HUNT PARENTS OF BABE LEFT ALONE TO DIE

Authorities Promise Short Shrift For Miscreants Responsible for Atrocity.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Tiny Victim Abandoned Without Clothing On Porch of Farm Near Parkhill.

Declaring that a manslaughter charge will be laid against the heartless miscreants who abandoned a two week's old baby boy on the steps of the porch leading into the house of Daniel McCrimmon, well-known farmer residing on the 18th concession of West Williams township, near Parkhill, crown authorities are today searching for the parents of the child, who died in Victoria Hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. J. Cameron Wilson, coroner, who was notified of the baby's death, has decided to hold an inquest, which will be arranged Wednesday afternoon.

In all probability, this inquest will be held Thursday, as the autopsy conducted on the little body Wednesday morning revealed the fact that death was due to pneumonia, induced by exposure to the elements on the Williams porch.

The case has been turned over to Provincial Officer A. W. Palmer for investigation, and Acting Crown Attorney A. R. Douglas is also active in an endeavor to locate the deserters of the unknown babe.

The tiny tot when found by Mr. McKinnon was garbed only in a narrow flannel binder which circled its abdomen.

Mr. McKinnon was attracted to his door by cries from the infant about midnight, and he believes that the child had lain there for at least two hours.

He summoned Dr. Racey of Parkhill, who advised him to give his unexpected charge into the care of Donald Ross, whose home adjoins that of Mr. McKinnon.

Cared For Tiny Tot.

Mrs. Ross, with her daughter, Mrs. Daniels, who is visiting her mother, and whose home is in Saskatchewan, cared for the tiny tot until Inspector W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society reached the scene and brought the child to London.

Acting Crown Attorney A. R. Douglas, who was notified when the deserted baby succumbed to the effects of its all-night exposure, informed The Advertiser Tuesday night that every effort will be made to apprehend and prosecute the persons responsible for the outrage. He further stated that an inquest will be held if the autopsy report on the little body confirms the suspicion that death was due to exposure.

When Inspector Kelly, whose duties include child welfare in Middlesex county, brought the baby to London it needed the services of no expert physician to detect the fact that the

COUSIN OF WOLFE'S LIEUTENANT DIES

Quebec, July 12.—Mr. Alex. Fraser, one of Quebec's oldest citizens, was called by death yesterday at the age of 86 years.

He was a former district magistrate, and was a cousin of the late Col. Malcolm Fraser, who came to Quebec in 1759 with Wolfe's army as a lieutenant in the Highlanders and took part in the battle of the Plains of Abraham, of which he gave an account in his "Journal of the Siege of Quebec."

This decision is announced in an order-in-council passed by the provincial cabinet at a meeting this morning. Delorme will remain in the asylum until such time as the lieutenant-governor is advised that he is fit to be tried.

SAYS MANUAL LABOR IS BEST TONIC FOR BAD BOYS

Ottawa, Ont., July 12.—(Canadian Press).—Manual labor is the best tonic for boys who have taken on criminal tendencies through smoking too many cigarettes, according to J. N. Barrs, superintendent of the Boys' Training School at Shawbridge, Que., who addressed the Rotary Club yesterday. He had yet to see a boy who smoked before he was 15 who had developed full brain power, he said.

Failure Of Hague Conference Certain As Russians Balk At Allied Demands

ASK YEAR DELAY ON PAYMENTS

German Representatives Present Formal Request For Moratorium.

Claim Cash Ready For Next Installment, But Recommend Postponement.

Paris, July 12.—The German representatives today submitted to the reparations commission a formal note requesting a moratorium on reparations payments for the remainder of the present year. The note stated that the 32,000,000 gold marks due on Saturday were available if the commission insisted upon this payment, but recommended that it also be waived.

The German request did not specify an extension of the moratorium throughout the next two years, as had been forecast in some quarters, but urged the commission to consider Germany's condition, and make public as soon as possible a complete plan for her relief.

A meeting between Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain and Premier Poincare for discussion of the reparations situation is being discussed in official circles here, but it was said at the foreign office today that no invitation had been received from the British premier for such a conference.

AMERICA NOT SO STRONG.

London, July 12.—In the second of a series of articles relating to economic conditions, the Times argues that the authority of the Harding administration is weaker than when the president convened the Washington conference, and that America was no longer able to take the initiative.

The leadership thus devolved upon England who should permit France, Italy and Belgium to pay their war debts to England in German reparation bonds of the C and B categories, on the understanding that the bonds thus offered in payment be immediately destroyed by the British treasury. Then at one stroke, the Times contends, the problem in Europe of inter-allied debts would be cleared away and the German reparations debt would be diminished, roughly, by eleven hundred million pounds sterling.

BUILDING OPERATIONS SHOW LARGE INCREASE

Returns Indicate Advance of 26.2 Per Cent in May Over April.

Ottawa, July 12.—(By the Canadian Press).—Building operations are showing large expansion this year, according to the reports received from 56 cities by the labor department. The returns for the month of May indicate an increase of 26.2 per cent over April and of 32.6 per cent over May of last year.

The value of building authorized in these 56 cities during May was $17,765,326 as compared with $14,082,170 for April and $13,402,165 for May, 1921. Of the larger centers, Montreal and Toronto registered increases in the value of the permits issued as compared with both April, 1922, and May, 1921. Winnipeg and Vancouver showed declines from April, but gains over May of last year.

RAMS SHENANGO IN FOG NEAR SOO

Soo, Mich., July 12.—Another collision in the vicinity of Detour occurred yesterday when the W. C. Franz, downbound, light, rammed the Shenango, also downbound, off the Valley Camp coal docks.

The Shenango was landing to fuel when the Franz, coming along in the thick weather, struck her amidships, punching a hole in her waterline. The Shenango was beached to make repairs.

Fog has been very heavy during the past 24 hours. There have been no upbound vessels through the locks since ten o'clock this morning.

TO PRESENT KEY OF OLD FORT.

Annapolis Royal, N. S., July 12.—The key of old Fort Anne, Annapolis Royal, taken from French hands in 1710 by British forces, and subsequently finding its way to Boston, will be presented to the government of Canada by the Massachusetts Historical Society, it is announced here. This society have had the key since 1789.

Toronto Woman Drowns In Laundry Tub

TORONTO, July 12.—To be drowned in a laundry tub in the basement of her home, was the fate of Mrs. Margaret J. Davis, aged 24, of 57 Linsmore Crescent. She had been dead more than three hours when discovered by Achilles Bertrand, 55 Linsmore Crescent. After an investigation, the authorities decided that it was an accident, consequently no inquest will be held.

While no one witnessed the accident, it is assumed that Mrs. Davis was overcome with the heat while bending over the tub, and fell into the water head foremost.

DENIES APPEAL TO GOVERNMENT

Official Claims Shopmen Have Not Asked Board of Conciliation.

Chicago, Ill., July 12.—A program for solution of the railroad shopmen's strike was drawn up today by Chairman Ben W. Hooper of the United States Railroad Labor Board, after conferences with leaders of the shopmen, and was submitted to representatives of the railway executives from four sections of the country at noon today.

Montreal, July 12.—A report, circulated yesterday, that shopmen on Canadian railways had applied to the Dominion government for a board of conciliation under the industrial disputes act following failure to come to terms with the Railway Association of Canada on the proposed wage cuts, was emphatically denied yesterday by R. J. Taillon, president of Division No. 4, of the Railway Employees Department of the American Federation of Labor.

"The report is obviously untrue," Mr. Taillon stated. "Since Division No. 4 wage schedule committee is still meeting daily with the Railway Association of Canada on the subject of wage cuts, which are scheduled to come into force on July 16. The report that the railway shopmen had applied for a board is attributed to statements made by H. Kempster of Winnipeg, railway machinists' agent in that center.

While it is certain that no board of conciliation has been asked for up to the present, it is considered likely among prominent officials that

DENIES CANADIAN CHEESE RESPONSIBLE FOR EPIDEMIC

Department of Agriculture Will Investigate Dover, England, Charge.

London, July 12.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Reporting to the Dover health committee on the mysterious food poisoning epidemic in the Tower Hamlets district, the medical health officer of Dover said that 97 persons were attacked by abdominal pain, diarrhoea and vomiting, followed by prostration. Investigation showed that 90 per cent of the sufferers had partaken of Canadian cheese purchased in the district.

Although there were symptoms of collapse in some of the cases, no deaths occurred.

Samples of the cheese and the patients' blood have been sent to the county laboratory, and a representative of the ministry of health and the pathological department are investigating the outbreak.

CHEESE NOT RESPONSIBLE.

Ottawa, July 12.—"We are quite positive that Canadian cheese is not responsible for the food poisoning epidemic in the Tower Hamlets district," it was stated at the department of agriculture this morning in comment on the statement of the medical officer of Dover that 90 per cent of the sufferers had partaken of Canadian cheese. "We are further convinced," it was added, "that investigation will prove that Canadian cheese is not responsible."

REJECT EFFORT OF POWERS TO SOLVE AFFAIRS

Litvinoff Insists Soviet Regime Is Stablest in All Europe.

COLLAPSE IS INEVITABLE

President of Property Commission Deems Further Discussion Useless.

The Hague, July 12.—The morning session of the conference on Russian affairs, which was devoted to the consideration of the private property question, broke up amid confusion, many of the delegates believing the Russian replies meant that the collapse of The Hague conference was inevitable.

No decisions as to this, however, had been taken up to 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame, president of the commission on property, which was the body sitting today, announced at 1 o'clock that further discussion seemed useless, and brought the conference to a sudden close after two hours of debate, in which he and other of the delegates persistently tried to get the Russian delegation to answer questions regarded as essential.

These related to the plans for the restoration of foreign property confiscated by the Soviet regime and the probable time it would be required to rebuild Russia.

Just as at the Genoa conference, the chief bone of contention was the foreign property that had been nationalized in Russia, and it did not appear that the Russians and non-Russians were any nearer an agreement at The Hague than at Genoa on that problem, which wrecked the Genoa conference.

The Soviet government, Litvinoff insisted, was the stablest government in Europe, and there was less risk in bringing capital to Russia, he declared, than to any of the capitalistic countries of Europe.

Washington Extends Welcome To Canada's Premier

REMAINS THREE DAYS.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(By the Canadian Press).—The hottest weather of the Washington summer and a broadside of social invitations greeted Premier W. L. Mackenzie King and Minister of Defence George P. Graham on their arrival here this morning.

They will remain in Washington for three days, and while it has not been formally announced what their mission is, it is understood a number of subjects of mutual interest to the two countries will be taken up by the Canadian statesmen with members of the United States administration.

Mr. King had a brief conference with Henry Getty Chilton, the British charge d'affaires, at 10 o'clock this morning. At noon he called by appointment upon Charles E. Hughes, United States secretary of state.

Later Mr. Hughes entertained Canada's premier and the members of his party at luncheon. It was indicated a formal statement might be issued this afternoon concerning the conference between Mr. Hughes and Mr. King.

The Canadian government party, in addition to Messrs. King and Graham, includes Commander Hose of the naval service, and J. W. Pugsley, secretary of the department of railways and canals.

It was learned this morning that the minister of railways and canals, Hon. W. C. Kennedy, who is in New York, is expected to join the party.

There is much interest in Washington political circles in the conferences between the Canadian premier and the representatives of the United States administration. Speculation as to the subjects to be dealt with includes the St. Lawrence waterway, fisheries, railroad matters and trade relations, as well as prohibition enforcement.

WILL DEMAND CAR TRACKS BE PAVED

City Council Declares Street Railway Holding Up Work Program.

Owing to the fact that failure to forward specifications to the city engineer on paving the track allowances in the city by the London Street Railway is holding up the city's paving program, Mayor Cameron Wilson announced Wednesday that the city council will order the company to get busy.

"We have got to do something to hurry them up," declared the mayor. "The company is holding up the city's paving program, despite the fact that they assured the city council they were willing to co-operate in paving. The city council will order them to get to work."

City Engineer Brazier admits that failure of the company to forward paving specifications to him is holding him up in his paving plans. This is particularly applicable to the proposed new road on Dundas street east from Ashland avenue to the city limits.

"We had better notify the London

Son-In-Law Slays Two, Then Ends Life

EUREKA, Cal., July 12.—"Get down and pray. Your time has come!"

After so addressing himself to his aged father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Kimmons, Lee Smith, 50 years old, a railway clerk, early today shot them to death at their home with a rifle.

He fled to an upstairs room, declaring he would also kill his wife. After holding police officers, who quickly arrived, at bay some time, Smith placed the muzzle of the rifle in his mouth and blew off his own head.

Mrs. Smith had recently sued for divorce.

PLAN SURVEY OF CIVIC OFFICES

Citizens' Research Institute Seeks Co-operation of Dr. Horace Britton.

The local branch of the Citizens' Research Institute, which is also the municipal research committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting Tuesday, decided to ask the co-operation of Dr. Horace L. Britton, director of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, in securing an administrative survey of all civic departments.

The move on the part of the committee comes as the result of an express desire, voiced by many city officials for such a survey, and has been under consideration for some weeks past. Their action was influenced by the realization that taxation is coming to be a heavy burden on business and industry; i.e., production, and it is vitally important that all unnecessary expenditure should be eliminated, and that full value should be secured for all necessary expenditure.

The committee felt further that having passed the 60,000 mark, London is entering on a new era of ex-

ADVISES LABOR TO BE CAUTIOUS

Official Urges Care in Choosing Delegates for Montreal Convention.

Alleges Members of Party Characterized As "Reds."

Are there any "Reds" among the delegates to the London Trades and Labor Council?

Members of the latter body have been reported to have declared themselves to that effect and a stirring session was assured The Advertiser Wednesday morning, when the delegates, at their next regular gathering, move to choose their three representatives to the annual convention of the Dominion Trades Congress in Montreal in August next.

Precipitating the debate, it is explained, will be the warning from delegates to exercise the greatest caution in the selection of those who will champion their cause at the Montreal convention, in view of the fact that it is now common knowledge in labor circles throughout the Dominion, that the so-called "Red" radical element will employ every device by numbers and strategy to gain the upper hand and carry the convention.

This warning was emphasized at the last meeting of the local trades council, when one of the officers urged that the London quota of delegates be augmented, and that three members be sent to Montreal in lieu of one, as has been customary in the immediate past.

Other members of the council, who feel that they are under the cloud of suspicion as "Reds," or agitators, naturally resent such reports, as they assert have reached them, and announced Wednesday that they were prepared to battle for their just rights at the next meeting when the delegates will be chosen.

"They call us 'Reds,'" commented one of the more prominent delegates Wednesday. "Well, we are not nearly so 'Red' as many who term us as such. I'll say this, that if they succeed in ousting from the local central body all the alleged 'Reds,' there will be no council left."

In view of the many questions of grave import to the labor element apparent at this time, a lively and interesting conference is anticipated when the leading labor leaders from all sections of Canada gather at Montreal, and when, it is freely acknowledged a "show-down" will come as between so-called radical and conservative factions of organized labor in this country.

ACQUITTAL ON SEDITION COUNT

Ahmebad, British India, July 12.—Hazrat Mohani, president of the All-India Moslem League, has been acquitted by the high court on a charge of inciting war.

Mohani was sentenced to two years' imprisonment on May 4 for sedition, after the judge had refused to accept a unanimous verdict of not guilty rendered by a jury, which included five Indians. In a speech before the All-India Moslem League last December, he was alleged to have advocated guerilla warfare to bring about the establishment of a republic, which would be called the United States of India.

THINK DEAD MAN FROM WINDSOR

Pittsburg, Pa., July 12.—A man's body found yesterday on a hillside near the Westview Coal Company's mine near Carnegie is believed to be that of James Whiteman, Jun., of Windsor, Ont. A gunshot wound was found in the right temple. A note stating that the man had been drugged and robbed was found in a pocket, and a pistol with one discharged cartridge was lying near by.

Another note found among the dead man's effects stated that his mother lived at Moline, Mich. Still another note requested the finders of the body to communicate with J. H. Mendel of Detroit, Mich. Morgue officials last night were unable to locate Mr. Mendel.

TO STAMP OUT OPIUM TRAFFIC

Dominion Police Will Visit Larger Ontario Cities in Campaign.

From Montreal and other Eastern points members of the Dominion police force, it was learned Wednesday, will visit quietly certain of the larger Ontario cities in the near future and have included London in their Dominion-wide campaign to stamp out the wholesale disposal of opium and other drugs for immoral purposes.

Continued reports from many centers of the country respecting the alarming increase in the sale of narcotics have prompted the federal authorities to speedy action, it is explained, and a thorough "clean-up" is promised in London and other districts where investigations will be conducted.

From information adduced from certain sources, withheld by the authorities, it has been concluded that while several Chinamen of considerable wealth and prominence, more particularly in Montreal and other border communities, have been consistently engaged in the transportation and sale of opium, activities of this nature have not been confined to persons of the one nationality alone.

As would be expected in connection with sinister and illicit undertakings, scores of persons of varying degree of importance in their communities are said to be involved, and the "brains" of the combine, with headquarters in Montreal, have, it is explained, a veritable chain of accomplices across the continent.

Local police state that they have reason to assume that the so-called "dope" is still being sold here in large and increasing quantities.

A report pertaining to the situation in this district has been forwarded to the Dominion authorities.

HUNT INDIAN WANTED ON CATTLE STEALING CHARGE

Police Search in Cape Croker Region for Missing Muncey Resident.

Up at land's end, in the Cape Croker region, they are still searching for an Indian brave from the neighboring government reservation of Muncey, alleged by county authorities to have been implicated in the wholesale theft of cattle throughout the western section of the county.

County officers reported Wednesday that their investigations in this connection were concluded by the dispatch of a warrant for the absent Indian, whom they say was last heard of in the vicinity of Wiarton, to whence he is supposed to have fled once their investigations commenced.

REPORTS BUILDING BOOM.

Ottawa, July 12.—Canadian Press.—The present keen activity in building operations is causing a shortage in the wholesale lumber trade, with the result that camps will be very active during the coming season. Companies which have not been in operation during the past two years will be starting up again.

ST. THOMAS IS MECCA FOR DAY OF ORANGEMEN

Twelve City Lodges Represented in Parade Through Downtown Streets.

DECLARE WEATHER IDEAL

Anniversary Likely To Go Down in History as "Best Ever" in Western Ontario.

St. Thomas is the Mecca of more than 12,000 Orangemen today, special trains on all railroads entering the Flower City carrying stalwart hosts there to celebrate the "Glorious Twelfth," or anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

Approximately 2,000 Orangemen left London Wednesday morning for St. Thomas by special London and Port Stanley Railway trains, and the Chatham contingent traveled via a special Wabash train, which picked up several hundred Orangemen at stations en route to St. Thomas.

Ideal weather conditions prevail for the celebration, and present indications are that it will go down in history as one of the most successful ever held in Western Ontario.

Prior to entraining at London at 10:20 a.m., the 2,000 citizens garbed in Orange regalia met in their respective lodges in special session, after which they formed up on the market square.

The Orangemen, with their friends, headed by the London Orange brass band, then paraded the downtown streets, proceeding to the Federal Square via the Market Lane and Dundas street.

Twelve Lodges in Line.

Here the parade was formed up in order of city lodges, there being twelve represented. The parade then proceeded to the London and Port Stanley Railway station via Dundas and Richmond streets.

County Master J. W. Carson and C. W. Cross, district master, were in charge of the parade, with several marshals assisting.

Many of the lodge members turned out in uniform.

Lodges represented in the line of march were as follows: Boyne, Forest City, Ladies' True Blue Lodge, Hackett, Star of Bethlehem, Pro Patria, Beaver, Nassau, Ahoghill, Langemarck, and Edith Cavell Ladies' Orange Lodge.

In addition a special train from Stratford carried several hundred Orangemen from that district, who united with their London brethren for the trip to St. Thomas.

Music featured the London parade, with Orange airs predominating; there being fife and drum

DECLARES CROP CONDITIONS GOOD

Ottawa, July 12.—Crop conditions throughout Canada at this time are exceedingly bright, according to reports received at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Grain prospects are decidedly encouraging, much more so than last year for the same period, when lack of rain retarded growth considerably.

The abundance of rain this year has meant an earlier development, together with a much larger yield. Cutting has not yet commenced in Eastern Canada, though reports have come from Western Canada indicating cutting to be much advanced.

LONDON FACES GREAT SCHOOL BUILDING EPOCH

UPON WHOSE shoulders should be thrust the mantle of responsibility for the fact, stated time and again within past weeks, that London faces, during the coming two or three years, the greatest school building epoch in its history?

Usually when any determined effort is being made to affix blame for any particular undertaking, or the lack of the same, legislation parlance—there ensues a general scramble by all legislatoin parlance—there ensues a general scramble by all hands to "get out from under."

Generally speaking, it would appear that the majority of the school trustees of the day have run true to form. In their unbiased opinion, any blame, if such there be, for tardy construction, lies not with them, but with other persons.

The provincial department of education in Toronto is, rightly or wrongly, the frequent target for their condemnation, while rarely a meeting passes, general or committee, but when members of the city council are vigorously denounced because of their alleged lack of interest in things educational.

With seeming greater foresight at their command, however, there are certain members of the board of education who, recognizinz such individuals as civic commissioners and aldermen as but accessories after the fact turn back the pages of civic history several years—23 of them, in fact—before they attempt to fix blame for the present alleged inadequate school system.

From 1887, when the Simcoe street public school was opened, until the year 1910, not one school was built in the city of London, they record, holding that while the various boards of education during that period were able to go back to the electors with small expense sheets. The citizens who followed have paid well, and are still paying for that policy of supposed retrenchment.

The official records reveal the fact that during the 23 years in question the trustees adopted a system of "adding" and "patching" to the different public schools as the occasion demanded—a room here and another one there—leaving to the present generation of taxpayers to behold such edifices as the Talbot and Empress Avenue public schools.

There must be an end to all things, as has been sagely observed, and while an extensive building program has been undertaken since 1910, the school officials have issued another solemn warning that within the next two and three years the school trustees who may be holding office at that time must prepare themselves for a veritable epidemic of school construction in order that the congestion in practically every school in the city may be materially relieved.

CIRCUS DAY IN LONDON DAWNS

Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Shows Arrive At Carling Heights.

Will Give Performances in Mammoth Tent At 2 and 8 p.m.

SHOW GROUNDS — Carling Heights.

PERFORMANCES—2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Doors open an hour earlier.

FEATURE—Europe's biggest trained wild animal acts and newly-added European horse shows.

DIMENSIONS—Largest tent, 700x350 feet. Three steel-girted arenas, three rings, eight stages, colossal hippodrome oval, wilderness of aerial apparatus.

MENAGERIE — Thirty elephants, herds of camels and zebras, three giraffes, 40 cages of rare animals, including baby hippopotamus.

TICKETS—On sale all day for both performances at Strong's Drug Store, 184 Dundas street.

The circus is in London—the biggest thing that moves—the amalgamated circuses known throughout the length and breadth of the land as Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey combined.

That is more than enough information for the small boy, while for others it may be necessary to add that the circus arrived with the first streaks of dawn this morning, and the anthropological and zoological population of London has taken on a decided increase.

Four long red and yellow trains, totalling 100 double-length cars, brought the organization here from Kitchener, the first train bearing the preliminary essentials to the circus encampment, arriving at an hour when most people were still in the land of Nod.

The detraining of such a circus as the Ringling-Barnum combine is an event that makes all other freight movements uninteresting. The railroad yards are for the nonce turned into a jungle land with the roaring of lions, the trumpeting of elephants and an animal bedlam in general.

Dean Eelephant Unloads.

It was early this morning that old John, dean of the herd of 30 elephants, began to unload himself. The other elephants walk down a gangway placed against the side of the elephant cars, but John, who has been circusing since the days of P. T. Barnum himself, refuses to compromise his dignity by any such unworthy performance.

John is the oldest and wisest of all the elephants that wiggle a trunk or flop an ear, and when his mahout tells John that it is his turn John backs up to the side of the car, carefully puts one hind leg over the side to the ground, and then, leg by leg, hoists his huge bulk from the train. When he is all out he waits patiently for the more common elephantine minds to be unloaded, pokes out his diminutive tail for the others to hook onto, and trumpets "Let's go!"

This is the first visit of the combined circuses to London since the merger of the world's two most famous shows, and the performances to be given here will offer a great deal that is new.

Some idea of the enormous size of this circus may be had when it is known that some 30 tents of varying size are utilized in housing the organization. Largest of these is the main tent, or "big top," beneath which the performances will be given at 2 and 8 o'clock today.

The menagerie tent is not a great deal smaller and shelters what is confidently claimed to be the largest and most comprehensive exhibit of natural history types ever taken upon tour.

Exhibit Huge Menagerie.

Within this tent may be seen an entire family of giraffes, a baby hippopotamus and mother, the only armored rhinoceros in captivity, 30 elephants, 23 camels—both single and double-humped—Emir, a magnificent Siberian tiger, said to be the largest ever brought to Canada, and more than the usual showing of the more common specimens of wild animal life.

These animals in the circus zoo are entirely apart and distinct from the trained wild animals appearing within the three steel arenas during the progress of the circus.

These include 20 Polar bears, 21 lions, 19 tigers, 8 leopards and a black panther, all of these to be seen under the control and obeying the commands of their trainers, among them Olgo Celeste and Mabel Stark, two fearless women trainers. Other animal acts include performances by bears, who ride bikes and skim around on roller skates; Alf Loyal's wonderful five troupes of seals, trained pigs, geese, pigeons, baboons and what not.

Star of Big Show.

Lillian Leitzell is by common consent the star among the human personnel of the big show, with her thrilling aerial exploits, and her efforts are supplemented by over 300 artists—male and female—each and all of them champions in their respective lines. There is an introductory pageant preceding the regular arenic program, rich in costuming and color effects, and depicting in pantomime many of the legends and nursery tales dear to the hearts of the children. And, of course, there are the merry clowns with all the old jokes polished up, and a lot of new ones in a riotous avalanche of howling hilarity.

Horses dominate the bill to a great degree, and over 100 superbly-trained Arabians are seen in a single number. Rudolph Mayer, Jean Agee and Manuel Herzog, Europe's master horsemen, will be seen here for the first time. Three rings, five stages and the hippodrome oval are required to negotiate the long program, and for almost three hours there isn't a second that goes to waste.

There will be two performances here; this afternoon at 2, and another complete show at 8 o'clock tonight, doors being opened at 7 p.m.

Dr. H. G. Arnott Honored by French For War Services on Somme.

Dr. H. G. Arnott of Hamilton, formerly of London, has been recently notified of his decoration by the French government with the Medal of Honor with crossed swords, for his services on the Somme during the war. He served with imperial forces in the medical corps.

Dr. Arnott is the elder son of Dr. H. Arnott of Hamilton, formerly of London, and the late Mrs. Arnott, and a brother of Dr. David Arnott of this city. He is a graduate of the London Collegiate Institute and Western Medical College, and has a host of old friends in London and Western Ontario who will be interested in hearing of the honor bestowed on him. Mrs. Arnott, previous to her marriage, was Miss Jessie McClary of London.

HUNT PARENT OF DESERTED BABE

little waif was in a serious condition, and on Monday he was removed to Victoria Hospital.

Could Not Swallow.

The babe had scarcely been tucked in a little white cot when house surgeons and nurses observed that it was stricken with convulsions which followed each other in rapid sequence. So serious was the condition of the infant that it could not swallow and therefore natural feeding was an impossibility.

Interested in the little fellow, whom they dubbed "Parkhill," the internes on duty did all in their power to maintain the frail spark of life in the tiny frame.

At one time Tuesday the babe ceased breathing, but the internes, assisted by Dr. Wilbert Denney, child specialist of this city, administered oxygen and employed other heroic emergency measures in an effort to replace the blue hue of its cheeks, indicative of suffocation, by the more welcome rose blush of life.

Their efforts proved successful after several minutes' endeavor, but there was only a brief respite, as the spark of life fled from the little body a few hours later.

Named Ross Highway.

The pathos connected with the case is increased by a survey of the chart which was furnished upon entrance of the tiny victim to Victoria Hospital, upon which is written the name "Ross Highway," given to the nameless child by Inspector Kelly.

"I entered him as Ross Highway," explained Inspector Kelly Tuesday night, "first after the dear old lady who cared for him, and second because he was found on the Ontario highway."

The only clue to the identity of the person who abandoned the babe on the back stoop of the West Williams home are footprints in the garden nearby, which indicate that the miscreant was a man. Inspector Kelly has turned the information obtained by him over to the crown attorney, and he declares that the case is now in his hands.

Hunt Heartless Parents.

"The entire case has been turned over to the crown attorney," said Inspector Kelly Tuesday night. "The problem of locating the parents is now in his hands. I know absolutely nothing more about the case, and I am sure that he does not either."

Following an investigation in Parkhill district it has been concluded by the authorities that the infant was not born in the vicinity, but is believed to have been left at the farmhouse by persons who motored to that part of the country.

The child is described as being dark in complexion, with brown hair, and the age of two weeks was estimated by physicians who conducted an examination.

SCULPTOR'S GOLF MODEL

In the window of R. Leo Watson's store on Dundas street there is shown a replica of the famous Golfing Statuette by Petrucci, the Italian sculptor. The pose for this work of art was made by an English amateur champion of world-wide reputation, and the gentleman was wearing, at the time, an "English Golfer" suit tailored by the Semi-ready Company of Montreal and Bradford.

The "caddy" is the typical lad one sees at St. Andrews by the Sea, or at any of the English or Scotch golf links. This replica was presented to the Semi-ready Company by Oscar Petrucci, and was sent by them to Mr. Watson's.—Advt.

DECLINES PLANS OF NEW SURVEY

No. 2 Committee Reaffirms Decision Regarding Outlying Districts.

Owners Must Agree To City Assessment and Provide Improvements.

Reaffirming the decision made at their last meeting that the city of London will ratify no more land survey plans unless the owners agree to accept city assessment, and provide the property with local improvements, such as sidewalks, sewers and graded roads, members of No. 2 committee in session Tuesday night refused to accept plans for Pine Grove survey, which Mahaffy Brothers contemplated opening up in East London.

An agent of the above firm addressed the committee in vain, the committee pointing out that as soon as this survey is sold to citizens they will clamor for improvements, thereby increasing their taxes and the city's debt.

"There is too much vacant property in the city where there are local improvements," said Mayor Cameron Wilson. "We do not want to spend money for them on the city limits."

The representative of Mahaffy Brothers then explained that fifty new houses had been erected on surveys sold by the company in East London and that this provided additional revenue for the city. He added that the Pine Grove survey would open up four blind streets.

"The revenue will not pay for police and fire protection," declared the mayor. "The board of health can compel us to lay sewers if we accept plans for that survey."

Protests Pavement.

W. Mullins appeared on behalf of the ratepayers of Dundas street between the river and Wharncliffe Road to protest against the proposed pavement for this section of London West. The committee assured him that the work would not be done this year owing to the fact that the London Street Railway is holding paving up by not submitting specifications for its track allowance.

Mr. Mullins pointed out that sewers have been laid on this street, and the pavement would entail a double burden on the ratepayers.

"I am in favor of the pavement," he explained, "but the people cannot afford it. Several residents want it, but they are willing to make a sacrifice for the little fellow who cannot pay."

A. R. Douglas, counsel for Front street ratepayers, accompanied by Raymond Smith, attended the meeting to hear the report of City Engineer H. A. Brazier on a proposed breakwater to protect this district from flooding, but there was no report forthcoming.

City Engineer Brazier explained that two breakwater plans had been prepared, but prices were prohibitive in each case.

"I did not submit plans because they were not satisfactory," explained the engineer. "We want a breakwater to go right around to the bridge. I have no alternative plan at present."

"The people near the bridge are suffering also," said Ald. Douglass. "There is a point of land on the north river bank which may be the cause of the flooding. I think the engineer should get something on it. I am getting tired of this thing. These fellows have been up here every meeting since I have been here. Either do something or say we cannot."

Want Something Definite.

"I move that we get something definite from the city engineer by next meeting," said Ald. Drake, the motion being seconded by Ald. L. Douglass.

"We will try to get something for next meeting," explained Chairman Ashton to the deputation.

"We won't try. We will have something," corrected Ald. Drake, as his motion carried.

A. E. White complained to the committee that defective sewers on Langarth street had caused flooding of cellars of nearby houses during recent rain storms. The city engineer will investigate the complaint, and suggest an early remedy.

The committee recommended to the city council that a new sidewalk be laid in the centre of the traction company bridge to replace the present dilapidated walk at the side. This improvement is estimated to cost $250, and will serve as a convenience to residents of South London who daily use the bridge.

A communication from City Solicitor Meredith was read, which stated that unless a new bylaw is prepared there is nothing in city statutes to prevent the London Life Insurance Company from erecting office buildings on Dufferin avenue opposite Victoria Park. He pointed out, however, that it is within the power of the council to legislate against construction of any buildings except detached dwellings in this area. The communication was filed.

No action was taken on the proposed bylaw requiring payment of $25 per annum for all gasoline service stations erected on city property in London, the committee postponing action on this item until next meeting.

12,000 CELEBRATE 'GLORIOUS TWELFTH' bands present in uniforms and the McDonald Pipe band.

Renew Acquaintances.

Following arrival at the Flower City, Western Ontario Orangemen dispersed for luncheon, or to renew acquaintances with their brethren from other points in the district.

At 1 p.m., the parade, in which more than 10,000 Orangemen took part, formed up and proceeded to Pinafore Park, which is the scene of the bumper afternoon program.

Speakers scheduled to address the Orangemen included: Premier E. C. Drury, H. C. Hocken, M.P., of Toronto, Immediate Past Orange Grand Master of Ontario West, E. T. Essery, K. C., and Joseph Carson.

Other features of the celebration are a splendid sports program in the afternoon, to be followed by dancing in the evening. The merry-makers will return to their homes by special trains tonight.

ONTARIO CELEBRATES.

Toronto, July 12.—(Canadian Press.)—The "Glorious Twelfth" is again today being celebrated in cities, towns and villages throughout the Dominion, particularly in the Province of Quebec, and still more particularly in Toronto, commonly called the "Belfast of Canada." In the annual commemoration of the Battle of the Boyne, where the Prince of Orange, 232 years ago, defeated the army of King James II. of England, the enthusiasm of Orangemen never dies. Rain or shine they "walk" on this anniversary.

The day opened cloudy in Toronto, but later cleared. Preparations went forward smoothly for a gigantic procession. Reports from other centers indicate plans for enthusiastic celebrations.

Toronto, which boasts of having 20,000 Orange members, of whom nearly 5,000 are women, turned out in its thousands for the parade and in its tens of thousands of spectators. With the preparatory march of the lodges from downtown headquarters to Queen's Park, where the big procession formed up, and the almost continuous arrival of lodges from the various districts in the vicinity of the city, the fife and drum is the preponderating music of the morning.

Dozens and dozens of True Blue lodges got into line for the walk from Queen's Park to the exhibition grounds, where the day's sports, speeches and picnics are being held, and in addition there was the County Orange Lodge, which is the governing body of Toronto Orangemen, the Black Knights and Ladies Orange Benevoleni Association and most picturesque of all, the Orange Young Britons, in their white shirt-waists and blue and orange sashes.

The procession here, of which William H. Harper is the chief marshal, was reviewed in front of the city hall by Mayor Maguire and William Coote, M.P., of the Ulster and Imperial Parliaments, who has been touring Canada addressing Orange gatherings. Mr. Coote is on the program of speakers at exhibition park this afternoon. Other speakers will include Mayor Maguire and Hon. W. D. McPherson, former provincial secretary of Ontario.

In connection with Toronto's celebration of the Twelfth, a tag day is being held to raise funds for the Royal True Blue and Orange Home for Children, which is in the course of construction in York County, a few miles north of the city. The new building is to take the place of the True Blue Orphanage in Picton.

Ottawa is holding a big Orange demonstration today, and is being joined by the Orange lodges of Hull, Quebec, and Carleton County. The parade will be to Richardson's Grove, west of the city, and will probably be one of the largest in the history of the Orange Order in the capital. The picnic at Richardson's Grove will be featured by speeches, sporting events and dancing.

Hamilton is celebrating at home for the first time in several years, and the Orangemen of that city are looking forward to a big time in Dundurn Park, where the gathering will be held. Besides the nine True Blue lodges of Hamilton and district, there will be members of the Ladies Orange Benevolent Association, the Black Knights and the Orange Young Britons in the procession. Not only are all the Orange lodges of Wentworth County in Hamilton today, but lodges also from other points.

Orangemen of Lambton County are celebrating in the town of Petrolea. Lodges from Port Huron, Mich., Kent and Middlesex, as well as Lambton, are participating in the proceedings in Greenwood Driving Park.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Orangemen are celebrating at Echo Bay, where about twenty lodges, including Lock City, L. O. L., Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., are taking part.

Staynor has prepared for a record Orange demonstration, the hotel proprietors and church organizations having joined with the Orangemen in arranging to provide for the visitors.

Welland will be the scene of a big gathering, as the Orange lodges of Niagara Falls, Ont., Thorold and Merritton will be represented, in addition to the lodges of Welland and vicinity.

Kingston and points east of there are celebrating in Brockville.

IRELAND CELEBRATES.

Belfast, July 12.—Leaden skies and a heavy rain in the early morning threatened to mar the spectacular features of Belfast's celebration of the Battle of the Boyne anniversary today. The entire city was taking a holiday. In fact, there was cessation of work practically throughout the six county areas.

Three bombs were thrown in Belfast shortly after the curfew was raised this morning, but beyond the smashing of a few windows no damage was done.

Headed by bands and with banners flying and the marchers singing patriotic songs, a great procession marched through the city to the rendezvous at Gallylesson. The route was lined with thousands of spectators. Armored cars and troops were on duty at various points where trouble was considered likely to arise. Up to noon, however, there had been no untoward incidents in connection with the celebration.

Claimed Pictures Would Work Miracles

MONTREAL, July 12.—Marie Louisen Lewett, 60 years old, was arraigned before Judge Amedee Monet here yesterday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences by the sale of holy pictures.

It is alleged she obtained them from St. Joseph's Oratory, bearing inscriptions, and that she had taken them from door to door, claiming to have been authorized by Brother Andre to do so, and declaring that purchasers would be prayed for specially by the brother. It is also charged that she promised miracles to those who bought the pictures.

RUMOR REBELS FORM REPUBLIC

London Press Receives Unconfirmed Report From Belfast.

De Valera Stated To Be Moving Freely About Dublin.

London, July 12.—A rumor that an Irish republic has been formally proclaimed at Cork is printed by several of this morning's newspapers under Belfast date lines. It is not confirmed from any other source.

The isolation of Southwestern Ireland is practically complete, and both the Republicans and Free Staters are imposing censorship, so that their official statements comprise almost the only information reaching here.

Eamonn de Valera, the Republican leader, is in Dublin now, and today visited the Republican office in Suffolk street, a Dublin dispatch states. It is understood, says the message, that the Free State authorities have no intention of interfering with his movements.

WAGE GUERILLA WAR.

DUBLIN, July 11.—The warfare being waged by National army forces against the irregulars in the country districts is becoming of a guerilla nature. For the most part the insurgents evacuated threatened positions before they are attacked, leaving a trail of burning buildings. Prisoners taken by the Nationals are said to be poorly supplied with arms and equipment.

An official communique today announces that a convoy of troops from Loughrea to Ennis Saturday evening fought a body of irregulars near Gort in Galway, and took twelve prisoners. One the irregulars was killed and several others were wounded. The regulars lost one man killed by a sniper.

In County Louth, between Dunlear and Drougheda, a party of seventeen irregulars was attacked by the Free State forces, who took twelve prisoners and much material.

This city is comparatively quiet. Two unsuccessful attempts were made last evening to ambush regular troops. There were no casualties.

CONSCRIPT WOMEN.

LONDON, July 11.—An Exchange Telegraph Belfast dispatch says that twelve young women working in farmhouses have been conscripted by irregular troops in raids from Glenveigh Castle, giving a Londonderry report as authority. Other young women working at farmhouses in the Glenveigh Castle district are said to have fled.

PRISONERS INCREASE.

DUBLIN, July 11.—Nowhere do the irregulars appear disposed to make a serious stand against the national troops and latest news of the guerilla warfare in the country districts indicated continued successes for the Free State forces. The number of prisoners who have fallen into Free State hands increases daily.

RECOVER DOCUMENTS.

DUBLIN, July 11.—So great is the heat in the ruins of the Four Courts that when salvage operations were commenced today the men could work for only short periods. Among the valuable recoveries are the heads of four statues of famous judges which adorned the central hall and about a thousand bound copies of important documents, found almost intact in the ruins of the record office.

The lord chancellor's silver mace, valued at £500, which is always carried in the Irish appeal court while the chancellor is sitting, was discovered by the police today secreted under the floor of a house on Arrar Quay, facing the Liffey River. When questioned, the tenant of the house pleaded that a Free State officer gave him the mace as a souvenir. He was accused of stealing it and remanded for trial.

Street Railway Company to hurry up," said Ald. Ashplant at the meeting of No. 2 committee of the city council Tuesday night. Ald. Ashton is chairman of this body.

"They have got to get busy," commented Ald. Gordon Drake. "We will not pave one stretch of road where there are car tracks this year unless the company agrees to pave its track allowance and carries out the agreement. No more Stanley street dirt pavements for London."

The majority of the city council share the opinion of the above officials, and there is no doubt but that concerted action to force the company to do its share of paving will be taken at once. It is pointed out that the city is willing to pass a by-law authorizing debentures to pay for the company's track allowance on the local improvement plan, but this concession has not expedited the paving.

Mayor Cameron Wilson is authority for the statement that this by-law may be passed without obtaining sanction from the Ontario Legislature.

PLANS SURVEY OF CIVIC OFFICES

pansion, as cities grow more rapidly after passing that figure, and responsibilities as well as advantages increase.

They felt that the time has arrived when every citizen of London should realize how the city measures up with other municipalities, not only in the matter of civic administration and cost of the same, but in all lines which go to make up civic progress. It is hoped to secure a survey which will establish in the minds of the greater number of London citizens the fact that London is becoming an increasingly important center, that it may with confidence face the future and developments expected.

It is not their intention to lay bare abuses or to pillory offenders, but with full co-operation of every civic department and board to bring about all possible improvements and bring London in line with the most modern practice in all departments of municipal administration.

DENIES APPEAL TO GOVERNMENT

one may be asked for, should the Railway Association and Division No. 4 wage scale committee, now meeting in daily conference, fail to arrive at any agreement.

TO TAKE STRIKE VOTE.

Ottawa, July 12. — The general committee of Division No. 110, C. B. R. E., has been authorized to take a strike vote of the stationary employees in the service of the G. T. R. here if the employers refuse to abandon the order for reductions of from two to six cents in the hourly rates of wages. Authorization for taking the strike vote was given at a meeting of the local employees, held last night.

SETTLEMENT SEEMS NEARER.

Chicago, July 12.—Settlement of the railroad strike seemed possibly a step nearer today, when it was disclosed that secret conferences have been held between Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the United States railway labor board, and leaders of the six striking shop crafts.

No definite conclusions were reached as a result of the secret peace meetings, but disclosures of the conferences which were described as more personal than official raised hopes in the railroad world.

President Harding's intervention in the strike through his proclamation calling for protection of transportation and the mails was accepted as bearing much significance and expectant eyes were turned toward Washington and the labor board in anticipation of further developments. A telephone call from Washington for W. L. McMenimen, one of the three labor members of the board, was said by the Chicago Tribune to have come from the president. The telephone operator, the Tribune said, called the newspaper in an effort to locate Mr. McMenimen.

Fresh disorders at scattered points while troops patrolled former trouble centers, arrangements for a conference today by the Big Four train service brotherhoods and an announcement by B. M. Jewell, head of the striking shop crafts, that conferences were planned with representatives of 21 northwestern railroads, were among other important developments in the rail strike today.

Additional injunctions restraining strikers from interfering with railway operations were granted to several roads. Disorders occurred at Chicago, Milwaukee, Sayre, Pa., Orville, Ohio, Dennison, Texas, and at Roodhouse, Ill.

U. S. MARSHALS KIDNAPPED.

Dallas, Texas, July 12.—One man was seriously shot and a dozen others some of them deputy United States marshals on guard at the Missouri, Kansas and Texas shops at Denison were kidnapped, taken to the woods and beaten by a mob of 1,000 at Denison early today, according to reports to the "Katy" general office here. G. W. Pike was the man shot.

PRESIDENT WARNS STRIKERS.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—President Harding, in a proclamation issued ot the White House late tonight, directed all persons to "refrain from any interference with the lawful efforts to maintain interstate transportation and the carrying of the United States mails."

The peaceful settlement of controversies between shop crafts employees and carriers, it was stated, "in accordance with law and due respect for the established agencies for such settlement are essential to the security and well-being of our people."

The president took the position that men willing to maintain the operation of railway trains in order to transport mail have "the same indisputable right to work that others have to decline to work.'

MEET IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 11.—With state troops and United States deputy marshals on guard in half a dozen states to avert violence and prevent interference with the movement of the mails or interstate commerce, leaders of the "big four" railroad brotherhoods and railway executives were hurrying to Chicago tonight to confer tomorrow on issues out of the have to decline to work."

At Bloomington, Ill., where state troops have been guarding the Chicago and Alton Railway shops, engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors, members of the four big brotherhoods, voted today not to enter the shops or yards as long as troops are stationed there.

Union officials ordered their men to keep the mail trains running, however. Clerks employed in the yards and at the depot walked out last night, refusing to work under protection of troops.

The day passed quietly at the shops.

Troops on Guard.

The matter of working with guards and troops on duty was expected to be one of the matters taken up at tomorrow's meeting.

Another issue to be discussed will be the alleged insistence of the carriers that members of the "Big Four" do work regularly assigned to the crafts now on strike. The United States Railroad Labor Board last week rendered an opinion that the members of one craft of workmen were not required to do the work of another union whose members were on strike, unless they did so voluntarily.

Members of the "Big Four" unions also have protested that rolling stock has not been kept in condition since the strike of shopmen, engineers claiming that engines with defective brakes, headlights and air equipment had been turned over to them.

Interference with the United States mails became a serious development of the railway shopmen's nation-wide strike today.

Reports Throw Light.

Reports to Washington throw a serious light on the situation, several roads advising the postoffice department that their train services were being curtailed, although department inspectors were said to have reported the situation not as serious as given in railroad advices.

The most serious situation arose at Bloomington, Ill., where state troops were on duty. Snipers were reported to have fired on the guardsmen patrolling the Chicago and Alton yards with a machine gun fusillade, the troopers replying.

The postoffice department was advised that 3,000 miles of the Wabash Railway mail service had ceased operation, partly due, however, to a shortage of coal. The Baltimore and Ohio wired the department that it had had to cancel a train in Southern Illinois because strikers interfered with making up the train.

Guard Kansas Shops.

Kansas national guardsmen arrived at Herrington to guard the Rock Island shops there. State troops were also sent to New Franklin, Mo., after strikers had warned local officials of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas shops to cease all work.

The clerks' strike on the Norfolk and Western, sanctioned by President E. H. Fitzgerald, was reported ineffective at Roanoke, Va., but other points reported desertions from the station forces.

The Santa Fe reported 300 maintenance of way men returned to work at Galesburg, Ill. The Erie announced it was sending 500 cars to outside repair shops, and several railroads said they intended to ask further injunctions restraining the strikers from interfering with train operation.

FORM "PEACE COMMITTEE."

ERIE, Pa., July 11.—Leaders of the striking Lehigh Valley Railroad shopmen today formed a "peace committee" to prevent possible outbreaks. The action was taken after a worker named van Gorder had been chased from the entrance of the shops to his home by a crowd of men, and the stoning of another's home. These acts marked the first sign of trouble in the local shop since the strike began. Union officials claimed the radical workers were to blame.

DENIES INDIAN REPORTS.

LONDON, July 11.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—According to a Reuter dispatch from Simla, India, the government has made an official announcement correcting exaggerated reports regarding the number of prisoners taken in the recent political movement in that country. The statement says that, excluding a number of Moplah convicts, the total number of prisoners taken was 3,815.

STATE FALL WHEAT IS PROMISING CROP

Farmers To Commence Cutting Grain in Some Counties This Week.

TORONTO, July 11.—Following is a summary of reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Fall wheat has headed well, and on the whole is a very promising crop. Oxford, however, complains of some rust and Hessian fly. Cutting will start this week in some counties.

Spring grains are coming along fine and promise a good average yield. There are a few complaints of a tendency to lodge, owing to the straw being a little soft due to the comparative damp and cloudy weather of the last few weeks.

Corn has been disappointing of late, having made poor growth owing to the dull and rather cool weather.

All the root crops are looking well at this stage of growth.

Haying has been slower than usual on account of the catchy weather. However, red clover is doing well on the whole.

Most of the first crop of sweet clover has been harvested. A considerable portion of it was damaged by wet weather, and some farmers in Peterboro burned some of the poorer stuff. Halton speaks highly of sweet clover, both as a pasture crop and as a soil restorer.

The cherry yield has been exceptionally good, and the general quality excellent, there being very few wormy specimens. The plums and peaches promise heavy yields. Fruit growers are beginning to handle the generous yields of gooseberries and currants. Raspberries are turning out better than was expected earlier in the season.

Leeds observes an increase in the number of young stock.

The Ontario County representative quotes cattle as selling at from 3 cents to 5½ cents per pound, the average being about 4½ cents.

Dufferin says that there are not so many finished cattle on hand as might be expected, although livestock generally are being marketed fairly freely.

Milk production continues to be fairly heavy. Cheese was a little off during the week, the Peterboro' Board paying only 15 13-16 cents per pound.

Dufferin says that a fair number of lambs are going out, and rather earlier than usual.

Hogs are in more or less steady demand, prices being around $13.75 to $14 per cwt.

Peterboro says that bees are doing particularly well in that county, and that clover honey will be slightly over the average in yield.

There has been a general complaint of the scarcity of help, although farmers are willing to pay good wages to fair workers. Many farmers have had to struggle alone or with family help only in harvesting their various hay crops.

GET READY FOR DEMPSEY SHOW

Officials To Stage Event On Baseball Diamond at Port Stanley.

Invite George "Mooney" Gibson To Be Present At Exhibition.

Sport followers of London and Western Ontario have found it difficult to believe the announcement made yesterday that Jack Dempsey, world's champion pugilist, has been engaged to appear at Port Stanley in a four-round exhibition bout twice on Friday, July 21.

The noted heavyweight, who conquered Willard and Carpentier with such sensational ease, is now whipping himself into fighting condition for his approaching battle with Wills and the tour of a few Canadian and American cities has been decided upon as a prelude to the championship struggle.

A Montreal syndicate has taken over the arrangements for the Canadian trip, which begins at Halifax and runs through Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Port Stanley and Windsor.

Natural Amphitheatre.

London was to have been selected as the location for the exhibition in this district, but after viewing the natural amphitheatre at Port Stanley, representatives of the Montreal interests yesterday readily signed up for Port Stanley.

Dempsey will arrive in London on the morning of his Port Stanley engagement and will be taken to Port Stanley by special train. He will have a brief workout at the L. and P. S. bathhouse while the strong program of preliminaries is run off before the main boxing exhibition.

He is accompanied by fourteen of the most famous athletes of America and Europe, the principal numbers on the two hours' card being six round bouts between Bombardier Billy Wells, former welterweight champion of England, and Jack Thomas, Canadian champion, which will be followed by a similar encounter between Frankie Fleming, light and featherweight champion of Canada, and Frankie Nelson, a fast New York lightweight, well-known to followers of boxing. The latter pair are certain to attract unusual interest, in view of the fact that the Canadian lad has distinguished himself in many contests.

Champion Wrestler.

Then will come Stanislaus Zbysco, old "Biscuits" of mat fame, the heavyweight champion wrestler of the world, who is matched against George Walker, a powerful Canuck and Dominion champion, who is tuning up for a try at the world's title against all comers. That bout will be a thirty-minute exhibition, and will be the immediate prelude to the main event, in which Dempsey will enter the eighteen-foot ring against "Larry" Williams, a stalwart boxing partner, who can be depended upon to give the champ an opportunity to show his ring skill to the best advantage.

Between the afternoon and evening performances, Dempsey and his party are to be the guests at a banquet in the L. and P. S. cafeteria, at which London and Western Ontario sport followers will have an opportunity to attend.

Invitations are to be extended to George "Mooney" Gibson, former manager of the Pittsburg Pirates, and others prominent in the world of sport, to attend at the exhibitions at Port Stanley, and the crowds will see at each performance a group of celebrities of the world of sport such as has never before been brought together in Western Ontario.

Staged in Open Air.

Both exhibitions are to be staged in the open air. The ring will be set up on the baseball diamond at the foot of Invererie Heights, in the vicinity of the pitchers' box, where a clear view will be afforded from all sides and from the slopes of the heights. The stage will be brightly illuminated for the night performance, and everyone will have a good view.

Dempsey and his associates proceed from London to Windsor, where they will appear at Devonshire track, with ringside seats selling at $15.

At Port Stanley the seating accomodation will be limited to about 3,000 and a big rush is expected when the advance sale opens in a few days. The ringside seats there will be sold at $5, while the general admission to the inclosure surrounding the ring will be $2.

It is claimed that Dempsey is commanding a guarantee of $10,000 a day. At Port Stanley it is expected that the attraction will draw crowds from all parts of Western Ontario. Efforts are being made to secure special rates on all railroads and the London and Port Stanley Railway is already requisitioning all equipment available from steam railroads with a view to expeditiously handling the greatest crowd that has ever been seen in Port Stanley. The village authorities will provide special police facilities to direct automobile traffic.

INDIGNANTLY DENY RUMOR OF CIVIC BODY MEETING

City Hall Officials Have Heard of No Session Within 63 Days.

A persistent rumor current through the city late Tuesday night that Mayor Cameron Wilson had called the third meeting of his civic commission was indignantly denied at the city hall on Wednesday morning, proving to be merely a new type of "hot weather" story.

In order that there would be no confusion on the question, board of education officials called attention to the fact that it is 63 days today since the commissioners, including Mayor Wilson and Trustee Edwin Smith, chairman of the board, met at Smallman's.

Entrance Results Are Expected Saturday Night

THAT all results of the entrance examinations to the central Collegiate Institute will be received from the provincial department of education, and ready for announcement through the press Saturday night, was the opinion of the local educational authorities Wednesday morning.

Senior School Inspector V. K. Greer and G. A. Wheable, supervisor of principals, are busily engaged now in the preparation of certificates for all the pupils who wrote upon the examinations.

When the results are forthcoming all that will be required then, they say, is to destroy the probable small percentage of diplomas for the few pupils who may not pass.

TOMORROW'S DOINGS.

"NO COURT THIS MORNING," announced Squire W. H. Chittick on Wednesday morning, referring to the Middlesex county police court. "It's the Glorious Twelfth, you know."

EMPLOYEES OF the public utilities commission at a general gathering Monday night set August 5 as the date of their annual picnic, with Port Stanley as the rendezvous.

A TORONTO Canadian Press dispatch, commenting on the play of juniors for the Canadian tennis championship at Toronto, says: "The juniors are showing excellent form. E. V. Rechnitzer of London, Ontario, and F. W. Leslie of Montreal are the two who have the best strokes.

PROVINCIAL POLICE authorities who interested themselves in the disappearance two weeks ago of William "Red" MacAuliffe have concluded that no harm has befallen him, and that in all probability he has returned to his former home in St. Louis, Missouri.

WHILE THE PUBLIC utilities commissioners at their June meeting adjourned until September, it has been found necessary to call a special session at the usual hour, Thursday, for the passing of accounts and other routine business.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS were on duty at Carling Heights, Wednesday, collecting the new tax exacted on every glass of green of pink lemonade sold on the circus grounds. As the day was sultry and the visiting throngs were thirsty the officers collected a handsome revenue.

RUM ACTIVITIES have been reduced to an appreciable minimum, reported members of the provincial police Wednesday morning. "We understand that a big cargo was piloted through safely late Monday night," reported members of the county police squad.

MERCHANTS OF the city are donating the prizes to the annual picnic of London carpenters, which is to be held at Springbank Saturday, July 15. Sports commence at 2:30 p.m. at the park and every effort is being put forth to make the program a complete success and to secure a record attendance.

WHEN LEONARD CARRIGAN appeared in police court Wednesday morning charged with driving an auto bearing a marker not issued for it, his defence was that he only borrowed the car from Burrough's garage to go to dinner. He did not know he was committing an offence. The case was adjourned, in order that the owner of the car might be brought into court.

IN THE WEEKLY BULLETIN received at the Chamber of Commerce from the C. P. R. Bureau of Information, it is announced that $50,000 has been approved by the Dominion House of Commons as the expenditure in connection with the sending of a Canadian exhibition train through France. It is expected that co-operation on the part of business men and manufacturers of the Dominion would defray the cost of the exhibition train.

ARE WILLING TO SUPERVISE PLAY

Public Utilities Commission Wants Board of Education To Foot Bill.

The public utilities commission is quite willing, Acting General Manager A. O. Hunt assured, Wednesday, to assume control of all public school playgrounds for the summer months upon one condition only—that the board of education foots the bill.

Replying to requests from taxpayers, who expressed a desire that the Alexandra and other public school yards be placed at the disposal of the children of the respective neighborhoods, the manager stated that the playgrounds commission will be unable to take over other schools than those now under supervision.

The commissioners have ruled that, in pursuance of their policy of retrenchment for 1922 no further additions to the staff of supervisors will be made.

"The school trustees have the money, however," commented Mr. Hunt, "and if they are anxious to open the grounds and are willing to pay for the supervisors we can secure suitable persons for them.

"It is a peculiar thing that after citizens complain about the yards being in use that the moment they are closed they institute a campaign to have them re-opened."

SAYS SCHOOL PROPERTY SHOULD BE BOUGHT NOW

Inspector Greer Thinks Money Could Be Saved For Citizens in Years to Come.

If London actually possesses the right type of civic administrators, they might quite easily demonstrate their foresight and business integrity by moving immediately toward the purchase of suitable school sites in both the northern and eastern sections of the city.

This is the frank opinion of Senior School Inspector V. K. Greer, who advocates unreservedly the present as the ideal time to locate and obtain such property as the school trustees have actual need for, or will have within a year or two.

The inspector reasons that efforts shrouded with quietness should be made at once, and that no delay should occur, as the value of property increases steadily as the community grows from year to year, and a purchase at this time would probably mean the saving of thousands of dollars for the citizens in the years to come.

QUESTIONS NEW REAL ESTATE LAW

London Company to Petition Ontario Railway Board On Measure.

Questioning the legality of the proposed bylaw, sponsored by Mayor Cameron Wilson, which will forbid civic acceptance of survey plans in London unless these developments are furnished with sewer, sidewalk and graded road accommodation, a leading real estate company will proceed to the Ontario Railway Board for permission to open up land for residential purposes in East London.

Tuesday night the members of No. 2 committee refused to accept the plans of Pine Grove survey, submitted by Mahaffy Brothers, because there were no sewers, sidewalks or similar local improvements included. Mayor Cameron Wilson pointed out that there is an abundance of vacant land more centrally located in London, served by local improvements, which is not being built upon because surveys are being opened on the city limits, where cheap building lots are offered for sale.

The bylaw has not been passed yet prohibiting opening of these surveys.

"If the people owning these surveys petition for sewers and sidewalks, I do not see how the city council can refuse to put in the local improvements," declared a prominent city official Wednesday. "What difference does it make if the people pay the whole shot for these improvements when they buy their land or pay over a period of ten years in taxes.

"Mayor Wilson is taking too strong a stand on this thing. The Railway and Municipal Board might sustain the city's objection, but the real estate agents who are carrying it to that body are inclined to doubt it."

HOLD W. L. RAINE FOR AUTO THEFT

Police are holding Wiliam L. Raine on a charge of attempting to steal an automobile valued at $700, Tuesday night. The car is the property of George H. Billen. In the police court Wednesday morning Raine was not asked to plead, but was remanded until Friday, when it is expected another young man will have been apprehended on the same charge.

Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon refused bail. Albert M. Judd, counsel for Raine stated he would outline the circumstances of the case when it was brought before the court Friday.

PREMIER TO INTERVENE.

Ottawa, July 12.—The intervention of Premier Taschereau of Quebec, has been requested by some of the ratepayers of the town of Aylmer, Quebec, in a storm which is brewing there, due to the objections of some of the property-holders as to the manner in which the affairs of the town are alleged to be administered.

Curiosity To Know What Police Say And Do When On Duty Proves Costly

Curiosity to find out just exactly what policemen said and did when they were on duty, cost Fred Watson a few dollars in police court Wednesday morning.

Sergt. William McCullough, Constable Ayres and Motorcycle Officer Ernest Inch were holding a consultation on the corner of Talbot and Dundas street. Watson invited himself, and was attempting to hear what was being said, when the officers ordered him to move on. He did not comply with their orders at once. However, when Officer Inch drove away on his motorcycle, Watson followed on his bicycle. He overhauled the officer when he stopped at Richmond and Horton street.

When Inch picked up Constable Snell and the officers followed an automobile, Watson still insisted in keeping company with them. Finally he was summoned to appear in court charged with violating a city bylaw.

"I didn't know it was wrong," was Watson's only defence.

"I'll let you go with a warning and payment of costs this time, but don't do it again," concluded the court.

WILL NOT SHINGLE PINE LAWN HOUSES

Contractors Say Architect McBride Countermanded Housing Commission's Orders.

Courting legal action, Hayman & Willis, contractors, who constructed 42 houses on Pine Lawn survey for the London Housing Commission, and who were ordered by the above body in session last Saturday to replace the roofs of these dwellings with British Columbia shingles, have notified City Clerk Baker that they will not carry out these instructions.

The contractors have pointed out that they base their refusal on the grounds that they had purchased British Columbia shingles for these roofs in the first place, and were prevented from using them by Architect McBride, who was in charge of the work. They, therefore, place the onus for leaky roofs on the above official, whose services have been dispensed with by the commission.

As the city owes the contractors and architect sufficient funds to cover the estimated cost of these proposed new roofs the commissioners declare that this fund will be used to replace them if the contractors fail to do so. However, Hayman & Willis have signified their intention of taking legal action in order to obtain payment of the money due them.

City officials conversant with the Pine Lawn situation asserted Wednesday that the contractors will win if they take their case to the courts, as they can furnish definite proof that their original intention of laying British Columbia shingles on the 42 houses was countermanded by order of Architect McBride.

Splashing Motorist Pays $5 In Court

SPLASHING water on pedestrians who stood in doorways near the corner of Richmond and York streets, while he drove past at a high rate of speed just after a rain storm a week ago cost Guy Lombardo $5 and costs in police court.

Officers testified he came from the south on Richmond street and crossed the intersection at about 25 miles an hour. The defendant, they claimed, drove through a puddle of water, and at such a rate of speed that the water splashed across the sidewalk and struck a girl standing in a doorway.

Lombardo declared he could not reach such a speed so soon after crossing the Grand Trunk tracks, which were "so bumpy you had to crawl over them."

CONVENTION OF PAINTERS OPENS

150 Decorators Arrive in City Wednesday For Annual Session.

Practical Demonstrations in Color Work To Feature Thursday's Meeting.

More than 150 painters from all parts of the province assembled in the city Wednesday morning for the annual convention of the Canadian Association of the Master House Painters, which is being held in the Masonic Temple July 12, 13 and 14.

Besides visitors from Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, Brantford, Niagara Falls, Welland, Chatham, Galt, Kitchener, Waterloo, St. Catharines and Sarnia, the following officers of the international association are present: Joe Kennedy, of Ohio, president; W. M. Rubins, of Massachusetts, vice-president, and William Wall, of Somerville, Massachusetts, member of the international executive.

The convention opened at 10 o'clock with the singing of "God Save the King" and "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." Rev. Dr. W. Beattie, of the First Presbyterian Church, led the delegates in prayer. In the absence of Mayor Cameron Wilson, City Clerk Samuel Baker tendered the civic welcome.

After the convention had been called to order by Fred Pace, president of the local association, President Fred Brooks of Hamilton, took the chair, and called the officers roll.

The reading of communications and the president's address constituted Wednesday's morning's business. In his address President Brooks praised all the local associations in Ontario for the considerable increase in membership during the past year, and also dwelt for some time on the compensation act.

The president appointed the resolution committee, the committee on the president's address and the question box committee. Since the establishing, some years ago, of a question box at each convention the popularity of the innovation by which any member may ask questions pertaining to the trade and have them answered by a special committee has increased from year to year.

Secretary William Barvington of Toronto was complimented highly on the splendid financial standing of the Canadian Association of Master House Painters, as evidenced by the annual report. The minutes of the convention last year at Ottawa was also read by the secretary.

The international officers, Joe Kennedy, M. W. Rubins and William Wall, who attended an international executive meeting in Toronto Monday and Tuesday, each gave interesting talks on trade subjects.

It was announced that an international convention will be held at Toronto February, 1923, and preparations are under way to make it the largest gathering of house painters ever held on the continent.

Practical demonstrations will feature Thursday's program, when the delegates will be shown the latest in color work and graining.

Several more visitors are expected to arrive in the city today, and it was predicted that the number of delegates would reach 175 before the close of the convention.

GREER TAKES ISSUE WITH PROVINCIAL INSPECTOR

Holds That City Schools and Teaching Staffs Are Second to None For Efficiency.

While Provincial School Inspector Rogers has been reported to have placed the Windsor schools in a class by themselves, leading the entire province, members of the London Board of Education and Senior School Inspector V. K. Greer take direct issue with him.

Inspector Greer holds that the city schools and teaching staffs are second to none in the province for general efficiency, while Trustee Mrs. John I. A. Hunt expresses the opinion that while Windsor schools may be more elaborately constructed, it does not necessarily follow that the efficiency is the greater. She states that the cost of construction and maintenance in the Border Cities, as compared with London, has been terrific.

Trustee (Rev.) A. A. Bice, chairman of the public school committee, puts it this way: "Don't believe all this paper talk. The inspector may not have said any such thing about the Windsor schools."

I. O. O. F. TO HOLD PICNIC AT PARK

GERMANY insists that she is bankrupt. She says she can not pay her debts. Probably she is justified in these statements. She is bankrupt, or near it, because she has systematically endeavored to bankrupt herself.

To attain the desired goal of bankruptcy she has indulged in a long orgy of inflation.

During the last week in June the increase in the volume of German paper money was more than 11,000,000,000 marks. Paper money is merely a nation's promise to pay. Germany has promised far beyond her ability. She cannot fulfill her obligations. So she clamors for a moratorium. And the international chorus of Gallophobes chants that France must accede to the demand or stand convicted of deliberately ruining the German people.

Germany is not bankrupt because of her reparation payments. She is bankrupt because of her feverish endeavors to evade these payments. She is a voluntary bankrupt because she has believed that by bankrupting herself she can balk France. She is bankrupt because the controlling German influences have in the past done all in their power to bring her to her present condition.

Undoubtedly the recent political acts of violence have hastened the collapse. The present government has seemingly been endeavoring to meet the national obligations. This endeavor has intensified the hatred of the reactionaries and the repudiationists, and has probably been responsible for the recent onslaught. But the government has nevertheless been guilty of continuing the policy of inflation.

Whatever France may decide to do the French policy must not be blamed for Germany's misfortunes. And whatever the French decision may be, France cannot justly be censured. France has played fair; she has stood for an open and businesslike settlement. She has asked for no more than Germany could have paid.

If Germany can no longer pay France may accept defeat and consent to a moratorium rather than precipitate the downfall of the German republic. If she does follow this course it will amount to her admission that Germany has won another victory, and that the guile and chicanery of the German money masters have triumphed over French straightforwardness.

If, on the other hand, France sticks to her program of demanding her pound of flesh and thereby hastens the destruction of the republic or the kindling of civil war, the sufferings of the German people will be directly attributable to the evil counsel of their post-bellum leaders.

Meanwhile it is interesting to note that for the moment German inflation has ceased. This is not due to any action of the government, or to any advice of the German financial experts. It is attributable merely to the strike of the German printers. With the nation's printing presses motionless the flood of paper money is dammed at its source.

If the operators of the money-making presses had gone on strike many months ago Germany's plight today would be less perilous.

Prompt Action.

THE PROMPT action taken by supervisors on duty at Thames Park swimming pool Monday afternoon, when a small boy, alleged to have been pushed into the water, was rescued and quickly resuscitated is worthy of commendation.

Although the unfortunate little victim was in the water four minutes before his plight was noticed by the supervisors, these city employees revived him before a physician or the pulmotor had arrived on the scene.

It is unfortunate that such an accident did occur at a civic playground in London, but intelligent citizens will not hold it as a black mark against the splendid record maintained at these centres for the protection of children.

The supervisors on duty have a formidable task before them when they attempt to guard the interests of scores of happy children making merry in an open air swimming pool on a sultry afternoon. Therefore, when a mischievous youngster playfully pushes a playmate into the water it is reasonable to believe that the action could pass unnoticed, particularly in view of the fact that the victim made no outcry.

The fact remains, however, that when the accident was detected, the supervisors exercised presence of mind, and quickly restored the unfortunate boy to consciousness.

Supervisors of city playgrounds at London are recruited from the ranks of the students at Western University and are selected for their intelligence and ability to cope with emergencies. Their past work throughout the city at recreational centres has proven the wisdom of this selection, and Monday's near-drowning incident is no exception to the rule.

HIP, HIP HOORAY!

Malcolm Rowland.

THE death of MALCOLM ROWLAND removes one of the best-known native Londoners. He was the only son of the late EDWARD ROWLAND, who in his day was precentor of St. Andrew's choir before it had an organ and superintendent of St. Andrew's Sunday school.

Malcolm was born in London and lived here all his life. He was educated at the old Union School under NICHOLAS WILSON and J. B. BOYLE. He became manager of the Canadian Savings and Loan Company, and when that company was united with the Huron & Erie he became one of its auditors. He was also auditor of several other companies, including the London and Lake Erie Railway and Transportation Company.

He lived an even, quiet life, and throughout the whole of it held the respect of all. Whatever he did was done accurately and well. It was with sincere sorrow everyone heard of his illness, which lasted for several years, and prevented him from performing his duties as completely as he would have liked.

He belongs to the first generation of native Londoners who like himself have brought credit to their native city. Many of them have passed on and many still remain. Among his own immediate relatives who have passed on are his father and mother and his sister, MRS. ANDREW ELLIS. His other sister is the widow of the late JUDGE HUGHES of St. Thomas. In his long and trying illness it is easy to hear him say:

"The shadows lengthen, night draws on,
The sun is setting in the west;
We lift our voice and cry to Thee
For those dear souls we love the best.

"We watch for them, they watch for us;
And Thou art watching over all.
Thy love enfolds us as we wait
At eventide to hear Thy call.
There in the land which knows no night
Grant us with them thy rest and light."

Getting the Jump.

IT was the illiterate but shrewd general, FORREST, who said that successful military strategy consisted in "getting there fustest with the mostest men."

FORREST did that a number of times, thereby gaining small victories from better educated men.

It is getting there first with the most of anything needed that gives businessmen success.

The race for markets will go on as long as the world lasts, and the man who gets first into market, with enough goods to sell in profitable quantities, is the successful man, whether he is a huckster coming into town with eggs or strawberries, or a packer getting to Europe first with the best and biggest supply of beef.

What you have got to sell will bring you nothing if somebody else has sold the same thing to your customers before you get there.

In most cases the customer is the employer who buys the time and the work of the individual.

It is the individual who is first on the job with the work and who has the best kind of work to sell that gets "the jump."

That "jump" is a big advantage. Once the employer is convinced that a certain man is always on the job early, and has a reliable line of goods that can be delivered in any desired quantities, the man's future promotion is assured.

It is his business, of course, to get into an institution where there are bigger and better jobs to fill, or which has competitors who will value his services if his own employers do not.

But it is "the jump" that is important, the registering of ability and willingness to work before other men, who may have these qualities in equal amounts, can get started.

The earlier a man makes a reputation for industry and reliability the more chance he has to beat the other fellow to the better jobs.

LITTLE 'TISERS

One is staggered to learn that Japan leads all nations in the production of books, with Germany second; and that Germany's production is four times as great as that of Great Britain. Something must be done about it.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 264—SELLING THE COPPER-PLATE HAND.

There is a good bit of difference between the copperplate type of writing and the "schoolboy" type, which was discussed in a previous article, but they do not indicate characteristics that are necessarily opposed. In some respects they may be considered as variations of each other.

The copperplate type, however, is the more primitive, the less developed.

You can make up your mind to one thing. Any prospect whose writing shows this characteristic is not likely to be a dominant influence in business, though he may be a most worthy man and a valuable citizen. The copperplate writers are not of the pushful sort.

In a general way you can sell them best (unless there are present in their writing other characteristics indicating egotism) by dominating them.

If you come in contact with them without knowing the details of their business connections, remember that their positions are likely to be more or less of the celrical sort, without complete and final authority. This is important to you unless you are selling something which is bought as a matter of routine, for with a special proposition you are likely to have to sell the man above him as well as himself.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

TEETH REQUIRE LIME

YOU can brush your teeth diligently and well after every meal, and you can use the best of tooth powders or dental creams, but if you don't get enough lime your teeth will decay. For science has come to the conclusion that decay is brought about by systematic changes in the blood.

The blood of a person who lives according to health common sense will contain certain special substances called "sozins. Sozins contain lime for the make-up of bones and teeth.

Sozins are present also in varying quantities in the saliva. The man having a high resistant power will have the larger amount of sozins in the saliva, and consequently will have better teeth.

Thus, it is a deficiency of lime in the diet of the average Canadian that is a widespread factor in the universal decay of teeth. The average bill of fare, consisting of fine flour, bread, potatoes, meat, coffee, butter, sugar, breakfast foods, fruits, etc., contain less than one-quarter of the amount of lime necessary to maintain calcium balance.

Dentists long ago relinquished the idea that the toothbrush can stay big decay, but still more important and does a great deal towards checking decay, but still moroe important is a recognition of the causes of dental decay. To eliminate these causes requires, first, an improvement in resistance to disease by improving the general health. Second, a dietary rich in calcium, so as to make sure of a high calcium content of the saliva. Such a diet includes an abundance of greens and fresh vegetables. Whole wheat cereals should be substituted for such foodstuffs as fine flour, hominy, cornmeal, polished rice and various bakery products. Milk should be freely used, especially by growing children. Third, the teeth should be brushed on arising in the morning, before retiring at night and after each meal. Fourth, laxative foodstuffs should be included in the dietary in order to keep free of constipation. If necessary, agar-agar and paraffin oil may be used in some form.

The BOOKSHELF

EDITED BY CABR

THE MEMOIRS OF WILLIAM HICKEY. 1749-1782. Edited by Alfred Spencer. Alfred Knopf, Publisher, New York. $10.

FEW epochs in European history have been more pronounced in their particular view of life than was the eighteenth century.

Especially was this the case in England, where during that insensitive period no Donne or George Herbert stood at the altar of the Lord to lend a sweet metaphysical unction to the recital of the national liturgy. Under the direction of Walpole and others politics had become little more than a corrupt game in the hands of a few cynical aristocrats.

In the realm of letters Fielding and Smollett, by the boisterous and rowdy vigor of their writing, had rendered the spiritual asphyxiation of the period only too apparent, while when we turn to the works of Hogarth—the most typical painter of the century—we find an artist who actually takes pleasure in portraying life in all its more hideous aspects.

Without doubt, the eighteenth century in England was one of the least inspired in all history. Its favorite pastimes were bear-baiting and cock-fighting, and its sense of humor consisted almost entirely of physical misadventure in perfect harmony with such close and roughneck junketing. Never was there a century less responsive to delicate nuances, never a century in which the concept "imagination," with all its beautiful suggestion, was more completely submerged.

"The Memoirs of William Hickey" possess a curious value in that they enable the reader to get an authentic inside glimpse of this unsympathetic period. Hickey himself was the exact type of the "buck" or "Bond street lounger" of his day. The book is written in a spirited enough manner, but one does not feel that its style would be sufficient to distinguish it from the collected observations of any other fashionable young man of that time. It is concerned with the period of years between 1749 and 1782, and is a record of the adventures and experiences of its hero both at home and abroad.

William Hickey was the son of the eminent lawyer of Irish extraction, resident in London, who is referred to by Goldsmith in his famous "Retaliation," and though he traveled once to Jamaica and several times to India one always feels that the great metropolis was his natural environment.

As one turns over the pages of his Memoirs one is being constantly reminded of Roderick Random and Peregrine Pickle.

The tone of the book is to be found in such examples of playful humor as the following: Hickey, in his cups, lolling out of the window of his coach, to the vast entertainment of the populace; Hickey in a fit of merriment spluttering a mouthful of peas over a dinner table; Hickey asleep by the fire having a fuse tied to his foot. With unconcealed interest he records the surprising fact that rats actually had the audacity to eat his hair, attracted to it by the powder and pomatum.

Just as today with uneducated people, the physiologically outrageous seems to have had a strange fascination for the eighteenth century mind. It amused Hickey vastly to put on record that live frogs inclosed in a crust of pastry were served up to Lord Peterborough's brother, though that gentleman was known to suffer from an extreme nervous disgust of these cold and agile creatures.

The two volumes afford some interesting descriptions of nature when viewed by an objective eighteenth-century eye. And how these men of the world, these townsmen, hated certain aspects of it!

Consider, for instance, the significant impression made by the sea on the mind of the bilious Hickey when creeping on deck. "This was the first time I had ever had a view of the boisterous ocean and dreadful did it appear." He marks the sun rising behind Teneriffe, and declares he had never seen it come up before except over the housetops of London. He gives us a realistic description of the turtles on Ascension Island:

They made for the sea with rapidity which, if I had not seen, I would not have believed possible, throwing up showers of little shells with their fins as they ran, so that from the great height and velocity of their motion it became extremely difficult to stop their progress by turning them upon their backs.

'Tis Sabbath Morn

This morn I ha'e a notion tae
write a verse or twa,
But 'tis oor Holy Sabbath—I
maun tae kirk awa';
I lo'e a Sabbath bonnie; I lo'e
oor kirk bell's ring;
I lo'e tae hear sweet voices oor hymns o' Zion sing.
Sometimes we find we're languid beneath a wearie load,
But we've a panacea in hymns
at Wortley Road.
Sae I maun don my plaidie, my kilt, an' bannet blue.
Then hike awa' sae sprightly
tae hear yon hymns I lo'e.

O' a' sweet notes o' music, had
I this day my choice,
I say, wi' Scottish candor, I'd choose a human voice:
There's music in a sermon
which has a gospel ring;
There's music, sweet an' bonnie, when folk in Zion
sing—
When we sing hymns on Sabbath, oor follies tae confess,
Then wi' oor herts an' voices
oor faither's name tae bless
For a' His guidness tae us,
wha are His daily care—
But I maun cour these verses an' tae His hoose repair.

DELAYS ACTION ON RACE TRACK ISSUE

TORONTO, July 11.—The provincial government has taken no definite action so far on the matter of permitting the issuance of letters patent to the Belleville Racing and Athletic Association, a club which is seeking to increase its capital stock for the purpose of building a mile race track, a mile east of Port Credit, on the Toronto-Hamilton highway.

"The application and the file of papers attached to their claim was forwarded to me by the provincial secretary, and I was asked for my views," stated Attorney-General W. E. Raney today. "Further than that I have taken no action in the matter. It is within the scope of the provincial secretary's department."

G. T. R. COUNSEL CONCLUDES CASE

Sir John Simon Speaks Before Privy Council On Shareholders' Appeal.

Canadian Government Explains Position of Dominion Regarding Road.

LONDON, July 11.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—Sir John Simon, chief counsel for the Grand Trunk Railway, concluded his address early today when the hearing of the appeal of the shareholders of the railway against the award of the arbitration board was resumed before the privy council.

He was followed by one of the junior counsel, who elaborated some of the points made yesterday by his leader.

A. C. Clauson, K.C., in opening the case for the Dominion government, said the latter's standpoint was that the financial interest of the shareholders in the concern was now very trifling, but the government offered readily to provide 4 per cent on $12,500,000, which, it claimed, was more than ample to repay the shareholders' equity of redemption. Counsel reminded their lordships that a dividend had never been declared on the common stock of the company.

"I don't think anyone was ever bold enough to prophesy that one ever could have been declared," added government counsel. "We have said all along that $12,500,000 covers the whole thing, but if the tribunal gives you more we will pay it."

Mr. Clauson was proceeding rather rapidly to describe the details of the financial proposals when he was requested by their lordships to go more leisurely. He remarked that his learned opponents seemed to have dealt with them summarily. When the proposals had been explained more minutely Lord Carson said that the proposals seemed to put those stocks for which the government accepted responsibility in the position of debentures.

Coming to the arbitration proceedings, counsel for the government said that its position regarding the admissibility of evidence was that it was quite content to have evidence tendered concerning the selling value of any portion of the line, provided it was also shown that it was most advantageous to shareholders thus to sell. The government contended that such evidence was not tendered, and therefore, was not rejected.

Referring to evidence which was offered, objected to and rejected, Mr. Clauson said this was concerning what it might cost today to build the Grand Trunk and its various properties as if they never existed. He urged that such evidence was, for all practical purposes, no index whatever of the selling value of the railway. Drawing a parallel, Mr. Clauson remarked that nobody would ever dream of ascertaining the present selling value of the great palace of the Duke of Buckingham on the basis of what it would cost to build it today.

Lord Birkenhead, the lord chancellor, remarked that such evidence might be relevant, but not decisive.

In connection with Mr. Clauson's illustration Lord Carson suggested that in the valuation of a big house property values might hold there was a certain value in the bare bricks and mortar.

Mr. Clauson reiterated that the government had never objected to evidence concerning the selling value where it related to something which could be sold distinctly and separately. Replying to Lord Shaw, who asked what counsel would say regarding ships, Mr. Clauson replied that there was a market in these, but there was no demand for such a thing as the Grand Trunk Railway.

Never Offered Evidence.

Lord Carson: "Supposing they had submitted evidence regarding the value of the Chateau Laurier, what would have been the effect?"

Mr. Clauson: "I don't know because they never offered such evidence."

Counsel for the government declared that the arbitrators were quite conversant with the main propositions before them, and therefore might very well declare against time being spent in discussing matters which could have no effect. He contended that every material reference in the judgment of Sir Walter Cassels on matters concerning which he referred to the Drayton-Acworth report, was supported by evidence which was properly before the arbitrators, and if he included matter from this report which was not before the tribunal he was merely including it as a part of the history of the arbitration. It was a historical fact, he claimed, that the Grand Trunk was in such a position that it was absolutely necessary that it should come to some arrangement.

Referring to the judgment handed down by Sir Thomas White, Mr. Clauson declared that not a word could be said about it, including anything outside of the actual arbitration.

Adjournment was taken until Thursday, when Mr. Tilley will support the government's case.

15-Year-Old Girl Takes Life of Slayer of Her Father in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 11.—Maria Del Pilar Moreno, 15, has avenged the death of her father, Jesus Z. Moreno, editor of El Heraldo de Mexico, who was shot and killed last May by Deputy Francisco Tejeda Llorca.

Maria waited before Tejeda Llorca's home and as he stepped from the doorway fired four times at a few feet distance.

All the bullets took effect and death was instantaneous.

The girl, who, since her father's death, has been almost deranged with grief, calmly surrendered to the police.

She expressed no regrets, saying she swore vengeance over her father's body and, now that his death had been expiated, she was prepared to pay the penalty.

A sensation was caused in Mexico by the killing of Editor Moreno by Deputy Tejeda Llorca, which took place at the entrance to the interior department building.

The motive for the killing was believed to have been the editor's attacks in the columns of his newspaper on what he called political evils.

Deputy Llorca was an uncle of Adalberto Tejeda, governor of Vera Cruz, and it was said that his resentment was directed more against Moreno's criticism of the state government at Vera Cruz than against any personal attacks.

FOUR INJURED AS TWO AUTOS CRASH

W. M. Grant Severely Cut Around Shoulder in Collision Near Blenheim.

Special to London Advertiser.

BLENHEIM, July 11. — Walter Smith, district agricultural representative, with Mr. W. M. Grant of the Ridge road, Harwich, and two other young men, were pinned, last night about 7 o'clock, beneath a Ford car on the Ridge road west, in Harwich, at the juncture of the three-quarter W. C. R. concession road.

They were on their way to a potato meeting. Just as they arrived at the three-quarter road Percy Stansfield drove onto the Ridge road in his auto. Walter Smith, who was driving the Ford, tried to avert a collision by swerving to the left side of the road, it is said, but the cars collided.

The Gray Dort banged into the Ford, completely upsetting it and pinning the occupants underneath. Nearby residents came to the rescue and extricated the injured men.

Mr. Grant was cut on one hand and about the shoulder, one other man was cut severely. All were badly shaken up and bruised. The Ford was badly wrecked, the Gray Dort was battered considerably, but was able to come to town under its own power. Mr. Stansfield, when seen, stated that he blew his horn as he came up the hill, and was traveling at a slow rate of speed. He claims he had the right of way.

WOODSTOCK MAN KILLED BY TRAIN

Cecil Young Dies Despite Brave Deed of Young Woman.

Special to London Advertiser.

WOODSTOCK, July 11. — Cecil Young of this city, both deaf and dumb, was almost instantly killed at 5 o'clock tonight when he walked into the path of an eastbound freight train while crossing the G. T. R. tracks five miles east of this city.

Young was thrown by the engine of the train into the second track, directly in the path of the Detroit express, only a few hundred yards away.

Miss Blanche Perry, a graduate of the Woodstock Hospital, spending her holidays at her home only a few yards from the track, witnessed the accident, rushed out, and with all her strength, pulled the unconscious man off the track just as the train rushed by.

Young was taken to the local hospital suffering from concussion of the brain and severed right leg. All efforts to save his life were of no avail, and he died two hours after entering the hospital.

TERRIFIC STORM RAGES ALONG THE ST. LAWRENCE

OTTAWA, July 11.—(By Canadian Press.)—One of the most severe electrical storms in years, accompanied by high winds and torrential rains, swept the Upper St. Lawrence River district tonight. While property damage caused by the lightning to barns and homes may be fairly heavy, so far only one life is reported lost.

Late advices from Prescott are to the effect that an unnamed resident of Ogdensburg, N.Y., is missing from his camp on the river shore. Barns near Kemptville were fire-swept, and several tons of new hay destroyed, trees were uprooted in towns from Pembroke to Carleton Place, and in Cornwall one residence was burned.

At Brockville many persons spending the evening on the river in canoes and motorboats were compelled to seek hurried shelter. Earlier fears for their safety were later dispelled.

HEART IN WRONG PLACE, SO BULLET DOESN'T KILL

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 11.—Because his heart is not where it should be, Herman Neff, Charleston, is alive today. Neff was fired at by an unknown assailant while riding in an automobile.

By an X-ray photograph it was shown that the bullet that struck Neff rests in the exact spot where his heart should be. His heart is on the right side instead of the left.

BLAKE LEAVES FOR BAGDAD.

LONDON, July 11.—The air ministry today received a wireless message from Major W. T. Blake saying that he had started at dawn today from Ramleh, 20 miles northwest of Jerusalem, for Bagdad. Major Blake is on an attempted airplane flight around the world.

HOLD GALT CITIZEN ON THEFT CHARGE

Archie Mineard Alleged To Have Stolen Watch, Chain and Locket.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, July 11.—Archie Mineard, 51, was arrested by Chief Gorman at his home here on a charge of stealing a watch chain, locket and a string of beads from William Edgar, a farmer living near Ayr, by whom he was employed. The articles were found hidden in a bureau drawer. Mineard was remanded to jail for a week. The watch chain and fob had been in the possession of the Edgar family for over a century, and the beads were also an old keepsake.

There is some talk of having Galt's civic holiday changed from the second Monday in August to the first Monday to conform with the holidays of other places.

About 100 Galt Orangemen will march Wednesday at Guelph. Next year a celebration will be held here.

Robert Elliott, electrical superintendent of the local hydro department since its inception, has been made assistant manager of the public utilities commission.

The death occurred Monday night of George H. Gardiner in his 82nd year. Deceased came to this country 40 years ago, and after a few years spent in Toronto moved to Galt. He was a well-known market gardener. His widow, five sons and two daughters survive him.

RECENT VIOLENT WINDS DAMAGE EARLY APPLES

Over 50 Per Cent of Crop Said to be on Ground in Stratford District.

Special to London Advertiser.

STRATFORD, July 11.—As a result of recent high winds, together with heavy rains, practically fifty per cent of the earlier apples in this district are now lying on the ground. Several farmers from different districts around the city stated that the loss had been exceedingly heavy, estimates running largely at not less than fifty per cent.

"If it had not been for the fact that the trees were abnormally heavily laden and that the later apple crop promises to be exceedingly fine, the damage wrought would have proven a serious monetary loss to the farmer," said the proprietor of a large fruit orchard Monday.

However, as it is the loss will be recompensed by the promise of a bumper crop later on.

READJUST SALARIES OF MERCHANT BANK STAFF

Officials to Bring Pay to Bank of Montreal Footing.

MONTREAL, July 11.—The last trace of the defunct Merchants Bank of Canada disappeared yesterday when the readjustment of salaries went into effect.

Rumors were current in the city this morning that some big cuts had been made in the salary list amounting in some cases as high as $5,000 a year, but inquiries at the Bank of Montreal failed to get any confirmation of this.

"There has merely been effected an adjustment of salaries so as to bring the former Merchants Bank staff on the same footing as the existing staff of the Bank of Montreal," declared one of the chief officials of the latter bank this morning.

"Of course, there will be considerable reduction in the total salary list, because the former head office of the Merchants Bank has all been absorbed into the head office of the Bank of Montreal, and there is one general manager instead of two, while the various head office men of the old Merchants Bank have been absorbed into the same departments at the Bank of Montreal head office except those who have retired.

NEW YORK, July 11.—A general strike of all hat and cap makers in New York, involving 5,000 members of the Hatmakers' Union of New York, went into effect today. The differences existing between the union and the employers are said to be concerned largely with "social shops," or subcontractors, where the proprietor, working by himself, disregards the union regulations.

VANISHES FROM ONTARIO HOME

Superintendent of Government Bureau At Niagara Falls Missing.

Wife and Family Unable To Explain Departure of Breadwinner.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 11.—"Good-by, all you people," were the farewell words spoken to his wife and family by William H. Race, war veteran and superintendent of the government employment bureau here, when he left his home at 8 o'clock on Monday morning, July 3, and has not been heard of since.

Although the provincial police have scoured the country and assistance has been given in the search by leading citizens, not a clue can be found of the government employee who so mysteriously disappeared.

Not a reason can be thought of for his sudden dropping out of sight. His home, which was purchased eight months ago at 105 Maple street, in one of the new sections of the city, was surrounded with comforts and kept beautifully neat and clean. His family consists of his wife and two daughters, Kathleen, 17 years old, and Dolly, 12 years of age.

In a Predicament.

"I can't make it out at all," stated his wife, bravely bearing up under the strain. "I put all the money I had into this home, and we were just getting on nicely, paying it off monthly with Bill's salary, and here I am left in this predicament, not knowing which way to turn. He never seemed dissatisfied nor ever hinted at wanting to make a change, and if he has not met with foul play it is certainly a mystery to me. Little Dolly there, he thought the world of, and he was good to us all."

At the office he told his stenographer he had to go to Welland to one of the factories there on employment business, and he had to make out an expense item of return ticket to Welland. He left the office at 10:45 a.m., and that was the last seen or heard of him. He took the lunch with him. He only had the clothes he wore, which was his every-day suit.

"We never had any quarrels, and as there is no money involved in it, I cannot understand it," stated his wife.

One feature which dispels any foul play theory, and looks as though his departure was premeditated, is the fact that he took all his military medals with him, which he was never known to do before. His wife discovered this fact after he had gone, when she was looking through his papers. He had $100 in his possession, which was all the money he had, which represented his pay and pension.

BRITISH RAILWAYS MUST CUT COSTS

LONDON, Eng., July 11.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Half-yearly traffic returns for British railways show that the companies must reduce expenditure over 40 per cent if the same dividends as were declared last year are to be maintained.

There is reason to hope that a great portion of the deficit will disappear in consequence of considerable reductions in wages which have already been made. Coal prices have also been lowered and there are prospects of a further reduction.

The difference, it was stated, represents interest on the commission's reserve fund and other German payments.

COUZENS SEEKS CONTROL OF DETROIT GAS COMPANY

DETROIT, July 11.—Mayor James Couzens, exponent of public ownership of public utilities, is planning to gain control for the city of the Detroit City Gas Company when the company's franchise expires next year, it was announced today. The city recently took over the street railway system after a strenuous campaign for that action by the mayor.

The gas company's property is estimated by city officials to be worth $30,000,000. No announcement was made of the mayor's plans for financing the program. The project would go to the electors in the fall of 1923, at which time the mayor's term of office expires.

CHARGES FAMILY "BEAT UP" RUSSIAN

Paris Police Force Arrest Father and Two Sons After Battle.

Special to London Advertiser.

PARIS, July 11.—The police answered a hurry-up call to the home of William McGuire yesterday, as complaint was made that a Russian named Bouraski was being badly beaten up by the family.

When the police arrived, the household turned upon Constable Schiller and Inspector Skelly, it is claimed, and beat them off with a fusillade of sticks and stones. Later County Constable Kerr and Provincial Officer Baugh of Brantford were called on for assistance.

With the arrival of the Brantford officers, the father and his son James surrendered. Later the other son, Edward, was arrested and placed in the cells.

The Russian was pretty badly beaten, and suffered injuries to his face.

Yesterday morning Bouraski appeared before Magistrate Patterson and was fined $27.

As a result of the fracas the McGuires will appear in court tomorrow morning. At present they are out on heavy bail.

"Here Come the Elephants!"

DO you remember how you used to be on the job bright and early to see the circus parade? Remember how you thrilled as the lions, tigers, and the big, lumbering elephants passed in review? How the horses, the blare of the bands, the antics of the clowns, and the glitter of it all inspired you with a fervid determination to see the real show—the big performance in the tent?

You didn't realize it then, but you were getting a lot out of an attractive advertisement.

Perhaps you don't realize it now, but other advertisements, just as attractive, just as interesting and far more valuable to you, parade daily before you in the columns of this paper.

The merchants and makers of everything you want or need, here display before you their most attractive wares. It is truly "the greatest show on earth."

The whole purpose of any advertisement is to excite your curiosity, gain your interest, arouse your desire; to tell you something you don't know; to remind you of something you have forgotten; to convince you of something over which you have been hesitating.

In short, the purpose of an advertisement is, in one way or another, to make you happier.

Read the advertisements and see if that isn't so?

LONDON HOSPITAL IS EQUAL TO BEST

Says London's National I. O. D. E. Councillor, After Visiting American Children's Institutions.

"After all, there's no place like home," said Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, honorary secretary of the War Memorial Children's Hospital committee, regent of the progressive Lieut.-Col. Campbell Becher Chapter, I. O. D. E., and busy homemaker, on Tuesday, after arriving home from a delightful holiday trip through the American West, following an official visit to Vancouver, where she represented the London Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., at the annual convention of the National Chapter.

She has returned bringing with her new honors. She was one of the thirty national councillors chosen by the whole order in the Dominion at the annual convention. When discovered by The Advertiser just before lunch time, she was facing a formidable pile of mail that had been accumulating since the week of the 24th of May, all manner of communications with regard to the work of the I. O. D. E. and the War Memorial Children's Hospital.

"I have been working at it steadily all morning," she said, "and I'm not through opening the envelopes yet."

"My most exciting experience while away?" she repeated the question of The Advertiser. "Almost getting caught in a landslide at Soldiers' Summit, in Colorado, near Denver. Because of the landslide, our train was held up seven hours, and we missed seeing the gorge by daylight, just making it out in the twilight."

After her years of strenuous work to make a children's hospital in London an accomplished fact, her most interesting experience, she declared, was in visiting children's hospitals wherever she could find them, specially mentioning those of Denver, Los Angeles and Chicago. "I was delighted," she said, "to find that ours is quite equal to the best of them in every way. They haven't any advantage over us in location, plan, equipment or provision for departments, with perhaps the exception of a dental clinic, which would not be difficult to add. I have come home satisfied that our hospital is to be second to none. The other hospitals larger? No; that was one of the things that surprised me, that they were no larger. The finest one I saw was in Denver, where I had excellent opportunity for making very thorough investigation, owing to the fact that my uncle, Dr. Davis, is a member of the board. These children's hospitals, I found, were all established by subscription, and have boards of ladies."

With regard to the national convention of the I. O. D. E. in Vancouver, Mrs. Greenaway laughingly parried with the reply to inquiries, "I'm saving my ammunition for the report I am to present to the Municipal I. O. D. E.

"You see, they sent me, and are entitled to all I can give them in the way of information as new as possible."

Referring to the election of Mrs. Doolittle of Toronto to the national presidency to succeed Miss Joan Arnold: "She was convener of child welfare the preceding year, and had a wonderful report on that. By the way, she mentioned our memorial children's hospital in her report as an important feature of the order's welfare activities, and we also had most favorable comment in the provincial report. I can assure you, London, the London Municipal Chapter, and the many organizations in Western Ontario which have cooperated in work for the hospital received a great deal of publicity at the convention.

"Parley-vous?"

Mrs. Greenaway modestly attributes the fact that she was made a national councillor to the connection of the order in London with the new hospital, and not especially her own ability or the outstanding and untiring service she has rendered the hospital work.

Referring to the immigration policy of the order, the London delegate explained: "Of course, we recognize the fact that it is a little late to have Canada all British in nationality. But the idea of the order would be to encourage British immigration for the future. The importance is being thoroughly realized of making good citizens of this country of the foreign-born, and we will never do this while we stand selfishly aloof. We have got to understand that a potential asset may become a menace unless we do our part, and this doesn't by any means just apply to the West."

Mrs. Greenaway wondered why Americans, wherever she went, took it for granted she spoke French, on hearing she was a Canadian. "Just as soon as I told them I was Canadian," she said, "they remarked, 'Oh, then, you speak French.' They seem to travel most in Quebec when they come to Canada. I wonder why?" And there was a twinkle in her eye as she said it.

MRS. MERCHANT DIES IN TORONTO

The news of the death of Mrs. F. W. Merchant, wife of Dr. Merchant, inspector of technical schools of Ontario, for many years principal of the London Collegiate Institute, and subsequently principal of the London Normal School, has caused much regret among a host of friends in this city. Mrs. Merchant suffered a severe attack of pneumonia a year ago last winter, never entirely regaining her health afterwards, and had been ill for some time previous to her death, which occurred last week at her home, Abbottsford Apartments, Jarvis street, Toronto. Deep sympathy has been expressed for Dr. Merchant and his two daughters, Misses Jean and Christene, and also for Miss Alice Kelse of the London Collegiate, a niece, who made her home with Dr. and Mrs. Merchant during the later years they were in the city, residing on Queen's avenue.

Rain Couldn't Mar Knox Church Fete

Such trifles as threatening skies and even pouring rain were not allowed to interfere with the progress of the proposed garden fete of Knox Church Women's Association, held on Tuesday afternoon and evening, in the beautiful grounds of the home of the president, Mrs. John Stevenson, 103 Elmwood avenue, South London.

Everything was going merrily, guests in gratifying numbers arriving in the afternoon, and enthusiastically admiring the pretty booths decked with rambler roses, and the attractive wares offered. And then the torrents came, giving sufficient warning, however, to hastily remove tables, flowers, Japanese lanterns and all indoors. A brisk business was carried on, notwithstanding the change, by the dealers in home cookery, candy, fancy goods, and a lively demand persisted for afternoon tea and cooling drinks and ices.

Thanks to the heavy foliage of the trees, the ground was discovered to be fairly dry when the storm was over, and it was decided to go on with the party in the evening just as if the sun had been shining all day.

A charming program included solos by Mrs. Phillippo and Mr. Edward Crawford, bagpipe selections by Mrs. Thomas McDonald, and during the evening excellent music was supplied by an orchestra.

The booths were in charge of the following conveners: Home-cooking, Mrs. V. K. Greer and Mrs. A. McDonald; tea-room, Mrs. John Ferguson and Mrs. A. Fitzsimons; refreshments, Mrs. John McEvoy and Mrs. William Duncan; soft drinks, Mrs. Fraser Kester and Mrs. Robert Kemp; fancy work and aprons, Mrs. Robert Grey, Mrs. Craik and Mrs. Robson. Mrs. Andrew Beattie was in charge of the gate. A Charlie Chaplin contest and a mysterious fortune teller provided great amusement.

Circus Moves, Pot of Gold Vanishes, But Scottish "Daughters" Park Cars

Nobody has indulged in rosier dreams with regard to the coming to town Wednesday of the big, big circus than the members of the Loch Lomond Chapter, I. O. D. E. Not even the children, who have never seen one before, could beat them at rearing air castles in the past few weeks, in which elephants, tigers and lions, clowns, chariots, dazzlingly beautiful ladies in tinselled garments on magnificent horses, sawdust and pink lemonade have figured conspicuously. Not that the daughters of Scotland, who make up the roll of membership of the chapter, are so bound up in the circus proper. They have visioned in it a pot at the end of the rainbow, a rich treasure to be had for a minimum amount of digging.

In other words, through the kind offer of Mr. Frank Whetter, they made arrangements for parking rights for automobiles on circus day on a magnificent scale on his farm in Westminster Township, adjacent to the area on which the Barnum and Bailey and Ringling Bros.' circus has trumpeted its intentions of locating.

They would practically control the parking market, and thereby realize a wonderful sum for the work that lies near to their hearts, placing an endowment in the War Memorial Children's Hospital in honor of the Scottish heroes of the world war, either from the old land or from Canada, who laid down their lives in sacrifice.

The ways and means committee of the chapter, with Mrs. B. J. Dunlevy as the energetic convener, set blithely to work to have the parking tickets printed. All the parking spaces were marked out early this week, and all in readiness for "the Glorious Twelfth" when the blow fell.

Like a fickle jade, the circus changed its mind.

It decided to receive the public in an entirely different section of the city, away up at Carling Heights, far remote from the Whetter farm and the vested rights of the Loch Lomond or any other chapter.

Mrs. R. M. Tagg, the resourceful regent, and her staunch workers saw their circus day revenue vanishing into thin air. With feminine adaptability they adjusted their plans to new conditions. If the circus wouldn't go to them, then why not follow the circus?

Without wasting a moment in idle regrets, Mrs. Tagg got busy spying out the land in the vicinity of the new circus ground. A "parcel" of vacant land was discovered, suitable for parking purposes, at the corner of Quebec and Oxford streets. Next trick was to discover the owners and get their permission to proceed with a parking project. All went merrily till it was discovered one lot owner was out of town. Establishing connections by long-distance telephone was the next move. Mrs. Tagg was able to triumphantly announce before the moon rose that parking would be run off in close imitation of schedule, thanks to the kind permission to use the property, granted by Mr. H. L. Hunt, Miss Dorothy Hord and Mr. J. King of this city, and Mr. Leslie of St. Thomas.

Mrs. B. J. Dunlevy is in command of parking in these "preserves," assisted by Mrs. Tagg, the regent, and Mesdames R. Waugh, James Smith, Malcolm Kerr, A. Brown, E. Seeley, T. A. McDonald.

"We had hoped," mourned Mrs. Dunlevy, "to make some hundreds of dollars, which would go a long, long way towards endowing our cot. Under the circumstances we will do our best to give good service, and we hope to realize a fairly substantial sum."

The comment of Mrs. Tagg, regent of the "All Scotch" chapter, and mistress of circumstances, to The Advertiser was this: "That's one thing aboot the Scootch. Even if they think they're beaten, they winna admit it."

The Methodist parsonage, Port Lambton, was the scene of a very pleasant event last week when a large number of the members of the church from the Beecher and Whitewood appointments gathered in surprise at the parsonage to bid farewell to the pastor, Rev. A. E. Allen, and family previous to their departure, after a pastorate of about two years. An appropriate address was made by Mr. Milo Deyo of Beecher, and Miss Ida Wadsworth of Whitewood made the presentations, Mr. Allen receiving a fountain pen and Mrs. Allen a handsome berry spoon. Mr. Allen, in a reminiscent mood, made an appropriate reply. An enjoyable evening was spent by all.

The ladies of the Port Lambton appointment remembered Mrs. Allen and her daughter with dainty and attractive gifts, of which private presentation was made, Mr. and Mrs. Allen expressing their warm appreciation of the generosity and kindly feeling which prompted the offerings.

Mrs. D. C. MacGregor, St. Andrew's manse, and sister, Miss Grace Millar, go to Orillia the end of July, where they will be joined by Dr. MacGregor on his return from Spokane. They will be guests of their sister, Mrs. A. R. Harvie.

Lady Twining, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Morden, has gone to Toronto, where she will join Mrs. Arthur Pepler. After spending a few days there she will go with Mrs. Pepler to Muskoka for a week, and from there to Kingston to be the guest of Mrs. Loretta Swift.

Mrs. Hugh Brodie of 388 West Grand Boulevard, Detroit, a former resident of London, accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Isabel Brodie-Peel, and great-grandson, Frank Reid, is paying a visit to relatives in Glencoe, and purposes motoring on to this city to see friends before returning home.

Dr. Leonard W. Pritchett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Pritchett, South London, who, for the past three years, has been taking post-graduate work in surgery at Bellevue and Mount Sinai Hospitals, New York City, is returning to the city the middle of this month to commence practising. He is taking the office formerly occupied by Dr. C. S. Moore, Wellington street.

Dr. M. T. McEachern, director-general of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Canada, who was recently appointed to the position, has been in the West during the past month in connection with a survey of the work which he is making from coast to the coast in the Dominion, visiting Edmonton and Calgary on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. He is expected in this city in the near future, and had proposed coming early in July.

In honor of Miss Ella McKay, a popular bride-elect of this month, Miss Mabel Broughton was the hostess of a linen shower and tea given at her home on Piccadilly street Tuesday afternoon. The guest of honor received many attractive gifts, which she fished from a gayly-decked fish pond. During the afternoon novelty dusters were hemmed by the guests. At the tea hour Mrs. William Line presided at the tea table, decked with summer flowers. The guests included Miss Florence Line, Miss Mary Fotheringham, Mrs. Lloyd Chapman, Mrs. J. G. Thompson, Miss Dorothy McCondry, Miss Lillian Douglas, Mrs. A. S. Thompson, Mrs. G. E. Douglas, Mrs. Ross McKay, and Misses Gladys Statler, Doris Nelles, Geraldine Glover, Maybelle Purdom, Velma Wylie, Beryle Boug, Beth Evans, Grace Braund and Marjorie Rowe.

Amongst Canadians presented to their majesties the king and queen at court recently were Mrs. P. C. Larkin, late of Toronto, wife of Canada's high commissioner; Miss Larkin, and Miss Catherine Welland Merritt of St. Catherines, who formerly was prominently identified with the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire. Lady Elizabeth and Lady Mary Byng, who recently returned to England after visiting their uncle and aunt, their excellencies Baron Byng of Vimy and Lady Byng, were also presented. Mrs. Larkin wore a gown of white and gold brocade and gold tissue, with pearl embroidery and lace sleeves, and her court train of white velvet was lined with gold tissue. Miss Larkin wore a gown designed by Enos of white net embroidered with crystal beads over a slip of cloth of silver, with pale green chiffon sash. Her train of silver tissue was trimmed with tulle and embroidered in crystals.

Lady Elizabeth Byng wore iridescent embroidery over pink satin with train of pink georgette draped and edged with iridescents. Lady Mary Byng was in white chiffon embroidered with crystals with train to correspond. Miss Merritt's gown was of eau de nil crepe georgette and silver tissue with train of silver lined with white tulle.

WITH THE BRIDES

ENGLISH—COOK.

At St. Paul's Cathedral Tuesday afternoon a pretty wedding took place, when Marguerite Laura, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cook, was married to Albert Crockett English, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. English of this city. The wedding service was read by the Very Rev. Dean Tucker. The bride, who was given away by her father, was charming in her wedding gown of old ivory georgette, with panels of silk radium lace, and hat en suite. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in King street. A buffet supper was served from a table centered with the bride's cake resting on a cluny cloth, and unshaded pink candles, held in tall silver sticks were used at the corners. The spacious rooms were effectively decorated with wedding bells, Richmond roses and marguerites. Mrs. English, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Cook, the bride's mother, received with the young couple, the former wearing a smart gown of navy blue charmeuse, with hat to match, and Mrs. Cook was gowned in Roshanara crepe, and wore a corsage of Richmond roses. Mr. and Mrs. English left on a honeymoon to New York, the bride traveling in a becoming suit of pigeon gray canton crepe, combined with jade green and a jade feather hat. On their return they will reside at the Picton Apartments.

Not for a second was Andre-Louis under any delusion as to the man's deliberate purpose, nor were those who stood near him, who made a belated and ineffectual attempt to close about him. He was grievously disappointed. It was not Chabrillane he had been expecting.

But if Chabrillane was the man appointed to deal with him, he would make the best of it.

"I think you are pushing against me, monsieur," he said, very civilly, and with elbow and shoulder he thrust M. de Chabrillane back into the rain.

Now, for all his slenderness, his assiduous daily sword-practice had given Andre-Louis an arm of iron. Also he threw his weight into the thrust. His assailant reeled backward a few steps, and then his heel struck a baulk of timber left on the ground by some workmen that morning, and he sat down suddenly in the mud.

A roar of laughter rose from all who witnessed the fine gentleman's downfall. He rose, mud-bespattered, in a fury, and in that fury sprang at Andre-Louis.

"You shall meet me for this!" he spluttered. "I shall kill you for it."

"Whenever you please, monsieur. It is for you to say when it will suit your convenience to kill me. I think that was the intention you announced, was it not?" Andre-Louis was suavity itself.

"Tomorrow morning in the Bois. Perhaps you will bring a friend."

"BECAUSE, MONSIEUR, YOU PREFER THE EASY VICTIM."

"Certainly, monsieur. Tomorrow morning then. I hope we shall have fair weather. I detest the rain."

Chabrillane looked at him almost with amazement. Andre-Louis smiled pleasantly.

"Don't let me detain you now, monsieur. We quite understand each other. I shall be in the Bois at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning."

In the morning, when the Assembly met, his place was vacant, and so was M. de Chabrillane's. Gloom and resentment sat upon the members of the Third, and brought a more than usually acrid note into their debates. They disapproved of the rashness of the new recruit to their body. Some openly condemned his lack of circumspection. Very few—and those only the little group in Le Chapelier's confidence—ever expected to see him again.

It was, therefore, as much in amazement as in relief that at a few minutes after ten they saw him enter, calm, composed, and bland, and thread his way to his seat. The speaker occupying the rostrum at that moment—a member of the Privileged—stopped short to stare in incredulous dismay. Here was something that he could not understand at all. Then from somewhere a voice explained the phenomenon contemptuously.

"They haven't met. He has shirked it at the last moment."

It must be so, thought all; the mystification ceased, and men were settling back into their seats. But now, having reached his place, having heard the voice that explained the matter to the universal satisfaction, Andre-Louis paused before taking his seat. He felt it incumbent upon him to reveal the true fact.

"M. le President, my excuses for my late arrival." There was no necessity for this. It was a mere piece of theatricality, such as it was not in Scaramouche's nature to forego. "I have been detained by an engagement of pressing nature. I bring you also the excuses of M. de Chabrillane. He, unfortunately, will be permanently absent from this Assembly in future."

The silence was complete Andre-Louis sat down.

CHAPTER VII.

NOBODY laughed now at Andre-Louis' flippancy. He did not intend that anybody should. He intended to be terrible; and he knew that the more flippant and casual his tone, the more terrible would be its effect. He produced exactly the effect he desired.

When the session rose, there were a dozen spadassins awaiting him in the vestibule.

He paused, seeking the man he expected, the man he was most anxious to oblige. But M de La Tour d'Azyr was absent from those eager ranks. This seemed to him odd. La Tour d'Azyr was Chabrillane's cousin and closest friend. Surely he should have been among the first today.

To Andre-Louis, since La Tour was not one of that waiting pack, it mattered little on that Tuesday morning who should be the next. The next, as it happened, was the young Vicomte de la Motte-Royau, one of the deadliest blades in the group.

On the Wednesday morning, coming again an hour or so late to the Assembly, Andre-Louis announced—in much the same terms as he had announced the death of Chabrillane—that M. de La Motte-Royau would probably not disturb the harmony of the Assembly for some weeks to come, assuming that he were so fortunate as to recover ultimately from the effects of an unpleasant accident with which he had quite unexpectedly had the misfortune to meet that morning.

On Thursday he made an identical announcement with regard to the Vidame de Blavon. On Friday he told them that he had been delayed by M. de Troiscantins, and then turning to the members of the Cote Droit, and lengthening his face to a sympathetic gravity:

"I am glad to inform you, messieurs, that M. de Troiscantins is in the hands of a very competent surgeon who hopes with care to restore him to your councils in a few weeks' time."

The Friday of that very busy week found the vestibule of the Menage empty of swordsmen when he made his leisurely and expectant egress with Le Chapelier.

"Have they had enough?" he wondered, addressing the question to Le Chapelier.

Out there under the awning a group of gentlemen stood in earnest talk. Scanning the group in a rapid glance, Andre-Louis perceived M. de la Tour d'Azyr amongst them. He tightened his lips. He must afford no provocation. It must be for them to fasten their quarrels upon him.

Still, matters could not be left where they were, or he should have had all his pains for nothing. Carefully looking away from that group of gentlemen, he raised his voice so that his words must carry to their ears.

"It begins to look as if my fears of having to spend the remainder of my days in the Bois were idle."

Out of the corner of his eye he caught the stir his words created in that group. Pacing slowly along between his friends, he resumed:

"But is it not remarkable that the assassin of Lagron should make no move against Lagron's successor? Or perhaps it is not remarkable. Perhaps the gentleman is prudent."

He had not long to wait. Came a quick step behind him, and a hand falling upon his shoulder, spun him violently round. He was brought face to face with M. de La Tour d'Azyr, whose handsome countenance was calm and composed, but whose eyes reflected something of the sudden blaze of passion stirring in him.

"You spoke of me, I think," said the Marquis quietly.

"I spoke of an assassin—yes. But to these my friends." Andre-Louis' manner was no less quiet.

"You spoke loudly enough to be overheard," said the Marquis, answering the insinuation that he had been eavesdropping. "I perceive that it is your aim to be offensive."

"Oh, but you are mistaken, M. le Marquis. I have no wish to be offensive. But I resent having hands violently laid upon me, especially when they are hands that I cannot consider clean."

The elder man's eyelids flickered. Almost he caught himself admiring Andre-Louis' bearing. Rather, he feared that his own must suffer by comparison. Because of this, he enraged altogether, and lost control of himself. "You spoke of me as the assassin of Lagron. But how much better are you, M. the fencing master, when you oppose yourself to men whose skill is as naturally inferior to your own!"

"I oppose myself to them!" said Andre-Louis on a tone of amused protest. "Ah, pardon, M. le Marquis; it is they who choose to oppose themselves to me—and so stupidly. They push me, they slap my face, they tread on my toes, they call me by unpleasant names. What if I am a fencing master? Must I on that account submit to every manner of ill-treatment from your bad-mannered friends?

"Comedian!" the Marquis contemptuously apostrophized him. "Are these men who live by the sword like yourself?"

"On the contrary, M. le Marquis, I have found them men who died by the sword with astonishing ease. I cannot suppose that you desire to add yourself to their number."

"And why, if you please?" La Tour d'Azyrs face had flamed scarlet before that sneer.

"Oh," Andre-Louis raised his eyebrows and pursed his lipe, a man considering. He delivered himself slowly. "Because, monsieur, you prefer the easy victim—the Lagrons and Vilmorins of this world, mere sheep for your butchering. That is why."

And then the Marquis struck him.

COMPLETE PLANS TO HANDLE GRAIN

SASKATOON, July 11.—Plans for the handling of this year's grain crop from the Prairie Provinces to the head of the lakes were completed here today with the conclusion of a two-days' conference of Canadian National officials, headed by S. E. Warren, general manager of western lines.

ATTRACTED TO ENGLISH BLOOD.

Dear Miss Grey,—I wish to thank Yellow Rose and Bly for their hints to keep mosquitoes away. I'll pass my knowledge around among other fellow-sufferers. Have heard it oft repeated that these pests have a special failing for English blood. Where are Capitola and Mary Elien? Isn't the city pretty hot these beautiful July days? I live in the country, and know how to appreciate it, since I lived the long, dark war days in London, England. I hope I'll have some helpful hint next time I write.

LASS O' LAUGHTER.

Will you please give us your name and address next time you write, Lass o' Laughter? I hope some of the suggestions will help to keep away the mosquitoes, as they certainly are pests, aren't they? I am glad you like Canada—but then, how could you think otherwise of it?

ANOTHER RIDDLE.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again to see you. Have any of the Boxites the words and music of "Tuck Me to Sleep In My Old 'Tucky Home," also of "Peggy O'Neil"? We had a nice rain early this morning. We are having our holidays now. I will close now with a riddle or two. I will write and tell you the answers later.

Riddle me, riddle me right, where was I on Friday night? The wind was high, and so was I, and three bears passed me by.

What is that which we have all seen, but will never see again?

I will sign my name as before,

BUD.

I am mailing you the words of the songs asked for, and trust you will receive them. We will be looking for the answers to the riddles later on, Bud.

PEACHES GIVES HER ADDRESS.

Dear Cynthia,—I saw where J. C. was asking for my address, so I will send it in with this letter. I am busy this year, as I have a baby girl to look after, so don't get much time for crocheting. PEACHES.

I am forwarding your address to J. C. It must keep you busy looking after your baby. How old is she?

SENDS HOSPITAL MITE.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am just coming for a little chat, so please don't get disgusted. Isn't this lovely weather? Wouldn't it be nice to be near the lake like Kip? I would like Kip's address, if it is in the Mail-Box. Inclosed find mite for S. C. H. I will sign as before,

DIXIE NO. 2.

Kip's address has been mailed to you, Dixie, and many thanks for the hospital mite. It is a lovely summer, isn't it?

WHO WILL WRITE?

Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first letter to your interesting page, which I enjoy reading very much. I live in the country, and like living here far better than in the city.

Anyone wishing a correspondent please get my address from Miss Grey, and please write to me soon.

I have a small flower bed, and love flowers very much. How many of the Boxites had a good time on the First of July? I certainly had a lovely time. We have much sport around here, especially in the summer, such as swimming, dancing and picnics. Yours sincerely,

FREJA.

I placed your name on the family list, and anyone wishing to write to you may have it from the Mail-Box. It must be a very pretty spot where you live.

HELLO, FUZZ WUZZ.

Hello, everybody. How do these fine days suit you all? I think they are great. The country certainly looks lovely now,the cherry trees are so nice with their red fruit, and the clover smells very sweet now as it is in blossom. You city people do not know what you miss this time of year. Hello, Fuzz Wuzz, why don't you write once in a while and let us know where you live, and if you are still alive. I have written to Irish Babe, but did not get an answer from her; has she deserted the Mail-Box? Could anyone please send me the song that has these words:

Take me to the prairie and lay the sod o'er me.

I think the title is "The Wild Cowboy. I was very glad to see a letter from Tip in the Mail-Box. If Fuzz Wuzz sees this would she please write? Inclosed please find shinplaster for S. C. H. and self-addressed envelope for song. WOOLLY GAZOOKUS.

If the words are sent in for you, Woolly Gazookus, I shall be pleased to send them on to you. It is quite a while since we last heard from you. Many thanks for the "plaster" for the hospital fund. Maybe your letter will inspire Fuzz Wuzz to write to us again.

WE HAVE MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here is a parcel for Mother of Three." Can you give me Mother of Sixes' address, and the lady who has seven children. I have a good supply of quilt patches. Could I send them in to help the fund for the chair? We were driving to the city today so to save postage took several parcels in, and this small one for Mother of Three. Isn't this weather beautiful? Always so many things to be thankful for. Love to all,

BONNIE BESS.

The parcel has been forwarded to Mother of Three. You have been very generous to the Boxites, Bonnie Bess. It was splendid of you to offer the patches to raise funds for the invalid, but as was announced in Friday's paper a chair has been given to T. L. L. I have forwarded Mother of Six's address. Also Mrs. E. N.'s.

WANTS A CORRESPONDENT.

Dear Miss Grey, — Here I am again. Seems as though it has been a long time since I wrote. Aren't we having nice weather? I would like to correspond with March Wind No. 2 if I could get her address. Miss Grey, what day did Sept. 20, 1901, fall on? Also Feb. 20, 1903; Dec. 3, 1907; Feb. 25, 1905? Well, I must run away before my letter gets too long. I am inclosing a mite for C. H. F.

BLACK-EYED BEAUTY.

You did not give us your name and address, Black-Eyed Beauty, so I cannot tell you who March Wind No. 2 is, but if you send in a stamped addressed envelope repeating your request, I will be pleased to do so. Sept. 20, 1901, fell on Friday; Feb. 20, 1903, Friday; Dec. 3, 1907, Tuesday; Feb. 25, 1905, Saturday. Thank you for the hospital mite.

TO MAKE POTPOURRI.

Dear Miss Grey,—As I am a new-comer to your box, I won't stay too long.

Will you please print recipe for making a Rose Jar. Thanking you for your time and space, I remain,

LAST ROSE OF SUMMER.

Get a good sized jar, with an open mouth, and see that it is quite dry. It is a good plan to leave it in a cool place over night. In addition to shedding a delicate aroma through our rooms, the preparation of potpourri should induce the habit of early rising, as the petals should be gathered soon after dawn. Lay them in a jar, half an inch thick, sprinkling each layer thickly with well dried lavender flowers. Repeat each morning until the jar is three-parts full. Let it stand for ten days, stirring the contents each morning. Then break into small pieces an ounce of stick cinnamon and grind coarsely, an ounce each of allspice and cloves, and mix together. Now get another jar and place the rose leaves in it, in layers as before, and thickly sprinkle the spice between. Tie a double sheet of stiff brown paper over firmly, and put the jar to stand in a dry dark cupboard for three weeks. Then grind half an ounce each of mace, cloves and allspice and a nutmeg, and break up half an ounce of cinnamon. Add to these ingredients one-quarter pound of drived lavender flowers and one ounce powdered orris root, and thoroughly mix all together. The special jar should now be brought and filled with alternate layers of the petals and the newly mixed spices. Between every layer drop ten drops each of oil of geranium and bitter almond and three drops of attar of roses. Finally pour over all an ounce of lavender of rose extract.

GETS HOMESICK SOMETIMES.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been a silent reader of the Boxites' letters, I think they are very interesting to read.

I came from the old country almost two years ago, and I think the climate here is just lovely, although I get homesick sometimes.

I wonder if there are any Boxites that came from Lancashire, England, if so, I should love to correspond with them.

I see in the Mail-Box this week that Happy Mother is offering a pair of black slippers, size 4, that is just my size. I would be very glad of them, of course you will have a great many deserving cases other than mine.

I am a young married woman, and of course it takes almost all the money my husband earns, in housekeeping. We had a very bad spell on first landing. My husband was out of work almost six months, and it will take quite a time before we recover ourselves.

I am inclosing a mite for the hospital fund. Trusting I will hear from someone from "Blighty."

MY LANCASHIRE LASSIE.

Please remember to write on one side of the paper only, as this is one of the rules of the Mail-Box. I hope you are not too late for the shoes, although there have been a number of requests for them. I am sure some of our English writers will be delighted to write to someone from their native land. So kindly send in your name and address in case it is asked for. The rules of the Mail-Box are:

1. Write on one side of the paper only.
2. Sign your name and address, as well as a pen-name.
3. Write in ink.
4. When asking for addresses, patterns, etc., inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a mite for the S. C. H. As the Scotch say: "Every nickel makes a muckle." Such lovely weather. How much we have to be thankful for. So many people in western provinces are hailed out. Yours as before,

SYMPATHIZER.

Many thanks, Sympathizer, for the generous hospital mite. It is growing slowly but surely. Won't you write us a longer letter next time.

LIVES AT NIAGARA.

Dear Miss Grey,—I hope you are enjoying this lovely weather. I think, though, it is a little too cool for motoring. My sister has a motoring car, and we are going over the river to the American side this morning. It surely is cool when you get the spray from the Falls, but it is a wonderful sight. We were out driving Sunday and went to the Glen. It is just as wonderful as the Falls. You go down right to the water's edge, about 400 steps down; probably I am exaggerating, but there are a great number. When you look up, all you can see on one side is the bank; it looks about 2,000 feet high, and there are all kinds of trees, bushes and flowers; everything just as nature made it. There are so many things it would take me hours to write about them all. Inclosed find a mite. I see where Ribbon Grass has some lily-of-the-valley roots. I would like some, and will inclose some morning glory seeds. My flowers all grew wonderfully. Could I please have a cinnamon bulb. AMETHYST.

Niagara Falls are a wonderful sight, aren't they? It is quite a while since I was there, though, but shall never forget them. It is quite a long time since we heard from you last, Amethyst. Many thanks for remembering the hospital fund with a mite. Will be looking for a letter from you soon again. I am sorry, but there are no cinnamon bulbs left.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Torty Turtle's Tummy Is Treated

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

ONE day when Nancy was dusting Dr. Snuffles' office, the doorbell rang and in walked Mr. Torty Turtle, moaning and groaning and sighing and making a dreadful fuss.

"Hello, Torty, what's wrong?" asked Nancy, helping him as well as she could, for poor Torty didn't have a thing to catch hold of.

"Everything!" declared Torty. "I've eaten too much. I was at a party last night, and I had 10 lightning bugs, 6 skippers, 15 mosquitoes, 12 flies, 2 daddy-long-legs, 9 spiders, and a thousand-legger for dessert.

"I couldn't get to sleep at all, and this morning I feel as if I'd swallowed all the mud they dug out of the Panama Canal."

Just then the fairyman doctor came hustling in.

He looked at Torty's tongue and felt his pulse, and took his temperature, and then filled some bottles with pills.

"Here you are, Torty," said he kindly. "I know exactly what's wrong with you. Here are five kinds of medicine: one's for the pain in your ear, one's for the rheumatism in your toe, one's for the cold in your nose, one's for that tired feeling, and the last is to give you an appetite."

"But, doctor," protested Torty. "I have no rheumatism or cold or tired feeling. All I've got is—"

"Tut, tut!" said the doctor. "I know better than you, my dear sir, what's wrong with you. Take my advice and my medicine, and you'll be better tomorrow."

When Torty was gone, the Twins asked the little doctor man why he hadn't given Torty something for his tummy-ache.

"I did," laughed the fairyman. "It was all for his tummy. But I didn't let on for fear he'd ask me for a plaster. And how could I ever put a plaster on Torty Turtle's tummy?"

S. A. GOVERNMENT NEEDS $55,000,000

LONDON, July 11.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—The South African government estimates expenditures from loan funds for the year ending March, 1923, at nearly £11,000,000, according to Reuter's correspondent at Cape Town. Of this amount 50 per cent is required for railways and harbors. Noteworthy in this connection is the railway bill which provides for construction of new lines for agricultural development and gives the government power to carry out electrification of the existing lines.

WOMAN DIES FROM HEAT WHILE WASHING CLOTHES

TORONTO, July 11.—Overcome with heat while washing in the basement of her home, Mrs. Margaret Davis, aged 24 years, was found dead this afternoon. She was discovered leaning over one of the stationary tubs with her head just resting on some wet clothes.

Neighbors saw smoke issuing from one of the basement windows. Mrs. Davis had been boiling clothes on a gas heater near the stationary tubs, and the water having boiled away, the clothes began to burn, almost causing a fire. The smoke from the scorching clothes filled the cellar.

Both Dr. H. B. van Wyck and Coroner M. M. Crawford said death was due to heart-failure. No inquest will be held.

Sheer Summer Dresses Bring Costume Slips Into Favor

THE underlying principles of good dress, it may be observed this season, are very simple.

One garment that has come rapidly into favor is the costume slip. This is a single garment that combines brassiere or corset cover with petticoat—made necessary by sheer summer frocks.

The top may be either square or "V"-shaped, according to the garment it is to be worn under, and is often low waisted and bloused so that it does not impair the line of the silhouette.

Worn with the costume slip is the newly popular step-in either with or without a chemise.

Materials of all kinds are used and all light colors are most popular. However, since this is a "white season" lingerie is also shown in all white or in white edged with pastel colors.

Radio Radiations

To the Radio Editor:

Inclosed is sketch of circuit which I am using, but cannot get satisfactory results with same. My aerial is 35 feet high, 150 feet long and the ground is 5 feet deep in damp earth. I have an A.P. bulb and am using 4 dry cells for the "A" battery; the "B" battery is 22½ volts and 15 cells. Do you think the "B" battery is strong enough?

2. The aerial is only about 3 feet from the lightning rods on the house. Would the rods interfere with the receiving?

3. How far should this set receive, C.W., with a 1,000 Ohm headset.

F. ROUNDS, Embro, Ont.

1. Would advise that you use a storage battery for your "A" battery, and if results are not then obtained try doubling the voltage of the "B" battery.

2. No.

3. Would suggest that you use 1,500 Ohm headpiece, at least, when you should be able to hear about 250 miles.

To the Radio Editor:

Please answer the following: Could a loose coupler be used instead of the two slide tuner in the set that was in the London Advertiser Thursday, June 29?

2. How far could this set receive from under favorable conditions?

3. I have a wire running about 30 feet underground to an iron pump. The earth is very damp. Should this make a good ground connection?

3 R. D.

1. Yes.
2. 200 miles.
3. Yes.

8 HOMERS FEATURE TWIN WIND-UPS

Tecs Win First and Brants Took Second To End First Series.

BRANTFORD, Ont., July 11.—What a batfest! Eight home runs in 15½ innings. That was the record which the Tecumsehs and the Brants set in today's double-header, the wind-up of the first series. If it is homers the fans want, they got it. Incidentally they saw the teams split the bill, the heavy artillery of the Tecumsehs slugging out an 11 to 8 victory in the first game, while in the second the Brants' smashes counted for more tallies and won 7 to 3.

It was a day for the hitters, with the pitchers praying that they wouldn't go over the fence, for both Haines and Dahlin were hit hard in the first. Frankie Hess, the local catcher, set the distance record for the day, his homer in the second game landing on top of the dyke and then continuing into the river, the first ball to do so for two years.

The day started out with a terrific heat wave. Then came up a stiff breeze and outfield balls were a puzzle in every case, and the wind helped to carry them outside the fence. There is no need to particularize as to the scoring. It came in bunches, good for the Tecs in the first, making Buzz Wetzel's record twelve straight wins. The 13th proved his undoing, for the long smashes and the timely ones in this brief engagement fell to the Brants. In the first game, Stimpson, with three out of four, including a homer, Schaefer with the same record, and Dawson, with four out of five, including a homer, were the heaviest sluggers. The scores:

AWAIT OFFERS FOR KITCHENER CLUB

$8,750 Lowest Figure Franchise Is Likely To Go For.

KITCHENER, July 11.—Last night at the ball club meeting here, Mr. Tolton of the Kitchener ball club presented the opinion that the creditors of the Kitchener ball club should get 50 cents on the dollar.

This afternoon it was pointed out to him that this, coupled with the $3,000 unpaid liabilities, would run the franchise up to about $11,000 to prospective purchasers.

Mr. Tolton then stated that he would like to see the franchise remain in Kitchener, and that he was prepared to consider offers of less than 50 cents on the dollar.

When pressed, he intimated that he would be glad to get completely out of baseball, and would probably do so if local sportsmen would pay the $3,000 salaries and league dues payable, plus 35 per cent of the creditors' accounts.

The latter amount to about $17,230.

This would bring the cost of the Kitchener franchise down to about $8,750, and the purchaser, against this, would have all the ball players, which are saleable assets, as well as the franchise rights.

In fact, the local club now has an offer of $500 for one of the Beaver pitchers, while $1,000 has been offered for Bill Regan, and Charlie Hindt is considered a splendid asset that will bring three or four thousand into the treasury at some future date.

AUSTRALIAN NET STARS GET HARD DOUBLES GAMES

Morton of South Africa, and Barrett of England, Play Sensationally.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 11.—Sensational play characterized the semi-finals in the men's championship doubles this evening when Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood of Australia won from B. I. C. Norton of South Africa and H. Roper Barrett of England after one of the hardest fought struggles ever witnessed on the Wimbledon courts.

Norton and Barrett were five times within one point of taking the match, and losers surely never played so wonderfully. Norton developed a cannonball service good enough to score outright frequently, while Barrett's funny little service ball directed along the middle line to Patterson's back hand was altogether too much for the Australian.

The score at the end was 6—1, 3—6, 5—7, 6—2, 15—13.

The day's play brought the matches down to the finals, for which the contestants will be: Men's doubles, Anderson and Lycett versus Patterson and Wood.

Mixed doubles, Lycett and Miss Ryan vs. Wood and Mlle. Lenglen.

Women's doubles, Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Ryan vs. Mrs. Stocks and Miss Kathleen McKane, who are sisters.

Suzzette Lenglen, the French champion, was successful in two series. With Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California, against Mrs. McNair and Mrs. Green, the British pair, she played a fast and spirited game, her quick and certain action winning great applause. Miss Ryan also played effectively.

With Pat O'Hara Wood, Mlle. Lenglen opposed M. Washer of Belgium and Mrs. Warburg, and the latter were easily disposed of.

Giants Not Same Without Burns

GEORGE BURNS.

If a number of players and umpires in the National League can be believed, the failure of the Giants to distance the rest of the field is due to the loss of George Burns. Any time you ask what ails the Giants the reply is always the same.

"They miss old George Burns."

A prominent National League star said one day:

"We have beaten the Giants at least for games that would have gone against us with Burns playing center field for the Giants.

"The very fact that Shinners, Cunningham, Boone, Brown and now old Casey Stengel have tried to fill the bill is proof of Burns' great value to the club.

"His absence has cost the Giants four games against us, so it is reasonable to suppose similar conditions have existed against other teams."

Heine Groh certainly added a punch to the infield. To get him, however, it was necessary to put a big hole in the outfield.

So, perhaps, after all, it is the absence of George Burns that ails the Giants.

DEMPSEY-WILLS GO WILL AWAIT BIDS

Sign Contract For Bout Within Six Days After Bid.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, through their managers, today signed a contract to box for the world's heavyweight championship at a time and place to be named later.

The contract, which it is expected eventually will bring the champion and his negro challenger together into the ring, is of the blanket type. It requires the heavyweights to box within sixty days after the acceptance of a satisfactory bid extended by a reliable promoter. The time and place for the bout will be announced at or shortly after the acceptance of such bid by the principals or their managers.

At today's conference between Jack Kearns representing Dempsey, and Patrick Mullins representing Wills, the latter held out first for the proposals he made at Saturday's meeting, but Kearns was obdurate, and Mullins finally capitulated. Mullins desired that bids be limited to those received within thirty days, and that the bout be fought within three months after the acceptance of the best offer.

O.A.L.A. REFUSE CHANGE IN DATE OF SARNIA GAME

CHATHAM, July 11.—In spite of the fact that the Sarnia Lacrosse Club asked for a change in date for an O. A. L. A. fixture for next Saturday, owing to the Michigan-Ontario baseball game scheduled for the same day and place, the Chatham Lacrosse Club is sending the intermediate team up there on Saturday next. Confirmation of the date and original arrangements was made known by the club today.

Receipts Short, Lynch Has To Pay For New Crown.

NEW YORK, July 11. — Joe Lynch has to pay nearly $10,000 out of his own pocket for the privilege of wearing the bantamweight championship crown again.

When the receipts and expenses of last night's fight, in which Johnny Buff was dethroned, were checked up today it was found that the "gate" was $9,150.35 short of the guarantee of $30,000. Under the terms of agreement, Buff was to receive this sum if he lost his title.

There were 14,293 paid admissions, but by the time the expenses, government and state taxes were paid there was not enough left to make up the guarantees to Buff.

Boxing authorities said it was the first time in ring history in America that a fighter won a title without receiving a cent, to say nothing of paying a big sum to the defeated man.

Herbert C. Gilson, counsel for the protesting organization, promised he would submit a brief tomorrow proving the bout would be a prize-fight.

WILL FIGHT CUT IN RAIL WAGES

Sarnia Members of Brotherhood Decide Against Reduction.

300 Men Would Be Affected by the Proposed Slash.

Special to London Advertiser.

SARNIA, July 11.—Despite the refusal of officials of the local Brotherhood of Railway Employees to discuss their meeting of Monday night, it was learned definitely today that the meeting decided unanimously to oppose the proposed slash in wages ordered by the management of the Grand Trunk to take effect July 16. Stationary firemen, oilers, clerks, freight handlers, roundhouse laborers and truckers are affected by the proposed cut of from 2 cents to 5 cents. In all, a walkout order for these classes would affect about 300 men locally. The decision of the meeting was wired to James McGuire of Ottawa, general chairman of the brotherhood.

A cablegram from England received here today announcing the marriage of Arthur E. Finucane, local manager of the Bank of Montreal, to Mrs. Frank Smith of Toronto, formerly of Sarnia, came as the pleasant surprise of the day to Sarnia social circles. Mr. Finucane, one of the most popular businessmen in the city, left for England a few weeks ago on a three months' holiday, and the announcement that he had become a benedict did not greatly surprise many who knew him well. Mr. and Mrs. Finucane are expected to return to the city in about two months.

STRATFORD BOARD REPORTS SURPLUS

Large Number of Students Write Examinations At Collegiate.

Special to London Advertiser.

STRATFORD, July 11.—For the first time in the history of the local board of education or its predecessor, the local Collegiate Institute Board, there will be a slight balance instead of a deficit, when all expenses in connection with the conducting of department examinations are deducted from the fees paid by the students. This is accounted for by the fact that an abnormally large number of students wrote examinations at the local Collegiate Institute this year. The sum of $1,750 was collected. When 60 per cent is sent to the department of education, and all examinations salaries are paid, the local board will receive approximately $180.

Speaking of the proposal to eliminate fees for trying departmental examinations, Inspector Smith believes a better plan would be to issue a departmental certificate on the year's standing of 65 per cent to 75 per cent in place of examinations. Those who failed to reach this total should try the examinations.

LOGAN TOWNSHIP PIONEER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Dorothy Cook Passes Away in her 94th Year.

Special to London Advertiser.

MITCHELL, July 11.—Another of the old settlers of this community, in the person of Dorothy Pounder, widow of Adam Cook, died early Tuesday morning at her home on the Huron road in her 94th year, following an illness of one year.

Mrs. Cook had lived on the Huron road since her marriage more than 70 years ago. She was born in Ireland, but came to Canada with her parents, who settled in Waterloo, when quite young. Mr. and Mrs. Cook took up land in Logan when that township was nearly all bush, and it took many years of hard labor in hewing down the forest before one of the finest farms on the Huron road was cleared. Mr. Cook predeceased his wife 12 years ago.

Mrs. Cook was widely known for her many deeds of kindness. She was a member of the Anglican Church.

She leaves four sons and one daughter.

STRIKING MINERS ATTACK POLICE

SHIELDS, England, July 11.—Several constables and civilians were injured and thirteen arrests were made during a riot early Tuesday in connection with the miners' strike here, when thousands of miners assembled at the pit-head of one of the collieries to prevent men from going to work.

The crowd charged and overpowered the police, who later were reinforced by mounted police. A free-for-all fight lasted for a considerable time, during which the rioters threw stones, bottles and all kinds of missiles, and smashed several windows before calm could be restored.

DEMONSTRATES TRAFFIC SIGN TO BRANTFORD POLICE

Will Not Move From Position When Hit by Car.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, July 11.—Representing an Orillia firm, a salesman called on Police Chief Donnelly this morning and gave a demonstration of a new silent policeman and traffic sign. The sign was put up at the corner of Dalhousie and Queen streets, a busy corner, and tried out by the Orillia man, who was driving a coupe.

The base is constructed of cast iron weighing 75 pounds. Its shape and weight prevent it from being upturned or moved from its position should a car strike it going at a high rate of speed.

The top is of wood, reinforced with an iron centre. It also flies a red flag. The top is connected to the base by an all-way spring device, which allows it to spring downward in any direction when the slightest impact upon it occurs, after which it returns to its upright position automatically.

"SCRAPPER" WINS YACHT RACE AT PRINYER'S COVE

Major Windeyer's R. C. Y. C. Craft Lifts George Cup, Finishing 15 Minutes Ahead of "Huskie."

Kingston, July 12.—The Scrapper, owned and sailed by Major Windeyer of the R. C. Y. C., Toronto, won the George Cup race at Prinyer's Cove this morning, easily taking the race from the "Huskie," owned and sailed by Ed Lansing of the Crescent Yacht Club, Watertown, N. Y., and the "Chiryia," owned and sailed by Arthur Dalton of Kingston. The Scrapper was in the lead from the start, and was never in danger, finishing over 15 minutes ahead of the Huskie. The Nirwana, owned by J. Morrow, R. Y. C., Hamilton, holder of the George Cup, did not come to the race, and thereby forfeited the cup, which is turned over to the L. Y. R. A.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS EXCEED RECORD

Montreal, July 12.—That the port of Montreal is not only equalizing but even exceeding the record of grain shipments of last year was shown yesterday by figures supplied by the grain clearance board.

From the opening of navigation to the evening of Sunday, July 9, these totalled 39,608,162 bushels, against 39,120,918 for the same period of 1921. Last year's total output from Montreal amounted to 138,453,980 bushels, nearly fifty millions more than from any other port on the North American continent.

STORM WREAKS DAMAGE IN DISTRICT NEAR OTTAWA

Ottawa, July 12.—Extensive inquiries have failed to locate any serious damage in this district from the electrical storm which skirted the city to the southwest last night. Reports of a man being missed at Prescott are unconfirmed.

The storm, however, did a great deal of property damage in this district both by the high winds and lightning. Barns were burned near Kemptville, and a residence in Cornwall.

Brockville reports trees broken down and some buildings damaged by the wind. Several buildings in the country were hit by lightning, but the results were not serious. A few cattle were killed. The St. Lawrence system of hydro went out of business when a tree fell on the lines east of Brockville, and long distance telephonic communication around the town was disorganied.

BUFFALO COMPANY RUNS 20 CARS WEDNESDAY

Buffalo, July 12.—Twenty cars were operated on Main street today by the International Railway Company, but all other lines were idle. Today is the eleventh day of the strike of motormen, conductors and barn employees.

James Fox, conductor on a Main street car, was cut about the head when a stone was thrown at a car window with sufficient force to break through the wire mesh with which the cars are covered.

BERLIN, July 11.—Thirty persons were killed or injured by the explosion of a depot of ammunition supplies at Groden, near Cuxhaven, Tuesday afternoon. The initial explosion caused others.

INDORSE JOINT SALE OF CHEESE

Representatives From Western Ontario Factories Hold Meeting At Woodstock.

Favor Disposal of Produce Under Co-operative Marketing Principle.

Special to London Advertiser.

WOODSTOCK, July 11. — At a meeting held in the Woodstock Council Chamber Tuesday afternoon attended by representatives of fifteen of the cheese factories of Western Ontario, a resolution was passed indorsing the principle of co-operative marketing of cheese as outlined by two representatives of the United Dairymen's Co-operative Limited, and pledging the representatives to go back to their factories with the object of putting the matter before the patrons in such a way as to bring about in Western Ontario a consummation of the scheme outlined.

The Woodstock and Listowel representatives were present in fairly large numbers, but the London district was not represented. Peter Hughes of Burgessville, one of a committee, which has been investigating the proposal, was elected to the chair and he called upon H. D. Cowan of Peterboro, secretary of the company, to make a statement as to the plan which was proposed.

Mr. Cowan outlined the beginnings and growth of the company as a war measure, for the protection of the farmers, and said that through it the patrons were able to get a larger share of the price of their cheese. He said that he had not come to ask the factories to bind themselves to the scheme, but only to discuss it and to have them give the company something on which to work so that they would know if it would be worth while to set up a central selling place in Western Ontario.

Reports Methods.

W. W. Moore, salesman for the company in Montreal, gave a detailed report of the methods it used in selling the cheese and said that by these methods it was possible to secure a higher price for the cheese and to have keener competition in buying, which would be for the benefit of the factories. He said that the cost of this selling organization to the factories was five cents per box of cheese or roughly one-sixteenth of a cent per pound.

The big advantage was that the cheese was graded by government inspectors and sold according to grades so that there could be no cut by the buyers on account of poor quality cheese.

There was a lengthy discussion on the subject. Most of those present were of the opinion that the cheese board method was obsolete and charged that the buyers made agreement amongst themselves not to bid against each other. All of those who spoke, with the exception of John Youngs of Brooksdale, favored the adoption of some scheme for improving marketing conditions of cheese. Mr. Youngs said that the middleman should be eliminated altogether, as from his factory alone the commission to the middleman would amount to two hundred dollars a year. Mr. Hughes in reply, stated that the Brooksdale factory by trying to sell its own product was getting a lower price than the others, and was helping to give a good living to several men in Ingersoll district who went around buying cheese. Finally the following resolution was formulated and put to the meeting:

Pass Resolution.

"Resolved that this meeting of representatives of the cheese factories of Western Ontario indorse the scheme for government grading and collective marketing of cheese as outlined by the representatives of the United Dairymen's Co-operative Limited, and that we go back to our respective factories and ascertain the opinion of our patrons, and that we further favor the appointment of a committee of this meeting to go more into details, looking to a consummation in Western Ontario of the plan outlined."

Twenty voted in favor of the resolution, ten others refraining from voting. The following were appointed to the committee:

Woodstock district—Peter Hughes, Burgessville; E. Moulton, Mount Elgin; Jos. Poole, Salford; F. H. Harris, Mount Elgin; J. T. Talbot, Vandecar; E. Potter, Bright.

Listowel district—Donald Jacks, Jas. Newbigging and Mr. Richmond.

London district—M. G. Lamonte and two others yet to be named.

This committee will investigate conditions regarding storage facilities, and this will enable the company to set a figure on the amount of cheese necessary to make the proposition pay. If this amount can be secured they will proceed to establish a selling center in Western Ontario.

Chicago, July 12.—Apprehension over continued rains delaying harvest led to fresh upturns in the price of wheat today during the early transactions. At first, however, the market was bearishly affected by talk of a better outlook for settlement of the railroad strike. The subsequent rallies derived some of their impetus from reports of some damage by black rust in Minnesota. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ¾c lower, were followed by a rise all around to above yesterday's finish.

Corn and oats displayed independent firmness, owing to gossip that exporters were after corn.

Wheat—July, $1 15⅛; Sept., $1 14⅛.

Ingersoll and Oxford Agriculture Society Holds Field Crop Competition.

Special to London Advertiser.

INGERSOLL, July 11.—Winners of the standing field crop competition for fall wheat, conducted by the Ingersoll, North and West Oxford Agricultural Society, were announced today. There were fifteen contestants, and the seven prizes will be awarded to the following in the order in which the names are given: W. J. Stephenson, North Oxford; George Wilson, West Oxford; James Raymond, North Oxford; Robert Harris, West Oxford; R. J. Mitchell, Dereham; Arlington D. Robinson, West Oxford; D. W. Osmond, West Oxford. The judging was done by E. I. McLoughry, B.S.A., of Markdale.

In one or two cases the judge reported some damage by the Hessian fly, and one contestant's crop was destroyed by hail.

The death of Frances Janes Patterson occurred today in North Oxford at the home of her brother, Beatty Patterson. She was in her 79th year, and had been ill for some time. She was born in the township and spent all her life there. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon to the Ingersoll Rural Cemetery.

STUDIES GRAIN MARKETING CONDITIONS IN CANADA

Hon. A. K. Trethowan of Australia Suggests Committee of Experts to Represent Each Country.

REGINA, Sask., July 11.—To learn the views of grain marketing of the Saskatchewan government and to place before him his plan for international co-operation in wheat marketing methods, Hon. A. K. Trethowan, president of the Federated Farmers' organizations of Australia, held a conference with Premier Dunning.

Hon. Mr. Trethowan, who visited England, is now touring Canada and the United States studying grain marketing methods. He holds the view that a committee composed of marketing experts of the great grain producing countries of the world, Canada, Australia, United States and Argentina, should be appointed to study the needs of the markets of the world, and work together in advising the producing countries as to the conditions obtaining at different times, the seasons for selling, and the times when grain should be withheld to prevent a surplus on the market.

SCHANZER STATES ISSUE CLARIFIED

ROME, July 11.—Foreign Minister Schanzer addressed the foreign affairs committee of the Chamber of Deputies today, saying that his conversations at London, whence he has just returned, brought about a distinct clarification of the situation between Italy and England.

OPERATORS NOT TO ACT ON MINISTER'S ADVICE

CALGARY, July 11.—That the suggestions of the minister of labor in his recent telegram to the representative of the department in Calgary do not offer any satisfactory grounds for resumption of work is the opinion of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association. The Knowles' finding, it is pointed out, would not make it possible for association mines to secure business and consequently would not give the men work.

Life and Character Reading.

JULY 12.

The governing sign of this birthdate is Cancer, known as the crab. The governing planet is the moon, which gives each individual a changeable and somewhat fickle nature.

The men of this date can be very vindictive, cruel and are exceedingly quick to resent personal criticism. The women are exceedingly fickle and inconstant, and on this account are seldom happily married. They are exacting in their constancy of others, and appear to be quite unaware of their own derelictions in this respect.

The diseases most likely to attack people of this birth will be weak digestion and gastric troubles, but these ailments can be overcome if you will acknowledge that the mind is master of the body.

HAMS AND BEAVERS SPLIT LAST BILL

Cal's Crew Take First, But Beavers Take Short Contest.

HAMILTON, July 11.—Hamilton and Kitchener wound up the first half of the M.-O. season this afternoon with a double-header, each getting one. The Hamiltons with Sullivan pitching took the first by 7 to 3, but the Beavers got revenge on Ainsworth and won the short one by 6 to 5. Ainsworth was batted out of the box in the fourth inning, Hughes finishing. Hamilton rallied in the ninth, but, with two out and two on the paths, Manager Pierce sent Marty Glynn to pitch to Oakes, and he forced him to hit an easy popper to short for the third out. Will Abolish Hereditary Right of Peers To Seat in House of Lords

LONDON, July 11.—The full cabinet met today to decide certain aspects of the House of Lords' reform problem which may have an important bearing on the result of the next general election, which cannot be delayed many months longer.

The cabinet has been divided on this question for some time past, but it was stated today in an authoritative quarter that a compromise had been reached between the opposing factions whereby greater powers will be granted to the Lords, but the veto imposed after Lloyd George's famous campaign of 1910 will remain.

The principal alteration in the composition of the upper chamber is the abolition of hereditary right to sit in the Lords, for the new bill provides that at least a portion of the upper house shall be selected, although it is not definitely settled what shall be the machinery of choice.

Selected peers will then proceed to elect the remainder from among their number who are distinguished in various walks of life or have performed eminent service to the state.

As a result of this the number of the new house will fall appreciably below its present membership.

ASKS FREEDOM FROM ASYLUM

Wealthy Montreal Woman Charges She Was Kidnapped On City Street.

Defense Claims Her Only Offense Was "Communicating With Spirits."

MONTREAL, July 11.—Sir Conan Doyle, Flammarion and other world-renowned spiritualists will be invoked in defense of Mrs. Ernestine Menard, wife of Yvon Lamontagne, a Montreal lawyer, who complains that last Wednesday she was attacked by three men on the public street, gagged, thrown into an automobile and driven off to an asylum at Longue Pointe.

Mrs. Lamontagne's only offence, according to the record put into court by the defense, is that "she comunicated with the spirits."

The case has all the elements of a cause celebre, for, not only is the complainant a wealthy woman in her own right, but her family is one of distinction in the city, her father having been a renowned architect, builder of the Montreal court house and of several large Catholic churches, while through their marriages her sisters are also well connected.

Mrs. Lamontagne has petitioned, through her lawyer, Pierre Ledieu, K.C., for the issue of a writ of habeas corpus on which she might plead before the court for liberation from the institution in which she claims she is now being detained illegally and against her will.

Habeas Corpus Writ.

The application was heard before Justice Lafontaine in the superior court, and the judge ordered the writ of habeas corpus to issue against the authorities in charge of the asylum to bring the petitioner to court and state on what authority they detained her against her will.

Mrs. Lamontagne was accordingly brought to court yesterday, before Justice Martineau, who postponed the case till Thursday, meantime ordering the asylum authorities to take the greatest care of the petitioner and treat her as if she were a free woman.

The story of the kidnapping of Mrs. Lamontagne was told today by her lawyer, Mr. Ledieu, who said that on July 5, as she was returning from a visit to her sister, she was pounced on by three unknown men who gagged her, carried her into a waiting automobile and drove her off to Longue Pointe, where she was placed in an asylum.

There had been no court proceedings against the petitioner, and her abduction was characterized by counsel as illegal in view of the fact that she is sane, according to the contention.

It appears, however, that Mrs. Lamontagne's committal to an asylum was legal in the sense that the law stipulates that a person can be committed to an asylum on the written authority of two medical men, and a certificate of insanity was given the husband by Dr. Chagnon and Dr. Dupont.

The civil code of Quebec, however, orders that, in the event of such a certificate being given, the procedure is to call a family council and, after discussing the affair, bring it before the court, the presiding judge of which will hear the evidence produced by the family council, and order a committal to an asylum if he agrees that the complaint is justified.

In this case no such procedure was adopted, it is alleged, and Mr. Ledieu, the petitioner's counsel, claiming that the petitioner is in her right mind, argues that the committal under such circumstances is barbarous and unworthy of a civilized country.

"It is worse than the days of the Bastille," he said. "Even the king has no right to commit a person without a charge against them, and what is an asylum but a jail?"

FORM $1,000,000 RADIO CONCERN

That interest in radio is going to bring a great many industries to Canada is shown by the forming of Jewett Radio-Phonographs, Limited, a million-dollar corporation, which has just leased a factory in Walkerville, Ontario.

At the head of this is Mr. E. H. Jewett, one of the leaders of the Paige Detroit Motor Car Company, and president of Jewett, Bigelow & Brooks Coal Company, one of the largest coal mining corporations in the United States.

Mr. Jewett is going to market in Canada a very unique invention called a radio-phonograph, which consists of an especially high-grade phonograph with a wireless receiving station built into it, so that it will be possible to play the phonograph or turn a switch and hear a real band playing, an artist singing, or some well-known lecturer discoursing on some important subject.

WANT WATERWAYS PLAN ON ST. LAWRENCE PROBED

YORKTON, Sask., July 11.—At a public meeting called here last night by the board of trade to discuss rural credits and marketing problems, a resolution was passed requesting Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King carefully to investigate the report of the international joint waterways commission on the St. Lawrence scheme, and, if its recommendations are based on correct information, to take the necessary steps to set the project of the improvement of the St. Lawrence River for navigation purposes under way with the least possible delay.

WILL CONFER ON UNIFORM LAWS

Complete Program For Fifth Annual Conference At Vancouver.

Commission Comprises Three From Each Province Except Quebec.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 11.—(By Canadian Press).—The program has been completed for the fifth annual conference of commissioners on the uniformity of legislation in Canada, whose sesoons will occupy four days prior to the convention of the Canadian Bar Association here on Aug. 16.

During the first two days the commissioners will meet in Victoria, and the final two days in Vancouver.

The commission comprises three representatives from each province, except Quebec, whose representation is limited to one. The distinction in the case of Quebec is due to the difficulty of harmonizing the French-Canadian law, or Code Napoleon, with those of the English-speaking provinces.

The president of the conference is Sir James Aikins, K.C., lieutenant-governor of Manitoba, and president of the Canadian Bar Association.

The conference met for the first time in Montreal on Sept. 3, 1918, the next year in Winnipeg, and the ensuing two years in Ottawa.

The organization, although little is heard of it, is important and deliberates and formulates uniform law for adoption by the various provinces.

Since its inauguration it has drafted a warehousemen's lien act which has been ratified by the English-speaking provinces, and has also succeeded in persuading the legislatures of those provinces to place on the statute books a uniform law regarding legitimation by subsequent marriage, and has made uniform the bulk sale, the sale of goods and partnership acts.

The conference fire insurance act is expected to be adopted by the British Columbia Legislature at the next session.

At the August meeting reports will be received from the Ontario committee on a uniform life insurance act, from the Saskatchewan committee on the devolution of estates from the British Columbia committee on the reciprocal enforcement of judgments and also conditional sales; from the Alberta committee on wills and mechanic liens; from the Nova Scotia committee on succession duties; from the Manitoba committee on companies; from the New Brunswick committee on workmen's compensation; and from the Prince Edward Island committee on fraudulent conveyances.

These matters are, in nearly all instances, dealt with by the provinces in their own laws, and the object of the conference is to make these laws uniform, and so avoid confusion and contribute to convenience.

The British Columbia members last year submitted a report on the protection of property rights of married women, and this report is to be again considered at the August meeting.

The intention in drafting a uniform life insurance act is primarily to make uniform the conditions attached to life insurance policies.

Windsor Bride Swallows Poison To Cure Corns.

WINDSOR, July 11.—Mrs. Cora Gladys Wilson, aged 18, is lying seriously ill here as the result of taking poison, according to her own story, as a cure for corns. She did not know it was poisonous to the stomach, she says. Her marriage took place a year ago, but she has been separated from her husband for nine months. According to the police, the husband and wife had a stormy interview on Saturday last.

BRITISH PREPARE FOR BIG TWELFTH

Signs of Unrest Prevail As Boyne Celebration Approaches.

LONDON, July 11. — Flags were everywhere in evidence tonight in preparation for tomorrow's Orange commemoration of the Battle of the Boyne between the Williamites and Jacobites in 1690. Pictures of Field Marshal Sir Henry H. Wilson, who was assassinated in London about three weeks ago, are conspicuous in the decorations.

At all the demonstrations in the provinces resolutions will be put condemning in the strongest manner possible all unlawful acts of violence, deploring the anarchy prevailing in the greater part of Ireland, expressing alarm at the jeopardy in which lives and property of co-religionists in South Ireland are placed, and demanding that adequate steps be taken at once to secure peace and security, and calling upon the Northern government to adopt without delay all possible means to secure the safety and integrity of the six counties against all aggression. The resolutions will pledge support to the government to achieve this end.

In the Garrick Hill area there are signs of unrest, which is considered ominous in view of tomorrow's celebration. Amity street, which belies its name, was the scene of an attempt to kill a girl this morning. Several persons were wounded.

The officials say the murder campaign in Belfast now is being effectively dealt with.

TO RATIFY CHOICE OF GAS REFEREES

TORONTO, July 11.—Appointment of Warden J. W. Ward of Kent County, and C. E. Steele, general manager of the Port Colborne Gas Company, to the board of referees which will have control of natural gas throughout the province, will be ratified by order-in-council today. Hon. Harry Mills, minister of mines, stated today that he expected that if the two members were going to reach an agreement with regard to the name of the third member of the board they would do so within the next few days.

He stated that if they disagreed as to the appointment of a third member he would appoint one himself.
