BATTLE COMING

Between British and Boers in the Orange Free State.

GENERAL ACTIVITY HAS BEEN RENEWED

Trenches and Fortifications Extending Around Pretoria.

MINES UNDER JOHANNESBURG

Lord Kitchener Will Get a Command and a Bride at the Same Time.

London, April 23, via Skagway, April 28.—Notwithstanding the fact that dispatches from the seat of war are meagre and unsatisfactory, they clearly indicate a renewal of activity at all points. The chief points of interest now are Weper and De Wet's Dorp, south of Bloemfontein, at both of which points important engagements are anticipated within a very short time. The Boers have renewed operations in several places and it is now believed that their forces in the Orange Free State have been considerably underestimated. It is impossible to secure an intelligent estimate of affairs from Bloemfontein, but reports have been received which indicate that the Boers are circling to the west and have been encountered in several smaller engagements.

An unsubstantiated report has been received of the death of Gen. Dewet.

Fortifying Pretoria.
London, April 22, via Skagway, April 28.—All available Boer forces at Pretoria are now engaged in fortifying the city and extending the entrenchments. A series of the latter has been extended around the capital until a distance of eight miles from the city limits has been reached. The Boers expect to be able to withstand a siege for an indefinite length of time.

Mines at Johannesburg.
London, April 22, via Skagway, April 28.—Twenty-five mines have been charged with dynamite beneath the city of Johannesburg. All the forts guarding the approach to the town have been dismantled.

To Be Governor.
London, April 22, via Skagway, April 28.—It is authentically reported that Sir Chas. Warren will be appointed governor of the Orange Free State. Civil government will be instituted as soon as possible.

Kitchener to Marry.
London, April 22, via Skagway, April 28.—The announcement is made that Lord Kitchener is to marry Mrs. James Brown Potter, the actress. The lady recently secured a divorce from her former husband. Kitchener will shortly be given an important independent command.

The Carter Bill.
Seattle, April 23, via Skagway, April 28.—Private dispatches just received from Senator Foster state that the Carter Alaska bill will undoubtedly pass the senate and become a law by the first of June.

Minstrels May Repeat.
There is a movement on foot to give another minstrel show with the same talent as that enlisted in the entertainment of Thursday night, which entertainment was a success far beyond the most sanguine expectations of its promoters. In case it is repeated, an entire new program will be presented, and new features will be introduced. There is no doubt but that a good house will again greet the production in the event it is billed.

Awaiting Fuller's Arrival.
The matter of beginning work on the construction of the proposed new post office building will not be moved in until the arrival of the superintendent of construction of the postal department, Mr. Fuller, and it is improbable that he will arrive before the opening of navigation.

Training for the Match.
Dick Case and Phil Smith are training hard for the coming go at the Palace Grand next Friday night. Both men are in splendid physical condition, and while everyone concedes the cleverness of Case, many claim he is going to run up against it with Smith, as he stands punishment as though he likes it, and outweighs his man some 25 pounds. Under any circumstances the go will be an exciting and interesting exhibition.

TAYLOR INDICTED

By a Grand Jury in Kentucky for the Murder of Goebel.

THE INDICTMENT WILL BE HELD

Until the Supreme Court Decides Gubernatorial Contest.

COLSON IS NOT GUILTY.

All Nations Represented at the Ecumenical Conference in New York City.

Frankfort, Ky., April 22, via Skagway April 28.—The investigation into the assassination of the late Gov. Goebel has been completed and the grand jury has returned an indictment against Gov. Taylor. The indictment will be held until after the argument over the contest for the governorship, which will take place at Washington City before the supreme court on April 30th.

Colson Acquitted.
Frankfort, Ky., April 23, via Skagway, April 28.—Ex-Congressman D. C. Colson has been acquitted of the charge of murdering Lieut. Eshelbert F. Scott, Luther Demaree and Chas. Julian. The men were bystanders during a shooting scrape in which Colson was engaged in the capital hotel. Colson was arrested, and after a trial lasting four days was found "not guilty." The affair grew out of the gubernatorial fight.

By Conference.
New York, April 22, via Skagway April 28.—Nearly every civilized nation in the world is represented at the ecumenical conference on foreign missions now in progress in this city. President McKinley and Gov. Roosevelt are among the speakers who will make addresses. Ex-President Harrison is the honorary president of the conference.

Probably Recalled.
London, April 22, via Skagway, April 28.—No recent information has been given out concerning Gen. Buller, but no doubt is expressed as to his removal.

Settling Old Scores.
During the winter when the time and attention of all the dogs in Dawson were taken in freighting and dodging blows from cruel drivers, they had very little time in which to adjust their own differences. Now it is different; the dogs have plenty of time to settle old scores, and dog fights are now seen a dozen of times every day, and as the weather increases in warmth, the pugacity will probably increase.

Arctic Brotherhood.
A full meeting of A. B.'s were present at McDonald hall last night at the regular weekly meeting of Camp Dawson No. 4. As it was the occasion for the nomination of candidates to be elected at the next meeting to fill the respective offices for the ensuing six months, the work of conferring the degree was dispensed with, and all candidates who were to surmount the obstacles of the trail last night will be "treated" at the next meeting. The following members of Camp Skagway were received by card as members of Dawson Camp: L. L. Jones, William Edward Burritt, C. B. Zabrinski and Sam L. Stanley. When nomination of candidates to fill the various offices was in order numerous were the names suggested; but when the list was finally complete, and the "respectfully decline" portion of the business over, the records showed the following:

For arctic chief, Dr. I. O. Wilcoxon; vice-arctic chief, Sergeant A. McIntosh; arctic recorder, E. J. White; keeper of nuggets, Rudy Kalenborn; trustees, Messrs. Shindler, Hobbs, Wild, McRae and Cowan. The title of past arctic chief was conferred upon E. J. Fitzpatrick, who has ably filled the chair during the greater part of the closing term. The minor offices are filled by appointment from the chair.

The Maud Lloyd Benefit.
Mr. Wm. Thomas of the committee having in charge the concert last Sunday night for the purpose of raising money to defray expenses incident to the sickness and death of the late Maud Lloyd, submits the following report: Gross receipts of Sunday night concert, $506.75. Expenses, hall rent, $100; printing and advertising, $45.50; telephone message to Forks, $2.50; leaving total net receipts of $448.25. With this money paid the following bills for which the committee have receipts:

Undertaker Green, $335; Catholic church, $35; room rent owed by deceased, $75; leaving a balance of $3.25 in the hands of the committee, which will be either used as a nucleus from which to start a fund for the purpose of a headstone or be donated to some other deserving cause. The committee having charge of the late benefit is to be congratulated on the eminently successful manner in which it was carried through, and on the promptness with which the business portion of it has been transacted, and on the highly satisfactory results of its laudable undertaking.

A Bowling Puzzle.
Bowling enthusiasts are invited to submit solutions for the following: A, B and C play a game of five frames. A gives B a handicap of two pins, otherwise the game is played as usual. Without reference to the handicap, the score at the end of the game stands as follows: A, 11; B, 10; C, 10. B is therefore tied with C, but holds a score of 12 against A's score of 11. The question is who plays for the game?

Fannie Hall Recovering.
Fannie Hall, the well-known variety actress, who was shot in a San Francisco hotel during the winter is rapidly recovering. She had three bullet wounds, only one of which, however, proved serious. Recent reports received by friends in Dawson state that she will soon be able to return to the stage, if she so desires.

Wrestling at the Forks.
Tonight there will be a wrestling match at the Forks, between Jack Lamont and H. L. Stull. The match will be for two out of three falls in a catch-as-catch-can bout and will be held in the big B. & M. tent. Considerable interest has been manifested in the bout and a good crowd is anticipated.

Busy on the Creeks.
The various creeks and Dawson are not now in such close touch as during the past few months, when there was plenty of travel between them over good roads. Now, it is a hard and exhaustive journey to go out even a distance of 10 miles; and the result is that few persons are going from the city to the creeks, and fewer are coming from the creeks to the city, as all who are interested in dumps are now camping by them in preparation for the annual pay day.

Take Notice.
All persons working for me on Monte Cristo beach will please call at the Melbourne Hotel and receive payment in full. EDWARD MCCONNELL. P28-25

CENSUS TAKING

Chicago's Plan Has Been Adopted in all Cities in the United States.

WORK BEGINS ON THE FIRST OF JUNE

Director Merriam Has Completed All Details.

CITIES ALLOWED 14 DAYS.

Country Districts Given Until July First, When All Sheets Must Be In.

Chicago, April 25.—Chicago's plan for taking the national census in large cities has been adopted by Director of the Census Merriam. This plan was devised by the local supervisor of the census, George F. Gilbert, and submitted to the authorities at Washington as an improvement upon the plan of 1890. The scheme now in force provides that the national census in cities shall be taken under the direction of the chief supervisor. Next in authority are the supervisors for each of the congressional districts within the city limits. Underneath them are supervisors for each ward within the city. Last come the enumerators for each election precinct, save where the precinct is so large that two enumerators must be assigned to it. Director Merriam and Supervisor Gilbert believe that this division of the work will secure a more accurate and complete enumeration of the population of large cities than has ever been secured before.

Under this plan Chicago has one chief supervisor, seven congressional supervisors, 36 ward chiefs and 1137 enumerators. For Chicago and Cook county there will be 1190 enumeration districts. On June 1, 1900, the tremendous task of taking the national census commences. In cities the work of enumeration must be completed within two weeks after that date. In counties and remote areas of population four weeks will be allowed for the enumeration. Before July 1st many tally sheets will have been completed and work of totalizing enumeration will be well under way.

Improving First Avenue.
Sergeant Wilson has a team busy hauling gravel from the beach and filling in the hollows on First avenue. The work will be continued until the street is well covered with gravel. Sergeant Wilson takes a personal pride in seeing the appearance of the town improved, and has been indefatigable in carrying the good work on.

SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1900.

AN ILLUSTRATION.

An illustration of the workings of our Yukon mining laws has recently come under our notice. It concerns the regulation whereby unrepresented ground reverts to the crown, and demonstrates how completely the business of prospecting has been killed throughout the territory.

In the spring and summer of '98, hundreds of men poled their way up the Stewart river and its tributaries, some going as far as the headwaters of the McQueen.

The result was that nearly the entire country was staked and recorded, although it appears that a small amount only of actual prospecting was done. Few of the stamperers who swarmed over the country outstayed the approach of cold weather, and most of them came down to Dawson. Very few ever went back to represent their ground, and in the fullness of time, and by the grace of Siftonian laws, practically the entire territory in question has reverted to the crown.

Now, it has happened that genuine prospectors are desirous of going into the Stewart district, with the expectation of proving the value or worthlessness of creeks staked by the stamperers of '98. Their purpose, however, is defeated before they leave Dawson, for they have no right to prospect or locate on ground which has once been recorded, although the original owners may have abandoned it more than two years ago.

When the original locations were made, half the ground had to be reserved for the crown, under the alternate claim regulation. Now the remaining half has become crown property by reason of non-representation.

Thus it results, as noted above, that a district, comprising hundreds of square miles of territory, is shut off from the prospector, through whom, and through whom alone, the worth of the country, if worth it has, can ever be demonstrated.

Were it not for existing laws, there is scarcely a creek from the Hootalinqua to Fortymile which would not be alive with prospectors during the approaching summer.

Wide-awake and progressive business men in Dawson are rapidly adopting the business methods which prevail in the large commercial centers of the outside. A glance at the advertising columns of the Nugget shows that the value of printer's ink is becoming every day more generally appreciated. Special sales and attractive prices are being offered and other inducements held out to purchasers, all of which goes to show that Dawson has passed the frontier era, and become a bustling, enterprising business center, where competition is keen, and where advanced business methods are absolutely essential to success. There is no stimulant for business so sure and quick to bring results as judicious advertising. This fact is now thoroughly recognized by all of our best business houses.

The activity which the Boers have displayed in the southern part of the Orange Free State is surprising. While they do not appear to be in sufficient force to effect any very serious results, they have required so much attention that the advance into the Transvaal has been considerably delayed. This delay has enabled Kruger to fortify and intrench the Boer capital much more strongly than he would have been able to do under other circumstances. The result will be that Roberts' task will be prolonged somewhat longer than he originally anticipated.

From the activity which now prevails all over town in the matter of cleaning up streets and back yards, Dawson will soon be a town with an enviable record for cleanliness. Tin cans, heaps and garbage piles are disappearing in a remarkable manner, and well known old eyesores, which, by reason of age, have become almost historic, will soon be known only in memory. The fact that cleanliness, from time immemorial, has been associated with Godliness, leads us to imagine that Dawson may not be far away from experiencing a religious revival.

Some of our enterprising hotel men should start a boom for Dawson as a winter resort for Nome millionaires. There are all sorts of winter attractions in this good metropolis of the Klondike, which ought to enable the wealthy Nomad to get rid of his surplus beach dust just as rapidly as he may desire. Dawson is nearer to Nome than Seattle, which fact, combined with various and sundry other inducements, ought to make us a strong competitor for the winter resort business.

The next few weeks, pending the clean-up season and the renewal of water communication with the outside world, will probably be somewhat quiet in Dawson. Every man who can get a job is now on the creeks, upon several of which active clean-up operations are already well under way.

Steamboats on the Seattle-Skagway run have a happy faculty of reaching the latter point about the middle of the afternoon, so that press dispatches begin coming into Dawson about 7 o'clock in the evening.

Lord Kitchener is winning a bride, as well as lots of glory, by his South African achievements.

His Awful Sorrow.
A man was seen leaving his model dwelling while from the window above his wife poured after him ceaseless volleys of what is politely known as "langwidge." But in the enthusiasm of her eloquence she leaned out too far and fell on to the pavement.

A horrified spectator hurried after the husband with the news. As he was breaking it the man, with face full of suppressed feeling, murmured: "Don't make me laugh. I've got a cracked lip."—London Chronicle.

STROLLER'S COLUMN

Though business at the various club rooms in the city has been dull during the past week, still there has been a number of plunging plays at infrequent intervals. Quite recently a couple of prominent business men booked a $5000 losing at a single sitting against the roulette wheel in the synagogue. A few nights ago, Jim Wilson and the "Pick 'Em Up Kid" made some high side bets at faro bank; several times the sum of $500 was placed on the result of a single turn. Eventually the bank succeeded in winning the greater share of the money, which had been wagered between the players. The Kid quit $3000 loser, and Wilson profited to the extent of about $400. The sports anticipate a revival in gambling affairs during the next three weeks. Immediately after the opening of navigation, the First avenue resorts expect to enjoy a more profitable business than is now being experienced.

After the minstrel show at the Palace Grand on Thursday night, the professional performers and employees of the theater displayed remarkable activity in commencing the regular vaudeville entertainment. The amateurs who had participated in the cake-walking contest had just reached the flies of the stage, when the curtain rose and Bessie Pierce appeared in her contortion turn. Most of the auditors were standing in front of their seats, preparatory to leaving the house, when the wonderful feats of Bessie attracted their attention. Some persons who had attended the charitable performance, resumed their places and remained till the conclusion of the vaudeville show. A number of ladies, who had not anticipated the program of the management were quite surprised at the sudden appearance of the comely Bessie, attired in a costume which did not conceal the outlines of a symmetrical figure.

Reports which have been received here recently concerning the condition of affairs at Nome, are tending to allay the excitement which was quite prevalent some time ago. The actual facts appear to be that all the ground of the principal creeks, within a radius of 100 miles of Nome, has been staked; that some of the claims have been developed into valuable properties; but that the vast majority of the locations are absolutely worthless, except for speculative purposes. It seems to be generally conceded by the correspondents at Nome that the beach diggings have been practically exhausted. The new camp is probably rich enough to support two or three thousand people; but the mineral resources of the Alaskan shore will prove a grievous disappointment to the major portion of those persons who will venture there next summer.

The very best makeup on the stage on the occasion of the minstrel show Thursday night was that of little Miss Ruth McCormack. It was not overdrawn, but was just such a costume as is seen on pickaninies at May pole festivities and church "festivals" all over the Gulf States, where the children go without clothes until four or five years of age, when they are started in the world with a yellow dress.

The Stroller was one time a passenger on a crowded train on the Macon & Brunswick road in Southern Georgia, and being in his callow youth, greatly enjoyed the privilege of sharing a seat with a beautiful young Southern girl from Tallahassee, Florida, who was returning to her home from a three years' attendance at a northern college for young ladies.

As the almost square car wheels pounded the track through the turpentine camps which are very numerous in that part of Georgia, my seatmate became imbued with that happy spirit which pervades a person when nearing the old home after a long period of absence; especially when that person is the petted daughter of a loving household, as was the case with my companion of recent acquaintance. As the aroma of her native land was wafted to her through the open window she became quite exuberant, exclaiming: "I am glad to return to the South once more, wheah everything looks to me to natural; wheah the pine trees, the palmetto and even the niggabs look so natural."

The lumbering, click-ety-klack of the train had attracted a large family of children who just then rushed from a cabin to see "de kyers" pass, and of the eight or ten who rushed out, only three wore any clothes.

And when the Stroller vounteered the remark: "Yes, indeed, the niggers do look quite natural," the beautiful young lady from Tallahassee tilted her nose, turned her back to her seatmate as much as circumstances would permit and never a word said she. After a few minutes of silence, broken only by the click-ety-klack of the square car wheels, the young lady's seatmate was seized with a yearning after a smoke, which he went forward to take, but which he did not enjoy.

INDIAN DHOOLIE BEARERS.

Are Doing Yeoman-Service in South Africa.

They Are Not Fighters, But Good in Caring for Sick, Wounded and Dead.

Some of the hardest worked men in the British army are the members of the field ambulance corps. This is owing to the terrible execution done by the Boer sharpshooters. After such battles as that at Stormberg, Magersfontein or Modder river, where the British casualties ran up into the hundreds, scores of wounded soldiers were left on the field. It was the duty of the ambulance corps to go out and gather these in, and whenever this has been possible it has been done.

There is nothing inspiring about this aspect of war. It is a dreadful part of the business. Of course the ambulance bearers become accustomed and hardened to the sight of blood and wounded men, but they do not go about their work with the enthusiasm and dash of the men who do the killing.

Men seldom enlist for this work. When they join as recruits, they expect to carry rifles and help win victories. They do not anticipate clearing a field of the traces of a bloody fray. But it is a business of necessity, so a certain number of men from each regiment is detailed for ambulance duty.

These men are trained in the simple principles of first aid to the wounded and are taught how to improvise stretchers, bandages and crutches. They learn how to make a tourniquet out of a stick and a handkerchief—a tourniquet that will stop the flow of lifeblood—and they learn how to take a helpless man back to the field surgeon's tent.

The field ambulance corps of the British army is exceptionally well drilled. The men learned the theory of the business at Aldershot. Since they have been fighting the Boers they have had many opportunities of putting those theories into practice.

But the most picturesque and interesting branch of this corps is the body of Indian dhoolie bearers, which was sent from Bombay at the beginning of the war. A dhoolie is an Indian ambulance. It is really a big basket slung in the middle of a long bamboo pole. These baskets are about 6 feet long and 2 feet deep. A man can stretch out in one quite comfortably. Over the basket is a light framework on which can be stretched a covering to keep off the sun or rain.

The dhoolie bearers are mild-eyed, meek, patient, strong-limbed natives of India. They are not fighting men, but they are willing to go on the field of battle and remove wounded sufferers under the flag of the Red Cross—and for a price. They are the finest ambulance carriers in the world. They are gentle as women and know how to handle a wounded man so as to give him the least possible pain.

When they have loaded him into the dhoolie and dropped the curtains, they put the poles across their shoulders and trot away with an easy step which gives only a gentle swing to the basket. An uninjured man who rides in a dhoolie drops off into peaceful slumber and dreams he is a sea gull riding on the waves. The wounded man almost forgets his pain.

These Indian dhoolie bearers are brave, too. During some of the recent battles in South Africa they have repeatedly gone on the field under a hot fire to bring in wounded men. Many of them have been shot, but this seems to have made no difference to the rest. They are like immortal Gunga Din, the Indian water carrier whom Kipling has described. You remember how Tommy Atkins appreciated the services of Gunga Din:

Though I've cursed you and I've flayed you,
By the living God that made you,
You're a better man than I am, Gunga Din.

Little, but Spunky.
A Gilbert avenue car was slowly gliding down Walnut street to Fifth one rainy evening last week. It was wet and soggy on the rear platform, where several men stood, as usual, thinking more of their cigars than the comfort of being inside the vehicle, and every man looked as irritable as he felt. Every few paces a wet umbrella would be swung around the guard, to be immediately followed by its owner, who, being a regular patron of the Gilbert avenue line, knew that if he got standing room on the car he must needs get in ahead of the crowd at Fifth and Walnut. Half way down the block one of those arrogant, authoritative individuals so often met with jabbed his umbrella against a little man just in front of him and rudely bumped him as he scrambled up on the platform, growling about people being so slow and asking the little man, with fine sarcasm, if he was paralyzed.

"No, I ain't," said the small fellow, who was well dressed and apparently a gentleman, "but some one else will be in about a minute." He was getting red in the face as his indignation swelled and glared savagely at the lordly one. "Don't go jabbing me with your cheap umbrella, you big stiff, or I'll smash your face. I got out of your way as quick as I could."

The lordly one was plainly surprised as well as bluffed and hastily asked the other's pardon, not perhaps for his rudeness, but for underestimating the small man's spirit.

"Yes," said the little man, still glaring threateningly, "pardon—pardon. You're one of those big bluffers who insult people and then when you're called you sneak behind excuses."

No more was said, but everybody looked admiringly at the little man and smiled contemptuously at the lordly one, whose arrogance had been transformed into two spot humility.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Sizes in Shoes.

"Very few shoe wearers probably know that a size in shoes is only one-third of an inch in length," explained a shoe dealer to the writer recently. "This doesn't seem much, and yet to many women it is a momentous affair. Two inches in a waist or bust measurement are not as apparent as one-third of an inch in the foot, for in the latter it is direct or lineal increase.

"The distaste for increasing the size of our shoes becomes more pronounced as we ascend the scale of the size stick. A woman who has habitually worn a No. 3 shoe, when necessity demands can don a 3½ without great sacrifice. She will retain the integral number 3, which in some measure compensates her for the added fraction, but a new integer, No. 4, is distasteful by reason of its formidable sound.

"If shoes, like hats, could be graded by eighths of an inch, she could take refuge in a 3 7/8 shoe and yet be comparatively happy. From No. 4½ to No. 5 is still a greater trial to feminine nerves, and in the realm of 6's—well, few women speak of that size to any one else but the dealer."—Washington Star.

Boer Women Help.

New York, April 6.—The World correspondent at Pretoria, Howard Hillegas, has sent a long letter in which he gives an interesting and thrilling story of the way in which the Boer women are helping their husbands, sons and brothers in the war: "The world knows no finer example of heroism than that exhibited by 14 women on one of the five days' fighting around Spionkop," he says. "A strictly family party of Boers, 14 men and their wives, were entrenched in one position and held it with amazing bravery against a small force of British. For a long time the men fought incessantly and kept their wives busy reloading their rifles. Finally 50 British soldiers with fixed bayonets charged on the entrenchment. As they came closer, the Boer men crept over the earthworks, while the women began shooting to hammer back the British soldiers. Before their wives' eyes every one of the 14 Boers was killed, bayoneted or shot. The 14 women, so quickly widowed, never thought of surrender, but fought most valiantly and coolly for half an hour, until the British surrounded them. Scores of women have been in every commando's laager. They have visited only one that has been within her rifles and bandoliers—Mrs. Joubert, wife of the commander-general of the Transvaal forces. Try to imagine a bride and groom going to war on their honeymoon. When I left Pretoria for the front a friend introduced me to a young Boer couple, who were going on the same train and who had been married but a week. I thought my friend was joking when he said they were going to fight the British, although both Boer man and wife, had Mauser rifles and each wore three bandoliers, two over their shoulders and one around the waist. When the train reached the end of the line, a short distance north of Ladysmith, Mme. Boer alighted with her husband, assisted in taking two horses from the last car of the train and rode away toward one of the laagers in the distance. The presence of the women puts spirit into the men and keeps them from becoming homesick and despondent. These warrior women are the first to insist that the Transvaal should resist England, now they are sharing the burden."

WHEN WILL THE RIVER OPEN?

Much Speculation Volunteered as to Exact Date.

Four Hundred Dollars Say Not Before May 15th—Many Smaller Wagers Made.

Many conjectures are being ventured as to the time when the ice will leave the Yukon river. Different opinions are entertained respecting the matter; but the consensus appears to be that the river will open this spring much earlier than it did in 1899.

There is great dissimilarity between the past two winter seasons. The winter of 1898 and '99 was remarkable for its mild weather; the temperature did not fall to 50 degrees below zero, nor were protracted cold spells experienced at any time during the entire season. Yet, after such a favorable winter, the ice in the Yukon river did not commence to run until May 17th. During the winter which has just ended, excessive cold weather prevailed almost continuously. No doubt the ice on the river now is much thicker than it was a year ago; but despite this fact, the people have generally concluded that the Yukon will break earlier this spring than it did in 1899.

There seems to be no sure indication of when the ice in the river will move. In 1896, the Yukon broke on May 17th; in 1897, the event occurred on May 14th; in 1898, the ice moved on May 8th; last spring, the annual incident happened on the same day as in 1896.

A number of wagers have been made as to the time when the river will be clear of ice this season. Louis Golden has bet $400 to $200 with Tom Chisholm that the river will open before May 15th. Charles Dellone has placed $350 even that he will be able to walk across the Yukon on May 11th. Ed Goggins has bet $200 to $150 with Harry Woolrich, that the ice will not move till after May 8th. Billy McCrea is willing to wager all or any part of $1000, at odds of three to two, that no one can foretell by 24 hours the time when the river will break.

As a rule, the Yukon ice commences to run within a week after the breaking of the Klondike. Word was received in the city yesterday to the effect that the little steamboat Florence S. had left the mouth of the Hootalinqua river on a trip up the Thirtymite to lower Lebarge.

In any event, the opening of navigation cannot be deferred much longer; and the arrival of fresh food stuffs from the outside will be appreciated by the people of Dawson.

Railways in Philippines.
The fact that the entire railway system of the Philippine islands at present consists of a single line of antiquated pattern, having a length of less than 125 miles, gives some idea of the neglect of this economic form of travel and transportation under the long Spanish regime. The road intersects the rich peninsula northwest of Manila, and connects that city with Dagupan, a town on the east coast of the island of Luzon, which will eventually become an important one. To be exact, the length of the line is 122 miles. The gauge is three feet six inches, and the ties are of the finest hard wood, obtained from the forests along the line. On the entire length there are 60 iron bridges. As compared with the fairly substantial character of the roadbed, the rolling stock is very light. In speed and capacity the locomotives are insignificant, being of less than ten tons' burden. The usual speed varied from 15 to 20 miles an hour, and when the American troops took possession their railroading astonished the natives, the speeds being frequently doubled. Compartment coaches are used, and these are divided into three classes or apartments; each apartment seating eight passengers. The few first-class coaches are provided with comfortable cane chairs, while the second-class apartments have rough wooden benches, and the third-class are bare and are usually crowded with natives carrying baskets and bundles of all kinds. An ordinary train is made up of eight or ten, carriages, most of them third-class, and the fare ranges from two to five cents, Mexican, per mile. The bulk of the freight now carried is made up of rice, sugar, hemp and building material, and the rates on all classes of traffic are considerable.

ANOTHER FAKE DISCOVERY

Reported to Have Been Made on the Tanana.

W. C. Leak Receives Trustworthy Information by the Last Mail From Pat Kenealy.

Recently a Dawson paper published reports of rich gold discoveries in the Tanana river district; and that Jack Gregory and Pat Kenealy are engaging laborers to work for $1.50 per hour. The entire story relative to this fabulous strike on the Tanana, is absolutely false.

A few days ago, W. C. Leak, of No. 31 Eldorado, received a letter which was written at Circle City by Pat Kenealy. Mr. Kenealy says that there is no stampede to the Tanana; that nothing has been discovered in the district, that he has been in Circle all winter but that as soon as the season advances he will probably undertake a two months' prospecting trip.

In the article, which appeared in print, the exact location of the new fields was described, and directions were given as to the easiest and nearest route. Indeed, the statement was made that a camp had been founded about 110 miles from Circle City. All these assertions are unwarranted by actual facts, for no report of a strike on the Tanana has occasioned the slightest interest at any point in the lower river country.

Concert Tomorrow Night.

Everything Lost.

J. E. Booge, the representative at Dawson of Hamilton & Co., received a dispatch from Capt. Miller, of the Reindeer, this morning to the effect that the steambot and her entire cargo were reduced to ashes. Nothing aboard the vessel was saved from the flames.

Presbyterian Services Tomorrow.

Rev. J. A. Sinclair, late of Skagway and Bennett will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church at both services tomorrow. On Monday he goes up the creeks.

Many Are Indisposed.

At no time within the past six months were there so many complaints of not feeling well heard in Dawson as at present. Hard colds, many of which terminate in la grippe are prevalent, there being scarcely a business house in the city from which one or more of the attacks are not at their homes nursing a cold or an attack of "grip." The cause for this epidemic is not wholly local and can not be attributed to water from any particular stream or well, for the reason that from the various creeks comes the news of a similar epidemic.

One Less Cabin

Yesterday evening about 8 o'clock a cabin on the hill back of the cemetery was destroyed by fire. As it was beyond the reach of the department, no alarm was sounded and as water was not to be had in sufficient quantity to successfully combat the flames, they had their own way until the structure was destroyed. It was not learned by whom the cabin was owned.

Dark Brown Prospect.

Persons who contemplate following the ice down river, and their number is legion, will not exceed in number those who will chase the ice from the lakes and upper rivers, and the majority of the latter will stop here instead of continuing on down. Those who travel from the upper country will be more favored in one respect than those who travel from northward, for the reason that travel above will not be in the wake of several thousand tons of garbage. Those conversant with the rules of latitude, longitude and time assert that the Yukon from Dawson to St. Michael will bear a coffee-colored hue for weeks after navigation opens while others assert that the water will be excellent for domestic uses taken from the river at any point below Moosehide.

Arrival of Witnesses.

Yesterday afternoon Constable Tuttle arrived in Dawson and he had in custody Messrs. Thomas Smith and Walter Smith, whose testimony is required in the case of the Queen vs. Charles Hill, accused of murder. These men have been prospecting on the Pelly river; and owing to their absence, the trial of the criminal action has been postponed several times. Constable Tuttle, accompanied by a guide, succeeded in finding the important witnesses much sooner than was expected. Recently, Albert Fortier, another essential witness in the case was permitted to go to Selkirk to attend to some business. As he proceeded up the river, he passed the Messrs. Smith as they were coming down. It is quite probable that the action will be continued again on Monday, in order to enable the officers to secure the presence of Fortier.

A Valuable Cow.

Milch cows in Dawson are very scarce, there not being over six or eight of them but the fortunate owners are better off than a-e many of the mine owners on the creeks. It is authoritatively stated that from one particular cow in Dawson the gross income is $25 per day, $10 of which is required to purchase feed for her, leaving a balance of more clear money for one day than can be made from a herd of sleek jerseys on the outside in a week. Next to a far table or a job in the gold commissioner's office, a cow is, from a financial standpoint, the best thing a man can have in Dawson.

Assessors Appointed.

Messrs. F. X. Gosselin, D. A. Matheson and E. W. Smith have been commissioned by the Yukon council to act as assessors under and by virtue of the ordinance, which was passed yesterday relative to the assessment and taxation of residents of Dawson. The board of assessors will convene within a few days, and arrange for the performance of its duties.

Committee Meeting.

The citizens' committee will convene this evening at the Hotel McDonald. Arrangements will be considered for the public mass meeting to be held some time next week. Other business of importance will be transacted; and it is to be desired that all members of that committee be present.

Trail Fairly Good.

Thos. Davies, of the C. D. Co.'s mail service was in receipt of a letter today from Route Superintendent Davis, who is now at Selkirk, which says that the trail on the river is not nearly so bad as is generally supposed; that the crumbling surface ice makes it very bad for the feet of the dogs during the portion of the day when the surface is frozen. Mr. Davis writes that it is possible to travel and make good time from 3 o'clock in the morning until noon. The letter was brought down by a police team which arrived here from Selkirk this morning.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

In the police court this morning C. F. Perry was fined $10 and costs for having lingered long over the hootch cup. John Gayer had likewise been indiscreet, in that he also imbibed too much of that which inebriates. Ten dollars and trimmings of his money was required to enable him to again start square with the world as an unnumbered citizen.

The capias case against Wade Blaker, which case began its history in Fort Selkirk, was on trial the remainder of the forenoon and continued until Monday.

BRIEF MENTION.

J. M. McDade is visiting the city.

P. O. Madson is spending a few days in town.

W. C. Leak, of 31 Eldorado, is registered at the Regina.

F. Messedat is enjoying a short vacation in the city.

E. Erhardt, of No. 35 Bonanza, is in town on business.

John A. Mullen returned yesterday from a trip to Dominion creek.

W. M. Van Buskirk, of Grand Forks, is a guest at the Yukon hotel.

Duncan D. Stewart, of 27 Eldorado, is making a brief visit to the city.

Pete Smith, from Grand Forks, is greeting his Dawson acquaintances.

H. B. Steele, manager of the Daily News, is suffering from an attack of la grippe.

N. B. Forrest, one of the book keepers of the N. A. T. & T. Co., is quite ill with la grippe.

L. A. Smith, of Bonanza, arrived in the city yesterday. He will remain in town for several days.

Arthur Buel and Charles Brown, of the Art Advertising Company, are indisposed on account of sickness.

C. J. Dumbolton is making a creditable display of mounted moose and sheep heads at the Fairview hotel.

The local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce has established and furnished a ward in the Good Samaritan hospital.

A. J. Mangold left Dawson today for the concession on Hunker, where he will be employed by the grantee, Mr. Larsen, during the remainder of the season.

J. H. Crowley, from Hunker creek, sprained his ankle last night by stepping off the sidewalk in front of the Aurora saloon. The injury is confining the gentleman to his room.

Information has been received from W. L. Bettely, of Nome, to the effect that George Blake died at the Alaskan camp some few months ago. The deceased has a brother residing in Dawson.

Aside from heaven's broad canopy, the most blue seen these days is on the big buildings of the A. C. Co., their store and office building both having been treated to a coat of bright blue paint.

Charles Coffey, who was stabbed some time ago, was entered yesterday at the Good Samaritan hospital. The wounds of the young man are quite painful; but no serious results are expected to ensue.

Notes About the Mail.

The mail, which is consigned to towns on the lower Yukon, passed Ogilvie this morning; and will probably arrive here tomorrow. There are a few sacks of Dawson mail aboard the sled; and these will be delivered to the local office.

The Canadian mail which left Bennett on the 20th instant reached Five Fingers yesterday. It is not expected to arrive in Dawson until next Friday night.

The regular weekly consignment will be started for the outside next Wednesday.
