NOTICE!

It has been called to our attention that certain retail dealers in town are substituting Kipperd Herring of an inferior kind for our goods. Some of those dealers even go so far as to place inferior kippers in boxes bearing our brands so as to deceive their purchasers.

Our Kippers can be known by the fact that the head and tail is left on and they are a light bronze color. In addition to our stock consisting of large, fat, Placentia Bay herring, they are processed and sent daily from our smoke ovens at Bay Bulls, so we guarantee the quality. If a dealer finds an imperfect box in his purchase we ask him to return it and get a perfect one.

CHAPTER XXXVII

"What is Your Answer?"

"Who can that be?" he said. "A stranger, or he'd know how to lift the latch. Sit ye still, wife, and let me go."

Opening the door he saw a tall, dark-looking man pressed close up against the porch in a vain attempt to screen himself from the blast. Directly the door was opened far enough he slipped in, and, turning fiercely upon the landlord, exclaimed:

"Wart asleep, dog, that thou didst not hear me knock? Are all your customers left to be blown to perdition in your doorway? 'Tis courteous and honest."

Gregory started and was speechless.

This man's voice was the same as the woman's who had just left.

"Ah! deaf, dumb, blind idiot!" snarled the man, throwing off his large cloak and striding into the parlor, but pulling off his soft-brimmed hat with a surly sort of politeness to the landlady by the fire.

"Good-evening, mistress, if you can call such fiendish weather good. It's the fend's own, I think. Your husband seems deaf or dumb. Can you give me some wine?"

Gregory, still speechless, reached down a bottle and placed it with a wince on the table.

The traveller flung himself into a chair, and throwing his cloak on the floor before the fire, filled his glass and emptied it.

The landlord, now somewhat recovered from his astonishment, said meekly that it was a wet night.

The traveller did not seem to hear him, but sat, staring moodily at the fire, every now and then filling his glass—which he always emptied at a single gulp.

Presently, with a suddenness which made the pair jump, he strode to the window and forcing it open gazed out upon the rain.

Then he turned and asked how it was to Grassmere.

Again the landlord started and lost his tongue, but, fearing another outbreak on the part of the traveller, his wife replied:

"Sixteen miles."

The man started.

"Sixteen miles!" he repeated.

"The saints!" then walked quietly to the table, emptied the bottle, picked up his cloak, threw down a coin and walked to the door.

Suddenly he stopped and entered the room again.

"Are there any drinking shops on this hateful road?"

The color forsook the landlord's face.

"Y-e-es," he managed to jerk out, and then stopped.

The traveller scowled fiercely and strode out of the bar, swinging the door behind him with a loud crash.

The hall was at its height, the guests, heated and flushed with pleasure, were dancing in the ballroom or promenading through the gallery of conservatory.

A waltz was just finished and the refreshment corner was crowded.

Maud had just been dancing with a younger son of Lord Houdson and was listening to his roundabout description of the "best run of the season."

When Maurice Durant came up with a lady on his arm, for whom he had been procuring some refreshment.

The four sat down together in a cool corner, and Maurice, seizing the opportunity, managed to smuggle Maud off into the picture gallery.

"Well, cara mia," he said, tenderly, drawing her toward him, "are you tired?"

"No," she said, "women never get tired of two things you know."

"What are they?" he asked, with a smile.

"Love and dancing," she replied, with a flush. "But you must be very weary," looking up into his face.

"You have not danced at all, but you have been working so hard to make every one happy."

"Weary!" he said, "not one whit. Had any one told me a year ago, birds, that I could have worn the cap and bells and donned the motley with so good a grace I should have laughed them to scorn."

"That is past now," whispered Maud, caressing his hand.

"Ay, thank Heaven," he said, throwing back his head. "Past! Little one, some day in the future, when the vanished years have grown dim and indistinct, I will tear away the veil and let you see how grim and black the prospect is!"

"Why should you?" she murmured.

"I can trust—nay, I do; to hear of your sorrow and suffering would pain me, and pain you, too, in the telling. Let it go by—let the veil fall thicker and thicker every year until it biots it out forever."

"My angel," he murmured, pressing her closer to him.

"Where's Chudleigh now?" she said, presently.

"Far on the road to happiness," he answered, with a low laugh. "Poor fellow—he waited long and," patiently he was going to add, but stopped, and said instead, "Maudie, mine, how soon will you make me happy as her ladyship has done your Chud?"

She blushed and stole closer, till her face was hidden against his breast.

"In the summer, little one?" he went on, his voice dropping to a soft, sweet murmur, and using the words "thee" and "thine" unconsciously.

"Early in the summer, my darling?"

Severe Headaches and Pains in the Back

Resulted From Deranged Kidneys and Constipation of the Bowels.

It is in vain to try to regulate and restore the healthful action of the kidneys until the liver and bowels are set right. And just here is where so many kidney medicines fail. Kidney derangements almost invariably begin with constipation and torpidity of the liver. The whole work of filtering the blood is thrown on the kidneys, and in time they fail to stand the strain. The poison in the system gives rise to severe headaches, pains in the back and tired, depressed feelings.

Because they act directly on the liver and bowels, as well as on the kidneys, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are eminently successful in the treatment of kidney derangements. Mr. William Loney Marysville, N. B. writes:—"I am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anybody who is suffering from kidney trouble or constipation. I suffered

Pains in the Side, Chest, or Back, Aching Muscles Cured Quickly

Even Doctors Marvel at the Penetrating Power of Good Old "Nerviline."

Pains anywhere—in the chest, neck, side, back or muscles—they are always a discomfort.

If the inflammation is severe, the pain will be intense. If allowed to continue, complications will follow.

Physicians say one of the best remedies is "Nerviline"—it can't help curing, because it penetrates through the sore tissues, carrying healing properties that destroy every symptom of pain.

In cases of colds, sore chest and pleurisy, there should be a good hand-rubbing with Nerviline, and, of course to prevent the trouble coming back, it's advisable to put on a Nerviline Porous Plaster, which, by absorption through the skin draws out all congestion.

For general household use, for curing the ailments of the young and old, for destroying all pain, outward or inward, nothing can excel Nerviline; thousands testify to this effect.

For nearly forty years Nerviline has been a renowned and trusted remedy in thousands of homes where practically no medicine is needed.

Nerviline is safe to use. For children's coughs, colds and sore throat nothing can be used with more certain results.

Get the large 50c. family size bottle to-day. It is more economical than the 25 cent trial size, and is sure to keep down the doctor's bill and cure a host of minor ills that arise in every household.

All dealers sell Nerviline.

when the blossoms are thick and the flowers lift their heads toward the sun. Tell me, Maud, wilt thou give thyself to me—give thyself to warm and color my life? Wilt thou come to turn the old gray, desolate rectory to a love cottage, shining in it and on me as the sun shines in the wilderness and in the woods? Tell me, little one, that when the birds sing again I may take thee, the sweetest of them all, to my heart to rest forevermore."

At that moment the band commenced the next dance and Maud started.

"I am engaged for this to Sir Charles Warton," she said, rather sorrowfully. "I wonder whether he will find me," she said, hoping that he would not.

But her wishes were disappointed, for Sir Charles Warton entered the gallery in search of her and carried her off.

Maurice Durant, left alone, strolled to one of the windows, and, unfastening it, looked out upon the night.

It was as dark as pitch and the swift blast dashed the rain in his face.

"Storm without, peace within," he murmured, with a happy sigh. "Heaven pity the traveller to-night," he added, thoughtfully, turning from the window.

As he stepped into the light a footman who had been looking up and down the gallery, came to him quickly and said:

"You are wanted, sir, in the hall."

"I?" said Maurice Durant, tapping his breast with astonishment.

"Yes, sir; the person asked for you!"

"Are you sure?" said Maurice Durant, wondering who it could be.

"Certain, sir."

Maurice Durant, humming lightly, strode down the broad stairs and entered the hall.

No one was there.

He was about to call to the footman, when a dark shadow in the corner made him almost start, and he advanced.

As he approached it turned into a woman, with its face full up against the light.

Maurice Durant looked for an instant with a dead, stony gaze, then sprang forward with a fearful suppressed cry, and, clutching its wet arm, around which the drenched shawl clung limply, gazed down with clinched teeth at the bloated, disipated face, then threw up his arms and eeled against the wall.

For a minute the woman, who was half dead with drink and fatigue, stared at him with senseless, idiotic gaze, then rolled forward and touched his arm.

He started as if a serpent had stung him, looked around the hall with bloodshot eyes, then bounding forward, stoled to the door, opened it, and beckoned to the woman, hissing:

"One word and I strangle you on the spot!"

She nodded her head, and with uncertain steps followed him.

He closed the door noiselessly, and, beckoning her still, strode on, the heavy rain pouring down upon his bare head and soaking his thin evening dress.

Twenty minutes afterward the shadow of Maurice Durant's former self stole up the stairs he had so shortly a time since run down so lightly. His

Instant Relief From Eczema

You can stop that awful itch from eczema and other skin troubles in two seconds.

Seems too good to be true—but it is true, and we vouch for it.

Just a few drops of the simple, cooling wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for eczema, a new remedy that is attracting widespread attention and the itch stops instantly. The first bottle will prove it.

Eczema, Bad Leg, Ring-worm, Salt Rheum, Barber's Itch, Psoriasis, Open Sores and Itching Rashes and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue.

This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years and years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

GERMANS RETIRE.
LONDON, March 13. Further retirement of the Germans on a front between four and five thousand yards to an unknown depth is reported by Reuters from the British front in France. The movement was still in progress when the despatch was sent. The British have gone right through the strong German positions and seized the village of Grevillers, west of Bapaume. The retirement, which followed a heavy British bombardment, was made under cover of hazy weather.

ON THE WEST FRONT.
LONDON, March 13. The official report from the British headquarters in France announces the abandonment by the Germans of their main defensive system west of Bapaume on a front of three and one-half miles. British troops drove back the German rear-guard to a depth of a mile, and occupied Grevillers and Loupart Wood. The text of the report reads: In consequence of our bombardment of his trenches yesterday the enemy abandoned his main defensive system along the forward crest of the ridge west of Bapaume on a front of three and one-half miles. During the day our advancing troops have driven back the enemy's rear-guard in this area for a depth of a mile and have occupied the village of Grevillers and Loupart Wood. We have also made further progress east and northeast of Gommecourt on a front of about a mile. Hostile raids were repulsed during the night in the neighborhood of Neuville St. Vaast, Souchez and Armentieres. In each the enemy failed to reach our trenches. Another hostile raiding party succeeded in reaching our trenches southwest of Neuve Chapelle. A few of our men are missing. Our artillery carried out effective bombardment of the enemy's positions in the Somme east of Neuville St. Vaast.

IN MESOPOTAMIA.
LONDON, March 13. British cavalry from Bagdad have occupied Kazimain on the Tigris River, five miles above Bagdad, it was announced today. Occupation took place March 11th. Considerable booty was taken at Bagdad. Five hundred wounded left in the city, were made prisoners by the British.

Since Feb. 25th said the official report, the Turks have been destroying and removing everything valuable in Bagdad. A lot of equipment, arms and ammunition fell into our hands. Lieut-General Maude, telegraphing last Sunday night, gives details leading up to and subsequent capture of Bagdad early on Sunday. The text of General Maude's account is as follows: Saturday evening we maintained a close touch with the enemy on both banks of the Tigris, south of Bagdad. During the night the enemy evacuated his entire trench line while we pushed forward in close contact. Before dawn on Sunday a general advance on both banks was ordered, and at 5.50 a.m. we occupied the railway station, the city being entered shortly afterwards. Our cavalry pushed forward in pursuit, and after slight resistance occupied Kazimain, capturing over 100 prisoners and four damaged airplanes. Our gunboats now took up the pursuit. During this recent fighting fierce gales, blinding dust storms, lack of water away from the river, and vigorous pursuit made operations arduous. Since Feb. 23rd the Turks have been busy destroying their arms and ammunition. Five hundred Turkish wounded also were abandoned by the enemy. On the left bank of the Tigris dead were counted on Saturday, and 300 prisoners were taken. On entering Bagdad the local inhabitants gave us a warm welcome. Slight disturbances occurred in the city consequent upon the Turkish evacuation, but complete order was restored when our troops entered.

THE GERMAN SUB.
NEW YORK, March 13. The Evening Sun publishes the following: Washington, March 13.—About sixty German submarines were captured or destroyed between Jan. 1st and Feb. 15th, according to reports received here to-day. This was the first authoritative word of the Entente success in coping with the undersea boats. With this average of one and one-half submarines a day the success of the German submarines in the long run is doubtful, it is believed here. Unofficial reports have asserted that Germany had from 300 to 500 submarines. Experts here think, however, that if the Entente can continue at the rate shown between Jan. 1st and Feb. 15th, and can improve thereon, Germany will soon feel the strain upon this weapon, and ultimately she will be forced to give up its use.

UNIDENTIFIED BRITISH SUCCESS.
LONDON, March 13. The Kellinische Volks Zeitung is quoted by the Central News Amsterdam correspondent as describing the occupation of Bagdad as an undeniable success for the British, especially as the British also have succeeded in driving the Turks from the Sinai Peninsula. The event must be regretted, but it has not the least influence on the decision of the war, the newspaper says, Mesopotamia being a secondary theatre of operations. The loss of Bagdad, it comments, is nevertheless painful to the Turks.

RAILWAY TROUBLE.
NEW YORK, March 13. Information received by the National Conference Committee composed of managers of the great railway systems and made public by that body today indicates that the four Employers' Brotherhoods have completed arrangements for a progressive series of strikes to Saturday night, if the conference on the eight hour question held here Thursday fails to reach a satisfactory agreement proposed. The strike programme according to this information is as follows: Saturday at 6 o'clock they will call out all trainmen in the freight service on the New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Erie Atlantic coast line, Southern Railway, Louisville and Nashville and Seaboard Air Line. Such an order would involve some 40,000 men. Monday, March 19th at 6 p.m. they will call out freight trainmen on the Lehigh Valley, Lackawanna, Jersey Main Central, Pennsylvania, Long Island, Main Central, Delaware and Hudson, Reading and all other roads in South Eastern Territory, extending to New York. Tuesday, March 20th, at 6 p.m. they will call out all freight trainmen in the North Western group including the Hall Roads and all those centering at Chicago. Wednesday, March 21st, at 6 p.m. if the railroad still refuse to grant the men's demands, they will extend the strike to all other freight trainmen and call out passenger trainmen on every road in the country.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.
PARIS, March 13. Several attacks were made by Germans last night and all were repulsed, the war office announced today. A strong German detachment which attempted to advance on the Courcy Road was checked. Another futile attempt was made near Beau Ex Chivy. Two German attacks on Hill 184 and on Louvement works on the Verdun front were countered easily. The French took 150 prisoners yesterday. During the night the Germans bombarded Solsonas, and the French successfully raided German trenches between the Ancre and the Aisne.

INSTRUCTIONS COMPLETED.

WOMEN AND MEN ALIKE ARE INTERESTED IN THE EVENING TELEGRAM

A HONEYMOON EXPERIENCE.
LONDON, March 13. Details of the sinking of the Norwegian steamer Dalmatia, 773 tons gross, by a German submarine on Feb. 11th, are given by the wife of the captain of the steamer, who was accompanying her husband for the first time, this being their honeymoon trip. She says the ship sank at 6.45 o'clock in the morning in eighteen minutes. After the first shot was fired we were helped into small boats and abandoned in mid-Atlantic. After three days of unspeakable hardships, during which one sailor died of exposure and three others were frost-bitten, the boats were picked up by the Danish schooner Ellen Penson.

WITHDRAWAL OF AMERICANS.
WASHINGTON, March 13. The probable early withdrawal of all Americans participating in Belgian relief, including the withdrawal of Brand Whitlock, the American Minister to Brussels, as a result of the pressure of the German submarine campaign, was forecast today at the State Department, and the official report on the submarineing of the relief ship Storstad intensified the situation. Arrangements would have been made for some time for the replacement of the Americans by a joint Dutch and Spanish commission, but that there are no Spaniards in Belgium. It is possible the Swiss may share in the work. Germany's unwillingness to guarantee the safety of relief ships leads officials to believe she is trying to break up the relief work.

TABLET UNVEILED.
LONDON, March 13. United States Ambassador, Page, this afternoon delivered an address at the unveiling in St. Paul's Cathedral of a memorial tablet to the late Edwin A. Abbey, an American artist. Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyle, unveiled the memorial. This tablet, said the Ambassador, is but another link of the endless chain which binds all parts of the English-speaking world together, and will for ever hold them true to their common high ideals.

BAN ON SHIPPING INFORMATION.
NEW YORK, March 13. A ban on shipping information at the custom house was today made complete by order of the Treasury Department. Under the new orders the manifest of incoming ships, including American coastwise, will be withheld, as well as all other shipping information, with the exception of monthly statistics on imports and exports.

ACCEPTS COMPROMISE.
NEW YORK, March 13. The crews of American ice steamers are willing to accept the war bonus of fifty per cent. wage increase offered by Franklyn, head of the International Mercantile Marine Company, it was announced today by Gustave A. Braun, Secretary of the Atlantic District International Seamen's Union. The men demanded seventy-five per cent. Besides the wage bonus, it was said the proposition guaranteed seamen insurance of personal effects and provision for their families and dependents till their return to this port. Braun asserted the Union disapproved of the action of those members of the crews who had threatened to strike.

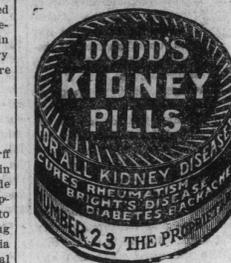

HOLLAND SUPERVISOR.
NEW YORK, March 13. Belgian relief work by America is to continue uninterrupted by a break of relations between Germany and the States, but it was disclosed here today that an effort is to be made to have Holland supervise the distribution of this charity in Northern France, which is underground control. Herbert C. Hoover, head of the Belgian Relief Commission, sailed today on a neutral ship for a Spanish port. He will go from Spain to London and resume direction there of relief efforts. The reason for the work in Northern France being turned over to the Dutch, as explained here to-day, was that Germany decided not to let Americans remain in a district where German military considerations make their departure advisable.

BLOCKADE DISCUSSION.
LONDON, March 13. The arrival in Europe of Bernstorff has caused a renewed discussion in Berlin of the submarine blockade between the political, naval and diplomatic representatives, according to the Norwegian Mercantile Shipping Gazette, says Reuter's Christiania correspondent. Some German naval attaches in neutral countries have been called to Berlin for a conference, continues the despatch. The alteration but not the raising of the blockade is probable. These conferences, it is indicated by the publication, arose out of developments during Von Bernstorff's stay in Christiania when indirect efforts, it is said, were made to prevent the situation between Germany and America developing into war.

NEW TAXES TO BE INCLUDED.
LONDON, March 13. Many new taxes will be included in the new budget which is soon forthcoming. Bonar Law's general plan will be to impose heavy duties where they will prove the most effective deterrents of extravagance. He proposes to make utterly impossible any earning of profits in any business or line of business that tempts people to waste. The Government will take the profits, thus ending such enterprise. A big increase in general taxes on excess profits is expected also.

WATCHING GERARD.
NEW YORK, March 13. A despatch to the Herald from Havana, dated last night, says secret agents of Germany have trailed Kaners Gerard from the moment he landed at Havana until the time of his leaving here on board the steamer Governor Cobb this morning. When the vessel started, one of the German agents occupied a stateroom next that of the returning Ambassador. A high official of the company informed me that this agent will be turned over to the authorities at Key West when the Governor Cobb arrives there. While talking in the lobby of the Plaza Hotel this morning Gerard saw one of the German agents who had been most obtrusive and persistent in his efforts to shadow him. Gerard hastened up to the man who was a typical German spy. The spy taking alarm fled. The former Ambassador's trail was taken up immediately by another German who followed him to the steamer where the spy had reserved a stateroom. Tho' an authority close to Gerard, I was informed of the persistent efforts made by the Germans to stop the American diplomat from reaching Washington. I am in a position to say that Gerard carries papers containing information which will place Germany in more unfavorable positions than she now is. According to men close to Gerard important developments are expected in the German situation soon after his conference with Wilson. Gerard's train is expected to reach Washington at half-past twelve Wednesday.

WEDNESDAY, March 14th, 1917.

VICTORY— AND THE PRICE.

The Germans have again retired on the Ancre. There is something like an undercurrent of excitement in certain sentences of the messages from London, as if far more momentous tidings were at hand. The position, even in skeleton form on the map, justifies it. Grevillers, now occupied by the British, and Ligny overlook Bapaume from above and below at scarce a mile's distance. If our troops can push forward further north and take Achiet, they will cut off direct railway communication between Arras and Bapaume, a very material gain. But it is plain that more than the mere evacuation and occupation of Bapaume is expected. Possibly in these operations military men will be able to see, on a small scale, what a general retreat on this greatly congested front, bristling with huge artillery, really means. No instance of it has yet occurred. We are inclined to share the opinion of a few experts, expressed when first the trench deadlock occurred, that the very strength and consequent immobility of the German line will prove its weakness in the end. Assuming that a retirement over a very wide, or over the whole, front becomes necessary, so great is the concentration of men and guns that army movements, in the old sense, will be impossible, the whole line will move and the retreating forces will be followed all the way by a pitiless rain of shells and harassed unceasingly by the cavalry and victory-flushed infantry of the pursuers. The general scheme of the railway systems in France and Belgium, paralleling as it does the present lines, will aid the Allies in this to an important degree. It is to be noted that the messages emphasize several times the constant pressure of the British troops upon the enemy, despite the unfavorable conditions. It is easy enough to speak of retiring to prepared positions, but the operation is not an easy one, and the British artillery has a way not only of cutting up the troops that attempt it but of making a mess of the positions when they are reached.

Many Citizens Before Court.

Forty-eight Water Street business people were before court to-day, charged with breach of the Municipal regulations, not clearing the ice off their sidewalks. Thirty cases were disposed of. Most of the defendants were fined 50 cents and costs; a few proved that the Council were responsible for the condition of their sidewalks and were let off; also one expert porter did not show up when called and a warrant was issued for his arrest. He put in an appearance and gave satisfactory reason for his absence, showing there was no intention of contempt. It was the second time he was up for not clearing the ice and he was fined $1 and costs.

Train Notes.

The outgoing express left Millerton Junction at 10.20 a.m. to-day. The local from Carbonear reached the city at 1 p.m. to-day. The incoming express with mail and passengers, is not expected to leave Port aux Basques till early tomorrow morning. The Trepassay train reached the city at 1 p.m. to-day.

The Wrong Ammunition

(From the Boston Herald.)

The arrest of an alleged German spy among the employees of the great Eddystone ammunition works at Chester, Pa., recently, may save some Russian army divisions from disaster. George Koob had been at work for about two weeks as an inspector, and he is accused of tampering with the gauge of loaded shells leaving the finishing department. His reported connection with a German detective agency may have to be proved, but the imperfection of the shells that passed through his hands is said to be admitted. This incident suggests an explanation of the mystery of wrong ammunition which caused serious trouble to General Brusiloff while he was making his great drive in Galicia last July. He found that an immense number of shells that had been supplied to him did not fit his guns. Large consignments of them had to be sent to the rear as soon as they were sampled. And a curiously suspicious feature of the affair was the perfect suitability of those shells for German artillery. Had somebody planned that the Russian army should supply the German army by carrying this ammunition to the field for expected capture by the Germans? This may never be ascertained beyond doubt. But if there was such a scheme, it failed. The Germans did not capture the wrong Russian ammunition. There was a turning of the tables. The Russians captured German guns, and then the ammunition was just right. A slight change of gauge had seemed fatal at first, but it became helpful at the last.

Another Nfld. Fish Carrier Submerged.

Sergeant S. Smith, a France veteran, who has charge of the Water Street Recruiting Office, received this message from his father at Harbor Breton yesterday:—
"Sch. Lucy House sunk, presumably by submarine. Crew landed at Gibraltar. Will wire particulars when known."
The Lucy House was a well known hanker and foreign going fish carrier. Four years ago while on the finish of a voyage from Cadiz to Harbor Breton, she struck on Calpin's Rock and sank. Capt. Courtenay and two others of the crew were drowned. Subsequently she was found on her way to Gibraltar from Hr. Buffet, fish laden.
The Lucy House was a staunch vessel of 130 tons and was owned by J. Smith, of Hr. Breton. Her commander at the time of her mishap was Capt. Parry.

Recruiting Party Leaves For Burin District.

By to-day's train the following recruiting party left for Placentia, where they will connect with the Flota for a tour of the Burin district in search of recruits: Sergts. Nugent and Squires; Corp. Small; Lance Corp. Hawke; and Royal Naval Reservists Fitzpatrick and Crews. It is probable that Mr. J. S. Bancroft, who has lately been so successful in his efforts for the flag, will join them later by the Glencoe.

The squad will conduct a vigorous and rousing campaign of the district and good results are expected. The first meeting will be held at Grand Bank. The population of the district is about 12,000, of which about 900 men are of eligible age. Of these some 300 have enlisted, or 2 1/2 per cent. This figure is about 1/2 per cent. of the whole population. Lawrence is the banner settlement, with a contribution to the cause of 4 per cent. This figure is aimed at for the whole district, and considering the margin left should be easily attainable. March up, men of Burin, and show the stuff you are made of!

We shall be glad to acknowledge any subscriptions in our columns. Gifts of clothing would also be very acceptable and could be sent direct to the family, for whom universal sympathy is felt.

Meeting of Nurses.

Lady Davidson presided at a meeting of the nursing profession held at Government House yesterday afternoon. The collection of a fund to assist in providing Homes of Rest for Nurses throughout the Empire was discussed and it will likely be arranged shortly to have stalls opened along Water Street and have nurses there every day to receive subscriptions. These Homes will be a lasting memorial to the late Edith Cavell. The first Home is to be endowed at Surrey, England, at $20,000 and some of this Colony's nurses, accepted by the Imperial Nursing Service, may yet become occupants of this or similar institutions.

Flight-Lieutenant Howard Reid,

Newfoundland's Birdman, en Route For Home.

A message was received in the city yesterday from Flight-Lieut. Howard Reid, of the Royal Naval Air Service, stating he had arrived at New York on Monday and was en route for home. With the proper connections Lieut. Reid should join the incoming express which is expected to leave Port aux Basques early to-morrow morning. Great preparations are being made by the employees of the Reid Nfld. Co. to welcome the returning airman, and this morning a private car was attached to the outgoing mail and freight train to be joined up to the incoming express at the crossing point. Mr. Kent, manager of the general stores, is looking after the decorations and every station along the line will display bunting. Since leaving here about Jan. 1915, Lieut. Reid has had many and varied experiences and could, if he were permitted, tell many a thrilling and interesting story in connection with the hazardous position he holds in the R.N.A.S., but like the other branches of the service its members are not allowed to talk freely of what they see and hear. Leaving here with a draft of "Ours" as temporary lieutenant he was on arrival in England attached to the Royal Flying Corps, in which he served for two months, when he was transferred to the R.N.A.S. Very soon after he was sent to the Far East and for a considerable time was stationed at Malta. From there he was transferred to a battle cruiser, which was fitted to carry airplanes. It was while attached to this ship that, in company with 17 other airmen, he made the successful flight from Mudros, on the Island of Lemnos in the Aegean Sea, to Bucharest and return, a distance of several hundred miles. Lieut. Reid is being accompanied by his sister, Miss Lois Reid, and his brother Master Leonard Reid.

We have again secured the Fertilizers of the Colonial Fertilizer, located at Windsor, N.S. Other fertilizers, difficult to obtain last year, are practically unobtainable for the coming season, and as much of the present consignment is already booked we would ask all who need the fertilizers to order at once, in order to save disappointment. In bags of 100 lbs. Prices on application.

Landed.

(From the Albany Evening Journal.)
"God knows where we will land if this country enters the war," exclaimed James R. Mann, of Chicago, leader of the Republican members of the House of Representatives, in a speech delivered last Friday.
"God knows where we will land," said the men of Boston in 1775, "if we toss this tea into Massachusetts Bay."
"God knows where we will land," said Thomas Jefferson to John Hancock on the 4th of July, 1776, "if we affix our signatures to this Declaration of Independence."
"God knows where we will land," said George Washington to his officers at Valley Forge in 1777, "if we don't surrender before the winter is over."
"God knows where we will land," said Abraham Lincoln to William H. Seward when the Stars and Stripes on Fort Sumter were fired upon in April, 1861, "unless we give up the Union."
"God knows where we will land," said Admiral Dewey at Manila, May 1, 1898, "if you fra."
God knows where the American nation will land if it does not defend its citizens in their lawful occupations or "their rightful errands on the high seas," to use the words of President Wilson in his address of February 3 last.
God knows where the Hon. James R. Mann has already landed!

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding took place at the Manse yesterday afternoon when the Rev. Gordon Dickie united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony Mr. Frederick Orchard, of New York, and Miss Sarah Escott, of this city. The groom was supported by Mr. Alexander Cook, of Cook's Dairy Farm, Portugal Cove Road, while the bride was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Alexander Cook. Only the immediate relatives were present. Mr. Orchard holds a lucrative position as accountant in an automobile establishment in the State of New York, while the bride is well known as one of our most popular "Hullo" girls at the Telephone Exchange. The Telegram wishes Mr. and Mrs. Orchard many years of wedded happiness.

Pounds and Marks

No expectation of success can rival the British loan. The total is the greatest ever offered any Government. German critics said it could not be considered a success unless at least four billions of new money was offered. Five billions is offered, and all offered is not taken, and yet the total is less impressive than the details. Some 2,200,000 subscribers took $125,000,000 in sums less than 21. All together eight millions subscribed. Bank subscriptions were discouraged, and the rate was put at 5 instead of 6 per cent., although experts said failure was invited. No remnant of doubt that England is resolved to carry the war to its just end can be entertained by anybody in any country.

It is in Germany that this news will be most unwelcome. It faces another loan, and the comparison will be equivalent to the loss of a battle or many battleships. Germany has issued 47,000,000,000 marks of loans, or, say, something less than $12,000,000,000. The population of Germany is larger than England's, but the popular participation has been about half of the present British standard, and on a constantly decreasing scale. England has put its neck into the collar and has laid enough taxes on interest account to stagger patriotism and capacity for financial endurance. For example, the British income tax maximum is above 40 per cent., and the war profits tax is 60 per cent. Germany has shrunk from this test of solidity and endurance. Borrowings have paid for borrowings, and currency has paid for Government issues, and mortgage has been piled on mortgage, until doubt is created whether the ability exists to pay taxes necessary for solvency. Already Germany has had to increase without providing for the interest on its borrowings. Already the debt service is 3,566,000,000 marks; and yet it is still proposed to meet it from the proceeds of the forthcoming loan. Germany is accustomed to balance budgets by loans, but borrowing to pay interest is a sort of finance to which there can be only one sure end—N. Y. Times.

The Church of Ireland.

London Daily News: How Gladstone would have appreciated, if he were living to-day, the announcement that the Church of Ireland has contributed the tidy sum of £1,400,000 to the War Loan! When Gladstone disestablished the Church in 1869 he was the great "robber" and the most gloomy prophecies of the future of the Anglican Church in Ireland were made. Archbishop Trench, of Dublin (who lies in Westminster Abbey, of which he was Dean), was in such despair when the Act was passed that he thought he was paralyzed. As a fact, Gladstone saved the Irish Church from ruin. At the time there were churches without congregations, and many absentee incumbents with extravagant bishoprics sometimes filled from this country. Swift once said that very holy men were sent over as Bishops, but were waylaid on Hounslow Heath by highwaymen, who appropriated their garb and went to Ireland. Independent of the State and very largely under lay control the Disestablished Church has prospered beyond all expectation. There are no very rich clergy, but every clergyman has a living wage, and the Protestant laity have rallied to the Church in a manner unknown in Establishment days.

Your Boys and Girls.

A little boy I know keeps in a drawer a number of pennies, each partitioned off from the other by slips of cardboard. Each penny represents pocket money for one week. At first he spends his penny every week quite contentedly on sweets, but there came a day when he wanted to buy a toy worth three pennies. He found that two different ways were open to him, first to go without the top and spend the penny as usual; second, to wait three weeks for two accumulated pennies. Through this experience he finds the advantage and disadvantage of paying cash, or saving up, and of going into debt, and all this from his own experience, without any moralizing from his father and mother. He must learn that money stands as an equivalent for work; that there is a definite limit to its appearance, and part of his allowance at least should be given in return for services rendered.

Everyday Etiquette.

"When a young man takes me to a place of amusement should I ask him to come in after we come home or is it best not to do so?" was Nan's problem. "If the hour is not too late and it is convenient for your family it is all right to ask the young man into the house," answered Auntie.

Marshall Bros

When We are Reckless.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

In times of stress and excitement look out for money. If you don't, it will fly.

You spend more money unnecessarily in a few days of excitement than you can save in weeks.

In times of sickness, for instance, excitement and anxiety combine to make you reckless. It seems hard to think of money at a time like that and so you forget your budget and the inevitable day of reckoning, and spend wildly. And not only are you lavish in your expenditure for the bedroom that your purse strings are looser all around. You can't think of money.

Remember Your Running Mate Must Share the Burden.

By and by the illness passes, the crisis of excitement is over and you go back to the routine of daily living. Then the day of reckoning comes and you find yourself poorer than you care to think. Perhaps the ex-invalid is your running mate and then he or she, in addition to the effort of taking up the daily tasks in a weakened state, has to help shoulder the burden of debt or depleted savings.

Of course, to have to think of money when someone you love is ill is one of the hardest things in the world. Poverty imposes no more cruel discipline than the necessity of weighing the need of medical attendance in the balance with one's ability to afford it. These things shouldn't be, but since they are, one must try to do the sick person justice without doing his future and yours an injustice.

How The Money Files When We Travel!

Travel is another condition under which, the inhibition of daily living being removed, we spend out of all proportion to what we need and can afford.

Vacations are also danger spots, and the excitement of the holiday season.

"It's only once a year," we say of each, and snap go the purse strings. Daily expense accounts are invaluable at times like these. If you don't kick completely over the traces and stop keeping them they act as an automatic brake.

And yet, even as I write, I am assailed by the other side of this matter.

Could There Be A Greater Luxury Than Letting Up?

If you have to watch pennies fifty weeks in the year, could you have a greater luxury in the other two than to let up on that grinding vigilance? It sometimes seems to me that the hardest thing the families who live on what people in comfortable circumstances set aside for spending money have to bear, is not the deprivations, but this eternal, narrowing, heart-sickening watching of the pennies.

If they don't do it, they get into debt.

If they do do it, they are likely to get dry rot of the soul.

Between these two fates lies an infinitely narrow path. And if anyone in the world deserves a laurel wreath it is the men and women who manage to keep in it.

We have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in our home for a number of years and use no other. Liniment but MINARD'S, and we can recommend it highly for sprains, bruises, pains or tightness of the chest, soreness of the throat, headache or anything of that sort. We will not be without it one single day, for we get a new bottle before the other is all used. I can recommend it highly to anyone.

Death of H. C. Watts, Esq.

(H. F. SHORTIS.)

The many friends of Henry Corbin Watts, the well-known business man of Harbor Grace, learned with the deepest regret that he had been unexpectedly called from amongst us, a telegram being received by his brother, H. J. Watts, H.M.C., to that effect, on Monday evening.

Henry Corbin Watts was born in Harbor Grace sixty-one years ago, and received his education under the illustrious teacher of the Grammar School, John Irving Roddick, father of Canada's most famous physician, Sir Thos. G. Roddick, of Montreal. At school, Corb, as we always called him, while not possessing that brilliant dash of a few of the most prominent pupils, always managed to hold his own in the race for honors, and by his strict application and dogged perseverance, he managed, like Capt. Bill Bartlett, of the Viking, to be amongst the coveted numbers ten from the top, after the week's work, and this, as the old pupils who are still alive, will recognize, was no easy task.

About forty years ago, he started the provision and grocery business which he conducted with marked success up to the time of his demise. Nor did he confine himself to this business alone, for at a very early age he displayed a natural aptitude for horticulture, agriculture, etc., and for many years his two large and well kept farms are pictures to look at. At all the Agricultural Shows his products took a foremost place, and his poultry, of which he always kept a large supply, were eagerly sought after, more especially during the Christmas season, when quite a large number would be shipped and disposed of in St. John's and other towns. He also went in largely for cattle raising, and in every industry that he took up, by care and application, he always conducted the venture with success. He possessed a comprehensive grasp of the public affairs of Newfoundland, and an extensive knowledge of the general business affairs of the colony. In fact he was always at home upon any subject, local or foreign. His was a quiet, unaffected personality of real kindness which won the affection of all with whom he came into contact. Big-hearted, straightforward, always loyal to the interests of the people in all he considered right, he retained the respect and esteem of friend, and, if ever he possessed a foe, of him also, but I never heard of poor Corb having a foe, politically or otherwise, in my life. His mind was large enough to grasp the truth of the early writings of Virgil, which if my schoolboy classics serve me right, says: "quot homines tot sententiae," so many men so many opinions.

But it was in his knowledge of the historical events and traditions of our country that he eclipsed all with whom I have come into connection, and with his wonderfully retentive memory and pleasing descriptive powers he could run off matters of the greatest interest that have never found a place in the history of our country. His father, the late Claudius Watts, Esq., was almost a centenarian at the time of his death seven or eight years ago, and in his early days was employed in the great firm of the millionaires, George and James Kemp, of Carbonear who were relatives of his. Mr. Claudius Watts' father was also in the same employ, I think, up to the time they retired and went to Poole, England. Both the father and grandfather of our deceased friend were men of learning and great literary attainments, and kept diaries or references to all the great events that occurred during their lives, as well as the traditions that were handed down to them from the very earliest days in our history. It was indeed a pleasure to spend an afternoon with H. C. Watts, and I sincerely hope and trust that the valuable historical documents and notes possessed by my old school-fellow will be taken care of, for should anything happen to them it would indeed be a historical loss.

Mr. Watts has left a brother, H. J. Watts, the highly respected official of H. M. Customs, St. John's; one sister, Mrs. James Parsons, several nephews, nieces and other relatives, as well as hosts of friends amongst whom stand prominently his old school-fellows of the Grammar School, at home and abroad, to mourn the loss of kind friend and upright citizen and an honest man.

I forgot to mention that his brother, Capt. Theodore Watts, one of the most successful seal-killers and ship-masters in the Southern Seas, who sailed out of New Zealand for many years, died about twenty years ago, and his widow and children have been residing with the deceased for nearly that period. One of them, Rupert, fought through the Gallipoli campaign but died about twelve months ago and was interred in a hero's grave far from home and kindred.

SUBMARINE SUPPLY SHIPS.

LONDON, March 13. A despatch from Amsterdam yesterday to the Daily Chronicle says news brought from Germany to-day is to the effect that two of the largest submarines of the Deutschland type are now acting as supply ships for smaller craft operating in the Atlantic. Four others of the largest submarines are also about to be commissioned for similar service. Great efforts are being made to sink shipping especially between America and England. Germany is attempting to perfect a plan whereby in case of war with America a decisive submarine campaign could immediately be put into operation.

LONDON, March 13.

Correspondents with the British headquarters in France telegraphing Tuesday evening concerning the occupation by the British of Loupart Wood and Greveliers describes the positions abandoned by the Germans as having seemed capable of defence until the garrison was driven out by attack. It would seem, however, the capture of Iries rendered the positions untenable and that the terrible concentration of British gunfire apparently caused the Germans to decide to withdraw before their troops were annihilated. All despatches speak of important activities continuing. The British advanced troops are said to be hard upon the heels of the Germans and more than keeping pace with the retreat. The writers evidently are expecting speedy occupation by the British of the important town of Bapaume, although they stop short of predicting it with certainty. "With luck we shall be there soon," says our correspondent. "Bapaume is now seriously directly threatened," says another. "The mist which obscured the country early to-day cleared during the evening. The weather became altogether finer and there was an increase in activity by the British troops." One correspondent with the forces in operation said, "We are on the eve of important movements. The enemy is not likely to escape the pressure on them without serious damage, even if they escape something like disaster." Another correspondent wires, "There should be important news available Wednesday."

LONDON, March 13.

The belief obtained in the Parliamentary lobbies to-night is that the Government will be successful in carrying the new Indian cotton duties. This belief is not due to any compromise on the question, either from the side of the Government or the Lancashire members. Lloyd George supported J. Auston Chamberlain, Secretary for India, in making a firm stand on the question. On the other hand the Lancashire members, after a meeting in the Commons to-night, decided to move an amendment to the Government's motion for to-morrow, repudiating the imposition of the duties unless a counter valuing excise duty was imposed. While the Premier succeeded in impressing the deputation representing the Lancashire cotton interests in urging the Government policy as a war measure, the real factor in bringing about a probable arrangement is the general reluctance to precipitate a general election. It is said such reluctance decided ex-Premier Asquith and his followers to do nothing that might place the Government in an embarrassing position. Hence they are unlikely to support the Lancashire amendment should it be pressed to a division. The attitude of the Nationalists is still uncertain. They desire to establish a tariff system under Irish Home Rule. It would, therefore, be illogical for them to oppose the Indian duties, much as they wish to vote against the Government. It is believed they will abstain from voting.

WASHINGTON, March 13th.

Seven lives were lost and one American placed in jeopardy by the sinking without warning by a submarine of the Cunard freighter Poly, off the Irish coast on Sunday. Consul Frost of Queenstown cabled the State Department to-day this report: "Seven lives lost by the sinking of the Cunard Poly out of a crew of 78." The Poly was bound from New York to Avonmouth and was torpedoed without warning five miles off Ram Head, County Waterford, during a heavy fog on Sunday at 7.20 a.m.

LONDON, March 13th.

The experience of the defensively armed British steamer Princess Melita which was forced by the Dutch Government to leave the Hook of Holland because of her armament, has raised an issue which it is believed will assume the nature of a test case. It is stated the British Government will insist upon defensively armed ships being permitted to enter Dutch ports. Negotiations between Britain and Holland regarding the retention of ships in Dutch harbors is still proceeding. The British Government is unbending in its determination not to acquiesce in the policy of the Dutch in keeping their ships in their harbors, because of the German threat. A compromise may be reached under which Holland can procure guarantees from both belligerents for safe-conduct for vessels.

AMSTERDAM, March 13.

The report that a German submarine has been stranded near Hellevotuis, on the Dutch coast, is confirmed by the Hetvokul. Fifteen members of the crew, says the newspaper, disembarked.

LONDON, March 13.

The British Government has received formal notification from the State Department at Washington of the decision to place armed guards on American merchant ships.

AMSTERDAM, March 13th.

A Vienna despatch to the Frankfurter Zeitung says it is reported in political circles that an Austrian cabinet crisis is imminent.

LONDON, March 13.

Premier Lloyd George to-day received a deputation representing the Lancashire Cotton Industry. The subject of Cotton and Dutch India was discussed. The proceedings were private, but a member of the deputation who was interviewed after the Conference said the Premier held out no hope that the Government would adopt its decision or consent to any compromise. It was said the Premier said he was unable to accede to the deputation's request to postpone the whole matter until after the war. The members of the deputation stated the Premier said he had been consulted by the Indian Government regarding the imposition of duties. He had made a most impressive speech explaining the necessity for the duties which would not be without effect on Lancashire, and it is possible that a result of the interview there will be

A Big Welcome for War Veterans.

There was a large gathering of citizens at the station yesterday afternoon to meet the seventeen returned soldiers, most of whom were badly wounded on July 1st, Oct. 11th and 12th and are now on furlough. The names of the veterans are: Lance Corp. Crane, Ptes. Nardini, Wiseman, Jennings, Walsh, Dwyer, Tabin, Vaisey, Jackman, Sinclair, Bishop, Wheeler, Daley, Winter, Cornick, Volsey and Boone. On stepping from the train Mr. W. J. Walsh called for cheers, which were heartily given. After the usual greetings had been extended between the relatives and friends of the heroes, they were lined up in front of the station and addressed by the Hon. J. R. Bennett, Acting Premier, who paid a high tribute to the veterans of Gallipoli and France who so nobly upheld the honor and glory of Britain's Oldest Colony. At the close of the Acting Premier's address cheers were given for the returned veterans, Mr. Bennett and the Ladies' Reception Committee, which had provided for the Reception Committee, the soldiers were driven to Government House and entertained by His Excellency and Lady Davidson.

A Sad Home Coming For War Veteran.

Included in the number of returned heroes to reach the city yesterday afternoon was Private George Jackman, son of the late E. M. Jackman, Esq. Private Jackman enlisted at the very beginning of the war and was with "ours" at Gallipoli, passing through that strenuous campaign without injury or a day's illness. When the Regiment was again at full strength he was transferred to France and took part in the immortal charge of July 1st. With hundreds of our brave lads, the majority of whom have paid the supreme sacrifice, he dashed toward the German trenches, and reached within a few yards of the objective, aimed at when he was hit in the left shoulder by a rifle bullet which fractured the bone. After lying on the field of battle for a considerable time he succeeded in working his way back to his own trenches and from there was sent to the field dressing station behind the line, and thence to England, where he was confined to Frazesley Hospital, Liverpool, only leaving that institution five weeks ago. During his stay in hospital the shattered limb was broken and reset twice, causing him much pain. The home coming of Pte. Jackman is indeed a sad one, for since leaving St. John's two and a half years ago, his father, grandfather and grandmother, to whom he was very much attached, have passed away. His first cousin, Pte. Michael Jackman, son of D. J. Jackman, Esq., Bell Island, was reported missing, and supposed killed on July 1st. His oldest brother, Pte. Patrick Jackman, of the Canadian Irish Rangers, is now in hospital at Halifax, having been taken sick on board a troopship when about to leave for England. Another brother, Pte. Edward Jackman, of the Irish Rangers, is now in England.

Husband and Three Sons on Overdue Ship.

Grave fears are entertained for the safety of the schr. L. H. B. Captain Isaac Bartlett, which left here October 29th, 1916, for a foreign port and has not been reported since. Another vessel is now close on ninety days out from this port. News of their safe arrival would be welcomed by the relatives and friends of those on board, especially by Mrs. (Capt.) Isaac Bartlett whose husband and one son left in the former schooner and two other sons in the latter.

THE THREATENED STRIKE IN AMERICA.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Complete plans of the four railway Brotherhoods for a nation-wide strike are to be inaugurated next Saturday unless the railroads grant the eight hour day demands ratified here to-day by the local union leaders from the southeastern territory and by a similar conference of representatives from the southwest held at St. Louis. The Brotherhood heads will tell this Thursday that if an agreement is not reached this week for the establishment of an eight hour basic day, with time and a half for overtime, the strike orders already issued to local organizations will become effective. The demands are just what they were last fall when President Wilson averted a strike after a call out by inducing Congress to pass the Adamson Law, which has never been put into effect, pending the decision of its constitutionality by the Supreme Court. There is every indication that the President is prepared to move again if it becomes apparent that the nation is facing the gravest international crisis in its history is about to have its transportation facilities paralyzed. THE INDIAN WAR LOAN.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Delhi says the Indian war loan, which opens on the 15th inst., is being widely advertised and supported by the press throughout the country. The Lieut. Governors and heads of provinces are to hold meetings with the object of encouraging participation in the loan. The Bank of Bengal is offering special facilities to intending investors.

WASHINGTON, To-day. American diplomats at home waiting for an opportunity to return to their posts in Europe will travel on armed American liners. Among them is Hugh Gibson, First Secretary to the Embassy in London, who expects to sail on the first American liner that starts across the Atlantic.

LONDON, To-day. The Norwegian steamer Lars Fost Nes, bound from America for Rotterdam with grain for the American Relief Commission, has been sunk without warning outside the blockade zone, according to the Norwegian Mercantile Shipping Gazette.

COLOSSAL FIGURES.

LONDON, To-day. It is understood the supplementary vote credit which will be moved on Thursday will be for £50,000,000. The announcement has created a mild sensation in the Commons in view of the granting of the sum of £550,000,000 as recently as February 12th. The explanation unofficially offered is that some new Government Departments have been spending more largely than was anticipated in connection with their war work. The February appropriations of £200,000,000 were for winding up the financial year which ends on March 31; the remainder was to lay the foundation for the new financial year beginning on April 1st. It is stated the former estimate proved short by about £50,000,000, due chiefly to the great shipbuilding programme. Assuming the new vote for £50,000,000 is granted, it will bring the total voted for the financial year ending March 31st to exactly £2,000,000,000.

PATRIOTIC RESOLUTION.

BOSTON, To-day. The Governors of the New England States, after several hours conference on the present disturbed condition of affairs, to-night adopted resolutions pledging their support and the support of the people of their States to the President in carrying out his announced policy of protecting United States lives and property on the high seas. The Governors urged the necessity of making forthwith the most energetic preparations for national defence on land and sea.

WAR REVIEW.

LONDON, To-day. Further notable gains have been made by the British forces against the Germans in the operations which have their object the capture of Bapaume and the general bending back of the German line eastward in the Somme and Ancre regions of France, according to the British War Office communication. Under another terrific bombardment the Germans abandoned their main defensive systems west of Bapaume on a front of three and a half miles to a depth of a mile. The advance gave King George's troops the village of Greveliers and Loupart Wood, bringing the advanced British forces at the former place to Seaut, a mile and a half northwest of the outskirts of Bapaume. North of the Ancre on the left wing of the British this particular operation has bent back the German line on a front of about a mile east and northeast of Comme-court and somewhat straightened out the curve extending from Essarts Les Boucquey to the region northeast of Puisieux au Mont. To the north of this region in the vicinity of Armentieres, Souchez and Neuville St. Vaast, northwest of Neuve Chapelle the Germans threw forward raiding parties, but all these met with repulse, according to London, except in the last named sector, where the Germans reached the British trenches and made prisoners of some occupants. Elsewhere on the line in France there have been only artillery engagements, which were particularly severe in Champagne on the sector of Maisons de Champagne and Massines and at various points on both sides of the Meuse region at Verdun. The Turks are evidently being given no rest by the British operating against them northward from Bagdad along the Tigris River. After the capture of Bagdad on Sunday the British cavalry kept on the heels of the retreating Turks and occupied the town of Kazimain, five miles to the north, taking more than 100 prisoners. Gunboats are proceeding up the river in pursuit of the Turks. Although the Turks for more than two weeks before the fall of Bagdad had been destroying or removing everything of value from the city, General Maude reports the capture of a large quantity of equipment, arms and ammunition. Considerable fighting has again broken out in Galicia and Macedonia between Lakes Ochrida and Presba, according to the German War Office. In the former region, north of the Zlochoff-Tarnopol railway the Germans made a raid on the Russian positions and captured 323 Russians, and thirteen of their machine guns. Near Brzezany along the Marayevka River they also made gains and took more than 250 prisoners. In Macedonia the French essayed an attack between Lake Ochrida and Lake Presba, but were repulsed, says Berlin. In the Austro-Italian theatre artillery on both sides continues to carry out bombardments against the opposing positions; raiding parties are also active.

BRITISH NOW HOLD ALL HIGH GROUND.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Mar. 13. The ridge overlooking Bapaume from the northwest, which had come to be looked upon by the British as a sort of promising land ever since the battle of the Somme began last July, passed into the hands of General Haig's troops to-day. For the first time since the great struggle on this front opened the British have the advantage of the highest ground and can now look down upon the famous German stronghold and a wide extent of country beyond. British officers believe that they are now in position to take Bapaume whenever the word is given. Greveliers was captured last night, and the new British lines stretch along the ridge which runs northwest from that point to the outskirts of Achiet le Petit, a point still strongly held by the Germans. In this latest forward movement the British have taken possession of the noted Loupart Wood, consisting of great clumps of trees situated on the representatives on Thursday with our entire membership united behind our demands," said W. G. Lee, head of the trainmen. Unofficially the Brotherhood officials, emphasized their determination to allow nothing to prevent the strike, except concessions from the railroads. They declined to discuss hours (?) if the Supreme Court should hand down a decision holding the Adamson Act to be constitutional. It is possible a decision will be announced by the Court on Monday next, decision day.

SHIPBUILDING BOOM IN CANADA.

OTTAWA, To-day. Sixty million dollars worth of shipping is now under construction in Canadian yards, according to information obtained from official sources. This includes the shipbuilding contracts for twenty-five million dollars placed by the Imperial Munitions Board on behalf of the British Government, more than one hundred sailing ships under construction in various points throughout the country and certain other vessels, of which for obvious reasons details cannot be made public, and there is also reason to expect that before many weeks have passed, contracts for a great deal of extra tonnage will be let. In carrying out this big shipbuilding programme there is the greatest possible co-operation between the British controller of shipping, the Imperial Munitions Board, the Dominion Government, the largest ship building plants and many small builders of ocean-going coastwise craft. With the large number of contracts of tonnage that exist, it is the confident expectation in official circles that the foundation of a great permanent Canadian shipbuilding industry is being created. With that end in view the coming session of Parliament will likely see proposals for some measure of Government assistance in addition to the aid now granted in the form of graving docks subsidies.

PAPAL STATEMENT EXPECTED.

ROME, To-day. It is still asserted in Vatican circles that the Pope will not include in the allocution which he will deliver on March 22nd any political message, but it is believed that this is done not in order to arouse expectations, but to give the Pontiff a really preparing a new and important statement regarding the international situation. Those who hold this view point to the long conversation which the Pope had with the two English Cardinals, Gasquet and Bourne, the latter having remained in Rome for about four months despite pressing affairs, urging his return to his work at Westminster. The Pope has also conferred with Mgr. Billot, a French Cardinal, with Mgr. Fruhwirth, a German Cardinal, living in Rome, and also Father Dominic Reuter ex-General of the Capuchin Order and Director of the Office, collecting information about prisoners in all belligerent countries.

BAGDAD A BLOW TO GERMANY.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. The Kolnische Volks Zeitung does not hesitate to call the taking of Bagdad by the British a deplorable event. It points out that the surrender of Kut was rightly regarded as a heavy blow to British prestige in the East, and the present successful offensive will logically have the contrary effect. Generally the German papers admit the British success and do not endeavour to depreciate its significance. The Frankfurter Zeitung says the British occupation of Bagdad produces a situation in the East which demands the most serious attention, not only in military but in political quarters. It admits that if peace negotiations are opened within a time not too remote every bit of land belonging to Germany and her allies which falls into the possession of the enemy will possess the value of a pledge. The Cologne Gazette begins its article: "The English operations in Mesopotamia have been accompanied by great success. The British flag floats over Bagdad. In all the bazaars of the East the news will resound that the Peringshi have beaten the warriors of the Padishah and captured the city, which for long centuries was invested with a garment of story like a fairy tale." The newspaper observes that it is a mistake to underestimate the significance of the success, but claims that it is primarily political and not military.

BRITISH NOW HOLD ALL HIGH GROUND.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Mar. 13. The ridge overlooking Bapaume from the northwest, which had come to be looked upon by the British as a sort of promising land ever since the battle of the Somme began last July, passed into the hands of General Haig's troops to-day. For the first time since the great struggle on this front opened the British have the advantage of the highest ground and can now look down upon the famous German stronghold and a wide extent of country beyond. British officers believe that they are now in position to take Bapaume whenever the word is given. Greveliers was captured last night, and the new British lines stretch along the ridge which runs northwest from that point to the outskirts of Achiet le Petit, a point still strongly held by the Germans. In this latest forward movement the British have taken possession of the noted Loupart Wood, consisting of great clumps of trees situated on the shoulder of the high ridge and overlooking the entire Somme battlefield. This wood has masked a great number of German batteries and from it hostile shells have rained upon the British for eight months past. Its capture has been a source of the highest satisfaction to the British staff, as it was one of the most formidable artillery posts the Germans had established in the western theatre. The country about Loupart Wood and beyond is in quite good shape. As a matter of fact, Greveliers was the first touch of real civilization, the Tommies said, they have had in many moons. "Why," said one stalwart Australian to-day, "do you know there are regular houses in Greveliers with real roofs on them." What this means to men who have fought so long in the squalor of mud, of the Somme Valley can only be grasped by those who have lived amid the hideous scenes of destruction. The Germans have always hitherto had the advantage of the high villages, possession of which has been so bitterly contested. There has been nothing but pulverizing ruins which offered a shelter for the soldiers. Here there are not burning the country back of the German lines looks green and wonderfully inviting. The German positions on the Loupart line had been completely registered by the British guns on Sunday morning, and that afternoon the heavy artillery commenced its work of destruction. Thirty hours of terrific bombardment was all that the defenders could withstand. One prisoner said that he was the only survivor of a squad of ten who were in a dugout which was blown to bits by a British shell.

BIG GERMAN RETREAT FORESHADOWED.

LONDON, To-day. A German withdrawal on a great scale on the western front is foreshadowed by Major Morant in an article in the Berliner Tageblatt, which is quoted in a Rotterdam despatch to the Daily News.

some modification of the views of the Lancashire members, who immediately proceeded to the House of Commons to take the matter under further consideration.

LONDON, March 13th. The Lords to-day passed the second reading of a bill to deprive enemy princes of British titles and dignities after the Government had promised to refer the bill to a special committee for further consideration. This promise was the outcome of difference between some of the peers who desired to shelve the bill on the ground that it was absurd to regard certain princes as traitors.

LONDON, March 13th. In the course of an interview granted the Copenhagen correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch, Count Von Bernstorff, interrogated as to whether he thought there would be war between Germany and the States, replied, "that depends on our U boat warfare. If we sink American ships we shall get war; if not I suppose we can avoid it." And if, asked the correspondent, Germany sinks British ships with American citizens aboard? To this Count Von Bernstorff replied, "That is not the same."

The first time for the season that an extra play-off was necessary to decide, happened last night when the Feildians and Victorias clashed. The players were:—

Hunt	Goal.	Feildians.	Paterson
Knight	Goal.	Victorias.	Paterson
Brien	Point.
Reid	Cover.
Duggan	Rover.
Coulas	Centre.
Power	Right.
	Left.

Fast play was exhibited by both sides. The Feildians showed best combination work and as a result scored the first goal. Just before half time the Victorias, through long shots, scored twice. In the second period the Feildians appeared to be in better form. Ewing swept the ice on two occasions and scored. It was the best display of stick-handling witnessed in the rink this season. Duggan scored the equalizer for the Vics. When full time was called the score stood three all.

Three periods of five minutes were played without any scoring being done. During the next spasm the Feildians bombarded the Vics. goal. Ewing shot and Hunt stopped, but the puck rebounded from his skates to the goal post and onlookers believed that a goal had been registered. However, it was not given and the game continued. A minute later and Power scored the fourth goal and got the decision.

Mr. J. Tobin refereed. The proceeds were in aid of the W. P. A. fund, but the attendance was not as large as it might have been. Ewing gave a splendid exhibition of individual work.

Hunt won the match for the Vics. Some of the Vics. players took advantage of their avoirdupois, but it was all right so long as the referee didn't see them.

The Terra Novas and Feildians will play to-morrow night for the same object.

THE RADIATOR.

The radiator is something which is attached to an automobile for the purpose of providing plenty of work for the local garage during the winter.

The mission of the radiator is to prevent the engine from getting overheated and burning a hole through the checkbook of the owner. One of the most expensive things which can happen to a new, dull gray touring car with red wire wheels is to drive it without oil and water until it throws off sparks faster than a mammoth pin wheel.

In the winter the radiator requires

DYSPEPSIA OF WOMEN

Special Treatment Required.

Many women suffer from a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms are similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines usually prescribed do not restore the patient's normal condition.

There seems to be a kind of dyspepsia caused by derangement of the female organism. While this appears to be the same as ordinary indigestion it can be relieved only by a medicine which, besides acting as a stomach tonic, is good for female ailments. Read what such a medicine did for Mrs. Williams:—

She says:—"Before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was troubled with dyspepsia and bearing-down pains in my back and sides, and after my meals my stomach would bloat up till I could scarcely get my breath. At times I was so weak I could hardly stand on my feet and I and my skin was yellow. Now I have a good color, have gained in every way and can do my work without any pains. I think it is the best medicine on earth for stomach troubles of women."—Mrs. NELLIE WILLIAMS, 31 West 3d Street, New Albany, Ind.

more watching and solicitous care than a sleep walker with the St. Vitus dance. Water which is placed in a radiator when the thermometer has sunk below the level of the street will freeze quicker than in any other spot on earth, and at once produces a deadly and disconcerting leak. On being taken to the garage it will be found that the radiator has been ruined for life, having developed acute appendicitis, ingrowing laryngitis, hardening of the arteries and shooting pains in the small of the back. A radiator that has ever leaked once can be induced to repeat on the slightest provocation and is harder to keep full of water than a backslidden Keeley graduate.

In winter the radiator should be drained every time the car is allowed to stand still for twenty minutes.

People prefer to feed wood alcohol to the radiator and tour around the country enveloped in the fumes of that pleasing beverage. Any owner can drain the radiator by crawling under the car on the back of his neck and opening a small, carefully concealed pet cock. As there are several of these pet cocks in sight, it is easy to try them all, one by one, and tasting the contents of each it will be easy to avoid annoying mistakes.

The radiator would be more popular than it is if it could be taken off at night and put back on in the morning, like a hair switch.

What a Gas Range Means for You, Mrs. Housekeeper.

The gas range is a muscle saver and a step saver. Think of the many tons of coal you used in that coal range, and how you have had to handle it all twice; first, carrying it up out of the cellar; then, from the kitchen to the ash barrel.

No more soot to wipe away; no more ashes to cart away; no more wood to fetch; no more coal dust; no more smoke and no more reason why the kitchen cannot be kept as clean and as orderly as the parlor. The gas range means just this.

Saves 50 Per Cent. of Kitchen Care.

Half of the labor in the house is caused by dust from the coal range. Every time it smokes, no matter how good the draught may be, clouds of ashes rise and settle on the furniture.

It Eliminates Hard Work.

Use a gas range and you will live better, you will play better, and you will work better because the use of the gas range eliminates the drudgery of carrying coal, ashes and the chopping of kindling, as well as the drudgery of cleaning up a lot of dirt, and, best of all, for the cook it makes it unnecessary for her to stand over a hot stove from two to three hours a day.

Don't Scold, Mother! The Cross Child Is Biliou, Feverish.

Look at tongue! If coated, clean little stomach, liver, bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep on act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit-laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

City Defeat Bell Islanders.

The home team defeated the Bell Islanders at the Curling Rink last night in the final game. The players and scores were:

Islanders.	Citizens.
D. W. Burpee	J. Baxter
C. E. Archibald	F. W. Bradshaw
Dr. Carnochan	T. Godden
A. R. Proudfoot	F. W. Hayward
(sk.)—7	(sk.)—10

A reunion followed, during which the red hats, donated by Vice-President Steer, and won by Messrs. Carnochan, Gillespie, Archibald and Watson were presented by Mr. W. J. Higgins, who congratulated the winners. Dr. Carnochan made a fitting reply and asked for cheers for all concerned who helped to make their visit a pleasant and enjoyable one, and was loudly responded to by his team. The Islanders returned home to-day.

The prize donated by Mrs. W. H. Duder to be played for among the Islanders was won by Mr. Proudfoot, Mr. Gillespie coming second.

Mrs. W. H. Rennie won Miss McKay's prize yesterday morning with 28 points, and Mrs. John Harvey came a close second.

PEACE AND WAR.

Peace is the noblest, greatest cause, a peace that's firm and stable; w i t h shock absorbers on my jaws, I boost it all I'm able. Year after year, without surcease, this theme I have been yapping; b u t there's a time to talk of peace, a time to talk of scrapping. When Uncle Sam is threatened core with some great dire disaster, I don't admire the peace graft bore whose tongue goes ever faster. I don't admire the bloodless wight who thinks the land's a goather. If we would rather up and fight than wallow in dishonor, I didn't raise my maiden aunt to be a noisy brawler, but when the battle charges pant, she'll step out doors and holler. I didn't raise my lovely niece to fool with swords and lances, but she, I know, will pass up peace whenever a foe advances. I am too old and fat to fight, out where the weapons rattle, but warlike odes I'll gladly write, to cheer you in the battle. Go forth, brave hearts, bold, unafraid, if there should be a riot! I'll bring you pails of lemonade whenever things are quiet.

FASHIONS AND FADS.

Sleeves threaten to be short. Straw hats are trimmed with fur. Lace trims blouses and neckwear. Cape without sleeves will be very smart. Some of the new blouses are collarless. Many new hats have soft draped crowns. New coats curve close to the waist line. Even coats are being made in the barrel style. Boas of white ostrich feathers will be worn. Hopsacking will be a favorite for tailored suits. Tall aigrettes are good on military turbans. A few hood collars are seen on children's coats. Lack of trimming marks the smartest garments.

Dangerously Ill From Shock.

Frank Mallard, the invalid son of Mr. Thomas Mallard, whose home was completely destroyed by fire on Monday evening last, as already referred to, is suffering severely from shock as a result of having to escape through a window from the burning structure, dropping into a bank of snow. His condition is critical and grave fears are entertained for his recovery. His mother, who was also sick in bed at the time of the fire, is very ill as a result of the fright and shock she received. Her husband, who was in town yesterday, is searching among the debris for $180 in gold which he had in his house along with $300 in bank notes. It is hoped that he will find it, as his family are in poor circumstances just now.

Prohibition Cases.

This hearing was continued at 2.30 p.m. yesterday. Mr. Emerson opened by contending that the requirements of the Act had not been complied with and that his client was a licensed publican, having been granted a license by the Board up till October next. Mr. J. McCarthy, J.P., Secretary of the Licensing Board, was examined to prove the meetings of the Board; also Mr. A. Mews, who was questioned about the forty per cent. vote and other matters in relation to the Prohibition election. After both these witnesses were examined and cross-examined the case was adjourned until this afternoon.

Got a Commission.

We understand that Sergt. Jack Turner, C.E.F., son of Mr. George E. Turner, Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mines, has been granted a commission and is now in charge of a machine gun section. Not alone did Jack make good in the ranks as a soldier but also as a poet, and some of his trench compositions are now becoming locally famous. He had four brothers serving with the colors. One was killed fighting with the Canadians last year and three are at present with "Ours". We congratulate him and his parents alike on his well merited promotion to the rank of 2nd Lieutenant.

Food Pickets Give McGrath Hot Time.

New York, Feb. 2.—John W. McGrath, who survived twenty Newfoundland winters before he came to New York as one of the best hockey players ever seen on the ice here, and who topped all this with four years as private secretary to Col. Roosevelt, met his match yesterday.

McGrath works now for George W. Perkins, Chairman of the Mayor's Food Supply Committee. When the committee's Pacific Coast smelts reached the city yesterday morning McGrath was put in charge of truck laden with 179 fifty-pound boxes of the fish and told to find places on the east side where they could be sold.

Monroe Street was McGrath's first stopping place. He had been there about a minute when he was surrounded by pickets of the Mothers' Anti-High Price League. Their claims forced him to flee.

At the fish market under the Williamsburg Bridge McGrath sold fifty boxes, then had to depart in a hurry. Rivington Street proved to be as bad as Monroe, but McGrath stood his ground against the women. He did some "body checking" that, in a hockey game, would have barred him for the rest of his life, but he sold 30 boxes as a result. More than half his supply remained, but he found his sympathy for the suffering waning rapidly and made haste to get away.

YESTERDAY'S HEAVY MAIL.

The assortment at the G. P. O. had a busy time of it from 4.30 o'clock to 10.30 p.m. yesterday, in which time they disposed of one of the largest mails to reach the city for some time, consisting of 130 bags of Canadian and American mail and 78 bags of English mail.

To relieve the pain is the first immediate call, and "Nyal's Pain Relief" will prove its value many times. Does someone fall and get a bruise? or become attacked with cramps, rheumatism or diarrhoea—"Nyal's Pain Relief" will relieve. For scalds, chilblains or burns it is also useful, and is an aid in breaking an attack of cold or gripple.

Top Notch "Buddy" Boot

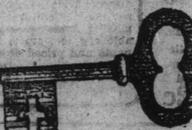

The Wonderful "Boot With The Muscles"
Uncle Sam granted a patent on the legs of this famous boot. It is the lightest, strongest and best-looking short boot ever made. The "muscles" greatly strengthen the leg and at the same time keep the weight down. No other boot on the market has this "muscled" leg.
