BRITISH CAPTURE RIDGE COMMANDING PLAIN OF LENS

Italians Withdraw From Zegnatorra Position South of Trent

BRITISH OBTAIN VANTAGE POSITION IN FIERY ATTACK

Lancashires Capture Crest Commanding Plain of Lens.

HOLD HIGHER GROUND

Win Vantage Position of Serious Import to Foe.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, May 18, via London, May 19, 11.10 p.m.—It develops that the action of the battalions of the Royal North Lancashires and the Lancashire Fusiliers on the 15th, was a singularly brilliant attack, and gained a strategic point, the crest of the redoubtable Vimy ridge, the possession of which means the command of the plains of Lens.

Since the British took over this section from the French in the early stage of the battle of Verdun, the Germans had been holding stubbornly the vantage of the higher ground and inflicting heavy casualties on the British. After a successful explosion of mines first after dark, the Lancashires, who were made up largely of cotton operatives from Manchester, rushed from their trenches to the lips of the crater.

MARSEILLES, France, May 19.—(6.55 p.m.)—None of the passengers or crew of the French coasting steamer Mira were saved when she was sunk as the result of a torpedo attack in the Mediterranean on May 18.

WAR SUMMARY

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

GENERAL CADORNA, the Italian commander-in-chief, finding it too expensive in human material, and involving too great a risk to hang on to the Zegnatorra position between the Adige and the Terragnola valley, and also the Monte Maggio-Sagliodaspio position, between the Terragnola valley and the upper Astico, has evacuated them both, after sustaining a three days' intensive bombardment, and his troops have occupied new positions just behind these chains of defence.

In their official reports the Austrians have already begun to lay stress on the amount of ground that they have gained and the comparative smallness of their losses. They admit that their troops have been compelled to scale mountain slopes. They are evidently preparing the public mind of Austria-Hungary not to expect too much against Russia a year ago, when the central powers loudly boomed in advance what they were going to do.

ZEGNATORRAS EVACUATED BY ITALIAN FORCE

Tear Vantage Position and Adjacent Heights From Austrians.

ROME, via London, May 19.—The Italian official communication issued here today announces the evacuation by the Italians of Zegnatorra (in the Lagarina Valley south of Trent), and also of the line from Monte Maggio to Sagliodaspio, between the Terragnola Valley and the Upper Astico (southeast of Trent), following several days of violent artillery bombardments.

The Italian official version indicates that only a portion of the front which included Zegnatorra was evacuated, after a three days' incessant bombardment. The lines were withdrawn only from Zegnatorra and its environment. After the withdrawal the Italians repulsed two violent Austrian attacks against their positions in the rear and south of Zegnatorra and took prisoners and machine guns. The losses of the enemy were reported as grave.

PARIS, May 19.—No attempt was made by the Germans to attack the French positions on the west bank of the Meuse before Verdun today. Last night the Germans brought up two fresh divisions and attacked the French positions in Avocourt wood and west of Hill 304. The assault was halted abruptly on both wings, but in the centre the enemy occupied a French work. This afternoon the artillery struggle was very violent in this sector.

EDMONTON BATTALION'S POST HELD UNDER FIERCE ATTACKS

Lieut. Doheny Died Bravely With His Duty Well Done

"Did They Get the Crater?" Asked Young Toronto Officer, After Receiving Mortal Wound.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 19.—The official eye-witness with the Canadians in his report of recent operations at St. Eloi says: Lieut. W. E. Doheny, better known as Ted Doheny of Toronto, was in charge of a bombing party in a crater. During a bombardment he was struck by a shell, his left leg being taken off above the knee. Unconscious, he was carried back to battalion headquarters. When he awakened his first question was: "Did they get the crater?" And to the last his battalion was paramount in his thoughts. In the words of an officer who knew him quite well, "he was a plucky little kid."

GERMANS ADVANCED AFTER HEAVY BOMBARDMENT, BUT ONLY ONE SURVIVED CANADIANS' FIRE—MEMBERS OF TORONTO BATTALION WIN MENTION FOR GALLANTRY.

OTTAWA, May 19.—How the men of an Edmonton battalion withstood the withering bombardment of the Germans during a part of a day and well into the darkness of the evening, clinging to their smashed trenches with grim determination and then springing alert to meet the oncoming enemy infantry attack is told in this week's communique from the Canadian general headquarters at the front. Under Lieut. C. C. Arthur, the head of the dangerous point during the dreadful fire, the detachment poured a heavy rifle and machine gun fire into the advancing Germans, accounting for all the party except two, an officer and sergeant, who managed to reach the Canadian trench. Lieut. Arthur was shot the sergeant himself and the officer was taken prisoner.

Many instances of individual heroism are recounted, also the splendid spirit of the Canadians, who ever long for a close encounter with the enemy. The communique received today from Canadian general headquarters in France follows:

Troops Welcome Activity.

At several points in the British line the tedious monotony of siege warfare has been interrupted recently by the excitement of attack or counter-attack. Although an insignificant scale and directly affecting only a very small proportion of the troops in the vicinity, incidents of this nature give relief beyond belief to the nervous tension of perpetual watchfulness.

The knowledge that some fortunate unit has come into actual grips with the foe permeates the ranks. Alertness is stimulated. The dull routine of daily duties becomes more bearable. Boarding parties lose their terrors and dreary hours in the front line are alleviated by eager expectation. In the heart of every soldier the hope re-awakens that his turn is coming to meet his adversary face to face.

It is in this spirit that our Canadian troops have borne the trials and dangers of the past week.

Eagerly Await Attack.

No operation of note has occurred on their front, but confidence in the front events in which they participated have combined to spur their imagination and maintain their enthusiasm at the highest pitch, and when the German batteries pound any section of the trenches with unceasing vigour the parapet or crouched in dugouts or trenches, each braces himself to greet the opportunity.

One such instance occurred not long ago on the front of an Edmonton battalion. Starting in the afternoon an exceptionally heavy bombardment was directed on the front trenches of this unit and in spite of the retaliation of our artillery continued for an hour or more after sunset.

At last the bombardment ceases or is lifted to points in the rear. The crucial moment has arrived and not a man but welcomes it. The work has passed along and instantaneously all are alert. More often than not disappointment is in store; the enemy remains hidden in his trenches, only occasionally does he make good his threat and show himself.

BENNETT TOOK PART IN DEAL?

Col. Allison Makes Innuentation Regarding British Consul-General.

RESPITE FOR ALLISON

Colonel Collapsed During Legal Wrangle Before Royal Commission.

By a Staff Reporter. OTTAWA, May 19.—Velled inuentions by Col. J. Wesley Allison involving Sir Courtney Bennett, the British consul-general at New York, marked today the sitting of the Meredith-Duff commission. Col. Allison had been on the stand two hours when the doctor was brought out before Mr. Helms, who was examining him. Helms, who was examining him, got further details. Col. Allison, in a dazed manner, slumped forward in his chair and signalled his protest, Sir Henderson, to secure a respite for him. The colonel then left and will not be on the stand again until a week from Monday next.

During the discussion of Allison's dealings with munition contractors, the colonel stated he always suspicious of the firm of Dowler-Forbes and Ryan.

Mr. Helms, What do you mean by that? Col. Allison: There was a great deal of discussion about them being mixed up with Sir Courtney Bennett. I do not care to go into it.

Hon. Wallace Nesbitt: Let it come out. Why should he protect Sir Courtney Bennett? Col. Allison: I do not know.

During the evening argument between counsel Col. Allison collapsed. In his testimony the colonel admitted sharing commissions with Youkum, in view of the fact that he had been created, he said, he wished now he had informed Sir Sam Hughes.

Col. Allison's letter of May 15, disclosing any commissions in the fuse contracts, was not produced. This letter, he said, was addressed to only two particular firms.

Mr. Carnegie, one of the manufacturing members of the committee, was in the box at the short afternoon session. He admitted that the manufacturing members in most of the war orders dispensed by the committee, Mr. Carnegie maintained that legally the members were entitled to share profits and were liable for losses.

Forced to Let Contract. At the afternoon session Mr. Helms, who was examining him, referred to the testimony of Mr. Carnegie. Mr. Carnegie corroborated the testimony of other members of the shell committee that they were practically forced to let the carriage cases contract to the Edwards Valve Co. The light of cases, he said, was holding up the shipment of munitions.

Mr. Helms: What pressure or inducement was offered you to let this contract to the Edwards Valve concern? Absolutely none whatever.

In cross-examination, Mr. Johnston referred to his testimony that he believed that the committee were to hand back profits, they were liable for any losses.

Did you ever hear of a contract like that before? Yes, these were extraordinary times. And extraordinary profits.

Entitled to Profits. Like Col. Watis, Mr. Carnegie still maintained that the committee members were legally entitled to profits. Mr. Carnegie admitted to Mr. Carvell that it was Gen. Bertram and Col. Carnegie who in every instance fixed the prices for supplies.

Is it not a fact that every manufacturing member of the shell committee received orders for the firm in which they were interested? Yes.

Mr. Carvell sought to discuss individual sub-contracts but Mr. Ewart objected. The commission ruled Mr. Carvell could not discuss the contracts secured by the committee members generally. Of half a dozen large orders Mr. Carnegie admitted participating in about half of them.

He had a good knowledge of the cost of 15 pound shells he did not impart his knowledge of prices to the rest of the committee.

"I did not feel under any moral responsibility to reduce the cost of these shells unless I wanted to," Carnegie said and he added, "Since I signed the first order I considered my status as a contractor."

This finished Mr. E. Carnegie's examination and owing to Col. Allison's breakdown in the morning, the commission was forced to adjourn at 3 o'clock.

Morning Session. Col. J. Wesley Allison was again on the stand at this morning's session of the Meredith-Duff commission. His cross-examination by E. F. B. Johnson was deferred until he produced certain bank books and the Helms thereupon continued his examination in chief. Mr. Carvell asked for the production of Mr. Basick of the American Munition Company and of Eugene Lignanti. A remark by Geo. Henderson elicited the statement by E. F. Carvell that he had never met either Mr. Lignanti or his lawyers, Haus, Grossman and Worfus.

Mr. Justice Duff thought it would be desirable to have some evidence as to the time the United States contracts were let.

Mr. Carvell said there was information in the militia department as to fuse prices just before the war. J. S. Ewart announced that Gen. Hughes would request Sir Robert Borden to ask the British minister of munitions for permission to make public the desired information.

Examined by Mr. Helms, Col. Allison then went over the history of his negotiations with Youkum in regard to fuses. Youkum had told him two or three times that he could get the contract was to be and, as for getting a commission himself, he "had never thought of it at that time."

The witness then made a reference to the present "German inquiry." Asked as to his meaning, he stated: "This inquiry, I always had in my mind, as emanating from German sources."

The fuse contracts were executed on June 19, and in July Youkum informed Col. Allison that he was going to make a commission of which Allison under-

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is a nuisance and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

stood he was to share one-half. He had never had any conversations with Sir Courtney Bennett, he said, in being negotiated except as to the financial standing and ability of the two United States fuse firms to carry out the contract and had never been in Ottawa while Cadwell, Youkum or Basick was there.

Did not Report to Hughes. Col. Allison then admitted to Mr. Helms that he had not reported to Gen. Hughes that Youkum was going into the fuse business on a commission basis. Neither had he reported to the minister that he himself was to get a commission in the matter.

Mr. Helms then pressed the witness closely as to the letter he was said to have written to Youkum, in which he had written to people with whom he did business, disclaiming any desire to get any commissions for himself.

"How can you reconcile that statement with your attitude in regard to the Youkum contract?" "That letter was dealing solely with Dowler-Forbes in regard to a fuse matter. I had negotiations on commission with them, but I would get a commission on other deals with them, including the 'picnic' at the front, for Russia, etc. I was suspicious of the firm."

"Yes, but your letter states, 'I would not accept a commission for any circumstances from anybody.'" "It was in connection only with this particular matter," said Col. Allison.

Regrets Secretiveness. Col. Allison admitted that he had wished Gen. Hughes to understand that he wished no profits when he wrote his letter to the Dowler-Forbes Co. Asked why he had not made it clear that he would accept a commission in the case of Youkum, his answer was that Youkum had been instrumental in bringing down the price of fuses from $4.00 to $2.00.

Mr. Helms then read a letter, couched in very similar terms to those of the Dowler-Forbes epistle, which was written by Col. Allison to the International Ammunition Committee, stating that nothing should be added to the price of the fuses to make profits for himself. Col. Allison's letter was a distinct surprise as they had never offered him any commission and "appreciated your letter of the 13th to Gen. Hughes the more it was written without solicitation."

Mr. Helms asked the witness why he had written that letter to the International and not to the American Munition Co.

"Everybody in the United States accepts commissions," was the reply. "No government in the world can buy or expect to buy or has bought munitions today there except by paying commissions to somebody."

The witness was closely pressed as to why he had discriminated between the American and International companies, Sir William Meredith and Mr. Justice Duff taking a hand in it, but his answer was: "I didn't think it was necessary." It was brought out that Col. Allison had given a letter of instruction to Mr. Helms.

Col. Allison's examination was again on the stand at this morning's session of the Meredith-Duff commission. His cross-examination by E. F. B. Johnson was deferred until he produced certain bank books and the Helms thereupon continued his examination in chief. Mr. Carvell asked for the production of Mr. Basick of the American Munition Company and of Eugene Lignanti. A remark by Geo. Henderson elicited the statement by E. F. Mr. Carvell said there was information in the militia department as to fuse prices just before the war. J. S. Ewart announced that Gen. Hughes would request Sir Robert Borden to ask the British minister of munitions for permission to make public the desired information.

Examined by Mr. Helms, Col. Allison then went over the history of his negotiations with Youkum in regard to fuses. Youkum had told him two or three times that he could get the contract was to be and, as for getting a commission himself, he "had never thought of it at that time."

The witness then made a reference to the present "German inquiry." Asked as to his meaning, he stated: "This inquiry, I always had in my mind, as emanating from German sources."

The fuse contracts were executed on June 19, and in July Youkum informed Col. Allison that he was going to make a commission of which Allison under-

Special Display of Men's Panamas and Straws—Light Color Fets and Silk Hats for the Races

Race Week is an established institution in Toronto. Weather permitting, and when the weather does not permit, Torontonians will turn out in their best array to attend the Races. Everybody is gaily dressed. It is an event for hats, dresses, and horses, with the horses generally running in third place. We prepare for Race Week by putting forward a select display of our most special lines of men's hats.

It is coming very closely to the days when a straw hat will be seasonable. Visitors to our showrooms for a hat for the Races will also meet the advanced styles in Straw and Panama Hats.

Dineen's Hat Store has an international reputation. American gentlemen tell us that we have the largest and most varied assortment on the continent. We show English hats, French hats, Italian hats, hats made in America and hats made in Canada, in complete variety.

NEW READING LAMP

The tall, ungainly piece of furniture which furnished a few years ago, under the name of the "plano lamp," has been undergoing some pleasing metamorphoses at the hands of the designers of the modern lamp. The heavy, gilt-bronze casings, the pillar that somehow coupled the plano lamp with the onyx stand and the rubber-plum base have been replaced by a graceful pillar of painted wood or of wicker; the shade of mottled stained glass or of filled red silk has given way to a clear, shining chintz or decorative paper that matches the room in which the lamp is to stand.

"SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE."

"Seven Keys to Baldpate," the play that made the Robins Players famous has been secured by Edward H. Robins for presentation at the Alexandra Theatre next week. "Seven Keys to Baldpate" with meagre precision and rapidly from the moment that Magno's train arrives at the Inn on Baldpate Mountain to carry out his boast that he can write one of his "best sellers" in exactly twenty-four hours. As the clock strikes 12 Magno disappears into his bedroom, confident that he is in possession of the only key, and a crisp click of his typewriter informs the audience that the novel is written. Every person present is under the spell of the play. Things are going to happen. There is excitement in the air. The possessors of the other six keys to Baldpate now begin to arrive, and the distracted author has a great night in which love and graft meet the usual parts. The regular matinee will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

Take Iron, Says Doctor, if You Want Plenty of "Stay There" Strength Like an Athlete!

Ordinary Nourished Iron Will Make Delicate Nervous, Run-down People 900 Per Cent. Stronger in Two Weeks' Time, in Many Cases.

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or nostrum drug, said Dr. Bauer, a well-known specialist who has studied widely both in this country and Europe, when, as a matter of fact, real iron strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood. From their weak and nervous condition they know something is wrong, but they can't tell what the matter is. They are generally complaining of indigestion, loss of appetite, and a general feeling of weakness. This may be due to the fact that they are not getting enough iron in their food. Iron is essential for the formation of red blood cells, and without it the body cannot function properly. The following are some of the symptoms of iron deficiency: weakness, nervousness, loss of appetite, indigestion, and a general feeling of fatigue. If you are suffering from any of these symptoms, you should take a course of iron. Iron will give you strength and vitality, and will help you to overcome all your troubles. Iron is the life-giving element, and without it we cannot live. Take iron today, and you will feel the difference.

NOTE—Nourished Iron, recommended above by Dr. Bauer, is one of the new organic iron compounds. Unlike the old inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not irritate the stomach, and it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as in nervous, run-down conditions. Manufacturers have such great confidence in Nourished Iron that they offer to refund $10.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent. or over in four weeks' time provided they have an earnest desire to get well. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in six weeks' time. It is dispensed in this city by C. Campbell, Limited, and all other druggists.

Top Coats For Motoring, Traveling or Walking

A Superb Collection of Them in Loose Swagger Styles in Irish and Scotch Tweeds, Check Velours, Covert Cloth, and in an Attractive Shower-proof Wool Check

SHE CANNOT VENTURE FAR in the way of holiday-making who is not equipped with a warm top coat. For motoring, for traveling, for general jaunting about it is a positive essential to comfort and right appearance.

Wherefore the timely interest of the present splendid showing of such coats—an assemblage of models gathered together from London, Paris and New York, together with clever adaptations from our own tailors. Just to describe a few representative styles:—

A group of the well-known "Wooltex" coats—ideal motor coats with Raglan or semi-Raglan sleeve and wide swirl of skirt, the material being a soft Donegal tweed in gray and tan mixtures. These are beautifully cut coats, with yoke linings of silk or satin—smart in every detail of fabric, line and finish. Price, $30.00, $32.50 and $35.00.

A wonderfully attractive coat of this same swagger, loose-fitting order, is developed in a soft Scotch tweed in black and white flecked with blue or orange, black leather tabs adding a chic finish to the broad collar and wide sleeves. As copies of a high-priced model, tailored in our own factory, they are priced at the surprisingly small sum of $17.50.

Capable of serving also as a raincoat is a modish Raglan coat in a black and white or brown and white wool check of shower-proof qualities. This is $17.50.

At the same price is another shower-proof model in a gray and white wool check, the collar and cuffs piped with crimson.

And from $19.50 to $37.50 is a fascinating array of individual imported models in big black and white velour checks, tan covert cloth and whipcords and mixed tweeds in tan, brown, olive and Oxford shades.

Black Silk and White Chinchilla Coats

These, too, are a notable feature of the display. In the more-than-ever-popular white chinchilla cloth are a host of charming models of the wide-belted Polo and Sports variety at prices ranging from $17.50 to $37.50.

And in the black silk coat which is ever such a favorite with the matron is also a most attractive choice, a good representative model being one of "Printzess" make. It is in black faille, cut in semi-fitting style with smartly flaring skirt, the wide collar bordered with black velvet. It is three-quarter lined with grey satin. This is a splendid value at $22.50. —Third Floor, James St.

Mentioning a Few Particularly Good Values.

You Were Inquiring?

Inquirer—The "Seven Sutherland Sister" preparations are almost as numerous as the ladies themselves. There is the S.S. Hair Grower at 75 cents and 98 cents a bottle; the S.S. Shampoo Powder at 75 cents a package, and the S.S. Hair Grower and Colorator at 75 cents a bottle. Is it one of these to which you refer?

An Inquirer—One would hate to cast the deciding vote as to whether the sweater shall be rose or green, for it is really a matter of complexion, isn't it?—and of the color of the other garments in your wardrobe. Both shades are to be had in a wonderfully nice coat in fibre silk, with a cotton back, which gives good weight to it; the cash collar and cuffs being of white. This is $2.95. They are also obtainable in a model in same fibre silk in a fancy weave, with collar and cuffs of self-tones, price $3.95. A heavier fibre silk coat, with a wool back, at $4.95, is charming in the rose and emerald shades. And in rose fibre silk checked with white, with cash and shawl collar of white, is a most effective looking coat at $10.00.

Back-to-cover the walls of that small room with a wallpaper, and top it all off with a deep, heavily ornamented border, would surely produce a most satisfying effect. One would instantly prefer your alternative idea of "dropping" the ceiling. The quantity of paper required for a room 12 1/2 by 17 1/2 ft. would be 11 rolls of wall paper, 5 rolls of ceiling, and should you still cling to the dado—17 yards of border.

If you want to retain the dull finish on your woodwork, use a dull varnish—21 cents a quart—wax it with floor wax at 45 cents a pound.

Delays would be difficult to limit the "fashionableness" of either the suit or frock of taffeta silk. La Mode is literally and figuratively wrapped up in taffeta this season. In suits there are two delightful models at $25.00, one with a full gathered skirt, with cording around the foot, and a coat with a pleated pelisse, and the other with a plain flare skirt and a coat in belted blouse style. Black taffeta dresses are likewise bouffant of skirt and narrow of shoulder, a dainty model with vestee and collar of white Georgette crepe and a girlish ornamented with a touch of jet and gold thread embroidery being $13.50. It is characterized by a pointed overskirt. Others of similar type, but superior in quality and general make-up are featured at prices from $25.00 on up to $50.00.

M. B.—Would you like the proposed boots to be chocolate brown or bronze brown? In chocolate kid you may have a pair in laced style at $8.00, and in bronze kid a buttoned pair at $9.00. Needless to add they are distinctly smart bits of footwear—moderate in height.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Less Meat if You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Trouble.
Meat forms uric acid, which excites and overworks the kidneys, their waste to filter it from the system. Results in a glass of water before kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels, removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad, you have rheumatic twinges. The kidneys are cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.
To neutralize these irritating acids and flush of the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

Nasal and Throat CATARRH

Every fourth person you meet has catarrh. It begins with running at the nose, the result of catching cold. If neglected it soon becomes chronic. Then it passes to the throat, the stomach, the bowels. It causes asthma, deafness, huskiness, hoarseness; it sets up dyspepsia and bowel troubles—there is no end to the dangers of catarrh.

Veno's won the Grand Prix and Gold Medal, International Health Exhibition, Paris, 1910.

You can cure a cold in the head in one night with Veno's Lightning Cough Cure; you can cure catarrh with it. For old-standing chronic catarrh use Veno's Nasal Tablets along with Veno's Lightning Cough Cure. These two in combination work miracles. Thousands have proved it. This British remedy has the largest sale in the world because it is the surest remedy in the world for—

SAURDAY MORNING, MAY 20.

Buying the Radials. Mayor Church has placed himself on record as willing to buy out the Suburban Railway Company on the same basis as the Scarborough and Mimico sections, which were acquired on the expiry of the franchises on these lines.

The people are quite willing to let bygones be bygones if they can only get the service they want. The whole city system might have been bought out and all the lines unified years ago if the objectors had taken as great pains to arrive at a settlement as they did to obstruct one.

Our Whole Strength? It will be remembered that more than six months ago Mr. Lloyd George told the nation that we could conquer the Germans if we put our whole strength to it, but that if we did not do so we might fail.

There is news enough of every kind to enable a man to support any opinion he may please to form. If he thinks the war is going to be over soon he may read one set of despatches and feel quite sanguine.

The only thing for the man who wants the truth is to study the facts. They are highly disagreeable, but they are facts. After twenty-two months' battling we are no nearer a decision on the surface of things than after the battle of the Marne.

ment which story is accepted. We were beaten at Gallipoli, and our troops were captured at Kut-el-Amara. There is enough news of this kind to enable the pro-German to rejoice in his heart.

If all this could be hammered into the head of the man on the street, and the slacker and shirker made to understand what his lack of patriotism means, not merely to the empire, for he cares little for anything of that sort, but to himself, and what his fate will be under German rule, we might get our battalions filled up as fast as we need them.

Germany does not act thus. Every available man in the German Empire is at work or fighting for the German cause. The Germans deserve to win on form. The Britains deserve to lose on form.

There are two bright spots in our record, and there is another point upon which we may take a second-hand satisfaction. Our navy has kept up from being completely beaten, and may yet give us the victory.

The other bright spot is in Africa. The Boers have shamed us at our own game of patriotism. They have done better than we, and have made good in all their campaigns.

At all events if we wish to shorten the war by a year or two we must get all our eligible men into khaki. A canvass of the city elicits the fact that there are near 20,000 eligible men who are making no haste about enlisting.

The cold hard facts are that we are in a world struggle for self-preservation as a nation or an empire, or if it is preferred as a people.

Premier Asquith's Problem Premier Asquith is making the first attempt that a British premier ever made to examine the Irish question at first hand.

It has always been the boast of Englishmen that they have been such successful colonizers because they allow the people to do as they please and govern themselves.

Now there is no reason why these facts cannot be looked in the face. The old method has been tried and in spite of all kinds of efforts by all kinds of parties, it has failed.

fitting neither the politics of the south nor the commerce of the north. All that outsiders can do to help the situation should be done, and the most they can do is to stand aside and add no fuel to any smoldering ember.

It is often said that the rabidest Ulsterman and the most outrageous Nationalist are nearer together than either is to an Englishman.

Shoo the Women Home News comes from England that too many wives of Canadian officers are living there, some on the continent; that they do no substantial work; that they hamper and distract husbands from war duty; that they are a burden on a community over-taxed to feed its own members.

London Advertiser: Some Canadian editorial staffs are depleted to such an extent that the enlistment of such persons are having difficulty in finding experienced reporters. This condition is true of almost every large city in Canada, and on behalf of the newspaper profession, it may be said, with due modesty, that the call for service to humanity has not fallen upon deaf ears in their case.

Newspermen left at home are also glad because of the fine response made by reporters and "desk men" the country over. It is fitting that the cause for which Canada has given so much should be a cause that is dear to the heart of the man who writes.

THE STERLING BANK HAS RECORD YEAR

Most Satisfactory Statement Yet Presented at Last Meeting.

LARGE CASH HOLDINGS

The Total Assets Now Far Exceed Ten Million Dollars.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Sterling Bank of Canada, held Tuesday, May 16, the most satisfactory statement in the history of the bank was presented. The profits for the year ending April 29 last, after deducting charges of management, rebates, etc., were $145,290.85 and as there was a balance on hand from the previous year of $52,183.00, there was a total of $197,473.85. Dividends amounting to $72,373.44 were paid and $50,000 transferred to the provincial government taxes $8644.97, leaving a balance to be carried forward of $52,735.29.

President G. T. Somers, in presenting the report, laid emphasis upon the bank's large holdings of cash and securities, pointing out that the cash assets alone are 27.8 per cent. of the bank's liabilities to the public, while cash assets and readily available assets together make a total of 45.7 per cent. of public liabilities.

The total assets of the bank now exceed ten million dollars and are the largest in the bank's history. The note circulation has averaged nearly $1,100,000 during the year. The current loans and discounts in Canada, $445,000, while call and short-term loans in Canada total slightly over $445,000. The large proportion of the current loans is evidence of the bank's policy of assisting as far as possible the business interests of the Dominion without over extension in this direction, as previously pointed out in the large proportion of readily available resources.

Mr. Somers, in closing his address, expressed confidence that prosperous conditions would continue during the next year at least, and at the same time he was hopeful that the great reversal in Canada's trade balance would have the effect of ensuring stable conditions after the conclusion of the war.

After a special American tour, the Greeters of Toronto left the city on their journey. Mayor Church and their headquarters in the city, headed by the "Battalion" of the Greeters.

The bonds are large and with provision for interest and are sold in $100 lots. The 1st annual is paid July 1. The principal is paid in Toronto on the 1st of January. The delivery in Toronto or by mail with interest on the 1st of January. New York has a similar plan.

SPLendid FINDS AT THE WEST DOME

High Grade Ore Found in Vein in Incline Shaft.

DRILL CUT MORE VEINS

Three Ore Bodies in First Hole—Will Go Down Deeper.

SOUTH PORCUPINE—There is probability in the Porcupine to which mining men are giving more attention than the West Dome Consolidated. While its neighbor on the east, the West Dome Mines, had been steadily increasing its production and profits during the past two years, the West Dome had been idle. But now that mining operations have resumed under competent management, the West Dome is attracting considerable attention. It is considered a little too early to make forecasts as to the amount of development work done since that time, but the fact that the West Dome Consolidated will develop into the results of the energetic development program now being carried out is distinctly encouraging. When it is considered that only about a month since operations were resumed, the amount of development work done since that time, including the locating and proving up of several good veins, an idea is had of the aggressive mining development policy of the management.

In the month of mining the West Dome Consolidated has continued the incline shaft from 80 to 205 feet, has cut three veins by diamond drilling, is now diamond drilling in contact under three Lake, and has started a third diamond drill hole to prove up another section of the property. In fact it would not be out of the way to say that in the month that more actual work was done proving the property has been done than in the old management. The manager, remarked that the funds in the treasury will be used solely for improving the property and the new surface equipment will be installed until necessary.

Since reopening the incline shaft has been continued on a vein from 10 to 205 feet. The vein has never been less than two feet in width and has averaged to feet about three feet, including the wall rock to the south of the shaft. A good grade of millable ore has been encountered in the vein and some specimens of representative low grade ore in diameter of the vein matter, which has become more basic indicating that the high values will likely continue for some depth.

Diamond Drill Cut Veins.

The same high grade vein was cut by the diamond drill at a depth of 515 feet. It has increased in width to about five feet, and ore samples checked and re-checked gave an average assay of $44.00 per ton.

Two other promising veins were cut in the diamond drill hole. One at a depth of 200 feet gave a good grade of millable ore, and the other cut at 257 feet and at the bottom of the shaft are included it will run considerably higher.

The shaft will be continued to 200 feet. A station is being cut at the 200 foot level.

The second diamond drill hole is test-cut on the formation and finding where contact is on the north end of the property. The hole is now down 264 feet and will be continued to 150 feet. The representative was at the property a change in the ore was noticed, indicating some development can be looked for from there. The hole is in contact with an nearly across 50-wards Lake.

A third diamond drill hole started 50 feet west of the shaft is down 217 feet. It will cut the vein system at 700 or 800 feet.

During the preliminary work after the West Dome was reopened a vein in the south crosscut, 100 feet level, assaying $7 per ton, was found. Two veins were also found in the north crosscut, but development work on these has been deferred, pending sinking operations.

SOME PROFIT TAKING IN THE PORCUPINES

Losses of a Few Points Partially Recovered—Cobalts More Active

Yesterday was another active day at the Standard Stock Exchange and the gold stocks continued to advance, but there was a little more activity in the silvers than on the previous days. It is just possible that the tide of speculation having subsided somewhat will veer back into the Cobalt issues, and a big market on this side of the board will be experienced.

A reactionary tendency became apparent in several of the foremost stocks, and in some cases a few points were yielded. The traders anticipated just such a move, as practically the whole list has had a big upward movement. It will give the market a healthy tone. Naturally those who had big profits in the various issues were anxious to cash out.

But even as the decline the stocks showed some signs of coming back again. In fact, several recoveries were made in the afternoon. McIntyre being the outstanding feature in this respect. McIntyre opened at 187 and on large trading a profit-taking nature. The stock sold off to 163 and recovered on a sharp rally later, closing at this price bid. There is said to be a number of big buying orders in brokers' hands just under the market price, and efforts were made to depress the stock in order to execute these. The buoyancy of the stock was illustrated by the rapidity with which it rose when buying commenced.

Dome Extension was relatively the strongest stock on the list, opening at 38, selling up to 38 1/4 and closing at 38. The market for the Cobalt stocks was not apparent in some extent. It is evident that some one is taking all of this stock put on the market, and there has been a lot of Shrewd followers are anticipating some interesting developments marked in this connection.

Jupiter reacted to 29 after opening at 31-1/2, but closed a little later at 30. This stock has had the decline caused little surprise.

Heavy trading was resumed in West Dome Consolidated. The stock opened at 100 and sold back to 92, closing at 92. Reopen from the north and are most optimistic on West Dome, and forecasts prove true it will be among the big producers of the Porcupine camp.

Vipond was a little firmer, going from 55 to 56, and Porcupine Crown from 54 to 55, and Porcupine Crown from 54 to 55, and Teckmiller was higher at 25, but reacted to 23.

Trading was on a broader scale in the Cobalt list, practically all of the active issues being dealt in some time during the day. Adnan showed a stronger tendency, opening at 100 and advancing 1 1/2 points on the close. Beaver eased off to 45 and closed at 45 1/2. Thinking weakened, selling off from 73 to 71. West Lake held steady between 80 and 81. Nipissing changed hands at $7.90 for one lot. Mr. Lake sold up to $8.20. Coniags was in demand at $5.50. Gifford was active, selling up to 8 and closing at 7 1/2.

Mining Notes

The party of American and Canadian capitalists already referred to in a recent issue left for Porcupine last night. In the group were Sir Henry Pellatt, Col. A. M. Hay of the McIntyre, and Mr. J. P. Bickie. The visitors will inspect the McIntyre as well as other properties in the north country. Some interesting developments may be the outcome of this visit, as it goes without saying that American capitalists are not traveling up to the north country for their health.

The advance in Dome Lake to 30 1/2 on the Standard Stock Exchange yesterday may be accounted for by the item which appears in The Cobalt Nugget. It says: On the Dome Lake Mine at Porcupine two veins have been cut on the 180-foot level in diamond drilling. This work was started only about two weeks ago in order to locate new veins, and also with the idea of determining the formation. The fruits of this work are being already borne out. While the width and value of each of the new veins have not as yet been announced, it is understood that both are important. One was picked up in drilling to the west and the other in a horizontal hole put in to the east.

Crown Reserve made a bullion shipment to London yesterday, consisting of 22 bars, valued at approximately $15,000. This shipment brings Crown Reserve's total for the year to date up to approximately $1,428,000, a total value of around $75,000.

A tramway is now being constructed from the McIntyre Extension shaft to connect with the tramway already running from Jupiter to McIntyre. The distance is but a matter of a few yards and there is sufficient natural decline to render transportation very easy. This tramway is just about completed, and a few days McIntyre mill will be treating ore from the McIntyre Extension. This tramway, it is understood, will be used for conveying ore to the mill until the cross cutting to No. 5 shaft is completed.

MONTREAL, May 19.—There was no improvement in the volume of business for the week ending today. On spot, the trade in coarse grains was also slow. American corn was 10 per bushel lower, with sales of Ontario for prompt shipment from Chicago. Demand for flour continues quiet, but very fair trade continues to be done in meal.

Butter is strong under a good trade, and prices are up 1/2 to 1/4 per lb., with sales of finest at 25 1/2. Cheese steady. Pages active.

EMPIRE DAUGHTERS AT PREVENTORIUM

Fine Institution Exhibited With Laudable Pride to Visitors.

EXPRESS ADMIRATION

Forerunner of Similar Homes in Other Centres in Canada.

Among the things which the local Daughters of the Empire exhibited with laudable pride to their members from other parts of Canada was their preventorium for tubercular children, situated high up among the pines on Yonge street. This institution is one of the products of the L.O.D.E., which has stretched out with beneficent arms to the little ones of the city, protecting them with an all provident care and giving them a chance to obtain normal health such as probably would not have come to them thru any medium had it not been for the provision made by the Toronto Daughters of the Empire.

Freed from the duty of the business of the convention, many outside visitors, together with home members, visited the institution. Here the children were seen going thru the routine of everyday life. During the luncheon hour there was opportunity to observe the differences between the new-comer with pale, pinched emaciated little face and the rounder cheeks and brighter eyes of the one who had already enjoyed some months of the open-air treatment and good food of their present home.

Expressed Admiration.

When one thinks of the preventorium it is always associated with little white cottages on broad verandahs, spacious rooms in which the condiment of dust is an unknown quantity, pleasant school rooms, plenty of playthings in the way of slides, swings and the things that children love, and with which the minutes pass all too quickly, and, above all, the great areas under the trees where the soft grass is a restful carpet for the feet not too strong, and where the kind pines breathe forth their healing benediction for the boys and girls who find their happiest moments underneath their branches.

Mrs. E. F. Johnston, president of the preventorium, and whose interest and activity in its behalf is well known, received the guests of the L.O.D.E., and as the visitors passed thru the house on their tour of inspection, admiration must have been intense for the effort that had brought the work to its present satisfactory condition. It is more than probable that similar institutions will be opened in other centres by the "Daughters" as a result of their visit to the Toronto Preventorium.

GOVERNMENT TAKES OVER OLD GENERAL HOSPITAL

Will Spend Twelve Thousand on Remodeling Building and Use It as a Base.

The mayor received a telephone communication from Col. Mewburn yesterday telling him that the government had taken over the old General Hospital on East Gerrard street as a base hospital, and would expend $12,000 in remodeling the building.

The mayor agreed with the General Hospital trustees in their refusal to have the grant of $10,000 earmarked for the reduction of the expected deficit in the new hospital. The grant merely represents 2-1/2 per cent. of the assessed value of the old General Hospital.

Altho the arrangement made with the Trinity College authorities was only of a temporary nature, the city will retain the reception hospital there.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.

Thru the publicity given the Women's Hospital Day campaign, a cheque for $50 has been received after the "three days" had closed. Another help came thru a little girl, who became interested when helping her mother distribute the campaign literature. Among her friends the little one collected $5.25.

GAVE INTERESTING TALK ON DOINGS IN FLANDERS

Col. McCormack Addressed the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Battalion.

About twenty members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the 97th (American) Battalion attended the regular weekly meeting held in the Carla-Rite yesterday afternoon, when Lieut.-Col. McCormack gave an interesting talk on things as they are at the "front."

Col. McCormack has recently returned from Flanders, and is to be in command of the new 215th Battalion, now being recruited. His descriptions of the wonderful system and orderly manner in which the various branches of the service execute their duties, were much enjoyed by the auxiliary members, who have already signified their intention of assisting the men of the new 215th.

Mrs. C. E. Potter presided at the meeting, when it was announced that besides having supplied every man in the 97th Battalion with a pair of socks, the auxiliary has on hand now five dozen pairs.

TOWN NEAR PALESTINE BOMBARDED BY BRITISH

Warships and Aeroplanes Make an Attack on El Arish.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

Town is on Main Road From Palestine to Suez Canal.

LONDON, May 19.—British warships and aeroplanes have bombarded the town of El Arish, in Egypt, near the border of Palestine, and are believed to have destroyed the telegraph lines on the Turkish line of communication from Syria to Egypt.

El Arish is a fortified town of Egypt, on the Mediterranean, about 75 miles to the east of Quatia, at which point fighting occurred recently between Turkish and British troops. It lies on the main high road from Palestine to the Suez Canal, paralleling the coast.

The capture of this town would permit comparatively little information regarding the military situation on this front to become known, but so far as can be gathered from the frequent official bulletins, the fighting has been confined to comparatively small forces. There has been nothing to indicate that an invasion of Egypt on a large scale is being attempted, altho the reference in today's official announcement to the Turkish line of communications implies an organized military effort.

AURORA DOCTOR FINED.

In the county police court yesterday morning, Dr. Williams of Aurora was fined $10 and costs for failing to register births in accordance with legislation. His defence was that he did not know that such registration was required of him.

HAND BADLY LACERATED.

Leo Forrest, 16 Cornwall street, a driver for the Dominion Express Co., suffered a badly lacerated hand and minor bruises when struck by a street car at the corner of Wilton avenue and Yonge street yesterday afternoon. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital.

PRESENTED WITH PIPES.

Early yesterday morning, Former Fire Capt. Wm. Sleeth, who recently resigned from the fire department, and Lieut. TO RESCUE OF SHACKLETON.

Plans For Expedition to Antarctica Have Been Completed.

LONDON, May 18.—Plans for the relief of Sir Ernest Shackleton, who with a number of his men is marooned in the Antarctic, were completed today at a meeting of a committee of the Royal Geographical Society. The plans involve the departure of a relief ship from London by August 1 for Weddell Sea by way of Buenos Aires and the Falkland Islands.

The anxiety of American friends for the explorer's safety is reflected in a number of cables of enquiry received by Lady Shackleton. Several of these expressed impatience at the delay in formulating a definite relief plan.

Why Your Feet Actually May Affect Your Beauty

BY LUCREZIA BORI Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

HERE may be something in the air these days that causes our feet to ache and burn. Wherever you go you hear the complaint: "My feet hurt me so badly that they nearly drive me mad."

Lucy Bori, dressed expression brow wrinkled and deep furrows about the mouth—that proves beyond the question of a doubt that the speaker is suffering pain.

One of the most annoying of tortures is to have the feet ache. It is absolutely impossible to enjoy anything while suffering in this manner. For this reason I cannot understand why we neglect our feet to suffer this discomfort without really trying to relieve the pain.

Now that every woman is wearing kid shoes of light colors, which have a tendency to make the feet appear larger, do not make the grave mistake to buy your shoes a half size too small. To cramp the toes until every step becomes a torture, is a thing no woman will pay to satisfy a foolish vanity.

Always bear in mind that your feet look much smaller and more beautifully shined if they are well fitted than when they are forced into shoes too small for them.

If you have been sensible enough to provide shoes of the correct size for your feet, and if they continue to hurt and breed wrinkles, then you must look for another cause. If you are forced to walk a great deal or stand any length of time, the feet are bound to become tired and sore. There are ways to relieve this suffering. I am glad to say that in warm weather the feet perspire almost as freely as other parts of the body, and for this reason the shoes should be frequently changed. After removing a pair of shoes always open them as wide as possible and expose them to the sun and air.

When the feet are sore and swollen soak them for 20 minutes in hot water to which a tablespoonful of the following mixture is added: Powdered alum 1 ounce. Powdered borax 2 ounces. Salt 2 ounces.

This bath should be given without fail, every morning. Then the feet should be dried and rubbed with alcohol or cologne water. Before putting on your shoes dust the feet with this excellent foot powder:

Permanganate of potassium 13 grains. Substrate of bismuth 45 grains. Talcum powder 60 grains. Salicylate of soda 2 grains. Sift many times until mixed.

If you find that silk stockings are inclined to make your feet sore, wear those of fine linen. At night, before retiring, massage the feet with cold cream. Not a great deal of grease is required, only enough to keep the skin soft and calluses from forming. Over this dust the foot powder, special attention being given to the spaces between the toes.

When calluses are formed on the soles or sides of the feet and become annoying or painful, massage them with heated olive oil until the skin becomes soft. Then take a pumice stone and rub away the dead skin. In time the calluses will disappear.

When your feet become a source of torturing pain and wrinkles, it is a sign that you are neglecting them. Pruning fruit trees is not a job for the boy or the hired man. It requires real judgment to tackle an apple tree that has been allowed to grow wild for years, to know just what to take out and what to leave, and to be able to see how the tree ought to look after the job is finished.

The sooner you get the idea out of your head that anyone who can handle a saw can prune trees, the sooner will your trees cease to be the victims of costly mistakes and blunders. Turn an interested man loose in an orchard with a saw and shears and he can do more damage in an hour than nature can repair in five years.

A year ago I took on the task of pruning a recently-acquired farm orchard some fifteen or twenty years old. Little work had ever been done on the trees, consequently some of them were pretty badly tangled and woolly. Along the bodies of the larger limbs was the usual growth of matted, ragged fruit spurs, which to the unpruned eye give the trees a ragged, unfinished appearance. These I thoughtfully clipped off in order to give the trees a properly barbered look.

And herein lay the blunder. I did manage to make the trees look smoother and cleaner, but the advantage ended there. With all the lower fruit spurs removed, the apples were crowded to the tops of the trees or out to the end of the limbs. By exercising a little thought, I could have foreseen this result as inevitable; but the point is that I didn't think of it.

It is a well-established fact that apples are borne only on fruit spurs at least one year old. Whenever these spurs have been removed there can, of course, be no apple crop. The value of observing this peculiar trait of the apple was firmly stamped upon my mind at picking time. By the time I had scaffolded up and picked the apples out of the sky, I was able to see clearly why fruit spurs should be left along the main limbs. The heavy weight at the extreme ends of the limbs caused many of them to break during severe thunderstorms last summer. By distributing the load a little more evenly along the limbs, one cup of shuddered, many more easy and accessible, and the trees fare better at the same time.

NUT KISSES. Small dainty cakes are always in demand for receptions and "at home" days. A Mistake in Pruning Pruning fruit trees is not a job for the boy or the hired man. It requires real judgment to tackle an apple tree that has been allowed to grow wild for years, to know just what to take out and what to leave, and to be able to see how the tree ought to look after the job is finished.

The sooner you get the idea out of your head that anyone who can handle a saw can prune trees, the sooner will your trees cease to be the victims of costly mistakes and blunders. Turn an interested man loose in an orchard with a saw and shears and he can do more damage in an hour than nature can repair in five years.

A year ago I took on the task of pruning a recently-acquired farm orchard some fifteen or twenty years old. Little work had ever been done on the trees, consequently some of them were pretty badly tangled and woolly. Along the bodies of the larger limbs was the usual growth of matted, ragged fruit spurs, which to the unpruned eye give the trees a ragged, unfinished appearance. These I thoughtfully clipped off in order to give the trees a properly barbered look.

And herein lay the blunder. I did manage to make the trees look smoother and cleaner, but the advantage ended there. With all the lower fruit spurs removed, the apples were crowded to the tops of the trees or out to the end of the limbs. By exercising a little thought, I could have foreseen this result as inevitable; but the point is that I didn't think of it.

It is a well-established fact that apples are borne only on fruit spurs at least one year old. Whenever these spurs have been removed there can, of course, be no apple crop. The value of observing this peculiar trait of the apple was firmly stamped upon my mind at picking time.

By the time I had scaffolded up and picked the apples out of the sky, I was able to see clearly why fruit spurs should be left along the main limbs. The heavy weight at the extreme ends of the limbs caused many of them to break during severe thunderstorms last summer. By distributing the load a little more evenly along the limbs, one cup of shuddered, many more easy and accessible, and the trees fare better at the same time.

How to Save Your Hair By Caring for Your Scalp

BY DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG A.B., M.A., M.D. (Johns Hopkins University)

IT has often been said that a fine head of hair is a woman's crowning glory. On the street, in the cars, in the theatre or at any public gathering, one who has beautiful hair is always noticed, and often the remark is passed, "How she wears her hair!"

Then look at the man with his bald spot shining prominently and there is no doubt left in the mind that there is a possession to be prized and cared for most carefully. To improve and beautify the hair we must—as we would a flower or plant—start with its roots.

The scalp may be compared to the soil, and unless it is fed and fertilized luxuriant, beautiful tresses cannot grow. The scalp may be nourished by parting the hair and dropping a few drops of olive oil on the scalp with an eye-dropper. The two chief causes of thin, poor hair are dandruff and poor circulation of the blood in the scalp.

Dandruff is the small, white, scaly substance that is so annoying to soaps and undruff is not definitely known, but it is suspected to be a microbe found in dust and dirt. It should be guarded against, because it sometimes leads to baldness.

Stimulate the Circulation. It is therefore most important to keep the scalp in a healthy, clean, well-ventilated condition and free from dandruff. The scaly discs of dandruff may be removed by frequent brushing of the hair and shampoo. When brushing the hair use clean hair brushes, disinfected in formalin. The brush should be stiff with the bristles well separated so it may be easily cleaned.

Combs are only used to remove the tangles from the hair. The teeth of the comb should be widely separated, and never should the old-time fine-toothed comb be used. The comb should be disinfected with formalin.

The circulation of the scalp may be improved by massaging in cold water—nothing else—with the finger tips until it is red from friction. This causes the blood to flow more freely and thus acts as a tonic to the scalp. A very important feature in the care of the hair is the washing. The hair may be washed in any good toilet soap, such as Gassier soap, and the hair should be thoroughly rinsed until all the soap is removed.

Avoid Tight Hats. The length of time that should elapse between shampoos depends upon the conditions surrounding the particular individual. For some persons a shampoo once a month is sufficient, while others whose hair is exposed to the dust and dirt may find it necessary to wash the hair every two weeks or even every week.

Many of the people who think that brushing or shampooing the hair causes some of the healthy hairs to come out. The hairs removed by the brush or a shampoo have already been in a loosened condition, and are simply being promoted by the hair to come out. It is often said, in error, that cutting the hair will make it thick. Cutting the hair does not increase the number of hairs. Another false impression prevalent is that singeing the hair promotes its growth. Singeing often causes the hair to split at the ends and break off.

It is wise to be careful as to the hat worn. This has much to do with the hair falling out. Hats, such as derbies, fitting close to the head, do not allow a perfect circulation of blood over the scalp, and they also afford poor ventilation or none at all. In this way the perspiration on the hair is not absorbed by the air, and so helps to cause the hair either to fall out or to become discolored. For this reason it is generally said that baldness is found more often in men than women since a man's hat fits the head tighter than a woman's.

Cold feet come from loss of health, sleep, wrong food, over-dressing the feet, and keeping them too warm, also high blood pressure. The feet are kept warm better by wearing thin socks and low shoes, cold baths and vigorous massage, active exercise, floor, especially walking, than by inactive, indoor life.

There are many different kinds of eczema, such as red eczema, itching and dry. If you will tell me the kind with which you are affected, I will be glad to help you.

P. D., Toronto, Ont.: A.—If you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope repeating your query I will be glad to help you.

MOVIES PROGRAMS FOR TO-LAY—SCREEN SCREEN GOSSIP

HOW THEY MAKE A BIG FEATURE FILM

Even Grand Canyon of Arizona Does Not Offer Sufficient Background for Directors.

With nature's greatest masterpiece, the Grand Canyon of Arizona, as a framework for the Lubin photoplay classic, "The Great Divide," one would suppose that the scenic problems of this notable production had been solved. In a lecture on feature photography making, however, Edgar Lewis, who directed "The Great Divide" for the Lubin Company, describes a few of the obstacles that had to be surmounted before the big scenic drama was placed on the screen.

"The Great Divide," says Mr. Lewis, was taken under circumstances of peculiar difficulty. Parts of it were taken in New England, others in the west, some in Philadelphia and most of it in the grand canyon of the Colorado River. When we reached the canyon we discovered there were no scenes at the top that we cared to take. We took the whole company down on mule back to the bottom of the canyon. We needed a house and a back. There was only one cement house there. And we had to go 60 miles away to buy the lumber and bring it to the spot. It was an awful job.

"We camped at a height of 1300 feet above the Colorado River. Up 3500 feet farther was the rim of the canyon, making almost a mile. Working time was very short, as we could not work in the middle of the day, the light being too strong to get exposures properly, so most of the work had to be done early in the morning and late in the evening.

"From a prairie scene we went to a small town in New Mexico. There we took a picture of a great herd of sheep. From there we went back to Philadelphia to take interior scenes.

CHARLES CHAPLIN'S OWN STORY

On Monday there will appear in this section the first instalment of the most interesting personal story ever written.

"The man who rose from a poor traveling comedian to the highest paid entertainer the world has ever seen. This story has authentic, it tells the whole of Chaplin's life. They had to go 25 miles into the mountains like the moonshine district. There they had to wait nine days for the weather to settle. After that long wait, in the meantime, they at last got the picture of the landscape. It took nine days to take a 32-second scene."

Ed J. Le Saint, the widely known director, has resigned from the Universal Company and is taking a rest before even looking into the several offers which already have been made him. Mr. Le Saint is regarded as one of the most capable producers in the business.

William D. Taylor, Pallas director, has one of the most expensive sets—probably the most expensive—erected in his play, "The American Beauty," in which Myrtle Stedman is starred. The art stores of Los Angeles, as well as the homes of several of his society friends have been drawn on, and the effect incomparably rich. He copied, from memory, an oriental room in the home of a New Curious: Who is Mary Pickford's leading man, "Hugh Carroll," in "Poor Little Feggy"? Ans.: Mary Pickford's leading man, or rather the man who played "opposite" to her, as it is said among stage artists, was Edwin Morand, but he played the part of Robert Torrance and not Hugh Carroll. This part was taken by Eugene O'Brien. Jack Pickford played Beppo in this play.
