CHAPTER XV.

"Billiards and B. and S." says Sir Archie, "are all very well in their way, but you can have too much of a good thing, and after three days the unsatisfied soul pines for a change. There are only two other things a house full of people can do in rainy weather—play puss in the corner, or get up theatricals. Now, puss in the corner," he continues, with the air of one discussing a knotty legal point, "is an enchanting game, but it is destructive of the furniture and crockery, which get inevitably knocked down in the scramble; therefore I propose theatricals. The question is who will play the parts?" and he looks around the room, where they all are listening intently.

"Put me down for the man who comes in and says, 'The carriage waits without, my lord,'" says the captain.

"I once played the part of a pirate chief," says the curate, with a half-conscious blush.

"And a very ferocious pirate chief you'd make, Barty," says Sir Archie, eyeing the pale, barnacled face and diminutive form with grave approval. "A little too savage, perhaps."

"Oh, no, I played well within myself, I assure you," bleats the Reverend Barty.

"Of course," says Archie, with something like a wink at Dulcie, who ignores it demurely. "You'd have to do that, or it would be too blood-thirsty and awful. Well, that's two. And of course you'll play, Hartfield?"

The noble lord turns languidly from Maud and draws an assent.

"Good," says Archie. "And now for the ladies. Miss Maud, you'll take a part—oh, but you must!" as Maud murmurs a prim assertion of her inability. "And Miss Edie—"

"You'd play a singing chamber-maid first rate—"

"A—what! Sir Archibald!" says Lady Falconer, slowly. "I didn't quite catch—" coner will see to that, won't you? Why, half the county will be glad to come. Audience, indeed! Now really, that is a little too thin; give us some other reason?"

"I've given you two, the third is that I don't want to play," she says, desperately.

He thrusts his hand desperately through his golden curls.

"That's no reason at all," he says.

"None at all!" says Edie, coming over to her; "do, Dulcie! I won't if you won't."

"And I am sure I shall not find courage if Miss Dorrimore sees not," murmurs Lucy Fairfax.

"Well, but," says Dulcie, desperately, "what are you going to play? Perhaps there won't be a part for me."

"Wait a moment," says Sir Archie. "I've got some plays up-stairs, comedies and farces; I'll go and get them," and he rushes out of the room.

"Archie never travels without a stock of play-books," says the captain, laughing, "or anything else that you happen to want. If we'd proposed fireworks, he'd have appeared in a few minutes with a handful of squibs."

"Here they are," says Archie, pushing into the room again; "here's a regular lot of them, and," as he distributes them around, "I've hit upon a good one, 'The Lover's Revenge.'"

"Never heard of it!" bleats the curate.

"What is the plot?" asks Lucy Fairfax, smilingly.

Dulcie declines to take a book, and leans back as if she were out of it.

"The plot?" he says. "Well, it is very simple. Two men are in love with one girl, you know, and one is rather backward in coming forward, and just to bring him to the point, the principal character, the girl, flirts with the wrong man, and the right one, getting wild, flirts with another girl, and it ends in their marrying the girls they had flirted with—do you see?"

The captain put his hand to his head with affected bewilderment, but the rest reply in an assenting chorus.

"Of course the fun is in the love-making and the dialogue, and there are comic male and female servants. You must play the comic footman, Barty."

"Oh," murmurs the Reverend Barty, with rather a long face, "do you think—don't you think that something with more character—"

"Oh, that's all right," says Archie, cheerfully. "He falls in love with the lady's maid, and threatens to commit suicide if she refuses him; there's tragedy for you!"

The curate brightens up a little.

"Very well," he says.

"That's one," says Archie, "and now, Miss Fairfax, if you'll play one young lady, and—and—he pauses a moment as if reflecting, though his eyes wander at once to the quiet figure on the sofa—"and I think the other would suit Miss Dorrimore."

"And I am quite sure it wouldn't," says Dulcie. "If I play anything, I should like to play the comic servant!"

"Oh, Dulcie, and that was meant for me, wasn't it, Sir Archie?" Edie exclaims.

"There! you see!" says Archie. "Miss Edie has taken a fancy to it! You wouldn't rob her of it? You'll play the other girl—now, won't you?" Dulcie shakes her head.

"No," she says, firmly. "I will play the comic lady's maid!"

"And I'm sure," pleads the Reverend Barty, "that it would suit Miss Dorrimore admirably."

Sir Archie glares at him as savagely as the blue eyes can be made to glare.

"Oh, you do, do you?" he says, with fine sarcasm. "Then you are quite wrong, Barty. Why, it's absurd. The other part—Julia, I mean—was made for Miss Dorrimore."

"Then Miss Dorrimore declines to wear it," says Dulcie. "May I see the play?"

She looks through it, and her eyes kindle.

"Let me see," she says, "who is it makes love to Julia—Henry, isn't it? Who did you mean to play Henry, may I ask?" and she looks up at him with a bland but dangerous smile.

He colors and affects a careless air.

"Well," he says, looking round,

To Stop a Persistent Hacking Cough

The best remedy is one you can easily make at home. Cheap, but very effective.

Thousands of people normally healthy in every other respect, are annoyed with a persistent hacking or bronchial cough year after year, disturbing their sleep and making life disagreeable. It's no needless—there's an old-home-made remedy that will end such a cough easily and quickly.

Get from a druggist "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" (50 cents worth), pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Begin taking it at once. Gradually but surely you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether, thus ending a cough that you never thought would end. It also promptly loosens a dry or light cough, stops the troublesome throat tickle, soothes the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes, and relief comes almost immediately. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma there is nothing better. It tastes pleasant and keeps perfectly.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and is used by millions of people every year for throat and chest colds with splendid results.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," with full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

"any of us could play it; perhaps Gordon would like it. It's rather a heavy part—"

"I should never learn it," says the captain, emphatically.

Sir Archie's eyes brighten.

"I have played it," he says; "I know every word of it—"

Dulcie smiles significantly, and she pretends to study the buff-colored book.

"Why," she says, "it is the very part for Miss Fairfax, and the other would suit Maud; and I'll play the comic maid-servant, and Edie ought to be the dashing young countess with the jewels."

A shadow of disappointment comes over Archie's bright face, but he cannot well dispute her decision, especially as he is too glad to have got her to play at all.

"All right," he says, with affected cheerfulness, "that's settled if you are ill contented."

There is a pretty general assent, but Lucy Fairfax is silent for a moment, during which she has been thinking deeply.

"If you think I can really play it," she says, with sweet humility, "I shall be happy to try the part."

"Then, as is usual when amateur theatricals are in preparation, they all begin to talk at once, and everybody wants to see the book, and 'look over' his or her part—all excepting Dulcie, who leans back with serene indifference on her face, but a sparkle in her eyes, and Lucy Fairfax, who sits on her low footstool, waiting patiently till this hub-bub ceases.

"We can't all have the book," Sir Archie says, "and there ain't time to get more copies, so Barty, as you are the best penman of the lot, suppose you copy out the parts." And without more ado he wedges the bleating curate into a corner, wheels up a davenport, and sets him to work.

Then comes the question of the stage; where shall it be? Is the village carpenter to be called, or are they to rely on their own resources?

"I'm a first-rate hand at knocking in nails," says the captain, but Lady Falconer looks up rather alarmed, and Sir Archie hastens to reassure her.

AN APPEAL

To the People of Newfoundland

Since the outbreak of the present great War, this Colony, in common with all other parts of the British Empire, has sent forth her bravest and best sons to uphold the glorious traditions of our Flag and Empire.

Amongst the fighting Forces of Great Britain and her splendid Allies the men of the Newfoundland Regiment have established a name and record for themselves and their beloved Country, that will live for generations to come, and will redound to the lasting glory and honour of this most ancient and loyal Colony.

Up to a few months ago a steady number of recruits were available to fill up the gaps, in the ranks, that were continually occurring, owing to our Regiment being called upon to participate in all, or most, of the important battles in France and Flanders, as well as the earlier days in Gallipoli. But, unfortunately, for the past few months there has not been sufficient men offering to replace those who are no longer able to hold their places in the fighting line, who have to retire through wounds or sickness—in addition to those who have laid down their lives in the righteous cause for which we are fighting. Are we, the kinsmen, at home of these glorious soldiers of Newfoundland, to turn a deaf ear to the call for help that they are continually sending forth? Are we to let go for naught the great and valiant deeds that they have accomplished, by holding back and failing to keep the gaps filled up?

In as much as the lads who have fought and suffered and died so heroically and nobly for us,—our Country and our homes, in the past,—are those who are left behind content to allow their deeds and sacrifices to go for naught, and have the world realize that the young men of Newfoundland who still remain at home, are not made of the same good stock as those who won distinctions in the British line. No. I feel that there are hundreds of young men who only want to be awakened to a realization of their responsibilities, when they will come forward and take the places of those who are gone, or incapacitated, and relieve for a time at least, those brave boys (especially those of the first five hundred) who have borne the heat and turmoil of the Battle, should be given an opportunity to return to their homes for that well earned rest which they naturally desire and long for.

We are about to start on an active recruiting campaign, and recruiting parties will be sent to all parts of the Island, so that every man who is eligible for service will be given an opportunity to enlist. Every provision will be made for the comfort and care of those dependents whom they leave behind. In the case of married men and others leaving dependents, separation allowances are provided under Regulations just published.

Pensions will be provided for those who are incapacitated through wounds or sickness, as well as the dependents of those who make the supreme sacrifice. Therefore, I confidently appeal to the young men of the Country, who are of Military age, to offer themselves as recruits for a Regiment that every man, be he Newfoundland or otherwise, might well feel proud of. Do your duty now; play the man's part, and never let it be thrown in your faces or the faces of your children that you failed in your duty to your Country in her hour of greatest trial. I appeal to the mothers, to the fathers, and to the sisters, to help the boys to realize their duty, and spur them on, to quit themselves like men, so that they may participate in the great victory that is surely coming, and which cannot be delayed much longer.

If this appeal, and our present recruiting efforts are not fruitful of the necessary number of recruits before the end of the year, we will then have reached the parting of the ways; we must then take one of two courses—either withdraw our Regiment as a separate unit, which would be a most unfortunate and deplorable occurrence, or the Government of the Colony will be reluctantly compelled to consider other means of acquiring men to keep our fighting Forces up to the required strength. Prove, therefore, men of Newfoundland, that this ancient and loyal Colony is able, and is prepared, to keep at least one Battalion in the fighting line, composed entirely of volunteers, to maintain the magnificent record already gained right through to the close of hostilities.

Men who are not altogether fit for active service will find an opportunity to do "their bit" by applying for admission into the Forestry Companies, which are also badly in need of more men.

Your Brothers in Arms Are Calling! Your Duty Is to Go!

J. R. BENNETT, Minister of Militia.

PUBLISHED BY AUTHORITY

On the recommendation of the Minister of Militia, and under the provisions of the Act 8 George V. Cap. XVII. His Excellency the Governor in Council has been pleased to approve the following Regulations governing the issue of Separation Allowances for the Newfoundland Expeditionary Force.

Regulations Governing the Issue of Separation Allowance for the Newfoundland Expeditionary Force.

Section I.—Explanations.

1. Separation Allowance is a grant made by the Government of Newfoundland to dependents of members of the Newfoundland Expeditionary Force, while such members in respect of whom it is paid, remain on the strength of that Force.
2. The object of the Allowance is to assist members of the Force while serving therein, providing and maintaining a home for their respective dependents.
3. "Allowance" within the text of these Regulations means "Separation Allowance."
4. "Dependents" within the meaning of these Regulations, includes:
 - (a) Wife;
 - (b) Motherless children;
 - (c) Widowed mother, if the officer or soldier is her sole support, and is unmarried within the meaning of these Regulations;
 - (d) Mother, whose husband is alive but totally incapacitated from earning a living, if the officer or soldier is her sole support and is unmarried within the meaning of these Regulations.
5. "Officers" within the meaning of these Regulations includes all officers appointed to the Newfoundland Expeditionary Force, and paid as members of such.
6. "Soldiers" within the meaning of these Regulations includes all ranks, except officers, properly attested and serving on the strength of the Newfoundland Expeditionary force, and paid as members of such.
7. "Mother" within the meaning of these Regulations includes Foster-mother and Step-mother.
8. "Widowed mother" within the meaning of these Regulations, includes widowed foster-mother and widowed step-mother.
9. "Children" within the meaning of these Regulations includes step-children.
10. "Unmarried officers and soldiers," will be held to include "widowers" without children, and will also include married officers and soldiers, provided no Separation Allowance is issuable to their wives or legitimate children.

Section II.—General Instructions.

11. The following regulations for the issue of Separation Allowance will be effective from the first day of September, 1917, for the remaining period of the War, and will be regarded as authoritative directions in the matter of Separation Allowance, subject to amendments by Order in Council.

They will have no retroactive effect.

12. Rates of Allowance—The rates of allowance shall be as follows:

Rank and File	Per month
Sergeants and higher rank below that of W.O. (1st class)	$20 00
Warrant Officer (1st class)	25 00
Lieutenants	30 00
Captains	40 00
Majors	50 00
Officers of Field rank higher than that of Major	60 00

13. No person shall receive more than one Allowance for his or her own benefit.

14. Only one Allowance may be issued on account of any officer or soldier, and that will be paid to and for his dependents. In exceptional cases, however, as for instance when there is a wife in one locality, and children by a former wife in another, the Allowance may be divided.

15. Soldiers on whose account Separation Allowance is issuable, should assign to the recipient not less than 15 days pay of rank (Working Pay and Field Allowance excluded). In cases where no such assignment has been made, but where it has been decided that the dependent is entitled to Separation Allowance, an assignment of 15 days pay of rank (Working Pay and Field Allowance excluded) may be put in force against the account of the officer or soldier. In cases where such an assignment is put in force against an officer or soldier, the officer or soldier will be notified forthwith of the action taken. Should he object and submit reasons for his objections, it will be decided whether the assignment shall be continued or not.

Section III.—Casualties to the Officer or Soldier.

16. Subject to corresponding increase of Assigned Pay, Separation Allowance will increase automatically with promotion, provided that such promotion has been confirmed and published in Part II. Daily Orders, quoting competent authority, but promotion to acting rank will not be accepted as a reason for increase of Separation Allowance. Such increase will take effect from the first day of the month following that in which promotion was confirmed.

17. The rate of Separation Allowance will not be reduced when an officer or soldier voluntarily reverts to lower rank in order to proceed overseas from England to the Front, but upon a reduction or reversion for any other cause, the rate of Allowance will automatically decrease to the rate authorized for such lower rank. Such decrease will take effect from the first day of the month following that in which such reduction or reversion was confirmed.

18. In the case of officers and soldiers who die while serving, or who are reported "missing," and whose dependents are in receipt of Separation Allowance. Separation Allowance shall continue to be paid monthly thereafter at the rates laid down in Clause (a) below, and Assigned Pay shall continue or begin to be paid at the rates laid down in Clause (b) below, until such time as pension is ready for issue, in cases where a pension is to be awarded. In cases where no pension is to be awarded, Separation Allowance and Assigned Pay shall cease as soon as the S. A. and A. P. Division has been notified of the fact that no pension is to be awarded. If the proofs necessary to the granting of a pension are being unreasonably delayed, the Board of Pension Commissioners will so advise the S. A. and A. P. Division, with a view to having payments cease. Provided that in no case shall Separation Allowance and Assigned Pay be issued for more than three months after the first day of the month following that in which the officer or soldier was officially reported dead.

(a) The rate at which Separation Allowance shall be paid in the above cases will be that to which the officer or soldier was entitled at the time of his death or when he was reported "missing."

(b) Assigned Pay will be paid monthly at a rate equal to 15 days pay of rank, of the officer or soldier, (Working Pay and Field Allowance excluded).

Section 4.—Withdrawal, Cessation and Suspension.

19. The Allowance will be discontinued to a dependent who is owing to serious misconduct, unworthy to receive it. Except as is provided in Paras. 21 and 22, the Allowance, if otherwise issuable, will not be withheld for periods for which the officer or soldier forfeits pay.

21. The Allowance may be suspended if the soldier on whose behalf it has been issued, is sentenced by any properly constituted authority to imprisonment for a period of six months or over. The Allowance will be resumed from the date on which the soldier again commences to draw pay after the completion of his sentence.

22. Payment of the Allowance will be suspended upon the officer or soldier being reported absent without leave and the account will be closed from the date on which it was suspended upon the officer or soldier being declared a deserter by a Court of Enquiry.

23. If the officer or soldier rejoins from desertion, payments suspended under the provisions of the foregoing paragraph may be resumed from the date on which he again comes on pay.

24. Dependents of officers and soldiers reported "Prisoners of War" will continue to draw the allowance as if the officer or soldier were still on active service.

25. When the officer or soldier is discharged without pension, Separation Allowance and Assigned Pay may be continued to the dependents to the end of the month, in which the officer or soldier is discharged.

Section V.—Wives and Legitimate Children.

26. The Allowance may be issued in favour of such motherless legitimate children as, in the case of boys, are under the age of 16 and, in the case of girls, under the age of 17.

27. When the Allowance is claimed by an officer or soldier for his motherless children, a Guardian of the children should be named in writing by the officer or soldier for the purpose of receiving the Allowance.

28. The Allowance will not be issued for dependents who are maintained in a Government or Benevolent Institution at the expense of the Government or public subscription.

29. Where a wife is separated from her husband by written Separation Agreement, or a Judicial Decree of "Separate from bed and board" or other similar Judicial Decree, parting her from her husband, and is entitled under such Agreement or by order of a competent Court to payment from her husband, such payment shall be made from the Separation Allowance issued to her, and if the Separation Allowance does not equal the amount so agreed upon or ordered to be paid by the Court, a compulsory assignment of pay, equivalent to the difference between the Separation Allowance and such payment, but not exceeding 15 days pay of rank (Working pay and field allowance excluded), of the officer or soldier, may be put into effect against the officer or soldier.

(a) Where the wife is separated from her husband as above and is living apart from the children and is not charged with their care, Separation Allowance or Assigned Pay or a portion thereof, subject to any valid claim of the wife by virtue of Separation Agreement or Judicial Decree, may be issued to the Guardian of the children.

(b) If the wife has been separated from her husband by Separation Agreement or Judicial Decree, and it does not appear that the husband is able to support her, and if the wife furnished a satisfactory explanation for not having obtained a judgment for alimony, Separation Allowance may be issued to the wife.

30. Where the wife is separated from her husband not by virtue of a written Separation Agreement or Judicial Decree, and the wife for a reasonable time prior to the enlistment of the officer or soldier, was separated from him and was not in receipt of any payment from him, no issue of Separation Allowance will be made.

31. A mother whose husband is, through physical or mental disability, entirely incapacitated from earning a living, will be treated as a widowed mother, and granted the allowance provided the officer or soldier prior to enlistment was or subsequent to enlistment has become her sole support, and the officer or soldier is unmarried within the meaning of Para. 10.

(a) Any material improvement in the financial condition of a mother receiving the Allowance as a widowed mother, must be at once communicated to the officer issuing Separation Allowance and Assigned Pay, and the withholding of such information whereby payments have been obtained, shall be deemed to constitute fraudulent action.

32. If otherwise eligible, a widowed mother dependent on two unmarried sons, one of whom has enlisted in the Force, will be entitled to the Allowance when the remaining son enlists; and a widow with three or more unmarried sons, on whom she is dependent, will be entitled to the Allowance when a third son has enlisted.

33. The Allowance of a widowed mother will cease on her re-marriage, or upon the marriage of her son, in respect of whom the Allowance has been granted.

34. The Allowance may be granted for such adopted children of an officer or soldier as are, in the case of boys, under the age of sixteen, and in the case of girls, under the age of seventeen, provided such children have been regularly supported by the officer or soldier.

Section 7.—Procedure for Making Claims — On Enlistment.

35. On appointment, every officer, and on enlistment, every soldier, claiming separation allowance for a dependent shall report to the Paymaster of his unit and fill out a Separation Allowance and Assigned Pay Card. All applications for the Allowance on the grounds of "Sole support" and as "Guardian" must be accompanied by a Statutory declaration and such other documentary evidence as may be required to substantiate the claim.

36. A soldier who has a dependent but considers such dependent not eligible for Separation Allowance under these Regulations will be required to deliver to the Paymaster of his Unit, a statement under oath of the reason why he considers such dependent not eligible for the Allowance. Otherwise if such dependent will make a claim for Separation Allowance it will be taken for granted that the officer or soldier knows no valid reason why the allowance should not be granted and a compulsory assignment put into force against him.

37. Where the claim for Separation Allowance under Para. 35 is refused as inadmissible, the amount of pay assigned by the soldier will be paid to the person named, unless it appears that the soldier has a dependent eligible for Separation Allowance, in which case the Separation Allowance may be granted to such dependent as an assignment may be put into force against the soldier in favor of such dependent. In such cases the soldier will be informed of what action has been taken by the department and a similar notification will be sent to the dependents concerned.

Claims After Enlistment.

38. An officer or soldier intending to marry must inform his paymaster of his intention to marry a sufficient time in advance of the marriage, to allow steps to be taken to discontinue the issue of any Separation Allowance or Assigned Pay previously authorized for another dependent on his account. He will at the same time, state whether any such issue of Separation Allowance or Assigned Pay has been authorized; and if so, to whom.

In such cases, if Separation Allowance or Assigned Pay has previously been authorized for another dependent, the paymaster will at once take steps to have it discontinued. The issue to the wife shall not commence until the issue to the other dependent has ceased, which should be at the end of the month in which the marriage has taken place.

39. As soon as the marriage has taken place, upon the production to the paymaster of the marriage certificate, a notification showing the date and the place of the marriage, and the wife's full name and address, will appear in Part II. Orders, and a Separation Allowance and Assigned Pay Card will be completed by the officer or soldier and delivered to the paymaster. The latter will satisfy himself that the wife of the soldier is of a good character before any action in respect of payment is taken. If there is any doubt in the matter, the fullest enquiry is to be made by the paymaster, and a report sent to the officer issuing the Separation Allowance and Assigned Pay.

40. An officer or soldier who has not, on enlistment, claimed Separation Allowance for a dependent may afterwards submit a claim through his paymaster.

41. In cases of dependents other than wives and legitimate children, unless the application for Separation Allowance is made within thirty (30) days of appointment or enlistment, no arrears of the Allowance will be issued for the period prior to application.

LONDON GOSSIP.

THE WAR OUTLOOK.

General Smuts has spoken at the right moment, and given us another of those masterly statements upon the war situation which, compel the confidence of the people of this country. Recently there has been observed a tendency to wag heads and discuss the slow progress of operations. No sensational "victory" has been reported for some time. A feeling has grown that luck has again been against us, the bad weather at the front hindering the advances that might be expected, and so on. The Prime Minister refrained in his most recent speeches from discussing the progress of the war, and the need of enlightenment undoubtedly exists. General Smuts now seeks to correct the public perspective, which is so apt to become blurred in the midst of events; the magnitude of which few can possibly realize. The "semi-immobility" of to-day is the result of past mistakes. The harm is being repaired, and the superiority is ours. Tactics of mathematical certainty have been adopted at the front. The offensive is slow by definition, but it is sure, and is being pursued without rest. "To-day we have won, and the Germans know it quite well. Yesterday their directing classes understood it. To-morrow there will not be in the German Empire a single man who will not understand it also." These are the words not only of a soldier or of a member of the Cabinet, but of one of the greatest and most far-seeing statesmen in the Empire, to whose outlook upon affairs we must attach the highest importance. His message is full of hopefulness, and his call for patience and confidence will be obeyed.

THE RUSSIAN REPUBLIC.

A republican form of government is, of course, no innovation in Russia, for republics existed in that country until well into the sixteenth century. The most famous was the republic of Novgorod, once the rival of Moscow and the ruler of vast territories. A curious survival of this rivalry still exists at Torshek, famous for embroideries, in the government of Novgorod insisted on going to a church where the priest held similar views, and the Moscow men would only worship in the church of a clergyman who desired the city to accept the way of the Moscow princes. To this day houses standing side by side belong to different parishes.

Ivan has a right to the ministrations of the priest of the church hard by, which was once republican, and his neighbour must walk half a mile to a church that was once a centre of the Muscovite Republic! The old Russians of Novgorod had the true republican spirit. They supported a prince whom they regarded as the commander of their forces, but they managed their own affairs in the council of the city, and if the prince offended them they sent him packing. Since Novgorod, passed under the sway of Moscow it has decayed, and is now a place of no importance. As a republic it was prosperous, joined the Hanseatic League, and attracted foreign merchants. May Novgorodian principles established in Tsarist Moscow bring with them prosperity!

THE TANK BADGE.

The tank is now worn in London as a shoulder badge by soldiers in the new arm of the service. In white silk or linen edged in black and with a gun and gun port in its center, the new badge, a lozenge about three inches across, conveys its meaning to the most casual eyes. In that respect it is a thorough change from the badges of a secret society type, with which brigades or divisions usually choose to deck themselves. What, for example, are we to make of officers who wear between the shoulders a large red horseshoe, points upward, and mink nails painstakingly sown on it?

THE WOMEN'S ARMY.

Strenuous efforts are being made by the authorities to increase the numbers and enlarge the scope of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps. A new recruiting campaign has been decided upon. Miss Durham, of the Employment Department of the Ministry of Labor, is in charge of it, and her immediate task is to enrol 10,000 women by the end of October. Subsequently recruits will be required at the rate of at least 10,000 a month. There is an urgent demand for women experienced in domestic work, such as housemaids, waitresses and cooks, and also for shorthand typists and clerks. Women with six months' experience of commercial driving are wanted for the transport services. Local recruiting areas are to be established in the nine divisional areas of the Employment Department, and all enrolling will be done locally at the employment exchanges of the Ministry of Labor. Candidates may enlist for home or overseas service, but in either case it must be for the duration of the war. The larger part of the 10,000 immediately sought are required for home service with the Army in training, and it is evident that the women are to have a larger share than hitherto in "cooking" for the home camps. The development of this policy is certain to be welcomed by the soldiers, particularly in those camps where good food is badly cooked and served. Each applicant will be interviewed by the Divisional Selection Board, and will be examined by a medical board of women doctors.

LONDON'S DRAMATIC SUCCESSES.

Despite all the troubles of wartime some very long runs have been achieved in London lately. "A Little Bit of Fluff" is now up to 900 performances and "Romance" has touched 800. "Chu Chin Chow" is creeping up to 500 and "Theodore & Co." has crossed the 400 mark. "The Maid of the Mountains" and "General Post" have each seen 250 performances and "Damaged Goods" and "Suzette" 200 each. "Inside the Lines" and the three-revue—"Bubbly," "Cheep" and "Smile"—are over the 150. Hm. Cochrane's production, "The Three Daughters of M. Dupont," has played already over 100 times. None of these pieces seems anywhere near a finish. On the other side of the shield there is the withdrawal of "The Pacificists" after twelve performances. Still the balance is on the success side. Many plays are eagerly awaiting production but cannot find theaters.

THE BELLES OF BELLONA.

Many will get a pleasurable thrill from the story of the munitionette who was prosecuted at a London police court for taking away from the works where she was employed a quantity of T.N.T. powder, which her sister wanted to use for a hair-dye. The girl told the magistrate that several of her "mates" had tried it and dyed their hair a rich, dark chestnut. What a chance for the Munitions Department, who next it advertises for girls, to secure valuable testimonials in this style: "Dear Mr. Churchill—I used your T.N.T. with success and secured a beautiful head of hair after only six applications. I am to be married next week, but could not leave the service without expressing my thanks—Yours, etc." Another after-the-war problem, too, would appear to be solved. Not only would the bayonet shops be turned into factories for producing agricultural machinery, but the T.N.T. laboratories could automatically change to the making of hair-dye. It might be worth while sending a women's committee round the Government works to see if there are any more potential industries concealed in them.

AN ITALIAN WRITER.

Frequent news reaches this country of the activities of Gabriele d'Annunzio. This foremost of Italian poets and writers has been serving in the air against the Austrians, and from all accounts he revels in the dangerous excitement attendant on that sphere of operations. The latest report is that he is at Milan resting, and that a wound which he received in an aerial attack on the Austrian naval base of Pola is healing satisfactorily. Signor d'Annunzio's reputation is, of course, a European one, but in this country his late contemporary Fogazzaro has a much wider following. The absorption of the latter in problems of faith and morals imparts a note of seriousness to his books which is exceedingly attractive to the Anglo-Saxon mind. It is very significant of his charm and power that an English translation of "The Saint" has passed into a cheap edition. Contrasted with him d'Annunzio flames up into the passionate luxuriance of the South. The qualities shown, say, in "The Triumph of Death" or "Il Fuoco," dazzle the Northern reader by their power rather than by his assent.

Everyday Etiquette.

"If I call upon a friend while she is visiting at a home where I am a stranger should I send in my card to the hostess as well as to my friend?" inquired Ned.

"Yes, you should send up a card to both ladies," advised his sister.

Money Found.

During the past few days small advts. in Evg. Telegram have been the means of restoring money to 3 of our customers, viz.:—
Last week a wallet containing nearly $200.
Tuesday—2 $5.00 notes, and yesterday 3 $5.00 notes.
This is only another evidence of benefits of advertising in the People's Paper.

Begin to Save Now.

How many people say to themselves, "Next year will find me with a nice little savings account," and then realize later on that it was like so many other good resolutions—never carried out. The time to begin is now. Nothing is ever gained by indecision. Begin by doing without some one thing which, possibly, may not come under the head of extravagance and still is not a necessity. It is not so much the amount you save at first that counts, but it paves the way for the systematic saving, which in the end makes the successful men and women of to-morrow. — S. W. Straus.

Our Pattern Department.

We wish to draw the attention of patrons of this department to the necessity of enclosing the money or stamps with their order. During the past week several customers have neglected to make the enclosure and in consequence will not receive the patterns ordered.
Owing to the small charge which we make for this excellent service, we are unable to notify those who forget, individually.

Rev. Capt. Nangle's Lecture.

To-night's lecture at the Casino Theatre by Rev. Fr. (Capt.) Nangle, Chaplain of the Regiment, promises to be one of exceptional interest. The lecture is under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor, who will preside, and His Grace the Archbishop, Patron of the C. C. C. The Cadet band will discourse new musical selections during the evening.

BUY A TAG!

By the time this issue is on the street, Tag Day will be more than half gone. We hope that half the citizens of St. John's will be the poorer for it and the Red Cross Fund the richer. We hope there will not be a tag left to sell. If, reader, you have not bought one, do so at once; if you have, buy another. Exercise your imagination for once and ask yourself what you do when you refrain. You are not on Water Street, you are on a Flanders battlefield and some wounded sufferer calls to you, it may be but for a helping hand or a drop of water. Can you refuse him? If that were the actual truth, would you let his wounds alone do not move you without second thought, remember that they are borne that you may feel none, and give them at least a little ease. For that is literally what you do. It is not a "fund" that you give, to an abstract something not very real to you; it is to one who protects you, perhaps a fellow countryman. That which you give, whether it be ten cents or ten dollars, brings him some comfort, some relief from pain. Give, then, what you can. If you can afford it, you will be doing only your plain duty; if it means some self-denial, the gift will be enriched by it. And give, finally, lest you miss the last opportunity of giving; there are signs, thank heaven, that they will not be occasion for many more tag days.

ITALY'S DIFFICULTIES.

TURIN, To-Day. The Italian Parliament has reopened its sessions at Rome under peculiar circumstances, two facts being so prominent as even to make a ministerial crisis possible. Owing to their nature they will probably be discussed only in secret sessions. One has to do with serious riots which occurred in Turin the latter part of August, due in part to delay in providing the town with sufficient bread and in part to political discontent. The other question concerns the general food crisis throughout Italy which led to the resignation of the Food Controller.

Government promised that half the increase would be devoted to the improvement and upkeep of roads used by motorists. We believe there is a sum of about $6000 which is, or should be, available under the agreement, but which has not been used for the purpose, apparently because there has been no particular person to claim it. The work done some years ago by the Cycle Club in improving the Topsail Road was demonstration of the manner in which car owners can benefit themselves and the public in that direction. No one has a keener appreciation of good roads than your motorist, and experience has taught him also the best way to make and maintain them. There are many other ways in which the public has an interest in the formation of a motor association and which there is no need to detail here. It is another step towards the improvement of civic conditions and as such deserves the support of all.

A Workman Seriously Injured.

The schooner Novelti, which arrived here yesterday from Hr. Grace, where she had been on deck for repairs, brought along Jacob Dicks, aged 17, of St. John's, who was seriously injured as a result of falling in the hold of that vessel the night previous. About 8 p.m. he was walking along the poop deck. He carried a jug in his hand, as he was going for water. It was very dark at the time and he did not notice the open hatchway, which he fell through. There was no cargo in the vessel, consequently he fell a considerable depth. He was picked up in an apparently lifeless condition. He was examined by Dr. Strapp of Hr. Grace, who found that his injuries were serious and he had him taken to the General Hospital, whither he was taken in the ambulance on arrival yesterday. Up to this morning, we learn, he had not regained consciousness. He is badly hurt internally and it is questionable if he will recover.

Message of Sympathy.

Mrs. Miller received the following message of sympathy from His Excellency:—
I am commanded by the King and the Queen to convey to you the following message from their Majesties: The King and Queen deeply regret the loss you and the Army have sustained by the death on the 12th of October of your son, 2nd Lieut. Frank O'Toole, who fell, like a gallant gentleman, in the service of his country. Their Majesties truly sympathise in your sorrow.
I share their Majesties' sorrow for this most promising young officer.
W. E. DAVIDSON,
Governor.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL.—The first Inter-Collegiate football match for the season took place on St. George's Field last evening. Teams from the Methodist and St. Bon's College contested. The result was an easy victory for St. Bon's.

The following letter has been received by the Governor from Lt.-Col. Forbes-Robertson.

To His Excellency the Governor, Newfoundland.

Sir,— I have the honour of sending you and the members of the Patriotic Association of Newfoundland my thanks for your kind letter of 13th August. I had the great honour of commanding your first Battalion in the Field, and a courageous and fine body of men proved themselves to be. I congratulate you on being able to produce such men.
It was a great surprise to me to find last year that I had been posted to your Regiment. Now I have been once more transferred, and deeply regret having to part with my Newfoundland comrades. However, I am proud to think that I have served in your gallant Regiment for even a short time and am happy to have gained your appreciation.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
Sgd. J. FORBES-ROBERTSON,
Lieut.-Colonel,
Com. 16th Middlesex Regt.

Ringworm on Child's Head

Caused Great Distress and Spread to Neck and Ears. Was Speedily Effectually Cured. Treatment Was Recommended.

Grand Bend, Ont., October 18th.— There is no disease of the skin more obstinate than ringworm on the head. The mother who writes this letter does so fully realizing what it will mean to other anxious mothers to know about Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This remarkable cure was brought about two years ago, and as there has been no return of the distressing disease there can be no doubt that the cure is permanent.

Mrs. D. Stebbins, Grand Bend, Ont., writes: "I am going to tell you of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment. My little girl had sores come out on her head which looked like ringworms. They were spreading fast, and I tried home treatment, but nothing helped her. I took her to the doctor, and he opened some of the sores, which were as big as the yoke of an egg. The salve he gave me to put on was very severe, and the poor child would cry for an hour or more after an application. For six weeks it continued to spread all over her head and came down to her neck ears. She suffered terribly. At last some kind ladies told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment, so I got a box, and applied it to her head. The sores were all over her head, and she was relieved of pain, and the second time the swelling was all gone. Before we had finished the first box the sores were all gone. I have told all the people around here about your Ointment, and I cannot praise it too much. It is now two years since my little girl was troubled in this way, and it never came back, so you can see she is completely cured. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of others who may be suffering in a similar manner."

Joseph Brenner, J.P., endorses this statement as follows: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mrs. D. Stebbins, of Grand Bend, Ont., and believe her statement with reference to Dr. Chase's Ointment to be true and correct."
Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Be suspicious of the druggist who tries to talk you into accepting a substitute.

Dishonest Father.

Responsible for Daughter Facing Criminal Charge.
Recently, a thirteen year old girl of the 'Goulds, who has not got good sense, went selling berries at the residence of Mr. Emanuel Williams of that settlement. She found a ready purchaser in Mrs. Williams, who was then in the kitchen and went to another room in the house to get the money to pay for the berries. During her absence a silver watch disappeared from the kitchen. The Mrs. Williams noticed half an hour after the visitor had left and her suspicion rested on the berry vendor, as there was no one else in the house at the time. On returning home the girl told her parents that she had picked up the watch on the roadside. The father took possession of the watch and wore it. Last evening (or ten days later) Detective Whelan armed with a search warrant, visited the Goulds and found the girl, who acknowledged stealing the watch, which was later recovered from her father, who told the officer he had no intention of keeping the watch, but rather was coming to town next day to advertise for the owner. The girl was then taken into custody and spent last night at the lockup. This morning she was arraigned before Judge Morris and pleaded guilty. Reviewing the circumstances, His Honor said the father was the proper one to be charged with the theft and deserved six months imprisonment for his dishonest action in the matter, as the unfortunate young girl apparently did not know but imposed a fine of $50 which he insisted was to be paid by the father under $100 bonds.

Farewell Reception.

A reception is being held this afternoon between four and six o'clock at Government House by His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson, who will be leaving our shores shortly.

WHY YOU SHOULD SUBSCRIBE TO THE RED CROSS

LONDON, Oct. 17. Robert Hudson, Chairman of "Our Day" Red Cross campaign, in a letter to the Times, says:

"There are five valid reasons why the campaign should be supported. First, because there is no man or woman who would not desire to aid a wounded soldier if he could."

"Second, because the Red Cross can do collectively what each individual would wish to do separately."

"Third, because the work costs six pounds a minute, and of every sovereign received in 1916, only seven pence were spent as administrative expenses."

"Fourth, because taking the forty-one weeks ending last New Year's Day, we received an average of twenty thousand pounds a week less than was spent."

"Fifth, because if this were continued, instead of extending and developing this work it would have to be curtailed."

GREATER BURDENS FOR NEUTRAL NATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.

Neutral nations, and particularly those in Europe, must be prepared to share even greater privations and burdens made necessary by the war, under the decision of the Allied conference at London. The details of the conference are beginning to reach Washington through official channels. They show that the Allies are determined to support their armies in the field by cutting off as far as possible all supplies for the German army from neutral sources through tightening of the blockade. Attention was called at the conference to the necessity of preventing Sweden from supplying Germany with metals and the general opinion was that hereafter neutrals should be compelled to furnish the Allies with goods of their own production, which they cannot consume, in exchange for supplies from the Allies. Further they are required to use their own ships for this trade. Such is the new blockade formula which must be strictly applied, and which will make it impossible for Germany to continue the struggle. The extent to which the United States will be influenced by the decisions of the London conference has not been revealed, but that this Government is in accord with them is evidenced by the rigid restrictions placed upon exports to European neutrals from this country.

AMERICAN DESTROYER TORPEDOED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.

An American destroyer on patrol in the war zone was torpedoed by an enemy submarine yesterday, and had one man killed and five wounded. She managed to make port, despite severe damage. Vice-Admiral Sims cabled a brief report of the incident to the Navy Department. He gave few details, but it is assumed there was no fight, and that the U-boat made good her escape, after launching the torpedo, without showing herself. In accordance with the policy of secrecy concerning American naval operations, the department did not divulge the name of the destroyer nor the exact place of the encounter.

ENEMY AIR FLEET ACTIVE.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 17 (Official).

On the Baltic, profiting by calm, bright weather, the enemy has been actively engaged in aerial scouting, principally in the region of the Baltic Islands. Our aviators ascended to meet the enemy. In an aerial engagement our aviator Sernaoff, brought down an enemy machine which fell in our lines. A Zeppelin flew over Moon Island; during the day our patrol ships had encounters with enemy torpedo boats. The enemy continued to develop his success on the Island of Oesel, pressing back our detachments which were covering the mole between Oesel and Moon Islands. Land communications have thus been interrupted between the two islands, and we have completely lost touch with our forces on Oesel Island. An eye-witness who escaped after the landing of the enemy at Tagga Bay, reports that on the morning of October 12th an enemy dreadnought ran into one of our mine fields defending the islands. After the explosion which followed, the ultimate fate is unknown. On the other fronts there were only fusillades and scouting operations.

Mothers and Daughters.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

One often hears seems queer she shouldn't be more grateful. She Knew She Hadn't Been Half Nice Enough.

Said the daughter several days later "Oh I do miss mother so now she's gone, I'm afraid I wasn't half nice enough to her while she was here. She sewed her fingers off for me and I was grateful. But it really was hard in some ways. For one thing she was always asking me why I had this or that this way or that way, or why I didn't have something else some other way. And she thought I ought to have the maid do everything her maids used to do thirty years ago. And of course she wanted to take the baby right away from me and bring it up her way. I didn't mean to be unreasonable but it got on my nerves terribly."

Both Were Wrong And Both Were Right. Now if one had heard either side of that story alone one might have blamed the other party. As it was, one only pitied both. They loved each other so and they hurt each other so. One wished the mother might have a little more tact and the daughter a little more patience. Perhaps they will some day.

GUTENBERG. Johann Gutenberg, who invented the art of printing, including the single-column half-tone cut which leaves so much to the imagination of the reader, was a native of Germany. While yet a child he learned to speak the German language with machine-gun precision, seldom getting a verb in the wrong pew or mispronouncing any of the words.

Gutenberg had all the troubles of the printer except the delinquent subscriber.

Like all inventors, Gutenberg was constantly beset by grief and flint-hearted creditors, and for several years did not venture out except after dark. While thus engaged he was sued for breach of promise by an aggrieved young lady who gave his love letters to the newspapers, which printed them from type furnished by Gutenberg, the smallest letters being of the size generally used in a sale bill. When the jury read the love letters and took an unbiased look at the plaintiff, they decided that Gutenberg had been punished enough and refused to cripple his proud spirit with the matrimonial yoke. And yet there are people who would abolish the jury system!

When Gutenberg began to discover printing he had no working models to go by. He was not even able to steal somebody's patent and tie up the owner in the courts for ninety-nine years, which is one of the most soothing forms of modern litigation. But Gutenberg was a good speller and could repeat the alphabet lying down or standing up, and before long he came out with a font of wood type which could be read with the naked eye at a distance of one mile. His invention, however, did not take. He lived in a superstitious age, and was at once accused of being a witch, which he denied in letters one foot and six inches in height. About this time he sank into debt up to the double cowitch which he was accustomed to wear looped over his left eye, and became so despondent that he was about ready to give up newspaper work entirely.

Gutenberg's wood type did not stand up under the sledges which he used in place of a cylinder, pressed, he then invented metal type. In the spring of 1450 he printed the Bible, including the unpromised swallowing of the prophet Jonah, after which he was sued by his partner and left without enough ready money to buy a haircut. His life at this period was very sad. Johann Gutenberg was a patient, persevering man, much given to thought and heavy woollen underwear, and he would have accomplished more if he had not been so fully occupied in dodging promissory notes. Gutenberg had all of the troubles of the printer except the delinquent subscriber, and if that had been added to his list he would probably have died earlier and with much more satisfaction.

BEGGARS ON WHEELS.

I see a million autos scum before my dwelling daily; the engines hum, the honk-horns toot, the wheels are spinning gayly. I recognize a lot of jays who thus go whizzing past me, and say, "It beats me how they raise the wherewithal, dodgast me!" For there goes Boggs, who doesn't pay the butcher and the baker, who's standing off, from day to day, the patient undertaker. And there goes Skaggs; I saw him stick a mortgage on his shanty; he couldn't get a prune on tick 'twixt here and Ypsilanti. And there goes Swigg; he's borrowed mon from every friend and neighbour; he's so enamored of his fun, he's cut out useful labor. I see the long procession go, the tireless autos fitting, and wonder, as I watch them flow, what porchouse they'll be hitting. An auto takes a goodly hoard; some traps its always wanting; not one in twenty can afford to keep a motor jaunting. But every one now has his car, no man's so badly busted that he can't junket near and far, past creditors disgusted.

The hearing of the evidence in the case of the King vs. Parker was resumed at 2.30 yesterday afternoon when Pte. Aiden Hogan was called and gave evidence. He testified that at 1 p.m. on Sunday, the day of the tragedy, Parker, Sergt. Major Gardner and Baker, the chauffeur, called at Waterloo Hall and picked him up in the car owned by the accused.

They drove back to town and, stopping at the Cross Roads, telephoned Private Curran, whom they afterwards picked up, and then proceeded to the Armoury. From there they motored towards the Goulds where they came across Charles Slater, whose auto had broken down.

Parker started to come back to Dodd's garage to get a tube for Slater's car and en route met Mr. Dodd and gave him the instructions. He then returned to Walsh's at the Goulds. From there Parker made a short run out the road with several civilians, then back part of the way and then out again. Wm. Snow, who was on the running board, jumped off before Doyle's Bridge was reached.

After crossing the bridge Parker swore at the brakes. About 50 yards ahead witness saw a woman and two children, and when about 20 yards from them shouted to the accused, "My God, Jack, look out!" Parker said, "Hold on, boys," and the next instant they were in the ditch. Parker jumped out and picking up the woman shouted, "Get a doctor." When asked if Parker was drunk, witness replied in the negative.

Wm. Baker, chauffeur, was the next witness, and in giving evidence stated that, acting under instructions from Parker, he got the car ready at 11.30 a.m. and drove it to the Armoury where he waited till shortly after 12 o'clock, when Parker and Gardner came along. They proceeded from there to Waterloo Hall for Hogan, and on returning to the house, he was dropped.

Sergt. Major Gardner was the next witness, and after giving evidence as to the incident, described the accident. After crossing Doyle's Bridge he saw a woman and two children coming towards the bridge and three or four feet from the right side of the road. He shouted a warning. The woman ran towards the ditch, then out to the centre of the road and back again, as far as he thought, in front of the car. They all jumped out of the car together. He picked up one of the children and brought it to a house, where he remained some time before coming on to town.

At 6 o'clock the Court took recess till 7.30, when Gardner's evidence was concluded. L. C. Curran, Nath. Joyce and Fred. Chafe were the next witnesses, their respective evidence dealing with the car, marks on the bridge and scene of the tragedy. At 10.50 the Court adjourned.

THIS MORNING'S PROCEEDINGS.

Henry Williams, fisherman, who lives about 200 yards from the scene of the tragedy, said—"I saw Samuel Chafe come up the road and he told me to run quick, that Ethel was killed. I first saw the body of a woman near the drain. Two men were there. I took them to be volunteers. One volunteer was in the drain and the other leaning against the car; the latter wore a disfigured boot. I said to the man that was assisting the woman, 'step back; you are like a man in the horrors.' I told a man to run up to my express and bring a mattress as quiet as possible. They did not get mine, but got another one. I asked the man with the disfigured boot if he owned the car. He said 'no.' I did not identify the accused. I had no further conversation with the volunteers. James Howlett assisted me in placing the body on the express and brought it to the house. My whole attention was occupied with the woman."

Cross-examined by Mr. Higgins, he said: "No other person was there but volunteers at first, but a crowd gathered later. I was so confused that I did not recognize anyone. I later remembered seeing a man with a dark moustache. A volunteer stooped down in a rough way to pick up the woman and I told him to stand aside. He did not speak to me, I don't know what happened to him later. He appeared so rough that he would not handle a horse in such a manner. I got no smell of liquor from the volunteer in question."

Questioned by the Judge he said "he was going at such a rate that he noticed nothing, not even the car, and did not know if it had wheels or not." Theophilus Chafe, husband of Mrs. Chafe and father of Douglas Chafe, the victims of the tragedy, being examined by Mr. McNelly, said: "I last saw my wife go out the door. I was going to meet my son Norman, who went on a message to Mrs. Bennett's. I knew nothing till my brother called me; he said something about the children being run over. I saw a motor car with the wheel broken off. I saw a woman on the road, no cross-examination. The witness will later give evidence when the Jury visits the scene.

W. F. Bradshaw was again called, and when about to be examined by Mr. McNelly, the Bench objected to the mode of procedure adopted by the lawyer for the Crown, and forthwith Mr. Bradshaw was asked to retire.

William Snow, on being examined by Mr. McNelly, said: "I was out to Walsh's on the 26th August. I had a ride with Parker. Six others were in the car. We drove out the road for about 15 minutes, turned around and came back. We were going to Bay Bulls in Parker's car. Other civilians decided not to go. We backed the car after going past Walsh's. Parker, in turning the car, said he was going back to town as he had an appointment. Flynn and I had a drink in the car. After coming out of Walsh's I jumped on the foot-board and did not hear or see the car strike Doyle's Bridge. I jumped off about 30 feet before passing the bridge. I asked Parker what was wrong with the car; he said the car was not working well. Here witness described the working of the car's engine. The gear of the car slipped out near the church and also when he was standing on the foot-board. Mr. Higgins here protested to the Bench against certain questions put to the witness by the Crown Prosecutor.

After leaving the motor, he, witness, proceeded to Brennock's and did not see Parker after.

Cross-examined by Mr. Higgins, he said: "I own a motor-cycle and go over the Goulds road three or four times a week, and always stay at Walsh's. There is always a deep rut at the Bay Bulls end of Doyle's Bridge situated on the right hand side. The bridge sort of cants off towards Petty Hr. When riding his cycle he was careful to avoid colliding with a certain post on the bridge. The road which was in a bad condition has since been repaired. Parker was absolutely sober on the day of the tragedy."

John Sullivan, next called, said: "My first information of the accident was conveyed by a telephone message from the Power House at Petty Hr. about 7 o'clock. I engaged a motor car and taking Dr. Tait and Sergt. Detective Byrne I proceeded to the scene of the tragedy. Dr. Fraser and Dr. Anderson were there when I arrived. The injured people had been removed to the house. I saw the motor car and on inquiry I was informed that the accused was down at Brennock's. I instructed Sergt. Byrne to arrest the accused while I remained at the scene. The prisoner was handed over to me. Later I had the car moved to the side of the road as I thought it interrupted the traffic. I visited the house to which the victims had been removed and directed the doctor to examine the injuries of the woman. I arranged with the husband of the deceased to have the body brought out to the morgue; and on returning to the city directed Undertaker S. G. Collier to bring in the remains. I came to the conclusion that Parker was sober and found no smell of liquor from him. He conducted himself sanely and soberly as far as I could see."

Cross-examined by Mr. Higgins, he said: "The accused was perfectly sober."

Charles Slater, examined by Mr. McNelly: I saw Parker on a road leading from Killbride on the day of the tragedy. I asked him to go to get a tube which he did. I saw him afterwards about 4 p.m. at Walsh's. I had no drink with Parker that day. I asked him for one and he said he did not have any. I suggested to Parker to come to Witness Bay with me, but he said his car was running too badly."

Cross-examined by Mr. Higgins, he said a man named Tyrrell, an agent for Malted Milk, was with him in the car. Witness described Doyle's Bridge as a dangerous part in the road, and one has to be always careful on approaching it.

Mary Brennan, wife of John Brennan and proprietress of Brennan's Hotel, examined by Mr. McNelly, said: Parker came to my house after the accident and entered at the back door. I said I was sorry for the accident. He asked to wash his hands and I showed him to a room upstairs. I sent him upstairs to save confusion. He appeared to me to be all right but looked frightened. I went up some time after; I saw him lying on the bed. I later visited the room with Detective Byrne and found Parker in the same position.

Cross-examined, he said Parker was sober when he came to her house. John Ryan—I was at Walsh's on the day of the accident. I cannot make any statement as to Parker's condition.

He was not cross-examined.

Detective Sergt. Byrne—I heard of the accident about 6.30. I accompanied Mr. Sullivan and Dr. Tait in a motor car and arrived at the scene at 7.30. The first thing I noticed was the position of the car and its condition. It was facing towards town with the front wheels at an angle across the road. The ribs were gone from the right front wheel, while the hub was attached to the axle. Three sticks from a broken bridge, which showed signs of blood, were seen on the side of the road. I next saw the two children unconscious in the house of Frederick Chafe. Samuel Chafe directed me as to how the accident might happen. I also saw three hair combs on the side of the road, about 11 paces from where the body of the woman lay, and about five feet from where the combs lay I saw two all-day suckers on the road. The car had struck the ditch about 19 paces behind where the combs were picked up. There was no evidence of the car turning across the drain. I did not notice the track of the car before it struck the drain.

Pieces of broken glass from a headlight were again put in as evidence and identified by the last witness as belonging to Parker's car.

The Court took recess at 1 p.m. when Mr. Justice Johnson intimated that it might be possible for the Jurors to visit the scene of the last witness had been concluded.

The further hearing of the case was resumed at 2.30 o'clock.

THE SITUATION IN RIGA GULF.
Petrograd, Oct. 17.
Regarding the situation in and around the Gulf of Riga, a semi-official news agency to-day issued the following summary of conditions there as coming from a competent naval authority: While our fleet in the zone of operations is being pressed by German forces four times its strength, our army finds itself in a more favorable position, the strength of the German troops landed being insignificant. Tagga Bay is the only place where reinforcements can be disembarked, and it is exposed to northerly gales which have been blowing for two days. The transport of our reinforcements to the island of Oesel, however, does not depend upon weather conditions. This explains the persistent efforts of the German destroyers to penetrate as far as Moon Sound, thereby threatening our communications, and the enemy's desperate attacks against the troops defending these communications. The matter should be settled before long, as we are hastening the despatch of reinforcements for a counter attack, which is imminent.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Oct. 17.
The British official statement issued to-night says: Hostile artillery has shown considerable activity during the day northeast of Ypres and on the coast sector. The activity of our own artillery on the battlefield continues. There is nothing of further special interest to report.

SHAUGHNESSY'S INFLUENCE.

TORONTO, Oct. 17.
Under the caption "Lord Shaughnessy's Stand," the News to-day says: "Baron Shaughnessy is to be praised for his ringing pronouncement in support of the selective draft. He is the largest employer in this country and his statement will therefore have much influence in every province, especially in Quebec, where it has been issued and where it was most needed." Lord Shaughnessy made great personal sacrifices in the war, and if at one stage he appeared to discourage recruiting, he has now made amends. He recognizes that the situation is grave, that the freedom of Canada is at stake, and that compulsion is therefore imperative, he is, in support of the Unionist Government and of the men at the front.

The British Red Cross.

MESSAGE FROM THE KING TO THE GOVERNOR.

Buckingham Palace.
During the last twelve months I have had constant opportunities for witnessing afresh both at home and in Flanders the great work of mercy carried out by the united efforts of the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England. In every theatre of the war regardless of distance, discomfort or danger the task of alleviating pain and suffering and of ministering to those in need is performed with unparalleled devotion by the men and women who have taken service under the Red Cross. The prompt and unstinting provision of medical and general stores and comforts is an all important work and one of the main responsibilities undertaken by the Joint Committee. I know indeed grateful for the aid and co-operation which the Joint Societies bring to the medical services of the Armies; nor have they needs of our Prisoners of War been forgotten in the allocation of your funds. I trust, therefore, that there will be no falling off of generous financial support on the part of every one at home and in the Dominions overseas without which this work could not be maintained. During the war I have had great satisfaction in sending to the Joint Committee on October 20th a donation of £5,000. This year for the "Our Day" collection on the 18th October it is a pleasure to me to contribute £10,000 to mark my appreciation of what has been achieved by the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England in the past and my deep sense of the importance of continuing these achievements in the future.

Projected Motor Association.

As suggested by the Evening Telegram recently, and at the request of Inspector General Hutchings, a meeting of representative city motor car owners took place in the I. G.'s office in the Court House. Mr. Walter Monroe was appointed Chairman and Mr. Collinshaw, Secretary, and the question of forming a Motor Association was discussed. It was unanimously decided to appoint a small committee to draft a constitution, to be submitted to a general meeting of the Association to be held soon.

Patriotic Entertainment.

St. John's, Oct. 18, 1917.
A most enjoyable basket party in aid of the Christmas Fund for our boys at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. Burt, of the Battery Road, 16 nights attended, most of the boys being returned soldiers who had served in France and at Gallipoli. The promoters, Miss E. Jacobs and other young ladies from Knowling's and the Royal Stores, are to be congratulated, as the handsome sum of $50.25 was the result of the auction sale of the baskets held after dancing had been indulged in.
It would have gladdened the hearts of the boys at the front to have seen the pairs who had shared their hard task and bully beef in the trenches, bidding as high as $5.00 for a basket that held lunch for two, thus showing in the most tangible manner that their hearts were in it still.
If the same unselfish spirit was shown by all of this city as is manifested in most of the men who have returned to recuperate, there would be little need of the long editorials that we write these days for a larger number of subscribers towards this most deserving fund.
Yours truly,
P. C. O. D.

TO PRESENT "COMMON CLAY."
No play of recent years has created the national sensation caused by "Common Clay" the A. H. Woods production which the Gladys-Klark company will present at Casino Theatre.
The heroine of Common Clay is Ellen Nell whose superior intelligence and taste for better things lead her to the pursuit of pleasures that result in her downfall. She comes as a servant into the home of a wealthy family, the Fullertons.
The counsel for the Fullertons is Judge Filson, one of the most noted lawyers in the state. When Judge Filson learns the name of Ellen's mother, he collapses. Ellen is his own daughter, and he feels himself to be directly responsible for all her misfortunes.
He takes her under his care and educates her, and she becomes a famous actress; under another name. Ten years later the new Ellen comes as a guest to the Fullertons, where the happy ending is effected.

Illustrated Lecture.

Last evening in the lecture room of Cochran Street Methodist Central Church, the Rev. Dr. Bond delivered the first of a series of illustrated lectures which it is intended to give during the coming months. The subject last evening was "Egypt," the views shown were of a very interesting character, a number of them being taken by the lecturer while on a visit to the East many years ago. Views of Alexandria, Cairo, Cleopatra's Needle, Pyramids and many others showing Eastern customs were thrown on the screen by the aid of a beautiful lantern recently presented to the Church by a member of the congregation.
Next week the subject will be "Jerusalem." These lectures are designed to be of an educative character and should draw large audiences.

Cascarets for a Cold, Bad Breath or Sick Headache.

Best for liver and bowels, for biliousness, sour stomach and constipation.
Get a 10-cent box now. Furred Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and congested bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to double misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

Britain to Buy Our Fish.

Food Controller Tells of Advanced Prices Offered by British Government.
Montreal, Oct. 11.—Hon. W. J. Hanna, Food Controller, yesterday addressed the Montreal Housewives' League. He stated that from now on at intervals of about 10 days, bulletins will be issued showing what the food controller has accomplished during the preceding days. Mr. Hanna explained that the increased cost of fish was due largely to a delegation from the British government having offered to purchase the whole catch of the season at two and a half cents per pound previously, that is four and one half cents, instead of the two pound more than the fishermen had cents previously charged.

The Alpha Rubber Household Glove is one of the most convenient things of the kind ever introduced. Made of tough heavy rubber—which however is not so thick as to be clumsy or interfere with the free movement of the hands, fitting closely so that no water can get in, and moderate in price, they seem to get pretty near the ideal of what things of the kind should be. Ladies who do their own housework will find them a very boon, enabling them to perform all necessary work without wetting or soiling the hands. A pair of these gloves used with reasonable care, will last a long time before giving out. Sizes 7, 8, and 9—$1.50 a pair.

FRANCE ENDURES.
PARIS, Oct. 17.
Medill McCormick, Representative from Illinois, was the guest of honor as Representative of the United States Congress at a luncheon given today by French Senators and Deputies. Henri Franklin Bouillon, Minister of Missions abroad, who recently returned from the United States, presided. Mr. McCormick, responding to a toast, said he had come to Europe fearful for the strength of France, but that he had drunk from the well spring of her power. "I was depressed," he declared, "by the thought that I would find France exhausted, but I have been fortified a hundredfold by her vigor. As I travelled past the little forests and the farms which to all the rest of the world seem a garden, I saw France busy, toiling, resolute." Representative McCormick dwelt upon the sacred union between the women and children, the old men and the young, which bound the hearts of the population. After sketching America's relation to the war and her vast preparations, McCormick concluded: "We know, as surely as we know that France lives, that her sons have not died in vain. We Americans know that France, sweet, gay and tender as she was, and as she will be again, on the field of battle is terrible and unshakable, the mother of indomitable armies. Over the bodies of her fallen, over her devastated fields, over the broken ruins of Rheims, she sees through the mists the star of victory; France, which has endured so much, and which still endures, glorious victorious France."

BRITISH AVIATORS BUSY.
LONDON, Oct. 17.
The British official dealing with aviation, issued to-night, says: British aviators carried out a very successful bombing raid this afternoon into German territory. A factory west of Saarbrücken, some 40 miles beyond the German frontier was attacked, and many bombs were dropped with good effect. Fires were seen to break out in the factory. All our machines returned safely. Tuesday our airplanes took advantage of a fine period from dawn until 3 o'clock in the afternoon to carry out artillery work and photography. A large number of bombs also were dropped during the day on hostile billets, huts, and trenches. Two German machines were brought down in an air fight and another was shot down by our anti-aircraft guns. One of our machines is missing.

BERLIN REPORT.
BERLIN, (via London), Oct. 17.
Artillery fire on the Flanders front gained intensity in certain sectors yesterday and last evening, while this morning it increased in violence along the whole front, the army headquarters announced to-day. The infantry was inactive, except for reconnoitering expeditions.

WEEK'S SHIPPING LOSSES.
LONDON, Oct. 17.
Twelve British merchant ships over 1,500 tons were sunk by mines or submarines the last week, according to a statement of the British Admiralty to-night. Six under 1,500 tons and one fishing vessel, were also sunk.

OFFICERS' CASUALTIES.
LONDON, Oct. 17.
Refuting reports from German sources that the casualties among British officers in recent attacks were "unusually severe," the Secretary of the War office issued a statement to-night showing that the total officer casualties for the month of August in all theatres of the war were 5,638, or a daily average of 184. For September the total officer casualties were 3,182, or a daily average of 106. The statement points out that the highest daily average of officer casualties in all theatres was in July, 1916, when it reached 282. "These figures," the statement adds, "include all casualties, however slight. Many officers returned to duty even before the casualty list had been published."

GATHERING OF JEWS.
NEW YORK, Oct. 17.
The most important gathering of Jews in America, since the outbreak of the European war, will take place here on October 28th for the continuation of the Jewish war relief and for the completion of $10,000,000 of funds for war sufferers. It was announced by Felix M. Warburg, chairman of the joint distribution committee of American funds for Jewish war sufferers. More than 1,000 of the most prominent American Jews are expected to attend.

There are few friendships more beautiful than that between mother and son, and rarely has it been more intimately and faithfully described than in this haunting book. The story of a clever, handsome, active, self-willed boy's twenty years of life told only as a proud, just and loving mother could tell it.

A true and human and very beautiful story is "Boy of My Heart," 85c.

What Happened in Topsail?

About September last year a city Commission Merchant had a chat with our President in Topsail, and it terminated with a small "try-out" investment of $115. That little amount grew to the present value of $300, and pays him $3.00 every month.

A young railroad man—a friend of ours—invested $555.00 three years ago. He has since sold $900 worth, and what he holds is worth $1,000, while the monthly earnings are $20.

That's peculiar arithmetic, we know, but ask us to SHOW YOU and PROVE IT TO YOU.
