London, Sept. 12.—Several morning newspapers today contain an authorized statement from the Canadian Government that the statement published North British Agriculturist, that Canadian cheese shipped to the old country markets is made of oleomargarine, is absolutely without foundation. BRITISH COMMENT. Glasgow, Sept. 12.-The Herald says the decision of the committee will cause bitter disappointment in this country. We cannot, however, impeach

the fairness of the decision or question their right to award the race to the yacht which they declared was fouled by the actual victor. The only question is whether it would not have been more sportsmanlike to have voided the race altogether; but that is a matter of opinion. We must, however, accept the decision with the best possible

Standard: The decision will be received with much regret in England. It is unlucky, to say the least, that the result deprives Lord Dunraven of what seemed to be a fairly won victory. We do not imply that there is the slightest reason to suspect the committee of par-tiality. We recognize the kindly spirit that prompted them to sound the competitors as to whether they would like to race again without a decision on the disputed point, Evidently the foul was a pure accident. We only express our belief, that, had the positions been reversed, Lord Dunraven would have cheerfully agreed to resail the race as a solution of the difficulty.

Chronicle: We confess we see no reason in the decision of the committee awarding the race to the Defender. The foul occurred before the starting gun was fired and before the line was crossed. The Defender might have backed out, but she elected to race. Had the Valkyrie wilfully fouled the Defender during the race the penalty could not have been greater. The committee's explanation does not improve matters.

Pest: Nothing can be done but to accept the verdict, but even if the decision of the committee be acquiesced in unanimously by yachtsmen on both sides of the Atlantic, the 1895 contest will always be regarded as an unfortunate match. It would be a graceful and sportsmanlike course if Mr. Iselin should offer to resail the race, even if Lord Dunraven was unable to take advantage of the courtesy." The Post further says it would be a pity if another attempt should not be made to bring back the America's cup, suppos-ing the Defender wins the next race, but it may be taken for granted that this will be the last contest sailed in

New York waters. Daily News: The committee has not only taken Tuesday's, supposed victory from the British yacht, but has given It to the Americans. This seems to be rather sharp practice. If the umpire had done his duty he would have recalled the yachts and had a fresh start. The committee's severe award makes poor reciprocity for the generous treatment of the Cornell crew at Henley.

The Times says it is not quite clear whether the committee had the power to order a fresh race. The rules were drawn with special stringency, and may have compelled the committee to award the victory to one or to the other boat, yet most persons here would have desired that the race be resailed.

The Daily Graphic says the committee's decision will be accepted loyally. Lord Dunraven is not the man to throw way his now remote chance of winning the cup, because a committe American gentlemen have held that his yacht was in the wrong.

The Yachting World, in its first leader on the subject, written before the decision, says two races have been sailed. The Valkyrie lost one actually and the second virtually. Whatever may be the committee's verdict, it is impossible to doubt that the American champion achieved a moral victory.

Opening of London's Electric Street Railway.

Mayor J. W. Little, Motorman, on the First Car.

A Number of Speeches at the Fair Grounds.

Mr. Carr Presents the Mayor With a Basket of Flowers.

Cars Will S'op on Near Crossings Cheaper Fares Now-The City Only a Tacit Consenter to the Operation of the Line.

Motor car No. 11, in charge of Motorman Mayor J. W. Little, made the first trip over the electric line this morning, and the road was officially opened by means of several speeches and many cheers.

It is just a week ago last Friday since the rails arrived from Scotland. Today the cars are making regular trips over four miles of completed road, selling seven tickets for a quarter during the day, and nine tickets for a quarter between 6:30 and 8 a.m., and 5 to 6:30 in the evening.

The official run was not the first run of the day, but the other trips were merely trial trips, to make sure that no acident would happen from faults of construction to the precious car of invited guests, who were to follow later. The run was made from the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets. It was intended to start from the City Hall, but the east trolley wire on Richmond street was not completed intime. Scores of people stood around the corner to see the start. The invited guests occupied a reserve car, among them being noticed: Wm. Bowman, Sam Stirling, T. G. Fisher, R. M. C. Toothe, John Hunt, Ald. Pritchard, Albert White, Dan Blackwell. Sam Stewart, C. F. Dan Blackwell, Sam Stewart, C. Hanson, Sim Fax, Ald. Ardill, Sir John a free ride for the occasion. THE START. At 22 minutes to ten Manager Carr asked the company's motorman, who was on the car, to give way to the controlling the current, gave it a slight twist and with a staccatto voluntary from the gong, played by means of the mayor's foot, the car untary moved off.

The mayor evidently believes in rapid transit, especially when controlling the metor. Before the length of the car was passed the pace was a hot one. Clang, clang, went the gong while the ress made. car rolled over the concrete foundason, of Seeley's Bay, was hidden in the grain field when the reaper came Business along the street was suspended, and clerks and proprietors came out to the s'dewalk, their faces illu- news cars, the streets paved, and evminated wit broad smiles. Heads protruded fr ,n the upper windows of everybod; wanted to see the trolley. The way the mayor kept that gong going was a caution. He was evidently setting a good example to the regular motormen.

RESENTED THE INTRUSION. There was a vast difference in the manner in which the horses treated the trolley. The most scared horses were those attached to the bob-tailed herse cars that ran along the side of the street. To them the sight of a car propelled by a fish pole was nothing short of uncanny, and each and every one tried hard to bolt. One horse, just to show his resentment of the innovation, varied the programme by kick-The great majority of horses ing. took no notice whatever of the strange sight. Some followed it with their eyes and turned their heads with apparently as much curiosity as their drivers. But there were cases of genuine scare. One horse, near Burwell street, dragged a market gardener's wagon up on a grass plot, stood on its hind legs, and really tried to climb a shade tree to escape. Another horse would not stand easy on the street, but calmed down considerably when the rider allowed it to stand on the sidewalk.

At William street the car stopped for want of power. Manager Carr hurried to a corner store to telephone to the power house. "Why have we stopped?" asked a curious passenger from the rear of the

"Too Little electricity," answered Mr. Bowman, while his face perceptibly flushed with the know edge that he had been guilty of the crime of punning.

ANOTHER START. Like the cat, the electricity came back, and another run was made to Elizabeth street, where the cars were brought to a standstill in anticipation of a photographer being present to tance traversed was 436 1-2 miles, and photograph the cars. After waiting several minutes it was found that the photographer had gone on to the Fair grounds, and once more the mayor turned on the current. The car turned into the grounds, and by a strong twist on the brakes the mayor brought it to a standstill.

Three hearty cheers were given by the crowd, and Manager Carr presented the mayor with a basket of roses and congratulated him on his success-

MAYOR J. W. LITTLE.

Speeches then became the order of the day. The mayor, standing on the car platform, took very great bleasure in congratulating the street railway company on the success of their initial trip, and on the expeditious way in which the work had been carried on. He was sure that the citizens were satisfied that the work had been done in the best possible way, and that London would have one of the best services on the continent. Further, he was satisfied that the citizens would do their part, and patronize the road well, and add to the company's dividends. "It marks a new era in the progress of our city," said the mayor. "And there are certainly other advantages that we will reap beyond cheap and rapid transit. It will increase the value of real estate, and place us on a par with other cities on the continent." (Ap-plause.) SIR JOHN CARLING.

After again congratulating the com-pany, Mayor Little called on Sir John Carling, "I must congratulate," said Mr. Carling, "this year's City Council for having at last succeeded in making satisfactory arrangements for the completion of the road, and I must also congratulate the president and directors of the street railway company for the energy with which they completed the track to the Fair grounds in time for the Fair."

1.Mr. Carling went back to the time was built in London, and reviewed the progress of the city since that time. He urged upon his hearers the necessity of making London a center, and making Springbank an attractive picnic resort. He concluded by again referring to the ability with which the council had handled the matter and the energy of the company.

CAPT. A. W. PORTE.
Capt. Porte made a brief speech, in which he expressed his pleasure at being present at the inauguration of the electric street railway. He believed, with the previous speakers, that a new era was about to dawn in London. On behalf of the Fair Board he was glad to know that the road would be in operation during the Fair. Citizens would be able to make such good time out to the grounds that they would come

ALD. ARMSTRONG. In the absence of the chairman of No. 1 committee, Ald. Armstrong was called on. He re-echoed the sentiments already expressed. "The gentlemen present," said he, among other things, "have no idea as to the amount of work the mayor of the city has done in order to bring about the desired result." He felt that all must be gratified to know that the road was opened on the same day as the Fair, and in conclusion wished the company every prosperity

ALD. PRITCHARD. Ald. Skinner was absent when called upon, and Ald. Pritchard was asked to speak instead. "Why have they all skipped out?" asked Ald. Pritchard, as he climbed on the car. "To get a drink," answered an irreverent bystander, and the crowd laughted.

Ald. Pritchard said that he did not had been called on. had been looked on as one of the "kickers" against the road. However, he congratulated the company, and was pleased to think that the work is so forward as it is now.

MANAGER CARR. On behalf of the company, Mr. Carr assured them that he appreciated very much the sentiments expressed by the previous speakers. He took that opportunity of thanking the men engaged in the work for the way in which they had co-operated to get the line run-ning by Fair time. Mr. Carr reviewed the rapid progress made, and said that it was unheard of in any city on the continent.

"We will give you a good service," said he, "and we are going to do what we can in every way to protect the lives and property of the citizens. We will use every precaution during the Mr. Little grasped the handle next few days to see that no fatal ac-

"This is only a remnant of the old horse railway," said Mr. Smallman, pointing to the cars, "with electricity instead of horse cars. When we get our erything in running order, we will give very good account of ourselves. We stores, dwe ing houses and factories will give you the best cars that are known today, and a track second to none in the country."

Mr. Smallman regretted that the Springbank Park was not thrown open to the company, and hoped they would e able to enter the park next spring. Concluding, he requested the support of the citizens in the enterprise.

WM. BOWMAN. Mr. Bowman emphasized the remarks of the preceding director as to the service the company was prepared to give. He had been called the father of the street railway, but could not assume the parentage, although he was connected with it in its early stages before dividends were declared. He was proud of the position the company occupied. In a reminiscent strain he described the entry of the first locomotive into the city. He was the driver on that occasion. He witnessed the first application of steam to shipping purposes, and was told that when electricity was discovered that it could not affect gas stocks, as the new light would not burn steady enough. He had seen so many of the great revolutionary inventions of the present day that he almost wished himself young again that he might see whether or not they would ever be improved upon. CHAS. H. IVEY.

Mr. Ivey thought Mr. Bowman should have been called the grandfather of the railroad and he the father. He originated the first electrical street railway cempany in London, and thus was entitled to the cognomen. He was also pleased with the progress of the work and referred to the times when electrical prospects had been very dark. Concluding he thanked the speakers on behalf of the company for their many kind words.

After cheers were given for the Queen the cars were photographed, the mayor, Sir John Carling and the aldermen standing in front. Mr. Carr then took charge of the leading motor, and the return trip to town was made without accident, Defender and Valkyrie Start, But the Latter Withdraws.

Said to Have Been Blanketed by a Pilot Boat.

Dunraven Refuses to Talk-What's the Matter?-A Disappointed Crowd.

Quarantine, S. I., Sept. 12—8:20 a.m.— The yacht Defender is now passing out. 8:20 a.m.—The yacht Valkyrie is pass-

Highlands of Navesink, 9 a.m.-If the wind holds as it does now, from a little south of west, the yachts will have a run of fifteen miles to leeward for the first leg, and the turning mark will be above Long Beach.

Towards 9 o'clock the wind fell off a few points and got around to the south-west. If it continues to hold there, the turning point will have to be shifted either out to sea or to a point on the New Jersey shore similar to that of last Saturday. There, however, is still a prospect that the wind will shift south, which will still keep the start at this point. The wind has dropped in velocity a trifle, and as it ceases to blow, the haze creeps back towards the horizon line. The breeze at 9:10 has died to a knot and a quarter, and the sea is almost like glass. 9:45 a.m.—The committee boat Luckenbach has just passed Valkyrie on her way out to the start. The mempers of the committee doffed their caps to Lord Dunraven, who waved his hand in answer.

10:27 a.m.—The judge's boat has gone towards Valkyrie in order to find out whether Lord Dunraven is willing to sail the triangular race over again to-

10:39 a.m.—The com tee boat has signalled that the yat ts are to sail the straight-away course, which will be a run of fifteen miles to leeward, towards Long Beach, and a beat back. The wind is now about west and blowing about six miles an hour. The mark toat has been displaced to fix the turning mark.

10:45 a.m.—The course has just been signalled as "D," "C," "G," meaning east by south. 10:57 a.m.—The yachts are now maneuvering for the start. DUNRAVEN'S WARNING. New York, Sept. 21.-Lord Dunraven's strong denunciation of the interference of steamers with the racers was looked upon this morning in quite a serious light, as there seems to be no doubt that he meant what he said when he threatened to withdraw from the race if interfered with today. His letter on the subject, written Tuesday, is as follows: "Gentlemen,-It is with great reluctance that I write to inform you that I decline to sail Valkyrie any more under the circumstances that have prevailed in the last two races, and for the following reasons: First-To attempt to start two such large vessels in such confined space and among moving steamers and tug boats, is, in my opinion, exceedingly dangerous, and I will not further risk the lives of my men or the ship. Second-At the start of the first race the crowding was so great that we could not see the mark ocat, and could not tell when we were near the lines, and we were much hampered by steamers, especially on the race home. Today on the reach home eight or nine steamers were to windward of me, and, what was worse, a block of steamers were steaming level with me and close under my lee. I sailed nearly the whole distance in tumbling, broken water, in the heavy swash of these steamers. To race under these conditions is, in my opinion, absurd, and I decline to submit myself to them again, I would remind your committee that foreseeing the trouble that might occur, I urged upon them the desirability of sailing off Marblehead, or some locality other than New York Bay, and that they refused to do so. At the same time, I would testify to my full belief that your committee have done everything in their power to prevent overcrowding."

THE START. 11:12-Defender as lowered her staysail and is now standing to westward on port tack. Something has evidently happened to delay the start, as Valkyrie has made no movement to hoist her slub topsail.

11:16-Valkyrie has just jibbed like a top, and seems to sail a trifle lower in the water than in her previous races. The third gun was fired at 11:20. They are off.

Defender had the best position, crossing the line at 11:20:20, with her spinnaker boom out. Valkyrie crossed the line at 11:20:50. It looks as if she had kept away until the room around the starting line was large enough to suit SOME TROUBLE.

Valkyrie has come around the lightship on the port tack and seems to be out of the race. She has not hoisted her club top-sail or set her spinnaker. She is going back to the starting line, but Defender is keeping on. There is evider 'y some trouble on board the

English yacht. 11:30-Valkyrie is signalling the committee boat. 11:40 a.m.-Defender is going before the wind with all her sails set and her spinnaker drawing grandly. Valkyrle is shaking and pitching about the start, and Lord Dunraven's tug is along side of her.

11:48 a.m.-Valkyrie seems to have her protest flag flying. She has lowered all her sails and has gone towards accompanied by a few excursion boats, is bound back to New York. She has evidently protested against the manner in which she was blanketed at the start by a pilot boat, among other craft, from all appearances. Navaho is also headed back for New York. Valkyrie's main sail is now on deck. Disappointment reigns supreme here. There seems to be no doubt now that Valkyrie from the time she left her the line at the same time as Defender in order to establish a race. Highlands, 12 noon.—Defender is flying along before the wind like a white swan, and the fleet following her is hav-mooring this morning had no real intention of racing at all, but went across ing a hard time to keep up with her. 12:30 p.m.-After Valkyrie had hoisted the ensign of the New York Yacht Club the Dunraven tender ran along side of her and threw her a line. As the English yacht started for home her sails were lowered, and as she passed the McKay Bennett she was heartily cheered by the latter's crew. The men of the Valkyrie returned the cheers, but all on board refused to answer questions. The only explanation of the affair obtainable here at this hour is contained in Lord Dunraven's letter and in the blanking she received from the pilot boat just before the start. On the other hand, it is claimed that Valkyrie never intended to start today, for she had not hoisted her club topsail nor got her spinnaker ready for crossing the line Just as she rounded for the start the tender of Lord Dunraven ran alongside and spoke her. From that time on she never prepared any further, so that possibly the blan-

keting of the pilot boat was not the cause of her withdrawal. 12:32 p.m.—The Associated Press tug has just arrived along side the cable ship, and reports that in reply to repeated inquiries as to his reason for giving up the race Lord Dunraven and his party made no attempt to answer and left Valkyrie's deck, taking refuge elow. Designer Watson and Sailmaker Ratzry sat on the British yacht's boom smoking their pipes complacently, but refusing to answer any questions and turning their backs on the interviewers. In the meanwhile the Yankee boat was sailing over the course before the light winds which prevailed and amid the exulting tooting of all the steam craft in sight. Mr. C. Oliver Iselin had asked the America's cup commitif they had any objection to his proposing to Lord Dunraven to resail the triangular race on Tuesday. Then rumor had it that he had received a favorable reply and that another race was in prospect in place of the one awarded to Defender on account of Valkyrie's foul, an outlook uld not fall to make a favorable impression upon all true sports-

Whom Uncle Sam Says is a Firebug and Jailbreaker.

Wm. Stewart, New in Jail, Identified by a United States Marshal.

Alleged to Have Fired Two Stations-With Five Other Birds He Broke Jail.

Wm. Stewart, the young man arrested here on Monday by Detective Ricer on suspicion of being an escaped firebug from Clinton, Iowa, has been identified as the person for whom Uncle Sam's officials have been in quest since Aug. 28. Deputy United States Marshal Woldenberg, of Clinton, arrived in the city last evening, and at the county jail he recogniz-ed Stewart as his man. Woldenberg will remain and escort the prisoner back to stand his trial on the serious charge. Stewart is about 30 years of age, and has the appearance of a business man, but if all said is true, his detention behind iron bars is much better for the public than his liberty. He lived across the river from Clinton, in the State of Illinois, and is alleged to have worked a swindle on the Adams Express Company by sending goods to them for shipment at such an hour that they would have to lay over in the depot over night. On two different occasions, when Stewart's goods were awaiting transportation, the stations were destroyed by fire and the claims made against the company aroused suspicion and led to an investigation and Stewart's arrest.

He was in jail at Clinton awaiting trial, and among his occasional visitors in the day cell was a young women to whom he was engaged to be married. He was confined with five other prisoners, and on one of her visits the young lady is said to have smuggled in a small drill. With this the prisoners succeeded in removing a steel plate in the roof, and escaped together during the night about two weeks ago. All were in for serious offenses, and the authorities lost no time in setting about their recapture. Stewart is only the second of the men wanted to be run down. When the marshal and Stewart met at the jail yesterday they shook hands and

Paris, Sept. 12.—Paris has had a pne nomenal spell of hot weather for the early part of September, i and there is no sign of its changing. Soc ety is remaining away and the masses are going about in their shirt sleeves. No comfort is to be had indoors and the wind is nominal. This month the thermometer has twice reached 96 degrees Fahr, while the lowest maximum for any day was 82. The average of the maximum for the nine days of September was 90 degrees. Last year the highest temperature during the same period was 89 degrees, by the average maximum was only 68 degree and the mercury fell as low as 55. A notable feature of the present hot spell has been the high temperature at night, the mercury on several occasions having actually risen after sunset. Cases of sunstroke have been rare. Steamship Arrivals.

An Old Man's Birthday Party in St. Thomas-Successful Debenture Sale in Lambton-Western Happenings.

Palmerston's tax rate is 24 mills. Palmerston will have electric light. The Brantford aldermen are opposed to a bonus of $70,000 to the T., H. and B. Railway.

The St. Thomas Liberal Fleet gave night, which the residents greatly enjoyed. Crossley and Hunter begin services at Guelph next Sunday, and from there they go to Fredericton, the capital of New Brunswick. Andrew Montross, of St. Thomas, aged 82, had a birthday party Tuesday. The combined aged of the six old men present were 490 years. Wm. F. Nickle, barrister, Kingston, was married to Miss Agnes McAdam, of St. Thomas, yesterday. They will spend the winter in Europe. A slick stranger claiming London as his home hired a livery rig from Walker Bros'. livery, Ingersoll, on Monday, and he has not been seen since. It is feared he has stolen the horse and

Gavin Hume, aged 77, a prominent citizen of Galt, died Tuesday. He was one of the oldest hardware merchants in the county and a director of the Gore Mutual Fire Insurance Company for years. He was a strong Liberal. Edmund Anger, the Ingersoll man jailed on the charge of insanity, says his trouble arose in Sunderland, Mich., through persecution because some Masonic secrets were revealed to him by brethern in their cups, and he made use of them. Eddie Neaubauer and Peter Bulger, wo boys about 9 years old, narrowly escaped being drowned on Tuesday evening. They were playing on a raft below Presant's dam, Guelph, when they fell into the river. A young lad who was standing near by succeeded in pulling them out. Edward Thorpe, stave jointer at Sutherland, Innis & Co.'s mills, West Lorne, met with a very painful accident while trying to cut staves. The bolt with which he was cutting slipped, allowing the index finger of the left hand to pass under the knfe, taking it off at the second joint, and also cutting the middle finger badly.

The most successful sale of municipal debentures ever negotiated in Lambton county was made Saturday, when the township of Sarnia disposed of the Perch and Pulse drain 5 per cent twenty year debentures, amounting to $21,-984, at a premium of $2,268. The purchaser was Mr. F. J. Winlow, manager of the local branch of the Traders' Bank.

MIDDLESEX NOTES.

Death of Mrs. Jackson, of Dorchester at are the things I want you to promise the Age of 93-Lived in the Township Forty Years.

At the First Presyterian Church, on Thursday, Sept. 12, Mr. Hugh Cochrane and Miss Alice Knapton, both of London, were happily married by Rev. W. J. Clarke. Mr. Percy Lewis and Miss "Do n Katie Cochrane were the assistants of cigars. the happy young couple, who left for Terento on a tour. A goodly crowd of friends accompanied them to the church.

At the ripe old age of 93 there passed away on Friday last, one of the oldest inhabitants of Western Ontario, Mrs. Jackson. For a period of over 40 years the old lady had resided in the vicinity of the fifth concession of North Dorchester, coming from the county of York, Canada West. Deceased was a native of Yorkshire, England, and after coming to this country she experienced all the vicissitudes of ploneer life, and twenty years ago was called upon to mourn the loss of her partner in life. She was the mother of ten children, seven of whom survive her. Deceased was a true Briton, and inculcated in her children loyalty to Canada and Britain. The following are the names of her surviving family: Joseph, Regina; Thomas, Toronto; George, Ingersoll; William and Henry, Gladstone, North Dorchester; Mrs. Barber, Watford, and Mrs. Andrew Vining, Belmont. The funeral, which was very largely attended took place from the ada and Britain. The following are the largely attended, took place from the residence of Mr. Vining on Sunday, Sept. 8. The following old friends and neighbors acted as pall-bearers:
Messrs. R. Tooley, ex-M.P.P., A. A.
Broady, Robert Watson, W. Thompson, Wm. Moore, J. G. Manning. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Racey, the deceased being a firm adher-

Jas. Reid & Co'y No. 118 north side Dundas St London.

The Chicago Tribune has a story to tell of a bright little boy: There is a bright little boy of 10, on the South Side, whose papa is a life insurance agent. Life insurance agents, it is probably known, are early risers, as it is a tradition in the business that it is the agent who comes early and stays late-that is to say, camps out with his intended victim-who gets the policy. Freddy was nearly always asleep when his papa left for the city an exhibition drill in Sparta Tuesday in the morning, so his papa got into the way of writing little notes of farewell and leaving them for delivery when he woke up. Freddy didn't answer these notes, although repeatedly urged to do so, because, in spite of the fact that he is a bright little boyas will transpire-he is not, to use the current vernacular, "stuck on himself," and could never summon up courage enough to try his lead pencil at this style of composition.

> The other evening, however, the necessary inspiration came. His papa was called out on business and mama wanted to go with him. She thought he could write the policy better if she was with him. He thought he couldn't, and said so bluntly. He went away alone, but his wife knew where he was going and joined him later, as both were well acquainted with the people to whose house he had gone. He has a bluff way of speaking, and what he said was not taken at face value by his wife, as the sequel showed. Freddy, however, who hadn't known papa as long as mamma had, thought the matter over for a long half hour and then decided that the time had come for him to reply to the numerous communications that he re-

When papa and mamma returned he was fast asleep, but they found the following note, written in a little boy's sprawling hand, fastened to the pillow on the side where papa always

"My Dear Papa,-I have been wanting to answer your letters, but the way you called to mamma at the dinner table tonight made me write at once. You know very well, papa, that you're in (the) wrong and I want you (to) promise me that you will not do it again. If you think it is nice to talk that way to mamma I don't. You should be good to mamma as she has been to us always, and I think you ought to beg mamma's pardon tomorrow morning before you go. These

A PROBLEM SOLVED.

At a largely attended meeting of the Trustees of the Dundas Street Center Methodist Church, held on Tuesday evening of this week, the question of procuring a suitable pipe organ for their new Church was freely discussed and finally settled.

The officials of this popular Church have brought to bear on the subject, during the past few weeks, a great deal of study, experience and musical knowedge, besides obtaining, with much trouble, travel and correspondence, reliable information from eminent organists and others, regarding the various Pipe Organs represented in the tenders offered. As a result of the investigation into the respective merits of Organs, and the advantages obtainable from each, the Musical Committee and Trustees have decided to place the contract for a $5,000 Pipe Organ with the famous Pipe Organ and Piano manufacturers, the R. S. Williams & Sons Co., through their London Agency, 171 Dundas street, whose indefatigable manager, Mr. J. A. Croden, is quite jubilant over the results of his endeavors to place a first-class Pipe Organ in the Dundas Street Center Methodist Church, London, Ont. The organ will be in place about Feb. 1, 1896.

THE TROLLEY GOES.

The electric car has come to stay in the city of London. Today, some twenty years after the first street car began to run in this city, the trolley made its inaugural trip, and from now forward we will have vastly improved street car transit, though, truth to tell, the horse service has for some time back been of a superior character.

But as no street car, drawn by "horses or mules," can keep pace with the new and mysterious agency, as the original charter provides, it was absolutely out of the question that London should remain without a complete system of electric cars.

The present is not a time to discuss the obstacles which prevented an agreement with the street railway company until the energetic mayor and aldermen of 1895 took the matter up and carried it to a successful conclusion, but it is a time to congratulate the citizens and the company on the inauguration of an improvement which we believe will aid in the development of this fine business and residential center, and while increasing the earnings of the stockholders, will confer many benefits

So far, the work of laying the tracks has been hurried, to meet the convenience of the many thousands of visitors who will come to London next week, and we do not expect perfection at once. But the company's workmen are making a good job of it, and before the snow flies we will have electrified not only the lines on Dundas and Richmond streets, but the whole of the main lines of the railway. Thus a service will be provided second to none supplied to a city of 40,000 on this

MIXING AND MUDDLING-THIS TIME IT IS WHEAT.

Canadian millers have vigorously sondemned an order-in-Council of the Dominion Government permitting the mixing of the best qualities of wheat with inferior grades. It is a dangerous expedient, in view of the ease with which a scare against foreign products can be maintained in the well-stocked old world markets.

Several of the Government's recent afraid to test the virtue of their supperters in Parliament too severely by seeking approval of shady schemes.

The history of this latest order-in-Council proves how vacillating and unstatesmanlike is the management of public affairs at the present time.

It having been announced that it was the intention to mix Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat at Fort William with soured grades, the millers sent a deputation to Ottawa protesting against the practice of giving Government certificates to the mixed article. The millers represented that they had no objection to object to the inferior grade being mixed with the standard article. To give a first-class certificate to such a grade would be something like representing that a skim-milk cheese was a genuine first-class product of the Canadian dairy. It was further contended that as only a very small portion of the Manitoba crop was damaged by smut, it was manifestly unfair to every Manitoba farmer who, by his careful attention to seeds and good farming, grew No. 1 hard wheat, to allow the price of No. 1 hard to be lowered in the markets of the world, which would strely follow if the grade of No. 1 hard was allowed to be deteriorated by mixing scoured wheat in it.

On June 24, 1895, the Government issued a statement that the inland revenue department "has determined to abide by the regulation that no scoured wheat shall be allowed in No. 1 hard." On Aug. 8 an order-in-Council was issued to this effect, but before two weeks had elapsed another order-in-Council was issued, repealing its predecessor, and permitting adulteration.

At the meeting of Canadian millers where this line of conduct was unanimously condemned, a leading speaker said he believed they had gone crazy at Ottawa. They certainly are manegers who cannot or will not manage | Pinar del Rio. Thus the revolutionpublic affairs in the public interest POINTS. Now if Wiggins had prophesied last night's big blow he would have had a great day of talk.

"the future of this country is assured, no matter what men are at the head of affairs." This statement will prove a shock to those who have been taught to believe that without the policy of high taxation Canada would have gone to the dogs.

Ferdinand of Bulgaria is the latest ruler whose life has been plotted against. To be head of a country is a dangerous business the world over, but many are willing to accept the job.

The yachting enthusiasts of America and Britain are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars for the possession of an old cup of little intrinsic value. There is no taint of professionalism in this. It is pure sport.

"Is Our Water Pure?" asks the Hamilton Herald. The Herald of course refers to the Hamilton article. The best method of finding out is to come to London and ascertain what pure water really is.

The young Duke of Marlborough, who is touring the United States under the nom-de-plume of Charles Spencer, says he does not know why the press and people make so much fuss about him. If he was plain Charles Spencer he would have nothing to complain of on that score. There is a great deal in a name-for the tufthunters.

Last year, according to the trade returns, Japan sent goods to the United States valued at $22,008,336, and only received from the United States goods at $5,579,139. Doubtless, Japan received full value for her shipments, though not in a direct way. The probability is that the trade was completed by the United States shipping her products to Great Britain, whose dealers in turn found it more profitable to pay by sending British products to Japan on United States account. Thus would the trade be completed, and decidedly to the advantage of the British, whose policy of trade freedom enabled them to be the carriers of the goods from and to the respective countries. By this means, two profits went to Britain for one that went to the United States and to

The Grand Army of the Republic is meeting for the first time since the close of the civil war south of Mason and Dixon's line. Surely the cruel war is ended when victors and vanquished thus mutually meet and recall deeds of valor on both sides. No United States politician can ever again successfully wave the "bloody shirt."

When such an unwieldy body as the Falls of Niagara can be made of use to mankind, it may happen that even the Dominion Senate may be turned to account for some good purpose, but we doubt if the Senate will ever be worth a tenth of what its cost is to the taxpayers.

POSTOFFICE PROGRESS.

The convention of the letter carriers of the Dominion, now being held in this city, is an interesting event. In no direction has greater progress been made than in the growth of postoffice orders-in-Council have got it into dis- business in this country. In the early repute. The Ministers are evidently years of the century, letter carrying was in private hands, and even after this part of the country had made substantial progress only the well-to-do could conduct correspondence with any degree of freedom. Sixty years ago, indeed, many letters lay for months in postoffices in this neighborhood because the early immigrants were unable to pay the large sum demanded for postage. There has been great progress since then. In this city, a decided impetus was given to postal progress when the free letter delivery was established by the Government of Alwheat being scoured, but, in the best exander Mackenzie in 1876. This was a interests of Canadian trade, they did very proper advance on the cheap letter rate which had been in force for some time previously. Free letter delivery has been a great convenience to the people, and it ought to be extended to every city. As a class, letter carriers are among the most valuable and painstaking of our public servants, and they deserve greater consideration at the hands of the Government than they have hitherto done.

BARBED WIRE IN WAR. Barbed wire fence men get a good advertisement for their ware in the recent letters from the seat of war in Cuba. The Spaniards have stretched a barbed wire fence all around the city of Santiago. This fence is six feet high, and the wires are closely strung together. At every opening there is a heavy guard of Spanish soldiers. Though Spain has landed another 15,000 troops in the island, the feeling against the home Government is so strong that it is doubtful if the islanders can be successfully overcome. The revolutionists assert that they control the Provinces of Santiago, Puerto Principe, and Santa Clara. They acknowledge that the Province of Matanzas is contested, and that Spain controls the Provinces of Havana and ists are in power in the greater portion of the island. They have an able aid in the severity of the climate at season, which is especially hard on the troops newly arriving from Spain. Fever and dysentery have already caused death to thousands. Sir Charles H. Tupper admits that and the wet season is scarcely begun. The Spanish rulers may find the deadly climate of Cuba a greater enemy to combat than the revolutionists. Discretion should teach the Spanish Government to speedily come to terms with the Cubans. It would be better to give the islanders a liberal measure of self-government such as we in Canada possess, and let this most fertile land, now devastated by war, resume the arts of peace. There can be no peace while a proud people is op-

GOOD FRIEND OF THE TAXPAYER Politicians are not always satisfied with farmers' votes alone; some of 'em speculate to get some of their cash. Joseph Featherstone, M.P., has purchased more than 2,000 tons of hay in the vicinity of Ottawa, for shipment to Western Ontario. The price paid is $3 50 a ton on board train.—Canada Farmers' Sun.

This may come out all right for Featherstone, but so far it looks to us as if the farmers and not Featherstone were getting the cash.-Ottawa Journal.

Why, certainly. Mr. Featherstone is a frequent and welcome visitor to the farmers in this neighborhood. He buys their cattle, paying good cash for them, and those with whom he deals never bother themselves about his particular political convictions. In passing, however, it may be stated that the member for Peel is a firm disbeliever in trade restriction. He holds that the Canadian farming community, of which he is an honored and able representative, can hold their own with the world; all that they require is to be permitted to sell and to buy in the best markets offering to them, without paying tribute to anyone, whether combine managers or boodling politicians. Whether as an honest dealer, as a stock-breeder, as a general farmer, or as a politician, therefore, the member for Peel has a record of which he may well be proud. He is a fine type of Canadian.

LONDON AHEAD EVERY TIME. In London-the-less the local gas company sells gas for both lighting and heating at $1 per 1,000 feet, and yet there are some 10,000 or 15,000 fewer people to sell to in London than there are in Hamilton, where illuminating gas costs $1 50 a thousand.—Hamilton Herald.

Abraham Lincoln's sentimental perplexities are to be shown in an article of singular interest which John Gilmer Speed has written from unpublished letters of Lincoln to Joshua Speed, for the next issue of the Ladies' Home Journal. The article will show that the great President was not steady in his affairs of the heart, that he floundered in his love, and finally induced his friend Speed to marry and tell him n) whether marriage was a failure or not.

No fewer than 66 persons in Great Britain are shown by the income tax reports just published in London to enjoy annual incomes of over $300,000. There are nearly two thousand more whose incomes range all the way from that figure down to $50,000 a year, while those possessing from $25,000 to $50,000 a year exceed three thousand in number. Some five thousand people are taxed on $10,000 to $15,000 per annum, and nearly fifteen thousand citizens make return of incomes ranging from $5,000 to $10,000. When it is borne in mind that the tendency to rate one's income for revenue purpose at the lowest possible figure is almost universal, that even the most upright and patriotic of citizens think it fair game to "do" the tax collector, it must be admitted that the showing of the report is eminently satisfactory to Great Britain.—New York Tribune.

WAYLAID BY TRAMPS. Formosa, Ont., Sept. 12.-In broad daylight, a young Syrian, living in Walkerton, and who had been peddling goods through the country, was attacked by four tramps on the road leading from Mildmay, half a mile from the village. They disfigured his face tore his clothes, took all his cash and goods and decamped.

YACHTING.

THE VALKYRIE COUNTED OUT. New York, Sept. 12.—The regatta committee of the New York Yacht Club, rendered its decision yesterday, sustaining Mr. Iselin's protest against the Valkyrie, and awarding Tuesday's race to the Defender. This result was reached after deliberations and conferences lasting practically all day. Strong efforts were made by the committee to bring about a mutual agreement to resail the race, but Lord Dunraven and Mr. Iselin insisted upon judgment on the protest. This left the committee only two things to do, to decide that the Valkyrie fouled the Dofender or that the Defender fouled the Valkyrie. As the occurrence was directly under their eyes, and was also witnessed by thousands of spectators, there was only one decision possible, Lord Dunraven and his friends held, however, that his boat was crowded by the Defender, and that the accident was unavoidable. The committee gave each side ample opportunity to state the case and took the testimony. This is the last game of the season of the captains of each yacht and of others who were on board. The following letter was sent by the regatta committee to Mr. Iselin: We beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of yesterday, protesting the Valkyrie. We have given the mat-ter our careful consideration and believe that the foul occurred through the miscalculation of the distance between the two yachts at a critical moment. From our observation-sustained by that of others who were in good position to see-we find that the Valkyrie in contravention of section 2 of racing rule 16, bore down upon the Defender and fouled her by tearing off ner main boom while luffing to straighten her

"We also consider that the Defender allowed the Valkyrie sufficient room to windward to pass clear of the committee boat. Your protest is therefore sustained."

Lord Dunraven accepts the decision and will have the Valkyrie at the line today for the third of the international The regatta committee posted following notice at the house of the New York Yacht Club last evening: Your committee beg to state that before arriving at a decision on the Defender's protest they endeavored to bring about a mutual agreement between the respective yachts to resail yesterday's race, but each preferred that the committee should pass judgment on the protest." Today's race will be fifteen miles to windward and return. The start will be from Sandy Hook light ship unless the committee establish another starting point in order to obtain a windward course of 15 miles. Should the Defender win the America's Cup will remain here another year at least, and the international yachting contest of 1895 will be closed. Lord Dunraven, when asked if the any more on account of the adverse decision of the regatta committee, said city. most emphatically that it was not, and added: I shall sail this next race as a sportsman, because I have no occasion to do otherwise. I do not expect that Mr. Iselin will offer a chance for a resail or anything of that sort. While it is very certain that the America's Cup is lost by reason of the Valkyrie's showing, it is not so certain that at some time the cup may not be carried across the Atlantic. BASEBALL.

CORBETT AT BAT.

Toronto Sept. 11.—As a baseball player, Pugilist Corbett is scarcely of the league standard, but as a drawing card he is successful, fully 5,000 being present at the match played over the Don today. The game savored of the hippodrome order, although there were several nice plays. Corbett is a pretty fair fielder, and everyone notices he is quick with his hands. His onehanded catch in the eighth of a wild throw of Joe Corbett was perhaps the drome order throughout there was sevbest piece of fielding of the day. As a batsman the big fellow was scarcely in it at all. The crowd groaned when Lampe pitched up lobs and then James could not line them out. The big crowd here.

> HENRY OF NAVARRE WAS FIRST. Sheepshead Bay race track, Sept. 11. -Close to ten thousand of the turf's best patrons were here today. The magnet that drew the spectators was the meeting of the three cracks, Domi-no, Henry of Navarre, and Rey el Santa Anita, at a mile and a furlong. The outcome was to settle the question of the best horse of the year. The big race was the fifth on the card. Navarre opened and ruled favorite throughout the quotations. Domino was second in demand, while Santa Anita was third. Riley Grannan went the rounds of the ring with Navarre money. When the flag fell the western plunger stood to win $60,000 on Navarre. It was 4:15 o'clock when the bugle sounded the champions to the post. A dead silence prevailed and everyone was on the tiptoe of expectation. The horses got the signal to depart on the second break. Domino had the rail and at once settled down to set a killing pace. He carried his rivals along at a terrific clip. He had a clear and decisive lead until the upper turn before the sixteenth pole was turn was reached. Perkins then sent Navarre up to him. There was a shout from the spectators when it was seen that Navarre was closing on the prince of sprinters without an effort. Perkins at once took a steady hold upon the Yacht Club. I believe that no effort and Santa Anita began to wear down has been made to influence their decision. I believe them to be gentlemen the stretch Navarre was within striking distance of Domino. The hopes of the Californians were dashed at this juncture for Anita was in hopeless difficulties in the rear. Navarre gradually closed up on Domino and was on even terms with him before the sixteenth pole was reached. A frightful drive ensued. Taral rode like a demon, but it was of no avail. The distance was too much for Domino, and Henry of Navarre flashed past the post the winner of the first of the championship series a neck in front of him. Santa Anita was a bad last. A CARDINAL'S CONCLUSIONS

The Aged Pope as Viewed be a Lead. ing American Catholic.

United States and European Countries Contrasted.

Baltimore, Sept. 12.—Cardinal Gibcons has been speaking here upon observations made by him during his recent trip to Europe.

"The first subject which naturally occurs to me," he said, "regards my several visits to the Pope. Represent to yourself a man in his 86th year, pale and emaciated, with the pallor of death almost upon him, and this pallor is intensified by the white cassock and zuchette which he habitually wears. His body is more bent than it was eight or ten years ago, but his eye is bright and penetrating; his voice is strong and son-orous, his intellect is remarkably clear and luminous: his memory is most tenacious, which is able to recall events accurately which occurred eight years ago. He has also an astonishing power of physical endurance, which enables him to hold audiences for several consecutive hours, treating on most important subjects with cardinals and foreign representatives, as well as with private individuals, and passing with ease and elasticity of mind from one subject to another. He is remarkably familiar with the public events of the

The cardinal here drew a brief comparison between the French Government and that of the United States with regard to the presence of religion in all branches of our Government and the absence of it in that of France. "But," he added, "I am happy to say that the spirit of religion is still deeply rooted in the great mass of the French people. Contrasting the religious liberty which prevails in the United States with the lack of it in certain European countries, the speaker cited instances of civil espionage over religious institutions, and added: "Thank God we enjoy in this country the amplest liberty of worship and freedom of conscience. We have a fair field and no favors." "Relative to the Government of the people," he continued, "in continental Europe the taxes are enormously heavy and are most minute and searching in no Linnen Yarn be exported under the their application. The reason for this pain of confiscation, half to the King is obvious. The European powers have immense standing armies, which are a drain on the material, moral and indus-trial resources. We have no large army unless we consider as such our grand army of pensioners, whose claims for their patriotic services will expire some time in the next century. We have no formidable or threatening neighbors at our doors. The day that a monarchy would be established in close proximity to us on the American continent would be the beginning of our troubles.

The speaker admonished his hearers not to imagine from his remarks that the masses of Europe are poor, miserable, unhappy and discontented. On the contrary, he found the people comfortably clad and happy and contented, in spite of the heavy burden of taxation. One reason for this, in the cardinal's epinion, is the fact that agricultural districts have not been abandoned for the cities.

About two months ago one of the soldiers disappeared, and no outdoor sport, will insure a comfort-clue to his whereabouts having been able warmth in all sorts of weather, obtained, it was presumed that he had left the country. As some of the men chills which too often follow vigorous were inspecting the barracks' roof yes-terday they perceived a few wraps in a chimney, and further examination revealed to view their missing comrade, in a state of squalor and reduced almost to a skeleton. He said that as he had no taste for military life he had re-solved to desert, but that, not daring to leave the barracks, he had installed himself in the chimney, going down to the courtyard at night in search of food among the refuse piled up in a corner. The man has been removed to the military hospital in a ver precarious condition.—Paris letter in the London Telegraph.

The South's corn crop is 600,000,000 bushels. Tobacco occupies 700,000 acres in America. Newspapers circulate 12,000,000,000 copies annually. Licorice grows chiefly on the banks of the Rivers Tigris and Euphrates. Railway traveling in Norway is cheaper than in any other European country.

The telegraph wire used in the United States would go around the world fifteen times.

At the recent meeting of the railway presidents at Coney Island over $2,000,-000,000,000 of capital was represented. In Norway a law provides that no person shall be permitted to cut down a tree unless he plants three saplings in its place.

Instead of using train service this year several Connecticut peach growers will ship their fruit to the market by trolley cars.

A hotel is to be built on High Knob, a mountain in Virginia. From its balconies guests will be able to see into five States.

It is said that locomotive engineers are far healthier and longer lived, as a rule, than conductors, in spite of the nervous strain of running fast trains. Probably the largest number of men ever employed in the building of a single ship are now at work upon the British battleship Magnificent, in the Chatham dockyard. There are 2,000 mechanics on the pay roll.

During the most peaceful years the world has 3,700,000 men who are withdrawn from the productive occupations to pose as soldiers. The pay, equip-ments, food and clothing of these men cost he world's taxpayers nearly $8,-000,000 a day. The editors in China are in constant fear of death. If their papers say anything very objectionable to the Govern-ment off go the heads of the culprits. The Pekin Gazette has been 1,000 years in existence, and seventeen of its editors have been beheaded. London's constant trouble over the lack of sufficient water supply has brought out a proposal which will require $80,000,000 to carry out. It is to build two aqueducts, one 150 miles long, the other 170 miles. Each is to convey 200,000,000 gallons of water a day.

The oldest building in the world that has been uninterruptedly used church purposes is St. Martin's Cathedral, at Canterbury, England. The building was originally erected for a church, and has been regularly used as a place for religious gatherings for more than 1,500 years.

The corporation of the city of Lyons, following the example of other large cities, and the general council of the Rhine, has passed a resolution opposing the proposed exhibition in Paris in 1900. on the ground that it would derange the business of the country and unduly favor Parisian capital to the detriment of other cities. The Emporia Gazette says that in that town there is a woman who makes a good living as a professional companion for women whose husbands are away. She will go to a house and be company for a lone woman at $5 a week, or she will go out for the night while husbands are away for 75 cents an evening.

A Greek Catholic priest in Southern Hungary recently forced his whole congregation to swear in church that they would not touch liquor for three years. The liquor dealers and revenue collectors thereupon protested against his action to the Minister of Finance, asking him to declare it illegal. He has not answered yet.

Pontiac, Mich., is going a little further in the enforcement of Sunday laws than any other place yet heard from. Restaurants, saloons, candy stores, and tobacco stands are closed on Sundays, and ice cream dealers may not deliver their goods to customers on that day. About one hundred residents have signed a petition asking that the livery stables be closed, and yet another petition has been circulated and extensively signed asking that milkmen and icemen be prohibited from plying their business on Sunday. There is a notion among the Sabbatarians that the latter petition is a device of the enemy, but if so the enemy is working it very seriously and energetically, and with a good show of success.

Ten Vermont quarries supply fivesixths of all the marble quarried in this country. To do this there are 3,000 to 4,000 men working in the mines, and the same number in the stock yards, which are in all the large cities of the one place was so poor that it was sold for an old horse to a man who first opened the quarries, and the one who got the horse thought he had made a capital bargain. From that same place now 20,000 blocks of valuable marble are taken every year. Channeling machines now take the place of drills, one doing the work of twenty men. In winter the cuts have to be thawed with steam before the marble layers can be raised, as the frost makes the marble brittle. Since the extensive introduction of the sewing machines we do not hear of the distressed needle women at one time so prevalent. Tpyewriters get double the wages they would get as pen writers, and they do six times as much work with comparative pleasure and great leisure. Steamships costing millions, equipped with every known invention for safe and efficient service, in six days at a nominal cost, with every comfort, take weekly with almost unfailing regularity thousands of people across the Atlantic, where in 1790 it took Samuel Slater, the honored founder of the cotton trade, 66 days to cross, and no doubt with great discomfort and danger. Small newspapers cost at one time 6, 8, and 12 cents, and loaded with a Government revenue stamp Now a better paper can be got for a cent, but the compositors and printers get more pay, and have, like the newspapers, increased many thousand fold. So it runs all through, and the whole world gets benefited.-Wade's Fiber

Employes of the road who are injured in service receive pensions, and if the injuries prove fatal, their families are provided for. The law requires railway companies to provide for the families of persons who are killed on their lines by accident, and those who are injured receive compensation to cover their seard, medical attendance and loss of wages as long as they are unable to pursue their accustomed avocations. At the same time there is a penalty of $1 for walking upon a railroad track in Turkey for every offense. Cattle and other animals found on the right of way of railroads can be confiscated by the company, although the owner may redeem them by paying 25 cents each for sheep, dogs, goats, hogs and other small animals. It costs $2.50 to get a cow or horse out of a railroad pound. LOVE LETTERS OF GREAT MEN.

Lord Nelson's letters to Emma. Lady Hamilton, are historic. Here is a very brief specimen: "Victory, Oct. 7, 1804, 2 p.m. "I wrote you, my dearest Emma, this morning, by way of Lisbon; but a boat, which is going to Torbay, having brought out a cargo of potatoes, will, I think, get home before the Lisbon packet. I shall only say, guzelle gannam justem-and that I love you beyond all the world! This may be read by French, Dutch, Spanish or Englishmen; for it comes from the heart of, my Emma, your faithful and affectionate "NELSON AND BRONTE." Mozart wrote most tender and amusing letters to his wife. In one of them, written from Dresden, on April 13, 1879, he says:

"If I were to tell you all my follies about your dear portrait, it would make you laugh. For instance, when I take it out of its case, I say to it, 'God bless you, my Stanzerl! God bless you, Spitzbul, Krallerballer, Spitzignas, Bogatellerl, Schluck und druck.' when I put it away again, I let it slip gently into its hiding place, saying, 'Now, now, now!' but with an appro-priate emphasis on this significant word, and at last I say quickly, 'Good night, darling mouse, sleep soundly!' I know I have written something very foolish (for the world at all events), but not in the least foolish for us, who love each other so fondly."

Beethoven wrote passionately to the Countess Guiletta Giucciardi: "Good morning. Even before I rise my thoughts throng to you, my immortal beloved! Sometimes full of joy, and yet again sad, waiting to see whe ther fate will hear us. I must live either wholly with you or not at all. Indeed, I have resolved to wander far from you till the moment arrives when I can fly into your arms and feel that they are my home. Continue to love Yesterday, today, what longings for you, what tears for you! for you! for you! my life! my all! Farewell! Oh, love me for ever, and never doubt the faithful heart of your lover .- L "Ever thine.

"Ever mine! "Ever each other's." Edmund Kean, who had been voluntarily separated from his wife for seven years, wrote to her in 1833: "My Dear Mary,—Let us no longer be fools. Come here. Forgive and forget. If I have erred, it was my head, not my heart, and most severely have I suffered for it. My future life shall be employed in contributing to your happiness; and you, I trust, will return that feeling by a total obliteration of the past. Your wild, but really af-doubted the power of any remedy to do is very severe. Negligence is punished me any good."

is very severe. Negligence is punished fectionate husband, EDMUND KEAN with heavy penalties, and if a collision "Theater Royal Richmond."

Special to C. E. Turner, broker, Masonic Temple, from Walker & Co. Chicago, Sept. 12.-Wheat market has been dull and heavy early, with very light trade, but it picked up later on, with fair short covering by local shorts. The crowd who have made the money on this break were again sellers on today's bulge. Cables lower; clearances light; receipts fair. It does look to us as if the bear side had about run tself out, at the present at least. Corn opened easy, but firmed on covering by shorts.

road, and the party of G. T. R. directors, would reach about 1 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) and that the president would then be glad to meet with the mayor and the civic deputation. The statement was also made that, owing to pressure of time Sir Charles could only spend an hour with the civic authorities. It is understood that while here Sir Charles will inspect the shops and other belongings of the company and confer with District Superintendent Tiffin. The party then goes to Hamilton and on Saturday they run down to Port Dover. Sir Charles expresses general satisfaction with the condition of the road. Many details are yet to be worked out, but it is understood that one of the first acts of the new management will be to increase the freight equipment. The G. T. R. authorities mean to have their full share of traffic, if care of the public wants can bring it about.

THE FIRST ACCIDENT. This afternoon a trolley car struck a buggy on Dundas street east. The rear wheels were demolished, and a woman who was driving had a narrow escape The horse got frightened, and backed the buggy on the rails.

The Great Western Fair of 1895 Will Open.

Preparations Rapidly Going Ahead-Exhibits Coming In-Directors' Meeting.

At 7 o'clock tomorrow morning the gates of the Western Fair for 1895 will be thrown open to the public, and on the succeeding eight days London will doubtless be filled with a larger crowd of visitors than it ever was before.

In almost every building on the grounds a scene of great activity is presented. Exhibits are fast being put into place, and directors, workmen and section superintendents are all on the hustle. The grounds are in excellent condition, and the visitors, besides seeing an unusually excellent Fair, will notice many changes for the better in the park. The board of directors held a meeting in the grounds office this morning, Capt. A. W. Porte, president, being in the chair, and the following members of the board present: Messrs. Col. Lewis Wm. Jackson (Pond Mills), Charles Trebilcock, W. M. Spencer, John Kennedy (Ilderton), Ald. O. E. Brener, Ald. G. W. Armstrong, John S. Pearce, Geo. Taylor, W. J. Reid, Ald. Ed Weld

The Women's Christian Temperance Union applied for 30 passes for helpers at the dining hall, and asked the lowest rate at which they could be had. The ladies had recently asked the executive for free tickets for the workers, which was refused. Ald. Weld moved that the Union pay full admission, and that their communication be filed. Mr. Mackenzie's amendment to grant them 75 single admission tickets free was lost, Messrs. Mackenzie, Spencer, Lewis and Armstrong only supporting it. The motion was adopted.

Each director will be supplied with fractured limb. Gilmour, T. H. Purdom and C. F. Complin, of the Hospital Trust, will furnished passes, as will also the school trustees. The patients from the Asylum will take in the Fair on Saturday afternoon. Meetings of the directors are set for each morning of the Fair at 10 o'clock.

He would feel great pleasure in doing so if it were not that Canon Dann was going to leave them, but any pleasure he had was more than canceled by the deep regret he felt at his departure. Speaking to several of the parishioners during the past week, they one and all expressed in a most sincere and heartfelt manner the great regret that they felt at his departure, and if possible more so, the regret they felt at the departure of Mrs. Dann. They all felt what a kind and aympathetic friend they were losing in her, because in every work which Canon Dann put forward for their spiritual and temporal welfare he was always backed up and assisted by Mrs. Dann. Canon Dann feelingly replied. The Dean, Canon O'Brien and others also spoke, regretting Canon Dann's departure, and all expressed the hope he would not forget them in his new home in Canada.

ENGLISHMEN INITIATED. London, Sept. 12.-While the tone of the best of the English newspapers in the address, the clergyman handed Canon commenting upon the decision of the cup committee sustaining Defender's claim of a foul in Tuesday's yacht race continues to be moderate, it must be admitted that the committee decision had produced a general feeling of irritation among Englishmen. Adverse comments of individuals are heard on all sides. The Yachtsman, in an article upon the subject, dwells upon the conduct of the excursion steamers attending the race, and says: "The first match could hardly be called a race, owing to the shameful interference by excursion steamers. It seems clear in Tuesday's race Defender lost nothing by the accident, but was beaten on her merits in the beat to windward. With regard to Defender's protest, it is impossible as yet to form an opinion save that it would not have been lodged by Valkyrie III. had the case been reversed.'

The Sun, which throughout has maintained a tone hostile to America, says: The Yankees evidently intend to keep the cup. Possession is nine points of the law of sports in America The Evening News says: "The whole business savors of sharp practice. No one would quarrel with a decision or dering that the race be re-sailed, but we cannot stomach a paper victory awarded to Defender." The Pall Mall Gazette, in the course of a long article on the subject, dilates upon British patience and good temper, pertinacity and unquenchable love for justice, and continues that it is not easy to accept the decision, but we hope we are taking it as sportsmen. It is hardly equitable, but according to the rules of the game we accept it, and

The St. James Gazette also accepts as a fact the report that Mr. Iselin has offered to re-sail Tuesday's race. The Gazette says: "It is a most sportsman-like offer. The decision seems clearly wrong, but it was authoritative, and should be accepted loyally."

will try again.

The Globe says: "The decision is received with the bitterest regret and disappointment. Still it is the duty of Englishmen as true sportsmen to accept it without complaint or protest."

The Westminster Gazette says: "The decision certainly puts the good feeling of English and American sportsmen to a severe test.

NOT FOR CARRIAGE WHEELS It is not as generally understood as it should be, perhaps, that bicycle wheels seldom or never are subjected to lateral strains. They need to resist only those strains which pass through their own plane, and in this plane only have they any strength worth speaking of. This is worth remembering when the use of wheels of this type is being considered for three or four wheeled chicles, where the conditions are essentially ifferent, and where, in turning corners rap idly, or in going over ground that causes the vehicle to be inclined sideways, a very considerable lateral strain may be brought upon the wheels—a strain which the ordinary bicycle wheel is very properly, entirely unfitted for. This is to be considered also in connection with devices for attaching two bicycles side by side to make a duplex or four-wheeled machine of them. Neither the frame, the bearings nor the wheels of a properly constructed bicycle are adapted to such use without injury .- American Ma chinist.

The Secret Out.

"'Ah!' came from his lips at this, and he gave me an unfathomable look. Did he doubt me? Did any suspicion such as you have felt cross his mind? I do not think so; if it ever came-and from some hints my husband has given me concerning his after conduct, I fear that it ultimately did-it was after he had had time to think of the whole matter; otherwise he could scarcely have entered into the situation as he did, or offered me so freely his aid in the awful emergency in which I found myself.

"For, with but the shortest moment given to grief he turned upon me and asked if my secret was still safe, and when I told him it was, he said, shortly: "-'You are in a frightful position; I see that. You have married Dr. Cameron and are expecting his presence every moment at the door. If she is seen, you are lost, for you could not bear a comparison with her, point for point, however perfectly you carry off her appearance when alone. ? What then is to be done? I can see but two alternatives. Either acknowledge the whole and release the doctor, a course I certainly should adviseor you must trust me with this body to dispose of as I think fit."

"I cannot tell Dr. Cameron," was my answer. 'I have married him and I mean to live with him. He would wish it if he knew. He loves me and there is no Genevieve now. I hurt no one by my action and I save everybody from deep and lasting pain.' "His lip, stern as iron, just quivered for a moment, as if he denied this last assertion, but he said: "'Listen, then, I will help you, Mildred, because, hard-hearted as I am, I pity you. And this is how I propose to do it. When you are gone-you are going on a wedding journey, I pre-

"'I will carry Genevieve out, secretly if I can, openly if I must, and putting her in my phaeton, drive her to Mrs. Olney's house. My driver is with me, but I will dismiss him; and by taking every precaution possible to avoid observation, I may succeed in getting away from the house, unnoticed. If I do, I will say she took poison on the route; if I do not, that she is ill, and that I, being a physician and her enam taking her home. either case I shall declare her to Mildred Farley; and to this story I shall cling till you yourself inform me that your husband knows the truth, and that it is useless to persist in the lie any longer. Do you understand me,

"I signified that I did; and he went "I think I can manage it so that you will be saved from all inquiries; If I do not, remember that you are Genevieve Gretorex, and play your part well. Now, where is the bottle from which she took the acid?" *I showed him, and he picked it up and put it in his pocket. He had hard-

"I tossed him the one I had intended to wear myself. He took it, and I hastened to gather up my own clothing and leave the room.

'When I went back again it was with Peter. Remembering that Dr. Molesworth in all probability knew nothing about the house we were in, I took occasion to ask this man, as he lifted up my trunk, who was in the kitchen. He answered, 'No one but the caterers, ma'am.' After which I inquired if the back stairs were clear, and being told back stairs were clear, and being told they were, advised him to take the trunk down that way, to which he replied that he intended to. I finished by asking him to go round with the carriage to the side entrance, where I should have some money to give him. Thus, I freed the back stairs and gave to Dr. Molesworth, listening near, a hint of the way he should go. I suppose he acted upon it, but never having the opportunity to speak to him again alone, I do not know anything more about it than the rest of the world. "Of the events following that dreadful night, you already are acquainted. From a belief that Dr. Molesworth had succeeded in his undertaking I was suddenly awakened to the con-sciousness that from some error in judgment, he had laid himself open to the worst kind of suspicion. 'Was it a shock, do you think? And when in a still more dreadful hour that suspicion shifted to myself, and I saw the secret upon which depended my honor and happiness threatened with exposure, do you wonder that my in-tegrity succumbed to my fears? "Driven by the instinct of self-preservation to subterfuge and prevarication, I soon found myself entangled in a net-work of deceit. Even when I told the truth as I did to the inspector at the time he pressed me to give him the name of the woman who made my dresses. I followed it up by a he to my husband. For while the half coy, half audacious admission that I had made them myself, was calculated to silence the man whose questions I feared, it would hardly have helped my cause with the doctor, who had been told more than once how helpless Genevieve Gretorex was with her hands. "And so the vain struggle went on till it was suddenly made apparent to me that my husband's respect was giv-ing way before my duplicity. "Then in an agony of remorse I took an oath, the keeping of which ultimately brought on the revelations I feared. But I cannot regret this: It has slain my husband's love for the false Genevieve, but from the ashes of this pas-sion I hope to see arise a love for Mildred Cameron that will in time make the happiness of my life.

"It is the aim of my existence to be henceforth worthy of that happiness." THE END.

CAMP HAS ENDED.

London Field Battery on the Way Home.

A Pleasant Outing at Por Stanley-Good Target Practice.

(Special to the "Advertiser.")

In Camp, Port Stanley, Sept. 11.—This is the last day under canvas for we expect to leave here early to-morrow morning and everybody is sorry, though we have just finished two days hard work in the shape of inspection.

This morning the battery had their rang-ing practice and the gun-layers did work of which they need not be ashamed, for both targets were struck and the flag carried away.

The men look well and seem to feel the same. When they were entertained by the reeve, Mr. Sheppard, of Port Stanley, he said they were the most orderly men he had ever seen in camp here, for there had not been a breach of peace or row of any kind nor even a drunken man to be seen.

The result of the inspection is not known, but although the battery is not likely to be at the top of the list there is a possibility of them not being at the bottom. Capt. Hesketh has been in camp and proves himself the same old popular Jim as

One man who is greatly missed in this camp is the late Dr. V. A. Brown, and as his name is mentioned a shade of sadness passes over the old members of the corps as they remember his jokes and pleasant

The farm on which the camp is situated is owned by a whole souled old Irishman who likes a joke, and is always ready to oblige in spite of his 71 years. He has a fine orch ard, and it is a common affair to see the old man bringing a basket of apples over to the

There is no doubt but the artillery uniform has hit some of the fair sex in a tender spot. At least you would judge so by the number who visit the grounds during the afternoon parades, and no fear but that some of the artillery men are hit as hard from the care the ladies receive while in the

Miss Laura Price has the pleasure of say ing that she was the only lady who fired a gun during this camp.

Dr. Geo. Wilson arrived yesterday evenng and spent the night and today with us. It looks very much as though he would soon be wearing the uniform of a surgeon of artillery. The more the merrier.

It would be hard to tell which is the most popular sergeant, for each sub-division swears by its own.

The Sergt. Major has been in the battery since 1883, has only missed one camp, and that through sickness. Sergt. W. Patton comes next in 1884, and has not missed one, which proves that the battery is not a bad corps to belong to. There are several others who have put in six and seven camps, but the ene who has put in most is Corp. Wm. Fox who has put in every camp since

Staff Sergt. Grant and Farrier Sergt. Burwell look as though they had put in three months active service instead of eight days camp, for they are sunburned out of Lieut. Col. Dawson, district paymaster, appeared on the grounds this morning and the men seemed very much pleased for this parade was for the paymaster.

The trumpeter of the battery is a dandy. Gunners Lyons and Tierney have put up at the Franklin House since they have been here, and have succeeded in keeping the house and town on nettles.

Landlord Looney seems to have gained the good will of all the battery men and looks pleased whenever he sees one in his Camp life seems to agree with the Q. M. Sergt. Although he has got no stouter, yet you will soon be able to see his shadow.

> MARRIED IN BED. (From Tid-Bits.)

A rather amusing incident occurred in connection with a recent football accident which took place in Calcutta. A shining light of one of the well known local clubs was engaged to be married to a very charmng damosel, and the date for the ceremony had drawn very nigh. Unfortunately, however, a day or two before the day fixed or his long drop into the matrimonial state this gallant young sportsman was so unlucky as to break the collar bone in a hotly con tested match.

What was to be done? The cake was ordered, the guests invited, the simpkin almost in the ice, his frock coat and lavender kerseymeres invitingly ready in their tissue paper packing, and yet the inexorable doctor forbade him to move from

It says a good deal for the young man's determination when he turned and said: "Bring down the parson, bring along the wedding guests, and the wedding cake, not forgetting the bride, and I will be married in bed!" And he was.

FARMERS' DAY.

Wednesday's Attendance at the Toronto Fair Estimated at 100,060.

Toronto, Sept.11.-One hundred thousand people are estimated to have attended the fair today. It was farmers' day, and the hardy yeomanry were greatly in evidence. But it was not enly our country cousins that made up the big crowd. There were probably more Americans than have ever been on the grounds before. A large numer of excursionists from neighoring States came by the early trains, and in the afternoon the steamer Chippewa brought over 3,000 visitors, most of whom found their way to the fair grounds

The attractions were appropriate to the occasion, and the horses in the ring Dr. Sippi was manager; George Anwhich contended for prizes were of the sturdy agricultural kind. The sheep pens and cattle sheds, however, were the center of attraction all day.

United States Consul Coppinger, speaking at the directors' luncheon. said he was glad to see so many of his countrymen and women on the grounds. He thought that these in-dustrial exhibitions, especially where international displays were invited, were a potent means of promoting harmony between the two great countries. The German singing scieties who have been attending the Saengerbund. visited the exhibition during the day and gave a grand chorus in Society Row, in front of the grand stand.
