OLD YORK COUNTY RECORDS.

Some Historic Chips Picked up on Province Square.

York in 1785—First Census Taken of New Brunswick.

Graphic Description of the Great Calamity in 1825.

The record of parchment containing the appointment of James Rogers, clerk of the Rolls for York county 1785 has been found among the papers in the old county records.

Count Rogers continued in office as clerk of the court in the same year.

Previous to this time having been recorded at Oranmore, the shire of the county, which county, as it was then called, embraced the whole province previous to 1784, forming a part of Nova Scotia.

York county was held off as a separate county in 1784, and the several county papers and documents that are found bearing the date of 1785, are many of them of special interest.

MOTHER AND BABY DEAD.

Alfred Victim of the No-Cloth Prayer Case.

Memorandum, April 20. Last Thursday night Mrs. Lottie A. James, who lived on Sharon street, West Meaford, died in giving birth to a female child who also died.

Mrs. Conner, who is the mother of Mrs. James, practices the cure of disease by prayer or by the method of a christian scientist. The husband of the dead woman is away from home on business, and it appears that no midwife or physician other than Mrs. Conner and another christian scientist were called to the case till both the mother and child were dead.

Dr. J. C. Coffin was then summoned, and insisted upon being the medical examiner for the district. Medical Examiner Dr. Coffin decided that an autopsy was necessary, and he with other physicians performed an autopsy to-day. The town physician, who assisted in the autopsy, states that he showed the mother and child were perfectly healthy before their deaths, and with the care that should have been given by a common sense both mother and child would have been alive at this moment, hemorrhage having been the cause of the mother's death. Nothing whatever appears to have been done for the child.

Medical Examiner Dr. Coffin, before viewing the body, questioned Mrs. Conner, and she is quoted as saying that she is glad that drugs had been called for her daughter, and that she had been under the care of the christian scientist.

It is probable that Medical Examiner Dr. Coffin will institute legal proceedings against Mrs. Conner and her assistant.

There is considerable excitement in town over the case of Mrs. Conner, and a number of people have been under the treatment of these practitioners, and the opinion is expressed that some legislative enactment should be made to prevent such cases from practicing upon the superstitions and feelings of the public.
