made since the water problem has been under discussion in this city was the statement of Col. Little, ex-mayor of London, in the East London hall last night, that the Canadian Underwriters' Association has made a written guarantee to the city that a reduction of at least 25 per cent in insurance rates will be made if a high-pressure fire-fighting system is installed.

The announcement was all the more important from the fact that a few minutes before Water Commissioner Saunders, in addressing the ratepayunderwriters would guarantee nothing | pression. ers, had made the statement that the in regard to a reduction in insurance rates, no matter what the city did to increase its fire-fighting facilities.

Col. Little followed Mr. Saunders, and he was in a position to state positively that in a written communication to Superintendent Moore, which has already reached the city, the underwriters guarantee a 25 per cent reduction for a high-pressure system.

A Letter Which Assures London Of a Big Cut in Insurance Rates

A copy of the letter sent by the president of the Canadian Fire-Underwriters' Association to Mr. John M. Moore, superintendent of the London waterworks, has been received, and it substantiates completely the statements made by ex-Mayor Little in the East End Hall last night in regard to a reduction in insurance rates in this city. It meets the full expectations of the supporters of the independent scheme.

The letter states that no matter what the insurance rate may be placed at in the future, there will always be a reduction of 25 per cent in the cost of insurance in London if the high-pressure system is established.

The statement is of the utmost importance to London businessmen, as a cut of 25 per cent in their insurance would mean the saving of many thousands of dollars annually, and more than the cost of the independent system.

The copy of the letter, given below, speaks for itself:

John M. Moore, Esq., Waterworks Engineer, London Ont.: Dear Sir,-It has been brought to my attention, as president of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association, by my predecesser in office, that your letter addressed to the secretary of the association, was, through some inadvertence, not brought before the annual meeting.

It would be impossible, of course, to have another meeting at this time, but I have been asked to say about what difference the installation of a high-pressure service for fire purposes in the city of London would have upon the rates of fire insurance.

While no one can say with certainty what the rates may be in the future, I have no hesitation in expressing my opinion that if a high-pressure service be installed, in accordance with Mr. Howe's requirements, the effect would be that risks coming under the protection of such service would rate not less than 25 per cent lower than such risks would otherwise rate; that is to say, a risk which without the protection would schedule 2 per cent, would, with the protection, work out 1.50 per cent. Trusting this may be of assistance to you, I am, dear sir, yours

LONDON, SATURDAY, JULY 13. LONDON'S OPPORTUNITY.

Any lingering doubt of the vital importance to the city of London of a high pressure system is removed by the guarantee of a 25 per cent cut in insurance rates

The president of the Fire Underwriters' Association has formally and definitely promised this reduction, in letter to the engineer of the local board of water commissioners.

It would be almost suicidal for London to throw away this proffered boon. The present insurance rates are heavy handicap on the industrial and commercial progress of the city. There has been an outcry that London has been distanced by rival municipalities in attracting new industries, and vigorous industrial policy is being constantly urged upon the city council. Two of the strongest inducements which the city could offer would be moderate fire insurance rates and superior fire protection. The independent scheme would provide both of these

The annual saving effected by a 25 per cent reduction in the insurance rates upon the property protected by system. The larger part of these charges would be levied upon the property-owners so benefited. Angreat advantage of the independent system would be the husbanding of the spring water supply for domestice . . The strong points of the dual system may be summarized thus:

- 1 Cheap insurance.
- 2. Adequate fire protection.
- 3 Spring water for drinking. 4 Plenty of water for manufac-

AROUND THE WORLD.

Jules .Verne's popular book, "Around the World in Eighty Days," was regarded not many years since as a pleasing flight of the "scientific imagination." A month ago Lieut.-Col. Campbell of the rBitish army finished world-girdling trip, which occupied 40 days, 191/2 hours.

It is gratifying to Canadians to know that one-half the journey was made in the steamships and trains of at 7:30 p.m. on the Empress of Ireland, reaching Quebec on Friday, May 10, at 3 p.m. He left the ancient capital two hours later on the overseas mail, and at 5 a.m. on the 14th was in Vancouver. From thence he sailed at 12:30 p.m. on the C. P. R. steamer, and at 7 p.m. on the 26th of days from London, a distance traveled company. Five days later he was at Harbin, and on June 10 his train steamed into Moscow at 2:38 p.m. Proceeding, via Warsaw, Berlin, Cologne and Ostend, he landed at Dover on June 13 at 2:50 p.m., 40 days, 191/2 the C. Verily, modern science is making the world smaller, and the imagination of one generation pales before the facts of another.

PROFITS OF DIAMOND MINING.

An idea of the immense profits of the diamond mining business is furnshed by a report of the United States at Amsterdam, which is the chief center of diamond cutting. The diamonds manufictured there come from the British-owned mines of South Africa, the De Beers mines alone supplying 95 per cent of the world's product. Last year the diamonds produced by the De Beers company amounted in value to the enormous sum of $27,051,627, about onehalf of which is sold in the United States, which fact is causing the company to seriously consider a proposition to move their selling offices from London to New York, and thereby avoid the British income tax of nearly half a million dollars. Notwithstand- shame that this household is eternally dising this tax, and an income tax to a similar amount imposed by the Cape Government, the company has just knew you would be late, so she left a cold declared a semi-annual dividend of 20 chicken, a custard pudding and a pint of claret on the dining-room table for you."

of 35 per cent on deferred stock. Large as there profits are they are small in comparison with those of a company, notwithstanding that taxes to the amount of $1,787,075 were paid, the Transvaal Government, dividends were declared of 250 per cent on preferred and 400 per cent on deferred stock. The total diamond output from South Africa for last year was about reporting any irregularities in deliv- the Boers, but it is believed that double the present output could be absorbed by the market without in the least affecting the price. A revolution in the ousiness is expected to result from new methods of extracting the diamonds from the clay, which will save money and increase the speed of operation. Over 8,000,000 loads of blue clay are at present kept exposed to the atmosphere at the De Beers mines ing, while the clay of the Premier mine is refractory even to that treatment. In addition to these there are numerous small mines, and new fields are constantly being discovered. Diamonds are found in pipes which may be considered to be the material filling the craters of extinct mud volcanoes, and it is thought that the distribution of these pipes through South Africa may lead to the discovery of valuable mines at any

Of course quality as well as quantity must be considered, and the great mines with an average value per carat of $19 42, have nothing to fear from the competition of mines with an average value per carat of $2 16. Dianonds of less value find a place favored localities. There appears no nonopoly of the big companies being high water pressure would be more shaken even if it is true, as reported, that diamond pipes of blue clay have been found in New Zealand and Con-

The London Free Press is the worst offender. It stigmatizes the independent system as a selfish device of the merchants of London, and says that a vote for it is "a vote for the rich against the poor; the strong against the weak." This is unjust to the mercantile comjust. The merchants and manufacturers enjoying the protection of the high-pressure service would pay for the privilege, but the independent system would not be exclusively for their sure mains would be applied to various public uses, and sold to factories and railways. In this way the spring water supply would be conserved for strictly domestic uses.

Another sample of our contemporary's unworthy tactics was the charge a Canadian railway company. As a matter of fact these advertisements were paid for by Col. Little, and another public-spirited citizen. No one will question the May he was landed in Yokohama, 23 honesty of purpose of Col. Little or of any person associated with him. RAMS A MOGUL WITH HIS AUTO

"That's what I thought, so I got one and Local Pet Car of an Autoist Wrecked at Rectory Crossing.

When Mr. Joseph Firstbrook, manager of the Havana Cigar Company, of this city, rammed his nice big automobile into a monster freight engine at the Rectory street crossing last night the auto came to grief in a very decided manner, for although the machine was a heavy one, and going at a goodly rate of speed, it had not sufficient momentum to remove the heavy freighter from its path. The result was disastrous. In short Mr. Firstbrook had an automobile, but he has not got one now.

Through many a long afternoon, driving about the city streets and highways, Mr. Firstbrook has become so sure of his machine's ability to rough it that he has almost forgotten to bother about ordinary obstacles. Now just whether the autoist saw the approaching mogul when he came rushing along Rectory street, and headed for the G. T. R. tracks, or whether the crew of the engine saw the automobile coming, will probably remain a mystery, but at any rate the fireman and engineer stuck manfully to their posts and did not even attempt to jump as they usually do when a collision is due. As for the two ladies and the man in the auto, they did not have a chance to get out of their own accord for they were hurled headlong from their seats, when the machine hit the engine amidships. Perhaps they did not want to jump at that, for the owner certainly did think that machine capable of standing pretty nearly anything, and it would be unfair to believe that those who accompanied him were inspired with anything but the most implicit faith in their car.

However, faith or no faith, the honk special car was chartered for the oc- of that automobile will never more be casion, a departure which pleased both heard throughout the land, and the scholars and grownups alike, as they exact cause of the accident may never be known, while wheels turn, but Mr. boats were the immediate goal of the Firstbrook will now have to set aside one day or more a week for the reception of agents, who handle a line of machines, which are guaranteed games, as usual, proved the chief item not to rip, ravel or tear at the seams, and absolutely collision proof.

Saturday Night at Chapman's in the Great Mid-Summer Sale

Store Open Tonight (Saturday) Until 10 o'Clock As Usual. Other Days During July and August, 5 p.m.

A big Saturday's business will be a fitting climax to the second week of the Great Mid-Summer Green Ticket Sale. We inaugurated this sale on July 4, to continue the entire month. No stone has been left unturned to make it the greatest sale we have ever had. Profits and costs have been ignored entirely in order that the desired effect may prove a success. The reason for this continued buying is self-evident in the extraordinary value giving which is the prime feature of this sale, and when we announced our Mid-Summer Sale Clearance, the women of London instantly recalled to mind the wonderful like bargain event of a year ago. We determined to make this event a duplicate in every respect that could interest the buying public. How well we have succeeded since this sale was begun was attested by the busy selling and the busy crowds which have patronized this store. Those who haven't already attended will find the same economic conditions prevailing throughout the month, namely: the banner bargains of the year, and a maze of money-making values in all Departments. Let nothing deter you from visiting this store during the green Ticket Sale.

More Saunby Suits.

Mr. Darch said also that if water was taken from the river the city would have another Saunby case on its hands. Mr. Dexter, a mill-owner, had told him that at certain seasons of the year the water of the north branch will pass through a six-inch pipe. This being the case, why expend any large amount of money on a river water plant? He said that when the Komoka supply is exhausted, the city may install meters or put in the high pressure scheme if the height of buildings demands it. High pressure will give no fire protection to the people of East London, as it would cost too much money to lay the extra mains there. If the independent scheme was installed and river water supplied, a livery drinking purposes would have to be installed. And this would entail the installing of two meters. Afraid to Slide

Base running has degenerated during the past twenty years. Today one of the best features of the game has become practically nil. Some claim it is on account of the pitcher's ability to keep the runners confined to the bag, more so than in the old days, together with the quick handling of the ball by the catcher, a combination hard to beat. The old-timer, however, maintains that the simple plain facts of the case are that the players of today are a lot of gingerbread men, afraid to take a little cuticle off their hides in sliding. They are just as fast as the old-timer on the run, but shy when it comes to the slide. A piece of tissue paper was good enough twenty years ago if a pebble or a hot close slide took a piece of skin off. Today a week's lay off with a doctor in attendance in case of blood poisoning is necessary. To this advanced age of scientific baseball Clarke Griffith could have gone a step further when he said stealing had declined on account of lack of practice. On account of lack of courage and stamina would have been a good after rider.

FOR OBSERVATION

Additional Rooms in the Schools Re quired for Normal Students.

A special meeting of the board of education was held yesterday afternoon, when the amended agreement, regarding the use of additional rooms n the schools for observation purposes by the Normal School students was under discussion. The agreement of 1899 allowed ten Government meeting the extra exmore rooms so the new agreement suggested that fifteen be opened for its use. The extra five rooms to be paid for at the same rate as the first ten; that is $2,250 in all. Dr. Merchant suggested that the agreement be made to read so that an extra room might be added at any time, being, of course, paid for pro rata. The purpose of this is that the practicing teachers may be in time more spread around, as some think the pupils lose by being too much under their instruction.

Considerable discussion arose on this point, Trustee MacRobert finally moving that the article be taken as at present on the amended agreement, for fifteen rooms, and that at any time extra rooms may be taken, upon being paid for at the rate of $150 per year by the Government, the number, however, not to exceed twenty. This motion carried, and the agreement with the amendments was sanctioned.

On being asked where the extra ooms would be, Dr. Merchant said that was not decided as yet, but that in all probability there would be one large school, as at present, and the other rooms scattered throughout the remaining schools. Those present were Chairman Fitzgerald, Trustees McCormick, Graham, MacRobert, Weekes, Inspector Edwards, Principal Merchant and Secretary McElhern.

GALT'S JUBILEE

Return of Many Former Residents to the Old Home Town.

The town of Galt is conducting the elebration of its 50th anniversary. The event is marked by the return of many former residents to their old home town, and by a grand carni- $ val of unusual interest. The celebra- $ tion is to last for three days, and will be opened by a huge trades' procession with six noted bands. Vaudeville performances will also mark the event. Extensive electric displays will illu-

Days' Pass All Tco Quickly at the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp.

The days are passing only too quickly at the Y. M. C. A. boys' camp. Things so far have gone on without a hitch, and the only objection so far raised to the outing is that it will pass all too soon. Capt. Bert Bishop, tent No. 3, is acting chief chef, and doing many gymnastic stunts in the cooking tent. The way he swings the kettles and pots around puts any efforts at clubswinging in the gym to shame. The camp Marathon was run along the beach recently, and it is reported Longboat's wonderful two-mile record was smashed to fragments. Anyway, Sammy Harris gave Mr. Brock the An accident was narrowly averted the other afternoon, when the boys were led by Mr. Brock to eat some article which he, in a moment of enthusiasm, called ice cream. The freezer was there, and Mr. Brock thought that all that was necessary was to put in the component parts and turn. The turning was done all right -all turned, they took turns at turning, and turned out a beautiful substance. From what is reported, some important ingredients were left out, but the boys are going to try again. There are, it is reported, some sore

There is a covert pun in that compound word. For our water bug was brought to our shores in the holds of German vessels. Ever since that unhappy hour he has been a "stowaway" of the most detestable type. To cap the climax The vilest of these in all its of odiousness, he and his American kinsman inflict upon the memory a sesquipedalian title. In our germ-mad generation, it is surprising that, in the howl against cold-storage foods, so little has been made of the peril to health offered by unclean refrigerators. The confined air is, of itself, unwholesome, imparting a "close taste" to butter and meats, easily recognized, yet rarely analyzed. The chill of the ice arrests decay, but it does not prevent the growth of mould. Did you ever look at a section of mould through a micro-cope? If milk and butter are kep; in the refrigerator. give them a shelf to themselves. and, unless the butter be perfectly fresh, keep it away from the milk.

In summer the shelves should be cleared daily and the contents sorted under the eye of the mistress. The corners must be scrubbed faithfully with a cloth wrung out in boiling water and baking soda, that nothing may accumulate there. Then the doors must be left open until the shelves are entirely dry. To shut up humidity in the chilled interior is to make a dark cave of it.

It is an excellent plan to lay a lump of dry, clean charcoal upon each shelf, exchanging it for fresh once a week. It absorbs musty smells and tends to keep the refrigerator dry inside.

> Another English Recipe. Our Englishman and brother has another contribution this week, which we print gratefully.

Beat three small eggs well, add to them one ounce of lard and two of butter, one teacupful of sugar and a pinch of salt Beat all together to a thick cream and pour in a little milk. Now stir in three cups of flour, two of them being self-rising flour. Mix thoroughly, adding half a pound of currants, a little spice and a handful of sultana raisins. Make into a fairly stiff dough with milk, grease a tin (one with a loose bottom is best), put in the mixture and bake in a hot oven. To test it, stick in a clean hatpin. If it does not stick it is done. If it does not leave the tin easily, set the tin upon edges with a knife. This is a rich cake, about two inches thick. An ounce of candied orange or lemon peel may be added. Cut into small squares.

Wants a Recipe for "The Star and Garter" Cheesecake

Some time ago (I forgot the date) a recipe appeared in your exchange for cheese cakes as served in the Star and Garter, Richmond, England. Will the contributor say which part of the milk is to be usedthe whey or the curds, after straining? The inclosed may be new to some readers. It is delicious, eaten on bread and butter, or for cake-filling, or in pastry shells. It is in general use in the latter form.

LEMON CHEESE. One-half pound of sugar, two ounces of butter, three eggs, rind and juice of two lemons. Grate the rind and add the juice of the lemons to the sugar. Put this mixture with the butter into a saucepan, and set on the stove until the sugar is dissolved. Add the beaten eggs and cook gently until it thickens. It should not boil at any stage of the cookery.

Table Oilcloth as a Floor Covering

T TOW many women know that the ordinary table oilcloth makes an excellent floor covering for the kitchen? It is infinitely cheaper than linoleum or even regular oilcloth, and if put down over a lining lasts a surprisingly long time. One housekeeper who could afford to pave her kitchen with marble tiles, if she so desired, declares she always uses this table oilcloth in preference to anything else in her kitchen, as its coloring is attractive and it can easily be kept clean. As she says, "even should it not last as long as linoleum, it can be taken up and fresh put down for about a third the cost." It is really more sanitary, moreover, if one cannot afford tiled walls and floor in a kitchen, to change the paper and floor covering at fairly frequent intervals.

LINCOLN'S REMARKABLE PER-

Mr. Linton Park, who is now an inmate of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, at Erie, Pa., was among those who joined in the chorus: "We are coming, Father Abraham, three hundred thousand strong." He enlisted at Washington, and was assigned to the Second District of Columbia Regietarian. While he could assimilate everything connected with his answer to the call of duty from the stand of patriotism, he could not assimilate the army pork. It was plain that if the Government wished to do the square thing by Mr. Park it would have to show broad mindedness in the matter of rations. So he took his troubles to President Lincoln, and explained that in some respects he was like the children of Israel after they set out from Egypt. He could not forget

If you will examine the fire-pot of the Sunshine you will notice that the sides are straight up and down.

On many furnaces the fire-pots slope, forming a rest on which the ashes accumulate.

As ashes are non-conductors of heat they prevent the fire-pot from radiating as much heat as it should; they clog up the draft and deaden the fire.

But the Sunshine fire-pot is a wonderful radiator of heat. No ashes can cling to the straight, sheer sides of its fire-pot. The live, red-hot coals are always snug up to them. There is nothing to prevent the radiation of every unit of heat produced by the fuel.

OF MALARIA

AN EPIC OF SCIENCE FOR TWO THOUSAND YEARS.

Referring to malaria, in a talk be fore the Royal Colonial Institute of Great Britain, the other day, Major Ronald Ross said that it is the most interesting disease of all medical science.

For 2,000 years men have been studying it, and only now does success seem in sight.

One of the most remarkable things admitted by physicians now in discussing the disease is that we have not disproved any of the more important theories of the ancients on the subject, but have only elaborated on them and verified them.

Four hundred years before the Christian era that great Greek, Hippocrates, wrote learnedly on malaria Yet today it is encountered with dread by physicians. Full of astounding facts is its story.

Between man and nature, seemingly, has the malarial war been waged. Perhaps, though, it would be nearer money and told, in a manner at once correct to say that it has been fought between man and himself.

of nature herself, that has wrought the trouble.

One hears nowadays of "intermittent fever," and is apt to imagine it a modern term. Only in phaseology and divided them into three classesthose occurring every day, every other day, and every third day.

And that classification, in its essentials, stands today.

Again, those ancients had discovered a direct connection between the disease and swampy or marshy places, and even suggested that it was disseminated to man by a germ. All of which-with some elaborationis now known to be true.

A long time afterward a villager of Malacotos, in Ecuador, discovered that Peruvian bark would alleviate malaria fever. In 1640 Europe learned of it, and Louis XIV. had his agues helped

Then, in 1820, the French chemists separated quinine from the bark, and felt that they had made a progressive step in the treatment of malaria. And so they had, for today quinine malaria.

About the middle of the last century came another important discovery; it was found-thanks to the microscope-that the "malarial pigment" matter thrown off by little parasites

Then, at a later period, Pasteur,

The difference is that the malaria "We look upon our women and we germs are the lowest form of animal life, while the bacteria causing those twentieth century type of beauty. What other diseases are the lowest form of

Religion first must be experienced

But the supreme test of religion is that it be experienced in our lives. A man may have deep religious feeling but if it does not prove itself in action it is but vapid emotionalism. Sentiment and prayers do but make a mockery of God and the church, if they do not issue in right life. It is temptations, sweetens our ugly tempers, overcomes our bad habits, casts age in danger and faith and call.

The defect of too many professors

If believers would only be more consistent in their lives and illustrate their faith in their ideals, no argument would be needed to win the worldly to follow so gracious a guide as religion. Gibbons in that famous chapter of his history where he seeks to account for the progress of the early church, states that "the primitive Christian demonstrated his faith by his virtues," and "exercised himself in the habits of humility, meekness and patience." Christian qualities will give more power to the gospel today than all the learned arguments of theologians. Let us by all means believe and profess religion. But then let us give proof that we experienced it. And then will it make joyful our inner life, clothe our deeds with virtue and beauty and convince and draw our friends and neighbors to the life of faith, piety and hope.

CHAPTER XX. Safe-and Loved

The fog had drifted. It lay thick along the High street now, shutting out the great buildings, smothering the great factories in the Liverpool road, and shrouding Priddeaux's Chemical Works and Fulton's Iron Foundries in a dull black mantle.

He fell back in his seat, with his arms folded and his head bent, frowning down at the floor of the tram, trying to think. The thought of his own possible ruin had gone from him. It might be necessary to bribe Barker for a while until he had got the necessary proofs of Hetty's innocence. But he could not consider what was to be happen after that now. It bespeaks a difference in the mentality of the two types, I suppose. The dredweights, will follow on for sometimes hours at a time before they rush at and fight for the bait.

"It was there I first noticed the chameleonlike habit of the bass in changing his skin coloring to suit his environment. If you examine the string we made up today you will find some of them of a bright green with light yellow underneath. Those are the fish we got in the blue waters, on the sandy shallows. The dark black ones with the muddy-colored sides we took over the dark-looking, weedy places.

"In the South Pacific I have caught bass almost pink on the belly, where Journal, in his effort to describe the the pink coral abounds. Nearby, coldest place in the world, spoke of a where the prevailing color of the reefs they should have this curious faculty it is hard to say, since nature has armed them with powerful muscles, a strong jaw, and given them ample protection against predatory foes.

"It may be that the bass are intended to prey upon fish swifter in the water than they are, such as the trout and the whitefish, so that partial invisibility is necessary to them, though somehow wherever I have met with them the bass never seemed to me to be sneaking things which got their living by fraud.

If a fish spear is thrust into the water near to them they will actually seize the prongs and violently wrench it with guite surprising. strength. One would hardly expect such pugnacity and crafty lying in wait for prey in the same fish.

"Did you ever hear of bass attacking men?" the other asked. "There is a fish commonly found about Aden which makes serious attacks upon bathers. It is a true bass of a dark

ST. GEORGE. 'Phone 1466. THE BOOMERANG

The boomerang is rather a puzzle. One might think that the highest laws of mathematics had been laid under contribution in the perfecting of it. The convexity on one side, the flatness on the other, and the sharp, knifelike edge on the inside of the convexity have the air of having been carefully thought out. Yet the people who invented this singular weapon cannot count higher than five and are destitute of all the arts and amenities of life. Theirs is perhaps the lowest plane of human life Some people have assumed that the boomerang was the creation of an older and higher civilization, but for this there is no evidence. It must be the product of an age-long empirical use of throwing weapons.-London Spec- rents
