QUEBEC ELECTIONS

No Conservatives Will be Put in the Field.

BON. CO. CANDIDATES

Messrs W. H. Clapperton, M. P. P., J. H. Kelly and Mercier mentioned.

The Provincial Legislature of Quebec has been dissolved. Nominations take place on the 18th inst and polling on the 25th. Hon E. J. Flynn, leader of the opposition, has issued a manifesto to the electors of the province in which he says by way of protest against the present administration, for calling on the elections so soon after the federal contest, that there will be no opposition conservative candidates nominated, thus leaving the whole field to the liberals or independents.

In Bonaventure it is very probable there will be a contest; however and in this connection the names of Mr. J. H. Kelly, of New Carlisle and Mr. Mercier of Quebec have been mentioned as opponents of Mr. W. H. Clapperton the present member.

A convention was held yesterday at Perce and Louis Joseph Lemieux M. D. brother of Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux was unanimously chosen to be the government candidate with the choice of accepting his brother's position should that honorable gentleman resign. Dr. Lemieux is in town today enroute to Montreal to consult with Mr. Faucher and the Hon. R. Lemieux, the Doctor is a son-in-law of Senator L. O. David of Montreal, and says he will be elected by a thousand majority.

NORTH SEA OUTRAGE.

Due to Misunderstood Signal

St Petersburg, Nov 4, 1 p. m.—The possibility that there may have been some misunderstanding of signals during the trawler incident in the North Sea is suggested by a fact made public in an order of the day issued by Vice Admiral Choukine, commander of the Black Sea fleet, which records the fact that officers of the latter fleet are so unfamiliar with the new code system adopted by the admiralty that during the recent manoeuvres not a single ship acknowledged or obeyed the admiral's signals.

London, Nov 4.—Foreign Secretary Lansdowne in a letter dated Nov 1, has informed a British ship owning firm that "It is not permissible for British owners to charter their vessels for the purpose of following the Russian fleet with coal."

The letter was in reply to a direct query from the firm, which drew the attention of the Foreign office to the British collier Roddam, which was then lying at Vigo awaiting the arrival of the Russian squadron, and asked if British owners were entitled to charter their vessels for this purpose.

THE CAMPAIGN IS OVER.

For the last four months we have lived in an atmosphere of politics. Whether or not it has had a wholesome effect upon us we are unable to judge but we are inclined to the negative belief. However, we are not permitted to breathe a different air and perhaps it would be better for us to inhale it as rapidly as circumstances will permit. "The battle is over; the victory won" and to put it in common parlance—"there is little use in holding post mortems". We feel, however, that we should allude to one or two striking features of the fray, notably among which is the personal defeat of Mr. R. L. Borden. We are tolerably certain that the announcement of Mr. Borden's failure to carry his constituency met with profound regret among members of both of the great political parties. Mr. Borden's presence in Parliament lent a noticeable additional dignity to that body. At all times, sincere and eloquent, and withal dignified, Mr. Borden commanded the respect and admiration of opponents as well as friends and it is doubtful if he had a personal enemy in the House. We observed carefully the campaign which was waged against Mr. Borden in Halifax and we might almost call it a master stroke of political warfare. Every trick, every subterfuge that would gain votes was resorted to by his opponents and besides they took advantage of every legitimate means to gain adherents. In a word they waged a frightfully energetic campaign. The return of a solid phalanx from Nova Scotia in support of the Laurier administration was accomplished in much the same way as the Halifax achievement. They were more energetic and more force displayed on the side of the liberal party than on that of the conservative party. The overwhelming defeat of the opposition seems to us to signify one thing very clearly and that is the absence of inspiring leadership. Mr. Borden is a man of rare talent and ability but he lacks that one thing which we call personal magnetism. We venture to say that if there had been a Sir John A. McDonald at the helm of the conservative campaign there would have been a different story to relate to-day. Such a man will be found some day and then Premier Laurier or his successor will have to look to his laurels.

THE NORTH SEA BLUNDER.

The reputation of the Associated Press service at St. Petersburg during the present war, is deservedly so high that we need not hesitate to ascribe to the remarkable despatch published a few days ago almost the force of an official communication from the Russian admiralty. The despatch set forth that the firing upon the British trawlers was in fact the result of a blunder on the part primarily of the commander of a Russian transport, which signalled the battleship for aid, believing that he was attacked by torpedo boats. During the cannonade which ensued some Russian shells going over the fishing boats struck the Russian cruisers and did the injury reported by the Russian Admiral. This explanation, says the New York Times, fits all the facts known and is entirely consistent with the first reports brought by the fishermen. If the Russian government is willing to make it official, together with the admission which it implies, and to dismiss the fantastic hypothesis of Japanese torpedo boats, the settlement of the question between Great Britain and Russia should be comparatively easy. While the explanation fits the facts, however, it does not account for all of them. It does not account, for example, for the fact that torpedo boats, or vessels taken to be such, were seen both by the British fishing fleet, who took them to be Russians, and by the Russian men-of-war, who took them to be Japanese. If there were torpedo boats present at the scene, there would be nothing left to account for or to reconcile in the reports of the incident. Evidently the appearance at Cherbouy, soon after the collision of two Russian torpedo boats with signs of serious injury, in one case a smashed stem, and in the other she holes in the deck, becomes highly significant. In the interest of enlightenment and justice, these two vessels, which are now in the Mediterranean, should not be permitted to emerge from it until they have been held to account for their injuries. If they were injured by Russian shells, Russia should be quite willing to admit the fact, if Russia is prepared to make the preliminary admission that the cannonade in the North Sea was a blunder, the result of a misapprehension. It would then appear that the injury to the fishing boats and their crews was incidental and accidental, which is, of course, the conclusion that Russia is anxious to establish.

THE AMERICAN ELECTIONS.

The return of Theodore Roosevelt, and his party in the United States was quite as spectacular as the return of Premier Laurier and his party in Canada. It begins to look as if there was really something in the prophetic cry. The chief recommendation of both parties—that is the liberal party of Canada and the Republican party of the United States—seems to have been "good times". We can be tolerably certain that the interests of the United States are now as before in safe hands and that no citizen of the republic to the south of us will suffer one iota through the execution of the policy laid down by Theodore Roosevelt. The country will probably continue to prosper in much the same way as it did before. Perhaps one of the great surprises of the American election was the victory of William L. Douglas in Massachusetts. It was the plan of the Republicans to retire Mr. Bates from the governorship and place him in the cabinet of Mr. Roosevelt. But now that he has been defeated his chances for a portfolio have been considerably lessened. Apropos of the contest in Massachusetts—one of the most powerful influences worked on behalf of Mr. Douglas was reciprocity with Canada. It is doubtful, however, if his election has hastened reciprocity.

The Toronto News, Independent, says—"The usual reprimatory charges after an election contest of rum and money, are heard. If such were in evidence, likely both parties are equally guilty; it is only a matter of the size of the limit."

ECHOES OF THE CAMPAIGN

R. L. Borden, who suffered defeat in Halifax, has been offered a seat in Ontario, Col Sam Hughes retiring in his favor.

WE WANT PROTECTION.

It is sincerely to be hoped that Mr R. L. Borden will see his way clear to contest a conservative constituency and re-enter Parliament. The country needs him. We believe that he could now contest almost any constituency in Canada and come out victorious. Canada now wants adequate protection as she did not want it previous to the elections.

I. C. K. SHOWS A DEFICIT.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—(Special)—Returns from the year 1903-4, just concluded and completed at the railway department, show the working expenses of the Intercolonial were $7,739,982. In 1902-3 they amounted to $6,196,652. The heavy increase is attributed to the difficulty of operating under the severe conditions of last winter.

QUEBEC POLITICS

Provincial Elections to be Held
Quebec, Nov. 4.—The Quebec legislature will be immediately dissolved, and elections are to be held at the shortest possible notice. Mr. Parent has called a cabinet meeting for to-day. It is certain that he will advise the Lieutenant Governor to dissolve the House. Nomination will be on the 23rd, 24th or 25th inst., and voting a week later. This is an exact repetition of Mr. Parent's tactics of 1900.

OBITUARY

The death occurred suddenly at Saginaw, Mich, on Thursday the 3rd inst, of Isaac Bearinger, senior member of the firm of Bearinger & Chapin, who about a year ago purchased the mill and lumber interests of William Montgomery of Dalhousie, N. B. and have since operated them.

Mr. Bearinger was a man little past the prime of life, and had enjoyed good health, and the news of his death came as a surprise and shock to the business community here, where, during his brief visits, he had made many warm friends.

Mr. Bearinger resided in Saginaw, where he had large manufacturing and financial interests, and is survived by Mrs. Bearinger and two sons, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Mr. Fred Bearinger, the eldest son, was in Dalhousie when the sad intelligence reached him, and left immediately for his home, followed on Saturdays "Ocean Limited" by Mr. F. B. Chapin.—Dalhousie Cor.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alfred Sealey whose death occurred at Frederton on Thursday, took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from her residence on George Street and was quite largely attended. A quartet from the choir of the Baptist church was present and sang two favorite hymns. The deceased lady, "Perfect Peace" and the "Sands of Time are sinking." Rev. J. H. MacDonald conducted an impressive funeral service at the house after which the remains were conveyed to their last resting place at Rural Cemetery, John G. Adams being the undertaker in charge.—Gleaner.

As the results of the election were coming in on Thursday night last and showed that the Laurier Government was sustained Wm. Sproul's trout, which were kept in a glass tank in the office of the Royal Hotel, floated, one by one, on the surface of the water in an inverted position—dead, and at three o'clock when Laurier's majority had increased to sixty-three the last and largest of the trout gave up the ghost. We do not see how a return of the Laurier Government would effect these members of the finny tribe, but perhaps they wished to show their sympathy for the proprietor because of his upset expectations.

Mr. Emmerson is understood to have left $3000 behind him when he departed by special train in his palatial car after his Masonic Hall speech, and that was only one of the items that helped to swell the Loggie committee's treasury. As the results of the election were coming in on Thursday night last and showed that the Laurier Government was sustained Wm. Sproul's trout, which were kept in a glass tank in the office of the Royal Hotel, floated, one by one, on the surface of the water in an inverted position—dead, and at three o'clock when Laurier's majority had increased to sixty-three the last and largest of the trout gave up the ghost. We do not see how a return of the Laurier Government would effect these members of the finny tribe, but perhaps they wished to show their sympathy for the proprietor because of his upset expectations.

On Friday morning following election day a sign was tacked on the door of the place the business of one of our leading Conservative business men. It read something like this:—
Funeral will take place tomorrow

Conservative Committee

Mr. Emmerson is understood to have left $3000 behind him when he departed by special train in his palatial car after his Masonic Hall speech, and that was only one of the items that helped to swell the Loggie committee's treasury. But even this cash, worth not to have carried the county for any other candidate than Mr. Loggie. A truly good man like him, sternly refusing to give a drop of liquor or a dime to anyone, and aided by a lot of thoroughly unscrupulous canvassers who stick at nothing to influence a vote, and are well supplied with cash, is a mighty hard man to beat in our elections. Elections are not won by prayers, but prayers help to win—World

Mr. Borden is a man of rare talent and ability but he lacks that one thing which we call personal magnetism. We venture to say that if there had been a Sir John A. McDonald at the helm of the conservative campaign there would have been a different story to relate to-day. Such a man will be found some day and then Premier Laurier or his successor will have to look to his laurels.

The death occurred suddenly at Saginaw, Mich, on Thursday the 3rd inst, of Isaac Bearinger, senior member of the firm of Bearinger & Chapin, who about a year ago purchased the mill and lumber interests of William Montgomery of Dalhousie, N. B. and have since operated them.

Mr. Bearinger was a man little past the prime of life, and had enjoyed good health, and the news of his death came as a surprise and shock to the business community here, where, during his brief visits, he had made many warm friends.

Mr. Bearinger resided in Saginaw, where he had large manufacturing and financial interests, and is survived by Mrs. Bearinger and two sons, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Mr. Fred Bearinger, the eldest son, was in Dalhousie when the sad intelligence reached him, and left immediately for his home, followed on Saturdays "Ocean Limited" by Mr. F. B. Chapin.—Dalhousie Cor.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alfred Sealey whose death occurred at Frederton on Thursday, took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from her residence on George Street and was quite largely attended. A quartet from the choir of the Baptist church was present and sang two favorite hymns. The deceased lady, "Perfect Peace" and the "Sands of Time are sinking." Rev. J. H. MacDonald conducted an impressive funeral service at the house after which the remains were conveyed to their last resting place at Rural Cemetery, John G. Adams being the undertaker in charge.—Gleaner.

Now that the elections are over and there are prospects of cold weather isn't it about time that the Curling and Hockey clubs were getting into harness for the winter's sport. The feeling among the curlers at the close of 1st season was against the use of the rink for skating as a general thing and it was thought that a new skating rink would be built for this season, but so far no move has been made in the matter. At all events preparations for the making of ice should be under way as soon as possible, so that the knights of the beam can get in some practice before the match games are called on

A hat belonging to James Kelly, a stevedore, was found on the Loggieville Beach Saturday night and Sunday morning, his body was discovered near the shore, floating in about two feet of water. It is said that the unfortunate man was last seen about 11 o'clock the morning after the election when he tried to gain admittance into a house near the wharf, but was thrown away before the door was opened. It is supposed that on trying to get into a boat he lost his footing, fell into the water and was drowned. He was about 55 years old and leaves a grown up family at Loggieville—Advocate.

The I. C. R. clerks are still waiting for their salaries for the month of October. Previous to the election the word was passed around that there was to be a general increase, and it is now stated that the delay is caused by the Minister of Railways going over the pay list and readjusting the wages. The shopmen and trainmen are also getting impatient over the delay in the distribution of the monthly cheques. The increases under the Machinist's new schedule, adopted by the department a few days before the election, are expected to come into effect this month. Some of the increases, it is said, amount to forty or fifty cents a day.

The Redden concert was repeated last Monday night was a success as before but the audience was small. Why was this? The concert was certainly deserving of a better hearing.

In violin—Johnnie and Willie Riddle, Vans McDonald, Fred Sharpe and Phil Vermette. TRAINING FOR MOTHERS.

Dr. Paul de Vuyt, Inspector of Agricultural Education in Belgium, called on Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, at Toronto recently. Dr. Vuyt is on his way home from St. Louis, where he was one of the judges at the Exhibition, and his visit in Toronto was for the purpose of endeavoring to persuade the Ontario Government to send a representative to the First International Congress on Child Study, Home Education and Protection of Children, to be held at the Universal Exposition of 1905, Belgium, in September, 1905. All persons interested in the education of children are invited to be present at the Congress, the secretary of which is M. Piss of Brussels.

Dr. Vuyt stated that the agricultural colleges in Canada and the United States are in advance of the European colleges, but we have a great deal to learn yet on this continent in regard to the primary and secondary education of boys and girls along agricultural lines—that is to say, preparatory agricultural education in the public and high schools. There is one feature of educational work that is regarded of the greatest importance in Belgium, for which he could find no counterpart at all on this side of the Atlantic—the training of girls, with a view to preparing them for the responsibilities of motherhood. Dr. Vuyt strongly argues that the education of children should not all be left to the schools; they must receive a good deal of instruction in the home if they are to be properly fitted for the battle of life. He does not find included in the American educational scheme any provision for helping the mother of a family to give her children the necessary home training. "There are a great many more mothers than there are teachers," remarks Dr. Vuyt, "and a great deal in the way of teaching can and should be done in the home. In Belgium we give instruction to the girls in the public and high schools that will be of assistance to them as the mothers of the future. We point out to them how they may direct the child's studies at home. We consider this very great importance, and have been carrying it on for a good many years, and the results have been very satisfactory."

Dr. Vuyt also had an interview with Deputy Minister of Education Miller.

A phrase to women.

The late Nellie Farren, when she visited America, with the London Gaiety Company, danced before a well known New York club.

At the end of the dance, during an informal supper, some one began to talk about the new woman, a burning topic at that time.

"Do the English believe in woman's emancipation?" a lawyer said to Miss Farren. "Do they believe in opening the same fields to women as to men and in paying them at the same rate?"

"Oh, yes," said the little actress. "Even the English tramps believe all that. A tramp asked a countrywoman of mine one day for assistance, and she said to the man sternly: "Why don't you go to work?"

"Madam," said the tramp, "twenty years ago I made a vow not to do another stroke of work till I women were paid the same wages as men."

—New York Tribune.

Other King Edward Her Pipe.

It is said that King Edward tells with great glee that when in the west of Ireland last year he one day went into a cabin whose occupant was an old woman who sat by the turf fire smoking an old clay pipe. The old lady welcomed the King and, asking him to sit down, wiped a three legged stool with her apron. The King did so and said: "Do you know who I am, ma'am?"

"Begorra, I don't," was the reply. "Well, I am the King of England."

"D'ye tell me so?" said the old lady in a tone of surprise, and then, remembering the rights of hospitality, she took the pipe out of her mouth, wiped the shank with her hand and, passing it to the King, said, "Will yer honor smoke?"

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS SICK?

Let your morning urine stand for 24 hours in a glass or vessel, and then if it is milky or cloudy, or contains a reddish brick-dust sediment, or if particles or germs float about in it, your kidneys are diseased.

It is natural to pass urine three times a day, but many who regard themselves as healthy are obliged to pass water six to ten times daily and are obliged to get up frequently during the night.

Uncle Terry CHARLES CLARK MUNN

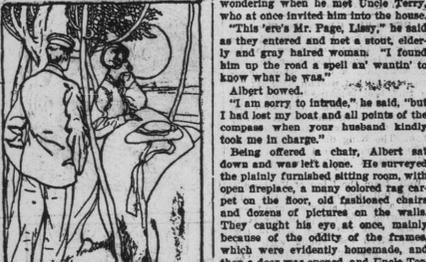

The man in the wagon laughed. "Say, stranger," he observed with a chuckle, "you 'hind me o' the fellow that got full an' wandered round for a spell till he fetched up to a house an' sed to the man that cum to the door, 'If you will let me who I am or what I am or what I want ter go, I'll give ye a dollar.'"

"I'd like ter 'commodate ye," he added, "but as I'm carryin' Uncle Sam's mail, an' must git home an' 'tend the light, an' as ye don't know what ye want ter go, ye best jump in an' go down to Saint's Rest, where I live, an' in the mornin' we'll try an' hunt yer boat."

It seemed the only thing to do, and Albert availed himself of the chance. "Can you tell me the spot where you found me?" he said to the man as they started on. "I'd like to go back there tomorrow and find my cushions."

"I wouldn't 'a' took ye fer one," he said. "Ye look too honest, I ain't much stock in lawyers," he added with a chuckle. "I've had 'perience with 'em. One o' 'em sold me a hole in the ground once, an' it cost me the hull o' twenty year's savin'! Ye'll excuse me fer bein' blunt—it's my natur'."

"Oh, I don't mind," responded Albert laughingly. "But you mustn't judge us all by one rascal." "They drove on, and as they jogged up and down the sharp hills he caught sight here and there of the ocean, and along the road, which consisted of two ruts, a path and two grass grown ridges, he saw wild roses in endless profusion. On either hand was an inexhaustible thicket. In the little valleys grew masses of rank ferns and on the ridges, interspersed between the wild roses, clusters of red bunchberries. The sun was almost down when they reached the top of a long hill and he saw at its foot a small harbor connected with the ocean by a narrow inlet and around it a dozen or more towers hearse. Beyond was a tangle of rocks and, rising above them, the top of a white lighthouse. Uncle

The moon that Frank had planned to use was nearing its full and high overhead, and as the two men sought congeniality in tobacco out on that lonesome point Albert could not curb his admiration for the scene. His offer of a cigar to his host had been accepted, and as that quaint man sat quietly enjoying an odor and flavor he was unaccustomed to Albert said:

"This experience has been a surprise to me from the moment I met you. I had an eight hour's scramble over the rocks and through a tangle of scrub spruce and briars until I was utterly lost and believed this island an impossible wilderness. Then you came and broadened me to one of the most beautiful spots I ever saw. I should like to stay here all summer and do nothing but look at this magnificent ocean view and stretch these bold shores."

"Do you paint pictures too?" queried Uncle Terry, suddenly interested. "Ye'll see plenty o' thar," was the reply, "all the time she can git." Then he added with a slight reflection of pride, "Mebbe ye noticed some o' her pictures in the artist's room?" "I saw a lot of pictures there," answered Albert, "but it was too dark to see them well. I should like to look at them in the mornin'."

"No, it comes nat'ly to her," replied Uncle Terry, "she showed the best o' her mind 'fore she was ten year's old, an' she's peestered 'em ever since ter git her canvas an' paints an' sich. But then, I'm 'willin' ter," he added in a tender tone, "Telly's a good girl, an' 'Lissy' an' me set great store by her. She's all we've got in the world." Then pointing to a small white stone just to the right of where they were, he added, "Thar's what the other one's been layin' ter moan twenty year's."

CHAPTER XX.

THE appealing yet wondering glance that Albert Page met as he bowed to the girl standing beside the table that evening was one he never afterward forgot. It was only one, for after that and during the entire meal her blue eyes were kept veiled by her long lashes or modestly directed elsewhere.

"It's a charming spot down here," he remarked soon after the meal began, "and so hidden that it is a surprise. I noticed the light as we came in, but did not see the village."

"Waal, ye didn't miss anything," responded his host. "None o' the houses are much for style, an' mebbe it's lucky they're hid behind the rocks."

"I thought them quaint and comfortable," observed Albert, "but what an odd name you have for the place! Why do you call it Saint's Rest?"

"Chiefly 'cause none o' the people have any chance to become sinners, I reckon," was the answer. "It's a lonesome in the winter, though."

"I suppose fishing is your principal occupation here," continued Albert, seeing that sentiment was not considered by Uncle Terry. "Your land does not seem adapted for cultivation."

"There ain't much chance for tillin'," he replied. "The land's wuss'n' what I was usin' up, down in Connecticut, an' thar we had ter round up the sheep once a week an' sharpen their noses on

Many Women Suffer Untold Agony From Kidney Trouble.

Very often they think it is from so-called "female disease." There is less female trouble than they think. Women suffer from backache, sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, and a dragging-down feeling in the loins. So do men, and they do not have "female trouble."

Why, then, blame all your trouble to female disease? With healthy kidneys, few women will ever have "female disorders." The kidneys are so closely connected with all the internal organs, that when the kidneys go wrong, everything goes wrong. Much distress would be saved if women would only take

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS at stated intervals.

Miss Nellie Clark, Lambeth, Ont., tells of her cure in the following words:—"I suffered for about two years with kidney trouble. I ached all over, especially in the small of my back; not being able to sleep well, no appetite, menstruation irregular, nervous irritability, and brick-dust deposit in urine, were some of my symptoms. I took Doan's Kidney Pills, and in pain in my back gradually left me, my appetite returned, I sleep well, and am effectually cured. I can highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from kidney trouble."

Miss Alice M. Smith, of Minneapolis, Minn., tells how woman's monthly suffering may be permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. FERRIS—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain, and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend I ran across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it worked wonders with me. I now experience no pain, and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carries women safely through the various natural crises and is the safe-guard of woman's health.

OPEN LETTER.
Campbellton, N. B., Nov 7, 1904.
To Mr. Kilgour Shives,
Campbellton, N. B.

Sir—In the early morning of the recent election of the third just your Circular headed "Misrepresentation and Falsehood" dated 2nd inst was put in my hands too late for reply before the close of the polls, and were it not that it involves matter of public moment I would not even now address you in this open letter for the mere purpose of resenting the language of the Circular, which I don't hesitate to say is unworthy the gentleman whose signature is appended. If as your language would imply you have taken personal affront by my introduction of your name on the public platform respecting matters wherein you have trespassed upon public right, I can assure you it has neither worried me or added in any degree to my respect for your judgment.

Whether you have been misinformed or your mind has run riot on the subject your references in the circular to the "Athol Mill Siding" and the "Customs Export Forms" are entirely uncalled for, as I made no reference to either and if you will now re-read the balance of your Circular with some degree of calmness you will discover that you have not denied a single statement that I publicly made.

So that there may be no misunderstanding I will here repeat the statements which I made upon the hustings at Dalhousie and again at the public meeting in the Curling Rink at Campbellton, which, by the way, I reaffirm and assert are impossible of truthful contradiction.

First—That the public property and machinery of the I. C. Ry. were available to you on your order to the exclusion of other manufacturers.

Second—That the Siding at Andrew St. in the Town of Campbellton is built within the public right of way of the Intercolonial and through the rights of adjoining owners, notably one who is himself a shipper, and the public generally, merit consideration, the Siding is locked up to the exclusive use of yourself.

Third—That after the Government expropriated your wharf at the north end of Ramsay Street, which by the way is the only available shipping berth in the port—and the arbitrators had made an award in your favor of $35000.00 the Department of Marine and Fisheries made an order the effect of which was to give you the exclusive use of the berth at that wharf.

Respecting those statements I am prepared with sworn testimony that the machinery of the I. C. Ry. has been lent to your firm and is available on your order when denied to others under similar conditions, and that the service of the Siding at Andrew Street has been denied to other shippers and persons desiring its use for unloading.

DOCTORS DID HER NO GOOD.

By the time Miss L. L. Hanson, Waterside, N. B., had taken Three Boxes of MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS She Was Completely Cured.

She writes as follows:—
"Gentlemen—I feel it my duty to express to you the benefit I have derived from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was last spring I began to have heart failure, and for a while I then got so bad that I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors to attend me, but they did me no good. I got so tired until I tried a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I went to the store for a box, and by the time I had taken three-quarters of a box I began to get relief, and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured. I feel very grateful to your medicine for what it has done for me."

without an order from you even when the same was not in use, and those other people compelled to pay the extra cost of haulage.

Respecting the third statement I beg to publish below an extract from the official Hansard of the Commons under date of July 28, 1904, which speaks for itself.

As to the Siding at Andrew Street having been built at your expense I am not in a position to say, but it is a fact that you receive a rebate on every car shipped from it and also on every car shipped from your private siding at Athol, but my point is that you ought not to have any exclusive rights over a siding built upon the public property.

Your statement that an order relating to the wharf berth is analogous or in harmony with the rule elsewhere, for instance at Halifax St. John, Newcastle, Lewis and Montreal, is misleading. I am not aware whether those wharfs are the exclusive property of the Railway or not but in any case the conditions of shipment are different where all shippers use the rail.

In this particular case the wharf is not owned by the Railway but is one of the public wharves of the Country controlled by the Marine Department and open to the shipping of all flags according to the ordinary rules of the port and in addition to that you are the only shipper using the rail. Now it must be borne in mind that the Intercolonial Railway in its relations to this wharf is simply a Common Carrier enjoying no peculiar privileges to the berth over other common carriers and as evidence of this I point you to the fact that the order emanates from the Marine Department instead of the Railway. You must therefore see that the order carries the effect which it was intended to have of giving to you, the only rail shipper, the exclusive use of the wharf berth which you had sold to the Government. Further I have been reliably informed and am ready to prove that parties loading cargo there are unable to obtain the use of the rail without your permission. You cannot therefore wonder at my statement that the Government had virtually purchased the wharf from you for $35,000.00 and then presented you with its exclusive use.

With apology for slang I think you are not "the only pebble on the beach" and that there are other interests in the port worth protecting. I don't mind telling you that the accompanying extract from Hansard is the result of my personal effort to bring this matter before Parliament. As Sw. & Nor. V. Consul at this Port the matter came under my notice and I forwarded to Mr. Fowle, M. P. the facts of what I regarded and still view as an injury to the Port and a gross injustice.

Your willingness to leave the truth of my statement to three of my supporters Messrs McKenzie, McDonald and McAlister, made me sure that no one of them could be persuaded to undertake the function except from a sense of absolute duty, but your desire to donate something to each of the churches need not be thwarted and if these gentlemen will act in the matter I will be very happy indeed to appear before them.

In connection with those matters upon the public platform I spoke of "White Slavery"; you M. P. have omitted a reference to it in your Circular but I may explain that I meant by that a condition of Government wherein the one man interest is paramount, the rights of others are trampled upon and evaded and justice is not administered. Touching your remark in the Circular "My record is a clean one." I am not aware of having ever alleged the contrary nor am I aware of having made you or your record an issue in the late campaign, but you may remember there are degrees of purity even among the angels. Since you are travelling with a chip on your shoulder, however, I may remind you that I have not yet received a satisfactory explanation how you obtained the approval of the Local Government to the transfer of the Muskoka lands while a Memorial against their illegal holding was pending. Was any tribute paid to Caesar or was your contribution to the election fund prompted by a comfortable sense of favor received?

And by the way, you might rise to explain how it is that you are even now negotiating with the Dominion Government for the sale of a right of way to the old Ferry Landing which belongs to the public and is as old almost as Martin's Point.

These are matters in which the public have not entirely lost interest and if you refrain from further personal references I would suggest that you issue another Circular though before the eve of another election.

With kind regards I beg to remain,
Yours very truly,
W. A. MOTT.

SUPPLY—WHARF AT CAMPBELLTON:
N. B.

Hon W. S. Fielding (Minister of Finance) moved that the House go into Committee of Supply.

Mr. Geo Fowler—Mr. Speaker, before you leave the chair, there is a matter which I wish to call to the attention of the government in connection with the public wharf at Campbellton, Restigouche county, N. B. It seems that there is just one public wharf at Campbellton, which all the shippers of lumber particularly at that port are obliged to use, but it seems that one corporation have been granted a preference in the use of this wharf by the Department of Marine and Fisheries, without any good reason therefor. The wharf is necessary particularly at that port for the export of lumber, and the custom of the wharf at that port. An order was given, a copy of which I have, and which I will read, by the Department of Marine and Fisheries, dated June 16, 1904, addressed to Mr. Asker, who is the wharfinger at Campbellton. It is as follows:

"I am to instruct you to see that ships taking cargo direct from the cars on the government wharf at Campbellton are given the railway or wharf berth, it has, the department understands, been the custom of the past for the first vessel in to let the choice of berths but in future precedence is to be given in this connection to vessels loading from the cars."

I am, sir, your obedient servant
(Sgd) E. Gourdeau,
Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries,
Wharfinger, Campbellton, N. B.

As a matter of fact at this government wharf there is only room for one steamer to load at a time, and the complaint is made that the corporation known as the Shives Lumber Company have the right to use this wharf, which is given here, to take the wharf and to take this berth whenever they choose, no matter whether other vessels are in before them or not. Complaint was made to the department, in a letter written by the Wm Richards Company, Limited, under date of June 23, 1904. That letter is as follows:

Campbellton, N. B. June 23 1904
F. Gourdeau, Esq.
Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa, Can.

Dear Sir—In reference to enclosed copy of your instruction of June 16 to Mr. Asker, wharfinger at this port, we hardly think that you know or are at all aware of the condition of affairs made to the department, in a letter written by the Wm Richards Company, Limited, under date of June 23, 1904. That letter is as follows:

must do such business at a great loss to the port, as there is no safe berth within the port, and there are days when you cannot load a steamer at Point la Gade, because it is an open and exposed roadway, and lighters can not put alongside the ship. We feel that if this order is carried out as intended, and we have no rights to the use of the government property at this port, and it is given over to one shipper for their absolute use and benefit, it means that we cannot see any course left open to us but to stop doing business and shipping from this port. We might further add that we have a very valuable asset situated at this port and are large employers of labour and make more use of the wharf than any other shippers, as by reference to the customs here you will ascertain. We would therefore ask that the said order be cancelled forthwith and that both shippers be given equal rights in regard to the use of the government wharves and property at this port, and that the old state of affairs be restored namely that the first vessel arriving to have the preference of the use of the government wharves on payment of the proper tolls, and we would thank you to give this matter your serious and prompt consideration, as we can assure you that it is very serious matter as far as this port is concerned awaiting your reply.

We are, your respectfully,
(Sgd) Wm Richards & Co (Ltd)
To that letter the department replied by the following letter, bearing date of July 2nd, and addressed to Wm Richards & Company, Limited:

Your letter of the 23rd of June has been fully considered. Instructions were given Mr. Asker, wharfinger, to give the preference to vessels loading from the cars. It was understood that Mr. Shives, at considerable expense, placed a siding on the wharf in order that vessels might be loaded from the cars.

I am instructed that that is absolutely untrue; I am instructed that Mr. Shives did nothing of the sort; I am instructed that Mr. Shives expended no money upon the government wharf after the expropriation proceedings were taken.

In view of the fact and the expense to which Mr. Shives has been put—Remember, this is the sole ground upon which the preference is granted according to the letter of the department.

In view of the fact and the expense to which Mr. Shives has been put, it seems reasonable that vessels that have been loaded from the cars should be given the preference with regard to this berth. It was also understood that two vessels being there together owned by different firms would rarely occur, and consequently any other firm shipping lumber would not to any extent suffer. The department does not wish to place any obstacle in the way of yourselves in loading lumber from the wharf, and would be pleased to consider your interest as well as that of Mr. Shives. It is understood that there will be a large expenditure for wharf accommodation at your wharf in the future and that there will be abundance of room for lumber dealers to load and unload lumber in Campbellton.

That is a case of live horse and you'll get grass.

In the meantime, I do not consider that the instructions to Mr. Asker can be at this stage cancelled unless you are able to prove that you are suffering severe damage.

In reply to that, the Messrs Richards and Company addressed another letter dated 6th July in which they say:

Re-increased correspondence, we would like to add that since this order has been issued and it has become known, it has already compelled us to pay extra freight over the other shipper from this port, as the steamship owners are fully aware that when a steamer moves to Point la Gade, that it involves a lot of extra expense; we might say that we have recently had to pay 5 per cent standard on account of this order and think that in all decency and fair play it should be cancelled.

This means, that if Richards and Company cannot have the use of the government wharf they must load their steamers at Point la Gade which is ten miles distant, and in an open roadway which in storms from certain quarters is very dangerous for steamers. It is impossible to carry on the loading there under certain conditions. The steamer is detained therefore much longer than would be necessary, if she were at the government wharf and in consequence Richards and Company have to pay higher rates on the shipments of deals. The letter continues;

We also have a steamer in port since last Friday, and on Saturday the writer requested the harbor master to allow him to have the berth after the Shives steamer sailed, and the reply he got (Continued on Second Page)

ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT

Social and Personal Gleanings of the Shiretown

The election campaign is over and the Advocate correspondent was correct in his prognostication that Mr Turgeon would be elected by a large majority. In fact the other man was not in it. There are many things to account for such a result but the principal reason for the stand the people took at this time was that Mr. Turgeon during the past eight years has given unflinching attention to the affairs of his County. No man no matter how humble has written him a letter without receiving a prompt reply, and every reasonable request of his constituents has received his earnest attention. In disputes among the several aspirants for office and their friends he has shown excellent judgment and almost invariably those who at first were inclined to question his reflection have after a study of the situation come around to his way of thinking thus proving that he has made a study of the County and its people with which few members would have taken the trouble to do. We think that all his opponents will profit by his election and we are sure they will as a rule find Mr. Turgeon and his supporters ready to meet them half way; there are however a few people who may yet feel sorry for having deserted the standard they set up as a guide some years ago.

General satisfaction is expressed in Gloucester County over the return of the Minister of railways by such a large majority and the manner in which he was supported by the employees of the I. C. R. in Moncton.

The member of the Sons of Temperance Division at Bathurst had a social entertainment in their hall on Halloween night and quite an enjoyable evening was spent.

Owing to a series of vexation delays on the part of manufacturers etc, the Electric Light Company have not yet received all the materials and the plant is not all ready. They hope however to have everything completed by the middle of November and lights lit by that date; there is always delay at the conclusion of such undertakings and we understand Newcastle and other towns had the same experience.

Mr. James P. Byrne has returned from a visit to a friend in Halifax.

Miss Millie Carter, who has been visiting friends in Fall River and other places in the northern states has returned home.

Several parties of hunters have arrived who propose still hunting moose and caribou the calling season.

THE INQUEST

Jury's Verdict—Fragments of Shells Identified by Expert

Hull, England, Nov 3.—George Henry Smith and Wm Leggett were, at about 12.30 a.m. on Oct 28 while fishing with trawls aboard the British steam trawler Crane, with Board of Trade marks, exhibited with regulation lights burning, killed by shots fired without warning or provocation, from certain Russian war vessels, at a distance of about a quarter of a mile.

This is the text of the jury's verdict at the Coroner's inquest on the fishermen victims of the North Sea tragedy. At the request of the British Government, represented by the Earl of Dysart, solicitor of the Treasury, this conservative award was rendered by the first court of enquiry, preceding the sessions of the international tribunal. The Government asked the jury not to find a verdict of willful murder or manslaughter, because "delicate questions are going on which should not be made more difficult; and they ought not to let anyone think that they had prejudiced the case before having heard both sides."

To the verdict the jury added the following rider: "On this occasion, probably the most momentous in the annals of the British Empire, the jury would record their appreciation of the efforts made by the Government interested to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion of the matter, which, we feel, has no parallel in the history of the world."

The British Government, the Board of Trade, the owners of the Gamecock fleet, and the relatives of the deceased, and wounded fishermen were represented by counsel but the Russian Government did not participate. The proceedings occupied only about three hours.

The testimony consisted of medical evidence, by which it was proven that the death of Smith and Leggett was the result of shell and machine gun wounds, than an expert identified fragments of shell by private marks, which he said were undoubtedly Russian; and the stories of captains and mates of the trawlers. These latter related that they were engaged in their regular work the ships of the second Pacific fleet in two squadrons emerged suddenly from the haze, and throwing the glare of their searchlights on the Gamecock fleet, without warning and discharging flare green lights, the fisherman's signal, and though within actual speaking distance of one vessel, commenced a cannonade, which the fishermen at first, not realizing the danger, enjoyed, thinking it was a sham fight. The firing lasted half an hour.

To each of these witnesses was put the vital question regarding the presence of a foreign vessel or torpedo boat. Each with equal positiveness, denied that at any time preceding or during the firing was the Japanese, British or any foreign vessel seen by them or the accompanying fishing fleet. It was also stated that there was no Japanese among the crews, and that none of the trawlers carried arms of any description. One of the skippers replying to a question by the Coroner, said that during the five weeks he was in the North Sea he had not seen any warships until that night.

A SKETCH OF CAMPBELLTON.

The Presbyterian Witness contains the following in reference to the northern railway hub—

"Campbellton, the capital and chief commercial and railway centre of West-Jersey Co., N. B., is unique for situation. No other town in these provinces has surroundings as all like Campbellton. Six miles below Tide Head, and where the waters of the Restigouche River, far famed for its Alpine-like scenery, mingle with the ebbing and flowing tides of Bay Chaleur. Campbellton occupies a sloping site on the southern bank, which at first rises gently, then more abruptly, as it crosses the winding track of the I. C. R. Back of the town are high hills, the most conspicuous of which is "Sugar Loaf" mountain, rising to the height of one thousand feet. The summit of this great "Sugar Loaf" is steep on several parts, particularly on the side facing the town, from which it is distant a mile and a half, but apparently, to the stranger unaccustomed to the large scale on which the scenery is here laid out, not more than half a mile. Across the broad estuary of the river there is a broad plain skirted by abrupt and lofty mountains. The scenery is indeed both grand and beautiful.

"Campbellton is the railway centre of Northern New Brunswick and is a busy and thriving town of probably four thousand people. During the last fifteen years it has more than doubled. Water street contains many fine business places and on the highest ground there are several costly and handsome residences. The town has an air of thrift and enterprise, that speaks well for its people. Farming in the surrounding country is a large element in the prosperity of the town, and salmon fishing must be noted as of considerable importance. But the outstanding industry, apart from farming and the railway is lumbering, which is carried on very extensively. Within the neighborhood of the town, and along both sides of the river, are ten lumber mills—some of them very extensive, which employ a large number of men. The largest is owned by the Shives Lumber Co., who have two hundred men at work. Behind these mills and beyond the view of the passer-by, are the vast forests where hundreds of busy men prepare the logs that feed these voracious saws which sing their constant song of industry as they transform the logs into lumber, counted by the tens of millions, and sent for market to all climes."

PORT ARTHUR

The Besieged City Still Holds Out

DESPERATE CONDITION

Ammunition, Food and Fuel Running Short

CHEE FOO NOV 9

The Japanese continue to bombard Port Arthur and the shells are falling so incessantly that the Russians have practically abandoned the repair of the works protecting the harbor.

Citizen volunteers and the police are now reinforcing the garrisons of the forts, according to the stories of Chinese arriving here.

So many men were killed on both sides during the last assault that many bodies lay unburied and in some instances dogs ate the dead.

The Chinese say that the forts on Golden Hill have done practically no firing for months past, and it is believed their ammunition has run short.

The demolition of the Chinese new town is almost completed, a thousand houses having been destroyed for the valuable fire wood they contained. The town is constantly catching fire and the majority of the warehouses and stores belonging to foreigners have been burned to the ground.

Tokio, Nov 9-4 p. m.—It is reported that the Japanese have completely silenced the forts on Rihlung and Susung mountains and that their main strength is now attacking Etse.
