STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY.

The Wedding Cake in the Marriage Ceremony occupies a central and altogether unique position and is rightly considered indispensable to the success of the function. It is peculiarly the Bride's Cake, and is an obect of thoughtful care and concern. It must not be only ample in quantity and of the best quality, but also from an artistic point of view, worthy the occasion.

STEWART'S FANCY BAKERY do not hesitate to claim for their Wedding Cakes a position unequalled for quality, artistic finish and good value. The materials used are the finest, and the workmanship is such as ensures complete satisfaction.

It is to be understood that no matter what size cake may be ordered the quality of the materials used

In Memoriam.

"I am so happy over what Tanlac has done for me I can hardly find words to express my praise," said Miss Marguerite K. O'Leary, who lives with her parents at 1223 Chestnut St., Reading, Pa. "I wasn't exactly what would be called sick, but for a year I had been all run down and sometimes felt so weak and miserable I could hardly hold up my head. I was so nervous the telephone bell or a door closing would startle me so I would tremble like a leaf.

"I needed something to build me up and give me strength and energy, and that is exactly what Tanlac did. It gave me a fine appetite and improved my digestion. I gained eight writer takes occasion to express his proved my digestion. I gained eight

From the beginning of his association with Mr. Hardy till his death, Mr. Judge acted as consulting and advisory engineer for a great many of his projects, besides contributing to several magazines and papers dealing with this department and science. His work as an electrical engineer was unexcelled, but being a very modest man, he eschewed the limelight, and only those very intimate with him could form an idea of his great ability.

His relations with his superiors were most friendly and all Grand Falls to-day sympathises with the respected Manager, Mr. Scott, not only on the loss of a very competent Superintendent but of a close and sympathetic personal friend as well. To those who have served under him during the past number of years, the loss appears at present to be a calamity.

A great success is promised for the fichu, especially since swiss and organdle are in vogue.

The bodice of one's evening gown may be fitted, pointed in front and back, and sleeveless.

Among the spring hats uncurled ostrich is used with great effect for pompons and ornaments.

Lemon yellow is very popular for the organdle dresses, often trimmed with brown chantilly, and girdled with a rose ribbon.

A new ratine lace, rather heavy and bold in pattern, is used to trim dresses of black crepe de chine.

Bead embroideries and garlands of flowers trim frocks of crepe georgette in flame cerise and yellow.

Don't Rock Your Baby.

On the Continent they have a prorecked into stupidity." Baby-rocking is forbidden nowadays by many doctors, because they say it is liable to make children stupid. But it is not alone rocking in the cradle that is objectionable; rocking an infant in the arms is just as bad. All methods of putting children to sleep artificially onotonous sensations ought to be forbidden, including monotonous lullabies. It is undesirable either to interrupt or to prolong artificially the slumber of infants and young folks. During the first five or six weeks of its life a baby ought to be awake two hours in every day, and the waking period should be increased

Too much sleep is harmful, and even a newborn infant ought not to be allowed to spend all its time in slumber. Up to two years of age a child needs sixteen to eighteen hours a day of sleep; from three to four years it requires fourteen to sixteen hours; from four to six years it ought to have thirteen to fifteen hours: from six to nine years ten to twelve hours: and from nine to thirteen years the proper allowance of sleep is eight to ten hours. After the conclusion of growth the sleep allowance can be brought down safely to six or eight hours.

rical appliances installation work. It has been claimed by most that the origin of many fires which have been vitnessed in the city in the past, can e traced to defective electric light wiring. This in itself may be true, but in my opinion the theory is far from the fact.

In the first place it is an absolute ssential for the installer to see that pon completion of his contract to wire any building for the purpose of lectric lighting or heating, or in fact for any purpose of modern improvement such as burglar alarms, belis or telephones, the building is protected from vagrant currents by having a regulation fuse to connect the exteror with the interior wiring. Where the practice is followed there is no danger whatsoever of fire taking place because should the wiring become defective in any way to cause a short circuit a "blow out" would follow immediately, thereby isolating the current of the point of entrance. Therefore my point is where wiring has become defective to cause arcing or little spurts of flame to issue from the point of contact it is the fuse that is the real centre of trouble not the wiring itself, because it is very evident from the fact the arcing or spurts of flame are occuring that there is no regulation size fuse in use otherwise the mere fact of the primary side of the circuit coming in contact with the opposite or secondary side would cause a "short" thereby "blowing" the fuse and eliminating any danger of fire to occur. It is chiefly to the Fire Underwriters and property owners that I address my approval of the suggestion made by four correspondents in former issues of your esteemed paper, particularly the case put forward by one signing himself "Ground Wire," as these are the people that are most concerned with the above facts and in view of the great demands that fires make of them as regards insurance settlements etc., besides the great losses inflicted on others who do not carry insurance unfortunately for themselves. It is to my mind quite a paying proposition which myself and your former contributors suggest to them viz. finding and appointing a reliable and capable man to make an inspection of all electric installation work that has been done in the past or is about to be done in the future. And further to vestigate and invoke the aid of the if necessary in discouraging no vices or "greenhorns" from tampering or meddling in any way with properly nstalled wiring or plant which would, I think, have the effect of convincing both employer and employee that "safety first" is the common law and that "ignorance of the law excuses no one." In one or two cases are employed at work of this nature i.e. (handling together lighter charged electric current conveying lines) and do not realize the danger to which they are subjected, besides the great loss and inconvenience their ignorance may mean to someone else.

It is my great wish that those interested in the above matter will not allow the present warning which the disastrous Martin-Royal Stores conflagation gave to them, to go unheeded and that they will take the matter in hand at an early date and have a capable and efficient Inspector appointed. Thanking you for space.

Yours truly,

STAR AT BEST IN PHOTOPLAY BY STEP-SON OF ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON-MANY BIG SCENES.

"Where Lights Are Low"

Sessue Hayakawa, the eminent Japanese-American film star, has never been seen to better advantage on the screen than in his latest vehicle "Where Lights Are Low" released by R-C Pictures Corporation and exhibited for the first time at the Majestic Theatre to-day.

Mr. Hayakawa has many notable productions to his credit but none has carried greater dramatic interest or sheer entertainment value than Where Lights Are Low," the story of which was written by Lloyd Osborne, step-son of Robert Louis

Among the many engrossing epi sodes in the production are several very interesting scenes laid in San Francisco's famous Chinatown before fire laid it waste. Other episodes show how a Chinese prince defles the iron wall of tradition and wins the girl he loves; how Chinese girls are sold into slavery; how a mandarin's son sinks in social position antil he becomes a day laborer in an American Chinatown; how a man hoards his savings for years to buy back the girl he loves from a Chinese
