RECIPROCITY.

An Ontario Tory organ says the election of a Tory in Charlottetown is proof that there is no demand in Prince Edward's Island for a Reciprocity Treaty with the United States. We don't believe the result of the election has any such significance; because it is a fact, which cannot be gainsaid that the people of the Maritime Provinces are singularly unanimous in desiring Reciprocity. It would, indeed, be strange if they were not. We have a very good country here now, in spite of the misgovernment of the Tories; but we would have a much better one if its products had free admission into the United States markets. Our people have no fear of competition from their neighbors. Their wood, their coal, their farm products and even some of their manufactured products could be sold to great advantage in the United States, if there were no duties to be paid, as some of them are now sold there at a profit, notwithstanding a hostile tariff. The Maritime Provinces need access to the United States market. Such a boon would make the burdens of confederation comparatively light.

A NEWSPAPER CRANK.

Ignorant and stupid brutality, which would drag the sacredness of domestic affliction into the arena of newspaper discussion, calls for no reply. When, however, the Capital charges The Gleaner with publishing sensational reports, with drawing upon its imagination, and giving cooked interviews, duty compels us to inform our contemporary that it says what is absolutely false. Our account of the proceedings at the Vestry meeting was made up partly from the minutes of the corporation and partly from information obtained from those who took part, and it was correct in every particular. It was the only correct report published. If it was "sensational" as well, surely that is not our fault. As to the interviews published by us they were genuine, as the Capital would learn if it was enterprising enough to inquire of the parties interviewed.

The Capital admits that it subordinated its character as a public journal to its position as a "Churchman," whatever that may mean. It also refers to other denominations for proof of its fairness towards them. This does not appear to be the point at issue; which is not the fairness of the Capital to other denominations, but its fairness to its own. Claiming and ludicrously priding itself upon the fact that it is a Churchman, by which the general public understands that its proprietor sings a more than doubtful tenor in the Cathedral Choir, it yet is singularly unfair and unjust to its fellow "Churchmen," whose actions it misrepresents and whose motives it misconstrues. If another "Churchman" wishes to ask through its columns for information as to church law or practices, the letter cannot appear until after it has been examined by those ecclesiastical dignitaries, whom the Capital grovels before, and if they think the letter should be withheld it does not appear. Correspondence sent to the Capital has been suppressed by clerical dictation. We do not say that the Capital cannot deny this; but we do say that it cannot truthfully deny it.

So far as the advisability of publishing matters relating to the Church of England is concerned, we are aware of no law, custom or duty which renders it obligatory upon honest journalists to suppress them. The members of the Anglican Communion form we would say a venture one seventh of the population of the Province. The affairs of their church are therefore a subject of interest directly to a great many people and indirectly of course to many more. The members of this Communion have the same right to form their own opinions upon disputed questions of church management as the members of other denominations have, and to do this properly they must be in possession of the facts. And how shall they get the facts if they are to be suppressed? Whether it is better to present garbled and incorrect reports, or actual misrepresentations made in the hope of eliciting praise from one of the parties to the dispute, or to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth? The latter is the duty of a newspaper, as we understand and endeavor to practice it.

Of all bodies in the world, the churches, one would think, ought to court the truth; and while we ask no man's approval for doing what we believe to be our duty as a public journalist, we have the satisfaction of knowing that we are able to make THE GLEANER an authority on all questions of interest and a welcome guest in hundreds of households. And it is because we have done this, and because its servile spirit is incapable of emulating our success that the Capital fumes, making a virtue of its incompetency.

CLEVELAND'S ACCEPTANCE.

Cleveland's letter of acceptance is, by comparison with those of his opponents, a very brief document. Whether it will be called a statesmanlike production depends a great deal upon the light in which the reader regards the Presidential office. If the President is merely the executive officer of the nation, as Mr. Cleveland says, and if a letter of acceptance in which a candidate declares himself willing to take the field as a representative of the principles enunciated by the party nominating him, without writing long treatises upon those principles, is a statesmanlike document, Mr. Cleveland's letter may be so styled. But if an elaborate document professing to outline a policy for the nation is the correct thing for a candidate to lay before the electors, Mr. Cleveland's letter is a dismal failure; for beyond a statement that Presidents should be ineligible to re-election, that the tenure of office of minor officials should be during good behavior, and that protection should be given to American labor by restrictions upon immigration, there is not in it anything bearing upon important public questions. We think the letter will be somewhat disappointing to his friends; although it has an air of sincerity about it, which is refreshing after one has endeavored to wade through the long columns of vote-catching arguments and declamatory paragraphs which Blaine and Butler have published.

GENEROUS ENGINEERS.

The Capital informs the public that the engineers are advancing the money to build the Miramichi Railway. Generous engineers! How glad we are that they are so magnanimous. It further states that when the road is completed far enough the first instalment of the subsidy will be paid. It probably will when it is built "far enough." But this was not our point, which was that "while Mr. Temple and the Railway Department were higgling over the subsidy, Mr. Gibson is building the road. This is the simple, plain truth." The Dominion Government had not at the time we wrote the words quoted, agreed to pay the subsidy at any time, and we do not believe that they have yet done so. That it will ultimately be paid we are not so absurd as to doubt. The Capital further further says that if Mr. Temple had not been elected no road would have been under construction. This is the merest rubbish. The subsidy was only transferred from one end of the road to the other, and both ends of the line are now being built. Mr. Gibson had made up his mind that it was desirable to build the Valley Railway, and it would have been built if Mr. Temple had never been born.

THE SHORT LINE.

A despatch to the Telegraph says that it is semi-officially stated that the Short Line is to be located south of Mooshead Lake, to Mattawamkeag. We do not believe it. Enough money has been granted to build a road which will accommodate both Quebec and Montreal, and we believe that Quebec will make a more successful fight than the despatch in question would imply. For Canada to give $170,000 a year, for fifteen years, to secure the building of some 60 or 70 miles of railway in the State of Maine, so that a new line can be got to Portland, Me., is even too great an absurdity for Sir John Macdonald to assent to.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

In the course of his argument of the Boundary Award Case, Mr. Robinson, who argued against the claims of Ontario, said that assent to them would be very unpalatable to Quebec, which province he averred would be harder to satisfy than Manitoba. It is always Quebec—satisfying Quebec, and so we suppose it ever will be.

Republican journals are arousing the faithful by representing that Ohio will likely go over to the enemy.

It is now said that Greely sacrificed the lives of his companions by not making a resolute effort to cross Smith's Sound to Littleton Island, where there were considerable stores and game in plenty. The straits are only 20 miles wide.

Another evidence of the sincerity of the Tory election cry of "Canada for the Canadians" is found in the recent appointment by the Dominion Government, of H. Sugden Evans, of London, England, as chief analyst for the Dominion.

While the California Republicans are congratulating themselves upon the way in which Blaine, if elected, will rub the British lion's nose in the dust, it is interesting to note that a vulgar coal schooner has run into and sunk the United States Navy, or at least one of the principal vessels of that remarkable institution.

The Tichborne Claimant, who was imprisoned as Arthur Orton is about to be released, his sentence having expired; and now comes a man from an Australian Lunatic Asylum, who is alleged to be the veritable Arthur Orton. The Claimant has many friends and sincere sympathizers, who believe he should have the Tichborne estates.

In an article in the last GLEANER we alluded to the probability that British Guiana might follow the example of Jamaica and ask for connection with Canada. This opinion is corroborated by a letter sent to the St. John Board of Trade by the officers of the British Guiana Planters Association, urging more intimate trade relations between the two countries.

The public will probably be treated to more or less in the way of rumors about a rupture between England and Germany. The man who makes up the despatches for the Associated Press seems to think his sole mission is to represent Gladstone as in difficulties. Since Gordon is at right, and Ireland is quiet, and France is so full of its China trouble that no one will believe that it wants to fight England, there does not seem to be anything left but to invoke the aid of Bismarck to make things interesting. It is unnecessary to say that the Associated Press correspondent is not the confidential friend of Gladstone and Bismarck.

The Victoria Star quotes the following from the Canadian Gazette:—"Canada stands alone in this of all the countries of the world, that partisanship is so violent that it is considered justifiable to even injure the country if by so doing a political opponent can also be struck."

It then proceeds to make the following comments, which are about as good in their way as anything we have seen in a long while. We question if the Gazette would admit that the Star has made a correct application of its complaint. Our upriver contemporary says:—

It is useless to take the charge; as the acknowledged principle exists, that, unless a County Member is in accord with the Dominion Government, the County will not receive that support which otherwise it would. Perhaps no County in New Brunswick has experienced more of this politically persecuting principle than the County of Charlotte in the person of Hon. A. H. Gillmor—who, although continually elected by a large majority to represent that County in the Dominion Parliament, is partially ignored, because he is always elected as in opposition to the present Government. The picture of the old Post Office building in St. Stephen, is a standing, or rather a leaning monument, of the truth of the charge.

The Judgment of the P. M. in the Horsewhipping Case.

A Budget of other Court News of More or Less Interest.

Hannah vs. Richards.

The new celebrated case of Thomas B. Hannah vs. Charles L. Richards, for an assault, is, for the time at least, disposed of. On giving judgment this morning Police Magistrate Marsh dwelt lengthily upon the testimony for the prosecution and defence, and commented upon the issues arising in the case. He said that while an assault of this kind might be justifiable in law, if an assault was offered to a wife in the presence of a husband, and the husband on the spur of the moment would resent it, a meditated assault could not be justified on the ground of a previous assault. A party was not allowed to take the law in his own hands, and administer it for the purpose of satisfying his own grievances, but should seek redress through the proper channel. The law afforded sufficient protection to all citizens alike. He also said that in justification to Mr. Richards, he had to state that the morning of the assault, Mr. Richards had come and delivered himself up to him as Police Magistrate for the purpose of answering any charge that might be preferred against him, and that as no complaint had been made during the day, he had told Mr. Richards in the evening that there was no charge against him and that he was accordingly at liberty. In justice to the policemen he would also say that the row had occurred at an hour when the day man was going off and the night men were coming on duty, and although they had some previous intimation of such an affray being likely to take place, they did not expect it at that hour, had they been present on the occasion of the row, every person participating would have been brought before the police court—the parties of this case as well—and this charge would have been doubtless settled in another way.

The assault in this case was clearly proven, and the only duty that devolved upon him was the imposing of a penalty; not so much in satisfaction to Mr. Hannah for the wrong done to him, or to punish Mr. Richards for his breach of the peace, but as a warning to others that this sort of thing was not allowed. He therefore adjudged that the said Charles L. Richards do, for his said offence, pay a fine of $10 and $15.35 costs, to be paid on or before the 1st of September, and in default thereof that the defendant be imprisoned in the common jail of the county of York for the space of one month.

The complaint of Francis Sacooby against Isaac Segee was amicably settled before the parties, and did not come up for hearing before the Police Magistrate.

Judgment was given in the civil suit of the Queen at the instance of the Overseers of the Poor &c., Douglas, vs. James Gaskin, Robert Tomlinson and Arch. McLaughlin; the Magistrate over-ruling the points raised Mr. James P. Wetmore on motion for a non-suit, and awarding the plaintiff's damages to the amount claimed $18.50. This was the sum paid by the Poor Overseers for the support of a bastard child, the defendant being the bondman for indemnifying the Parish for loss on account of its support.

One unfortunate was before the P. M. for being drunk, creating a disturbance on the public street, and resisting the policemen. His Honor told the party that the police officers did not wish to press the charge for the resistance, which would make his sentence considerably lighter. For the other offence he would impose a penalty of $15, or one month's jail.

John Donohue, preferred a charge of assault against Samuel Beatty, but Samuel being already incarcerated in the common jail on another matter the charge had to stand over until he regains his liberty.

John Healy vs. Ann Murphy, abusive language. The defendant did not put in appearance, either in person or by attorney, and His Honor stated that a warrant would be at once issued for her arrest.

The Queen on the information of James Roberts vs. Moses H. Timmins, charged with selling liquor contrary to C. T. Act. Mr. Vanwart asked for a dismissal on the ground of no evidence of a sale. His Honor stated that there was sufficient proof in the testimony of the witness, Benj. Brewer, who swore to having received liquor both from the defendant and from a boy on the premises, and that he would or would not pay for it hereafter. Just as he chose, to warrant a conviction. A penalty of $20, and $4.50 costs or 30 days jail was accordingly imposed. Mr. Vanwart gave notice of appeal.

The Queen on the information of James Roberts vs. Benjamin Moody, C. T. Act charge. Dismissed and informant ordered to pay $4.50 costs or 5 days jail.

Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court is in session to-day and has delivered judgment in over twenty cases. That of most local interest is the case involving the right of the city to pay for the new offices in the Court House which has been decided favorably to the city's contention.

Accident at Macnaquae.

Mr. Martin Wentworth of Little Falls, Mass., who is visiting his friends at Macnaquae in this county, met with a painful accident the other night. While driving along the road a short distance below the Macnaquae bridge, his horse became frightened and upset him over the embankment, breaking one of his ribs in the region of his heart. Mr. Wentworth has suffered considerably from the fall but is now easier. He has been attended by Dr. Coburn of Macnaquae, and Dr. Currie of this city.

Returned Home.

The York County competitors, who have been in attendance at the shooting matches at Sussex, returned home to-day. One of party registers at the Queen as "the sand boy" of Sussex.

SPORTING NOTES.

On Tuesday last at the St. George Catholic picnic, E. Monahan of St. Stephen won the professional 100 yards race.

On Wednesday the final deposit was made with Mr. R. A. Payne, for the Nagle and McCormack scull race, which is to be rowed on the Kennebecasis on Tuesday next.

Ross went into active training at Richfield Spring, Wednesday, in anticipation of a race with Teemer, September 2nd, at Saratoga.

The fall races at the Chatham Driving Park come off on Thursday and Friday 4th and 5th September. The purses amount to $500.

Purses to the amount of $400, are offered at Kent Driving Park on Sept. 9th and 10th.

At the Yacht Race on Passamaquoddy Bay on Wednesday last, the "Bloodstone" of Deer Island won first place easily making the distance—23 miles—in 3h. 25m. 40s. The race between the "Louise" of Calais and the "Nellie" of Deer Island, which took second and third money respectively, was very close and exciting. Three prizes were given, $40, $25, and $10.

A picked nine from Lytell's Theatrical Company will play the National Base Ball Club in St. John this afternoon.

CLIFF vs. SCOTT.—The following explains itself:—

To the Editor of the Telegraph:—

Sir: I see by your paper that Fred. Scott challenges me to run him again. I would like to inform Mr. Scott and the public that the next man I run that I will have no difficulty in getting the stakes after I win them.

C. R. CLIFF, Centerville, Carleton Co., Aug. 15, 1884.

Negotiations between the backers of Cliff and Scott are, however, progressing favorably, and a race will likely be arranged to take place about the middle of September.

Scott publishes the following reply:—

To the Editor of the Telegraph:—

Sir: Nearly four weeks ago I challenged Chas. Cliff of Centerville, to run me the next race of 100 yards, which he promised last fall. My brother went to Frederickton this week and could obtain no satisfaction from Cliff's backers. If Mr. Cliff objects to run in St. John, he can be replaced for any track mutually agreeable. As for Fred. Scott's statement that he had difficulty in obtaining the stakes in the match last fall, it is well known by all disinterested parties that I won the race and Mr. Cliff was made a present of the stakes, and the best proof he can give of belief in his ability to defeat me is to put up or shut up. An immediate reply is requested.

FR. SCOTT, St. John, Aug. 22.

The Miramichi Regatta.

The regatta announced to take place on the Miramichi, last Thursday, did not come off as there were not sufficient entries. The regattas held on the Miramichi, on previous years, always proved successful and each competition keenly contested.

To Beat the Record.

The statement of Mr. Bonter that he will allow Maid S. to trot in public, but not for money, in case her record should be beaten, directs more earnest attention to Jay-Eye-See. The little horse is just right, and those who control him are satisfied that he will tie, if not break, 2:00 at Prospect Park on Tuesday next. His stable companion, Phalaris, is with him at the track, and it is possible that the stallion record will also be broken.

District Meeting.

The Annual session of the third District Meeting will be held at the Methodist Church at Peniac, York Co., on Wednesday Sept. 3rd. J. A. Vanwart is clerk of the District.

The homes of Delegates attending the meeting will be as follows:—

Benj. Goodspeed, Fredericton, Eel River, and Southampt. and the District Clerk.

Hook and Lander Cuts—Smith, c.; Jones, p.; Maloney, 1st b.; Emery, 2nd b.; Hamilton, 3rd b.; Weeks, s. s.; Hanlan, r. f.; Craig, l. f.; Kearney, c. f.; Umpire, J. A. N. Winslow.

Fargues Cuts—Weed, c.; Briggs p.; Monson, 1st b.; Putnam, 2nd b.; Boyd, 3rd b.; Sleeper, s. s.; Nickerson, r. f.; Whitehead, l. f.; Bradbury, c. f.

The Catholic Picnic. Large excursions arrived from Houlton, Grand Falls and points along the line; only a small party came up from Fredericton. The managing committee had a large and varied programme of sports which was successfully carried out. The first prize in the 100 yds. race was won by W. ## ABOUT HOME.

Re-opening of the City Schools.

Notes from Woodstock and General County Intelligence.

The public schools throughout the city will re-open on Monday next after a vacation of six weeks. Parents of pupils are urgently requested to send their children on the first day. Many have a tendency to allow their children to remain home a week or two after the regular work of the school commences, but this custom is highly injurious to the efficient working of the school, as well as to the pupils themselves, and cannot be too strongly condemned. It is poor encouragement to the teacher, after he has gone over a week's drill of the school work, to be compelled to repeat the same, on the following week, for the benefit of some recent arrivals. The successful management and general welfare of the schools demand a full attendance at the very outset. Several changes have taken place in the schools during vacation. At the Collegiate School Miss Gregory, who has been away on a leave of absence, has returned, and will resume the position she has so faithfully and successfully filled for many years past. Mr. H. S. Bridges will take charge of the position made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Chapman. Mr. B. C. Foster, by request of the University Senate, will continue in that department until the end of the present term.

Church Hall School. Upon the appointment of Mr. Bridges to a position in the Grammar School, Miss Ross will take charge of the Church Hall School as Principal. There will only be three teachers in this school for the remainder of the term, and only the lower grades taught.

Model School. As already announced Mr. J. P. Rogers of Apolauqui, will be Principal of the Model School, and will take charge of the department made vacant by Mr. Geo. Crousseau. It is thought that Miss Lytle, who has been very ill during vacation, will not be able to resume her duties on Monday next.

No changes have taken place in the staff of the York Street School. The fence inclosing the school building has been repaired and new gates hung. Mr. Hoyt, the Principal, is sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be able to take charge on the re-opening.

WOODSTOCK NOTES.

Base Ball. The Hook and Ladder B. B. Club of this town played a second match game with the Friedman nine of Houlton on the 25th inst., at this place. Game was called at 9.30 a. m. and was closely contested until the fourth inning when the score stood as follows:—

Friedman, 2, and Hook and Ladder 7. At the close of the 5th inning the score was even. During the sixth inning Smith, C. of the Woodstock Club, was struck in the face by a foul ball, and being unable to finish the game, the umpire declared the Friedman Club winners. The score at the time of the accident was:—

Houlton..... 11
Woodstock..... 9

The clubs are to play another game at Houlton on or about Sept. 1st. The names of the players and their respective positions were as follows:—

In a New Role.

Mr. Henry Bateman was yesterday appointed bailiff by Mr. Bernard McCaffrey, for the purpose of distraining the goods and chattels of Margaret Keelher who, it appears, is a little behind in her rent. Harry at once assumed the dignity and importance which his new appointment warranted, and proudly showed his authority to several friends. As Mrs. Keelher has been figuring in police circles recently and is well up in the law, a good time may be expected when the landlord's bailiff and the tenant meet on the premises in question.

Another Stage Coach.

Mr. George Gunter has placed upon the road to Marysville a stage coach similar to the one owned by Mr. Foster. This style of coaches are finely adapted to a short road, and many who would otherwise stop at home will take a drive in them. The proprietor of one of these stage coaches thinks that the accommodation train to Marysville will not in the least interfere with the stage traffic, and is making further preparations for increased travelling.

The Storm at Spring Hill.

It is said that the wind blew a perfect hurricane at Spring Hill yesterday, and considerable damage was done in the blowing down of fences, and in several cases roofs were blown off sheds and barns. The storm appears to have been the heaviest between Spring Hill and McIntosh's Mill, a distance of two or three miles, and people living in the vicinity say for a short time they have experienced nothing like it since the Great S. by gale.

Trouble Ahead.

Several prominent city note brokers and money lenders received visits yesterday from farmers from the adjacent parishes where the bogus cloth peddlars have been carrying on their operations recently. The farmers wanted to notify the financial gentlemen not to negotiate their notes, as they were given without value and obtained by fraud. One man succeeded in finding his note, but too late to give the purchaser notice.

Dr. Dow's Will.

Dr. Dow by his will appointed Hon. A. F. Randolph and Judge Steadman his executors. The only property disposed of by the will is the real estate on King st., George street. One of the houses is devised to Miss Adelle Devitt, the other to his relatives. He makes no money gifts, neither does he intimate in the will that he has any other property than that disposed of.

A Fine Horse.

Mr. James Gibson's stallion, Col. Lang, is by the record the fastest stallion ever bred in the Maritime Provinces. He has a record of 2:36, and the other evening trotted twice miles in 2:36 and 2:37. He was not pushed to his best and can probably get down near to 2:30 before the season is over. Lang is a colt after Landers' Knox a son of old General Knox.

Excursions from St. John.

On Tuesday next two excursions are expected up from St. John. One comes by steamer to attend the Gibson tea meeting and other attractions on the eastern side of the river, and the other is the Valley Division excursion which will picnic at Odell's grove. If nothing hinders, the first accommodation and excursion train will be run from Gibson to Marysville in the afternoon; fare for round trip 10 cts.

Tax Defaulters.

Samuel Beatty and John Harrison are serving out terms of imprisonment in jail, for default in payment of city taxes for 1881. Collector Wheeler accompanied by James Roberts, went down to the Victoria Mills yesterday to get another delinquent, but he, seeing them coming, took to the woods and has not been since heard of.

The Proposed Henneyry.

Mr. G. H. Thomas, who has a good henneyry on convenient distance from the city, offers it on reasonable terms to the party who are about to establish one here. He says that it is in good repair and specially adapted for the kind of one proposed.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

France and Morocco not to Quarrel Just Now.

The Health Congress—The European Mail.

Mails to Europe. (Special to Gleaner.)

QUEENSTOWN, Aug. 23.—The Town Commissioners have passed resolutions requesting the trans-Atlantic liners to give Postmaster General Fawcett no pretext for depriving Queenstown of its present position as the station for the departure of American mails. This action is in consequence of an attempt of the Chambers of Commerce of the south of England to obtain the contract for carrying mails for the North German Lloyd's Company, calling at Southampton.

A Temporary Calm. (Special to Gleaner.)

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The difficulty between France and Morocco has been amicably settled. Prime Minister Ferry disavows the action of M. Ordega, French Minister to Morocco.

Sanitary Precautions. (Special to Gleaner.)

HAGUE, Aug. 23.—The Hygienic Congress unanimously adopted the proposal of Professor Provost in favor of a new International Sanitary Conference for the creation of a permanent International Sanitary Committee to act against epidemics. Holland will be asked to submit proposals to other countries in regard to their objects.

Minor Matters.

The city schools re-open on Monday morning. Grass cutting on the Keswick Islands has commenced.

Several farmers have discovered rust on their potatoes.

Servant girls are a scarce article about the town and in good demand.

A clock with a flying pendulum in Fowler's window attracts much attention.

The Kirk Sunday School children are having a pleasant time over at Robinson's.

A heavy rain and thunder storm passed over the town yesterday, and another last night.

Mr. Richard Estey of West End, has purchased a fine match team, each of the horses weighing about 1,300 lbs.

A young medical man took a dose of laudanum to quiet his nerves the other morning, and slept in consequence 13 hours, sleeping away his engagements.

The villanous weeds and tall grass still continue to grow in front of the Post Office and elsewhere, in open violation of the laws of good taste and order.

The most singular fact about the clock in Fowler's window is that it is a 400 day clock. Mr. Fowler positively asserts it will run on that length of time, if it would every night.

Harvey's Studio.

Mr. J. Harvey who a month or two ago opened out a photograph gallery next below the People's Bank has it fitted and furnished in first-class style and with every convenience. In fact the studio is a model in arrangement. The reception room, a large and airy one, and well furnished with easy and comfortable sittings, is the first room to the left as you enter the studio. Further along the hall and towards the front of the building is a nicely fitted up dressing room, from which as well as from the hall there is an entrance to the photographic apartment. This latter room is large, well lighted with a windowed roof that extends nearly over the whole room, and contains a good supply of the latest scenery. Mr. Harvey's photographic apparatus is all new with the latest improvements. The camera is entirely new and has several new patents attached which render every facility in the operations and rapid work. Mr. Harvey says if he is not already engaged, no person need spend any longer time than fifteen minutes in his studio for preparations and for the photographic operations. His work during the past week has been principally cabinet work of which he makes a specialty. He has some elegant samples of the work being done at present. Mr. Harvey has worked in some of the best photographic rooms in New York and is prepared to give satisfaction to every one who gives him a trial.

St. Andrew's Church Excursion.

The Young Men's Association of St. Andrew's Church of St. John have arranged for several attractions in connection with their excursion to this city next Monday. The Parliament buildings, including the library, will be open for the inspection of visitors, also the Government House gardens and college grounds; and parties desiring can visit the cotton mill at Marysville and other attractions at Gibson. Mr. J. R. Howie has given the committee the use of his grounds for the day.

"The Plumed Knight."

James G. Blaine, Republican Candidate for the United States Presidency, will address a public meeting at Presque Isle, Maine, on Thursday next. A huge tent will be brought from Boston to accommodate the expected crowd. It is the train arrangements were convenient, probably a good many people would go up from Fredericton to hear "the plumed knight," who is a remarkably fine public speaker.

The Murray Farm.

There is an exhibition in W. G. Schleyer's art gallery, a fine oil painting of the Murray Farm at Spring Hill, the view being taken from the opposite side of the river. The painting is from the hand of Mr. J. Eggar of this city, and the picture reflects his eminent characteristic qualities as a painter.

Wrong Again.

The Military Editor of our down town contemporary does not know the difference between a six pounder and a nine pounder. He says the guns on the Square are nine pounders, but they are not. Ignorance of this kind is lamentable.

Business Notes.

Messrs. Small & Fisher of Woodstock are erecting a new Boiler and Engine House for their foundry.

Six new starch factories will be built in Aroostook County, Maine, during the present season.

James Harris & Co. St. John, have recently turned out a lot of fat cars for the N. B. and P. E. I. Railway.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the St. Croix cotton mill, held on Wednesday last, the old board of Directors were re-elected, and the issue of $181,000 worth of stock made by the Directors during the year, approved.

As showing the rapid increase in the value of land on Campobello during the past few years, it is stated that lots which could have been purchased for $50 an acre ten years ago cannot now be obtained for $300 an acre.—Courier.

General Middleton will be in this city on September 17th to inspect the Infantry School Corps.

Mr. F. A. Wyman, one of the managing committee of the Shaw Brothers' estate, arrived in town last night and is stopping at the Queen.

Property for Sale.

Mr. C. E. Friel offers for sale the Friel homestead at St. Marys, and several building lots. This is a first class chance for persons desiring a home near the city.

WHAT CAN SHE DO?

By E. P. Roe.

That which changed all her future and that of others—that involving life and death, occurred in the half moment occupied in her passing out of the front parlor. The consequences she would feel most keenly, terribly indeed at times, though she might never guess the cause. Her act was a simple natural one under the circumstances, and yet it told Mr. Fox, in his cat-like watchfulness, that with all his cunning he was being made a fool of. The moment Edith had passed around the sliding door and thought herself unobserved, an expression of intense disgust came out upon her expressive face, and with her lace handkerchief she rubbed the hand he had kissed, as if removing the slime of a reptile; and the large mirror at the farther end of the room had faithfully reflected the suggestive little pantomime. He saw and understood all in a flash.

No words could have so plainly told her feeling toward him, and he was one of these reptiles that could sting remorselessly in revenge. The nature of the imposition practised upon him and the fact that it was partially successful and might have been wholly so, cut him in the sorest spot. He who thought himself able to cope with the shrewdest and most artful, had been over-reached by a girl, and he saw at that moment, that her purpose to beguile him long enough for Mr. Allen to extricate himself from his difficulties, might have been successful. He had had before an uneasy consciousness that he ought to act decisively, and now he knew it.

"I'm a fool—a cursed fool," he muttered, speaking the truth for once, "but it's not too late yet."

His resolution was taken instantly, but when Edith appeared after a moment in the library, smiling and affable again, he seemed in good spirits also, but there was a steely, serpent-like glitter in his eyes, that made him more repulsive than ever. But he stayed as late as the others, knowing that it might be his last evening at the Allen's. For Edith had said as part of her plan for avoiding Mr. Fox—

"We shall be too busy to see any company till Tuesday evening, and then we hope to see you all."

Her sisters had assented, expecting that it would be the case.

With a refinement of malice, Mr. Fox sought to give general annoyance, by a polite insolence toward the others, which they with difficulty ignored, and a lover-like gallantry toward Edith, which was like nettles to Gus, and nauseating to her; but she did not dare resent it. He could at least torment her a little longer.

At last all were gone, and her father coming in from his club said, drawing her aside—

"All right yet?"

"Yes, but I hope the ordeal will be over soon, or I shall die with disgust, or like some I have read of in stories, be killed by a poisonous breath."

"Keep it up a little longer, that is a good, brave girl. I think that by another week we will be able to defy him," said her father in cheerful tones. "If my stock rises as much in the next few days, as of late, I shall soon be on terra firma."

If he had known that the mine beneath his feet was loaded, and the fuse fired, his full face would have become as pale as it was florid with wine, and the dissipation of the evening.

Monday morning came—all seemed quiet. His stock was rising so well that he determined to hold on a little longer.

Goulden met and congratulated him, saying that he had bought a little himself, and would take more if Mr. Allen would sell, as he was easier in funds than when spoken to before on the subject.

"Mr. Allen replied rather coldly that he would not sell any stock that day."

Mr. Fox kept out of the way, and quietly attended to his routine as usual, but there was a sardonic smile on his face, as if he were gloating over some secret evil.

Tuesday, the long expected day that the Allens believed would make one of the most brilliant epochs in their history, dawned in appropriate brightness. The sun dissipated the few opposing clouds and declined in undimmed splendor, and Edith, who alone had fears and forebodings, took the day as an omen that the storm had passed, and that better days than ever were coming.

Invitations by the hundred, with imposing monogram and coat of arms, had gone out, and acceptances had flowed in full current. All that lavish expenditure could secure in one of the most luxurious social centres of the world, had been obtained without stint to make the entertainment perfect.

But one knew it might become like Belshazzar's feast.

The avalanche often so hangs over the Alpine passes that a loud word will bring it whirling down upon the hapless traveler. The avalanche of ruin, impending over Mr. Allen, was so delicately poised that a whisper could precipitate its crushing weight, and that whisper had been spoken.

All the morning of Tuesday his stock was rising, and he resolved that on the morning after the party he would commence selling rapidly, and so far from being broken, he would realize much of the profit that he had expected.

But a rumour was floating through the afternoon papers that a well known merchant, eminent in financial and social circles, had been detected in violating the revenue laws, and that the losses which such violation would involve to him, would be immense. The stock market, more sensitive than a belle's vanity, paused to see what it meant. One of Mr. Allen's partners of the cloth house brought a paper to him. He grew pale as he read it, put his hand suddenly to his head, but, after a moment seemingly found his voice and said—

"Could Fox have been so dastardly?"

His partner shrugged his shoulder as much as to say, "Fox could do anything in that line."

Mr. Allen sent for Fox, but he could not be found. In the meantime the stock market closed and the rise of his stock was evidently checked for the moment.

By reason of the party, Mr. Allen had to return up town, but he arranged with his partner to remain and if anything new developed to send word by special messenger.

By eight o'clock the Allen mansion on Fifth Avenue was all aglow with light. By nine, carriages began to roll up to the awning that stretched from the heavy arched door, way across the sidewalk, and ladies that would soon glide through the spacious rooms in elegant drapery, now seemed mishapen bundles in their wrapping, and gathered up dresses as they hurried out of the publicity of the street. The dressing-room where the spheroidal bundles were undergoing metamorphose became buzzing centres of life.

Before the long pier glasses there was a marshalling of every charm, real, borrowed, (more correctly bought) in view of the hoped-for conquests of the evening, and it would seem that not a few went on the military maxim that success is often secured by putting on as bold a front, and making as great a startling display, as possible. But as fragrant, modest flowers usually bloom in the garden with gaudy scentless ones, so those inclined to be loud made an excellent foil for the refined and elegant, and thus had their uses. There is little in the world that is not of value, looking at it from some point of view.

In another apartment the opposing forces, if we may so style them, were almost as eagerly investing themselves in—shall we say charms also? or rather with the attributes of manhood? At any rate the glass in both rooms seems quite as anxiously consulted. One might almost imagine them the magic mirrors of prophecy in which anxious eyes caught a glimpse of coming fate. There were certain youthful belles and beaux who turned away with open complacent smiles, vanity whispering plainly to them of noble achievement in the parlours below. There were others, perhaps not young, who turned away with his faces composed in the rigid and habitual lines of pride. They were past learning anything from the mirror, or from any other source that might reflect disparagingly upon them. Prejudice in their own favor enveloped their minds as with a Chinese wall. Conceit had become a disease with them, and these faculties that might have left in wholesome, though unwelcome truth, were paralyzed.
