria is found. The volcanoes were simply of the hot water or steam variety.

Another curious natural formation is on what is known as Bryant Hill or Percival Hill, about two miles north-east of Camden village. On the summit of the hill are several regular hollows, round in form, which are 50 to 75 feet deep and probably 150 feet across. These formations are familiarly known as the "Devil's Punch Bowls." Everything indicates that at some period a powerful upheaval took place on the top of Bryant or Perci-

She Was Acquitted of Murder on the Ground of Insanity-Goes to Asylum for Life.

Boston, June 24.—Suspected of the death of eleven persons and indicted for murdering three, Miss Jane Toppan, who was legally declared insane heart the French-Canadians assembled yesterday, has confessed that during her career as a professional nurse she in response to the following cablegram killed no less than thirty-one personal to his holiness by Hon. Judge Bixby said also that Miss Toppan admitted that she had set fires and committed other serious acts. She said she could not help committing the crimes. She argued, president. however, that she was not insane. She said she knew she was doing wrong when she administered poison to her victims, and she asked Judge steps, and there, with the sign of the Bixby how under such circumstances she could be of unsound mind.

Morphine was Miss Toppan's agency for producing death. Many of her victims were unsuspecting, and most intimate friends; others were the patients of reputable physicans, who employed her on account of abilities as a nurse. She was so expert in her knowledge of how to employ drugs and poisons that she was able to escape detection for years.

In the detailed story, as told to Judge Bixby, she did not enumerate her many victims, although she did admit the killing of Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Harry Gordon, of Chicago, and Alden P. Davis, all of whom died at Cataumet last summer.

Miss Toppan was indicted last De-cember for these three murders, the state electing to try her on the Gibbs count yesterday.

THE TRIAL. Miss Jane Toppan, nurse, was found D. Gibbs, of Cataumet, on August 12, a message from their sovereign. 1901, before a special sitting of the superior court here yesterday. The time occupied in the trial of the woman on so grave a charge was scarcely six hours from the opening of the court until Miss Toppan had been sentenced to spend the remainder of her natural life in the Taunton in-

When the government presented its evidence the sensational incident occurred in the testimony of Henry and morphine.

EVIDENTLY INSANE. Resting as the case did on the testimony of alienists as to the defendant's mental condition, the testimony of Drs. Jelly and Steadman was particularly interesting. They said that in their opinion, based on several examinations, Jane Toppan was insane on June 3, and is now suffering from for the crime for which she is charged. At the conclusion of the expert evidence both Judge Parker and counsel for Miss Toppan stated to the court and jury that the brevity of the case was based on the importance of the testimony of the alienists. Mr. Bixby further asked the court, Judges Braley and Bell, that it instruct the jury to lan Gardens. The Dwyer household were at luncheon, when they heard report a verdict of not guilty for reason of insanity. The court did so, and the jury retired. Miss Toppan was then called to the bar and ordered committed to the Taunton insane asylum for the remainder of the days of her life.

HER VICTIMS. While Miss Toppan was tried on the ndictment charging the murder of Mrs. Gibbs, she was charged also by the Government with the deaths of Mr. Allen P. Davis and Mrs. Genieve D. Gordon at Cataumet. These deaths occurred within a short time of each

In addition the deaths of the following persons who were nursed by Miss Toppan had been inquired into: Miss Connors, of Cambridge; Mrs. Allen P. Davis, of Cambridge; Mrs. O. M. Brigham, of Lowell; Florence N. Calkins, housekeeper for Mrs. Brigham; Mrs. Edna Banister, of Tunbridge, sister of Mrs. Brigham.

The Pope Cables His Blessing to French-Canadians

Fetes at Quebec.

Quebec, June 24.—Yesterday there occurred a unique event in connection with the St. Jean Baptiste fetes—the pronouncing of the apostolic benediction from the pope by the special emis-sary of his holiness. Immediately after his sermon at the open air mass on the terrace this morning, Mgr. Pa-quet read from the pulpit the follow-ing cablegram from the supreme pon-

This message of blessing came national fete, address to the great and reverend pontiff, Leo XIII., their respectful homage, love and devotion to the church, and humbly beg the apostolic benediction for the French-Canadian nationality. (Signed), Chapais,

As soon as the papal greetings had been read, Mgr. Falconio, the papal delegate to Canada, ascended the altar cross, most solemnly and impressively pronounced the apostolic benediction upon the immense concourse, who re-ceived the unusual blessing upon their bended knees.

These rites over, Hon. Thomas Chapais, with his fellow-officers of the society, presented to his honor the lleutenant-governor, his Grace Mgr. Begin, and the mayor, his Worship the Hon. S. N. Parent, addresses expressive of its respectful homage to church and state. All three made suitable and loudly applauded answers, and the episcopal procession started on its way back to the arch-bishop's palace. Thus ended the great mass and the greatest morning that the St. Jean Baptiste Society has ever

Bilious Dyspepsia.

DREADFUL COMPLAINT AC COMPANIED BY HEADACH SICKNESS OF THE STOMAC VOBITING THAT CAN BE PE. MANENTLY AND QUICKLY CURED BY FERROZONE.

Some persons have attacks of Bilious Dyspepsia very frequently, and feel as if they were about to die. The whole system seems to collapse. The tongue becomes coated, the face a sallow pallor, and a bitter taste is al-ways noticeable in the mouth. At times the bowels are very constipated, but occasionally acute diarrhea is caused by the accumulation of bile in the system.

It is highly dangerous to allow such a condition to imperil your life. It must be cured, and the simplest and surest remedy is Ferrozone. It digests every particle of food eaten, and pre-vents the waste products from clogging up the system. Ferrozone restores all deranged organs to a healthy, vigorous condition. It keeps the bowels well regulated, makes the kidneys eliminate all poisons from the blood, and supplies the ne cessary elements to build up and strengthen the entire body.

Mr. Louis Meehan, one of Peterboro's

The King's Condition.

The King's physicians, in their public bulletins are not erring on the side of optimism, and building up hopes which may be cruelly shattered, as was the case with President McKinley. We may expect no cheering intelligence until his Majesty has really crossed the danger line. It is now apparent that his illness was no sudden development, but had been stealthily approaching the acute stage, which his Majesty hoped to avert until the coronation festivities were over. He must have been suffering intensely on Monday night when he entertained his royal visitors at Buckingham Palace. One can only admire the fortitude with which he endeavored to brave the fatiguing exercises of the week with a smiling front, while battling with physical pain and with the mental anguish induced by the fear of collapse at the critical moment.

The general disappointment at the postponement of the coronation will be swallowed up in the concern for the King's condition, and in the flood of sympathy and loyal affection which must be more highly prized by his Majesty than the formal splendors of the coronation. His best crown is the fealty and goodwill of all his people, and it is more essential to his sovereignty than the circlet of gold and jewels, which, in itself, is an empty bauble,

Cuba and Canada.

Now that the United States has denied Cuba any commercial privileges the new republic will probably try to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with some other country, with a view to a market for Cuban sugar and tobacco. There are many difficulties in the way and the island may face an economic crisis. Germany, France, Austria, Belgium and Holland are all producers of beet root sugar and will hardly facilitate the admission of Cuban cane sugar to compete with the domestic product. Great Britain is not a sugar producing country, but by the terms of the Brussels after Sept. 1, 1903, any preference in the British market, even to colonial cane sugar, as against the beet root sugar imported from the continent of Europe. This is one of the conditions upon which continental governments agree to abolish the bounty system. Spain is also a party to the Brussels convention, so that the only great nigar-consuming countries to which Cuba can look are Canada and Australia, which are not bound by the for preferential treatment in the Cuban market, admit Cuban sugar on a preferred basis? This country already discriminates to the extent of 831/3 per cent. in favor of British West Indian sugar, and this advantage to sister colonies would be largely cancelled by admitting the Cuban product at the same rate. In addition to this Canada is attempting beet root sugar production on her own account, the Ontario Government having granted a bonus to encourage the new industry. In the face of this there 4s little chance of a Canadian-Cuban reciprocity treaty. Australia is also becoming a sugar-growing country, and the tendency there will be to foster domestic production. Unless the United States comes to the relief Cuba has a hard time in store and may find herself economically in a worse plight than under the Spanish regime, for Spain was then her great market: It

There has been a decrease in litigation not only in Ontario but apparently throughout the world during the past few years. It is not easy to de-

The fee system has flourished for a long time, and not long ago the complaint against it as it applied to magistrates' courts was a special grievance in this county; not that the fees were too low, but that fees tempted some magistrates and constables to answered her father. The administration of justice should be brought as near perfection as possible, and the fee system gives the official a personal interest that he would not have if paid by salary. It is well worth considering whether a system wrong in principle should be maintained at any cost. Should not everyone engaged in the enforcement of law be placed as far above temptation as possible, and should not every necessary official be paid such sum as is necessary to properly maintain his position? We think the question an important one and well worth careful

The Spacious Firmament on High.

[Joseph Addison.] Joseph Addison was born at Milston in 1672. He went to Queen's College, Oxford; after he finished his course he traveled on the continent, studying for the diplomatic service. Returning, he held the position of secretary of state, 1706-8, and until a year of his death held different political positions. He wrote, beside his famous contributions to the Tattler and Spectator, "The Campaign," a treatise on medals, a "Letter from Italy," and one play worthy the name, "Cato." He died at London in 1719.

Teach the children the history of the country-a noble one it is—and instill into their young minds ambition to do their duty to the land they live in; to aim at high ideals; to make still more honored the emblem of their nation, and to make it respected not for the power of its armies or fleets alone, but more for the justice of its laws, the freedom of institutions, the wisdom of its rulers, the liberties enjoyed by the individual citizen and the social comfort and purity of life of its masses. Children who are taught to recognize and feel these things will need no flagwaving stimulus to make them pa triotic; and unless they do feel them all the flag-waving will do is to make for the vice of national egotism and triotism in the mere formal flag

Krupp has striven since 1848 to interest the French government in his guns, and only recently went to Brest at France's request to arrange for a new electrical installation. In the last Chinese campaign Krupp guns were actually used against the mans. It is naturally repugnant to the national feeling that weapons made in Germany should serve to kill German troops. And Germany has an arbitrary way of settling national questions to the liking of the nation rather than to the individual.

Whilst all the stars that round her burn,
And all the planets in their turn,
Confirm the things as they roll,
And spread the truth from pole to pole.

What though in solemn silence all Move round this dark terrestrial ball; What though no real voice nor sound, Amidst their radiant orbs be found; In reason's ear they all rejoice. And utter forth a glorious voice; Forever singing, as they shine, "The hand that made us is divine."

"My sister (of Arlington, Washington Co., Nebr.,) was taken very sick and had several doctors," writes Mrs. C. L. Harrison, of Elk City, Douglas Co., Nebr. They could not do her any good, and told my motier they would not come any mere, as no doctor could help her, that she could not get well. She had 'wasting of the digestive organs.' My mother said to my sister: 'Well, I almost know that Dr. Pierce's medicines will cure her.' So she bought six bottlesthree of 'Goldan Medical Discovery' three of 'Favorite Prescription,' and some of the 'Pellets:' and now my sister is a well woman.

AMERICAN MARKETS. CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 24.—The markets on the boar of trade were badly mixed today. Each pit was at variance with the others. Manipulation seemed to be to blame for Each pit was at Variance with the others. Manipulation seemed to be to blame for the irregularity. The gossip that one elevator had July wheat in control, that the "Gates crowd" had July corn cornered, that July oats were being strongly advanced by manipulation, and that the packing house interests were artificially booming provisions, made the outsiders fight shy of the pits and leave most of the business to the professionals. After strained fluctuations, July wheat closed a shade higher, July corn %c higher, September corn ¼c up, and July oats 1½c higher; provisions closed 5c lower to 17½c higher. Local receipts of wheat were 38 cars, 6 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 250 cars, making a total for the three points of 288 cars, against 146 last week and 429 a year ago. LAST NIGHT'S REP ORTS.

DOING WELL. London, June 24.-The lord mayor, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, visited the Duke of Fife (son-in-law of the King) late this afternoon. The duke said his majesty was peacefully sleeping, and that his pulse and temperature were satisfactory.

Just before the adjournment of the House of Commons, Mr. Balfour, the government leader, announced that the condition of King Edward had not changed, and that his majesty was progressing satisfactorily.

The thinking portion of the nation, however, has gone home numbed by the events which the day has brought forth. Indescribable consternation prevails throughout the country, and this consternation is re-flected in the cablegrams received from all centers of the universe. THE KING'S DANGER.

King Edward is in a room facing he beautiful gardens of Buckingham Palace, and far from the street and the crowd. If tonight's progress is maintained, he will probably tide over the effects of his severe operation, which has successfully removed the local trouble, but should any complication occur, such as septic peritonitis or blood-poisoning, it was feared his majesty's present physical and nervous condition would prove unequal to the strain involved. There is consequently intense anxiety as to the emergency which demanded an imoperation. To the last the King tried to avoid this, and he was willing to be carried to the abbey for the coronation ceremony in order that it should occur as irranged. The influence of Queen Alexandra was enlisted, however, and at an early hour this morning the royal patient was prepared for the operation, which, even in the skillful hands of England's best surgeons, was fraught with grave danger. THE OPERATION.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon his majesty was moved from his couch to the operating table and the anaesthetic was administered. Sir Frederick Traves made the incision near the patient's groin, and carried it upwards with an outward slant, for nearly four inches. The obstruction was removed and a tubing was placed in the affected intestine. King Edward's first words when he returned to consciousness was to ask for 'George," and the Prince of Wales, who was waiting in the next room, was immediately admitted to his father's presence. While the operation was being performed the great central court yard of Buckingham palace, so lately the scene of such brilliant gatherings, was utterely deserted and an impressive silence reigned throughout the building. The equerries talked in whispers, servants tip-toed about and the tension grew almost unbearable. Then the word was passed around: 'All had gone well."

OFFICIAL NOTICE. A brief notice has been published in the Gazette, as a result of which the entire state, social and business arrangements throughout the country are paralyzed. The order is dated from the Earl Marshal's office and reads as follows: "I have to announce that the solemnity of the coronation of Their Majesties King Ed-ward VII. and Queen Alexandra is postponed from the 26th to a date hereafter to be determined." THE QUEEN. Queen Alexandra has borne 26 0 strain of the past week with the bravest spirit. She was always fear-ful of what might happen. Her majesty took her part in the festivities at Ascot and elsewhere without revealing any sign of her inward anxiety, and when she was told today that an operation was imperative and that the coronation would have to be postponed, she quietly answered: "Have I not felt that this would happen?" and asked. "How does the devise means to lessen the King's grief and disappointment, although she was evidently greatly distressed. The idea was mooted in some influential quarters today that with a view the public Queen Alexandra should be satisfied in the first instance with the crowned alone next Thursday, and the paratively private manner upon his recovery. This idea was discussed, might contain the germs of future but it was rejected as a procedure calculated to mislead the public mind as to the purely relative importance countries.

PRAYERS FOR THE KING. In striking contrast to the happy anticipation with which the day opened is an order issued tonight by the Bishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, and the Archbishop of York, the Most Rev. William D. MacLagan, appointing special forms for the intercession services to be held next Thursday. "The congregation," says the archbishops, in their joint or-"would doubtless be thankful to join at this juncture in prayer to the Almighty for blessings on his ma-jesty the King and for his speedy recovery. The first two prayers in those prescribed for the visitation of the sick might be used for this occasion." The Archbishop of Canterbury also asks for "the public and private prayers of all in behalf of the King in his serious illness."

A large congregation in St. Paul's Cathedral listened this afternoon to the Bishop of Stepney, who is one of King Edward's intimate friends. The bishop referred to the King's recent presence in the cathedral at the peace thanksgiving as a sad contrast to day's circumstances, and asked his congegation to pray for his majesty, the royal family, the King's physicians, and to learn to hope. Then fol-lowed a solemn pause while the vast congregation knelt reverently in silent prayer. A short service of intercession followed. Many Americans were present at St. Paul's. A service similar to the one held there was also held in St. George's Chapel by the Dean of

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

MANSFIELD ON SATURDAY. An important dramatic and social event is the appearance of Richard Mansfield at the Grand next Saturday. This versatile actor has this year achieved a great triumph in a distinct ly original role. Last year he made great historical pageant his work, and the year before his success was in a romantic tragedy. This year he has surpassed his former record in a comedy, "Beaucaire," in which he is given happiest opportunities for the characterization of a witty, princely lover. The cast of "Beaucaire" is a long one, there being 26 speaking parts and almost as many more people of experience to complete the picture of the smart set of Bath, when Beaucaire played his little comedy with Lady Mary and the Duke of Wintersett. The play is in five acts. The advance sale this morning was large, and promises a crowded house for Saturday even-

TALES OF LONDON TOWN

-Mr. Richard and Miss Mary Forrestal are spending the holidays in Montreal. -A weekly sitting of the high court of justice will be held tomorrow. One case has been entered. -Miss Ellen Kurzenknabe left this morning for Harrisburg, Pa., where she will visit for two months. -The funeral of the late Francis Lewis took place this morning from his residence, Oxford street, to St. John's cemetery. Rev. A. C. Crewes conducted the service. -Mr. Samuel Cohoon, of 482 Princess avenue, leaves this afternoon for New York, where he will spend a few days before sailing via Anchor Line steam-ship New Columbia, for Ireland.

-The Kenwick male quartette and song illustrators of this city played a successful engagement at Pinaforte booked for a return date next week. Their quartette work is much above the average.

-The Daughters of the Empire of this city have forwarded to the central committee at Toronto the sum of $283 58, that being the proceeds of their recent entertainments. The funds are devoted to caring for Canadian soldiers' graves in Africa. -Mrs. Harrison, wife of Mr. B. Harrison, of the Boswell House, has just returned from a two months' pleasure trip in California. While there she visited her brother-in-law, Mr. Harrison, of Sacramento: also her cousin, the deputy sheriff of Stockton. She also spent some time in Salt Lake City.

-The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U., held Tuesday afternoon, in their rooms at Somerset Hall, was both interesting and profitable. Arrangements were made for a festival to be held in their rooms on the evenance convention, which will convene in the Auditorium early next week.

An Interesting Fish Story From Pike

"The bird did not come up again. I rowed to the spot where it had gone down to find an explanation of its extraordinary disappearance. "A dead pickerel about eight inches long was floating on the surface. A hole through its body showed plainly enough that this pickerel was the one the kingfisher had speared. "I drifted about the spot some time, and then something came to the surface, near the shore. It was a big pickerel, and with it the kingfisher,

So, on a hot, dusty, glarly day early in August, the music-mistress left her humble lodging to commence this first essay in gaining her daily bread. A week ago, she would have thought that such an opportunity as the present would have made her perfectly happy; now she creaded and almost loathed it, though she reproached herself for ingratitude the while, and took herself bitterly to task for weakness of purpose and want of courage. At times she felt as if the gallant spirit within could face and conquer any difficulties, but at times also—and who shall blame her?—the tears sprang to her eyes as she thought of her friendless and unprotected position, of her dreary lot, her young days darkened, her young beauty wasted in the mere struggle to live, her capacity for happiness and to live, her capacity for happiness and for making happy so completely thrown away! Who shall say why these things are so? Why the warmest heart must sometimes be the saddest and the lonesometimes be the saddest and the lone-liest? Why the kindliest nature must so often be driven back upon itself, to sour and deteriorate? So little, so very little, would make some so happy! And yet that little is sternly and consistently denied. It is not for us to penetrate these things. The Great Artificer of all is the best judge. Day by day we see the round man in the square hole. We only know that all the struggling in the world will not make his prison one whit less angular and uncomfortable. Revolving such thoughts as these, Mrs.

Revolving such thoughts as these, Mrs.
Latimer, in the quietest and simplest attre, crossed the New road at the top of Portland Place, and, as she did so, narrowly escaped being knocked down byth high-stepping brown cab-horse, that was wasting a deal of action (considering the time of the year), and throwing about a vest quantity of froth as he champed and churned under the skilliguidance of a pair of lavender-colored gloves, the only portions visible of the occupier of the cab. The lady was unconscious of her danger; the gentleman totally unaware of her proximity. They passed within a horse's length, yet neither saw the other's face. Mrs. Latimer, with her indigenous good taste, could not but approve of the tout ensemble that had so nearly knocked her down as it extitled by but she had far other thoughts but approve of the tout ensemble that had so nearly knocked her down as it rattled by, but she had far other thoughts to occupy her mind than dark-green panels and high-stepping cab-horses; while Gilbert Orme-for Gilbert it was whe owned the lavender gloves aforesaid—was yawning his way out of town in a state of weariness and vacuity which forbade him to take the slightest interest in any sublunary consideration. He was bored with the London season, yet leavin any sublunary consideration. He was bored with the London season, yet leaving it with no feelings of relief or excitement. He was on his way to a Scotch mountain, where he expected to be bored by the society of too many intimate friends, and too great a quantity of game. He was bored with the prospect of a railway journey of some five hundryd miles, to be accomplished with a break at a north cotatry hotel. It was a bore stopping on the way; but then it was a bore stopping on the way; but then it was a bore stopping on the station, and not five minutes before had caught himself almost envying the cheerful face of a joily drayman, whose wagon blocked the street. He was thinking what a weary, useless life his own was—how he would like to have an object for which to exert himself—something to make him eager and energetic, and anxious, aye, eager and energetic, and anxious, aye, even if it made him unhappy—something to scheme for, and think of, and fret about—something to care for—something

And he passed her within three paces, and drove on all unconsciously to the London and Northwestern Railway; but we will not anticipate, and our business is now with the lady rather than the gentleman.

Mrs. Latimer walked on till she arrived at the gate of a pretty, detached villa, the entrance to which, with its trim lawn and well-swept gravel drive, reminded her a little of The Cottage. It was, however, the contract of the cottage of the cottage of the cottage of the cottage.

"Is Miss Jones at home?" asked the nusic-mistress, conquering a mixed feeling of pride and shyness at a gulp. music-mistress, conquering a mixed feeling of pride and shyness at a gulp.

"Yes, my lady," answered the man, a thorough London servant, who had only accepted the appointment with Alderman Jones, as he said, "temporarily for country air," and whose savoir vivre prompted him that so plainly-dressed and engaging a lady calling at that early hour must be a countess at least. "Step this way, my lady, if you please!"

Remorse tore that official's heart and poisoned his one o'clock dinner when he ascertained the real business of the visitor. In the meantime, Mrs. Latimer followed her conductor upstairs, summoning all her courage for the ordea!. At the first landing-place she encountered a rubicund old gentleman with a baid head and a white neckcloth, who first begged her pardon, as it should seem, for taking the liberty of going down stairs in his own house, and then stopped her further progress by the summary process of placing his corpulent person immediately in front of her.

"Madam," said the old gentleman, with a ludicrous mixture of profound deference and startling abruptness, "pardon the liberty I take in asking, but are you going upstairs to give my daughter a and pitied her sincerely; nor was he satisfied till she had drained every drop, and the color had returned to her cheek, and the brightness to her eye.

Then Alderman Jones began again:

"Bella's dressing, Mrs. Latimer. A late riser; so was her mother. You should have known her, my dear madam. That woman was one in a million. There's her picture. Yes, it's very like, but wants her sweet smile. Aye, aye, we were very happy together, too happy to last. But it's a blessed lot. Nothing equal a happy marriage! By Jovel there's a misdeal! Luckily for the alderman, his daughter made her appearance at this juncture; and, bowing kindly to Mrs. Latimer, rang for her late breakfast; and in five minutes, with her frank, almost hoydenish, manner, and her kind, good heart, made the music-mistress feel completely at home. She was a black-eved, blackhaired, fresh-colored girl, with a broad, comely face, and a broad, hearty smile; such a girl as looks more in place on a dairy-floor than behind the curtain of an opera-box, and yet with a degree of true refinement in her honest, womanly nature that might put many a great lady to the blush. # LACROSSE.

LONDON JUNIORS PLAY BRANT-FORD.

The London juniors play a game to day against Brantford, and it is to be hoped they will make some kind of a showing, but the fact must not be overlooked that Brantford have been playing lacrosse for years and their junior team is exceptionally strong. THURSDAY'S GAME AT WOOD-STOCK.

The executive of the London senior lacrosse club have suggested to Woodstock the names of Peter McMillan or Mr. Waghorn, of Toronto, to act as referee in the games in Woodstock on Thursday. Peter McMillan gave excellent satisfaction in the game on the island between the Tecumsehs and St. Catharines on Saturday last, and as the game in Woodstock is one of great importance as far as the Western series is concerned, it will be necessary to have a very strict referee in order to control the keyed-up feelings of all the players. From a dope standpoint Woodstock has everything in its favor, having defeated London on their own grounds by a good large margin, and having succeeded, also, in defeating Stratford and Paris in a decisive way. In addition to that, the London team is considerably crippled 69, handicap 12, total 57. owing to the absence of two or three of its good players, but the Cockneys are determined to make the hardest kind of a stand in Woodstock on dence, and everything about it, from the fat spaniel stretching itself in the sun to will play a far different game from the puffy footman who opened the door, what they did when they last met denoted affluence and comfort.

Woodstock and it will take consider-Woodstock, and it will take considerable enticing to draw them away from their positions in the two ensuing games. The addition of Banty Taylor on the home has made a considerable improvement in the combination, but there is still room for increased speed and better and faster work. The team will have several work-outs previous to this important game, and all who are interested in lacrosse are quite welcome to witness practices which are held nightly at Tecumsel Park. A return match will be played on Tecumseh Park on Dominion Day

THE TURF.

AT FORT ERIE. Fort Erie Race Track, Ont., June 25.—
Cool weather, cloudy skies and thunderstorms prevailed at the track again yesterday, and had avery depressing effect on the attendance. The bookmakers had a bad day of it, five of the events being won by well-played second choices. The First race 6 furlongs, for 4-year-olds and up, selling—St. Wood, 102 (R. Steele) 3½ to 1, won by two lengths; Ringleader, 102 (C. Alley), 3 to 1, second. She bowed silently in the affirmative.

"This, then," she thought, "must be the parent Jones. I wonder if his daughter's voice is equally difficult to modulate."

"Not with that pale face—I'll be—I beg your pardon—not with that pale face! You don't go a step further. This way, John, the sherry, directly; and a biscult, and some fruit! And let Miss Jones know. You'll find this the coolest room in the house. Lord! how tired she looks; and what a knave that husband of hers must be!"

The alderman had two little peculiarities, which rendered him at first a somewhat startling acquaintance: one was, a habit of speaking out his thoughts and checking himself too late, which though inconvenient is by no means a very uncommon failing; and the other, a practice of deriving his metaphors and other figures of speech from the noble game of whist, of which, though a modorare player, he was an ardent admirer. Albeit, a trifle choleric, he was kindly loved his only daughter Bella, as he still loved her mother in her grave at St. John's Wood; and believed old sherry to be the true elixir vitae, and an unfailing remedy for all diseases, whether of body or mind.

With his own hand he poured out a large glass of that reviving liquid for Mrs. Latimer. He had heard her story, and pitied her sincerely; nor was he satisfied till she had drained every drop, and pitied her sincerely; nor was he satisfied till she had drained every drop. # SOME POINTERS ON BATTING

During the past two or three weeks I have attended a large number of sort of place hitting is an impossibil amateur baseball games, and the cfforts put forth by some of the players should always aim to become a shade festly a handicap to them, leads me to game he enters, than he was in present a few ideas concerning bating News. Some players having bat-ting ability seem impressed with the shoulder, this is the correct position to aid them in their attempt at batting. This is erroneous, for it renders that players dislike to attempt it, them players, who habitually bat in realizing that the chances for a sucone fashion, and consequently they are not capable of adapting themselves to each situation as it presents itself. This movement, as an initiative, will not admit of the different swings. something essentially a part of the adept at batting against different Cleveland—

These things all go to show the difference between what is advisable for one sort of a ball and another, and also demonstrates where an amateur batsman is remiss when his methods are compared to those of the intelligent professional or semi-professional. The majority of amateurs are much more ignorant of the de-mands of the professional game than the average spectator divines; and, too, the majority of the amateur players are far more ignorant of the game than they realize themselves. Both were an amateur get a splendid ball right over the plate at an awaren pitcher is pitted against them. We have all seen an amateur get a splendid ball right over the plate at an awaren where here over the plate at an angle where he expects to kill it. With his bat to be yanked from his shoulder, he strikes down at the ball repeatedly and it is a case of three strikes and out, or a measly, punky hit to the infield that availeth nothing. The people say:
"What's the matter with Mickey today?" Why, he ought to have killed the ball. He used to drive 'em to kingdom come when he was fed such balls!" Not only the fans, but poor Mickey couldn't tell what was wrong; and if Mickey were to be told the reason for his failure—the incorrect style of hold-ing his bat—he would be apt to attempt to justify the method by remarking: "Get out! Didn't you see Eagan, or some one else, bat that way in the professional game? He hit 'em good tion it is O. K., don't do it, for it will handicap you in almost every instance. The ball player himself, if he is the least observing, can quickly tell whether this position is profitable to him or whether it is a handicap; and once he carefully considers the matter, he will speedily determine to discard style. Nothing is more disappointing the discriminating enthusiast than to see a batsman stand in the position stated above, and when the pitcher throws the ball, go through a Jeckyl and Hyde motion, such as is sure to give him little show at the ball. Ke-p your feet apart. Then if a close ball comes along it is much easier to ;et out of the way by moving one foot than it is to move both of them. Likewise, it is far easier to get the body into the natural swing to give force to the bat and meet any sort of a delivery. When you take the bat in hand do not grip it with all your might and strength. This misapplication of strength will not squeeze out base nits. Grasp the bat just firm enough twist it in your hands, for by so doing you are assisted in effecting your desire to drive out either a line ball or a grounder, as, in your judgment, the occasion demands. It is a wise method of handling the bat, because the ball will go a greater distance if the bat is

POINTERS IN PLACE HITTING.

When the pitcher throws the ball, if the batsman is desirous of sending the ball between first and second base, he should throw the foot in front towards first base, with the other foot on a line No time is required to execute this movement, and it may be done as the ball leaves the pitcher's hand so that a good line may be kept on the ball. Starting with the toe of the right foot it will be the means of throwing the body forward simultaneously with the pitcher's move that throws his body forward. The batsman, on this move, should have the best of it, as the bending of the pitcher in a forward position cuts some of the speed off the ball, but the delivery This forward movement of the pitcher made with that of the batsman is just quick shift. My judgment leads me to make the assertion that the batsman who does not step away from the plate but, on the contrary, bends toward the plate in the batsman's box, as far as possible, has everything the best of it over the man who habitually draws away from the plate. While not only better results are obtained from this position at bat, one can get away from the plate sooner to avoid widely pitched balls. This style does not, of course, guarantee protection against wild pitching, but it certainly fortifies a batsman and renders it much easier to avoid balls that men of the other style would find it impossible to avoid. There is an apparent listlessness of manner in the other style of batting, because the men of this sort are easily mixed up with erratic delivery and get retired, while the batsman who has the quick shift and the disposition to not step away from the plate is the man who the pitcher finds it difficult to get rid of, because he is more alert and has a better line on his delivery.

DO NOT STRIKE DOWNWARD.

If the pitcher throws a drop ball do not drop downward at an imaginary mark. It is easier to meet the ball by striking up at it as it is in the act of descending, and the chances of meeting it are, to a far greater degree more favorable. Striking down always prevents an accurate location of the most difficult ball the batsman is called upon to gauge. Take the opposite course with a raise ball, or, in other words, bat on a level with the ball while it is in motion, the bat taking a natural rise, and hence the chances for meeting it are greatly enhanced. The chopping motion will never result in the desired style of a hit, for any ity with the chop motion brought into use. The painstaking batsman in their attempt to bat, being so mani- more scientific in his work in each last game in which he participated. Once the player permits this idea to ting, writes H. G. Merrill, in the Sport- become his ruling thought for each conaverage player is much opposed to idea that if they stand with feet to- taking up the practice of sacrifice hitgether and the bat resting upon the ting, in the main, because this style of Chase's Ointment will cure this awful hitting is everywhere unpopular among the patrons. Likewise, opposition to cessful issue are against them.

this play is engendered by the fact Ball players, in pursuing this course, make a great mistake. If they could only be brought to realize the fact that practice work at sacrifice hitting very best method to pursue to teach them how to skillfully and scientifically handle a bat, and time the ball, they would be more eager to engage in this sort of practice. Sacrific hitting is a species of scientific baseball in the batting department that ought to be more generally taught, for even if it is not brought into play with any marked frequency, it is in its effect upon erratic batsmen, in that it steadies them and serves to sharpen the eye and cultivate a better judgment. Sacrifice hitting is, however, spoken of with a shudder by many players of experience, simply because of the aversion they have for this difficult play. I regard this play more difficult than any other acknowledged scientific batting play, solely because it is a play permitted to be passed by in legitimate practice hours; hence only a few of the rank and file of the players can make even a decent attempt to execute it. When scientific batting plays of any character fail of execution, it is usually because the batsman was not equal to that style of batting, and he might have been equally as thorough a failure at any of the several plays. It is not necessary to condemn this style of batting

This is a "free country" still a law that compelled people to try Blue Ribbon beylon Jea would do a lot of good. Put up Black Mixed & Ceylon Freen rifice hitting because the adept fails in his attempt, as he will in the majority of cases. Ninety per cent of the players are not equal to the demands in the professional arena who have no coop. They're bum chickens and yet manage to do a good amount of cackl- if they were, the national game would the far attractive than it is at the ing on an insignificant lay. My advice to the amateur is that no matter present time, with the great majority of the players unequal to the numerous plate with his feet together and his bat demands of their position in the batting list.

BATTING IS AN ART.

Batting is more of an art than it is generally considered to be, and this act will be all the more realized by the follower of the game who considers well the requirements essential to bring success. In fact, baseball all through is more of a science than the average votary divines. The eminently successful men in the game, as a rule, are born ball players, although it must be admitted that some of the stars have been made so by careful and painstaking training at the hands of some shrewd manager, his efforts being assisted by the natural ability of the player. A friend recently remarked to me that he had read an article in the Guide on "Scientific Batting," and added that he never knew there was anything else but scientific batting in baseball games, if the batsman understood what was required of him. Although there is chance batting introduced, scientific batting-an attempt having a definite motive behind itought always to be the programme. The majority of men or boys, can, through practice, be taught how to catch a ball or how to strike at it, but it is next to an impossibility to teach one to be a thorough success where the natural instincts are not possessed to serve as a guide to the novice's action. The novice who lacks natural ability can not be expected to held rather loosely. My estimate of place hitting possibilities may seem show up to an advantage. The true science of the game is to appreciate peculiar, inasmuch as many writers assert that place hitting is impossible speedily the proper play for the occasion, and with every endeavor aim to execute it correctly and effectually The science and art of playing the game may be possessed by a player, but judgment does not go hand in hand with the attempt, and the player is woefully deficient. For this reason the ambitious young player ought always to play close attention to, and practice on all plays in batting or fielding which appear difficult to Assurdly when he is delegated to work a play that he realizes is difficult for him to effect, he is conscious of the fact that he may make a miss or bungle up the play, and this causes him to be less confident than would be the case if he had, by practice, come an adept. The game is played almost the same as it was a quarter of a century ago with the exception that scientific features have been introduced to circumvent the efforts of tricky players; and the game is yet far from the true game which will be played a quarter of a century hence. Ultimately, the manager will have his nine men to be placed in the batting list as he deems best, it being his pre-rogative to call upon the man who, he thinks, can best effect the play desires to introduce, instead of havthe batting list made up permanently as is now the custom at the opening of a game. The chess idea of placing the men as will be to the best advantage, is worthy of emulation. The pitcher will ultimately be more circumscribed and limited, so that he will be forced to come more to the level of the ability of the batsmen, each combatting element having about an equal chance. The spectators will then, much more than now, realize at once what is the proper play to introduce, and will all the more earnestly and enthusiastically await its execution.

Bleeding Piles

Two Letters From Mr. Walker His Cure by Using

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Some people seem to think that it is too much to claim that Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure every form of piles, but facts go to prove the truth of this claim. These are interesting letters from one who has suffered much and been cured: In November, 1901, Mr. Sherwood Walker, a fireman on the Canada Atlantic Railway, living at Madawaska, Ont., writes: "I am a great sufferer from bleeding piles. Sometimes the protruding piles come down, causing much misery and uneasiness, and at other times I am subject to bleeding piles, and they bleed to such an extent as to make me quite weak. ailment you will have my everlasting gratitude

On March 1, 1902, we received the following letter from Mr. Walker, which speaks volumes for Dr. Chase's Ointment, as a cure for piles of the most distressing form. He writes: "According to my promise, I now take pleasure in writing to you. If you remember, you sent me a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment for bleeding piles some three months ago. I used it faithfully, and can say that it proved a God-send, for it has entirely cured me of bleeding piles.

"I would have written sooner, but I wanted to be able to tell you that it was a permanent cure. This you can use for the benefit of other suffering people here who have been cured of very severe cases of protruding piles by using this great ointment."

So far as we know there is no other preparation extant which is so successful in curing piles of the most aggravated kind as Dr. Chase's Ointment. Its soothing, healing powers are marvelous, and its cures thorough and permanent. Sixty cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., To-

At the rear was an electric lamp which had not been lighted. She reached up to turn it on, and, to steady herself, is supposed to have rested the pan against an iron railing about the counter. It was found afterward that the arc light current had mingled with the incandescent. When she touched the button she received the arc light voltage. She was 56 years of

BURIED IN A WELL Paris. Ont., June 25 .- A very serious, if not a fatal, accident occurred on the Skelly farm, about two miles east of here, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, as the result of which Mar-shall Henderson, of Branchton, is buried alive under about sixty feet of earth. The young man was assisting in deepening a well, and something having gone wrong with the apparatus he was let down by a rope to investigate. After making the necessary alteration and while he was being drawn up the wall began to cave in from the top, carrying him back and completely burying him. He was able to respond to those engaged in the work of rescue by tapping on the iron pipe running down the well, but nothing more is known of his condition. It will probably be morning before he is rescued, but whether dead or alive is uncer-

The Letters From Mr. Walker that will be levied by the government after July 1. The plan is to sell the butterine uncolored, thus avoiding the tax, but to give with each pound a small amount of coloring matter that can be mixed with the butterine and will give any desired tint. The plan, which it is supposed, will be followed by all butterine manufacturers, was made public in the circular sent out from the Armours' Kansas City Plant > as follows: A 10-cent a pound tax on colored oleomargarine is practically prohibitive; therefore, we recommend the uncolored article, and trust the many friends of oleomargarine will promptly adopt its use. While hotels, restaurants and boarding-houses cannot buy uncolored butterine and color it, vet a family is not restricted from doing so. We will furnish dealers with coloring in capsules for this purpose, A housewife can color oleomargarine

THIRTEEN RESCUEL.

Dunkirk, N. Y., June 25 .- Capt. Chas. Vetters and Engineer Thomas Notter, of a Dunkirk fish tug, saved thirteen persons from drowning in the harbor of Erie, P., on Monday. Just as they made port with the tug Walker, a pleasure sail yacht capsized in a sud-den squall. The tug steamed to the yacht to which thirteen persons, six men, two boys and five women, were clinging, and took them aboard. They were landed at the fishing company's house, whence they were taken to the United States steamer Michigan.

DEAD IN HIS CHAIR.

New York, June 25 .- A woman in a hurry to catch a train rushed to the ticket agent's window in the Fortysecond street station of the Ninth avenue elevated road yesterday after-noon, put down a nickel and said, Hurry, please."

There was no response. The woman looked again and discovered that the ticket seller was dead in his chair. He had died of heart disease. He was Chas. Leroy, of 224 Graton street, Hoboken.

A PLEASANT MEDICINE.—There are some pills which have no other purpose than to beget painful internal disturbances in the patient, adding to his troubles and perplexities rather than diminishing them. One might as well swallow some corrosive material. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills have not this disagreeable and injurious property. They are easy to take, are not unpleasant to the taste, and their action is mild and seething. A trial of them will prove this. They offer peace to the dyspeptie.

Get Ready Now. Give the brain and body food during the summer that does not overtax the stomach and heat the body. Grape-Nuts is a crisp, dainty and delicious food, selected parts of the grain treated by heat, moisture and time to slowly and perfectly develop the diastase from the grain and transform the starch into grape sugar in the most perfect manner; the small particles of phosphate of potash found in certain parts of the cereals are re-tained and these elements vitalize and nourish the body, brain and nerve centers. In its predigested form, it furnishes the necessary strength and energy in an easy way for the system to absorb without undue exertion and re-moves the general feeling of heaviness usual to hot weather. Grape-Nuts and cream, a little fruit and possibly an egg or two cooked to suit the taste, is an ideal breakfast and will fully sustain the body until the noonday meal. Delicious desserts for luncheon and supper can be quickly made, and have a flavor all their own from the peculiar, mild, but satisfying sweet of the grape sugar. Grape-Nuts will save the heat of cooking and the exertion of preparing food: will make you feel internally ten degrees cooler and fit you for the summer's heat so that you may enjoy the full pleasures of the season. The present status of the work of medical missions is such as to encourage the prosecution of this form of
