The Brethren

Now it came to pass, in the lean years, after the blight had fallen upon the potatoes and all were hungry, that a certain man who was chosen leader of the brethren, caused them to be gathered together and said unto them:—

And they were astonished at his doctrine, for none had ever spoken among them who spoke with such authority.

And one asked of another: How can this thing be? For unless a man be given power he cannot re-create himself, and it is written: Ye cannot make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

But one who had been a fisherman rose up and said unto them:—I was a fisherman and now am I a farmer, and it is not therefore truth that he speaketh?

And another, who had lived in the country that is called Carleton also rose up and said unto them:—Brethren be not dismayed. Behold I was a father in Israel but now am I an independent. All things are possible to them that are an-ungnered.

Now while they marvelled at these sayings a certain Pulletian came that way, crying in a loud voice:—Bene dry! Bene dry!

And they would have fallen upon him and beaten him with clubs, but that the Leader drew them apart, saying:—This man gave freely of the substance of his vineyards. Why therefore would ye bring grief to his household? And they all hung their heads, for the Leader said that which was true.

And they went each his own way, pondering the things they had heard, for they were all of a mind to be re-created, that they might all eat.

Milton C. Burt of Presque Isle, at the quarterly session of the Adventist Church Christian Conference in North Devon.

As Hiram Sees It

"Ah," said the reporter, "you are going to send it to a friend?" "No, sir," said Hiram, "not by a long shot. I want to read it myself. 'By Hon!'"

"But you can't read two copies," said the reporter. "I ain't got no more," said Hiram. "One's for me and one's for Hamner."

PROBLEM OF THE WEST END MILL POND

Commissioner Jones Presents Report to Colleagues

Further Word on Trunk Sewer to Come — Means Cost of $50,000 — Likely Take the Tracks Out of Queen Square.

The Carleton mill pond and the sewerage problem in West St. John occupied the attention of a committee meeting this morning at City Hall.

The commissioners were unanimous in the opinion that something should be done immediately. Commissioner Jones presented a report which stated:—

"The mill pond covers a surface of about twenty acres and into it drains practically all the sewage from the whole area bounded by King, Queen, City Lines and Union streets, and as well a quantity of the county sewage. Conditions of a similar character prevail at the Marsh bridge."

It has been suggested that an abutment be built to the westward of the opening in the mill pond would have the effect of holding back the tidal flow and thus create an artificial pond. This, perhaps, could be done, but it seems to me that the present situation would be rendered worse than better by the application of this method, for it must be apparent that in a very short time the constant flow of sewage into this created pond would cause an epidemic unless provision were made for a periodical release of its contents into the open harbor.

Another remedy would be to construct a trunk sewer. This would require to be built through the pond and well below high water mark. To do this would involve an outlay of about $50,000, according to an estimate submitted by the city engineer, and provision would have to be made by means of a bond issue.

"Until the council has decided on some fixed policy with reference to the future use of the mill pond site I do not feel that I should be called upon to undertake any large expenditure in sewerage construction there at the present time, or in the immediate future."

Commissioner Frink said that if harbor commission went into effect the pond would be taken over and the government would then do what it pleased with it.

Commissioner Bullock said that he favored securing a bond issue and having a trunk sewer installed. Commissioner Thornton felt that this was a proper solution of the problem and said he could see any need of an expenditure for good grades.

After considerable discussion Commissioner Jones agreed to bring in a report dealing with the installation of a trunk sewer.

Commissioner Jones then presented a report on tenders for water meters. Two tenders, one from R. N. M. Robinson for a Hersey meter and one from James Robertson & Co. Ltd. for a trident type were given consideration. The prices quoted were: $86.36 for a two inch Hersey and $270.75 for a four inch Hersey; for the trident $80.55 for a two inch, and $288.95 for a four inch. The commissioner said he favored the latter as the parts could be secured in Canada and consideration money would be saved in their repair.

In answer to Commissioner Frink he said he had received a tender from the St. John Iron Works for $114.50 for a two inch and $384.00 for a four inch. Easley & Company also submitted a tender for $90.25 for a two inch meter. The commissioner was authorized to purchase four meters of the trident type.

Commissioner Jones asked for authority to sell or lease houses at Misspec owned by the city.

Mayor Sheffield said that it was a good property and was confident that some day there would be big developments there. He did not favor either leasing or selling any of the houses, saying that if water power was developed it would cost much more to get back one of these buildings than could be secured for the sale of them all.

Commissioner Frink moved in amendment that further report be submitted before any action was taken. This was carried.

POTATOES AT $2; FARMERS HOLD 'EM

Fredericton, Sept. 27.—A provincial agricultural department report today says:—

The potato market is weak. Cars were being loaded last week in Carleton and Victoria counties at $2 a barrel. There is not much movement at that price and the tendency is to hold the potatoes for a higher figure, it being generally agreed among the growers that to lease for that price would be to sell at a price that would not cover the actual cost of production."

THINK PEAK IN BUILDING COSTS HAS BEEN PASSED

Opinion of Government Officials at Ottawa on Attitude of Contractors. (Canadian Press.) Ottawa, Sept. 27.—The attitude of contractors towards calls for tenders for the construction of public works during the last month leads government officials here to surmise that the peak in building costs has been passed. For some time many projected works have not been undertaken because of the reluctance of contractors to tender for them in view of the uncertain outlook with respect to the cost of labor and material.

Some who tendered wished to insert clauses in the contract to protect them from loss due to increased expenses of operation.

Most asked prices in excess of the estimated cost. During the last month, however, the normal number of tenders for contracts has been received and in some cases the prices asked have been less than those estimated.

Commissioner Jones then presented a report on tenders for water meters. Two tenders, one from R. N. M. Robinson for a Hersey meter and one from James Robertson & Co. Ltd. for a trident type were given consideration.

"CLEAN, HONEST AND EFFICIENT"

Toronto Globe's Summary of Foster Government's Record — The Power Policy.

(Toronto Globe)

New Brunswick is to have a general election on October 9. It will be the first appeal by the Liberal administration of Hon. W. E. Foster to the people of that province. In a message to the electors the young premier points out that four sessions of the legislature have been held since his government took office, and that, while the present term does not legally expire till next year, "many important questions have arisen in which the interests and prosperity of the Province are concerned." He declares his belief that the verdict of the people—particularly in view of the fact that, for the first time, the women of the province will exercise the franchise—should be secured on "those unusual conditions of public policy presenting themselves."

Foremost among these is one of special interest to Ontario. Premier Foster proposes a Hydro-electric policy for New Brunswick, and asks the approval of the electors for "the large expenditure involved in the development of our water-powers for the use of the people and in order that electric power may be made available to the public at the lowest possible cost." It is proposed to initiate the project by harnessing the great water-powers at Grand Falls and building dams on the Musquash and the St. John, "thus beginning construction of the first of many installations designed to provide power in various sections of the province."

What has been accomplished in Ontario by Sir Adam Beck is largely responsible for the enterprise and initiative of Premier Foster in New Brunswick, and all indications point to his Hydro-electric policy obtaining a sweeping endorsement from the electors of the maritime province.

Premier Foster's manifesto deals with other essentially provincial projects to which his administration is committed, and outlines in moderate language and straight-forward fashion the record of his government. Canadian will recall the extraordinary circumstances under which this young man was called from commercial business into public life. He candidly states that he found himself "entirely unused to political life," but has striven to give the people of New Brunswick business-like and progressive government. When he and his associates took office after the last general election they found confusion and disorganization and their first work was to clear away the wreckage and present to the people the real state of affairs. The dark story was told by sworn testimony taken by royal commission, and the succession of exposures started the province.

The regime of the Foster government has been vastly different from that of its predecessor. It has been clean, honest, diligent, efficient, enterprising and progressive. In a period of more than a national stress New Brunswick has been enabled to move forward. Its administration for the past few years has striven earnestly to guard the public interest and meet the public needs. Premier Foster has earned the vote of confidence which doubtless will be accorded him by his fellow citizens at the coming general election.

Jon Skjop Latest Addition to Line of Claimants for Discovery of America.

Washington, Sept. 27.—How many persons discovered America before Christopher Columbus? The latest addition to the line of claimants is Jon Skjop, a Norwegian explorer. Sofus Larsen, a Dutch scientist who has recently made a report founded on researches of archives of the middle ages, has completed a work which he says proves that Skjop, the Norwegian, "rediscovered America" in 1476, sixty years ahead of Columbus and twenty years before John Cabot reached the Strait of Hudson.

Larsen uses the term "rediscovered" considering that the original discoverer was Leif Erickson, the Norseman, in the year 1000. Larsen's researches developed, he says, that about 1476 the King of Portugal sent a message to the King of Denmark and Norway, Christian I, requesting him to fit out an expedition and attempt to find a sea passage to Asia—in reality a northwest passage. An old document to that effect was found in the Danish state archives. The expedition was headed by the Norwegian-German privateer captain, Didrik Pining and piloted by the Norwegian pilot Jon Skjop, to whom credit is given for having reached as far as Labrador and found part of the actual entrance to the northwest passage.

In an old Spanish geographical work on America, first published in 1532 by Francisco Lopez de Gomara, a priest of Seville, it is mentioned that Labrador was reached for the first time by Norwegian sailors, piloted by John Scolvus (Jon Skjop). This information was first made public by a Norwegian professor of history, Gustav Storm, in 1886. But at that time this part of the history of the discoveries was still in its infancy and isolated as it was then, the information naturally had to be used with great caution. Later on new material was found pointing in the same direction. One of the sources was a famous globe, dating from 1587 and made by a Dutch physician and mathematician, Gemma Frissius, who points out that North America was reached in 1476 by Johannes Scolvus. Johannes Scolvus is a name unknown in Norwegian history. Dr. Larsen connects it with the Norwegian surname Skjop, which means a man from the shores or fishing places of northern Norway. His deed became famous in his own times, but on account of various conditions not traceable now, it was veiled in obscurity and forgotten. The account of his voyage undoubtedly has been of significance to other expeditions, Norwegian as well as English and Portuguese. Dr. Fridtjof Nansen in one of his scientific works has proved that even 100 years later English explorers were familiar with the expedition of Johannes Skjop, namely when preparing for Martin Frobiher's travel to Greenland in 1576.

Scandinavian Representative Reports to Boston Headquarters Unbelievable Destitution and Chaos.

Destitution and chaos prevailing in Russia under the Bolshevik rule is not the sort of living conditions that radicals in America have been acclaiming, according to a Scandinavian representative of the Universal Winding Company who has just reported to the company's home office in Boston. When the order was given the representative to visit Russia and Finland he was instructed to observe conditions carefully and to report on his return. The report, dated Sept. 10, has just been received, and says:

"I note your remarks that you would like me to report any facts concerning the mass of the Russian people. In a case I had been able to get any guidance while travelling in Finland. Certainly I had many opportunities of talking with Finns and also Englishmen who had been resident in various parts of Russia including Moscow, and nearly every one of them seemed to think that it will be quite five years before Russia can be considered as sound in trading relations.

"The Russian idea seems to be that some beneficent power is going to come forward and finance them, and of course the only nation who could do that is the U. S. A., but I cannot see that America, even with her immense wealth, can afford to place such complete trust in a country whose constitution is quite untried and whose political organization may even yet be subject to violent changes. It seems to me that no nation could possibly grant large loans unless they had complete control of all strategic points such as the railway, telegraph, telephones and customs stations where they can control sufficient of the nation's income that their loans will be secured as a first charge on those incomes.

"Even in Finland the position of the mass of the people is very low indeed as the purchasing power of the Finnish market is at present very unfavorable; the manual workers are paid six or seven times the pre-war rate of wages but even then can barely exist, and cannot enjoy the variety of foods which we have, or even which one can obtain quite readily in Sweden; in fact, the Finns are having a very lean time owing to their rate of exchange being so very much depressed. Today they have to pay 135 Finnish marks for a pound sterling, instead of the normal 55 to the pound—the official quotation is always in the extent of twenty marks in the pound, by which the Finnish banks think they can do their exchange a bit of good.

"The Finns thought that during this

Wednesday of this week will see an advance in the prices of fall topcoats for men, so those men intending to procure a new topcoat this season will do well to attend to their needs without delay.

This advance in price is not, of course, general throughout the country, but the reason for it is to be found at Oak Hall where their stupendous sale of $25 fall overcoats comes to an end Tuesday, which is the same thing as an advance in price of several dollars becoming effective Wednesday because then one will pay $30 to $35 for no better values than can be procured at Oak Hall for $25 if advantage is taken of this sale before six o'clock tomorrow evening. SOME LONG PASTORATES

To the Editor of the Toronto Globe: In regard to long pastorates the record of Dr. J. C. Morse, pastor of the Baptist church on Digby Neck, N. S., has not often been exceeded. At the age of 19 he began the ministry among the scattered farmers and fishermen on that 40-mile strip of land between the Bay of Fundy and St. Mary's Bay. There he spent his long life, dying in 1907 at the age of 88 years. About three years before his death he resigned the pastoral care of the churches which he had served for 65 years, but still continued to preach occasionally. The country churches to which he ministered, were scattered for 24 miles along the Neck, and an assistant pastor was a thing unknown.

Foster Government's Splendid Record in Province
Moncton Paper's Tribute - Business Way of Doing Things - Successful Grappling with Many Big Problems.

(Moncton Transcript.) The Foster government goes to the country with a record of which its supporters have some reason to be proud.

Mr. Foster promised that his administration would conduct the business of the province in a business like manner and that promise has been kept.

The government had much to make up. When it came to power the very foundations of public policy were in disorder; the financial system was so operated that, as the St. John Standard now cynically admits it was high impossible for the general public to get a correct view of the financial position of the province.

BASELESS CHARGES.

What the members of the opposition were unable to establish on the floors of the legislature they cannot do on the public platform. It is easy to make assertions and prefer charges of extravagance, but that is not enough to convince an intelligent electorate. It is perfectly true that the Foster government has received more money and expended more money than its predecessors. That it was able to secure a larger revenue without hardship to the people is entirely to its credit, as in the case of the crown lands. Whether it was justified in making a larger expenditure is to be determined by consideration of the uses to which the money was put. There is general agreement that the expenditure on roads and bridges was necessary; that the expenditure produced the best results of any in the history of the province; and that the progressive policy should be continued. Only hopeless partisans or persons who are disgruntled because the money was not spent in their neighborhood have any criticism to offer—unless there be some who prefer bad roads. The like is true with regard to the public health act. The leader of the opposition has said he would not abolish that act. What he wants is the head of the minister of health. No other money expended by a government, so long as it is judiciously expended, yields so much real value as that devoted to the promotion of the public health. This government has established the department spread the organization throughout the province, and is going on to perfect the machinery whereby New Brunswick will be able to cope successfully with disease, promote health, and will be the envy in this respect of other provinces and states. Better to retain in office the men of vision, who are doing things, than give place to carping critics who regard the gathering of election funds as the chief end of government. No member of the Foster government would contend that the very best results were always obtained in carrying out their policies, since there are errors of judgment at times, and unforeseen difficulties arise; but that is true in all business. The fact to remember is that the government policies were sound, and the members honestly endeavored to get the very best results. They did not neglect their tasks to run after contractors or other possible sources of election funds, and of laps to be thrown to hungry supporters.

THE TWO CHIEF PARTIES.

The government which now appeals to the people of New Brunswick is the same government which cleaned up the mess into which the old government had got the affairs of the province. It is opposed by the men who were responsible for that mess, and who want a chance to re-introduce the old methods. The government which now appeals to the people is the government which gave the province a better crown lands act, a better highway act, a public health act, a woman suffrage act, a hydro-electric power act, and other measures of the highest importance. It is opposed by the men who neglected the public service and resources because they were busy hunting election funds; or as in the case of the patriotic potatoes they squandered public funds and then tried by every artifice to cover it up. The record is there. The people have to choose between the new and the old. If they want a return to old methods they will put the old government back again. If they believe in better methods of administration they will return the Foster government to power. Every effort will be made to becloud the issue and persuade the people that they should go back to the old men and the old ways, but it is not conceivable that they will do so. The record is there, and it is perfectly plain.

KINDRED SOULS.

"For they possessed with all their powers, 'A meekness and kindness for each other.' The author of these lines was not writing about the opposition party in New Brunswick, but they may very fittingly be applied. The members of that party are certainly making a great power. Having failed utterly in their efforts to defeat the government in the house, or bring home to it a single case of wrong-doing, they are now rushing about with extravagant assertions which they cannot maintain, coquetting with farmers and labor representatives, and shouting that the province is on the verge of bankruptcy. But they also have a sneaking kindness for each other. If they can climb back into power they will all be there—Baxter, Murray, Jones, and Smith (by the side door). They will be able to go on where they left off. The four named would no doubt be in the new government, with Mr. Murray as minister of agriculture—unless Farmer Guphill of Grand Harbor should insist. The heating of tom-toms will be kept up with great vigor in behalf of these kindred spirits, by friends who have a sneaking kindness for contracts and other things at present inaccessible. They hang together. Well, let's hang them together on Oct. 9.

The Bathurst Northern Light says that "In Gloucester county it seems doubtful if there will be any contest."

HON. C. W. ROBINSON.

The announcement that Hon. C. W. Robinson has accepted the office of minister of lands and mines will be received with universal satisfaction by friends of the Foster government, and its opponents will also concede that an excellent choice has been made, since the new minister is a man of the highest character, an experienced legislator and also familiar with the work of the department over which he will preside. Hon. Mr. Robinson has had valuable experience in public life; he is a trained business man with large interests, and has high ideals of public service. He is a man of the right calibre to be at the head of an important department in the government, and will prove a worthy successor of Hon. E. A. Smith, under whose able management a new and splendid record has been made in the administration of crown lands. The citizens of Moncton will appreciate the tribute paid to one of their most public spirited fellow-citizens, and all who have to do with the department will be glad to know that they are to do business with a straightforward and able minister.

STANDARD FEARS DEFEAT.

The Standard is not pleased with what has happened in York county. After referring to the present opposition ticket it says: "If the farmers decide to put a ticket in the field also, the government ticket will probably be returned, for the reason that the bulk of the farmers of York are Conservatives, and to split their vote between two tickets would probably be fatal to both. The sensible thing to do would seem to be to take two farmers on the opposition ticket, which would then undoubtedly carry. Mr. Pinder is lukewarm about standing again, and as Mr. Young has already had twelve years in the house, he might not unreasonably be asked to let someone else have a chance now. This would make room for two farmers and would thus complete the winning ticket."

Will Mr. Pinder and Mr. Young take the hint?

The government ticket in Westmorland represents farming, construction and business. That is a good combination, and the candidates are men of excellent standing in the community. They ought to win handsomely. The Moncton Transcript says: "There is now a strong feeling among many in the county, who were formerly supporters of the opposition as well as among the supporters of the government, of which the Hon. W. A. Foster is the head, that the Foster government will be continued in office and enabled to carry out those policies which are doing so much to advance the interests of the people in the province of New Brunswick."

The process of endeavoring to get the old guard back again in the legislature goes merrily on. Mr. Guphill has become a farmer. So has Hon. Dr. Landry. Hon. B. Frank Smith has become an independent. If anyone can suggest any other disguise that might be likely to produce results in vote-getting the opposition leaders have an ear to the ground.

Frederick Mail: "The nomination of Mr. Baxter as opposition leader was made on the motion of Mr. J. Y. Mesereau who expressed the opinion at the convention held last winter that the party was as dead as Julius Caesar. Unless he has discovered signs of returning animation he has not paid Mr. Baxter much of a compliment."

The conventions to nominate government candidates in this city and county will meet this evening. Strong tickets are assured, and the way will be cleared for a vigorous campaign which should be crowned with success.

Opposition vote-hunters will appeal to every prejudice and introduce side-issues, in the effort to dodge a comparison of the records of the present government and its predecessor.

In some parts of the province the United Farmers are urged to join forces with the opposition, but in Col. H. F. McLeod's view the farmers' movement is a class movement.

The farmers of this province cannot be persuaded to believe that the authors of the patriotic potato deal are their best friends. They are much too wise for that.

Mr. Pinder is again a candidate for the opposition in York county. He did not seek a nomination, but there was no substitute.

The government party in York has named a ticket of strong men, including two farmers who are county councillors. York should be redeemed this time.

The Paris woman's magazine, Femina has published the answers from more than 5000 women in response to the question: "What great man would you marry if you could?" Nearly 2000 of the women said, "Marshal Foch." Foch was the next most popular. Dante got one vote. D'Annunzio got 18. Four women said they would prefer Woodrow Wilson.

THOUGHTFUL.

I rise each morn at five o'clock, for that seems good to me; but when around my place I walk, I'm quiet as can be. And the folks who live next door expect to sleep till nine; they won't be bothered as they snore, by any set of mine. They may be sluggish, thus to sleep, when I am wide awake, and I may think their slumber deep a most profound mistake; and they may hold that I'm a nut, whose flywheel backward goes, because I roam around my hut when other men repose. But while I do not bother them, and they don't bother me, our joint existence is a gem, a thing replete with glee. I used to rise at five o'clock, just as I'm doing now; and I would whistle, sing and talk, and holler at the cow. I wanted all the world to know that I had left my bed; and all the world would rise and throw steel bootjacks at my head. I used to see the windows rise in all the houses near, and angry men, with drooping eyes, would throw the knock-knocks near. And bricks would hit me as I sat beneath my tree and vine they often spoiled my Sunday hat and telescoped my spine. This happened often and again, until my lid was wrecked; and so I learned that other men have rights I must respect.

Dominion Happenings of Other Days

THE INDIAN'S HONOR.

Indians in the old days had a very keen sense of bravery and honor. They were merciless in their treatment of the coward whether he was a white or one of their own. They honored bravery even in the worst enemy. Frequently they executed cowards at once, for the actions of such were considered a disgrace to the whole tribe. When, for instance, in 1848 the Bersantines returned after a victorious assault on the enemy, Binchwat, one of their number, acted while the fight was on the part of the warrior. The warriors upon their return were given a wonderful reception by the old men, women and children at the camp. They gathered around the warrior and nearer to him, until they reached where he sat. Then Piezaret, the chief of the tribe, stalked into the circle.

"By your cowardice in front of the enemy you have disgraced us all. You must die."

That was all he said, but the verdict of the tribe had been rendered and there was no appeal. The sentence was carried out at once. The festivities stopped instantly and the warrior and his wife were gathered around the victim and the executioner. An ominous silence, like a pall, enveloped all. Without a word the coward rose from the log on which he sat, and the breast and the war chief struck. The body was carried away outside the camp and the feast went on with no more interruption. All but the father and the brothers of the disgraced man spent the night in feasting and revelry.

This was the swift and terrible punishment meted out for cowardice and treachery—the two things most despised by the wild, untutored red man of the bush. Death was even the portion of a brave who failed to prevent two of his warrior friends from falling the victim of an enemy scalping knife; he must risk his life for any grave of the tribe—dead.

THE CARVING.

(Rev. James B. Dallard, Litt. D., in Canadian Freeman.)

Two blocks of marble lay upon the ground, unshaped, unpolished. One the builder placed within the wall, away from view, and secured its rough lines. The other block—

Less fortunate at first its fate appeared—for it was mauled and broken, scarred and crushed. By hammer, wheel and chisel, till it seemed To groan in torture. But the builder still endured that fierce attrition; when at length, A miracle behold!—the formless stone became a thing of wondrous pulchritude, Combining grace and symmetry, and decked With living leaf and frond! And this is the place of the winter we endure. A matchless Capital in glory grand Sustaining a great temple's portico.

So is it in life. The meager souls Do suffer less; but those of nobler mold, The genius and the artist consecrate, Are tried by fire, and all the blows of fate Embarrass them. Yet, should they well endure, Hatred, neglect, and scorn, they may enjoy High place in God's own shrine of deathless fame.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Reason Enough.

The Girl—Why on earth does the orchestra always make that din in this restaurant?

The Man—To drown the cries of complaint of the diners when they see their bills—London Opinion.

Hair-Raising.

Customer—Why do you keep telling me all these horrible murder stories?

Barber—Well, you see, sir, I find they help me a lot by making your hair stand on end.—Passing Show (London).

A Funny Ship.

An Eastern man who went to California last winter was addressing a church gathering there when he committed a Spoonerism worthy of the old doctor himself. Intending in his speech to introduce the term "sun-kissed," he began, "Only those who come, like myself, from the bitter cold mid-winter in the East can really appreciate what it is to be in this wonderful sun-kissed country."—Boston Transcript.

Tough Luck.

First Clerk—Poor old Billings is in a quandary.

Second Clerk—Having trouble at home?

First Clerk—None. He doesn't know whether to tell the office bunch about the cute sayings of his kid or whether to tell them of the new golf stroke he's discovered.

Safety First.

Sportsman—Did you ever see such atrocious luck? That's the fifteenth bird I've missed today.

Old Gamekeeper—No, sir, I think you're wrong. It's the same bird you've been firing at all along. The artful old beggar's been hanging around you for safety's sake.

HOW "THE WORLD" GOT "TITANIC" STORY.

Ex-Editor, in Autobiography, shows Need of Being There When "Hell Breaks Loose"

It was "having a reporter on hand when hell broke loose" on the Atlantic Ocean that gave the New York Evening World a notable news beat. At least that is the way the "scoop" is described by Charles E. Chapin, who for over twenty years was city editor of the World. The facts are given in Chapin's book just published by Putnam called "Charles Chapin's Story."

A few days before the Titanic crashed into an iceberg a reporter for Mr. Pulitzer's paper in St. Louis, the Post-Dispatch, called to see me. He was talking a vacation and was to sail the next morning for Italy. I chatted with him just long enough, to learn that he was going to the Carpathia of the Cunard Line.

"When news of the Titanic disaster was flashed into our office one morning and with it the information that the Carpathia had come to her rescue I instantly thought of the Post-Dispatch reporter and sent him a wireless to prepare a complete story and I would meet complete account in the Post-Dispatch."

"Before sunrise the next morning several of the Evening World's reporters accompanied me to Sandy Hook on the fastest tug in the harbor and we sat all day in the tower of the wireless station waiting for the Carpathia to show up. It was night when she entered Ambrose Channel. Our tug steamed alongside and when we shouted through a megaphone for the Post-Dispatch man he dropped a bundle of manuscript, tied to a life preserver, into my outstretched arms.

"There were a dozen columns of a brilliant detail of heroism; of wives refusing to separate from husbands who were denied a place in the life-boats; of brave men who perished that women and children might be saved; of the Titanic's commander who swam to a lifeboat with a child in his arms and deliberately swam away to a grave beneath the sea.

"The tugboat nearly burst her boilers racing at full speed to the Battery that she might get to the office with our story. Newsboys were crying the extras through out the city before the Carpathia was at her dock.

"Besides giving the Evening World a splendid beat over all its rivals, the story of the Post-Dispatch man brought enabled the Morning World to have a complete account in the edition that goes to other cities, while the other morning papers were many hours in gathering a comparatively fragmentary story from survivors and news after the Carpathia had been docked.

"Ralph Pulitzer, who inherited a gift of liberality, presented the Post-Dispatch man with a thousand dollars in cash that night and authorized him to double the time allotted for his vacation abroad. I don't think I did things to secure the boat, he rewarded me almost as generously.

THE THIRD EIGHT HOURS.

(The Three Partners.)

Eight hours for work, eight hours for sleep, and eight hours for—what?

One-third of each day, one-third of life is at the disposal of every one, with a reasonable freedom of choice as to what shall be done with it.

How few of us realize that there is a gold mine in our possession ready to be worked.

Of course wisdom requires that a certain part of this third eight hours of the twenty-four be given to recreation and a considerable part of it is naturally devoted to home affairs and the family circle. But even then there will be an appreciable amount of time to be made special use of, if one watches out for it and doesn't let it slip by unimproved.

Suppose there is a minimum of an hour, every day, available. What should be done with it? How can it be turned to advantage? How can this hour be made sixty golden minutes?

The answer is largely an individual one depending upon many circumstances. Thought, however, can be profitably given to the problem and the time should be used in a definite way which will broaden our vision and extend our knowledge, thus increasing our value and power as members of the human family.

THE IGNORANT BALLOT.

(Canadian Finance.)

In these days when practically every person over twenty-one years of age is entitled to vote, there is grave danger in the lack of knowledge of public affairs which prevails in this country. Half-baked ideas are thrust before the electors, smooth-tongued orators come forward and champion them and before the people are aware of the fact they are saddled with bare-brained schemes which subsequently are to be abandoned. On the other hand, well thought out proposals, the adoption of which would be of inestimable benefit to the people, are often rejected when put to the vote because the voters have insufficient knowledge of the matters voted upon.

These are everyday occurrences which reflect seriously upon the public spirit-ness of the Canadian people. There must be a reason. The art of public speaking is not a lost art, despite opinions to the contrary. The ability to address an audience and mould its opinion is still within the reach of man.

Men do sway public opinion from a public platform and the majority of our elections are won as a result of the ability of candidates to create a good impression as platform men. Our electors take candidates at their face value with the result that we often elect "talkers" elected to office instead of "doers." It is a well known fact that capable Prominent at the opening of the War Service Memorial Club, Toronto, was Miss Madeline Jaffray, Galt, Ont., who went overseas in 1915 and was seriously wounded at Adenkirke, Belgium, on the first bombing of a hospital by Germans. She has been awarded the Croix de Guerre, the first woman to obtain this honor in the great war, French Service Medal, the American War Service Medal, and the Esigalia in Bronze for distinguished service at the front. She is now engaged in social work.

TIBETANS NEVER BURY BODIES OF THE DEAD.

To bury bodies in the earth is to contaminate them, is the Tibetan view, according to Rev. D. F. McGillicuddy, pastor of St. Stephen's church, of Worcester, Mass., who penetrated this forbidden country in 1906.

Instead of burying their dead they slice the flesh from all bodies and feed it to the birds. After skilfully cutting away the flesh they pulverize the bones and feed them to the vultures.

The temples used by these people for centuries are still standing. In front of many of them are stumps of trees covered with butter, in which devotees stick their offerings of coals.

Tibet is peopled by a branch of the Mongolian race. The 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 population are a mixture of Chinese and Tibetans, as the races intermarried. They believe in both polyandry and polygamy.

It is the most extensive elevated country in the world, containing 750,000 square miles, with an elevation varying from 3,000 to 14,000 feet. Its climate is principally bleak and cold, although the summers in the southern part are mild and pleasant.

The first white man to enter Lhasa, the capital, was Sir Francis Younghusband, who fought his way there in 1904.

Dalai Lama, religious head of the Buddhist faith, which is the national religion, was so overcome by the fact that infidels had trodden the streets of the forbidden city, that he fled the country, and was for many years a wanderer in northern China.

FOR EDUCATION IN MANAGEMENT

Colleges to Turn Out Trained Executives

Project Backed by Corporation Capitalized at Billion — War Organization Carrying Work Into Peace Times — The Plan.

New York, Sept. 26—A course in "management education" to provide a sufficient number of properly trained executives for the industries of the United States is to be established in a majority of the 620 American colleges...

The plan, an outgrowth of a convention attended by representatives of industry and colleges in Philadelphia last March, is backed by corporations representing capitalization of $20,000,000,000. It is the result, Dr. Godfrey said, of these two factors coming to a definite working agreement for the first time through the establishment of the Council of Management Education...

The Council of Management Education, which has been formed, it was said, to become "a clearing house for all industrial and educational matters in the country, to promote the mutual understanding of the mutual problems of industry and the college and to keep perpetual inventory of the educational needs of industry and of the ability of the colleges to meet these needs..."

An annual appropriation of $100,000, entirely born by American industry, has been made to carry on its work which has been divided into two classes: First, to determine the field of service which each college can cover, and, second, to provide the college with all industrial data which may be utilized in forming undergraduate courses for men contemplating entering industry...

All of the courses and scholastic recommendations, it was said, will be passed upon jointly by the Council of Management Education and the American Council of Education before being forwarded to the institutions of learning. Within one year, it is estimated 1000 colleges will have included the extension industrial courses and all will be provided with the industrial material upon which to base undergraduate work.

The council, according to Dr. Godfrey, is the only war organization which has carried operations into time of peace. Nearly all the educators back of the movement served in the Council of National Defence. When the armistice was signed these men decided that the educational knowledge gathered during the war at an expenditure of millions of dollars should not be lost...

In the most extensive industrial survey ever made, executives of 250 of the largest corporations in America agreed that increased production, decreased cost, increased stability and increased incentive were the most important needs. The convention in Philadelphia last Spring met to discuss these needs. It was agreed by both college presidents and executives of America's industries that the needs of industry can be met only through proper education and plans were made for the formation of the permanent Council of Management Education.

While the majority of American industries are represented on the council, those having members on the executive committee are the railroads, public utilities, oil, textiles, mining, rubber, leather and shoes, paper, machinery and metals and cotton finishings.

The executive members of the council appointed to represent their industrial group are as follows: (Railroads) A. W. Gibbs, Chief Mechanical Engineer, Pennsylvania Railroad; (Paper) Colonel B. A. Franklin, Vice President, Stratmore Paper Co.; (Public Utilities) H. B. Shaw, Educational Director, H. L. Doherty Company; (Shoes and Leather) Fred B. Rice, President, Rice & Hutchins; (Mining) J. Park Channing, Mining Engineer; (Machinery and Metals) Frederick H. Payne, Greenfield Tap and Die Company; (Rubber) Dr. R. S. Quinby, Service Manager, Hood Rubber Company; (Cotton Finishing) J. K. Milliken, President, Mt. Hope Finishing Company; (Textiles) Albert Bigelow, Ludlow Manufacturing Associates.

The educational group includes, besides Dr. Godfrey and Dr. Capen, Dr. Frank Graves, Dean of the school of Education, University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Charles Tilden, Professor of Engineering Mechanics, Yale University; Dr. David Pennant, Professor of Biology, Bryn Mawr College; Dr. Leigh Reid, Professor of Mathematics, Haverford College; C. L. Ryanson, Professor of Engineering Administration, Drexel Institute.

The American Council of Education has appointed the following committee as a permanent body to co-operate with the Council of Management Education: Dr. Capen, chairman; Dr. Charles R. Mann, chairman of the Advisory Board Educational Training of the general staff, War Department; Frederick L. Bishop, Dean, Engineering School, University of Pittsburgh; Park R. Kolbe, President Municipal University of Akron; Raynold Hughes, President Miami University.

THE NEW MEXICO

(Montreal Herald.) The fact that Mexico has just held a presidential election, and chosen a chief magistrate in a peaceful and constitutional manner, is reassuring. The character and policies of President-elect Obregon give promise of a brighter future for the republic. A new order of statesmen is apparently at the helm. Acting President de la Huerta must have exercised rare self-restraint and patriotism to resist the manifest and powerful temptation to use his office to put himself at the head of government.

The Mexicans fully realize that they must have outside co-operation to develop the immense natural resources of their country. It is badly in need of help after a decade of disturbances and revolution. The new government's programme which is believed to have the support of public opinion, includes a request to the United States for a loan of $75,000,000. That money, if obtained, is to be expended in working out three major problems: Reorganization of the banking system; reorganization of transportation, including rehabilitation of both railways and merchant marine; giving work to the unemployed, especially to those who have served under the various revolutionary factions. The sooner an economic improvement is attained the sooner a complete stability will be brought about. The reconstruction of Mexico, with American and British assistance, will in the end eliminate unrest and restore law and order. Internal reforms, educational, industrial, political and social, have been promised.

In the matter of concessions, in which foreigners are chiefly interested, the new government will make no attempt to abrogate vested interests. The government desires that the owners of oil lands shall reevaluate their titles and subsoil rights under Mexican legislation. It is said to be more than willing to meet the oil interests half way. One of the troubles of recent years seems to have been that the oil interests, unlike the mining interests, have been playing politics.

President de la Huerta was recently asked by foreign representatives if he considered the Bolsheviks in Mexico at present dangerous, or affiliated with the labor unions, and replied that organized labor had repudiated the doctrines of Bolshevism. Personally he considered the Bolsheviks in Mexico as so many idlers looking for easy money.

It looks as if Mexico is at last entering on an era of greater development, now that a solid government has been established. The pacification of the republic will be greatly assisted if the United States formally recognizes the new regime. Uncle Sam is tacitly acknowledged by other countries as the international guardian of the rights of foreigners in Mexico.

CHARLTON-SINCLAIR. In Calgary, on Tuesday, September 14, at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. H. H. Bingham, pastor of the First Baptist church, Miss Jessie R. Sinclair was united in marriage with Everett C. Charlton of Edmonton, son of the late W. H. Charlton and Mrs. Charlton of St. John. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss C. Sinclair, while A. B. Peacock supported the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Charlton will make their home in Edmonton.

KILLED BY A HAIR PIN. London, Eng., Sept. 27.—While riding on a box of a motorcycle, Bertha Lawley, 22 was thrown off. She struck on her head and a hair pin penetrated her brain, causing instant death.

STEEL STRIKE ENQUIRY.

(Christian Guardian.) The steel strike last year in the United States called the nation's attention most forcibly to the conditions prevailed in the great steel industry. In regard to these conditions there were diverse reports. The heads of the Steel Corporation insisted that while these conditions were not ideal they were at least good and the very best possible under present conditions. On the other hand there were reports of a twelve-hour day and of seven days a week. The International World Movement had its attention attracted to the care, and despite opposition it appointed a commission of investigation. That commission at once got to work, held open sessions in Pittsburgh during the strike, called in a staff of trained workers, secured all the information it possibly could, and spent four months in the task. And recently it published its report, a most voluminous document, but one which had attracted widest attention. It finds that conditions in the steel industry are "materially worse" than in 1910. The huge Steel Corporation acts without conference with its employees, it discharges men for joining a labor union, it uses black lists, rights of free speech are limited, there is extreme congestion and unsanitary living conditions in the steel districts, 70 per cent of the 191,000 men work more than eight hours a day, and 62 per cent work twelve hours. In the Pittsburgh district, far the greatest department in the industry, there is an average of 82 hours a week, or practically a seven-day week of twelve hours a day. The unskilled laborers, some with families of ten, get $1,835 a year, and the semi-skilled get $1,777. We have cases of 200 families living in sixty-one houses; and one bed is used all day in eight-hour shifts. The commission found nothing to warrant the claim that Bolshevism was the cause of the strike. The strike resulted from the fact that the minds of the workers were in a state of "chronic rebellion," and the explanation lies in the facts which have been adduced. The commission consisted of such men as Bishop McConnell, Dr. D. A. Poling, George W. Coleman, Dr. John McDowell, and Bishop Charles Williams. Such a report by such a commission should mean an immediate improvement in the state of affairs. The matter has received widest attention and will no doubt be duly ventilated in congress. Evidently the heads of Steel Corporation were misinformed as to the facts of their own business, but this case not relieve them from the responsibility for these facts. If they did not know the conditions, they certainly ought to have known them.

TO "FIRE" DOG SLEUTHS. New York, Sept. 27.—Unless the "dog cops" show improvement as burglar catchers they will be relieved, says Police Commissioner Enright. He declares there is no record to show they have aided the department, although there is a "legend" that one once caught a thief.

NEW DRY AGENT WORKS IN SILENCE

Makes His Liquor Raids
Without "Fireworks"

Frank L. Boyd, New Federal Commissioner of New York, Reverses Tactics of Office — Receiving Many
"Tips."

(New York Evening Post.)
Prohibition enforcement commissioner has a policy all his own. Long Jim Shevlin had his—a sort of come-right-in, sit-down, what-can-we-do-for-you. I'm here to tell you anything you want to know policy. Shevlin and his policy have gone their way—to Texas and a new commissioner with a new policy reigns in their stead.
The new commissioner is Frank L.
Boyd and the new policy is—silence.
Whatever plans Mr. Boyd may have in mind, whatever changes he proposes to make in the personnel and methods inherited from his predecessor, whatever new wrinkles he intends to introduce into the difficult task of driving the illicit liquor traffic out of New York, Mr.
Boyd is not saying. That he has plans, that he is going to try out some ideas of his own, that he expects to succeed in what has come to be regarded as pretty nearly the hardest one-man job in New York—all that is granted. But he is not going to talk about these things in advance.

"Why spout what chances we have of success by talking about it?" asked Mr.
Boyd when urged to discuss his plans today. "What we need in this business is secrecy. The less we say the better.
Enforcing the prohibition law is a business just like everything else. That's the way I look at it. If you want to know how the business is going just call at the Federal building any morning and see how many cases of violation are brought into court. That's the best way to tell whether this office is attending to business or not. Don't expect me to talk about what we are doing or are going to do. Judge us by the results. I'll be satisfied to let the results do the talking.

Without Fireworks.

"We are going right ahead, smoothly, quietly, without setting off any fireworks and we are going to get results. In the past few days"—Mr. Boyd is just completing his first week as commissioner here—"we have cleaned up thirty or forty of the worst holes in this city.

There has been no commotion or hullabaloo about it. We have simply check-ed up the information that has come to us, obtained the necessary warrants and then stepped in and made the arrests and seizures."

"Where were these thirty or forty places you mention?" Mr. Boyd was asked.

"Why, all over the city," he replied.
"Some of them right in the very heart of the city. Only the other night our men closed up several places in the Greenwich Village section."

Mr. Boyd said he was receiving a steady stream of complaints from outside sources—complaints, that is, about place-suspected of violating the law. As many as 300 or 400 of these come to him every day in the mail.

Gets Many "Tips."

"We follow up every one of these," he said. "A lot of them, most of them, in fact, prove worthless, but we make it never to turn down any possible suggestion or lead. Sometimes a person who has a grudge against another will write in to say that the latter is breaking the law. He does it just to make trouble. We have to investigate all these cases. It takes a good deal of time, but in the long run the tips we get from the public are too valuable for us to ignore. We are sure to get some good ones among them."

This last statement came as somewhat of a shock to one accustomed to the Shevlin theory that the chief trouble with prohibition enforcement in this city was the lack of assistance which his department was getting from the public.
When Mr. Boyd was told of this he merely smiled.

Commissioner Boyd spoke with evident pride of the vast quantity of liquor that had been seized in this city since national prohibition went into effect eight months ago. He said there was now fully $1,- 000,000 in wines and liquors which had been taken from violators by government agents. All of this is being kept in storage, he said, in the Knickerbocker warehouse on First street. As to what will ultimately be done with it, neither Mr.
Boyd nor anybody else seems to know.

Incidentally, Mr. Boyd told of one way to get liquor from his office—but it is not likely to become popular. It happened last Friday morning, the day after the explosion in Wall street. The head nurse and an attendant from the Broad Street Hospital called at Mr.
Boyd's office in the customs house and told him there were 100 patients at the hospital who needed a stimulant.

The hospital supply had been exhausted. To get more, under the strict regulations of the Volstead law, would take time. Time was precious. Could Mr. Boyd help them? There is always a certain amount of hard liquor lying about the prohibition enforcement squad premises.
Mr. Boyd took a hasty inventory and found he had a case or two of the finest whiskey—goods that had been seized in a recent raid. He communicated at once with District Attorney Caffery's office and explained the extraordinary situation. In less time than it takes to tell it the district attorney gave his consent. A gallon or more of the forbidden lever-
gallon or more of the forbidden lever-gallon and within half an hour after the call had been received the desired stimulant was being administered to the injured and dying. But it took one of the greatest disasters in years to do it.

WINDING UP CREDITS

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

The winding up of Canadian credits to countries on the European Continent is likely to occur this autumn. This means that, so far as the Dominion government is concerned, conditions of trade return to normal, and Canadian manufacturers and exporters will have to make their own credit arrangements, if such are necessary. In view of the very adverse rate of exchange, the decision may be regretted in some quarters, but orders, under the credits, have not been forthcoming, and a large amount of authorized credit still remains unused.

The government credits aggregated $157,000,000, of which only $65,000,000 has been utilized by the various Allied nations. Rumania used about $20,000,- 000; Greece, $7,120,000; Italy $6,000,000;
France, $5,500,000; Belgium, $1,772,000, and Britain (for timber), $23,400,000.

Outside of timber, much of the credit was utilized for foodstuffs. Greece and Rumania took a large quantity of foodstuffs, however, and the fame of Canadian industry has become well established in Southeastern Europe. But these countries have magnificent crops and are so far back on their economic feet that they do not need to turn overseas for foodstuffs or other products. Britain and France are now better able to supply the needs of Europe.
The virtual cessation of new business coming to Canada from Continental Europe—excepting special lines independent of government credits—has in effect wound up most of the activity of what remains of the Canadian Trade Commission in London.

But Canadians should not take philosophically the loss of all Continental European business. With costs so high in British factories, there are many lines we might continue to market there, if the exchange difficulty can be overcome.
Our export trade in general is holding up well. Owing to high prices in so many lines of manufacture in Canada, considerable public opposition has been manifested toward government credits to assist further exportation—until prices come down—but if good business offers, on good terms, Canadians would be acting against their own interests if they do not work hard to get it.

considerable nuisance from sewage and

The parish of Lancaster will at an early date commence installing a new sewer be 210 feet in length and is planned to replace the old sewer which lacks suffisewage from the school.

An electro-pneumatic communicating signal system for use on trains in Canada company incorporated in Maine has been formed to handle the patent, and among the officers are George E. Davies, of De-new device is expected to eliminate many wrecks and make longer trains possible.

Wide as it is, Lancaster avenue, near the military hospital, was not wide enough late yesterday afternoon for the driver of an automobile, who when he tried to pass a horse and carriage coming from the opposite direction, struck the horse, slightly injuring it, tearing off one of its shoes and damaging the harness. The occupants of the carriage, two in number, and two persons in the motor car escaped injury. The carriage was driven by A. Anderson of the customs marine service. When the occupants of the automobile jumped out of the machine, the car was left in gear and darted off the highway into a field, where it struck a stump. One of the damps of the stump it ran into a tree, but was eventually replaced on the highway under its own power.

IMPORTANT WORD RE ROADS

The Westfield and Spruce Lake Highways

Statement of Interest Made by B. M. Hill, Provincial Road Engineer—Roads Fine When Work Completed.

Some important information concerning the Westfield and Spruce Lake roads was given to The Times this morning by B. M. Hill, provincial road engineer. The provincial engineer pointed out that these two roads were let out by contract under the agreement between the provincial government and the federal government. The successful contractor was the New Brunswick Contracting Company. Very good progress has been made, considering the scarcity of labor and the labor situation. The Spruce Lake section is completed as regards grading. Many bad curves have been reduced, and others eliminated by revisions of the old road. The gravel surfacing should be completed by the first of November.

The material available for this work is an excellent road material, carrying a sufficient percentage of clay binder to make the same pack readily under traffic and give a finished surface in a short time. Where new road is being built the work will undoubtedly settle and make an uneven surface. This will be remedied next spring by the frost action, which will completely settle the road, and with a very little log-dragging give a smooth, hard surface.

Westfield Road.

With reference to the Westfield road, automobile owners have experienced considerable inconvenience due to the material which is being used for gravel surfacing. This material, while excellent for road surface, contains very little binder and is continually unravelling under the heavy automobile traffic. This material will give a most excellent road surface when compacted, and the road allowed to pass over the road at all, sometimes for an entire season, and diversions are made over the by-roads which sometimes take travelers many miles out of their way to get over a short stretch of road. However, we hear very few complaints from Maine automobile owners on this account. Between Musquash and Houlton, where road work is being done this season, there is nine miles of road diversion to avoid four miles of construction, and many of the Maine automobile owners are using the New Brunswick road via Woodstock.

Gravelling on the Westfield road will be completed this season with the exception of possible road revisions, and after the spring's frost action has thoroughly settled the foundation and compacted the gravel surface the general public will certainly be pleased with the completed road. It is a well known fact that a road under construction never settles the first season, and where a heavy gravel surface of six inches is being put on the road, it cannot be compacted until the frost action binds the surface together. In some cases where very fine surfacing is used, or the surfacing has sufficient clay binder, it will compact so as to make a fairly smooth road in a short time under traffic, but the final road surface will not give as durable a road or as smooth a riding road.

DINE AT LOCH LOMOND; PLAN WORK IN SPORT

Business Men Combine Discussion of Arrangements with Pleasant Outing.

On Saturday afternoon at 2.30 a party of twenty-five business men went by motor car to Loch Lomond and there held a Y. M. C. A. business men's reorganization outing. The party went in four automobiles owned by G. L. Warwick, Dr. F. T. Dunlop, Ralph Stephenson and J. Hunter White. Upon arrival at Johnston's Hotel the party split into sections and began a game of basketball. One team was headed by L. C. Goodge and the other by G. A. Margatz. At the end of the ninth inning the score stood 22-22. The game was continued and the combination captained by Mr. Goodge was victorious by the score of 25-22. J. C. Henderson was conspicuous. Rev. R. T. McKim pitched a good game for the winner and received excellent support from his teammates.

At the conclusion of the game the players retired within the hotel where an excellent moose dinner was served, to which simple justice was done. After dinner business was taken up and G. L. Warwick, president of the board of directors, took the chair. Fraser Hewitson was elected chairman of the executive committee composed of six captains of volley ball teams, with which are associated other duties. The captains and the duties assigned to them are: G. A. Margatz, basketball; T. H. Guy, finance; L. C. Goodge, social; F. T. Barbour, bowling; King Hazen, transportation; Dr. E. J. Ryan, entertainment. The matter of boxing and wrestling was brought up by Dr. Dunlop, and it was decided that these should be promoted. A long discussion upon the volley ball rules ensued in which King Hazen, Thomas Guy G. A. Margatz and Fraser Hewitson took part. The question was whether it was better for players to rest in one position on the team or to rotate. The outcome was that a resolution was passed instructing the committee to inquire from outside teams what their attitude would be in match games should the St. John team decide to play set positions. The final decision was left in the hands of the committee of captains. The gathering was a successful one from every standpoint and all indications point to a bumper season.

Ever Hear of a Burglar-Proof House?

There is a residence in a certain city that a famous wag once declared was the only burglar proof house in town. Asked just what was meant by this, it was explained that the rooms were so small the occupants would have to come out before the burglar could get in.

Since that house was erected we have learned a lot about building, and small bedrooms are no longer popular. True there are quite a number of the old houses yet standing, and it is quite as impossible to properly arrange in their rooms a complete modern bedroom suite, consisting of one large double bed (or twin beds as preference may be), a dressing table, chiffonette and dresser, as it would be to seat ten people in a seven-passenger car.

If you have the large rooms we congratulate you. If you haven't then let us furnish the smaller apartments in the most attractive and proper way: A bed, chiffonette and dressing table; these three, with the smaller pieces, bench, chair and rocker, make an excellent combination, and we have many beautiful designs to show.

Bring your furnishing problems to St. John's educational furniture store. We can help you while you are helping us. It is a co-operative proposition, pure and simple.

HON. C. W. ROBINSON IS APPOINTED MINISTER OF LANDS AND MINES

Premier Foster announced last evening that Hon. Clifford W. Robinson had been offered and had accepted the portfolio of lands and mines recently made vacant by the resignation of Hon. Dr. Smith. Hon. Mr. Robinson has been a member of the Foster cabinet without portfolio since its formation in 1917. The news of the appointment will give keen satisfaction all over the province because Mr. Robinson is one of the outstanding public men of the day. The new minister was born in Moncton and represents that constituency in the legislature. His father was candidate for Westmorland county on two occasions. He is one of the leading lawyers of the province. In 1896 he contested Westmorland county against H. A. Powell, K. C., and was defeated by fifteen votes. Less than a year later he was elected to the legislature by acclamation in a by-election and re-elected in the general elections of 1899 and 1903. He was elected speaker of the third assembly, Feb. 23, 1901, and of the fourth on March 26, 1903. In 1907 he was made a member of the executive council without portfolio in the government led by Hon. William Pugsley and a few weeks later became provincial secretary, being returned by acclamation on his appeal to his constituency. On May 31, 1907, he was called to the premiership on the resignation of Hon. Mr. Pugsley and was re-elected at the general elections in March, 1910. His party having been defeated, however, he resigned the premiership on March 20, 1917, and upon the formation of the Foster cabinet on April 4, 1917, he was taken into the government without portfolio. Hon. Mr. Robinson will be sworn in as minister of lands and mines within a few days, on the return of the lieutenant-governor, who is now absent.

HON. C. W. ROBINSON, who is to be sworn in soon as minister of lands and mines.

York Convention Chooses Four Good Candidates

Fine Gathering in Government Interests—The Opposition Choice in York—Kent Farmer Candidates.

Fredericton, Sept. 25.—The provincial government party in York county on Saturday afternoon nominated a strong ticket to contest the county in the present campaign at a convention which has never been surpassed in the history of the county. The nominees are: Coun. John T. Christie, Keswick, farmer. Coun. Frank Coburn, Harvey, farmer. Peter S. Watson, Devon, merchant. J. Bacon Dickson, Fredericton, barrister.

The convention, which was held in the Knights of Pythias hall, Fredericton, and every town and parish of the county with the exception of two remote parishes was represented. It was also marked by the presence of the first woman delegate to a Liberal convention in York county, Mrs. L. C. Morrison, of Queensbury. The ticket nominated Saturday goes into the election with a solid party behind it bent upon placing York county where it was prior to 1908 so far as provincial representation is concerned. The substitution of Charles D. Richards for Dr. W. C. Crockett on the opposition ticket has added no strength to it, it is felt here, and the party for which that ticket stands has lost ground steadily in the last four years. The government ticket gives strong representation to the large agricultural population of the county, two of the four members being farmers. Councillor Christie not only is a farmer, but is a member of the united farmer organization, but one who is opposed to the organization being exploited for the political ambitions of some of its members, believing that its usefulness lies in the promotion of the farmers co-operatively and in other practical ways. Both Councillor Coburn and Councillor Christie won signal victories at the last municipal elections in strong Conservative parishes, and have since given excellent service to the York municipal council. In the parish of Manners Sutton Councillor Coburn defeated a councillor who had held a seat for eighteen years. He also has given excellent service to the public as highway supervisor in his district. In Mr. Watson, the government ticket has one of the most progressive of the younger merchants of the county. His connection with the Fredericton Park Association and the maritime and Maine harness racing circuit has made him well known throughout the province. He also has taken a prominent place in the York county Commercial Club. J. Bacon Dickson, the Fredericton man on the ticket, is prominent among the younger members of the bar of the province. He has held the office of clerk assistant of the legislative assembly and performed its duties in a manner which won the approbation of all members of the legislature, irrespective of party affiliations. He is the son of the late J. Howe Dickson, of this city, formerly of Albert county, for many years clerk of the executive council of the province. He has taken a prominent part in the activities of a number of local organizations.

A. H. Yanwart, chairman of the York County Association, presided. He outlined the purpose of the convention and gave a few remarks on the general political conditions in the province and the necessity of returning the Foster administration to power. Scandals of Old Government. P. J. Hughes, to whose work in connection with the investigations of the various scandals which attended the Conservative administration in New Brunswick had been referred to by the chairman, addressed the convention, outlining the exposures of political rotteness which have taken place both before and after the defeat of the Conservative party in this province and emphasizing the necessity of keeping out of power the party which had been guilty of such maladministration. Mr. Hughes mentioned the various items to the credit of the Foster government, notably the agricultural policy, improved highways, the public health act and particularly the hydro-electric development scheme by which power from Shogomoc Falls in this county will be available for the various communities. He and his colleagues on the ticket of 1917 had been urged again to carry the standard, but had decided that they should hand it over to others. Confidence in Government. He then moved a resolution of confidence in the Foster government, which was seconded by J. J. F. Winslow. The latter, seconding the resolution, spoke particularly with regard to the excellence of the present administration in the matter of increasing the stumpage rate from $1.50 to $5 and in the proper collection of the stumpage. The opposition had laid great stress on the fact that the Foster government had more money to spend than its predecessor, but that money was secured by an honest, energetic development of existing sources of revenue. The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote. On the motion of P. J. Hughes, seconded by Councillor E. H. Allen of Marysville, it was decided to nominate four candidates and a nominating committee of one delegate for each town and parish and each polling division of Fredericton was appointed and withdrew. While the nominating committee was absent the convention heard a stirring address by R. W. McLellan in which he said that the change of leaders made by the opposition could hardly be expected to improve the outlook for that party. He also commented upon the retirement of Dr. W. C. Crockett from the opposition ticket and the nomination of B. F. Smith of Carleton county, as an independent. These incidents showed the difficulties in which the Opposition found itself. J. J. F. Winslow, reported for the committee to the effect that the names of P. J. Hughes and W. P. Lawson, both of whom had been members of the ticket in 1912, had been placed before the committee but both had declined nomination, much to the regret of the committee. He then named the candidates, the nomination being received with applause. R. W. McLellan moved the nomination of the candidates, seconded by Colonel W. J. Osborne. The nomination was passed by unanimous vote. Speeches of acceptance were made by all the candidates. Mr. Dickson spoke at greater length than the others, taking up the issues of the campaign and the excellent administration record of the Foster government. The government defeated in 1912 had made the name of New Brunswick a by-word for corruption, dishonesty and intrigue so far as its political life was concerned. A new era had dawned when the Foster administration took office. W. G. Clark of Fredericton, a prominent member of the New Brunswick temperance alliance, addressed the convention. He dealt with the matter of holding a referendum upon the question of importation of liquor into the province. The legislature at the last session had voted twenty to eighteen against the resolution for such referendum. He did not wish to see any candidates of the Foster government handicapped and he personally wanted that government returned to power, but he feared that there would be a handicap on such candidates as would oppose such a referendum.

When Coffee begins to play pranks with your nerves or digestion, quit coffee ten days, drinking POSTUM in its place. There's a Reason.

A. A. Sterling said that the Alliance was going too far. He did not approve of candidates being throttled. The Alliance had gone so far as to actually publish a demand that candidates pledge themselves to support a resolution for a referendum on the matter mentioned. He considered this an attempt to take legislation out of the hands of representatives of the people and place in the hands of the temperance alliance. It was an unfair demand of any candidate. Norman Hanson suggested that there should be an amendment of the Workers' Compensation Act so as to bring non-resident employers under the provisions of the act. He also said that if the temperance alliance intended to exact pledges from candidates it should go farther and ask for legislation to compel every elector to vote. A fair expression of opinion had not been obtained on the last referendum. W. P. Lawson moved that the matter of the temperance alliance pledge be left to individual candidates and not to the convention. This resolution was passed. On the motion of A. A. Sterling, seconded by Councillor E. H. Allen, a resolution of appreciation of the services of P. J. Hughes in exposing the wrongdoing of the old government was passed. Mr. Hughes replied in a most feeling manner. Frank J. Patterson spoke in support of W. G. Clark's suggestion and said he would support only candidates who would take the alliance pledge. E. C. Barry said that the convention was discussing a subject outside its scope. The alliance was taking an unusual course in having members attend a convention and attempt to have a convention pledge candidates to meet the wishes of the alliance. The proper procedure would be to approach candidates individually. The candidates had not known in advance of nomination and had not time to consider the matter. Adjournment then was made.

Fredericton, Sept. 25.—The Conservatives of York at a well-attended convention at the court house Saturday afternoon nominated as their candidates: Charles D. Richards, of Fredericton; John A. Young, of Taymouth; S. B. Hunter, of Harvey Station, and J. K. Pinder, of Tempenance Vale. The nomination was made on motion of Mayor J. W. Walker, of Marysville, and was unanimous. J. D. Palmer presided at the convention and Charles Dougherty acted as secretary.

Mr. Pinder announced in 1917 that he would not be a candidate at this election, but no other suitable man could be found willing to step into the gap, and he consented to run, no doubt against his better judgment. Mr. Richards takes the place of Dr. W. C. Crockett, of this city, who refused to run again. The balance of the ticket is the same as before. Colonel H. F. McLeod, M. P., federal representative for York-Sunbury, spoke after the four candidates had made speeches of acceptance, in which the provincial government was condemned for heavy expenditure. Colonel McLeod devoted particular attention to the united farmer movement which he characterized as a class movement. Fredericton, Sept. 26.—Hon. P. J. Veniot is to address a meeting at the Opera House here Thursday evening, and will speak the same evening at Marysville.

Kent County Farmers. Rexton, Sept. 26.—The United Farmers' party nomination for the local Legislature in the provincial election, Hon. D. V. Landry, Col. John Sheridan, Buctouche and Councillor David Roach of Acadville for the seats in Kent County. The following extracts from a letter written by a Providence (R. I.) professional gentleman to a friend here makes interesting reading: "I was very much interested during my recent trip to notice the improvements in road conditions generally throughout New Brunswick, and pleased to see that attention was being paid to the Irishtown and Shediac roads. "Twelve years ago I went over both of these roads in a heavy car and found them fairly good county roads, but three years later had difficulty in getting through to Richibucto. My drive over the roads a few weeks ago shows wonderful improvements, and I sincerely trust that the splendid work started will be put through to completion."

REJECT REPORT. Springfield, N. S., Sept. 26.—By a vote of 543 to 3, the miners of this district on Saturday rejected, as a whole, the report of the Royal Commission, which recently investigated the coal mining industry in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. By a vote of 428 to 28, the miners rejected the recommendations of the United Mine Workers' executive. The miners want the increased pay retroactive to May 1, instead of June, as recommended by the U. M. W. executive. More than sixty per cent. of the miners voted.

IMPOSSIBLE FOR BURGLARS TO SILENCE NEW ALARM. On the premises of the Cable Electrical Company a representative of the Westminster Gazette witnessed a demonstration of a new and ingenious burglar alarm system, which has been approved by the leading insurance companies. It is worked by electricity on a method which is of necessity kept secret, and has, in fact, not been patented so as to avoid the printing of specifications. It may be said, however, that the inventors have managed to avoid the use of batteries, which have hitherto not proved completely successful. The system can be used on any voltage and at any pressure.

The alarm consists of a very loud bell, siren or buzzer, or whatever apparatus is desired, in conjunction with a pilot light, which is useful on the large business premises, as the police can then not only hear the alarm but see exactly where the burglary has taken place.

The system can be adapted to whatever part of the premises is most suitable and that wants protection—windows, doors, etc.—and a valuable feature is, although a burglar may cut the wires, he cannot in that way silence the alarm or extinguish the light. The inventor declares, in fact, that a burglar can wreck the whole electrical system and yet be unable to stop the alarm bell.

In connection with the system a useful fire alarm can also be worked by means of a thermometer or thermostat, which operates at a given temperature. The system costs nothing for maintaining, but the inventors ask for a per-iodical inspection. One of the insurance companies, after an official had witnessed a demonstration of the system, wrote: "We are very favorably impressed, and will give a discount on burglary insurance where the householder has taken the precaution to use this system." Other testimonials are on the same lines.

A ROMANCE OF THE NORTH (Toronto Globe)
An Anglican missionary-clergyman Rev. F. Walton, has for many years devoted himself to the spiritual and temporal welfare of the Eskimos who live on the eastern shores of James Bay. In that vast solitude the only white persons he sees are the Hudson Bay Company's officials at widely separated trading posts. To reach civilization entailed a toilsome voyage of three weeks by canoe up the Moose River, and one of its tributaries, a trip to be taken only in the summer months. It was a journey involving so much preparation and so long an absence from the post of duty that Mr. Walton's visits to the outer world were necessarily infrequent.

When Mr. Walton went back a few months ago to his spacious but lonely parish, during which he placed the needs of the Eskimos before many audiences in Ontario, he had no expectation of returning for years. Saturday's newspapers announced that he had arrived in Toronto again, having covered the distance between Moose Fort and Cochrane by airplane in two and a half hours. With close train connections he could have made the entire journey from Moose Fort to Toronto in less than twenty-four hours. The possibilities of man's conquest of the air have seldom been better illustrated in so dramatic a manner. Canada's remotest outposts may be brought in future into almost immediate touch with the frontiers of settlement.

THE FARMERS KEEP BOOKS

When a farmer can find time to keep books there is no excuse for the business man who does not. Twenty-nine thousand Nebraska farmers have obtained college of agriculture farm record books for the purpose of keeping books this year.

The book provides for an annual inventory of all lands, stock, implements, grains, feeds, etc., and for a complete account of all expenditures and receipts. At the end of the year the farmer using the book will know his gross and net incomes, profits and losses on all kinds of stock, crops and other farming operations, and have a record of all expenditures and receipts of the year. Such a record will be of value not only for sentimental reasons, but for determining income tax, as well as a complete record of all business for the year.

Underwriting Industrial Canada

In addition to offering Government and Municipal Bonds, we have for fifteen years been associated with Canadian investors in the financing of forty-three great Canadian industries, employing a capital of many hundreds of millions of dollars.

The products of these industries have been as diverse as grain and telephone, sugar and steel, salt and cement, pulp and paper, cotton and lumber, coal and rubber, railway equipment and hydro-electric power development.

Despite this diversity of product, capital industry has been fundamental to national well-being.

Basic necessity, plus natural resources to fructify it, is the keystone upon which all our corporation financing has been done. This explains the confidence of investors in the security issues that bear our imprint.

THE BUSINESS COLUMN

BE SPECIFIC, TALK NEWS. SELL 'GOODS' SAYS HANLEY

"One of the valuable lessons gained from my forty years' experience in merchandising was a way to have my advertising copy ready on time for the printer," says William M. Hanley, who retired as a merchant recently and bought the Shelburne (Que.) Democrat.

"When I began business here with a hatful of goods and two years' experience as a printer's devil virtually my total capital, I knew that to get any-thing I had to advertise. Being young and almost unknown, I had to advertise in a way that made the people 'stop, look and listen.'"

"I've tried it out under the head of 'Hanley's Column.' Sometimes I'd have a pretty good spread, but often the papers would go to press without my advertising copy ready on time.

"There was a marked falling off of business the weeks I didn't get in, and I decided the only way to log my memory was to keep a record of the copy ready to make a contract for space that I would have to pay for whether I used it or not. No publisher suggested that sort of a deal. In fact when I presented it to one of them he demurred on the ground that it would be an injustice to me."

"But I knew what I was about. If I contracted for the space I'd fill it and fill it right."

"No. I'd hang up the bag on a nail and let the juice drip into a bowl," said the customer.

"Some night the bag will swing and will let the juice drip on the floor instead of in the bowl," said the clerk, and with this she produced a draining hook that could be attached wherever wanted.

"The canner would find the handling of the hot jars much easier if she bought a tray to let in the kettle, was the suggestion of the clerk. One of the trays was produced and sold.

"And she perforated spoon, to drain the vegetables of undesirable moisture?" Another sale.

"What about jellies? Had she a draining hook?"

"No. I'd hang up the bag on a nail and let the juice drip into a bowl," said the customer.

Sells $300,000 in Groceries

Over 31-Foot Counter

From a mere incidental part of the business of E. Rosenwald & Son, Las Vegas, N. M., Gilbert Rosenwald has been largely responsible for a growth in five years of the grocery department to a point where it is certain the 1920 sales will exceed $300,000.

Five years ago the store, which is a department or dry goods establishment far above the average in Las Vegas, got into the grocery business in a big way, largely because the firm believed that in this way it would pull the ranchers' business not only on groceries, but on other lines as well.

In order to interest the ranchers in a dollar's worth, according to the estimate when the department was opened, large circular cut-outs were placed in the newspaper and the same matter was used in newspapers of that section—a Santa Fe newspaper also being used because it circulated out through the state.

Now the average Rosenwald grocery order $5.63. The reason for this is evident when one looks over the orders going out. They do not, as a rule, include single cans of a food, but call for lots of from three in a case. Sugar for instance, is ordered in 25-pound bags.

WOMEN KNOW A LOT ABOUT HANDLING HARDWARE

Just because women can't sling around kegs of nails or trundle out stoves for "buying elsewhere," many hardware store owners do not care much about hiring women as clerks but the Hazelton Hardware Co., of Hazelton, Pa., has several on its staff of salespeople and finds they run up the totals of daily business to a most gratifying extent.

"Watch one in action," said the manager, as a woman entered the store and walked up one of the aisles.

"A certain cooking kettle for cold packs was asked for. The railroad got their usual blast from the saleswoman as she regretted that the store was out of the particular brand of kettle. But there was no "sod iron stuff." Instead, the clerk escorted the patron to a counter where half a dozen lines of canning kettles were on view. In five minutes one was sold and paid for, as the explanation proved satisfactory.

"See," said the manager, "that comes of having a woman to sell goods she knows about. A man would have left that customer slip. But watch her."

Inquiry was progressing at the sales counter concerning the home equipment. The canner would find the handling of the hot jars much easier if she bought a tray to let in the kettle, was the suggestion of the clerk. One of the trays was produced and sold.

"And she perforated spoon, to drain the vegetables of undesirable moisture?" Another sale.

"What about jellies? Had she a draining hook?"

"No. I'd hang up the bag on a nail and let the juice drip into a bowl," said the customer.

MORE COMES OUT RE SCANDAL IN BIG LEAGUE BALL

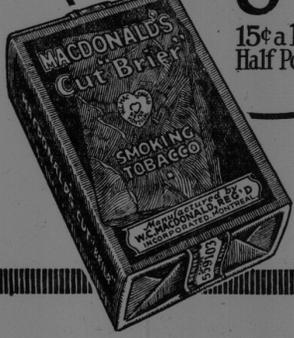

Chicago, Sept. 26—President John Heydler of the National League tonight made public evidence he has gathered in a private investigation of alleged base ball gambling and game "throwing" and declared President Comiskey, Chicago Americans, and Manager Gleason, were convinced after the first world's series games last year that the series had been "fixed" and sought his aid in an investigation. The matter was brought to the attention of President Ban B. Johnson, American League president, but Johnson did not seem very enthusiastic about starting an investigation, Heydler said. Heydler brought the name of Jean Dubuc, former Detroit American League pitcher into the scandal and also gave hitherto unrevealed details of the Hal Chase and Lee Magee cases. Heydler said all of his evidence had been placed at the disposal of President Johnson, but that he did not know whether the latter was making any use of it. President Heydler quoted J. C. (Rube) Benton, New York National League pitcher, as saying Dubuc was the man who received telegrams from Bill Burns, former major league pitcher, telling him that the world series had been fixed and that Benton had received his information from this telegram. Benton told Heydler he had seen Hal Chase make one bet of $100 on the series, Heydler said. Discussing the Magee case, Heydler said he and William Veck, president of the Chicago Nationals, had obtained Magee's confession that he had attempted to throw a game and that Magee had shown them a check sent him by Hal Chase. Helnie Zimmermann also has been accused of throwing games, said Mr. Heydler, but he would neither confirm nor deny reports that Zimmermann was released by the New York Giants for that reason. Reports that Zimmermann was suspended a year ago for trying to throw a game and not for breaking training as was announced were not denied by Mr. Heydler. President Heydler expects to testify before the grand jury Tuesday. He will give it additional evidence which he did not disclose tonight, he said, including a quantity of documentary evidence. Fred McMullin and Buck Weaver, Chicago American players, tonight denied they were implicated in the alleged "throwing" of games in the world series last fall. Reports of evidence given the Cook county grand jury said McMullin had acted as the "go-between" between a ring of gamblers and the Chicago players. It also was said McMullin had taken a small oblong package to Weaver's home after one game and that Weaver, when he came home and found the package refused at first to accept it but finally did keep it. Hartley Replogle, prosecutor in the game and said afterwards he was convinced that "whatever the White Sox may have done in the past they now are fighting their heads off for the pennant." He also said he planned next week to ask telegraph companies to turn over to the jury copies of telegrams sent preceding and during the world's series by Hal Chase, Abe Attell, Bill Burns and Rube Benton.

Dempsey and Sanchez

Negotiations for the proposed championship bout between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and John Sanchez, the so-called Spanish heavyweight champion, are reported beginning to assume concrete form and there is reason to believe that the match may be arranged within the next couple of weeks. Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, announced that he had received another cablegram from Senor Ordapal, the Cuban sportsman, reiterating his offer of a $100,000 guarantee with the privilege of 50 per cent. of the gate receipt for Dempsey. He also stated that he was preparing to leave Havana for New York for a conference which, if successful, would lead to his depositing the full amount of the guarantee. Ordapal stated that this money would be so deposited that Dempsey would be able to collect it twenty-four hours after the bout. The cablegram follows: "Your expenses will be paid by you. Money placed in any New York bank to be paid in cash twenty-four hours after fight. Fight to be held in Havana on second Monday in January. Am leaving for New York soon." "That sounds like business," said Kearns. "I am willing to arrange the bout. If all the terms and conditions are satisfactory. I do not know who Sanchez is but that doesn't make any difference to Dempsey. Jack is willing to fight any one in the world in defense of his title."

Missing Horse Located.
Montreal, Sept. 26.—The Montreal Standard has been authorized to state that the mystery horse Fair and Warner which disappeared from Blue Bonnets track between Tuesday and Wednesday, a week ago has been located within a radius of five miles of Montreal.
Not only that but upon the authority of D. N. Nicholson, of the law firm of Nicholson & Plante, it is permitted to say that the horse will race in Toronto on Tuesday next.
According to Mr. Nicholson one of the main reasons why the horse was taken away was to prevent it from taking part in Tuesday's race, which is for a purse of $5,000.
It seems that Fair and Warner could be returned to its owner at any moment now, but it is considered advisable to delay taking possession of the animal until the three men for whom warrants will be sworn out in connection with its disappearance are apprehended which is expected at almost any time.
Precautions have been taken, however, to see that no injury befalls the horse in the meantime.

SECRET CONVENTION
Meeting of Self Determination League in Toronto Saturday Reported.

Toronto, Sept. 27.—A secret "provincial convention" of the Self-Determination League in Canada was held in this city on Saturday, according to information supplied to the local press today by a delegation from the convention, which they said was attended by 500 delegates.

Delegates to the national convention of the league, which is to be held in Ottawa on Oct. 16 and 17, were appointed at the meeting here on Saturday, and according to the "official" information about Saturday's gathering here, resolutions were passed pledging support to the Irish in Ireland in their "self-determination" campaign, and condemning Mayor Church of this city, the Toronto police, the Orange order and the Melghen government for "brute force" and "intolerance" in connection with their attitude toward the Sinn Fein in Canada.

A few days ago announcement was made that the Toronto police commissioners had decided to prohibit the holding of meetings by the Irish Self-Determination League in this city. No previous announcement of the "provincial convention" was made, and apparently the police were not aware of it.

COSTS FIFTEEN MILLIONS DAY TO KEEP GOING

U. S. Government Expenses Are Very High

Eight Times as Heavy as When War Came - No Relief in Sight - Huge War Machine Still Manned by 100,000 Employees.

Washington, Sept. 25.—With prices generally receding and even the high cost of living checked...

It is costing Uncle Sam something like eight times as much to run his establishment now as it did in 1914...

All appropriations for the current year have been made. They carry up to June 30 next and they aggregate nearly $5,000,000,000—$4,859,890,227 to be exact.

It is costing an average of better than $15,000,000 a working day to run the government now, as compared with but a trifle more than $2,000,000 a day back in 1914...

In fact, on last Thursday the daily statement of the treasury shows disbursements for the single day of $16,796,056. This sum covered only the ordinary disbursements...

Practically all government costs are higher than they were a few years ago, but most of the great expenditures now going forward is due to the continuance of war organization and inability to get the war machine halted...

War Taxes Still Run. War taxes are still running and unless expenditures are brought sharply down they will continue to run.

There is not a single item of government that has not increased in cost, but it is agreed in Washington that the greatest burden is the one directly incident to the war.

The administrative organization in Washington became top heavy, and is still top heavy, with more than 100,000 persons on the government pay roll in a city of little more than half a million.

Services in connection with the Feast of Tabernacles on Sukkoth began last evening at the Jewish synagogue. Today and Tuesday there will be services held both morning and evening and again at the end of the week.

THE FINANCIAL STRENGTH OF THE GERMANS LOWER

(Canadian Press Despatch) Brussels, Sept. 25.—German reports to the financial conference in progress here attribute the present financial condition of the country to the length of the war.

Germany's decline in financial strength is shown clearly by the fact that the national debt of the empire proper, exclusive of those of confederated states, has risen from five billion marks before the war to 240,000,000,000 marks.

The fishing schooner Roseway put into Yarmouth on Saturday with her flag at half mast on account of two of the crew who strayed away from the ship on Friday morning while tending their trawls.

The report also points out that 17,000,000,000 marks were paid by Germany in 1919, according to the terms of the peace treaty, mostly for reparations, and 25,000,000,000 marks have been provided for in the budget of 1920 for the same purpose.

IMPOSING SCENE AT BOY SCOUT JAMBOREE

Baden-Powell Is Proclaimed World's Chief Scout

Picturesque Pageant of Lads from All Corners of Globe - Chief Delivers Stirring Message - All Nations Join in "Auld Lang Syne."

Probably the greatest event in the history of scouting took place at the jamboree held in England last August; but perhaps the greatest of all was the proclamation of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the movement, as "Chief Scout of the World."

The following is an article taken from "Headquarters Gazette." "The Jamboree came to a gorgeous end on Saturday night. In its closing phase, to the moment when the last troop defiled from the arena, this wonderful international rally remained a brilliant spectacle, a symbol of youth triumphant, and goodwill on earth for which the best in all ages have striven.

Enthusiasm, which had marked every stage of the proceedings during the week, grew in intensity as the hour for the breaking up of this vast assembly drew near. For a while the events followed a set programme. There were displays of physical drill, games, camp life, and so on; the cubs gave their final howl, and the last trek cart obstacle race took place.

"Then started the great pageant which was to culminate in Sir Robert Baden-Powell being proclaimed by all nations as Chief Scout of the World. Troops representing Britain and America approached from either end of the arena. They were preceded respectively by ladies dressed symbolically as Britannia and Liberty, and bearing the flags of Britain and the United States.

Approaching one another, they embraced, and then, mounting a dais, sat down on gilt chairs. A moment later and the distant sounds of martial music reached the ear. It became clearer and clearer. The tramp of many feet could be heard, and through the mountain pass there emerged the head of one of the most extraordinary processions ever seen. The scouts of all the world wended their way down, troop upon troop reached the arena, deployed and marched to their allotted places.

Standard-bearers at the head of each company carried the flag of the country represented and the green banner of the scouts. There were the familiar uniforms of the troops of our own country and of the British Dominions, but there were also the striking dresses of the scouts of France, Belgium, Estonia, Greece, Holland, Luxembourg, Italy, Serbia, Siam, Spain and Czechoslovakia to mention but a few of the nationalities represented. Their costumes varied from those of the Red Indians of America to their wonderful feather head-dress and vivid shawls, to the no less picturesque native dresses of the Balkans and the East.

But khaki predominated, the loose-shirted uniform with the Colonial hat, which has become so familiar since the hero of Mafeking launched his great scheme and people doubted whether to be amused or to take seriously these strangely-clad boys, who began to appear among us. People do not laugh any more. Much has happened in the thirteen years that have intervened, and a war-weary world is disposed to see in its youth the great hope for the future.

"The chief having taken the salute, approached Britannia and Liberty, and in turn saluted them. Then in the serious ranks a movement was noticeable. The standard-bearers were coming to the front. Separating themselves from their different units, they approached the centre of the arena, and formed an imposing avenue to the dais. The Chief Scout passed under this arch of flags to the stand. The flag of each nation was dipped as he went by in token of fealty. Turning round on the highest tier of the dais, Sir Robert faced the great gathering. For a moment there was an impressive silence, and then his voice rang out. Every word sounded like a clarion note, and reached the farthest corner of the building.

"The Chief Speaks. "Brother scouts," he said, "ask you to make a solemn choice. Differences exist between the peoples of the world in thought and sentiment, just as they do in language and physique. The war has taught us that if one nation tries to impose its particular will upon others, cruel reaction is bound to follow. The Jamboree has taught us that if we exercise mutual forbearance and give and take then there is sympathy and harmony. If it be your will, let us go forth from here fully determined that we will develop among ourselves and our boys that comradeship, through the worldwide spirit of the scout brotherhood, so that we may help to develop peace and happiness in the true and good will among men. Brother scouts answer me. Will you join in this endeavour?"

"Like some strange echo which grew in intensity there came back a great shout of "Yes!" "God speed you in your work," replied Sir Robert, "and fare you well!"

"Descending from the dais, the Chief stood at the salute, and the whole of the vast audience rose to their feet while the flags were dipped and a huge laurel wreath was hoisted on the flagstaff in memory of the scouts of all nations who fell in the war.

A Touching Farewell. "The band then struck up "Auld Lang Syne." In an instant the British lads had clasped hands. Seeing what their brothers were doing, and realizing that it was good, the Malay boys took up the strain. From them it quickly ran to the scouts from Jamaica, and spread with lightning rapidity to all the boys in the arena. Not stopping there it passed on to the audience. Everywhere arms were linked as the sentiment of the song spread to every corner of the building. To this point there was much in the ceremony that could be attributed to splendid organization. What followed was spontaneous. Sir Robert returned to the Royal box, when there broke out the thunder of cheering which swelled in volume with every scene, and one that will live in the memory of all THINGS TO REMEMBER. (Forbes Magazine.) Don't forget that every household in this country, to say nothing of other countries, must have food, must have clothes, must have underwear, must have shoes, must have hats and a hundred other things. The need will continue for houses, for coal, for transportation, for amusement, for newspapers and periodicals, for light, for telephones, and in many cases for automobiles. Our agricultural population are likely to receive upwards of $25,000,000,000 this year for their products, and they are not niggardly spenders. We are still selling to other countries more than we buy from them, and gold is now coming into the country faster than it is leaving. The crippling of domestic trade through, seriously inadequate railroad facilities, will shortly be modified. One could enumerate a dozen—twenty—encouraging features of the present situation and the outlook. Therefore, the business man who allows himself to sink into the doldrums and to proceed on the theory that everything is going to come to a standstill is likely to find himself awkwardly situated by and by.
