

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N.S., MAR. 10, 1899.

Assessment Matters.

Last year, it will be remembered, the announcement of the large decrease in the county assessment caused something of a storm from Wolfville and Kentville, which as incorporated towns found that their appointment of municipal taxation would be increased, while that of the rest of the county would be very considerably diminished by what they regarded as a somewhat clever trick of the county assessors.

This year's assessment for the county shows a valuation of $4,392,007 as compared with $4,440,054 for '97 and the valuation acted upon for last year, or a decrease of $47,047. Such a decrease as this in so prosperous and progressive a county as ours, looks a trifle 'fishy' to say the least.

It seems, however, that the town of Kentville, profiting from last year's experience, has discovered that honesty is not the most approved policy in matters of this kind and has followed the pace set by the county. Notwithstanding the large increase in buildings and the vast improvements to property which our contemporary the Orientalist would have us believe Kentville has made during the year, the assessment showed a decrease of $2,785. This, too, despite the fact that nearly every year since its incorporation the annual assessment has shown an increase, the advance for '97 being $19,200.

Wolfville, however, does not yet seem to have "got onto the play." Her assessment for the past year shows an increase of $12,500 over that of the preceding year.

The result of this is that while Kentville and the rest of the county will have to contribute much less to the finances of the county than ever before, Wolfville will be compelled to contribute much more. It is apparent therefore that in this county honesty comes high.

An Acadia Boy Abroad.

Among the many young Nova Scotians who have made a name for themselves abroad is Walter W. Chipman, son of William Chipman, formerly of Bridgetown, now of Wolfville. He graduated from Acadia college in 1890, and in the autumn went to Edinburgh where he took the medical course, graduating in 1895 as the most distinguished of his class. He gained the Buchanan scholarship, which was the University Gynecological wards of the Royal Infirmary under Prof. Simpson. After a year's experience he was appointed Resident Physician to the Royal Maternity Hospital. In the spring of 1897 he was appointed House Surgeon to the Bolton Infirmary in Lancashire, a hospital containing 113 beds, both medical and surgical. In 1898 he resigned this position to become assistant to Dr. Barbour, one of the professors of the University, and to avail himself of the facilities of Edinburgh for further study and original research.

Dr. Chipman is now a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons and bids fair to win distinction in his chosen profession. He has recently been travelling with Dr. Barbour on the continent and in Algiers.

The Senate Assailed.

The resolution of the attorney general approving of the Lurier idea of senate reform passed the legislature on Tuesday by a vote of 30-2. It might appear that if the provincial legislators were such ardent champions of Senate reform they could have had an opportunity of making experiments in that direction without going outside their own jurisdiction. The legislative council would undoubtedly afford perfectly safe material for such experimenting and even the most cautious legislator could entertain no fears of impairing its present usefulness. Those who look for consistency from our public men will await with interest the action when the bill is brought before it at the council which for years has retained its independent existence against the expressed wish of the people of the province.

Editorial Notes.

Efforts are being made to have an agricultural school run in connection with McGill University.

Latent reports intimate that Rudyard Kipling is now on the road to recovery. He has not been informed of the death of his six-year-old daughter and the information will be kept from him until he is completely out of danger.

The federal parliament is to assemble on March 16th. It is said that there is a likelihood of a short session to be followed by a general election probably in about two months time. This may or may not be true, but indications certainly point to an appeal to the people in the near future.

The Dominion Alliance has recently passed a resolution asking for prohibitory legislation in conformity with the plebiscite vote. The resolution refers also to the funds committed in connection with the taking of the vote in the province of Quebec. The Government will thus be called upon to decide which shall govern in Canada, the majority or the minority.

The King's Daughters.

The purpose for which the first circle of this Order was formed, namely that its members might, in sisterly sympathy and loving interest, strengthen, help and edify each other, thereby making themselves better able to help others, is the underlying principle of every circle since formed.

No honor attaches to membership in the Order of "Kings Daughters and Sons," but that of doing the duty which lies next, though it be the simplest and homeliest, cheerfully, heartily, lovingly in Christ's name and spirit. As a reminder of this the silver cross is worn. It bears the letters I. H. N., and "In His Name" is the duty of every member to strive to make themselves more efficient workers for Him.

On September 4th, 1898, at Wolfville, the Steelhat circle was formed by Mrs. Ann, of Ottawa, with a membership of twelve, which has since grown to nearly double that number. The officers appointed were:

Leader—Mrs. DeWitt. Vice Leader—Mrs. Calhoun. Secretary—Miss Mabel Jones. Cor. Sec.—Miss Edith Johnson. Treasurer—Miss Hilda Telford.

Since November the meetings have been held on Saturday evenings, at 7.45 in Temperance Hall; and on the first Sunday of each month in the same room at 4 p. m.

At the Saturday evening meetings a series of interesting and helpful demonstrations in Domestic Science are being given by Mrs. Sears. Also a course of talks on "The House we live in," four of which have been given, is in progress. The speakers have been: Miss Jamieson, Dr. Woodworth, Mrs. DeWitt, and Mr. Trotter, consecutively. The next, by Miss E. Keirstead, is to be on Saturday evening, April 1st.

At the Sunday afternoon meetings, which are devotional, two very helpful addresses, the first by Mr. Hind, the last by Mrs. Hatch, have been listened to by the members of the circle and a few of their friends. All meetings are open to persons wishing to attend, whether members or not; and all will find there a cordial welcome, a profitably spent and pleasant hour.

It is the purpose of the circle to establish homelike, pleasant rooms, to be open all day and every day from nine in the morning until nine at night; where an hour may be better spent than on the street, and where the meetings and classes in any branch of study or work may be held. Should anyone wish to help, believing these rooms to be a need of the community, such assistance will be gladly accepted.

A number of friends have asked that a statement of the work of the circle might be given to the trustees of the city. Eight of the appeals were from owners of lake land within the town limits. These the Board decided they were not able to adjust without going over the ground, which was impossible. They, however, suggested that the council urge upon the assessors the necessity of making a careful determination of all dyke lots before completing the next assessment.

Following are the decisions of the Board:

Jessie E. Huntington, real estate, $10,000, reduced to $1300. T. L. Harsy, real estate, $200, confirmed.

T. L. Harvey and W. H. Duncan, $2,000, reduced to $1,750. J. B. Godfrey, $1290, confirmed. Laura C. Moore, real estate, $2,000, reduced to $1,700. Income, $200, allowed.

Mr. Irene Fitch, personal property, $50, reduced to $25. Rev. C. C. Burgess, personal property, $100, reduced to $25. Wolfville Fruit Land Imp. Co., $5400, reduced to $5000.

Referring to the failure of the Liberal Commissioners, the Montreal Gazette, says: "The occasion seems a suitable one for Mr. Mulock to indulge in his propensity and issue a new stamp, made in the United States. A carpet bag, collapsed, tagged 'Laurier-1898,' would be the device, and 'It travelled a wearier road than ever was,' the motto."

Board of Appeal.

The Board of Appeal has finished its labor. Twenty-nine appeals were before it for consideration. Couns. Harvey, DeWitt and Chipman, with the recorder constitute the Board, and it is hardly necessary to say that they are right in every case.

Eight of the appeals were from owners of lake land within the town limits. These the Board decided they were not able to adjust without going over the ground, which was impossible. They, however, suggested that the council urge upon the assessors the necessity of making a careful determination of all dyke lots before completing the next assessment.

The elocution recital given by the young ladies of Acadia Seminary in College Hall last Friday evening was a very enjoyable affair.

The hall was comfortably filled, and the programme was presented in a manner which reflected the greatest credit on the performers and the institution.

The readings by Misses Triton, Patzer and Emmerson were excellently given.

The vocal solo by Miss Hattie Masters, and the vocal duet by Misses Moffat and Epps were most enjoyable.

The last number was the Romance of the Ganges, illustrated in pantomime by several young ladies in Grecian costumes, and prettily and skillfully rendered.

The total of new shipbuilding tonnage, produced in Great Britain for the year 1898, was 1,510,000 tons.

This exceeds by nearly 300,000 tons the production for the year 1899 which had been the record year of shipbuilding; and all this happened under free trade.

DISEASE OF THE SPINE.

A Madly That Makes Life Almost Unbearable—A Nova Scotia Lady Tells How to Cure It.

Mrs Frank Minard, of Milton, N. S., is a lady who possesses the confidence of a large circle of friends. Mrs Minard has been a sufferer from spinal disease and attendant complications, and to a reporter she recently gave the particulars of her cure. She said,—"As a result of the trouble I suffered terribly. At times the pain would be confined to my back, and at other times it seemed to affect every nerve in my body, from the top of my head to my toes. As a result I was greatly reduced in strength, and was unable to stand upon my feet long enough to attend to my household work. When doing any kind of work which required a standing position I had to provide myself with a big chair as a means of support. The medicine which the doctor prescribed for me did not seem to afford me more than temporary relief from the pain and I was gradually growing weaker and weaker. Finally the doctor suggested that I should use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and acting on his advice I began to take them. I had only used a few boxes when the agony I had suffered for months began to abate, and I began to regain my strength. I continued using the pills for a short time longer, and was again in full possession of my health and strength, and able to do my household work. I have never enjoyed better health than I am doing at present."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure because they supply the blood with its life giving properties and strengthen weak nerves. All diseases due to either of these causes are speedily cured by the use of this medicine. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Three Good Hints.

Chopped cucumbers mixed with a little mayonnaise dressing makes a delicious filling. Place it between un-buttered slices of Graham bread.

An egg sandwich is a popular one. The eggs must be hard boiled, finely chopped and well seasoned with salt, pepper, mustard and lemon juice, spread between thinly buttered slices of bread.

A cheese filling is delicious. It should be grated and mixed with a few chopped olives. This is excellent with brown bread. Press the slices firmly together.

Kipling to Marlowe.

Rudyard Kipling sent as a Christmas present to Julia Marlowe a copy of his latest book, "The Day's Work," with this verse in autograph on the fly leaf:

When skies are gray instead of blue,
With clouds that come to dishearten,
When things go wrong, as they sometimes do,
In life's little kindergarten,
I beg you, my child, don't weep and wail,
And don't, don't take to tipping;
But cheer your soul with a little tale
By neighbor Rudyard Kipling.

'Tis But the After-Effects of Grippe and the Common Diseases That Make People Look So Weak and Deathlike.

Paine's Celery Compound
The Great Disease Banisher and True Health Builder.

The writer a few days ago erred a half-hour walk with a doctor, physician on one of Montreal's crowded business streets.

Meeting with a great many pale and sorrow-faced men and women—young and middle-aged—the writer asked his physician friend the question, "Doctor, we are passing scores of sick looking people: does this fact prove that we are deteriorating as a people in health and general physical development?"

The physician's answer was very much as follows: "A large number of sickly looking and half-well people have passed us to-day, which, I am sure has prompted your question. You must remember that grippe has been epidemic during the winter, and has left thousands in a sad condition of health; then there are other common causes of sickness that are being operated, such as influenza, headaches, digestive disturbances, cold troubles, rheumatism and kidney and liver ailments. All these have contributed to sickness and death this year, and these we have passed as but a few of the victims. The same conditions exist in our country, and I would not care to state positively that as a people we are deteriorating in true manhood and womanhood. Early attention to, and sensible care and treatment of, present weaknesses will bring all back to good health."

The class of sick people to whom the city physician referred stand in urgent need of Paine's Celery Compound, if they would quickly regain nerve force and power, weight in flesh, fresh blood, and sound bodily health. There is nothing known to physicians of the most extensive practice equal to Paine's Celery Compound for building up the weakened body. When the great Compound is used, all weaknesses soon become things of the past, and solid health, refreshing sleep, natural appetite and vivacity of disposition make life a pleasure.

Remember—Bobbie, I notice your little sister took the smaller apple. Did you let her have her choice, as I told you to?

Bobbie—Yes, I told her she could have the little one or none, and she chose the little one.

Parkin—I have the greatest respect for the truth.

Erkin—So I perceive, but you generally keep at a respectful distance from it.

Erkin—You see, Doctor, your lawyer, only makes a nominal fee.

Erkin—No, just the reverse. His charges are too nominal.

Scrap for Odd Moments.

Yeast—Do you believe married people always quarrel?
Climsonbeck—No; sometimes they fight.

Hope never deserts a man. When he is young he hopes to be famous; when he is old he hopes to escape the work-house.

"Phippleigh is rather familiar in his manner, isn't he?"
"Familiar? Why, that fellow would address an icicle as 'like'."

Mr Wickwire—I have a notion to raise a beard for the winter.
Mrs Wickwire—I wouldn't do that.
"Wouldn't? Why not?"
"Wouldn't? You couldn't."

Keep Minards Lintment in the house.
"Some folks in dis world," said the old colored deacon, "ain't got no conscience; but, ez fer me, I'd ez had one dis long time of I'd ez knowed how ter spell it."

She (the first season)—I have been shut up in boarding school so long that I feel very awkward and timid in company. I do not know what to do with my hands. He—I'll hold them for you.

He—"That was a queer freak of Price's—marrying a woman twice his age. I wonder how it came about?"
She—"Naturally enough. He was without money and she was without Price."

"I want to get you," said the book agent, to take "The Life of Burns."
"Stranger," said the old moonshiner, "I never took the life of any man, 'cept a book agent, an' that don't count. I'm law abidin', I am!"

Ask for Minards and take no Other.
"Yes," said the young doctor to his wife, "I felt greatly worried until the climax was passed."
"Will he be out soon?"
"No," said the young doctor, "not until the day of the funeral."

Grace—And yet, dear, how little we have seen of each other lately, considering there is only a partition wall between us!
Easily—But then, dear, it is such a comfort to feel that you are on the other side!

"Are all the animals in 'I' asked Noah, taking another look at the barometer.
"All but the leopards," replied Ham, "and I think we have a pair of them spotted."

Noah shook his head gloomily and muttered something about "that boy coming to a bad end."

Mrs Josephine Kipling, the eldest child of Rudyard Kipling, was whipped for selling a fib and went to bed sobbing rebelliously: "I think it's real mean so there! My pa writes great big whoppers, and everybody thinks they're lovely, while I just told a tiny little story and gets whipped and sent to bed."

Minards Lintment is Used by Physicians.
He had come upon her dozing in a hammock and, when she woke up, she accused him of stealing a kiss.

"Well," he said "I will admit that the temptation was too strong to be resisted. I did steal one little kiss."
"One?" she exclaimed, indignantly. "I counted eight before I woke up."

A funeral cortege was passing along Main street. A policeman, and a seedy looking fellow having the aspect of a tramp, were standing on the curbstone looking on.

Policeman—Say, who's dead?
Tramp (as he moved to the sea side of neighboring trolley pole)—The man in the bears.

Didn't you know it is against the law to beg for money? said the lady to the tramp at the back door.
"I wasn't goin' ter beg for money, ma'am," was the reply of the humble wanderer.
"It's just as bad to beg for bread, ma'am."

What were you going to beg for then, pray?
Only for one of your picture, ma'am.

Minards Lintment Lumberman's Friend.
A Scotch professor had been advocating the advantages of athletic exercise. The Roman youths," he cried, "used to swim three times across the Tiber before breakfast."

The Scotch professor, noticing one of his auditors grinning, exclaimed: "Mr McAllister, why do you smile? We shall be glad to share your amusement."
The canny Scot replied, "I was just thinking, sir, that the Roman youths must have left their clothes on the wrong bank at the end of their swim."

"Mother," said the emancipated woman's boy, "is 'n' propert to say pants."
"Certainly not. There are many substitutes for the words that are far more elegant."
The boy played on with the dog in silence for a while, and then looking up into her face said:—
"Mother."
"What is it?"
"Don't you think it's dreadful?"
"What, dear?"
"The way Fido bloomsers this warm weather."

HARLEN FULTON.
Pleasant Bay, C. B.

A new feature is noticeable in Georgia politics. In a certain county there were two candidates for ordinary. The first candidate made this unique announcement:—
"If I am elected to the office, I promise to have all marriage licenses—white and black—for 50 cents apiece."
But his opponent feared him when he made this counter announcement:—
"I'll see to it that all who vote for me are married to marry for 25 cents, and, furthermore, I'll help 'em to pay for their funerals."

What I Need.

BY H. A. BELVA.

Grace when the sun is shining, Lord,
Grace when I give the candle black,
Grace when I save the candle, Lord,
Grace on the too smooth track.

Grace when I'm showed into a nook,
Grace when I get "my turn,"
Grace when the dinner will not cook,
Grace when the fire won't burn.

Grace when my duties all go wrong,
Grace when they all seem right,
Grace when his gladness, praise and song,
Grace when I have to fight.

Grace when my dress is fresh and new,
Grace when my dress is faded and old;
Grace when my purse is empty, too,
Grace when its full of gold.

Grace when the saved ones don't act saved
And throw all the blame on me;
And grace when the grace I've asked and craved
Seems denied to me, Lord, by Thee.

Grace when the midnight hours I tell,
Grace when the morn is nigh,
Grace when I'm healthy, strong and well,
Grace when I come to die.

Lord, grant Thy grace, till the gift I get,
Up the steps of faith I climb,
That the heart that seems inclined to fret
May "keep smiling" all the time!

So, Jesus hear me and give Thy grace,
My need to Thy store I bring,
That the poorer one in the proper place,
I may glorify Thee, my King.

Agnes E. Slack writes in the Union Signal, of the temperance cause and the progress it is making in England:—
To Christianity and the teaching of the church we owe our hospitals, our homes for the blind, the maimed, the insane; all are the outcome of the grand, beautiful teaching that we are our brothers' keepers. As a nation we owe our greatness to the fact that with all her many shortcomings our country has aimed at having Christian laws and Christian liberty for all. But how far we are behind the United States, Canada and Norway in this great moral question! In visiting these countries I have made many investigations, and the more I have seen the more I have felt that I must indeed be "up and doing," or some day in the future some one will be writing the "History of the Decline and Fall of the British Empire."

Our great Gladstone, Lord Rosebery, Sir William Harcourt and John Morley have all in clear language pointed out the national perils ahead of us unless we do something to strangle the "drink traffic."

Signs of Improvement in England.
"Increasing attention called to the evils of drink. Temperance societies growing steadily stronger and more numerous. One vigorous society recently formed for the express purpose of waking up the churches. Temperance literature increasing fast. Drinking customs changing for the better. States men slowly waking up to see what a burden strong drink is to the kingdom, as a destroyer of wealth and a cripple of industry, and what a menace as a corrupter of politics and a producer of crime. Military men beginning to see that drink is a great weakener of the army. Total abstinence found to stand the severest campaigns where even moderate drinkers break down. Medical men recognizing the serious effects of drink upon the health of the people. Labouring men learning to see it as a foe to industry. Children receiving temperance teaching. The church opening its eyes to see that religion is recent to both God and man, if it does not throw itself earnestly into the temperance cause. Signs that a public conscience, growing slowly yet steadily and surely, regarding the nation's sin against Africa and the Islands of the Sea and India and all the weaker people that are under her sway."

For Parents.
Whenever I speak to parents, two fathers come before me. One lived on the Mississippi river. He was a man of great wealth. One day his oldest boy had been borne home unconscious. He did everything that man could do to restore him, but in vain. Time passed, and after a terrible suspense he recovered consciousness.
"My son," the father whispered, "the doctor tells me you are dying."
"Oh!" said the boy, "you never prayed for me, father; won't you pray for my lost soul now?"
The father wept. It is true he had never prayed. He was a stranger to God. And in a little while that soul, unprayed for, passed into its dark eternity.
The father has since said that he would give all his wealth if he could call back his boy only to offer one short prayer for him.

What a contrast is the other father!

He, too, had a lovely son, and one day he came home to find him at the gates of death. His wife was weeping, and she said:
"Our boy is dying; he has had a change for the worse. I wish you would go in and see him."
The father went into the room and placed his hand upon the brow of the dying boy, and could feel the cold, damp sweat was gathering there; the cold, icy hand of death was feeling for the chords of life.
"Do you know, my son, that you are dying?" asked the father.
"Am I? Is this death? Do you really think I am dying?"
"Yes, my son, your end on earth is near."
"And I will be with Jesus, to-night, father?"
"Yes, you will soon be with the Saviour."
"Father, don't weep, for when I get there I will go straight to Jesus and tell him that you have been trying all my life to lead me to him."
God has given me three children, and ever since I can remember I have directed them to Christ. I would rather that I carried this message to Jesus—that I have tried all my life to lead them to him—than have all the crowns of the earth; I would rather lead them to Jesus than to give them the wealth of the world.—Ed.
