They are of particular interest to labor as well as affecting the rights of the Dominion parliament to legislate thereon. In the first place the Canadian railways are appealing from the judgment of the supreme court in the matter of the act passed by the Dominion providing that a railway employe cannot covenant himself out of the right to claim compensation from the company for damages for injuries. TICKET SCALPER SENT TO PRISON

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 17.—The first case of conviction and penalization for a ticket scalper has just been in charge through the activities of the Western Passengers' Association Protective Bureau. Edward Goodman was tried and convicted in Judge McEaton's court on a charge of having fraudulently used a pass of the Great Western Railway and having changed the date of its termination. He has appealed to the supreme court, 30 days having been granted him in which to perfect his appeal. Goodman had been renting out a pass which was issued to a foreman of the Great Western railroad good for passage of the foreman and 12 employes between Chicago and Minneapolis. The foreman said he lost the pass, but it was taken up by a man who was taking four other men with him to Minneapolis. The legal department of the railroad discovered that the pass had been in the hands of Goodman for several months, and that during that time he had used it for more than twenty men.

SAD TRAGEDY IN NEW YORK

Woman Found Dying With Three Bullets in Her Neck She Sought Her Own Life.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A woman, apparently from the west, 30 years of age, was found in the wagon shed of a brewing company in the rear of Fulton avenue, the Bronx, last night. She was alive but unconscious. There were three bullet wounds in her neck, two on the right side directly below the ear and the other in the left side. At the hospital it was seen that there was no chance of her recovery. Near where she was lying were found a revolver with three chambers empty, a pocket book and a small bottle containing carbolic acid. The woman was neatly dressed. In the pocket book were $3.15, a trunk key, a pair of white silk gloves, and this note, addressed to a man: "I hope you may get your deserts. I always was a decent girl. I pray God will forgive me and punish you. Please bury me in the poor cemetery. Make no attempt to find my relatives. (Sgd.) ANNA LAOGBER."

MILLIONS OF FISH KILLED

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 17.—Advice from the Gulf coast indicates that the beach for a hundred miles is strewn with dead fish which have been cast up by the waves during the last two days. It is believed that they are washed in from far out at sea and their death was due to some marine disturbance, which may have caused the huge wave which swept over the steamer Campana last week, dealing death to a large number.

JAMESEY WAS THERE

Mr. Jamesey Jones attended the band concert last evening. It was more or less a social event, and Jamesey put on his good clothes to give them a preliminary canter before the Prince comes. There is considerable difference between even a handman who plays before the king and a Prince who attends the king, but that really doesn't matter—and the uniforms were gorgeous. So Jamesey went. He was a good deal hurt when a citizen near him kept his hat on during the playing of the national anthem, and the bench he sat on hurt him so that Jamesey had a good time. On his way home he entertained several people in the car with a fine disposition on the quality of a servant who lost her job because she entertained the notion that she was as good as other people. Jamesey is glad the band is coming back again next week. He will be there.

RECEPTION TO PRINCE LOUIS

Committee Met This Morning and Appointed Sub-Committees to Make Arrangements.

Preparations for the reception and entertainment of Prince Louis on the occasion of his visit here on Thanksgiving day, Oct. 29, were but slightly advanced at a meeting of the committee at City Hall this morning. The form of reception was talked over, and it was practically decided to meet the Prince with a band and escort him directly below the car and the other in the left side. At the hospital it was seen that there was no chance of her recovery. Near where she was lying were found a revolver with three chambers empty, a pocket book and a small bottle containing carbolic acid. The woman was neatly dressed. In the pocket book were $3.15, a trunk key, a pair of white silk gloves, and this note, addressed to a man: "I hope you may get your deserts. I always was a decent girl. MINERS GO ON STRIKE

Three Thousand Men in Marquette Collieries Walked Out Today—May Become Serious.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 17.—The strike of the driver boys in the Jeddco collieries of G. B. Markle & Co., which occurred a few days ago, culminated today in the strike of 3,000 employes of the Marquette Co. The boys quit work because they claimed that the wages they were receiving were under the standard. A committee waited on the officials of the company and asked to have the matter adjusted. The superintendent of the company declined to consider their demands on the ground that they quit work before properly lodging their complaint, thereby violating one of the rules of the strike commission. A mass meeting was held last night and it was decided by the miners to suspend all work today.

MEMOIRS OF SHERLOCK HOLMES BY A. CONAN DOYLE

THE MYSTERY OF THE MUSGRAVE RITUAL

But this paragon has one fault. He is a bit of a Don Juan, and you can imagine that for a man like him it is not a very difficult part to play in a quiet country district. When he was married it was all right, but since he has been a widower...

He bowed with the look of a man who is utterly crushed, and slunk past me without a word. The paper was still on the table, and by its light I glanced to see what the paper was which Brunton had taken from the bureau. To my surprise it was nothing of any importance at all, but simply a copy of the questions and answers in the singular observance called the Musgrave Ritual. It is a sort of ceremonial peculiar to our family which each Musgrave-for centuries past has gone through on his coming of age...

depairing voice. "A fortnight - say at least a fortnight!" "A week," I repeated, "and you may consider yourself to have been very leniently dealt with."

attention away from the original mystery. "For two days Rachel Howells had been ill, somewhat delirious, and I had been employed to sit up with her at night. On the third night after Brunton's disappearance, he had dropped into a nap in the armchair, when she woke in the early morning to find the bed empty, the window open, and no signs of the invalid. I was instantly aroused, and with the two footmen, started off as once in search of the missing girl. It was not difficult to tell the direction which she had taken, for starting from under her window, we could follow her footmarks easily across the lawn to the edge of the mere, where they vanished close to the gravel path which leads out of the grounds. The lake there is eight feet deep, and you can imagine our feelings when we saw that the trail of the poor delirious girl came to an end at the edge of it."

THE TERRORS OF THE SEA

Sailors Suffer Awful Hardships in Typical North Atlantic Gale Battered for Six Days on Portion of Wreckage.

Boston, Oct. 16.-A typical North Atlantic shipwreck tale, in which eight seamen suffered so fearfully from exposure, hunger and thirst, that six of them either died outright, were washed away or, crazed by their awful experience, hurled themselves into the sea, was brought out today by the two survivors of the well known coasting schooner Vannane and King, of New Haven, which was beaten to pieces by a gale off the South Carolina coast on October 6th.

them lost 30 or 40 pounds in weight during their five days' exposure. The schooner Vannane and King, reported lost off Cape Hatteras, was owned principally by New Haven men and was a three masted vessel used in the coast lumber trade. William H. King, the local agent for the vessel, said tonight that the schooner left Charleston (S. C.) about six days ago for New York with a cargo of lumber and that was the last he had heard of her. She was engaged solely in the lumber trade between these two ports, having had that run for many years.

For Anaemia You Must Have Iron

AND ANYONE CAN USE IRON, AS IT IS COMBINED WITH OTHER INGREDIENTS IN DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Anemia or bloodlessness is indicated by paleness of the lips, the gums and the eyelids, and is most frequently found in girls and young women. Other symptoms are deficient appetite, impaired digestion, irritable temper, shortness of breath, dizziness, faintness, headache, easily fatigued, depression and despondency.

At 8 o'clock on Friday with her hold nearly full of water, the little schooner was hove down on her beam ends. The crew clambered up on the weather side and lashed themselves to the bulwarks. There they remained, soaked to the skin by every sea that broke over them all day Friday, constantly on the watch for some passing vessel. That night the storm increased in fury and one great wave thundered aboard and snatched both legs of Seaman Arthur and sweeping Seaman Griggs into the sea.

MANUAL TRAINING

The Times has already quoted from a Portland, Me., paper a statement relative to the great favor with which manual training is regarded in that city. The Bangor school board has introduced an advanced course that involves the use of electric power, and the Commercial says of the result: "Supt. Charles E. Tilson sent in an order Friday for two wood turning lathes to be used in the manual training department of the Bangor public schools, these being the first to be introduced in the course which was begun last year and which has proved to be so successful and so interesting as well as instructive to the boys of the seventh to the ninth grades, inclusive."

"The room now used at Abbott square for the manual training department is to be fitted up with sufficient shading for a number of lathes to allow for the increase which will be made from time to time as the school appropriation will allow. Electricity will be used as a power, being obtained from the city's system which will be amply sufficient."

"This work, which was started under the direction of Instructor E. E. Goodell, has been a success from the very start. The classes from the several schools in the city are taken to Abbott square where they receive their instruction in the manual training department, each pupil getting about one and a quarter hours each week in that department."

"Do you think the pupils are fully as enthusiastic this year as they were last?" was asked Supt. Tilson.

"I will venture to say that the boys who missed their period Thursday afternoon on account of the blowing of the whistle for no school were more than sorry for it," was the reply.

"Although the department was but partially fitted up last year on account of the lack of sufficient funds do as much as was desired, excellent work was done by some of the pupils. The quality of the work turned out is surprising, considering the small amount of time devoted to the work."

TORONTO'S SENSATION

A Toronto despatch last night said: "The city council today passed a resolution asking Judge Winchester to investigate charges of bribery against Ald. Lynd in connection with the granting of a permit for a slaughter house to Puddy Bros. The accused alderman, who was at the meeting, arose and denied the charges. Then he broke down and retired from the council chamber."

The charge made in that order to secure a majority vote in the Board of Control Puddy Bros., through the agency of an ex-aiderman, bribed Ald. Lynd with $100 to change his vote, and thus secure a majority on the board. The ex-aiderman is said to have got $400 from an agent who was alleged to have received $1000 from Puddy Bros., and to have received a promise of $200 more. The agent in question is said by the Toronto Globe to be well known around city hall. It is fair to say that both Puddy Bros. and Dr. Lynd declare the charges to be false, and Mr. Edward Puddy said he was glad an investigation had been asked for. When interviewed by the Globe, Ald. Lynd said:—

"If my name is in any way connected with the matter, and I have heard that it is, I have only to say that I demand a judicial investigation, and council cannot ask for it too quickly for me. I voted against Puddy Bros., being given a permit to erect their abattoir on two occasions. Subsequently there were a number of aldermen on a tour visiting the parks, and it was suggested when we were in High Park that we should go and see Puddy's premises. We did so. I looked over the ground, sized it up, and saw what I thought was sufficient evidence to me that the abattoir would not be very much detriment to the surrounding neighborhood. The city had built the sewer and given them water and everything else, so I thought the firm might as well be permitted to go on. That was the reason I changed my vote."

Every other alderman who voted in favor of the site asked for by the packing firm declared himself ignorant of any attempt at bribery, and defended his own vote. The affair has created a great sensation in the Queen City.

IN NEW YORK

The central figure on the stage in civic politics in the United States today, overshadowing Dunne of Chicago and Weaver of Philadelphia in public interest, is William Travers Jerome, the honest district attorney of New York. Opposed alike by Tammany and the Republican machine, he is fighting single-handed for reelection as the candidate of the opponents of graft. He is supported by the New York Times, Sun, World and other leading papers, and is not daunted by the enmity of the historic parties. For Jerome loves a fight for his own sake, when the enemy is the corruption that has bedeviled civic politics in New York city. If there is any sincerity behind the public professions of amazement and indignation that have followed recent disclosures in high and low places in that city Mr. Jerome should be elected. Tammany has been beaten before, and may suffer defeat again. It had been the opinion of many that one party or the other would endorse Jerome, but they seem to have agreed that in the interests of machine politics he would be a good man to destroy. The Telegraph's New York correspondent makes this startling statement in his letter this morning:— "More than one prominent Republican heaved a sigh of relief when he heard that Armatag, Matthews, secretary of the Republican county committee, had killed himself on the day that Jerome was to prosecute him in open court on an indictment for malfeasance."

If this be true, New York politics must be rotten to the core.

Another remarkable thing is that Hearst should be regarded as a possibility for mayor of New York. However true it may be that recent disclosures have intensified social unrest, Mr. Hearst is not the man to usher in an era of reform. His yellow journals have done more to degrade public life in the United States than his personality could ever hope to undo, even if the man were sincere. At this distance it would appear that McLellan should be re-elected mayor, and Jerome district attorney. But it will be a "whirlwind campaign."

Of the pay of school teachers in Bangor, outside the high school and the principals of the grammar schools, the Commercial says: "The average pay of the Bangor teachers is $13.20, which is about the same as Portland and one or two other cities in the state. It is far better than the smaller towns in Maine, whose school teachers, as a rule, are but poorly paid for the amount of work they do and the responsibility on them. The pay of the Bangor teachers was increased somewhat last year, and now runs on a scale of which the minimum is $10 and the maximum is $15, weekly, according to length of service."

The Toronto Globe gives the following interesting illustration of the value of railway competition: "Shippers in Ontario and Quebec will today, October 10, be able to ship goods to Sirathooma and Edmonton on the Calgary all-rail basis over the C.P.R. The new schedule follows in the steps of the lake and rail tariff, which previously included these points. The importance of the change will be grasped when it is stated that the first-class reduction is 49 cents a hundred and the second-class reduction cents. This is one of the first fruits of active railway competition in the far west."

The London Daily Chronicle announced that Arnold Forster, secretary of state for war, is working out with an army council a new scheme to organize a "National army" of a quarter of a million men, to be composed mainly of militia and supplemented by regulars and volunteers available for foreign service. The project, the paper says, includes the building of barracks throughout the country for the new force, with special depots and it is proposed to intrust home defenses to the yeomanry and volunteers, and the defence of the coasts to the Royal Garrison Artillery.

It is announced that several valuable gifts were received by the board of regents for the State University at its monthly meeting in San Francisco this week. Mrs. Hearst's donation alone amounting to nearly $500,000. For seven years, the despatch states, she had been collecting from all parts of the world archaeological and anthropological material, and this collection she has given to the university. It cost Mrs. Hearst $400,000, and she donates $50,000 to the university for maintenance of the department of anthropology.

The Woodstock Press expects to see F. B. Carvell appointed a judge. Hon. W. P. Jones a candidate for Ottawa, Hon. Mr. Tweedie governor or county court judge, Hon. Dr. Pugsley premier, Hon. Mr. Lablouis senator, and Pius Michaud the Acadian representative in the provincial cabinet. The local government ticket in Carleton will be, according to the Press, Dr. W. N. Hand, Hon. W. P. Jones, and either Deputy Sheriff Foster or Andrew McLean. All this is interesting, but not all conclusive.

The somewhat brutal eagerness with which the St. John Star seized upon the statement of an ex-convict to harrow the feelings of the relatives of Frank Higgins, and re-open a chapter of miserable history that the courts of the country have closed, has had its punishment. Higgins writes to the Globe, denying the statements attributed to him by the other prisoner, and scoring the Star for its disregard of his parents' feelings.

The closing words of the proclamation of the Emperor of Japan, relative to the late war, are worthy of the high aims and the dignity of that wise ruler:—"We strongly admonish our subjects against manifestations of vain glories against and command them to abstain to lawful avocations and to do all that lies in their power to strengthen the empire."

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, the new postmaster general, says he has not yet been asked to accept the representation of North York or any other constituency. Nevertheless he will probably be nominated by the liberals of Sir William Mulock's late constituency.

There was nothing in the farewell address of Sir William Mulock to his colleagues, or in the speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the farewell dinner, to indicate as one Toronto paper suggests that Sir William was forced out of the cabinet.

Sir Henry Irving will be buried in Westminster Abbey. No greater tribute could be paid to his art and his memory.

MEN OF ST. JOHN

DR. J. W. DANIEL, M. P. John W. Daniel, M. D., M. R. S. C., M. P., was born in St. Stephen, N. B., on January 27th, 1845, a son of the late Rev. Henry Daniel, an eminent clergyman of the Methodist church. When five years of age he accompanied his parents to Bath, England. He entered New Kingwood College an educational institution to which the sons of Methodist clergymen are alone eligible for admission—at the age of nine years and for the next seven years he remained there. The full term at the college was six years, but young Daniel having attained the highest aggregate in all subjects of study was awarded the premier prize in the gift of the college, viz., a scholarship in one of the colleges affiliated with London University, or an extra year at New Kingwood free of all tuition fees or expenses. He chose the extra year and afterwards went up for the local examinations of the University of Cambridge. There he earned his degree in medicine, graduating in 1865 at Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York.

After his graduation he entered the American army as acting assistant surgeon. During the American civil war he did duty at New Orleans and was subsequently removed to Fort Gaines. There he remained until the Federal captured Mobile when he was ordered to that city. He was afterwards sent to the hospital at Mobile where he became ill. He applied for a change and was transferred to Liverpool, La., where he was placed in charge of the pest hospital.

It was at Liverpool that he had his first experience with small-pox. Early one morning Surgeon Daniel was ordered to provide accommodation for small-pox patients. He went to work and on the evening of the same day had a field hospital properly isolated and equipped with complete accommodation for from 20 to 25 patients.

Soon after, at the time of the Penian flu movement, he resigned from the army and returned to England and graduated from the Royal College of Surgeons in London. Here it was his privilege to become associated with some of the most noted English surgeons. Those were pre-antiseptic days, when many of the aids now utilized in modern surgery were unknown, but Dr. Daniel says that during his term in London he witnessed and participated in some of the most successful operations ever performed.

Subsequently he returned to Canada and after practicing for two years in Liverpool, N. S., came to St. John, where he has since resided.

Soon after his arrival here he became connected with the Board of Health as vaccinating physician, and he was also largely instrumental in stamping out one of the small epidemics of small-pox. In 1881 he was sent by the provincial government to St. Croix, where small-pox had made its appearance to such an extent that an epidemic was threatened. On account of his wide experience and previous success in the treatment of small-pox, he was appointed to cope with the situation. In 1885 or 1886, Dr. Daniel was appointed to the medical staff of the General of the Public Hospital. Here he remained for nine years, during which time he was also lecturer and examiner in surgery for the Nurses' Training School. During his connection with the hospital, Dr. Daniel introduced many new operations, and he performed the first operation in ovariotomy where the pedicle was treated internally.

Dr. Daniel has always held high rank in the medical profession. By his brother's recommendation his opinion is highly valued and he has been chosen to fill many positions of importance in the councils of the profession. He is a past president of the St. John Medical Society and the council of physicians and surgeons of the general public hospital in 1886 and also consulting surgeon. He also holds the appointment of lecturer to the nurses training school on the questions of hygiene and public health. He is a past president of St. George's Society, a Mason and a Freemason.

Despite the demands upon his time and talents made by a large private practice and a rapidly expanding career, Dr. Daniel has found much time to devote to public life. In this connection he made his debut in City Hall being elected alderman for Queen ward in 1884 and representing that ward until 1897. For the last two years of his term he was chairman of the treasury board and no man who performed the first operation in ovariotomy where the pedicle was treated internally.

In 1900 the call came to him to go up higher and he was elected mayor, serving two years as chief magistrate of the city. His mayoralty term was marked by many important matters.

Socially Dr. Daniel's mayoralty term was also important. It was his privilege to welcome to St. John the Governor-General and Countess Minto, Viscountess Sir Frederick Bedford and the officers of his fleet, the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, now Prince and Princess of Wales. In 1901 Dr. Daniel was sent by the city to Halifax to participate in the welcome to the home coming South African veterans.

In 1903 Dr. Daniel contested St. John in the conservative interest and was elected to Ottawa at a bye-election and again at the general election in the same year.

In 1875 he joined the local militia being appointed assistant surgeon in the 2nd Regiment R. C. A. The following year he was appointed full surgeon and in 1886 succeeded to the rank of surgeon lieutenant colonel.

Dr. Daniel married on Oct. 15, 1860, Jessie Porteous, daughter of the late John Ennis.

JAMES J. HILL, STORY OF HIS WONDERFUL WORK How a Young Canadian Without Money Fought His Way to be Master of Railways of the United States—Was Always Saving and Studious and Never a "Clock Notcher."

(Montreal Herald) From poor boy to master of millions; from mediocrity to a foremost place, a commanding position among the captains of industry and the generals of finance—this is the story of the life of James Jerome Hill, magnate of transportation, who rounded his sixty-seventh year recently. Not a wrecker of railroads, but a builder of countries, this man has succeeded where others have failed because he has been possessed to a high degree with the gift of continuance and has not watched the clock. His early history carries the lesson that obstacles melt before indomitable energy and the dauntless will of him determined to conquer. With heart, soul and nerve concentrated upon his purpose, James J. Hill moved toward accomplishment and carved out his own destiny. Although poor, the present potent head of a great transcontinental railroad was not born in poverty. His mother, also James J. Hill, came from the north of Ireland and settled on a farm on the Canada Company's land. His mother was a Dunbar. In the rebellion of 1798 the Dunbar estate was destroyed, the family went to Canada, and at the time of the birth of young James his mother's people were well-to-do farmers. James' father was a Tory and staunch Orangeman, as were all his ancestors, and the boy was intended for a Presbyterian minister. In this connection it is interesting to note that James did not become interested with antagonism for the church of Rome; on the contrary, while not himself a Catholic, he married a Catholic woman, and his gifts to the church of her profession have aggregated almost a million of dollars.

It is just sixty-seven years ago that James Hill was ushered into existence. On the 18th day of September, 1838, he first saw the light in a little log house in the backwoods of Canada. The place was near Gushp, by name Rockwood, Eramosa township, Wellington county, province of Ontario. When seven years old the boy was sent to the Rockwood Academy, and the time he devoted to book learning was seven years. At the age of eighteen Hill had decided for himself that neither the ministry nor farming was a vocation pleasing to him, and he became a clerk in Rockwood. So well did he succeed as a salesman that during the next year Mr. Pasmore placed him at the head of his store at Gushp. While here Hill became fired with a desire to see more of the world and decided to seek his fortune in the United States. He travelled through the eastern states and finally definitely decided to locate in the west. His business life began in Minnesota and St. Paul became his home. In the city which has since been his home "Jim" Hill commenced at the bottom. On the levee as "fund clerk" he secured work at 75 cents a day with Brennan, Lewis & Company. He was frugal and saved the money. For six years he worked about the shipping interests in different capacities, his energy attracting attention and his increasing and his bank account steadily growing. His capacity and thoughtfulness were his chief characteristics. He was a master of men; he was learning to obey orders and devoured books with a ravenous gusto. Hill had a hobby it was transportation. The first railroad had been built in Minnesota and the acquisition of the Pacific. He saw its possibilities and studied it intelligently and exhaustively. He felt intuitively the value of the States to the country to the northwest if means of communication could be established. In the absence of railroads the Red River attracted his attention, and in 1870 he established the Red River Transportation Company and opened the line between St. Paul and Fort Garry. A year later the company was consolidated with the Iron Line and a daily service established between Moorhead and Winnipeg. This association controlled the navigation of the Red River and continued until the completion of the railroad to St. Vincent. The career of James J. Hill as a post office factor in Ontario began in 1872. During the latter part of that year or early in 1874 began the work which resulted in the acquisition of the St. Paul and Pacific. Since then he has continued until the present day of the Great Northern. In connection with Commodore Schwan and Donald A. Smith (afterward Lord Strathcona), he organized a syndicate to secure control of the St. Paul and Pacific. The securities were owned by Dutch investors. Interest had not been paid on the bonds. The state had passed through the most depressed period in its history and had possession of one branch of the line under mortgage foreclosure. There were two branches of the line, and to secure them it was necessary to buy the bonds of one and the stock of the other. Hill worked for three years with N. W. Kitchison, Donald A. Smith and George Stephen (Lord Mount-Stephen) of Montreal. It then became necessary to reconstruct the old and build a new road, and through the same influences a loan of $22,000,000 was effected, the St. Paul, Minnesota and Manitoba Company organized, and the line built. James J. Hill made the road. He was general manager from its organization until 1882 when he became vice-president, in 1883 he was elected president. Constantly upmost in the mind of Mr. Hill was the idea of a western outlet and in 1880 he associated himself with George Stephen, Donald A. Smith, E. B. Angus, Morton, Rose & Co. of London and other capitalists in the building of the Canadian Pacific. Mr. Hill soon saw that the building of a through line with Canadian territory would interfere against the Manitoba system, so in 1888 he sold to his associates his interest in the Canadian Pacific and again turned his thoughts and energy to a western line of his own. The completion of this is a matter of very modern history. It is the life-work of James J. Hill. There is another side to the man. He is an enthusiastic stock promoter with an almost perfect stock farm, Oakview, north of St. Paul. There are 4,000 acres in his farm, and for years he has been breeding fine sheep, cattle and hogs to different sections along the line of his railroad for breeding purposes stipulating that the animals shall be for the use of the communities. As a connoisseur of art Mr. Hill is recognized as an authority. In his palatial home at St. Paul is a large gallery which contains more fine modern paintings than are exhibited in the Corcoran gallery at Washington. He has four pictures by Millet, a number by Troyon and others bearing the names of Diaz, Munakaw, Delacroix and Bouguereau. The extent of Mr. Hill's benevolences and charities, are, of course, unknown to the public, but there are some which are a matter of record. He gave $200,000 toward the construction of the Catholic college near Groveland Park, in St. Paul, the gift coming without solicitation. When Macalester College was in financial straits he sent his check for $10,000. When his new home on Summit avenue was completed he left the French street residence just as it stood, furniture and all, and turned it over to the Little Sisters of the Poor.

BAND OF THE IRISH GUARDS Won Instant Favor in St. John—Will Return in a Week. When it was announced at the close of last evening's concert that the Irish Guards band would return a week from today for a return engagement, the vast audience in the Victoria Riak expressed its pleasure with hearty applause. This magnificent band gave two concerts yesterday, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening. An immense crowd of school children as well as many grown persons were present at the afternoon performance and a great audience assembled again in the evening. When the band, in addition to the regular programme, was compelled to play many selections in response to the repeated requests. The singer, Donald MacGregor, captivated his hearers each time his splendid voice rose and filled the auditorium with its full, rich tones. The band justified all that had been said of it in the funds notices. At last evening's grand concert the first number—a selection of Moore's Irish melodies—was reminiscent of many well known airs and was exquisitely played. Then followed a tour de force—Litolff's overture-symphonic on the rise and fall of Robespierre. The various passages of the solo could well be realized in maintaining with the death of the tyrant amid general rejoicing. For an encore the closing part of Tschalkowsky's Solenne "1812" was repeated. A graceful cornet solo by Sergeant Hunt elicited a burst of applause and an encore. Donald MacGregor then sang "The Veteran" in faultless style, the stirring refrain "Long Live the King" awakening great enthusiasm. The Dear Little Shamrock was given in response and once again Mr. MacGregor was compelled to respond before the audience were satisfied. No need is there but to mention the Tannhauser overture, which followed. In all its varying themes the rendition was faultless. After Baby's Sweetheart and Serenade d'Amour had been offered by way of contrast, as encore, The Irish Guard Patrol, illustrating the approach and passing of an Irish regimental patrol, was played, followed by The Blue Jacket Patrol. Both pieces greatly pleased the audience. A novelty in the form of variations on the theme of an old German folk song in the style of several celebrated composers and a solo among the lovers of the method peculiar to Mozart, Gounod, Mendelssohn, Sousa and others. The theme was masterfully adapted and the change easily followed. Handel's Largo was then given by request. Following the well known overture, William Tell, came a realistic description of a motor race with Important Local Life Insurance Investigation. The Sun Life Assurance Co. OF CANADA Requests the Public to inspect its list of fifteen and twenty year dividend policies which have matured in the New Brunswick agency during 1906. The profits paid on these policies exceeded promises made when policies were issued. These results are splendid examples of what is being daily accomplished throughout Canada by this prudently managed and prosperous Company.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION Erie, Pa., Oct. 16.—Two terrific explosions at the main supply house of the Pennsylvania Gas Company, just outside the city early this evening, has cut off the supply of natural gas used for heating and lighting in the city. The gas house tender, Benjamin Devine, aged 56, is not expected to live and his son, aged 4, is so badly injured that his recovery is doubtful. Mrs. Mary Devine, his wife, was also injured. Devine had built a bonfire close to a leaky supply pipe. The escaping gas became ignited and an explosion followed which hurled him with terrific force against the gas house, at the same time setting fire to the clothing of his son. Instantly the gas house burst into flames. The skin on Devine's hands and face was blistered and peeling off as the result of the intense heat, but he rushed to aid the boy, enveloping him in his own coat and bearing him to a place of safety. A house occupied by James Duke and standing near the Provincial Hospital corner, caught fire yesterday, but the blaze was quickly overcome. The building is owned by the Clarke estate, and according to Mr. Duke, the fire of yesterday makes the fourth within two weeks. A defective flue, he says, caused the fire. Bishop Casey, accompanied by Rev. J. McDermott and Rev. E. McLaughy, last week ministered the sacrament of confirmation in New Ireland, South Branch, Fredericton Road, and Albert Mines, completing confirmation for the year in the diocese.

THE SEASON'S SPORTS

GOOD WRESTLING BOUTS AT MONTREAL

The Montreal Herald, in its account of the wrestling tournament last Friday night, says:—

Three thousand spectators crowded into the arena last night, to see the second series of the International wrestling tournament for the heavyweight championship. Six bouts, from all parts of Europe, were on hand, including Apollo, the two hundred and fifty pound Irish baby, and Karl Busch, of Russia, imported for the Ottawa Athletic Club. The latter is a husky guy, who gets after his man all the time, and either throws him or receives an explanation. He will appear here again in the near future, and may wrestle Maupas.

Apollo, bigger and better than ever, went on for the first bout with Choumiers, but it was all ready for the Shamrock Lad. After fooling for ten minutes, the two came to the mat with Choumiers on top. Apollo, bigger and better than ever, went on for the first bout with Choumiers, but it was all ready for the Shamrock Lad. After fooling for ten minutes, the two came to the mat with Choumiers on top.

Maupas and Lager, the German, then took the stage and provided a hot red engagement. First Maupas would be on top—then almost down, while the three thousand people yelled their heads off. In the first twenty minutes Maupas had his man all but on the mat twice, the going saving him from a double hammer, and from a Nelson again. In the third spasm Maupas got him on the mat in thirty-five minutes.

Schubert, the Russian, went on for the final bout, and put up a fast show. Carl Busch, beat Schubert, but he was wild—but he is a "rascal" all right. After twenty-five minutes' excitement, the Australian put Herr Schubert down with a far arm roll.

OFFERED $180,000 FOR DAN PATCH

M. E. Sturges, representing a New York syndicate, offered M. W. Savage $180,000 for Dan Patch, champion race horse of the world. Sturges formerly owned Dan Patch and he sold him to his present owner for $80,000.

Mr. Savage refused the offer and said all the money in the world would not induce him to sell the champion. He is believed that Mr. Sturges and his backers desire to secure Dan Patch but only for show and show purposes, but he is James Gatchell's bluff and match him against Audubon Boy, who recently equaled Star Pointer's record.

James R. Keene, owner of Sycamore, who offered $100,000 for the great son of Dan Patch, champion race horse of the world, which he lost, and again after his death in the Metropolitan handicap at Belmont Park last spring.

BASEBALL CHAT

It is a funny coincidence that it was practically the same time when the first pennant for Philadelphia, that won the championship this year. The only two players with the Athletics that were on the team the first year are Waddell and Plank.

Frank Kison of the Detroit team has announced that this will be his last year in baseball. He says he will go to farming. Perhaps so, but he will go to farming the year after next.

Conaillon, the former Columbus player, who has played 144 games with the Cleveland team, batted for 472. He was 46 times at bat and made 17 hits. He looks like the goods.

Parent has done the best stick work in the Boston series, and Grimshaw has played the best set of games he has exhibited in Boston. His batting is far inferior to that of other second basemen in the league.

Allen Grege says "Pat" Dougherty is probably destined to become a greater player than any man in the country. He is more of a puzzle to the fans, who are divided in opinion of his merits. He is not as good as Griffith, but he is a greater favorite than Collins.

Wonder what would have been Hoffmann's base stealing record had he played in all the Athletic games this year. His 45 stolen bases in only a little over 100 games speaks well for Danny.

THEY GET BAD BUTTER

Washington, Oct. 16.—That samples of butter submitted as portion of a large quantity supplied to League Island navy yard at Philadelphia proved to be filled with coal tar dye, is the substance of a report which Chief Chemist Willey, of the department of agriculture, will submit tomorrow to Secretary Wilson. Specimens were recently taken from a number of the League Island navy yard, kitchen and barracks, from the United States navy yard, and from other navy yard by representatives of the United States Dairy and Food Commission who are said to have obtained similar results from a number of samples.

A copy of the report will be sent to the attorney who will in probability bring the attention of the department of justice to the matter.

Enoch Perkins, of Bridgewater (Mass.), brother of Eben Perkins, of this city, accompanied by his wife, arrived yesterday. The three will leave on the Shore Line today for Bonny River for a week's hunting. They will camp out at Bonny River.

JIU-JITSU MAN BROKE NO BONES

Japanese Athlete Was Thrown Twice by Wrestler Swanson in Unique Bout.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Jiu Jitsu was pitted against the wrestler's art at Salszer's Harlem River Casino last night, and for the second time an American won. A Japanese athlete named Katsuguma Higashi ceased to either throw or break the bones of Alex Swanson, a well-known wrestler. He tried to do the same thing to George Bohner, several months ago. So far wrestling has triumphed in the trials.

Mr. Higashi, who is a professional wrestler, was thrown twice by Swanson. He tried to do the same thing to George Bohner, several months ago. So far wrestling has triumphed in the trials.

Swanson was whirled over Higashi's head a few times, but after he came to the mat in a dazed condition, he was thrown off his feet. He was thrown off his feet a few times, but after he came to the mat in a dazed condition, he was thrown off his feet.

LITTLEJOHN AND GARDNER

Patsy Sweeney, the Boston boxer, who it was announced, would box "Dan" Littlejohn, here, the job will not go through. An equally good man, "Billy" Gardner, also of Boston, has been secured. Gardner is a boxer of considerable reputation. His opponent is a local amateur.

PILGRIMS WON

Boston, Oct. 16.—Association football with its fast play and its exciting and brutal nature, received a strong impetus in this city from the Pilgrims of England, and a local team from nearby clubs, the visitors winning 3 to 0.

The last New England players, although very speedy and well abreast of their opponents in individual play, proved no match for the long rangy Englishmen with their well perfected team work. The Pilgrims won 3 to 0 in the first half and four times in the second half. The Pilgrims were the victors in the first half and four times in the second half.

A." with the figure of a woman wearing a diamond set in, and "1905" and the reverse bears the inscription, "Senior Single, Sept. 4." A handsome banner is to follow.—Halifax Chronicle.

IRVING'S FUNERAL

Historic Westminster to be Final Resting Place of Sir Henry Irving.

London, Oct. 16.—The Dean of Westminster, New York, Joseph Armstrong Robinson, announced this evening that, having received a request signed by leading members of the dramatic profession and other persons of distinction, he had consented to the interment of the body of Sir Henry Irving in Westminster Abbey.

Baroness Burdett-Coutts, who for many years had been a friend of Sir Henry, being signing the request to the dean, has offered to place her house in Tratten Street, Piccadilly, at the disposal of the Irving family on the day of the funeral. Condolences continue to come from all parts of the world. The latest to be received today were from the Prince and Princess of Wales and from the directors of the Imperial Theatre at St. Petersburg.

FIRES AT AMHERST

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 16.—(Special)—Following the two fires of yesterday afternoon the firemen were called out to West Highland at midnight. This time a barn belonging to Charles H. Casey was found to be on fire and had so far advanced that nothing could be saved. The barn contained 25 tons of English hay, two valuable horses and a quantity of sleds and harness. This is supposed to be the work of a firebug or a tramp. There was only $100 insurance on barn.

A BUSINESS MAN'S TROUBLES
When help is required today in business offices, the business colleges are invariably resorted to; but in many cases with very discouraging results, as the business man is compelled to take on the "jobless quantity," or the erroneously trained helper. When the business college manager is asked, "What can the applicant do?" he invariably replies:
"You will find the applicant very courteous and obliging," "displays extraordinary ability," etc., etc. When asked what amount of work the applicant can perform in a day, the business college man replies in a vague and uncertain way.

Now the management of the Currie Business University, Limited, is fully aware of the fact that the business man has no time for the so-called "breaking in" of an applicant; therefore, this school is very careful in the selection of competent help, and its representative can explicitly state the business weight and capacity of every student selected.

The principal of this school is a trained business man, who uses no flowery adjectives, nor will he stand for any sentimental nonsense. The pupils are made to understand that they must perform a certain amount of absolutely correct work (according to modern systems) in a given time, in order to command a certain salary. No school in Canada works the student "to the lick of the watch," as such an extent as does the Currie Business University, Ltd. A pupil is allowed one week's test free of charge, and if accepted, the school contracts to train, and place the pupil in a position; allowing one half the tuition fee to be held as a guarantee.

This school is open five nights per week, hours 7 to 9, with the option of working overtime if desired. Advt.

MRS. MURPHY
IN SAD PLIGHT
Her Son, Who is Her Sole Support, is in Jail, and She is Destitute.

Saturday evening Jeremiah Murphy was arrested for drunkenness, and is also charged with stealing a horse and carriage from in front of Bart. Duffy's bar on Brussels street. The rig is the property of Sylvester Robinson. On Monday Murphy was fined $8 for drunkenness and remanded on the second charge.

Since Monday morning the prisoner's mother, Mrs. Jeremiah Murphy, has called at the court two or three times seeking the release of her son. It is said that she had a very bad effect on the bench, one glass being sufficient to make him lose his senses. Mrs. Murphy said this morning that she had applied last winter for aid, but that the charitable authorities had refused her assistance on account of her son being addicted to the drink habit. She stated that she lives on her own, and that she can live on his income. She has, however, to prepare his meals, and after each preparation is compelled to go to bed, owing to the painful condition of one of her limbs, which has not received medical treatment for two years, and which is settling worse.

Mrs. Murphy says that she has friends in Boston, but she remains in St. John as she desires to render her son assistance in keeping from trouble.

She further stated that on Saturday evening her son drove the team to the home and alleged that he had found it wandering about and was going to offer someone a dollar to keep it for the night until the owner could claim it.

At present the unfortunate woman has no food in her home. She said that some charitable association come to her assistance in her present and plight.

THE GAY MATINEE GIRL
The "Gay Matinee Girl" drew a fairly large audience to the Opera House last night and they appeared to be pleased with the entertainment provided. There is no attempt at plot or coherence in the "Matinee Girl." Rather does it serve as an excuse for introducing a couple of really funny comedians, a small, but shapely and clever singing and dancing chorus and a number of good specialties.

Miss De Lome's juggling of Indian clubs, comic monologues and songs being particularly good. John E. Ryan and M. E.
Harr were the comedians and there is something doing all the time they are on the stage. The work of the chorus is also good. They introduce a number of very catchy songs and dances and contribute in no small degree to the success of the entertainment. Altogether
"The Gay Matinee Girl" is a bright and agreeable change from the heavy offerings which have recently been seen here. It is bright and funny and should do good business for the balance of the engagement.

POLICE COURT
Sitting Magistrate Henderson was on the bench this morning and fined four drunks $4 each.

Last week Joseph Albert reported to the court last dog, the property of Augustus Matthews, Winter street, had torn his daughter's coat, and he wanted a recompense of about $7 from the owner of the canine. The defendant's daughter offered to repair the coat, but the plaintiff would not accept the proposal.
The defendant's defence was that the dog is being constantly annoyed by thieving mice in the house, and that a dog is very serviceable in the locality as a guard against light-fingered people, who do not hesitate to increase their coal bill wood supplies if the opportunity is offered them. The court ruled that the repairing of the coat would be sufficient, and that in the event of the repairs being not satisfactory then the defendant could give some little recompense.

HARKINS' LEADING LADY
W. S. Harkins opens his season at the Opera House Thursday in the successful melodrama "Darkest Russia" to be followed by "The Girl of the Year," "The Cowboy and the Lady" and the latest dramatic sensation, "A Gentleman Burglar." His company contains several well-known people and he has an accomplished leading lady in Miss Sue Van Dusen, one of the best actresses on the stage. He sides being a clever actor, he is handsome, attractive, bright and retained in his manager and with a charming personality has become a great favorite in the many cities where she has played long engagements. Miss Van Dusen will be seen as "Ida" the persecuted Jewish girl in "Darkest Russia" There will be a matinee
Saturday and a special matinee
Thanksgiving day.

SECURE COURSE TICKETS NOW
The necessity for those who have not as yet secured their season tickets for the Spencer Star Course, to do so at once is quite plain from the fact that there are but three hundred tickets to dispose of before the opening of the building will be sold for the entire season. When 1500 tickets have been given out no more will be sold at any price. As all who wish to subscribe to the course of entertainments cannot be interviewed this week, all who would like to secure tickets, or at least to learn further information are requested to phone or write F. G. Spence immediately.

KILLED AT DIGBY
Digby, N. S., Oct. 16.—(Special)—One of the saddest accidents that ever occurred in this town took place about 5 p. m. today, when Percy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James
A. McNeill, was thrown from a road cart, while his coat was running away on Warwick street near Town Hill. He was killed almost instantly, death being caused by a fracture of the skull. Dr. Morse was immediately summoned and arrived within five minutes, but life could not be restored.

VALUABLE PHRENOLOGY
To the Editor of the Times:— Sir:—It is said we have an eminent phrenologist amongst us. There are so many quacks in the profession that I John would it would be wisdom on the part of those gentlemen to avail themselves of the present opportunity to submit their craniums to an examination by the professor to know if they are properly qualified to receive the treatment, or to conserve the public interests.
Also would it be wise for the public to obtain a list of the names of the phre-nologists who are growing into womanhood or manhood, for their future use and benefit. I can throw myself with a satisfaction have done this work in a satisfactory manner in later years that it was a wise course; was when Professor Fowler was here and I had a phrenology examination.
I am, Sir, a student of the professor, and I have seen the whole curriculum of education. It is only genius that can master such a task. My opinion is that there is a phrenology in the world, and that it is a science that is being developed. I am, Sir, a student of the
