STEWART'S Home Made Bread,

THE BREAD MY DADDY LIKES.
Daddy is evidently not one of those back number lords of creation who believes that woman's place is in the home—and only there. His taste in a wife is an up-to-date woman who will prove herself a real companion. He knows that if she is a slave to her kitchen she can't enjoy the peace or have the interest in world affairs that a little extra leisure would make possible; and so he is pleased to eat MRS. STEWART'S HOME MADE BREAD—the loaf with the home made flavor.
The smiling, well-nourished kiddie doesn't look as though suffering because mother is progressive enough to buy good bread made by a bread specialist, instead of wearing out her life in the kitchen.

CHAPTER XVI.
THE SECRET OUT.

"You won't cry, will you, Vane?" Vane laughed and pushed the boy into his seat.

"You've got to make a speech yourself, Hal," he said, at which Hal trembled visibly.

Crying is an exhausting operation, and the two bridesmaids, much abetted and encouraged by Hal, attacked the usual vands with surprising heartiness, considering their heart-broken condition; mingled with the clatter of the knives and forks, there was a great deal of laughter and talking, and two persons only seemed to be smitten with silence—they were Jeanne and Bell.

Vane was busy attending to the wants of Mrs. Lambton, who sat on the other side of him, and did not notice the fixed attention with which Bell regarded him—an attention so fixed that Hal had almost to shout in asking him, for the third time, to pass the champagne.

To Jeanne, the whole scene seemed the unsubstantial episode in a dream, and every now and then she caught herself glancing up at the handsome face beside her, as if to assure herself that her lover, her husband, was there. Every now and then, too, Vane's hand would seek and hold hers for a moment beneath the table, and once, as he bent down, he whispered: "My Jeanne!" and Jeanne's heart leaped gladly.

Never had Vane—the once silent and reserved—appeared in such light spirits and buoyant happiness.

"Isn't he quite too charming!" whispered Maud to Bell: "so distinguished-looking, too. No one would think he was only an artist, would they?"

At which poor Bell, who had been staring absentmindedly at his plate, started and turned pale.

Presently Vane glanced at his watch, and Hal, who had drooped his shyness in champagne, jumped to his feet. "Bless the boy," murmured Aunt Jane. "He is going to make a speech."

"Only a short one, aunt," said Hal. "I've got to propose the health of the bride, you know," and he nodded toward Jeanne with a flush on his bright face and a suspicious moisture in his eyes. "Here is my love, Jen, and may you be happy."

"That's the most sensible speech I ever heard at a wedding breakfast," said Aunt Jane, admiringly.

Vane got up with a smile on his lips.

"Thank you, Hal," he said. "Jeanne shall be happy, if I can make her so, and as he sat down, he laid his hand on Jeanne's and held it.

"Mr. Bell will have to propose the bridesmaid's health," said Hal, clapping his tutor on the back. "Come, sir, Durability, richness of colour, quality of texture, the freshness of newness—these are preserved to all good fabrics washed with LUX. A packet of LUX—a bowl of warm water—and dainty hands can cleanse delicate fabrics in a delightfully easy manner.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WALK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her to Health.

Perth Amboy, N.J.—"For three years I suffered with a severe female trouble, was nervous, had backache and a pain in my side most of the time. I had dizzy spells and was often so faint I could not walk across the floor. The doctor said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my newspaper, and tried it. Now I am better, feel strong, have no pain, backache or dizzy spells. Every one tells me how well I look, and I tell them to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is what makes me feel well and look well. I recommended it to my sister and she is using it now. You can use this letter if you wish for it is certainly a grand remedy for a woman's ills."—Mrs. MARTHA STANISLAWSKI, 624 Penn St., Perth Amboy, N.J.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

But Aunt Jane shook her head and started at him.

"Well," he said, giving it up as a bad job, "I see you want to have a chat with Jeanne. Suppose you ladies run away and leave us gentlemen to have a quiet glass to ourselves. Go, my darling," he murmured in Jeanne's ear, "and don't forget that we have only just half an hour."

Certainly the effect of Bell's communication seemed to have caused partial stupefaction to the majority of the party, for when Vane opened the door, Georgina and Maud arose as if they were awaking from a stupor, and each, as they went out, stared over their shoulders at him, as if they could not see too much of him.

Jeanne was the last to leave the room, and as she went, Vane took both her hands in his, and scrutinized her downcast face with a loving assured expression.

"Well, Jeanne," he said, "are you so startled also?"

But Jeanne did not answer, did not lift her eyes, and went out without a word, hearing, as he did so, Vane's voice, with its now merry ring in it, saying:

"Now, gentlemen, don't let me be foolish over this little surprise. Bell, I have committed a crime, a mortal crime, Uncle John, Jeanne hasn't suffered any injury. Come—come!"

Jeanne finds the rest of the ladies clustered at the foot of the stairs, all waiting for her, and all speechless still, and putting her arm around Aunt Jane's waist, she leads her upstairs, then, when the door is closed, Aunt Jane speaks.

"Jeanne, is this true?"

"Oh, yes, Jeanne, it is true—quite true," echoed Maud and Georgina. "It can't be true!"

"Yes, it is true," said Jeanne, quietly, with downcast face.

Mrs. Lambton sank into a chair, and held her hand to her heart.

"Then—then," she said, "you are a marchioness, Jeanne!"

"A marchioness!" echoed Maud, casting a woeful and despairing glance at her sister.

"If they had only known—if some good-natured angel had only whispered that this handsome unknown man they had been patronizing so effusively all these months past was a marquis, instead of a poor, struggling artist, what might have happened? They both exchanged glances and groaned. "A real marquis!" gasped Mrs. Lambton, "and here's Lambton and me been treating him all this time like a common man!"

CHAPTER XVII.
LOVE AND A TITLE.

There was an intense silence. Aunt Jane stared speechlessly, Uncle John arose and held on by the table, but Mr. Lambton's surprise was more marked and intense than any. He turned perfectly purple, and fell back staring at Vane as if he were some phenomenon.

"A—A—A—A!" he gasped.

"Even bless my soul, it—it can't be true!"

Bell waved his hand and pointed to the license.

All eyes were turned on Vane, who, calm and composed, with a grave smile upon his handsome face, and with his hand still holding Jeanne's, looked up.

"You have sprung a mine upon us all, Bell," he said, with a slight tone of reproach; then he turned to Aunt Jane, and said, quietly:

"What Mr. Bell has said is true, Mrs. Dostrell. Will you forgive me for concealing my real identity from you? It was done with no unworthy motive, and I trust you will not regret your gift to me to-day because I asked for it in a feigned name—scarcely feigned, though," he added, gently, "for Vernon Vane are two of my names, as Bell will tell you."

Still, however, no one seemed able to do more than stare, and Vane, with a short laugh, continued:

"Do not look so agast, all of you," he said, with a touch of kindly impatience. "I am not changed by having a few extra names and a title. Pray let us remain Vernon Vane, and let us remain on the old footing. The reason for this concealment, Uncle John, I will write and tell you, or, better still, Jeanne shall do it. Now, Mr. Lambton, let us take a glass of champagne together, and with a laugh, he filled Mr. Lambton's glass; but the worthy pillmaker could not be put at his ease quite so quickly.

"Can't—certainly, my lord, with pleasure," he said. "Delighted, I'm sure—bless my soul—my lady, your ladyship's very good health," he gasped, looking at Jeanne, not with the old patronizing smile, but with a reverential, almost frightened, expression.

"Now, Aunt Jane," said Vane, "fill up your glass; come—"

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily made.

There is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are cured, throat tickle, bronchitis, asthma, or whooping cough.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16-oz. bottle, and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup. For sugar syrup. Either way, you get 15 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you can buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

The Next Four Days are "Cold Day Comfort" Days

And right here and now, before you look at the list below, KEARNEY wants you to listen to a word of advice in season. During the past sixteen days of the 50-50 SALE there have been several shoppers who have come in late on the "fourth day" of different groups to purchase some one or more of the advertised articles, and KEARNEY'S Clerks had to say "I'm sorry, but we sold the last about half-an-hour ago." All that would-be shopper took away was a "grouch" because he was too late.

Don't YOU wait until the FOURTH DAY. COME ON THE FIRST DAY and early at that, then you'll get your pick of what's going (and there's a great list this time). Take KEARNEY'S advice, he knows that if you do wait until the fourth day, you'll be like the folks he's told you about, and all you'll get from the 50-50 SALE will be a "grouch" to think you didn't come earlier.

Have Made Glorious Name.

Men of the Merchant Marine of Great Britain and of America Always Quietly Heroic.

The merchant marine has always led the navy, in Great Britain and in the United States, because the sailor's trade differs from that of the soldier in this respect: As soon as you drop the harbor lights you are always in danger, and this is what gives seafaring men their fine, liberal views. The soldier regards the freebooter, the comitadj, and the bandit as distinctly respectable members of society—a race to be stamped out and utterly disapproved. The sailor regards the pirate, the smuggler, and the gunrunner, not with approval, but he appreciates the perils of the calling. Merchant ships went armed as a matter of course long after the parallel state of affairs had ceased on land, and to this day the master of a merchant ship has arms in his stateroom with the right to use them in his sound discretion. He is monarch of all he surveys, and has much more than the modern monarch's responsibilities. When a crisis comes to you, you must meet it there and then, for there is no room on board a ship for indecisions. Squalls, tempests, the public enemy, are just the same for the steamship as for the square-rigger or the sharp-nosed schooner; they are to be conquered, and immediately. The merchant marine of the English-speaking peoples has never been false to its training and tradition; and whether it be Pratt that plays the hero and makes no fuss about it, or Kinnier that takes his ship through Nelson strait and out past the Isle of Desolation, while the pursuing German prudently stays behind and sends wireless dispatches of his success.

The New Livingstone.

When the full story of the wonderful journey in East Africa of the Rev. John Roscoe, rector of Orvington, Thornton, Norfolk, comes to be written, it will be found to equal those of Livingstone and Stanley. One day Mr. Roscoe started from his rectory with a bicycle and a camera. For twelve months he wandered in the wilds of Africa, fraternizing with cannibals, studying their customs, and participating in their gruesome and quaint ceremonies.

His knowledge of native languages helped him to make friends and learn secrets denied to other explorers. Every day he risked his life among the natives, but he says modestly, "They killed several before I arrived and several after I left; but they were not my friends."

So intimately acquainted is Mr. Roscoe with the customs and ways of each tribe that they would say to him, "Come home with priceless information, Oh, you are one of us," and so on.

CONSIDERING AUSTRIA.

PARIS, Jan. 25. Conditions in Austria, described as "critical" were considered by the Supreme Allied Council in session today. The possibility of an utter collapse of the Austrian Government with attendant danger of anarchy and Bolshevism, has been before the heads of the Allied Cabinets for several weeks and the necessity for stabilizing the situation was approved when this morning the sitting began. Lloyd George and Brian are apparently getting to compose their differing views relating to reparations before this important topic is discussed by the full session of the Council. They appear to be far apart.

RELIGIOUS STRIKE IN BOMBAY.

BOMBAY, Jan. 25. The Stock Exchange and Bullion Markets were closed to-day and a general religious strike is proposed in consequence of a grave incident yesterday attendant upon the killing of two pigeons in the street by two European boys. The natives consider the pigeons sacred. A crowd of angry Indians gathered and remonstrated with the boys. The police took charge of the lads and also several Hindoo boys, with whom they had been fighting. The crowd followed demanding release of the Hindoo boys, whereupon the police charged and scenes of intense excitement ensued. The natives stoned the police and several persons were injured. Seventeen arrests were made. Native merchants are meeting to consider what steps should be taken.

An official stated this morning that no orders had been received for the outlook was not too rosy. He expressed the opinion that unless new business was booked the plant would suspend operations next week.

BRITISH BOXERS CLEAN SWEEP.

New York, January 18.—British boxers made a clean sweep over Americans here last night in the first international amateur tournament staged by the International Sporting Club.

The champions of the London police force and the British army and navy defeated the best of the respective American classes before a large crowd in the ball-room of the Commodore Hotel.

Capt. E. C. Chandler, heavyweight champion of the British army, won the decision from Private John Courtwright, Camp Holbridge, Maryland.

Jack Watson, the champion of the British navy, was awarded the decision over Ralph Ritchie, of the Hampton Roads Station.

Harry Mallin, middleweight, king of the London "Bobbies," defeated Johnny Ruff of the New York force.

Hugh Brown, light heavyweight, knocked out Sergeant Ben Davis, the Indian "doughboy."

The innings saw three centuries, Armstrong, 121; Kellaway, 147; and Pellow, 104. Cricket experts state that the stonewalling innings of Armstrong, yesterday, was the finest ever seen in Australia.

At the close of the day's play England had lost one wicket for 66.

Famous Extravagance.

Sir Edmund Walker Speaks Plainly—Reviews the Trade of the Year at Annual Meeting of Bank of Commerce.

Hopfulness, in time of depression, is not generally sought for in the utterances of bank presidents. Sir Edmund Walker, however, at the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Bank of Commerce frankly regarded it "as a source of genuine satisfaction to all fair-minded people that we are now fully entered upon that adjustment of prices, both for commodities and labor, upon the reasonable settlement of which all hope for our future happiness and prosperity rests." His hopefulness is not of a character that fails to see the difficulties in the way of readjustment.

In reviewing the trade of the year and particularly the excess of imports, he speaks in no uncertain terms of "fatuous extravagance" and over "lavish expenditure of money at a time when the world is full of real trouble." In these characteristics of the people is found a part, if not the whole, cause of our adverse trade balance. While observant of our own shortcomings, Sir Edmund also deals very plainly with the obstacles, present and prospective, to the development of our foreign trade. To any unfriendly act by the Senate of the United States by the way of tariff discrimination, the rejoinder, he points out, will inevitably be decreased purchases from that country. It cannot escape the attention of business men in the United States that to check the movement of Canadian products will have that effect. Sir John Aird in his address, also referred to this matter in a way that ought to clarify public opinion, but the United States is not the only offender according to Sir Edmund. In respect of restriction on our exports, our cattle industry has grown very considerably but it is capable of expansion if markets can be found for our live stock products. In common with Canadians generally, he feels that for our live stock products as well as our field crops the United Kingdom is the natural market, but for about thirty years Great Britain, supposedly a free trade country, obstinately adheres to its embargo against our cattle. If Canadian cattle breeders were satisfied that it was the will of the people of England that Canadian cattle should not be imported to satisfy the requirements of consumers there, nothing could be said. Apparently Sir Edmund feels that the embargo is not in accordance with the wishes of the masses in the United Kingdom.

The changes in domestic trade and commerce were reviewed in detail by Sir Edmund. As he saw the difficulties of foreign trade, he also sees those confronting the development of domestic trade. The outstanding one, in Sir Edmund's opinion, is his remarks at the meeting are correctly interpreted, is inequitable taxation, that is, taxation which unduly burdens enterprise and the development of enterprise. He does not hesitate to say now that the war in over, that some of the present forms of Dominion taxation, while justifiable during the war period and the period immediately succeeding it, are in danger of becoming destructive of enterprise and perilous to our future if not altered. These are significant words, but Sir Edmund says frankly that taxation must be imposed to such an extent as to produce revenue in excess of expenditure. On the constructive side he suggests a tax on the sale of commodities and real property in Canada. He deals with this suggestion at length and regards it as fair, but speaks reservedly on the question of its practicability.

At the commencement of his address, Sir Edmund was hopeful as to the result of steps towards readjustment, but he uttered a note of warning at the close. When the adjustment has reached the retail public a new basis of values has been generally accepted, Sir Edmund looks for a general prosperity throughout the world, in which Canada will have a large share. That share will be in proportion to this country's sense in realizing now that its particular sin is its extravagant expenditure and willingness to incur debt.

Goal Keeper Collapsed.

DIED SEVEN MINUTES LATER.

Springhill, Jan. 14. — While the spectators were watching the work of the Springhill players in practice and waiting for the appearance of the Amherst team, Dan Angus Macdonald, veteran goal tender of the Springhill team, suddenly collapsed in the goal, and seven minutes later died in the dressing-room, where he was carried by his team mates. Doctors Wardrop and Withrow pronounced death due to heart failure. It was first thought that he had merely taken a weak turn.

With Macdonald lying dead the Amherst players arrived and a great shout went up, the spectators not realizing that Macdonald was dead. The Amherst players not only agreed to cancellation of the game but refused to accept any expense money.

The spectators, too, refused to accept the money for the tickets, many asking that the "gate" be given to Macdonald's widow, who is left with seven small children, the oldest of whom is 14 years.

The deceased player, who was 35 years of age, was very popular and has worked at No. 2 Slope for several years. In his younger days he played baseball with the Westville team. He has been goal tender on the Springhill team for a number of years.

Owing to a weak heart Macdonald had been previously warned on several occasions not to take part in anything of an exciting nature.

Wasn't Using Soap.

A serious inconvenience is caused in Australia by the lack of spring water. The trouble is partly overcome by the use of huge tin tanks in which the rain is caught.

Naturally, towards the breaking up of the dry season, water in the tanks becomes very precious.

A judge, on circuit, arriving at a bush shanty, asked for a bath. Such a luxury was naturally refused, as there was only a little water left at the bottom of the tank reserved for drinking purposes (says the author of "Quaint Acquaintances").

When dinner was ready, as the judge could not be found, the landlord went to call him; whereupon a muffled voice issued from the tank, where the judge was bathing!

The landlord, justly furious, roundly abused his guest.

"Do not excite yourself," the latter observed casually, "I am not spilling the water, for I am not using any soap!"

The NEW EDISON "The Phonograph with a Soul"

What Edison did during the War

THE official announcement is out. Ask us for your copy of "What Edison Did During the War." Write for it, if you can't call.

It tells how Edison left his home and business and went to sea, how Edison's "Yankee magic" foiled the German submarines.

The bulletin tells many other things; Edison did while Chairman of the Naval Consulting Board. It explains how Edison kept the price of his phonograph at bed rock during an era of high costs and soaring prices. Since 1914 the New Edison has advanced in price (in the United States) less than 15%—and part of this is war tax.

This bulletin also describes the Budget Plan, which makes it possible for every home to enjoy the benefits of good music without feeling the financial outlay.

Our Philatelic Corner.

(Conducted by Philatelists.)

This week I am publishing an article for beginners which I have culled from an old number of the "Postage Stamp." There are undoubtedly a large number of beginners in Newfoundland and I am sure this little article will be of use to them. The article is entitled "The Beginner's Friend."

COMMON STAMPS.

Don't despise the common stamps. Many of the specimens now judged to be of great value were once regarded as common. It is never possible to foretell exactly which stamps are likely to be valuable. It is only possible to guess that this stamp will have but a short life, and that one will not be much used. Our primary interest is in stamps, not exclusively in rare stamps. The market values may vary from a farthing to a fortune at a time, but a stamp's a stamp for a' that.

It need not matter to the young collector whether his stamps are likely to yield a big return by way of investment. Rather is it better for him to get the fullest pleasure out of present possessions, by learning all he can about them, by arranging them nicely, and by always striving after more stamps and more knowledge.

Knowledge of stamps begins with the common varieties. It is easier far to get a useful acquaintance with the super stamps by thoroughly studying the common ones in our own collections. If you have more than a nodding acquaintance with all the Tom, Dick and Harry stamps, which, having been used in large numbers, are within everybody's reach, you will readily "spot" some out-of-the-ordinary variety when you see one, and will know to look it up in your catalogue.

The eye-practitioner is necessary for the appreciation of shades and colour varieties comes from the study of the common stamps, and it is only by much familiarity with such stamps that colours become memorized. Such stamps are equally good material for training the eye to observe differences of detail.

Common stamps are not less interesting really than rare ones. Of course if you are one of those young collectors possessed of too many beans, and find your enthusiasm for stamps begins and ends with the high price at which this specimen is catalogued and what you made the "guy" pay for it, you are not likely to blossom out into a philatelist though you live to be a qu'non yourself.

No, all who would extract the best fun and interest from stamps will lay the foundations of their collections with the common stamps. None but the gilt-edged "p" would look with contempt upon the 15 centimes French and the 2 cents American et hoc genus omne in the schoolboy collection. For on these common but solid foundation stones have been erected some of the most important works in philately.

THE ALBUM.

In the holidays I was calling on some friends, and it transpired that Gussy, their first-born, had a stamp collection.

To Those Who Do Not Know THE UNIQUE QUALITIES OF "SALADA" TEA

We would say: Send us a postal card for a trial packet and your own teapot will then demonstrate why this is the largest selling tea in America. Address your card "Salada", Montreal.

BAIRD & CO. WHOLESALE AGENTS
ST. JOHN'S

"Go and bring it to show Mr.—" said the fond mother. And Gussy did. He staggered into the room a few minutes later under the weight of a thumping big book which might well have broken the back of Atlas.

"Why, what's this, you surely don't keep your stamps in the family Bible?"

It was the stamp album the mater had given him for Christmas, and he had lost no time in burying his four hundred and seventy varieties in it. It took me all my time to find any stamps in it at all.

I never, never, never would interfere between a mother and her boy, and so I simply couldn't tell the dear lady that her Christmas present was likely to kill the boy's interest in stamps. But I did get the youngster round to my place the other day, with his album, and told him how much better it would be not to sell the beautiful big book, and to keep it until his collection was worthy of so palatial a home. Then I sent him home happy in the possession of a shilling album in which he was going to re-mount his stamps, and in which they would not be entirely buried.

Many beginners start on too grand a scale, and kill their interest at the outset. To put a small collection into a huge album is as silly as to use a haystack for a pin cushion. If you are out to collect stamps, then stamps are the things on which to concentrate both your time and your money.

The object of a stamp album is to assist you in the formation of a collection, to make your stamps, when you have got them, easy of access for reference and study.

The more ponderous and cumbersome your album, the less frequently you will go to it in search of pleasure and recreation, and if you take a huge album to school, it will make your play-box a burden to you.

A small collection will be full of interest in a compact cheap album or even in a plain exercise book if neatly and cleanly arranged. Later on, when the collection begins to bulge the covers, you will find a new pleasure in transferring them to more commodious premises. But we have a lot to learn before then, and the chief thing we shall require is patience, for a collection of anything (except money at a Suftraggette meeting) is not got together without steady, persevering effort.

Wedding Bells.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at St. Patrick's Church on Saturday, January 22nd, by Rev. Dr. Kitchen, the contracting parties being Mr. Fred O'Neil, one of our Blue Puttee heroes, and Miss Theresa Kent, one of our popular young ladies and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent, Supt. with the Dominion Iron, Steel and Coal Co., Bell Island. The bride looked charming in a bridal gown of champagne Duchesse satin with hat and veil to match. Mrs. Lizzie Healey, in her capacity as bridesmaid, looked also very nice, while Mr. Jack Tobin ably supported the groom. After the wedding the happy couple drove to their future home, pleasant Street where a reception was held after which they will leave for and spend their honeymoon with the bride's parents. The presents received were numerous and costly testifying to the esteem in which the young couple are held.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

GIVERS AND TAKERS.

RUTH CAMERON

It is always a little to make these large classifications of the whole human race. For instance, people who like onions and the people who don't, or Gelett Burgess' famous classification "the Bromides and the Sulphides." Every once in a while I achieve one of these sweeping classifications. A few days ago I suggested the finders and the losers. To-day I have another on my mind—the givers and the takers.

Think over your friends and see if you could not put most of them into one of these two boxes. On second thought, I am not sure this is a wholly satisfactory classification since there are a good many people who partake of the characteristics of both classes, but there are also many who belong definitely to one or the other.

Illness Makes People Takers. People who have been sick a great deal are apt to become takers. I have known people who were givers by natural instinct to develop into takers after going through illness. Illness means helplessness, and helplessness means the acceptance of service, and there is no habit easier to develop than the acceptance of service. Sometimes the attitude wears away as soon as the illness departs, but I have known people who never wholly got out of it.

As for chronic invalids—to be a chronic invalid and not to come to accept as one's right all kinds of service and attention, is to accomplish a character miracle. Of course the chronic invalid must accept service, but just accepting the help you must have does not make one a taker. It is only when he takes it for granted, ceases to realize what it may cost the giver, ceases to give back what he can in sweetness and cheerfulness and the determination not to sadden other people's lives any more than necessary, that the chronic invalid becomes a taker.

When I started this I meant to say that men were takers by nature much more than women, but on second thought I am not so sure.

There are Men Takers and Women Takers.

The old saying "Women give and forgive while men get and forget" is very, very clever, but I think it needs a big grain of salt.

We all know men who accept a comfortable home, first class food, well brought up children and personal service that approaches waiting on by inches, without ever realizing how much they are getting for the few dollars they give their wives to manage on. (When a man takes things for granted like this I like to visualize him trying to buy that amount of service in the market. I suspect some widowers, after such an attempt, have a different idea of the former's wife's value—no wonder they marry again without waiting even the decent year.)

But we also know the woman who takes everything her husband can give her in the way of luxury as her natural right; urges him by her acts, if not her word, to work harder and give her more ("Mrs. S. has the loveliest squirrel coat, mine looked terribly shabby"), and in return gives him neither service nor children, and sometimes not even praise and admiration. I have seen men like this, giving, giving, and not expecting anything in return. And then again, I have seen them suddenly awake and wonder what they were doing for it. Maybe It's Wonderful and Maybe It Isn't.

You might assume that the women who can do this sort of thing must be very beautiful and must pay by their beauty. But the funny part is that they are not always beautiful by any means. They simply adopt the attitude of the taker and people around them are hypnotized into giving.

You think it would be wonderful whether what you get or what you give is the big thing in life—whether to be like that? That depends on possession and comfort, or character and service, are the things that really count.

The Fall of Khartoum.

At the end of thirty-six years it is still easy for many of us to recall the wave of sorrow that swept over the country when the newspapers announced the fall of Khartoum on Jan. 26, 1885. The long and glorious defence of the town will always fascinate the hearts of the thousands of European and African, a Christian among Mohammedans—the greatest hero of modern times, General "Chinese" Gordon—should by his genius and courage have inspired the efforts of seven thousand soldiers of inferior race and sustained the hearts of thirty thousand inhabitants of notorious timidity, in an event without parallel in history. With such materials and encumbrances Gordon offered a vigorous resistance to the increasing attacks of an enemy during a period of 317 days. But, by treachery, at last Khartoum fell, and Gordon died at the hands of the savages. Forty years have passed before he was avenged, and it was not until September 2, 1898, that Kitchener defeated the Mahdists, and the British flag once more floated on the capital of the Sudan.

Surgery Popular in Congo.

Surgical operations are becoming popular among the natives of the Belgian Congo, who are flocking to the mission hospital in such numbers that all the beds are occupied and many sleep outside waiting their turn. Dr. Judson C. King, the Baptist medical missionary, has started a school for the training of hospital assistants and considerable progress is being made in the medical education of the natives. "A few years ago," said Doctor King, "the natives of the Congo could not understand me when I tried to isolate the different contagious diseases. They thought such an act cruel, and they paid the price. Now, teaching and consequent observation, has so impressed them that they at once isolate certain diseases and so prevent epidemics. They are also bringing the cases to us before they have gone so far that they are hopeless."

The First Sikh War.

During the Afghan war Sikh—a district of 50,000 square miles, with a sea-coast of 150 miles, lying around the mouths of the Indus—was occupied by British troops. The "Amerees" or rulers of Sikh objected to this, and an attack was made on the English Residency at Hyderabad. Major Outram, who had only 100 men, retreated skillfully after a gallant defence, and joined the main army under Sir Charles Napier. A few days later the British won the battle of Miesanee, and a second victory at Duhba completed the conquest of Sikh. North-east of Sikh, higher up the Indus, lies the district of the Punjab, which derives its name from Persian words meaning "five waters." The country was then held by the Sikhs—the Highlanders of India—who had seized it in the previous century. One of their firm friends to the British, but his death in 1839 caused a sanguinary strife for the throne, during which an unprovoked attack was made on a British force stationed at Moodkee, a village 65 miles south east of Lahore. The Sikhs were repulsed with loss; but they were no mean foes, for they had fine horses, and their runners had been isolated by European officers of artillery. The British army, under Sir Hugh Gough and Sir Henry Hardinge, then moved on the Sikh camp at Ferozeshah, and took it after two days' hard fighting. The battle of Allwal was next fought on Jan. 23, in which the Sikh army, 24,000 strong and armed with 68 pieces of cannon, under Sirdar Runjoor Singh Majetha, were completely vanquished by the British under Sir Henry Smith who had 12,000 men and 32 guns. The Sikhs lost 6,366 men, some of whom were drowned in attempting to re-cross the river Sutlej on Jan. 26, 1846. This victory, together with Sobraon a fortnight later, opened the path of the British soldiers to Lahore, the capital of the Punjab, where a treaty was signed, thus closing the campaign.

THE HOBBO.

WANT MACHO

There came a hobo to my door, as closed the wintry day; he said his poor old feet were sore, he'd walked a weary way, and he would like a place to snore, a chance to hit the hay. I fed him victuals by the pail, his urgent need in mind; when he was flunked he told a tale of fortunes most unkind; he said he'd like to earn some kale, if he a job could find. I said, "You've reached my humble den, I bid you linger here, and you may earn some iron men to round out your career; I need a man to herd my hen—I'll hire you by the year." And all the night I lay awake upbuilding pleasant plans; one homeless wanderer I'd take from ranks of also rans, and smooth the road for one poor Jake to whom Fate tied her cans. And in the morning, at his door I rapped, and cried, "Arise! The table groans 'neath grub galore, comprising prunes and ples; don't keep us waiting any more—you'll hustle if you're wise." But none responded to my call; the bo

Feildians Win Out.

AN EXCITING HOCKEY GAME. The Feildians defeated the Terra Novas in a hard fought game at the Prince's Rink last night by 7 goals to 5.

An enormous number of spectators attended the game and from start to finish they were kept in a continual state of excitement. Whilst the absence of any real attempts at combination was noticeable, nevertheless there was a great deal more of it than in the previous game. The incidental play, however, was not of such a high order, but taken as a whole the game was much faster and better.

There was a very noticeable tendency towards lifting and long shooting which although it may occasionally be effective, serves to spoil the game if it be indulged in too freely. At 7.55, Mr. C. Robertson, who was referee, started the game. Both teams worked off at a great pace and three minutes after the puck had been struck, Pagan got possession of the puck and this opponent's goal and speed it behind Rawlins. Play now became fast and furious, but at times the players seemed unable to control the puck or themselves. The Feildians pressed their opponents right through the period and Rawlins was called upon to save several times. Tait occasionally tried to get him with long shots, which, however, failed to materialize. Ten minutes after the start Tait went from the ice stockhandling beautifully and passed to Pagan, who notched up the second goal for the Feildians with a shot which Rawlins could not stop. The Terra Novas now began to get worked up and pressed their opponent's goal, but Hunt put up a marvellous exhibition of goaltending, springing shot after shot in excellent style. The Terra Novas here showed that they were weak in front of goal.

Rawlins was called upon to save several of passes from the wing. Bob Canning and Pagan were doing particularly well for their side during this period. There were occasional phases of combination, but it was none the less a bit on the scrappy side. When the song went the score stood 2-0 in favour of the Feildians. In the Second Period the Terra Novas pressed hard and for a time the Feildians seemed to be losing ground. For the greater part of this period play was around their goal and the defence had great difficulty in keeping out the attackers. One minute after the start of the period Tait scored as the result of a fine bit of combination play on the part of Pagan and himself. Some minutes later Len Stick scored the Terra Nova's first goal with a scorching shot which was too much for Hunt. A minute later he was down playing the boards and the puck went into centre. Rawlins took it and scored the fourth goal for the Feildians. A minute after this, Clouston securing the opening, scored No. 2 for the Feildians. Play now began to get fast, but the Terra Novas still continued to press hard and in a mix-up in front of goal Len Stick notched up a third and shortly afterwards Clouston beat Hunt again bringing the score to four all. Both teams now renewed their efforts and in another mix-up near the Feildian goal Len Stick beat Hunt for the third time. Some minutes after this the score was 5-4 in favour of the Terra Novas.

The Third Period opened with both teams straining every effort to get through their opponent's defence. There was little combination, both sides trusting to individual efforts. The Feildians from the outset began to get the best of play and Rawlins, who worked splendidly, was simply bombarded with shots. From a pack of four goal scorers, several minutes after the start, scored for the Feildians, who were now equal with their opponents. This seemed to be the signal for the start of one of the most exciting exhibitions of hockey ever seen in the rink. Both teams renewed their efforts and within three minutes to go, Tait put the Feildians ahead by scoring from a pass by Pagan. Two minutes later Clouston scored the Feildians seventh goal with a shot from the wing. A minute after the final goal was scored hearing the Feildians victors by the score of 7 goals to 5.

The Line-up was as follows:—

MINISTER EMBROILED.

DUBLIN, Jan. 25. A report issued at Dublin Castle today says the police, while searching the home of Rev. J. A. Irwin, a Presbyterian Minister at Killalea, Antrim, found a revolver together with ammunition, shot gun and a quantity of seditious literature.

BETTER THAN THEY EXPECTED.

LONDON, Jan. 25. The Court, to-day, ordered the compulsory winding up of the affairs of the British American Continental Bank, which suspended payments January 16th. Counsel said that probably all the creditors would be paid in full.

SCIENCE AND PRACTICE.

BOSTON, Jan. 25. Whether old salts can be taught new tricks by the application of scientific research to fisheries, will be one of the things considered by the Administrative Committee of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in connection with proposals to establish a Fisheries College here.

THE SHIPPING SCANDAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. A positive denial that any part of a two hundred thousand dollar voucher, made out for the expenses of Charles Schwab for the month of October 1919, was ever charged to ship construction, was made to-day by S. A. Shick, General Auditor of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, in testimony before the board investigation of the Shipping Board affairs.

CRAIG MAY LEAD ULSTER.

LONDON, Jan. 25. Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, declined the Premiership of the new Ulster Parliament, which was offered him to-day by an Ulster deputation in London. He thanked the deputation for the honor, but said he felt his age and lacked strength to undertake the arduous duties involved. He agreed, however, for the present to accept the chairmanship of the Ulster Party in the Imperial Parliament. It is expected that an offer of the Premiership will be made to Sir James Craig, who presents Mid-Down in the British Parliament, and is Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty, who would probably accept.

SIMS EXPRESSES OPINION.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 25. Rear Admiral William Sims, U.S.N., at a mass meeting arranged by the Loyal Coalition here to-night, said that to him it was inconceivable that United States citizens of Irish nationality could support Sinn Fein, knowing what they do about them.

SPANISH PREMIER AGAIN RESIGNS.

LONDON, Jan. 25. Senor Datetz, Spanish Premier, again presented his resignation to King Alfonso to-day, according to the Madrid correspondent of Reuters, Limited.

WOLVIN MAKES STATEMENT.

MONTREAL, Jan. 25. On his return from a trip to England, made particularly in connection with negotiations for the sale of iron ore from Dominion Steel Corporation's Newfoundland mines, Roy M. Wolvin said that the Dominion Company would be able to enter into some very advantageous contracts on the return of normal conditions in the British steel industry. "I am very much pleased to find that there is large amount in England available for investment, and I believe that as quickly as exchange approaches normal, we will find a ready supply of British capital for Canada, and I am satisfied Canada holds first place in the eyes of the British investor," he said. He stated that business depression was much more pronounced in England than in Canada, and there was greater evidence of unemployment, with continued street demonstrations of unemployed. Among business men he found considerable optimism and a feeling that by summer business will have readjusted itself and the activities of the country will be approaching normal.

STEEL WORKERS' INCREDULOUS.

SYDNEY, Jan. 25. A decision to reject the Dominion Steel assertion that the recently announced twenty per cent. wage cut was necessary, and to apply again to the Federation for the appointment of a board to hear their plea that reduction be either cancelled or considerably modified, was reached at a recent conference of steel workers recently, it is learned here.

KILLED BY GUARDS.

MADRID, Jan. 25. Reports received here from Valencia described the killing of two more syndicalists yesterday, by civilian guards, who were escorting them to jail.

WHOLESALE ARRESTS.

BARCELONA, Jan. 25. One hundred and fifty-three syndicalists have been arrested, a number while carrying arms.

SOVIET DENIAL.

LONDON, Jan. 25. A wireless despatch from Moscow says there is no truth in a report to the effect that part of Kiev garrison mutinied, and compelled Soviet troops to withdraw after sanguinary encounter.

KEPT ALIVE ON DRIED COD.

ALASKA, Jan. 25. The crew of power schooner Olga, fifty one days from Unalaska, on a voyage to Seattle, Washington, and given up for lost, arrived here this morning. For many days the crew subsisted on dried fish.

WINSTON FOR HOLY LANDS.

LONDON, Jan. 25. Winston Churchill, Minister of War, who at the end of the month takes up the duties of Colonial Secretary, will proceed on a visit to Palestine and Mesopotamia, it was learned yesterday.

St. Andrew's New Pastor

Resolutions of Farewell From Avenue Road Church.
The Rev. H. J. Power, who comes to take over the pastorate of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, is now here from Toronto, and is expected to preach his first sermon on Sunday, the 6th February. The following references to the Rev. Mr. Power appeared in the last issue of St. Andrew's Weekly Calendar.
Word has been received from Rev. Mr. Nicholson that Halifax Presbytery are making arrangements to send a strong team for the induction of Mr. Power. Induction is expected to take place early in the first week in February.

The following is a copy of a resolution passed by the Board of Managers of Avenue Road Church, Toronto.
"On the eve of the departure of our well-beloved Minister, I beg to move that this Board of Managers place on record its great appreciation of Rev. R. J. Power and his estimable wife and their splendid work in our Church, and of our genuine regret that the people of St. Andrew's, St. John's, Newfoundland, have insisted on taking them away from us.
"I think I may say without fear of contradiction that never before in the history of Avenue Road Church have Minister and people worked together so harmoniously. The people love the Minister and his wife, and their untiring and unselfish work amongst us has shown us their love for the people, and should some unforeseen occurrence, even at this late date, influence Mr. Power to change his mind and decide to remain with us, we would gladly extend our sympathies to the good people of St. Andrew's, St. John's, Newfoundland, but we in Avenue Road Church would rejoice mightily.
"Financially our Church has prospered wonderfully. Mr. Power's work in the pulpit has been unsurpassed. His work has been especially noticeable among the young people of our Church—always interested in them and their work—in turn securing their interest in the Church and its work.
"I cannot express the feelings of the Board better than by quoting the well-known benediction: 'We were happy to meet. We are sorry to part. We hope to meet again.'
"It strengthens our conviction that we were indeed fortunate in securing Rev. Mr. Power as our Minister—Com.

The ROYAL STORES, Ltd.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce

Address of the General Manager at the Annual Meeting of the Bank.

Sir John Aird gives a comprehensive review of the affairs of the Bank for the past year, alludes to the difficulties caused by the exchange situation and the instability of prices, but demonstrates the sound and steady progress made by the Bank.

We have now entered upon a period such as has been looked for ever since the war ended—of lessened activity in business and falling prices—and the statement which we present to you to-day is, except in a comparatively few particulars, curiously devoid of important changes from that of a year ago.

Greater Profits.
The net profits of the year amounted to $3,306,243.97, an increase of $21,851.25, although the resources of the Bank have shown little growth. The addition to our profits has been the result, partly of the activity of general business during most of the year and the consequent brisk demand for money which has kept all available funds fully employed, and partly of the fact that we have been fortunate in escaping serious losses. The conditions which have prevailed in the markets for all staple commodities since the war ended—the extraordinary demand for goods and the high prices—have caused a strong demand for money. Now that the markets are becoming more normal and prices are falling, that demand is sure to lessen, and we therefore expect easier money conditions and a lower level of profits until business becomes more active.

Lines of Defence.
During the year our holdings of specie have increased $566,854 and Dominion notes on hand, $3,952,291. There is no change in amount deposited in the Central Gold Reserves under the heading either of gold coin or of legal tender notes. Total cash on hand has increased $4,519,215 and stands at 15.14 per cent. of our liabilities to the public, with so-called quick assets at 44.59 per cent. of these liabilities. There has been a reduction in our investments and an increase in our loans. The reduction in the former consisted of $33,763,822 in Dominion and Provincial Government securities and of $2,109,916 in British, foreign and colonial public securities and Canadian municipal securities. In both cases the reductions are due to the payment of war obligations by the Dominion and Imperial Governments. There has been an increase in call and short loans both in Canada and elsewhere, the increase in the former case being merely a nominal one. In a time of uncertainty and instability such as at present, it is well to strengthen all our lines of defence, and in the case of loans in New York, the principal call money market of this continent, this has occasioned less sacrifice of profit than is usual, as rates throughout the year were ruled at a high level for that market.

A Commanding Position.
This Bank still holds a commanding position in the development of Canadian trade and commerce, its assets being approximately $120,000,000, amounting to the large sum of $21,114,772, or 17.52 per cent. more than a year ago. Similar loans elsewhere have also increased by $1,824,858. The other items of assets show little change, except Bank Premises Accounts which have increased $758,068 during the year, our principal outlays in this connection being on premises for our foreign branches. Owing to the fact that we have been able to secure premises in Rio de Janeiro, Jamaica, and elsewhere, at a very reasonable cost, and our office in Rio de Janeiro will be situated in the heart of the financial and business district of that important city, we have had an increase in our total assets of $1,116,418 a comparatively trifling amount.

Foreign Branches.
In addressing you a year ago we pointed out that, since then we had been occupied with the promising openings for new branches in Canada, but that we hoped soon to give some attention to foreign fields. The policy we have followed in this respect has been one of caution, slow and sure, and we think that our business has been vindicated by the course of events, especially the unexpected increase in the value of the dollar, and the fact that the deposits of the banks are now double what they were at the outbreak of the war justifies the support given to the Government in its loan campaigns, even though narrow and selfish point of view, to say nothing of that of the national welfare.

Decreased Government Balances.
On the other hand, our deposits not bearing interest have decreased by $42,875,453, an amount almost equal to the increase in our interest bearing deposits. This is more than accounted for by the decrease in Dominion Government balances, which a year ago included a large part of the proceeds of the last Victory Loan. It must also be remembered that both the demand for money, and the restraint on the further inflation of credit which we have endeavored to exercise, tend to decrease the balances carried by business houses and large commercial companies in their current accounts. Another factor which has militated against an increase in deposits has been the slow marketing of last year's grain. The tendency also to keep up loans for the farmer does not pay his indebtedness, the retailer is unable to pay the wholesaler, and the wholesaler must lean on the manufacturer. All along the line they will borrow from their bankers to the fullest extent possible.

Grain and Falling Markets.
It is regrettable that the farmer, in this and other countries, has been counselled to hold his grain on a market which has fallen very rapidly since the time of harvest and, because of the appearance of continuing to do so in sympathy with the general trend of business, it is obviously a highly risky and unprofitable proceeding of the world with similar goods from the United States. To the extent of the premium, the Canadian producer can accept a lower price, expressed in terms of foreign currency, and will still receive as many dollars as does his competitor in the United States. During the latter part of the year, as you are doubtless aware, the rate of exchange on New York rose very high, reaching 10 1/2 per cent. on December 21st, the highest point on record.

Causes of High Rates.
In addition to the causes usually assigned for this condition, which were commented on in our report last year, namely, excessive buying from the United States, especially of luxuries, and the payment of interest on our indebtedness to that country, the burden of which increases with every sale of Canadian securities, there are, I believe, one or two others which have played a considerable part in the recent rise. One is the speculative movement in the stock exchange, which has been so prevalent in some parts of Canada. When the stocks speculated in are those of Australia, the New York market, calls for margins have to be responded to instantly, and the sudden demand thus created occasions here the cause of a sharp advance in rates. There are also at present large sums of money belonging to banks and wealthy corporations in the United States, on deposit in the Canadian banks, awaiting a favorable exchange rate, and there has been a demand for the transfer of a large part of these in connection with the preparation of financial statements and other end-of-the-year requirements.

Not Canada Alone.
It may, perhaps be some consolation to reflect that Canada is not alone among the countries of the world in having to seek the solution of an exchange problem vitally affecting her trade. There are other parts of the British Empire with problems of a similar nature, but even more serious. Quite recently Australian banks have declined to remit in London funds for bills sent to Australia for collection or to negotiate commercial bills on Australia in London. The situation in India, New Zealand and South Africa is of a somewhat similar character, but not so pronounced.

Foreign Trade and Finance.
It is unfortunate that these exchange difficulties should arise just at the time when strong efforts are being made to extend the foreign trade of Canada. Undoubtedly the situation as regards foreign trade is a most difficult one at the present time, not only because of exchange questions, but also because of the instability of the financial situation of many of the foreign countries. The collapse of sugar prices in Cuba and elsewhere is one instance of this, and in a period of falling prices all countries are faced with the problem of extending their foreign trade. It is admitted a most difficult matter to extend foreign trade. Nor is the problem rendered any the less difficult by the high level in Canada of all costs of production, including wages. As pointed out recently by a high authority on the subject, the price of the country in which prices are comparatively low can have an export balance in its favor, and it is to be feared, therefore, that until some readjustment of the situation takes place, there can be little probability of any material extension of our trade abroad.

Government's Worsening.
The important experiment has recently been tried by the Dominion Government of placing the management of the publicly-owned railway in the hands of a corporation, the ownership and control of which reside in the Government. The experiment is an interesting one, and bids fair to determine the feasibility of successfully carrying on the business of a great corporation under government ownership. There have been many obstacles to overcome at the start, and the traffic conditions of the year have not facilitated the task of those in charge, but it is only fair that they should be given full opportunity to avoid extravagance if the damage caused to both property and credit by the late war is to be repaired.

Hopeful Outlook.
The year we have just passed through has been one of surprises, and its commencement, the tide of rising prices seemed unchecked, and the idea that a rapid fall was imminent was considered altogether preposterous. Yet this is exactly what has happened. Once again the seller is having to seek the buyer, instead of being sought by him. Probably one of the principal obstacles at the moment to the re-establishment of the instability which prices have manifested during recent months, however, cannot be of long duration, and we may hope that before the winter has run its course it may be a thing of the past. Meanwhile we repeat once again what we have so often urged, that the whole world must aim to work hard and avoid extravagance if the damage caused to both property and credit by the late war is to be repaired.

The Jewish Race.
The vitality of the Jewish race and its persistence in the face of handicaps and persecution have long been the wonder and the comment of the world. The Jewish Year Book, a very conservative publication, puts the Jewish population of the world at 15,000,000. In the time of Christ there were probably about 5,000,000 Jews, three fifths of whom were in Palestine. About the middle of the 18th century they had dwindled to about 3,000,000. The race has now apparently a better outlook than it has had for ages.

MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR DANDY-BUFF

THE "FLU" Dare Not Return

The "Flu" will certainly get a warm reception this winter if it dares show its ugly head in our peaceful midst, for the people are confident that it will never return.

In every village, town and city in Canada, families are fortifying themselves with the greatest "Flu" ammunition known to science—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. Colds, coughs, etc.—the advance guards of Flu—are met with withering fire, and relief from these troubles is sure every time. The mixture is a sure cure for the common cold, influenza, whooping cough, etc. It is not a syrup, but a scientific mixture, 20 times stronger than any other. It does not do for you what it has done for others. What every body is looking for is a cure that is sold under a money-back guarantee to banish coughs, colds, bronchitis, and influenza. Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)

CODFISH.—The total export of dried salt codfish from Newfoundland for the past week was 35,596 quintals, of which 19,603 quintals were sent from the Outports and 16,993 quintals from St. John's. Following are the particulars:—From St. John's, 1,200 quintals for Boston, 4,150 quintals from Messrs. Monroe Export Co. for Alicante; by the schr. Olive Moore 5,100 quintals from Messrs. A. E. Hickman Co., Ltd., to Gibraltar for orders; by Spanish schooner Alonzo from Garcia for Seville 6,493 quintals, and by the S.S. Lady of Gaspé from A. E. Hickman & Co. 329 quintals for Boston. From Outports — by the schooner Freedom 4,040 quintals from Port Union shipped by G. M. Barr to Pernambuco; by the Donald T. 4,900 quintals from P. Templeman, Catalina to Gibraltar for orders; by the schr. Union Feena 3,712 quintals from Union Trading Co., Port Union, to Oporto; by schooner Marjorie McEglashan 4,051 quintals from Messrs. Earle & Sons, Fogo for Malaga, and 3,000 quintals by schooner Uranus from J. Rorke & Sons, Carbonear to Gibraltar for orders.

COB OIL AND CODLIVER OIL.—There is a little stir in outside circles this week, indicating that there is going to be a more healthy demand for the coming Spring. The price that United States buyers are offering so far, is considerably below that paid by exporters here, and they are therefore, holding off for better price. Only twelve tons of Common Oil have been exported since New Year. The demand for Codliver Oil seems to be improving also and holders are expecting a better price in the course of the Spring.

HERRING.—Bay of Islands is coming out of the Herring fishery well this season, in spite of the comparatively low price and the ruling out of small herring. The fishermen averaged $2.50 a barrel from the net and the Packers $1.50 for Scotch Pack. The price in New York is $13.50 to $14.00, which will, it is likely, improve coming on to Lent. The throwing out of the small herring this season is getting large and medium, which the United States market demanded, through a large percentage of small herring for splits on the hands of the catchers.

PORK.—Information from various sources tell of a weakening tendency in pork prices. The local demand, always poor at this season, is lower than ever since New Year. Mess Pork has become a popular brand the past few months, owing to the big decline in this particular grade. It is expected by dealers that other grades will shortly follow in the same downward course. On all indications the Spring will show considerable lower pork than at any time since the war. Mess is $39.00, Short Cut and Fat Back $45.00, Short Mess $43.00 and Ham Butt $49.00.

BEEF.—The imports of barreled beef this week amounted to 52 barrels. The market is weak and another reduction has been made in local quotations, which are now as follows:—Bos. Flank $36.00, Family $35.00, Boneless $33.00. These are the lowest prices since the fall of 1914, and the prospect seems fair for the future. The local demand, always poor at this season, is lower than ever since New Year. Mess Pork has become a popular brand the past few months, owing to the big decline in this particular grade. A few tablets of Pape's Diaprepin neutralize acidity and give relief at once—no waiting! Buy a box of Pape's Diaprepin now! Don't stay miserable! Try to regulate your stomach so you can eat favorite foods without causing distress. The cost is so little. The benefits so great.

duced wholesale prices for—$1.20 for Family and $1.10 for Choice. Berceas three cents and barrels five cents over these rates. The quantity of 1920 molasses on hand is very limited, as the imports were about 4,000 puncheons short of a normal year's. It is, therefore, likely that molasses in the St. John's market will be very scarce before the new crop comes in.

SUGAR.—There is no change in the situation. It is reported that the F.C. B. have 4,000 barrels more coming in, in speaking to Hon. A. C. Mews, the Chairman of the Food Control Board this week, he said "The Trade will not be placed in any awkward position as regards sugar, and dealers need not hesitate about buying. The effort of all now should be directed to working off the stocks. The sooner this is done the sooner we get back to normal. We intend to make an announcement in a few days."

POTATOES.—Nothing doing owing to the frosty weather. The market prices remain unchanged. There have been about twenty cents higher and are not likely to be till late in the spring. Home grown potatoes are now supplying the market. The local market is at $4. to $4.50 per barrel. Canadian are quoted at $5.20 for the barrel of 150 lbs.

FEEDS.—Feeds are comparatively low at $3.50 to $3.80. The S.S. Rosalind brought in 1,200 sacks of the local rate which up to that time had been scarce. There is a good supply of Cornmeal, Hominy, etc. There is no shortage of any feed. Dealers believe that prices are now about as low as they will be this season.

WANTED A BOUNTY.
With the importation of the cat in some lumber camps owing to full camps and early beginning, the fill up of others and the total clearing out of others it becomes questionable whether a season of difficulty does not face us.

We do not excuse any business man who makes unfair profits in food stuffs, but the public must not let the red herring which certain party supporters are drawing across the trail deflect its eyes from the crime of the Government.

Cullen Writes Again changed into "sauve qui peut" (save himself who can).

Sinn Fein propaganda has two main manifestations. On this side of the Atlantic it assumes the form of representing Great Britain as a cruel and blood-thirsty ogre draining the life blood of a gentle and long-suffering race. In Ireland the propaganda is of another type. They have for-bidden every self-respecting Irish man or woman to speak to or in any way tolerate the forces of the Crown.

My attention was called to two other articles, one an honorem of the meeting of the S.D.L.L. in the C.C.C. Hall, at which Hon. M. P.
Gibbs gave an address entitled "Ireland's case from an Economic Viewpoint." I was exceedingly entertained as I read "how Ireland's economy affairs have dwindled in the past fifty years." That must certainly have been a good deal of showing.

"All the Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots of all Ireland came to the King of England at Waterford, and received him for King and Lord of Ireland; swearing fealty to him and his heirs; and power of reigning over them for ever; and then they gave him their instruments—and after the example set by the clergy, the lay nobles and Princes of Ireland (namely the Kings of Cork, Limerick, Ossory, Meath, and Reginald of Waterford) who had been summoned by King Henry's command to appear in his presence and almost all the nobles of Ireland (except the King of Connaught) did in like manner receive Henry, King of England, for Lord and King of Ireland, and they became his man and swore fealty to him and his heirs against all men." Roderick O'Connor, King of Connaught, did likewise in 1175.

In 1185 Henry II. sent his youngest son John of Ighite memory, as vic-roy, and Pope Urban III—the Pope again—sent to this villain, whom he was afterwards to excommunicate, a crown of peacock's feathers and letters of recognition. Thus was accomplished the conquest, brutal and unjustifiable, according to the Irish faithful to the Pope. Yet we see that it was made at the request of a King of Ireland, under the aegis of three successive Pontiffs, and with the acclamations of the national clergy whose absolute powers of direction both in politics and in religion Ireland has never questioned.

Mr. Gibbs also refuted "in a clear and convincing manner the bogey that the Irish question is a purely religious one." He might have sparred himself the trouble for the "bogey" does not exist. No responsible person ever said, or ever would think of saying, that it was "purely" a religious question. But the fact remains that it is mainly a religious question. Mr. Gibbs also "refuted the statement recently made that the Self-Determination League was a disloyal organization." Now, I don't want to be too hard on Mr. Gibbs, but either he has become absent-minded, or he has forgotten the meaning of the word "loyalty." It means "faithfulness to the lawful government, whether parental, civil, or divine."
The Self-Determination League, is a united and determined effort to overthrow the power of that lawful government in Ireland, and I could furnish quotations from the writings and speeches of many of the leaders of that League to substantiate this assertion.

The other article referred to, was written by J. A. Gibbs, and, up to the moment, I am assured that no one has answered it. Mr. Gibbs makes a weak attempt to prove the Bull known as the "Laudabiliter" was not given to Henry II. by Pope Adrian, but was a forgery. He says—"Well, we shall see. In 1155 Pope Adrian granted his bull 'Laudabiliter.'" There is no doubt that Ireland and all the Islands which have known the light of Christ, the Sun of justice, and have received the teachings of the Christian faith, belong legitimately to St.

Peter and to the Holy Roman Church.
Knowing that you will assist by your power the welfare of religion and the Church, we grant you the government, reserving all our ecclesiastical rights, and on condition that you pay to St. Peter for each hearth one penny a year."

MRS. H. O. PETERS, of Kansas City, Mo., whose experience with Tanlac has been nothing less than wonderful, declares her husband. After her improvement and loss of himself and his health is also restored.

"One day a friend persuaded my wife to take Tanlac and the results have been nothing less than wonderful. Her troubles have not only entirely disappeared, but she has actually gained twenty pounds in weight and now seems to be in perfect health. She has suffered for eight years with headaches, nervousness and loss of appetite and was in a badly run-down condition. She could not eat much, had pains all through her body and limbs and was so weak at times she could hardly stand on her feet. She was losing weight and gradually getting worse all the time in spite of all we could do.

"After seeing the splendid results my wife was getting I began taking Tanlac myself and before I had finished my second bottle, I was eating things I had not dared touch before in a long time. I am now eating just anything set before me and my appetite is fine. I suffered for five years with the worst kind of stomach trouble and nervous indigestion. But it has relieved me entirely. We both owe Tanlac a great debt of gratitude."

The above enthusiastic statement was made recently by Herbert O.
Peters, well-known citizen of Kansas City, Missouri, residing at 534 Walnut Street.

Tells of Murders
by American Marines
Thousands of Haitians Were Killed
By U.S. Military Forces.

Few imperialist adventures of modern times equal in horror that of the Americans in Haiti. Coming after the disgraceful Philippine Islands and Hawaiian Islands campaigns of murder and corruption, it leaves no more alternative but to class United States the new imperialist nation of the world. Japan—but let us not speak of Japan. There is a story to be told in that direction.

Three thousand Haitians were shot by American marines and the crime went perilously near to going unknown to the American people and unknown to the world. We have to thank James Welton Johnson, Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, for the exposures which forced an unwilling government to appoint the commission of inquiry which is in Haiti now trying to distort and twist the whole affair. Last summer Johnson spent several months in the Haitian Republic investigating the rumors which had reached him in New York. Upon return he published a series of articles in the New York Nation, a Liberal weekly. The government ignored the charges so long as it could, but persistent agitation and investigation brought the desired result. Those Haitians can never be brought to life again, however.

There is in Haiti an ancient law known as the "Corvee." This compelled citizens to work at road-building when called upon. The law had been dead as far as usage was concerned for many years. But the National City Bank of New York was interested in Haiti (and it had power, with the U.S. Government, the resident minister and others at its beck and call) the "Corvee" was resurrected and natives compelled to work on the railroad project. They received no pay. They were taken long distances from their homes and their condition was one virtually of slavery. The railroaders tried to coerce the Haitian government, also; and because the members would not acquiesce in their schemes, the members' salaries were held up.

The natives soon began to rebel against the brutal treatment (whipping, imprisonment, starving) which the marines, overseeing their labor, meted out to them. They mutinied, killed their jailers and fled to the hills with whatever arms they could get hold of. With these they made repeated raids on the railroad, rescuing other fellow-natives.

In New York, I one day interviewed, for my paper, a Haitian, who had been Minister of Foreign Affairs until the "interests" tried to tie the government hand and foot, when he resigned. The stories of murder and horror which he told would not look good in print. Let us hope that the American people will catch on to the tendency of its Government to run the course of mad imperialism which drenched the world in blood a couple of years ago. One is pessimistic, however.

Board of Trade Holds Annual Meeting.

Interesting Discussion on Various Matters--Report Presented and Adopted.

The twelfth annual meeting of the Newfoundland Board of Trade was held yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. At 4 p.m. the meeting was called to order by the President Mr. H. R. Brookes who requested Mr. E. A. Payne, the Secretary, to read the minutes of previous meetings which were subsequently adopted. The Financial Statement was then read by the President and showed a credit balance of $67,112. The President then made reference to the unusual conditions which had prevailed during the past year. In 1919 we had the period in which the prices and values of our exports were on the increase. Since then, the opposite has prevailed, prices and values being on the decline. We also passed from free trade to restricted trade. The speaker did not think that these conditions were peculiar to Newfoundland alone and he doubted if they were entirely the result of local affairs. They were just the reflexion of similar conditions elsewhere. Outside influences, he said, naturally have an important bearing on conditions in Newfoundland. There are some who think that the unusual state of affairs were aggravated by local conditions but this was not altogether so. The report was very unsatisfactory to the trade. It would be unwise to attempt to ignore these conditions and because Newfoundland is well able to stand the strain as soon as we have readjusted ourselves from the abnormal conditions of the past few years to the normal conditions of peace we will be stronger and better than we were in 1913 and 1914. It is interesting to note that the report of the general manager of the Bank of Montreal was so satisfactory to Newfoundland. The outstanding feature of the year's trade history was the fish export regulations. In its report concerning these regulations the Council had been careful to give a brief, plain recital of conditions as they occurred but they did not deem it wise to report on the effect produced by them. The regulations, had not given the results for which they had been inaugurated. Speaking for himself he said that in view of the fact that he was a strong supporter of the regulations, he would first like to say that although they had been largely withdrawn, that Newfoundland would be far better off if the fish export trade could be controlled by one central body. He next referred to the lack of cooperation amongst exporters and said that the main object of the fish regulations was to enforce cooperation. He regretted the non-success in this direction and he said that this lack of cooperation was responsible for the failure of the regulations. He referred to the small catch at last year's codfishery compared with the two preceding years. In the year under review the catch was short four or five hundred thousand quintals. Another point he mentioned was the comparatively small stock on hand to-day. This stock amounted to 450,000 qtls. as compared with 700,000 qtls. in 1919 and 1,000,000 qtls. in 1918. This difference should mean less trouble in marketing the stock but in 1919 there were excellent trade conditions but now the markets are not free in buying, and exchange was bad for both buyers and sellers. In spite of these conditions if we are not too eager to sell we should be able to market the present stock on a satisfactory basis. He referred to the preferential treaty between Canada and the West Indies, and he suggested that Newfoundland should make a similar treaty with the West Indies. At present, by the preferential tariff due to the agreement between Canada and the West Indies, Newfoundland fish is being discriminated against. Brief reference was made to standardization. He said that a new measure such as this should be treated in a helpful and not an antagonistic way. It was new to Newfoundland and it was therefore difficult to install a perfect system at once. In the main, he thought it an immense benefit to this colony with regard to the future. He said, "We are passing through times of considerable havoc and if we can't say good things about Newfoundland we should not say bad things. In six or seven months he thought we would emerge safely and stronger than in 1914. He then moved the adoption of the report.

Mr. Horwood in rising to second the adoption of the report, referred to existing conditions, and quoted figures to show our large trade. He said that we should set about cheapening of production and abolish the expensive habits cultivated during the few prosperous years we have had recently. He said that a period of suffering must follow attempts at reduction and that such a period was not altogether undesirable. He hoped that home industries would be boosted. He made a strong plea for cooperation, forced or otherwise and said that our troubles were only the reflexion of greater ones elsewhere. He also made reference to the discount amongst the sealers last year. He expressed regret for the loss of those who died during the past year, and closed a very fine speech by declaring that present conditions would soon be bettered.

Mayor Gosling said that he was pleased to see that attempts had been made to get correct reports of the fishery and he hoped to see better reports than we have had. He endorsed the President's remarks with reference to standardization, saying that everything depended on it. He spoke strongly against the War Measures Act which he would like to see immediately erased from the Statute Book as it was a great temptation to improper action at the present time, and he recommended that a resolution be passed by the Board of Trade that peace should be declared in Newfoundland (laughter). He said that it was too impossible to believe that the Government had advanced money for the purchase of Labrador fish and he also thought it extraordinary that any one should accept such advances. He thought the valuations placed on our forest products were too low. He referred to the water extension and congratulated the President on his report, which would go down in history on account of the very peculiar conditions through which we have passed. He expressed the hope that the next report will be a more cheerful one.

Mr. Job said that the Newfoundland Fish Exporters Association, mention of which had been omitted from the report. He said that this Association was the only means of effecting cooperation.

Mr. Duder drew attention to the distinct cleavage existing between the trade and the porters represented by the Exporters' Association. He also mentioned the fact that the Minister of Marine and Fisheries would have nothing to do with the Board of Trade in fish matters.

Sir P. T. McGrath made reference to the refusal of the officials to give any information to the press. It was at no time possible for the papers to get information from members of the Exporters' Association, and to get information with reference to vital matters resort had to be made to various individuals and other means of getting news. It was deplorable, he said, for so important an industry to be under the control of a private corporation.

Mr. Brookes said that as President of the Board of Trade and of the Exporters' Association he was personally responsible for keeping proceedings of the latter body from becoming public property. He said that he was justified in not telling the public of all these proceedings.

Sir P. T. McGrath replied that the Exporters' Board could not be the official mouthpiece of the fish trade and also of a private corporation.

Mr. Job said that every exporter who welcome as a member and that the Association must be looked on as a private corporation.

Mr. A. B. Morine severely criticized the standardization regulations. He knew from personal experience with the fishermen that dissatisfaction exists amongst them in connection with this matter. There is no rule specifying the different grades of fish. A fisherman may go to one merchant with his produce and be told that it is such a quality, whilst at another premises his fish is taken at a higher grade. Again the cutlers employed do not agree, they cannot tell the difference in the fish and what one accepts another may throw out. Who appointed the cutlers and fish inspectors, and what qualifications and experience or what learning have they? Many of them are appointed through political pull, or by the merchants with whom they are employed. Last fall Mr. Coaker told the fishermen who called upon him that he never made any appointments. Yet the rules say distinctly that he is the only one who can make them. It was also stated by the men that he told them that if they were not satisfied with the cutlers and inspectors he would dismiss the whole lot of them and appoint new ones. It was scarcely reasonable to expect the fishermen to have any respect for the regulations under these conditions. Mr. Morine then suggested that an impartial board, free from the influence of buyers or politicians, should be set up to look after the matter of fish standardization and that cutlers and inspectors should first pass an exam before receiving appointments. Mr. Morine thought that the Board of Trade should bring this matter to the notice of the legislature, and fix prices, get all the information and let the general trade know nothing about it. He felt that an impartial board was required. It will be almost an impossibility to get such a board in this country, but he hoped that the Board of Trade would take up this important matter of our fisheries and use all the ingenuity and ability and patriotism it has got, and stop playing politics with the life of the country and do business in a business-like manner.

Mr. F. Moore next spoke on the matter of good fish and said that the exporter should be responsible for the fish he sends out. After Mr. Moore had concluded his address the report was put to the meeting and was received and unanimously adopted. The officers elected to complete the Council of the Board of Trade for the ensuing year are as follows:—

President—H. E. Cowan.
2nd Vice Pres.—A. E. Hickman.
Councillors—L. C. Outerbridge, J. Long, Hon. Tasker Cook, A. W. Piccott.

Before the close a vote of thanks to the outgoing officers was proposed by Mr. W. S. Monroe, who complimented them on the good work achieved, which was heartily accorded.

Cured By Snake Bite!

The amazing manner in which bushmen protect themselves against snake bites is described by Lieutenant F. C. Cornell in "The Glamour of Prospecting."

They are inoculated directly above the heart with the venom of the cobra, which is captured alive and forced to bite the patient or novice. Meanwhile he is held by two men, who watch him and administer an antidote in small doses. When the poison seems likely to gain the mastery, they rub the perspiration which pours from him into a bit of cotton.

The ordeal is a fearful one, under which men often die, but which, when they survive, "makes them snakes themselves," as the natives express it. Neither puff-adders, cobras, nor night-adders would attempt to bite a man thus transformed.

Odd Ways in Which Fires Start.

There have been a number of cases lately of women's frocks catching fire without any obvious cause. The mischief has now been traced to an "art silk" which is really material prepared during the war for the manufacture of cartridges.

Fires are started in all sorts of odd ways. A man had just taken his seat at dinner when his dress jacket burst into flames. The solution was found in the fact that a potatoe throat lozenge in his pocket, had become ignited by pressure against the side of a safety match box.

A few years ago a rounded window in a chemist's shop at Scarborough focused the rays of the sun so that they set fire to a celluloid box, while a fly was responsible for the destruction of a large house at Westport, in New Zealand. The insect flew into a gas jet, and escaping with its wings ablaze blundered into a muslin curtain which at once burst into flames.

Birds have been responsible for more than one conflagration. At Coverack, in Cornwall, a chimney in a farmhouse took fire. Out of it fluttered an owl with its feathers burned. It set fire to a haystack, and the latter was completely destroyed.

Rain falling on a truck of lime at Beccles Station caused a fire which destroyed the truck and its contents, and the string of a military kite falling across overhead tramway wires and a wooden house caused the destruction of the latter.

A strange case occurred in a wood near Grange over Sands. Red ants had constructed a huge hill in the roots of a splendid fir tree. Hot weather

CONTENTED.

Wouldn't make much of a rich man, I guess. Couldn't be happy in up-to-date dress, Too fond o' shirt sleeves an' slippers at night. An' the old pipe to smoke, an' the flicker in light. Of a grate fire I've started myself, an' the ease. Of doin' exactly the way that I please, Like puttin' my feet on the rungs of a chair. An' droppin' asleep if I want to, right there; Too fond o' havin' folks rap at my door. An' know they are welcome to come long before I've answered the knock, which they never would do. If somehow I'd gathered a million or two.

Riches are fine to possess, but I vow I'm sort o' contented with life as it's now; The home's not a palace, but somehow I find It's fashioned to suit just my style of a mind; The mother an' I can sit here by the fire. An' know we've got all that our hearts can desire; The children around us, their friends droppin' in To bang the piano and kick up a din, An' 'fun goin' on an' the rooms just ablaze. With gladness an' mirth in the old-fashioned ways— An' this couldn't happen, I'm tellin' to you, If somehow I'd gathered a million or two.

Folks are scared to be friendly with rich men and great big money; They never come neigborin' up to the gate. Of a feller that wallows in silver an' gold, A' even the fire that he sets by seems cold; Wealth has too much convention an' fashion an' sham. An' I guess I am happier just as I am; I need all my neighbors to drop in an' call. Without bein' invited, an' better than all. I need all the children contented at home, Jus' glad to be here an' not wantin' to roam. So I fill up my pipe an' rejoice through an' through. That I'm not alone with a million or two.

St. Andrew's Society

CELEBRATES BURNS' "NIGHT."

Although the dances given by St. Andrew's Society are usually better than the best, that held last night in the C.C.C. Hall to celebrate the natal day of Scotland's national poet, Robbie Burns, outdid even their previous efforts. Over 300 people filled the ballroom, which besides the usual decorations had hung at one end a large St. Andrew's flag over which was suspended a portrait of Burns. Previous to the dance a concert was held in which Scotch songs featured. All the performers did excellently and received much applause from the appreciative audience. Special mention must be made of the singing of "The Star of Robbie Burns" by Mr. Arthur Williams who was at his best and was encored again and again. The concert which was under the chairmanship of Hon. John Browning, consisted of the following items:—

Chairman's opening remarks.

Song—"Bessie the Flower of Dundee."—Mrs. H. Small.

Song—"I am the Bandillero."—Mr. F. Ruzgale.

Song—"Annie Laurie."—Miss E. Herder.

Song—"The Star of Robbie Burns."—Mr. A. Williams.

Song—"Royal Charlie."—Mr. Lloyd Woods.

Song—"Ca' the yows to the knowe."—Mrs. C. Garland.

Miss Elsie Tait accompanied.

After the concert dancing was indulged in until 11 p.m. when supper, and a supper such as only the Saint Andrew's Ladies' Auxiliary can prepare, was served. After supper dancing was continued until an early hour this morning, when the National Anthem brought this highly successful affair to a close. To Mr. R. G. Ross and his energetic social committee great credit is due for the ultimate success of the dance and the Ladies' Auxiliary are also to be complimented on the able manner in which they assisted the Social Committee. It is to be hoped that in the near future St. Andrew's Society will see fit to hold many more of such enjoyable affairs.

The 1920 report is expected to reveal a very satisfactory state of affairs, and it looks as if the old figures must soon return. The December output showed the largest month on record, and all factors considered, we believe SINCLAIR is headed for a higher market.
