"SALT RHEUM"

Had It On Hands For Two Years.

ITCHED SO DID NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO.

Tried Three Doctors and Went to Hospital.

All skin diseases are more or less occasioned by a bad state of the blood, and no one can expect to be free from some form or other of skin trouble unless the blood is kept in good shape. All skin diseases can be very easily cured by the wonderful blood cleansing properties of Burdock Blood Bitters. This is due to the unrivaled purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters on the blood, coupled with the thorough manner in which it cleanses and expels the impurities from the body. Mrs. Richard Coulter, White Head, Ont., writes: "I have been bothered with salt rheum, on my hands, for two years, and it itched so I did not know what to do. I tried three doctors, and even went to Montreal to the hospital without getting any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got three bottles, and before I had the second used I found a big change, and by the third day I was cured." Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for about 35 years and is manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Cynthia Grey's Correspondence

Unhappy Hannah.

Dear Miss Grey—Will you kindly answer the following. I have been keeping company with a young man for the last three years. A short time ago he told me that he would not be up to me again, as there was another girl who was to take his place. I do not care for the other, who has been with me but once. Could you advise me as to what I can do to regain his love and friendship, and have him call on me again, as I know that he still cares for me?
HANNAH.

A—You are a sad but not uncommon case, dear Hannah. From here I look as if your friend was "getting under" as gracefully as possible. Wait awhile. If he really cares for you he will be back. If he doesn't, are you not well rid of him? Doesn't it strike you that his regard for that other is most touching.

Dear Miss Grey—1. Will panel skirts and collar collars be worn this fall? 2. Is silver gear becoming to a girl with brown hair and eyes? CYNTHIA LOCKE.

A—1. Yes. 2. If the complexion is clear.

Encourage Blushes.

Dear Miss Grey—1. What will cure blushing? 2. How should a girl of 18 wear her hair, and how long should her dresses be? 4. How should a party dress be made for a girl of 18? 5. What should the color be when her eyes are blue and her hair light? 6. Should a girl speak to a young man she does not know if he speaks to her first? 7. What is the meaning of affinity? 8. How should I begin a letter to a young man I have only met once?
ETHEL.

A—1. Blushing is an indication of modesty, and should be encouraged. 2. Nothing, if it is not naturally fair. 3. Hair parted, rolled, and braided. Tied with large ribbon bow to match the dress. Skirt just below the knees, or a little longer if the girl is large for her age. 4. A very simple one-piece dress, with short sleeves and round neck. A sash may be worn, as they are very fashionable. White or pale blue will be becoming. 5. Certainly not. 6. The dictionary says: Nearness of kin. Physical or chemical attraction. 7. In the most formal manner, or not at all unless your mother knows and approves.

To Make a Dress.

Dear Miss Grey—Kindly answer the following: 1. What would make a pretty little evening dress for a girl of 18, and what would you like to wear? 2. Do you think that flowers would be a suitable little birthday remembrance for the mother of a friend of mine? 3. Is it necessary that one thank one's escort every time, on returning from places of amusement, etc., when one frequently goes out with him? 4. Do you think mannish and tailored effects become young girls? 5. What is the very latest way of doing the hair?
DOROTHIE.

A—1. One glance at a style book design will tell you more than a half column of explanations on my part without an illustration. The Empire style, or a surprise waist, with a high-waisted skirt, are equally suitable for a girl your age. Marquise, all-over embroidery, voile, or mull, are suitable materials. Tailor shops are showing some exquisite trimmings in pearl, sequin and silk.

2. Very suitable, and sure to be appreciated. 3. While not exactly necessary, it is certainly more courteous.

4. No. 5. Part the hair in the middle and roll in two or three small coils just behind the ears and the lower part of the head.

antville. Mahaffy's history is had begun just there. Apparently he had no past of which he could be brought to speak. He admitted having been born in Boston some sixty years before, and was a printer by trade; further than this he had not revealed himself, drunk or sober.

At the judge's elbow Mr. Mahaffy changed his position with nervousness. Then he folded his long arms. "You asked if there was any news, Price. While waiting for the boat a raft tied up to the bank; the fellow aboard of it had a man he'd named up out of the river, a man who's been pretty well cut to pieces."

"Nobody knew, and he wasn't conscious. I shouldn't be surprised if he never came to his senses again. When the doctor had looked to him the fellow on the raft cast off and went on down the Elk."

Do You Know?

Not to starch jabots and thin collars before ironing. Try using a half teaspoonful of granulated sugar in a pan of water. Rinse in this, wring out and roll in a towel for a short while. Then iron, and the jabots will look as if they had never lost their original dressing.

That housewives do not usually cook stewed tomatoes long enough and they often have a raw taste when served. Forty minutes is not too long to let them cook. Add two tablespoons of dried bread crumb to every quart. Add also about half a teaspoonful of sugar with pepper and salt to taste.

That a great deal can be saved by making your own dustless dust cloth by the following recipe: One-third ounce of oil of paraffin mixed with one pint of coal oil. Wash a piece of black cheese cloth in this and you will have a dustless dust cloth harmless to any furniture. The above quantity makes three yards.

When cleaning spots to take the garment that is to be cleaned, and if there are spots on it, run it around the spot so as to be able to find them easily after the garment is wet and the spots not apparent.

That in making working aprons to make the hem nine or ten inches deep. Then, when the upper part of the apron wears out, then hem can be let out and substituted for the top, thus prolonging the garment's life.

To Preserve Flowers

The best flowers to preserve are those of pure white or delicate tint without green leaves. Take solid paraffin of the best quality and melt it in a tin cup, set in hot water, which may be kept boiling around it so as to keep the paraffin in a liquid state for use.

Into this thin and transparent mass dip each bloom, or brush it rapidly, giving it a very thin coat that will cover every portion of the petals. This forms a casing that entirely excludes the air and prevents them withering.

It is invisible, and, therefore, allows the flower to retain its natural appearance. To preserve green leaves coat them with green wax, or with paraffin prepared with the addition of chrome green. In this manner all the vases in the house may be perpetually filled with lovely natural flowers which do not need replacing.

White Lace Veils

White lace veils are extremely popular and delightfully cool-looking, although their influence when spread over the face is far from it.

They are, however, of special value from the picturesque point of view, for a black hat trimmed with white wings a floating veil is a graceful addition.

Silk veils, or the wide-meshed Shetland veils, are the accepted vogue; but veils of cotton thread with a lacy border are really most becoming to the majority of faces.

Face veils of large octagonal mesh lend a softening tone to the complexion; they are less warm than the Shetland veils and are worn extensively by women who value a veil as a protection from the ravages of a stiff wind.

Those in grey, black, and white will be highly popular during the coming season.

Cure of Red Hands

When red hands refuse to yield to conscientious external applications you may be sure the cause of the trouble is not with the skin, but has its beginning in some such internal disorder as indigestion or defective circulation.

A good tonic will sometimes correct the trouble by enriching and giving substance to the blood, but the best, and, in fact, the only absolute remedy, is that base of the luxurious woman's existence—exercise.

When you say exercise to the beauty-seeker, the chances are she will immediately begin to lose interest.

"Yes," she says, "I know perfectly well that walking and riding and bending and sagging and all that sort of thing is destined to make one a raving beauty, but I don't care for it in the least. I want to grow lovely sitting still."

Which is a very odd and a very human plaint after all. Like the king who sought to win all the knowledge of the world by reason for his sovereignty, this seeker of the easy path must realize sooner or later that there is no royal road to cultivate beauty. It is a matter of patience and endurance, pure and simple, and the reward is worthy the endeavor.

Find the exact condition of the heart by consulting a physician, and if there is no valvular trouble with that organ exercise is the certain cure. As an added precaution, use only soft water to bathe the hands.

New Beauty Fads

A new beauty fad has just arrived from the French capital—a fad so delightful that it cannot fail to win a large following. This is the eating of raisins for the purpose of improving the complexion. The proportion is a quarter of a pound a day, and the only condition imposed is that the fruit be fresh and moist. Of course, they should be thoroughly masticated before they are swallowed. It is better to buy the seedless variety of fruit, though this entirely excludes the difficulty of removing them is considerable.

Figs have been recognized as one of the best of the beauty foods for a long time. Like all dried fruits, the essential quality is that they are perfectly fresh and clean. Figs are put up so carefully and attractively these days that there is little excuse for buying the dried and exposed fruit in the stores. Attractive little baskets of

Few people eat enough of what is rightly called "the staff of life"

FOOD authorities declare that wheat is the KING of all foods. It is the best food for growing children, the best for old age, the best for every age of life. It is best chiefly because it contains most of the life-building nitrogen combined with the proper degree of starch.

Of all the forms in which wheat may be eaten, bread stands at the top. There is no food yet created that can take the place of good bread—"the staff of life."

HAMILTON ALERTS RESULT OF ROW

Team Was Formed Last Fall
by Discontented Members of Tiger Crew.

DOPE ON THE PLAYERS

Team Averages 170 Pounds, More Than
"Varsity," But Less Than Argos—
Average Age 23 Years.

The Hamilton Alerts, winners of the O. R. F. U. senior championship, who meet the Argonauts in the Dominion semi-final tomorrow, are the outcome of a row in the ranks of the Hamilton Tigers.

Disaffection arose last fall after the Tigers had won the Interprovincial championship, when some of the players expressed in no uncertain terms their disapproval of the treatment accorded them by the executive. Several of the Tiger stars deserted to the O. R. F. U. team, and the remainder of the players were recruited from various teams around the city. They had the satisfaction of seeing the Tigers beaten, while winning a championship themselves.

Dicker is a product of the corner-ers. He broke into the game with the Argonauts, champions of the Church league, which also developed McKelvey and Oliver of the Tigers. He plays right half.

G. Pickley, the centre half, weighs 165, and is a member of the family which has four representatives in the game around Hamilton. The Tigers tried to get him for this season.

A Varsity Man.
Learning Carr, the right half, is a University of Toronto student. He is right, but fast, a good catch and punter. Harper, the quarter, has been playing the game since he was 16 years of age. His tackling has been a feature of the Alerts' games.

Jack Craig, scrumman, one of the veterans, broke into the game in 1903. He has been a mainstay of the Tigers for a number of years, but was one of the discontented ones. His experience has been useful to the Alerts.

"Dinky" McCarthy, scrumman, the star of the team, is 28 years of age. He started as a soccer player at the age of 20 years and has been a prominent figure in Hamilton football circles ever since. "Dinky" is still as active and effective as any player on the team.

Preffer, the third scrumman player, was developed in the Tiger intermediates and finally made the senior team. He is one of the best players taken from the Tigers by the Alerts.

This is Gray.
Jack Gray, the 200-pound inside wing, was one of the famous Tiger quartette of line players, which included Barron, Isbister and Wigle. He bucked through the Ottawa line in the play-off at Kingston in 1908, for the championship.

Ross Craig commenced playing Rugby in the Peterborough City League several years ago. He now weighs 185, and is regarded by many as the best punting ball-carrier in the game today.

Norman Clark, middle wing, was also sought by the Tigers. He weighs 170 and learned the game in the Hamilton City League. He has always been noted for his tackling.

Charles Becker, the other middle wing, is a brother of the young half-back. He scales at 145 and is big and aggressive enough to stop anybody who may be sent against him.

Rockmaker, outside wing, has a world of speed, but lacks weight. He scales at 145, but his manner of getting down under punts has made him useful. Ripley and Marriott are endeavoring to improve his tackling.

One of the discontented.
Bill Pickley, a brother of Gordon, the half-back, is a 170-pounder. He was with the Dominion champion Tiger intermediates for two seasons, and has played outside wing for the senior Tigers.

Brannigan, a substitute outside wing, is a flying tackle who seldom fails to get his man. He may be sent in to play Bill Pickley's position tomorrow. Pickley having sustained an injury to his knee in the T. A. A. C. game.

Flaher is an outside wing, who, like Rockmaker, has speed without sufficient weight. He may get a chance before tomorrow's game is over.

One of the most spectacular players on the O. R. F. U. champions is Ed Flannery. He is fearless and aggressive, and is used as a flying wing. He catches, punts and runs well, and in spite of the fact that he weighs less than 150, makes frequent gains through the line.

In going, Corrie and Clarence Pickley, the Alerts have substitute half, scrumman and quarter, capable of doing themselves credit against any opponents. The team averages 170 pounds, which is more than the University of Toronto and less than the Argos. The average of the O. R. F. U. champions is slightly over 23 years.

FRED LAKE FOR TAYLOR.
Ottawa, Nov. 16.—The Ottawa hockey club will make an effort at next Saturday's meeting of National Hockey Association to secure the services of Fred Taylor from the Wanderers.

President McGee made the announcement tonight. "It is absurd to say that Taylor is bluffing when he declares he will not play with the Wanderers," said Mr. McGee. "The man has a position in the civil service and only recently he brought his mother here from Lenoir, Va. We will give the Wanderers anything reasonable for Taylor. It will be a shame to keep such a man on the side, and if he does not play with Ottawa he will certainly keep out of it."

It is said that Ottawa will offer Fred Lake for Taylor. If the Wanderers refuse to make a trade the champions will offer cash for the celebrated "icy clone."

Several Railroad Officials and Business Men Indicted on Charge.

REFUNDED TEN PER CENT

Investigation May Cause Many Big American Lines To Be Involved.

New York, Nov. 16.—Indictments returned by the federal grand jury today against three prominent railroad officials and seven businessmen with important connections in this city and Chicago, for giving aid and receiving bribes on freight, revealed a Government investigation of common carriers that may involve many other roads.

Vice-President Thomas N. Jarvis and Freight Traffic Manager Clarence A. Blood, of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, and Robert B. Ways, foreign freight agent of the Baltimore and Ohio, are charged with refunding 10 per cent of rate charges to the shippers indicted with them.

The figures named in the indictments are small, but it is asserted the Government authorities have evidence showing that rebates have been given by the two roads to the seven shippers named for all freight moved from New York to Chicago during the last year.

The shipments were all foreign importations and consisted largely of drygoods, millinery, spices, etc.

The two Lehigh Valley officials were arraigned before United States Circuit Court Judge Martin and entered a plea of not guilty. Bail of $5,000 each was furnished. Robert B. Ways was said to be absent from the city, and Judge Martin accepted a plea of not guilty for him from counsel of the Baltimore and Ohio. All parties were given until Dec. 4 to withdraw the pleadings and make the customary motions.

The business men indicted and the firms they represent are as follows: Jules T. Bernard, of Bernard & Junck, Chicago; Maurice Ascher, of Gallagher & Ascher, Chicago; Albert E. Greaser, president of the American Shipping Co., Chicago; Oscar E. Kueche, trading as Chat-

TRENTINI WRITES TO FICKLE CARUSO

"His Voice Made Me Forget His Greasy Face," Says
Diva.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—"Me a cake of soap! What does he know about soap!"

This was the exclamation of Emma Trentini, prima donna, as she stood in her apartments yesterday and stamped her tiny foot and shook her curls by way of emphasis, while giving to a reporter her opinion of Enrico Caruso, the world-famous grand opera tenor, to whom she was engaged—or at least she says she thought she was—until his arrival in New York Wednesday.

Caruso, in an interview, not only denied the engagement, but said Mme.
Trentini reminded him of a peanut and a cake of soap.

According to dispatches Caruso was not pleased with the defence that his engagement to the Trentini.
As soon as he was comfortably settled in New York he sent for the newspaper men and said:

"I am asked about Trentini—before Heath, a farmer. Either William J.
Andrew, a carpenter, or B. C. Kenyon, a capitalist, it was thought, and some chance of being retained, making the final harvest seven permanent jurors, while the retention of both, making a total of eight, was held not improbable."

Caruso. The ladies should have everything they want, but if Trentini wants me, tell her to stay in Chicago. She is too little. She reminds me of a peanut. She is only a cake of soap."

Emma Trentini read Caruso's interview and then said:
"Here is my challenge to Caruso," she rushed to a small writing desk and taking a pen, she wrote across the face of one of her latest photographs this message:
"Caruso—Caruso—I forget—him. I forget his voice. I forget his face. I forget his stage kisses—I forget him and everything he told me. Forget everything, except he is pighead, fat, conceited, fickle and filthy. I'm glad I found him out in time. Grand voice—divine voice, but he'd make an

BYRON PEOPLE WANT LIGHT!

Wait on Water Commissioners to Have Niagara Power Brought Into Homes.

OFFICE ROOM WANTED

Commissioners Will Likely Be Compelled to Get Out of the City Hall Very Shortly.

At the meeting of the water commissioners, held yesterday afternoon, a delegation from Byron aired their grievances regarding Niagara power.

It seems that early in the summer they had wired their houses, as power had been promised them immediately. Some of the property owners had been connected up, while the others had not, and the latter wanted the board to do something for them.

Superintendent Glauvits explained that owing to the rush of work in his department, it was impossible for him to send men out to connect all the Byron property owners.

"Send us a couple of men who understand the work, and we will do the rest," said one gentleman. "We want power, and we want it right away."

Chairman Pocock declared that they would have light before Christmas, and the delegation went away satisfied.

More Office Room.

More office room is required at the city hall, and it is quite probable that the water commissioners will move out to other quarters. Superintendent Glauvits and Secretary Edwood declared that it was utterly impossible to get along under existing conditions. A special committee, composed of Chairman Pocock, Mr. Glauvits and Mr. Edwood, will endeavor to secure suitable quarters, and report to the commission.

Commissioner Stevenson thought it high time that the board took action looking towards the enactment of legislation compelling all electrical and telephone and telegraph companies to put their wires underground.

"We should start the ball rolling," he stated. "We could petition the Dominion Railway Board to enact the necessary legislation, and then we could secure the support of other municipalities."

Chairman Pocock thought that the Hydro-Electric Commission would do something along that line, and the board declined to take action at this time. Some routine business was transacted. Those present were: Chairman Philip Pocock, Commissioners John Marr, J. H. Chapman, Dr. H. A. Stevenson, Mayor Beattie, Superintendent Glauvits and Secretary Edwood.

GERMANY JARRED BY EARTHQUAKE

A Theatre Audience at Heidelberg Thrown by Shock.

Berlin, Nov. 17.—Sharp earthquake shocks occurred last night at Munich, Strassburg, Mayence, Frankfurt, and Stuttgart. The shocks were felt quite severely at Stuttgart and Frankfurt.

"The disturbance took place about half-past ten o'clock, and at Frankfurt, where several houses were badly shaken, half-clad people rushed into the streets. Big cracks appeared in the walls of several buildings. At Stuttgart, household furniture was overturned and pictures fell from the walls. At Constanz, in the Grand Duchy of Baden, many buildings, including the postoffice, were badly damaged. The railway viaduct near Lautlingen fell in. There was a panic in the theatre at Heidelberg.

DEAD BABE IN MAIL

A Growsome Discovery Made by Montreal Postoffice Employees.

Montreal, Nov. 17.—Mail clerks at the postoffice made a growsome discovery yesterday at the 6 o'clock collection, when, on unwrapping a big parcel the dead body of a baby boy was found wrapped in cotton.

The officials could not tell what part of the city the parcel came from, as the mail collected from all the different districts had been dumped out together for sorting on one of the large tables. Letters are often posted in the large boxes in big bundles and the postman who collected this particular parcel probably saw nothing unusual in the bundle.

There is no clue to show the identity of the infant, but the police are working on the case.

Crippled With Sore Back

KIDNEYS WERE BADLY DISEASED AND SHE DIDN'T KNOW IT.

WAS COMPLETELY CURED BY LESS THAN THREE BOXES OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Women are very often deceived and mistaken in regard to kidney disease. The pains in the back are attributed to other derangements, and kidney disease is allowed to run on and on until beyond the reach of medical science.

There is needless suffering, and life itself is risked, because backache is not recognized as the most marked symptom of kidney disease.

There is no treatment which so quickly relieves and cures kidney pains in the back as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. As proof of this read Mrs. Patterson's letter:

Mrs. Richard Patterson, Hamilton, Ontario, Que., writes: "I will gladly say that I was cured of kidney trouble by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. When I began with sore back and did not know what was the trouble. In looking over Dr. Chase's Almanac I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and decided to try them."

"I had not used two boxes before my back was all right, and before I had completed the third box was entirely cured. There has been no return of the old kidney trouble, and I therefore believe the cure to be permanent."

One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

ENGLAND'S FINE CHANCE

Ottoman Subjects Question Friendship of Power That Allows Ally to Defend War on Them.

Berlin, Nov. 16.—For years the general international situation has not been so unsettled as at present. Everywhere you turn there is unrest and strife. Only one thing is wanting to make the situation desperate, the death of Emperor Francis Joseph and warfare in the Balkan peninsula. As it is, Europe is laboring under a severe strain, existing alliances are near the breaking point and a new grouping of the powers may be announced at any time.

The political centre of interest at present is undoubtedly Constantinople. Turkey is passing through an exceedingly dangerous crisis, which may end in complete anarchy or in Turkey joining one of the two great international European combinations, the triple alliance or the triple entente. If Germany loses the confidence of Turkey she will have only herself to blame, for no power has had her chances with the sick man.

During the last years of the reign of the deposed Sultan Abdul Hamid, German influence gradually became paramount in Constantinople. Practically thrown over by England, the Sultan, in his dread of Russia's increasing influence, turned to Germany for protection. German officers were engaged to train his army, which they succeeded in placing on an efficient footing, and German capital and enterprise contributed to the improvement of regions which had been sadly neglected.

Powers Disappointed. Such was the state of affairs when the first revolution took place, and Turkey was endowed with the constitution which had been so long promised and so long deferred. This transformation was hailed with infinite satisfaction by the liberal powers of the west, who looked forward to a fresh and happy era under the new regime. All these fond hopes were disappointed by the policy pursued by the new government, which not only failed to ameliorate the domestic situation, but remained constant to Germany. After the abortive counter-revolution, as to the precise origin of which very strange and apparently fully justified suspicion is entertained, and after the enforced abdication of Abdul Hamid, things went on as before, as regards the methods employed at home and Turkey's relations with the foreign powers. The explanation is that, like the deposed Sultan, the famous Salonika committee is devoted to Germany.

At the same time, however, not only of the German Government, but also of German trade and industry, and, as the situation is now, which has a substantial majority in the Reichstag, no ministry can act in opposition to its wishes.

On the other hand, there is no doubt that German statesmen have committed a very serious mistake by not preventing Italy's rash declaration that she would not join the triple alliance, and that she might have prevented Italy from declaring war.

This fact opens a diplomatic chance for England to supersede Germany's influence in Turkey and make the country join the triple entente. In fact, the intelligent Turkish are even now asking themselves of what use is the friendship of a power whose ally is at war with them.

To make matters worse, from a German point of view, the fact has leaked out that Turkey is eventually to enter the triple entente. It must be effected through England. There have been reports from Constantinople that the Italian Government has caused throughout Turkey by the fact that a province is being wrested from the Ottoman Empire by a nation allied with Germany.

We're Home With the Plums

Both members of our firm spent a whole day in the wholesale tailor shops of Montreal, and most of a day in the wholesale tailor shops of Toronto, each with a long "want list" in one hand and a large wallet of hard cash in the other. That made the manufacturers "sit up" and "take notice."

We secured first "option" on the "over-makers" of almost every good maker in both cities—878 Overcoats in the lot and over 600 Suits. We cleared them at prices that would be little over "HALF COST" for the smaller makers supplying a few stores. This is our great advantage as independent buyers. It's your move now.

ENGLISH ROYALTY WIDELY SCATTERED

Not More Than Five of the Ruling Family Will Be at Home For Christmas.

London, Nov. 18.—London will soon be almost devoid of royalty, and as a result nearly all the most aristocratic town mansions are closed. The King and Queen left for India Saturday, Prince Alexander of Teck is at Bankok, and in a week or two Princess Patricia will go to Canada to celebrate Christmas with her parents at Rideau Hall. Princess Henry of Battenberg is going to Madrid to visit her lively son-in-law, King Alfonso, till after New Year's. Princess Louise will probably go to the Mediterranean in a few days, as will also the princess royal.

Royal Christmas in England will thus be a very quiet affair this year, Queen Alexandra being alone with her grandchildren, with the exception of the Prince of Wales, who will spend his Christmas at sea.

There have been various rumors that Queen Alexandra is to be consulted by the court officials on various points in order to reduce the King's labor while in India. These are all without any foundation. The dowager queen will simply look after the royal children, and will, of course, keep in constant touch with public events in order to display her personal sympathy and interest as occasions may arise. But she will have no regent's duties whatever, and it is equally incorrect to say that the Prince of Wales will be brought home from Hindustan in order to be available as a sort of figurehead to confirm the procedure of the Government. With the exception of the short week occupied in crossing the Indian Ocean, the King will be in daily, not to say hourly, touch with home.

Work of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, the new $2,000,000 hotel, constructed by the Grand Trunk System is progressing very favorably. Nearly all of the plastering of the hotel is now completed, and there remains to be done only the lobby, bar and grill room ceiling. Most of the marble floors for the dining room corridor are laid, and after the plaster work of the lobby is completed work will be started on the marble work of the floor. Heat and light have been in the building for the last two months, and when the plaster is sufficiently dried in the various public rooms, the decorators will be able to commence woodwork for the big rooms in the hotel, and the erection of this is going on. The general appearance of the various rooms is beyond expectation, and when completed will be of the richest effect, artistic in design, and wonderfully beautiful.

Independence Through Saving

While the fortunes which some men have acquired are not entirely composed of money which they have saved, yet they are the direct result of the saving habit.

In order to place yourself in a position where you can take advantage of money-making opportunities you must first save so that you can invest.

The Huron and Erie first provides you with a plan for saving, and after you have accumulated $100.00 or more, it enables you to invest the money in its Debentures, yielding 4 per cent. and 4 1/2 per cent. per annum. When your money is in the Savings Department it draws 2 per cent. interest, and after it is transferred to a Debenture the 4 per cent. or 4 1/2 per cent. rate begins the day the Debenture is issued, and it is payable twice a year.

If you desire a conventional form of investment that yields a substantial rate of income, avail yourself of our 4 per cent. Debentures.

CHINA COMPELLED TO BOW TO WEST

Empire Awakening Slowly From Tranquil Sleep of Centuries.

TRADITIONS LONG LIVED

Cult of Ancestors and Modified Form of Animism Govern Life.

Peking, Chihli Province, China, Nov. 16.—We have made a long journey through China. We have seen many Chinese under many circumstances. And everywhere the same impression—marvellous industry. We have travelled by modern steamboat on the river and by modern railroad on land, we have seen Chinese in iron foundries, telegraph offices, banks, even rubbing elbows with the westerner in big hotels, in treaty ports, and riding in automobiles on foreign-made roads, but all this is not the real China, the true Chinese.

Everywhere there are signs of an awakening, but China is a tremendous lump of dough, and though heaven has been sprinkled here and there across the empire, and risings and uprisings are becoming more frequent, yet the real China still works and sweats with the ages old inventions, in content with the products of its once splendid creative ability, is satisfied with an ingenuity, patience, and industry which have become immemorial.

We have seen some of China's contributions to human knowledge and progress. We have seen how the Chinese gives expression to his sense of beauty in iron and bronze, on paper and silk, in wood and porcelain.

Chinese Love Luxury.

Nothing is too significantly utilitarian to serve at the same time to gratify an aesthetic sense. We have seen how he clothes and feeds himself, and we know that he is not satisfied. Nothing could be further from the truth than the belief that the Chinese is "tight" with money. He wants something for his money. He does not gain merit by ostentatious display or reckless throwing away of coin. But he loves luxuries, is even fond of wine, women, and song, and is willing to spend his money to get them. We have seen how he lives and had a point of view regarding his architecture and art.

In all this we see a wonderful, quite too content from our rapid-paced point of view. Even a mollycoddle in a way, because he venerates the old, prefers a canary to a bull pup for a companion. We feel sorry for him because he hasn't rapid transit or the latest method of economically killing pigs, and because he prefers iron in the mine to iron in the soul, and because his one best seller is Confucius.

But after all, what does this Chinese think about? What kind of a mind has this heathen Chinese? It must be different from ours, or ours from his, else there couldn't be so much misunderstanding. He wouldn't look down on us as we do, and we wouldn't look down on him as we do. The truth is our ideals are different. We have different concepts of such a simple thing as love, to say nothing of good government and the proper way for an official to steal from the public.

Just here it must be insisted upon that fundamentally the mind of the Chinese is the same as yours or mine. To put it another way, the laws which govern the development of his mind are those which govern the development of the mind of man throughout the world. The difference is in the contents of the mind. The character contents of the mind from any given phenomenon varies in accordance with that contents.

Step on an American's toes, and he might strike you in the face; a Chinese might apologize for having been in your way. For ages certain kinds of tradition, habits and customs have crept into the mind of each individual Chinese. These traditions, habits, and customs are not necessarily more or less rational than ours, but they make him what he is—different.

We have our traditions, customs, and manners. We venerate the Bible, study Greek and Latin, graduate, and forget it all, and go hunting on our way. There is much evidence that they are being forced round to that point of view again. But meanwhile they live in accordance with a kind of philosophy which declares after the fashion that it is fate, and accepts it without protest.

The Oriental mind does differ from the Occidental mind, but after all the difference is not so profound as we think. Between the two there is no unbridgeable gulf. Whatever the difference, it is of degree and not of kind. Each group of men has its own values for different things—God, wife, pleasure, children, money, might, honor, death, the soul. Each group of men has its own attitude toward life in general, and its own peculiar way of looking at every detail of life.

All these agencies furnish additional mental stimuli. Chinese are not slow; the reaction time of Chinese in matters in which he is interested will compare favorably with that of any people in the world. But in general he has no need to strive to approach an actual speed limit. He is not conscious of the passing of time as we are. He may be all the happier, and no doubt in a way lives much longer, because his pleasures are not marred by an attempt to anticipate what will take place tomorrow or next year.

Whether or not it is a good thing for the world that 400,000,000 Chinese are being rooted out of the old life and forced—by it is a forcing process—to copy the manners and methods, the tools and appliances of the barbarians is a foolish and a vain question, because it is going to happen. I can think of nothing which is likely to stop the change, which has already set in. But it is certainly worth while to understand the misapprehensions of the Chinese mind. It is worth our while to get his point of view, turning first to his religious conceptions.

We may be certain that the Chinese idea of the spirit world mirrors what he knows of this world. The picture will be supplemented, of course, but his imagination and his dream something from nothing than we can build something from nothing. The Chinese spirit world may be shadowy, but its roots will have sprung from real and tangible life.

We may be certain, too, that the Chinese have made God in their own image, and have peopled the planets and the mountains, and the stars, since the Chinese distinguish between

It is not an assumed or "make believe" saving—it is a real, actual saving of $92.50 that can be used in defraying the expense of the musical education of the family or in any other way desired.

It's the power of numbers that makes this saving price possible—just as the railroad can afford to charge less when it runs an excursion—because it carries more people.

LLOYD-GEORGE BARS THE SUFFRAGETTES

Must Have Stenographer Present, He Says, After Being Misrepresented.

London, Nov. 16.—With Parliament in session, a fight for his insurance measures raging and the home rule imbroglio lurking in the offing, David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, has found time to express a determination never to talk to a suffragist without a stenographer at hand.

The cause of this decision lies in the efforts of the advocates of the conciliation bill to trap him into a discussion on suffrage through agreements not to interrupt his dissertations on the insurance bill.

Reports were spread broadcast that Mr. Lloyd-George had agreed to such an arrangement and after one of his speeches in the Whitehall Tavern on a deputation waited upon him with an intimation that it was about time for him to make good his promise.

The Chancellor was considerably upset. He claimed that he had been woefully misrepresented and would never undertake another private conversation on matters political without a trustworthy stenographer.

It may also be stated here that Mr. Lloyd-George is a warm advocate of woman suffrage, but differs from the backers of the conciliation bill. He holds the dogmatic that he would not Ramsay MacDonald Explains Reason for Speech Which Caused Stir at Berlin.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, Nov. 16.—James Ramsay MacDonald, Socialist and Labor member of the British House of Commons for Leicester, has sent a letter to the Vorwaerts, in which he asserts that the speech made by Chancellor Lloyd George on July 21, and which is the cause of the present anti-English outburst in the Reichstag, was delivered after Germany had waited two weeks for Germany to reply to the British request for an explanation of the meaning of Germany's occupation of Agadir, Morocco.

The publication of the letter in the Vorwaerts, a paper supporting the Social Democratic party, has attracted much attention, but the officials of the foreign office had no comment to make upon it.

Don Miguel is said to have made a strong appeal for action, with the result that the King languidly rose and accompanied him under the condition that they stop to purchase a string of pearls that had been admired by his chamberlain.

At the time Captain Couclore crossed the frontier with his little band of Royalists and the first reports reached London, telling of his success in the frontier towns, King Manuel was airily saying to his well-known propensities as a squire or dandy in the boudoir of a famous London actress. News is said to have been brought to him of his army's success, with a message from Don Miguel to the effect that a conference was to be held to discuss the

CAN BEEF TRUST ESCAPE?

First Move Made in What Promises to Be Big Legal Battle.

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 16.—What gives promise of being one of the bitterest and most important legal battles ever fought out in the federal courts was begun before United States Circuit Judge Christian C. Kohlman today.

Counsel for the Government and the so-called beef trust had arranged to be in court for argument in the habeas corpus proceedings filed in behalf of nine indicted meat packers and which attacked the constitutionality of the criminal provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law.

When the fight finally is taken up, the Government forces will be on the defensive. They were so placed when Judge Kohlman granted the order for the writ. The ground gained by counsel for the packers in the first move was the cause for a hurried gathering of legal talent to protect the federal interests.

The future trial of the indicted men depends on the action taken by Judge Kohlman on the writ. Should the court decide to quash the writ, then, by a provision of the rules of the supreme court, he may either remand the indicted men for trial in the district court or detain them in the custody of the circuit court until the appeal, which it is assumed would be made in such an instance, is threshed out on the question of the law's validity in the supreme court.

Counsel for the Government, it was

GUARDING HER GEMS

Duchess of Marlborough Has Six Sleuths To Watch Precious Stones.

London, Nov. 16.—Following the example of Pierpont Morgan, whose treasure house in London has been more than once the object of an attack by burglars, the Duchess of Marlborough has now installed a band of detectives at Sunderland House, her residence in Mayfair.

Six ex-Scotland Yard men are now employed—three for day and three for night duty. Although the mansion is fitted with the most finished and expensive system of burglar alarms, the duchess recently developed a state of nervousness that produced insomnia and was undermining her health.

She commenced to carry about all her most valuable jewelry, whenever she went abroad, but when it was pointed out to her that this was a dangerous proceeding, she decided to adopt the detective scheme of protection.

This little enterprise will cost her at least $6,000 a year, but she thinks it is money well spent. The detectives parade the corridors all day and night, while one man keeps a watchful eye on strange visitors. Servants, too, are kept under observation, for recent cases have shown they are often in league with thieves.

New York, Nov. 16.—The board of directors of the Standard Oil Company gave the finishing touches today to the process of dissolution of the giant trust as decreed by the supreme court of the United States last May. The board voted unanimously for the scheme of exchanging the shares of the trust for shares of the 24 subsidiary companies which constituted the combination said to be illegal and in restraint of trade by the tribunal of last resort. By this exchange the great combine is split into 24 parts, and at least in the fiction of the law, the land, money and by-products, parts hereafter are to be inter-related, each is to "go it alone" in future; such is the theory of the exchange, and declare and distribute its earnings to its stockholders; none is hereafter to make reports to 26 Broadway—the phantasmic mine known around the world as the Standard Oil Company.

The board's order for the distribution of the Standard Oil Company was completed by Dec. 1. After that date presumably there will be no more oil trust, it will be a thing of history. The holding company, the center of the gang of tentacles that reached in to every cranny of the globe where petroleum and its myriad by-products are sold or produced, remains in name. It is the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. It was through this device that the Standard Oil Company has been evolved by the minds of the new world's modern Midases.

A MAD IRISH BULL ENTERS TWO HOUSES

Panic Near Dublin Began When the Animal Stampeded Along the Highway.

Dublin, Nov. 17.—The cry of "Mad Bull" rang through Clontarf, County Dublin, the other day, and there was panic as the animal not only stampeded through the roads but actually entered two houses. It badly scared the occupants of the first house it entered, but after knocking over tables, chairs, and other furniture, it was driven out by the door again. The villagers' cries alarmed a Mrs. Devitt, and she immediately sought the safety of her children who were playing in front of the house. But as she rushed out, the animal dashed into the kitchen where another child was. It trampled the infant, scattered crockery, furniture, etc., and as Mrs. Devitt made a heroic attempt to save her baby it was eventually dashed clean through the window.

"LEAVE ROOM FOR GEORGE," SAID EVA

Pretending She Was Queen—Joke Has Spread All Over England.

London, Nov. 16.—"Leave room for George!" These words, spoken in the hearing of anyone moving in court circles, are bound to raise a smile. King George and Queen Mary are no exception to the rule, and the joke is sure to be ventilated many a time on board the Medina during her voyage to India.

It happened in this way. A little girl, the grand-daughter of a high court official, was always pretending to be someone else, after the manner of imaginative children. One evening in the highlands recently her nurse said to her, "Come to bed, Miss Eva."

"I am not Miss Eva," she said. "I am Queen Mary."

Then with royal majesty condescend to come to your bed?" replied the nurse.

The child rose with slow dignity, and presently clambered into bed. The nurse proceeded to tuck her in, when she said with mock solemnity: "Be careful! Leave room for George!"

Royal Kiddies' Joke.

But the King and Queen have no need to go outside their own family circle for amusing stories of child life. Little Prince John is a high-spirited youngster, and Queen Mary has had her work cut out sometimes to reduce him to discipline. On one occasion he was refused permission to

RAVING MADMAN AS COMPANION

Driver of a Scotch Motor Mail
Van Has an Uncanny Experience.

HEROES OF HIGHLANDS

Several Scotchmen Decorated by His Majesty for Saving or Trying to Save Life.

Edinburgh, Nov. 17.—With a raving madman as companion, the driver of a motor mail van made an uncanny midnight trip recently from Stirling to Bathgate. He was suddenly startled by the apparition of a white clad figure rushing to and fro in the road in front of him, impeded by the strange object he was compelled to stop, and as he did so the lunatic, carrying a heavy chain, sprang to the seat by his side. Realizing that he had a madman to deal with, the motor man tried to dislodge his uncanny passenger, but in vain. He was passing through a weird, lonely district, so, starting his van again, he made good speed to Falkirk. During the journey his grim visitor, roused to fury by his shadow on a glass screen, screaming and swinging his chain in a terrifying manner, but at Falkirk, a policeman responded to the driver's signs for help and the madman was captured.

Several people narrowly escaped death lately when a violent explosion occurred at the gunpowder factory at Riekin, near Edinburgh. The man in charge, Robert Harvey, was fortunately outside at the time or undoubtedly he would have met a terrible death. Several men were badly injured by flying debris. A passing train was severely shaken, and the windows in houses near by were completely shattered. The explosion occurred in the centre of the works. The house comprised four mills, each containing 80 pounds of gunpowder, and one pair of mills was blown up.

Wearing of Kilts.
A campaign to promote the more general wearing of the kilt has been begun in Inverness by a number of enthusiastic Gael. At a recent meeting for the purpose of forming a Kilt Society, Major Gunn, of the Cameron Highlanders, who presided, said that in the kilt the Highlander had a distinctive dress that was picturesque, hygienic, and economic and it was a reproach, he thought, to the Highland community that so few wore the kilt in the streets. Mr. John McAskill, a fervid Celt, said the kilt was a most economic dress. He had worn his for twenty years! A proposal was made that the Highland dress should be the civic official garb for the Highland capital.

A runaway penny cost a fourteen-year-old Dundee newboy, Albert Leitch, an exciting dip in the River Tay recently. He was amusing himself at the docks when he dropped the penny, and in his desperate efforts to regain his treasure, he eventually followed it further than he had intended, as he suddenly lost his balance and followed the coin over the side of the dock into the water. Fortunately, a quick-witted companion jumped on board a small steam launch, and holding on to the railing of the yacht, threw his body over the side, with the result that Leitch was able to grip his legs and hold on till further assistance arrived.

A Tragical Death.
The tragic death of a woman, the wife of a painter, living in Edinburgh, is engaging the attention of the police at present. The other evening, the couple, Neval by name, quarrelled, and the neighbors were attracted by the shouts of the woman. Shortly after ten o'clock Mrs. Neval appeared at the window in a state of great excitement, shouting "Murder," "Police," and "Help." A minute or two later she was seen to fall from the window to the pavement, a distance of fifty feet. Death was instantaneous. The police at once arrested her husband. The man was mad with drink at the time of the occurrence.

Ready-made clothes are organized for postmen of the United Kingdom, but though there are all makes and sizes to choose from, yet it seems that many unfortunate have not the knack of selecting a suit to fit them; and Mr. Bennett, in this year's "Post Office" book, severely criticizes their clothes. They have a choice of about 1,800 sizes and various cuts, and he thinks that any man could be suited in a moment. Amongst other interesting particulars stated in the book is the fact that the heads of the Glasgow postmen like the biggest hats and the Glasgow telegraph boys' feet demand the biggest boots!

Scottish Heroes.
Several Scottish heroes were received at Buckingham Palace recently by the King, and were decorated by his majesty for their gallantry in having saved life or having attempted to save life. There were seventeen brave men and boys at the palace, and as a brief story of each deed was read, the King pinned a medal on each hero's breast and cordially shook hands with him. The recipients of the Edward medal included Walter Cullen and Thomas McFarlane, miners at Cambuslang, who, at the risk of their own lives, attempted to save a comrade who had been overcome by a deadly fire-damp.

Jack Johnson, the world's champion pugilist, has been admitted a member of the Freemason craft in Dundee, the lodge in which he was initiated being Forfar and Kincardine, 222, one of the oldest in the city. Johnson's visit to Dundee the other day was a flying one, but his presence soon leaked out, and there were great scenes on the streets. The Masonic ceremony was hastily arranged. Johnson's initiation over, he was carried shoulder high to the street, and had a great reception outside, and also at the railway station.

The world's draughts champion, Richard Jordan, died recently in Edinburgh from injuries received in a tramcar accident. When about fifteen years of age he began to take an interest in draughts, and a few years later he defeated James Ferris, the great expert and thus won the championship.

friendship of Scotland. Following this triumph, he secured a still greater winning the world's championship, and he held this title continuously from 1896.

A revolting murder was committed in Glasgow a few days ago, a woman, Sarah Macdane, battering her husband to death with a beer bottle. The pair had been drinking and quarrelling, and early the other morning the husband was taken into a neighbor's house. His wife followed, and was heard to say she would swing for him, no matter what number of witnesses would go against her. She then furiously struck him on the head and mouth with the bottle, killing him.

A rare relic, a very old copper spoon of curious design was found recently within the precincts of Arbroath Abbey by workmen, while they were laying an electric cable. The spoon is to be sent to the British Museum in order that its age and antiquarian value may be ascertained. If the authorities can prove its association with the Abbot of Aberbrothock, of Inchcape rock fame, the spoon will be of priceless value.

A WOMAN'S HAT WAS RESPONSIBLE

For the Invention of a New Military Dirty Water
Filter.

London, Nov. 16.—A dainty woman's hat of the fashionable pierrot shape has led to the invention of an ingenious military filter which may save many lives on active service.

The idea was first suggested to Dr. Frederick Alexander, the medical officer of health for Poplar—who has patented this improved apparatus for straining water—by the hat his sister-in-law wore.

Four or five cone-shaped bags like pierrot hats are suspended upside down, one above the other, in an easily pyramidal frame made of four uprights of wood or metal in Dr. Alexander's invention.

Muddy or dirty water, which is frequently the only supply available to troops on active service, can then be poured into the topmost hat with the certain knowledge that by the time it has trickled through all the straining bags it will be as clear as crystal.

"The idea of these cone-shaped bags," said Dr. Alexander, laughingly, "was given to me by my sister-in-law's pierrot hat after I had been reading a book on military requirements. It is quite simple."

"The bags might be of any shape, but the cone shape is preferable, because they fit together easily one inside the other, and so are easily portable on the march."

"Directly the upper bags become choked by deposit from very dirty water, they can quickly be replaced, for they are hung by hooks and eyelets to the frame."

"The apparatus would be useful in everyday life in the home, for water that has been bottled and passed through this straining apparatus is as pure as pure can be."

HAPPY REUNION OF FORMER LONDONERS

Members of Clissold and Rowland Families in Pleasant Gathering at Windy City.

Members and friends of two families who formerly lived in London—the Clissolds and the Rowlands—enjoyed a very pleasant reunion last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Clissold, Morgan Park, Chicago. The senior guests—"Old Settlers" as a junior called them—were the host's sisters and brother: Mrs. Alfred Rowland, sen., of Lake Geneva, Wis.; Mrs. Annie Harbridge, Austin, Chicago; and Mr. E. Clissold, late of The Advertiser staff.

The younger members of the party were: Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Clissold's three sons and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Clissold, and their children; Messrs. Rowland and Judson Clissold, and Mrs. and Mr. H. Thayer, all of Morgan Park.

Three sons and three daughters of Mrs. A. Rowland, sen., were also present, namely, Mrs. Jennie Steiner, of Jefferson Park, Chicago; Maymie, of Lake Geneva; and Mrs. William Rowland and son, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Rowland and two sons, Lake Geneva; and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rowland, Jun., and son, Austin, Chicago; Mrs. Belle Gerlach (daughter of Mrs. Annie Harbridge), with her husband and three children; the little daughter of the late May Harbridge, of Chicago, besides other friends.

Altogether 34 persons sat down to the generously supplied and tastefully decorated tables, while 25 absentees were represented by photographs and were represented by photographs and were represented by photographs. Excellent music, vocal and instrumental, added to the enjoyment of a memorable and most delightful meeting.

OPIUM CONFERENCE

British Delegates Have Been Selected,
But Not Officially Appointed.

London, Nov. 16.—The British delegates to the forthcoming opium conference at The Hague have been selected, but not officially appointed, and will not be appointed until the Government is fully informed of the subjects to be considered.

A definite programme for the conference, the necessity for which was pointed out by British some time ago, has not yet reached the British Government, and the foreign office has not yet decided whether it could not plan that accordingly it could not be a portion to draw up the instructions necessary for the British delegates. The foreign secretary, Mr. Edward Grey, stated today that he hoped that such a programme would be received soon, but he did not intimate when it might be expected.

Those who have never with kidney trouble do not suffer and misery which undergo.

On the first sign of backache, kidney pills should be taken so as to avoid years of suffering and make their action natural.

They go right to the seat of the trouble, loosen the kidney membrane, and make their action natural.

Mrs. Joseph Throop, of Guelph, N.B., writes: "I was well of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so tired and I got up more tired than when I went to bed, and my back would hardly straighten up. A POOLROOM FIGHT ON RICHMOND STREET

Wrong Man Appears to Have Been Arrested By Police
In the Mix-up.

As a result of a row in Osborne's poolroom last evening several young men will appear in the police court just as soon as the summons can be served. This morning Horace Irons, a young man, was charged with being disorderly in the pool room. As Mr.
Osborne did not appear, Irons was sent out to get him. They returned together, and when Irons told his version the charge against him was withdrawn, and he will act as a witness.

It seems that Irons and another young fellow were playing pool when a man named Brooks came along, and started to interfere. When Irons and his companion told him they did not want him in the game, Brooks went out and got three or four other young fellows, and they all waited for Irons to come out. When he started to leave the place, he met Brooks and disorderly in the pool room, and they would not permit him to pass.

This led to a fight in which, it is claimed, Brooks got the worst of it.
Irons was arrested by mistake, while the others got away. Summons have now been issued for Brooks and the others, and the case will likely come up tomorrow.

NEW MOVE BY LONDON IN WHITE PLAGUE FIGHT

Medical Practitioner Must Report
All Cases of Pulmonary Tuberculosis.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Nov. 17.—Under the order issued last night by the local government board, every medical practitioner must after next Jan. 1, report every case of pulmonary tuberculosis which becomes known to him in the course of his public or private practice.

In a circular accompanying the order it is stated that its object is to enable the local authorities to assist in the eradication of the disease and it is pointed out that the decline in the death rate from consumption from 18.5 per 10,000 of population in 1881, to 10.30 per 10,000 in 1900, is coincidental with the increase in the activities of the local authorities.
Publicity is to be avoided. "It is," the board states, "unnecessary and undesirable that notification should involve publicity. The board has no doubt that the local authorities and their officers will avoid anything which could cause pain and annoyance to patients or their friends. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that any records which may be kept by medical officers of health should be regarded as strictly confidential documents, for whose custody the medical officers of health will be personally responsible."

The new order completes the system of notification which was inaugurated in 1908 in regard to inmates of poor law institutions, and which was extended last March to cases of consumption among in-patients and out-patients of hospitals.

DRAMATIC ENDING TO MURDER TRIAL

Court Room Plunged Into Darkness at Moment of Passing of Death Sentence.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Nov. 17.—A trial for murder at the Stafford assizes ended under dramatic circumstances last night. Just as the jury was about to pronounce the verdict of guilty the electric lights in the courtroom suddenly went out and the whole building was plunged into darkness.

After a long and painful scene candles were procured by court attendants.
Two lights were placed on the judge's desk, and one was held in front of the prisoner, who stood erect in the dock, awaiting his fate. Others were put on the jury box and the barristers' table, and in this dim light the jury formally delivered its verdict.

The prisoner, who was accused of murdering his sweetheart, was then sentenced to death.

AN ARTISTIC RECITAL BY MR. CYRIL HAYES

Enjoyable Affair on Thursday
In Adelaide Street Baptist Church.

Adelaide Street Baptist Church was the scene of an enjoyable event last evening, when Mr. Cyril Hayes, of this city, late of Professor Duxbury's School of Elocution, Manchester, England, gave a recital before a very large attendance. Rev. J. H. Boyd, pastor of the church, occupied the chair, and the choir opened the programme by rendering an anthem, "Pilgrims of the Night."

Mr. Hayes' first number was the "Story of Joseph," and this proved to be the feature of the evening. For nearly an hour he held the attention of his audience with powerfully acted scenes from this old familiar Bible story.

Beginning with the time when Joseph was sold to the Ishmaelites by his jealous brothers, Mr. Hayes gave a graphic description of his subsequent adventures until the final reunion with his father and brothers. It was a splendid piece of elocution, and Mr.
Hayes' perfect enunciation and intelligent expression made it all the more delightful.

His descriptive recital of Edgar Allen Poe's "The Bell" was also excellently done. This poem is a difficult one for an elocutionist to deal with properly, but the way Mr. Hayes rendered it last evening stamped him as an artist of a high standard. A little comedy was injected into the programme with his recital of "The Final Ball Game," one of his own compositions. It made a tremendous hit with the audience, and proved an enjoyable contrast with the other numbers on the programme. Mr. Hayes last number was a character recital
"Farmer Gray," and it was as well received as his previous numbers. Mr.
Harry Marshall ably assisted in the programme by rendering a couple of songs in excellent voice. The evening concluded with "God Save the King."
The proceeds of the recital went in aid of the mortgage reduction fund of the church, the sum of $47 10 being realized by a silver collection taken at the door.

Tiara and a Girdle of Ribbons.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Nov. 17.—Oriental twisting and wriggling, styled on the bill as "dancing," appears to be losing its favor in London music halls. The London county council also at least seems to have developed a conscience on the subject.

THE MOON AND VENUS IN HEAVENLY STUN

Planets Were in Conjunction for First Time in Recent Years.

[Canadian Press.]
Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 17.—The moon and Venus were in conjunction at noon yesterday. The phenomenon was observed by members of the astronomy department of the University of California here, and by hundreds of persons, as both moon and star were visible to the naked eye against a clear blue sky.

The climax to the astronomical event was reached shortly after noon, when Venus apparently was touching the lower horn of the moon's crescent.
The planet barely escaped being eclipsed by the moon.

The phenomenon, according to Professor W. F. Meyer, of the astronomical department, has not happened in recent years.
