EXTREMISTS RENEWING ACTIVITIES IN CENTRAL GERMANY

TWENTY-NINE NAMES ADDED TO LONDON VOTING LIST BY COURT OF REVISION TODAY

Hordes of Anxious Voters Swoop Down On Officials, Anxious To Know If Their Names Are On List — Evening Sessions Not At All Probable.

Although the courts of revision appointed in the four different wards to revise the voters' list in preparation for the temperance referendum did not open until 10 o'clock this morning, 29 names had been added to the lists before noon. It is fully expected that the six-day session of the courts in this city will swell the voters' list by several hundred names.

The number of successful applicants by no means indicate the number of anxious voters who appeared before each of the courts to insure that they would be given a vote. In some of the wards at least two-thirds of the inquirers discovered that their names were already on the list.

According to one of the officials in charge these inquiries caused considerable additional work for the revising officers. It was the duty of the officer in charge, he said, to decide whether a person was eligible for a vote, to administer the oath and to see that the name was put on the list, but not to see whether the person's name was on the list. Many people have a misconception of the work of the revision courts, and so several appeared before the officers this morning to inquire whether their names were enrolled. These inquiries, the officer said should be made at the city hall.

Courts of revision held at the court house lacked excitement. Not a single name was struck off the lists for the referendum in Ward One and Ward Two. In the former ward, Col. C. M. R. Graham added 14 names this morning, and in the latter H. R. Cluff added 4 names. Col. Graham's court is in session in the county police court room, and Mr. Cluff's in a room adjoining the sheriff's office.

Business Slow.

Business was not very brisk at the revision court in Ward Three, where John M. Gunn, holding forth in the rear of Chalmer's Church, is the revising officer. A medical student was the first caller, and took oath on the New Testament and had his name added to the list.

A veteran came to make inquiries as to getting his English bride's name on the list and promised the revising officer that she would be down early this afternoon to do so. A few other citizens in Ward 3 dropped in to gather general information.

Nine in Ward 4.

Nine names were added to the voters' list in Ward 4 during the session of the court held in the Winter Garden, with E. W. M. Flock in charge. Although it was confidently expected that a majority of the applicants would be women seven of this number were men.

The leaders of the temperance forces in this city have requested the revising officers to hold evening sessions, but in most cases this will be impossible. Among other reasons in Ward 4, the Winter Garden will not be available in the evening. According to the regulations sessions of the court are to be held at 10 o'clock in the morning and at 2 o'clock each afternoon of the week. To enable those who will be unable to get away during the business hours, Mr. Flock will hold noon sessions on Wednesday and Friday between the hours of 12 and 1:30 o'clock.

COUNCIL WILL ENDEAVOR TO STRAIGHTEN OUT CITY GAS AND STREET RY. TANGLES

Special Meeting Called For Tuesday Noon At Request of Seven Aldermen—Draw Up Official Statement of Council's Attitude Toward Companies.

At the request of seven aldermen a special meeting of the city council has been called for noon Tuesday to discuss gas and street railway matters. This is the first time in many years that this rule of procedure has been invoked. Usually the mayor calls any special meetings which he considers necessary, but a majority of the aldermen may request him to call a meeting for any purpose which they may name.

The aldermen signing the request for a special meeting were: G. A. Wenige, H. J. Childs, W. A. Wilson, G. B. Drake, B. F. Brighton, P. J. Watt, F. R. Watkinson and Cameron Wilson.

It is understood that the meeting will endeavor to draw up some sort of an official statement of the council's attitude toward the city gas tangle for presentation to the Legislature. Much confusion resulted when it was brought before that body last week. The gas company submitted its bill authorizing a price of $1.25 for a thousand cubic feet and other clauses relating to a capitalization of $400,000. Mayor Little speaking for the council said they had indorsed this proposal.

Signed Statement.

Ald. Cameron Wilson, another member of the deputation which went to the Legislature, declared that the council was only willing to make a settlement on that basis and not on the actual figures quoted by the gas company. He produced a statement to this effect signed by nine of the aldermen. This left matters in a confused state, the Legislature referred the question to a special committee which brought in a recommendation that the company be allowed $1.25 until the end of the year while an investigation is made of its standing. This proposal will come before the private bills committee and the Legislature this week, it is expected.

The council is therefore anxious to give the Legislature the official attitude which it holds towards the matter and clear up the doubt which was caused on the last occasion.

Motion of Protest.

In regard to the street railway it is probable that a motion of protest against the McCrae bill will be passed. This measure which has been introduced by the Conservative member from Sudbury would give the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board power to increase the fares of street railways it was operating if it considered such an increase necessary.

Local aldermen claim the motion was leveled directly at London as street railways affairs in other Ontario cities have been cleared up and London is the only one which remains in a tangle. If it is passed it would give the board, which is now operating the road, the power to increase fares here without

1921 BUILDING TO DATE LEADS 1920 BY $42,000

Record for March $172,570 —Ahead of Last Year's Figures.

Although only three days of March remain, building figures are giving every indication of establishing a sound lead over those for last year. Already they are $42,000 ahead of them. By the end of the month they will have a lead of at least $50,000, Building Inspector Piper said today.

The total for the month, with permits issued today, stands at $109,160. With the previous total for the year of $105,660 this is a grand total for 1921 of $214,720 as compared to $172,570 at the end of March last year.

The Empire Brass Company took out a permit today for a 1-story brick addition to a transformer house on Dundas street east, at a cost of $1,000. G. A. Wadell was given a permit to erect a 1-story frame dwelling at 37 Glenwood avenue at a cost of $2,000, and D. Allgrove was given a permit to build a 1-story brick veneer dwelling on Wolseley avenue to cost $3,000.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF SILESIAN PLEBISCITE NOT YET RECEIVED

Berlin, March 28.—The German Government has not yet received the official report of the Silesian plebiscite commission showing the distribution of the total vote in the area by districts, towns and communes. The only authentic information in possession of official quarters consists of the original unofficial estimated percentage of the total vote credited to Germany. This gave Germany 61 per cent of all the votes cast, but did not indicate the distribution by districts and communes.

EASTER FROLIC IS RESUMED AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, March 28.—After a lapse of four years Easter egg rolling was permitted on the White House grounds today, and Washington youngsters roamed at will over the immense lawns. Grown-ups, except those accompanying children, were barred. The president and Mrs. Harding have signified their intention of spending part of the afternoon with the egg rollers.

The annual frolic was discontinued by President Wilson in 1917 after war was declared.

1,600,000 ELIGIBLE TO VOTE ON REFERENDUM

Revision of Lists Throughout Province Begins Today — 800,000 Women Are Entitled To Vote On Question of Importation of Liquor Into Province—Polling Day On April 18.

Toronto, March 28.—If every eligible voter in Ontario exercises his—or her—franchise at the coming referendum, voting on which tokes place three weeks from today, April 18—approximately 1,600,000 votes will be cast.

Falling on a Monday, the referendum should put an end to the long controversy as to whether women are sufficiently interested in the ballot to forsake their household duties. On this will rest the proportion of the approximately 800,000 women entitled to vote who will mark their ballot. Whether the housewife will forsake the proverbial "washday" to go to the polls to "clean up" the slate of either side of the two factions remains to be seen.

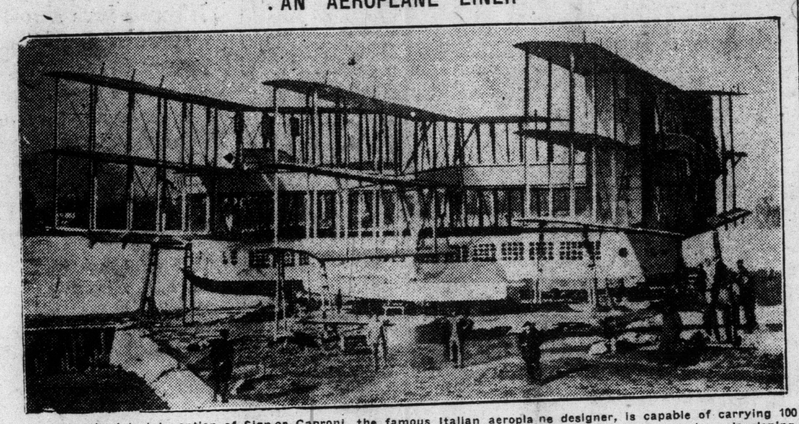

Straight Majority.

The outcome of the referendum depends on a straight majority of votes polled.

Revising officers here this morning began the work of revising the voters' lists that are to be used in Toronto. The work is to be done by 43 officers, and the revision centres opened at 11 a.m., and will remain open at night until all the cases for the day are disposed of.

Some dissatisfaction exists here against the arrangements for the revision of the lists, and a public protest will be lodged tonight at a meeting of the referendum supporters to be held in West Toronto. The revision centre for this district is located at the city hall, almost five miles ditant from the electoral district.

This, the latest invention of Signor Caproni, the famous Italian aeroplane designer, is capable of carrying 100 passengers. Its wings consist of three sets of triplanes with an area of 7,150 square feet. Eight engines developing 3,200 horse power propel it. Its total weight is 24½ tons.

COURT REFUSES TO RECOGNIZE CHURCH DECREE

Montreal Judge Dismisses Action Brought by Woman.

TO ANNUL MARRIAGE

Judge Coderre Gives Judgment, But Does Not State Reasons.

Montreal, March 28.—Without stating any reasons for judgment, Mr. Justice Coderre has dismissed an action by Dame E. R. Ahern, seeking he annulment of her marriage to R. J. MacNamara, on the ground of religious impediment. The parties were married in 1916 before Rev. F. H. Sproule, Methodist minister. Plaintiff stated that she is a Roman Catholic, whereas her husband is non-Catholic. The marriage was annulled by a decree of the Roman Catholic archbishop April 20 last, and plaintiff submitted that she was entitled to have the ecclesiastic decree declared good and valid by the civil court.

WOULD ALLOW AUSTRIA TO RENOUNCE PLEDGES MADE TO THE ALLIES

Paris, March 28.—Consideration of a plan by which the Allies would renounce the pledges given them by Austria in the treaty of St. Germain was begun here this morning by the finance commission of the League of Nations. This step is urged so that Austria may be able to borrow money upon these pledges to buy raw materials. It is declared that by this means a plan may be devised which will improve the economic situation in Austria.

MERCHANTS REPORT LARGEST EASTER TRADE IN HISTORY

Regular Christmas Buying Spirit Manifest All Last Week—Practically Every Womanin London Wore Something "New" For Easter—Stores Jammed All Day Saturday With Busy Shoppers.

The spring-like conditions which heralded the advent of Easter has had its effect in connection with the volume of business done in London. The genial weather has undoubtedly warmed the hearts of tradesmen and customers alike, for a very satisfactory business appears to have been done, the shopping spirit being quite pronounced.

Undoubtedly the city has got well away from the war conditions which had such a marked effect upon trade, and the removal of luxury tax last December had also most beneficial results so far as stimulating the buying of seasonable goods is concerned.

Drygoods and millinery stores have been especially busy for some weeks and all report about the best Easter trade they have ever had.

"Our Easter trade was away ahead of last year," said R. J. Young to The Advertiser. "Millinery was a very strong feature, and ladies' ready-to-wear, gloves and hosiery were in great demand."

Smallman & Ingram report an Easter fully equal to anything they have yet had. The fine weather was admittedly a factor, and there was a brisk business done in millinery and ready-to-wear. "As for ladies' hosiery and underwear," said the manager, "it was almost impossible, last Saturday, to wait on the large numbers of customers."

The Best Ever.

The Easter trade of J. H. Chapman & Co./ was also good, "In fact it was the best we ever had." The Advertiser was told. "On Saturday we sold more hats than ever we did in any one day. Ladies' neckwear, suits, and hosiery sold well and we were rushed all day."

Talking of millinery, one might wonder what connection a drug store has with this essentially feminine business, but it has. For example Russell Magee of Strong's drug store, says that an outstanding feature in their Easter trade was the great demand for hat dyes. Apparently the spirit of economy brought on by the war is by no means dead, and where a girl has a good straw hat that she is loath to cast aside, the dye comes in all right.

The Standard Drug Company's manager reports that their Easter trade was fair. The demand for perfumes, candies, and other seasonable odds and ends was good. As for hat dyes, the sale was great, but it would have been greater still if supplies had been adequate.

In the boot and shoe trade very satisfactory business was done. Johnston & Murray say that this Easter was "the best yet." Prices, of course, were not so high as this time last year, but there were far more buyers, and more money was in evidence.

Hubert Ashplant & Sons say that they had all the Easter trade they could handle. "Business was very good indeed," said Frank Ashplant, "and the people are buying high-grade footwear."

At the Artistic Ladies' Wear establishment, the manager told The Advertiser man that their trade last week was the best the firm had had. A large business was done in costumes, coats and wraps. "The weather had a lot to do with it," remarked the manager, "but goods are only about half the price they were a year ago, and the removal of the luxury tax has made a big difference."

The men's clothing stores also report a brisk business.

Grafton & Co.'s manager expresses himself as very well satisfied, and reports a better Easter trade than last year. Oak Hall also reports excellent results, there being a particular demand for juvenile clothing.

In the furniture stores the same spirit prevails—satisfaction with recent results, and optimism for the future.

The Ontario Furniture Company report that up to last Saturday their trade for this month was equal to the whole of March last year, and the Trafford Furniture Company say that their Easter business was "very good indeed. Business has wonderfully improved since last year," the manager added.

MEIGHEN'S GOVT. GRANTED FAT INCREASES TO M. P.'S, BUT NOW PROPOSES TO CUT POSTIES' PAY

Local Letter-Carriers Hold Meeting This Morning and Wire Protest To Premier and Government Members—Will Mean Income Cut of $99 to $123.

Quiet determination to oppose the proposal of the Meighen Government to cut the bonus granted in 1918 in view of the high cost of living by 25 per cent, was shown today when the local letter carriers met in the C. O. F. Hall at 11:30 o'clock and instructed their secretary Thomas Thorogood to forward by wire to the Department of Civil Service, Premier Arthur Meighen and other members of the Government formal and emphatic protest to the proposed cut.

In outlining the situation and the effect that the proposed cut would have on the income of the local carriers, President D. W. Rehder pointed out that it would mean individual losses of from $99 to $113 in income, and declared that the position taken by the Government was not only most unfair, but also most illogical, in view of the action taken during last session by the members in increasing their own indemnity by $1,500.

"This increase alone," he declared, "is more than any letter-carrier in the Dominion is receiving and on which he is expected to support himself and family in sobriety and the fear of God. Now the Government suddenly announces that it is necessary to cut off 25 per cent of what they admitted in 1918 was an absolute necessity to give a man a fair, living wage.

To Help Government.

"Apparently the cut is made in order to help the Government meet the serious deficit that they have developed on the railways, but they are not making any cut in their own indemnity or the railwaymen's wages, although they, too, come under the civil service department. Why should the letter-carriers be chosen for the cut?"

At the opening of the meeting, the secretary read a telegram from the Dominion president of the Letter-Carriers' Union, asking that the local support the protest against the 25 per cent cut, and that it wire its protest to Premier Meighen and to the department immediately.

"No discussion of the matter is necessary," declared one of the carriers, when the president declared the matter open for discussion. "I move that the request of the telegram be complied with, and that protests be wired to Mr. Meighen and to the department immediately, and that the wording of the telegram be left in the hands of the president and secretary." The motion was seconded by two or three members and was carried without a dissentient vote.

During the brief discussion which followed the presentation of the motion, it was pointed out that the effect of the cut would be that the man getting the maximum salary of $1,260 plus the bonus granted in 1918 to meet the high cost of living, will lose $99, with the result that his income this year will be only $1,557 instead of $1,656.

While the man who this year is entitled to the regular annual increase which would bring him to the maximum figure of $1,260, would lose $123. This is shown in the following way: Last year the man received $1,140, his increase to the maximum this year would be $120, but with this increase the scale of his bonus drops from $420 to $296, a decrease of $24 plus the 25 per cent decrease of $99, a total of $123, so that instead of receiving as he expected $1,656, he will only be paid $1,533, or $24 less than the man who was fortunate enough to attain his maximum last year.

For the low grade men receiving last year $780, the loss will be $105, made up as follows: Under the usual annual increases this man is entitled to an additional $120, or $900, on April 1, plus $420 bonus, a total of $1,320, but heh will if the cut goes into effect, only receive $1,215.

It is expected that the local postal clerks who come under the same proposed cut will also meet and send forward similar protests.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR BALLOONISTS.

Pensacola, Fla., March 28.—Naval authorities here today entered upon the fifth day of their yet unrewarded search for some trace of the naval balloon which has been missing since last Tuesday, when it took the air here with five passengers. Although still holding to the belief that the five men have been picked up by some fishing vessel, officials planned to continue the search unremittingly.

German Government Artillery Shells Communists On Hills Near Eisleben; Town Occupied

Sangerhausen Is Taken From Insurgents After Brief Engagement—Uprising of German Reds in U. S. Bridgehead Area at Montabaur—American Troops Are Dispatched To Place To Restore Order—Activities of the Radical Element Are Concentrating at Bitterfeld.

Halle, Germany, March 28.—Federal artillery was taking a prominent part today in dealing with the insurgent Communists in the disturbed section of Prussian Saxony. The artillery shelled the Communists, who were grouped on the hills to the west of Eisleben, dispersing them.

After a brief engagement, the town of Sangerhausen, southwest of Eisleben, was occupied by federal forces, which now control that place. Count Poninski, colonel of police in the Mansfield district, has taken charge of the operations around Eisleben.

BITTERFELD POLICE DISARMED.

Berlin, March 28.—The rioting activities in the Communist uprising in Central Germany are concentrating now in Bitterfeld, where the extremists have succeeded in disarming the local police and occupying the public buidings, according to an official communique, issued shortly before noon today. During Sunday, says the statement, bandits looted the bank and the postoffice at Sangerhausen and put the local telegraph office out of commission.

UPRISING AT MONTABAUR.

Coblenz, March 28.—A Communist uprising occurred this morning in the United States bridgehead area, at Montabaur, six miles northeast of Ehrenbreitstein. A riot call was answered by the provost marshal, and United States military police were dispatched to Montabaur to restore order.

Russian Bolsheviki Believed Responsible For German Revolt

Berlin, March 28.—The Communistic outbreak in the industrial areas of Central Germany and the concerted attempt by the German Bolsheviets to provoke a general strike throughout the country are viewed by the Government as an unmistakable symptom of a determined and systematic plot, the inspiration of which is directly traceable to Moscow and whose single purpose is the establishment of a German Soviet Republic, a Government spokesman, declared yesterday.

RUSSIA PLACES ORDER FOR 1100 LOCOMOTIVES

German Manufacturers To Furnish Quantity of Supplies.

London, March 28.—The Russian Soviet Government has given Sweden an order for a thousand locomotives and Germany an order for 100, says a wireless dispatch from Moscow today.

Forty thousand smokestacks, 3,500 tires, more than 18,000 tons of tin and quantities of other railway materials already have been received from Germany, the message adds.

EDUCATIONAL BODIES HOLD CONVENTIONS

Big Program of Subjects for Toronto Meetings.

Toronto, March 28.—(Canadian Press).—The Ontario Educational Association and its "little sister," the Ontario Library Association (the latter is celebrating its 21st birthday) are this week holding their annual Easter conventions here. Preliminary work by the executives of the two organizations is being put through this morning, in preparation for the opening of the convention proper this afternoon, and this evening. In the Ontario Educational Association there are 27 sections, all of whom have a big program of discussions in prospect for their various sectional meetings. Tonight there will be a general opening rally of the organization in convocation hall to be addressed by Major-Gen. Sir A. O. MacDonell, K. C. B., of the Royal Military College, Kingston, and Rev. D. Bruce MacDonald, principal of St. Andrew's College of this city, and president of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association.

MINISTERS ADVISE ALL TO SEE THAT NAMES ARE ON THE VOTERS' LIST

Toronto, March 28.—In view of the anxiety on the part of the local referendum committee that uncertainty regarding the regulations for the revision of the voters' lists for the provincial referendum on April 18 might unsettle the minds of many more voters, letters were read in the majority of Protestant churches in this city yesterday, advising all voters, men and women, to personally make sure that their names are on the list.

BARON BIRKENHEAD HAS NO FEAR OF ENGLAND GOING 'DRY'

London, March 28.—Alarm over the prospect of Great Britain going "dry" was deprecated by Baron Birkenhead, lord chancellor, while speaking at the annual banquet of the Allied Brewery Traders' Association. He declared that members of the association did not, in his belief, have any cause for anxiety.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS RECORDED.

Washington, March 28.—Earthquake tremors characterized as "very severe" were recorded today on seismographs at Georgetown University. The indicated distance from Washington was 1,900 miles. The disturbance began at 2:55 a.m. and lasted until after 5 a.m., with maximum activity at 3:01 a.m.

DEAD MAN IS FOUND IN BURIAL VAULT UNDER CHICAGO SIDEWALK

Chicago, March 28.—The midnight visit of a well-dressed woman to a sidewalk crypt resulted in the discovery early today of the body of an unidentified man who had been dead about two months. In his hand he held a rosary.

While Walter Jonas, a watchman at a factory on the northwest side of the city, was making his rounds at midnight, he saw a woman approach the sidewalk that adjoins a vacant lot, and which is elevated about ten feet above the lot. The woman stooped, scraped away a quantity of cinders and stones from the embankment and crawled under the sidewalk.

When she disappeared, Jonas sought a policeman and returned to the hole. The policeman found the man's body. The woman had departed. The police are searching for her.

The head of the body rested upon a parcel of men's apparel wrapped in the paper of a fashionable store on Michigan avenue. Doctors say the man had been dead about two months and was 35 years of age.

EXAMINE GERMAN COMMISSIONER.

Paris, March 28.—Examination of the report of Paul Tierard, high commissioner for the Rhineland and president of the Rhineland commission, regarding the new customs zone on the east bank of the Rhine, will take place on Tuesday, says the Echo de Paris.

The report was to have been considered on Friday, but an adjournment was made unavoidable by the fact that members of the British ministry had left London for their Easter vacations.

BETTER TIMES IN BRITAIN

Feeling of Optimism Is Pervading Country.

....Washington, March 28.—There is a noticeable feeling of optimism in Great Britain and a note of expectancy for better times. This is stated in a report submitted to the United States Secretary of Labor today by Rowland B. Mahany, who was sent to Europe by the Wilson administration to attend the sessions of the International Commission on Inimigration and Emigration. Mr. Mahany expressed the belief that large numbers of the laboring classes of both Great Britain and France want to emigrate to the United States, but are finding it impossible to do so through lack of money.

YOUNG GIRL FINDS RELIEF

Wants to Tell Other Girls All About It

Evansville, Ind.—"I am eighteen years old and have been bothered for several months with irregular periods. Every month my back would ache and I always had a cold and felt drowsy and sleepy. I work in a millinery shop and I went to work everyday, but felt stupid and would have such cramps. I had seen Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and had heard several women talk of it, so mother got me some. This Vegetable Compound is wonderful and it helped me very much, so that during my periods I am not now sick or drowsy. I have told many girls about it and would be glad to help anyone who is troubled with similar ailments."—STELLA LINXWILER, 6 Second St., Evansville, Ind.

Some girls lead lives of luxury, while others toil for their livelihood, but all are subject to the same physical laws and suffer in proportion to their violation. When such symptoms develop as irregularities, headaches, backaches, bearing-down sensations and "the blues," girls should profit by Miss Linxwiler's experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

KNOWLEDGE OF GOD PROMOTES PHYSICAL AND MORAL HEALTH

Lecture On Christian Science by Boston Lecturer Crowds Church.

F. H. LEONARD SPEAKS

Says God Is Real Presence, Not Ephemeral Hope, To Scientists.

Before an audience which filled the church to capacity, Frank H. Leonard, C.S.B., a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass., delivered a lecture on Christian Science Saturday afternoon in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, this city. After giving a full account of his first personal experiences with Christian Science, he said:

"Christian Science unfolds to its students that knowledge of God which keeps one well mentally, morally and physically, and shows that ignorance of Him is the producer of sin, sickness and death. It teaches that regenerated thinking means regenerated living in all ways.

Christian Idealism.

"It reveals through an endless, infinite vista of Christian idealism, God enthroned and omnipotent, omnipresent and omniscient, and the fact that one may intelligently call upon him in any time of need and always find him right at hand, ready to heal and save. This teaching brings God to us as a real presence, instead of an ephemeral hope, and so establishes the fact normally and naturally that he has dominion over all things, including the ills of the flesh, and will destroy all evils, whether they present themselves as mental, moral or physical, when he is intelligently asked to do so.

"It has been said that Christian Scientists are too familiar with God. They are familiar with God, because knowing him to be what he is, knowing him to be both the father and mother of all his children, they go to him with their troubles, sure that his love and wisdom will dispel them. It is just, however, in this connection to say that no peopleon earth so venerate, worship and adore him as do Christian Scientists. And this is true because he never fails them in their extremity.

Regeneration First Mental.

"We are told in the Bible that we must be regenerated. Regeneration is first mental, and is followed by the outward results as a natural consequence. It is very practical to say that you cannot think right and do wrong, nor can you think wrong and do right. If we will gain the right knowledge of God and man's relationship to him, and cling to it, we shall always be well men. We must be obedient in all things to the law of God, or Good, as he is called in the Icelandic translation of the Bible, because it is our duty to see that Christ is lifted above human sense into spiritual realization, that all mankind may be drawn unto him.

Revelation From God.

"Mrs. Eddy never claimed Christian Science to be a creation of her own. It was a revelation from God. The works accomplished through its ministry during the past fifty years justify her claim. She further felt that God gave it to her to give to mankind, that ignorance about him should be eliminated, thus destroying all the evils attendant upon such ignorance. We can now know the truth about God and about Christ, and the Bible tells us we must know this in order to attain everlasting life.

Pray for Knowledge.

"Christian Science teaches us to pray for a better knowledge of God, in order that we may be better able to know what is right, measured by the God standard of perfection, and to apply this growth of knowledge to the bringing out of the daily better living. Christian Scientists pray for the spiritual knowledge of the allness of God, that they may express patience, meekness and a consecrated and concentrated clinging to God.

"After her healing she spent years in a determined effort to find the truth which had raised her, clinging to the glimpses of light which came, even as did Jacob to his angel visitants, until these pure impartations from God became revelation to his immutable nature and power, and then she healed others, even as she herself had been healed. In other words, the spiritual teachings found in the Bible which Mrs. Eddy discerned are the sole and only foundation on which the Christian Science movement stands, spreading its branches life the tree of life over all creation, with its leaves—its teachings—ready at hand for the healing of all mankind.

Stands Alone In History.

"In closing, permit me to say this about Mrs. Eddy. She stands alone in modern history as the one who through consecration has been able to point out and to prove the spiritual import of the life and works of Jesus the Christ, showing us individually how to use them in our daily walks, how to make of them for all time a living, virile, irresistible, irrefutable and irreversible power, to the tearing down of the strongholds of evil and the establishment of his kingdom on earth as it is in heaven. God placed his command upon her, and she obeyed it, and lifted the Christ up from the earth, out from matter and into spirit, until we see that all men are beginning to be drawn unto him and the Scriptures are fulfilled.

"Mrs. Eldy wrote 'Science and Health With Key to Scriptures" as it was revealed to her, and though its teachings may seem hard of acceptance because it overturns and destroys all man-made theories, yet does it bring to us the very presence of God so clearly, so vitally and so usably that as time sinks into obscurity and the glories of the eternal God become ascendant in thought all the earth shall call her blessed of God, a messenger of peace and holiness to all mankind."

"JOHN BROWN, PATRIOT," SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Interesting Lecture by Fred Landon Before Theosophical Society.

An interesting lecture Sunday evening was given by Fred Landon, before the Theosophical Society, on the life of "John Brown, Patriot." The speaker touched sympathetically on the ideals of the so-called fanatic, who sacrificed his life in the interests of the slave, adding that the abolition of slavery was hastened by ten years through the activities and death on the scaffold of John Brown.

Mr. Landon read interesting parts from the last letters written by the patriot to his family, showing the belief that possessed John Brown as to an overshadowing fate and his great sense of justice and righteousness. His death on a hill just outside Charleston was likened by Thoreau to that of Christ on Calvary.

EASTER SUNDAY SERVICES IN CHURCHES OF LONDON

Every city church of every denomination marked Easter Sunday by special services, many of which surpassed any held in the city in previous years. In spite of the frequent showers, people turned out in large numbers and record congregations filled many of the edifices.

Sermons at the Baptist churches were adapted to the day. Rev. Thomas Roy at Talbot Street Baptist Church spoke on "The Risen Christ."

Nearly all of the Methodist churches had special musical churches, in addition to suitable addresses. The First Methodist choir, under the direction of A. D. Jordan, furnished exceptionally fine sacred programs at both morning and evening services, in addition to a cantata, "The Light of God," at the evening service. Rev. R. G. Peever, the pastor, spoke on "The Easter Outlook and Hope of the World."

The sermons and music at the Askin Street Methodist Church were suitable to the occasion. A Men's Brotherhood Easter service was conducted by Mr. Moss of Toronto.

At Ridout Street Methodist.

Rev. J. A. Agnew at Ridout Street Methodist Church spoke on "The Message of Easter" and "Death's Conqueror." Solos at both morning and evening services were sung by Mrs. Ward Cornell of Toronto. There were anthems and other special music as well.

Secular history and natural science, said Mr. Agnew at the morning service, rendered the verdict that death had no conqueror, but revelation, faith, hope and experience declared that death had a conqueror—Christ, who died and rose again.

At Colborne Street Church the pastor Rev. S. Judson Kelly, spoke on "The Sealed Sepulchre" and "A Message From the Cross."

Dundas Centre Church had a cantata, "Life Everlasting." This was rendered by a large chorus choir, accompanied by the organ, cornets, trumpets and timpani. The soloists were Miss Anna Cochrill, Mrs. W. B. Wortman, Miss Elizabeth Kunz and E. N. Harding.

Centennial Methodist Church marked the day with special music and sermons.

At the First Congregational. Rev. M. Kelly delivered a special Easter message.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held a special service which was conducted by a choir of specially trained children.

New St. James had special music and sermons, as did the First Presbyterian and Knox Church.

The day had special significance in all the Anglican churches, owing to the large number of communicants. Holy Communion was administered at several services, at most of them special music and sermons also marked the occasion.

Memorial Presented.

A cross in memory of Mrs. H. A. Boomer, wife of a former dean of the Diocese of Huron, whose death occurred recently, was dedicated at a seven o'clock communion service Sunday morning at Cronyn Memorial Church, by the rector Rev. G. Q. Warner. It was presented to the church by two near relatives of Mrs. Boomer, residing in Montreal.

The rector declared the memorial to be a most suitable one, as it was typical of the life of self-sacrifice in the interest of others which Mrs. Boomer had led, and was symbolic, not of death, but of everlasting life.

The rector delivered his Easter message to his congregation at the 11 o'clock service. He dealt simply with the proofs of the resurrection. Generally when these were sought the empty tomb was regarded as one of the chief ones. This, he declared, was not correct, as a faith based on the empty tomb was certain in many respects to be empty itself. Other proofs had been given, and Thomas had even been permitted to touch the wounds of the risen Christ to assure himself of his reality, but what Christ wanted was faith.

The real proof of the fact of Christ's resurrection was the existence of the Christian Church today, the speaker claimed.

No religion having for its basis a dead Christ could have survived for two thousand years, and not by any possible chance could a church such as the one in which the congregation sat have been erected to the memory of a Saviour who had died.

At St. James' Anglican.

St. James' Church, South London, has a large choir of adults and boys, and splendid services were rendered both morning and evening. Anthems by Barnby and Sullivan were given and services by Hopkins and Clarke-Whitfield. In the morning the choir was assisted by an orchestra of brass and wood winds. F. L. Willgoose, Mus. Bac., was the organist and choirmaster.

AT FIRST METHODIST.

Rev. R. G. Peever, pastor of the First Methodist Church, speaking to a large congregation at the morning Easter service on Sunday, chose as his text Colossians, 3rd chapter, 1st verse. "If ye then be risen in Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God."

"Eastertime brings one's thoughts to the resurrection of Christ," said Mr. Peever. "The hope of the world was realized when Christ was crucified on Calvary Hill, and that Spirit with which He died must never be forgotten. Humanity will never tire of two great festivals, Christmas and Easter. None of us would dare forget Christmas. The spirit comes to our homes and we rejoice. The same happens at Easter. At Christmas we think of the manger and the new-born babe, the Light of the world; at Easter we think of Calvary and that Light on a cross, dying to save us. A vision of a tomb, sealed and soldiers standing guard also comes to us and the phrase the angels said to Mary Magdalene, "He is not here, He is risen." This is the triumphant note of Easter. Multitudes greet Easter and we remember that Christ died for us. But we must not forget throughout the rest of the year what comes to us at Eastertime. We must bring the Kingdom of God down to earth. This is our obligation to Christ for what He did for us.

A Fact of History.

"The fact that Christ is risen from the dead is a historic thing. He lived 2,000 years ago, but is He living in our souls today? We must realize this or we lose the Easter blessing. Does He come to us as He came to Mary Magdalene when she went to the tomb to see her Lord and Savior? He must be our sovereign, have control of our thinking, social and business relationships. If you let Him have these you should not fear the way you are going to die. If He dies in your heart, wrong and wickedness will reign where, on the other hand, goodness and world brotherhood will be obtained.

"Christ postulates an Easter obligation. What is this obligation? The text says we are to seek things that are high above. We must accept Him as our Savior. Open your hearts, because you cannot put gold into a closed hand, and receive the Kingdom of God. Exalt Christ in your life and give service to Him as a remuneration for what He did for us on the cross on Calvary Hill," he concluded.

A solo by Mrs. E. Wyatt, and two fine anthems by the choir were rendered. At the evening service the choir gave a cantata, entitled "The Light of God."

AT ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

There were large congregations at all the services in St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday. The high altar was artistically embellished with Easter lilies and other flowers, and presented a beautiful appearance with its profusion of lighted candles.

At the 7 o'clock mass Right Rev. Mgr. McKeon was the celebrant, and preached a brief sermon appropriate to the day. He also spoke at the 8:30 a.m. mass.

Solemn pontifical high mass was celebrated at 10:30, Right Rev. M. F. Fallon pontificating. A large number of the clergy and seminarians were present in the sanctuary, and assisted at the solemn ceremonies, and the boys' choir, led by Rev. Father Finn, marched from the sacristy to the choir gallery in processional order, singing an Easter hymn. The boys, who wore scarlet soutanes, looked very picturesque as they filed along the centre aisle.

Together with the adult male members of the cathedral choir the boys afterwards assisted in singing the mass.

Bishop Fallon, from the pontifical throne, preached a very impressive sermon on the passion, death and resurrection of Christ.

"Easter," he said, "is not a day of show, of glitter and tinsel, as some people seem to think. It is the day of the glorious triumph of the divinity of Jesus Christ."

In the course of his sermon the bishop pointed out that Jesus belonged to the Jewish race, so much despised by their Roman conquerors, and that the death on the cross which He was made to suffer was the most ignominious that the Romans could inflict. The preacher also directed attention to the fact that for nine or ten years the Redeemer worked as a carpenter with his foster-father.

From the circumstances in the life of Him who arose so gloriously on that first resurrection morn, Bishop Fallon drew a lesson of patience, fortitude, and humility, which, he said, all might follow.

In the evening there was solemn benediction, the cathedral being again well filled.

AT ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

Easter services in St. Paul's Cathedral drew capacity congregations on Sunday, both morning and evening. Easter lilies in profusion were banked across the altar, and the font in the rear of the church was filled with the same flowers. Spring flowers on the chancel steps completed the lovely decorations. Rt. Rev. Bishop Williams preached the sermon, taking his text from Timothy: "Remember the Risen Christ."

"The resurrection of Christ is the essence of Christian religion, and we should on this day make resolutions to be more with and in Christ, and question ourselves as to whether we have been a part of Christ. We cannot expect to partake of the full joys of the risen Christ if we do not lead our life after the pattern of His own," said the bishop. He made a special appeal for help in foreign missions that those who are in darkness and do not know the story of the resurrection, the hope of all those who know Jesus, might hear of the living Christ, and be converted from the depths of darkness where all things are dead.

Special Easter music was given by the choir. During the offertory, Stainer's beautiful anthem, "I Know Not Where They Have Laid Him," was sung. Communion was celebrated by the bishop, assisted by Rev. Nean. L. N. Tucker and Rev. Clarence Foreman. The collections taken were for the advancement of the Sunday school. A special Easter service was held for children in the afternoon, conducted by Rev. C. Foreman. Special music was rendered at the evening service. Dean L. N. Tucker preached the sermon.

EMPRESS AVENUE SERVICES.

Triumphant joy and assurance were the keynotes of the Easter morning service at Empress Avenue Methodist Church yesterday, when Rev. G. W. Dewey declared that "there is no department of a man's life that religion, God or man-made, has not sought to satisfy. There is not a man who has not experienced a longing, a craving for the knowledge and assurance of a futurity in which he might realize a fulfillment of the aspirations common to the human soul.

"The Christian religion, the Christian faith, is unique in that it is the only one that has supplied a serious and worthy answer to the natural longing for a knowledge of what the future holds in store for us in an effective way, although all religions have and do seek to supply the natural yearning of the human heart, but only in a very vague way.

"The Christian faith, the only God-given revelation that we have, provides definite evidence of a continuance of existence and clear proof of a survival after death. Not only does it provide this proof, but, with the proof we have, the assurance that this survival is a promotion from this present life. But, that after life is determined by our own conduct, moral and spiritual, in this life.

"The first clear proof of this survival after death is provided by the resurrection of the man Jesus of Nazereth. Not by claims put forward on behalf of some vague man of whom little or nothing is known, but a man of whose career we have a full knowledge from his birth to his death. A man of whom we have definite and bona-fide evidence that he lived and died and rose again after death.

"On this one thing the Apostle Paul declares in his preaching hinges the whole scheme of God's salvation for mankind, if the resurrection fails, the whole superstructure of salvation goes down. The resurrection is an essential truth of the Christian faith.

"'It is the Christ that died,' the only sinless person known to history. If any man had a right to live it was Jesus Christ, who throughout his life carried himself blamelessly, yet regally, with reverence toward God, and with constant solicitude for his fellow-men. The man who spoke as never man spoke before or since, the man whom the thieves and his jailers declared as 'verily the Son of God.'"

Mr. Dewey then proceeded to review the physical facts of Christ's death, after his resurrection, showing how each related fact added evidence to the accumulated proof that the resurrection was a veritable fact, and that it was not merely a spiritual body, but the physical body, as man knows it, but purified, that was raised again, "sown in weakness, raised in power; sown a mortal body, raised an immortal; sown a natural body, raised a spiritual body."

A feature of the service was the excellent rendering of Easter music by the choir, and the triumphant note of the congregational singing.

ST. ANDREW'S SERVICE

The junior congregation of St. Andrew's Church claimed the Easter service yesterday morning. Small children filled the choir loft and spread out onto the pulpit platform, the tiniest tots in front while bigger boys and white-frocked girls filled up the rows behind and gave volume to the singing. At the first bird-like notes, as the children broke forth into Rejoice! Rejoice! Heaven and earth lift up thy voice," everyone was aware that it was a powerful choir which was to lead the singing. A pretty quartette was "Spring-Time Flowers," sung by four small boys of the congregation, Lorne Morrison, Hugh Webster, Charlie Thompson and Menzies McKillop, while eight of the girls' voices were heard alone in "Thank You for Easter," the octette including Barbara Fraser, Margaret Macgregor, Ruth Martin, Mary Wright, Ella Mercer, Lorna Ashplant, Norine Hiscott and Agnes Hutton.

Awards Presented.

An important feature of the morning service was the presentation of awards to the boys and girls who had had perfect church attendance, some during the past year only, but five for as long as a period of five years. The gifts, which were in the form of pins, with a bar added for each perfect year, were presented by D. J. Ferguson and G. W. Hofferd, assisted by a number of the elders. The remarkable record of 47 children, who attended church every Sunday during the past year, was that made by the junior congregation at St. Andrew's, according to the distribution of awards yesterday.

A Remarkable Record.

The record was as follows:

Perfect for five years—Donald Brown, Margaret Casselman, Ward Casselman, Audrey Webster, Hugh Webster.

Perfect for four years—Kathleen Esterbrook, Hugh Hutton, Donald Menzies, Jack Buchner, Carson Brown.

Perfect for three years—Stanley Glazier, Harold Glazier, Wallace Hay, Dorothy Silverwood, Gordon Silverwood, Charlie Thompson, Mary Wong, Clara Wong, Ruth Watson.

Perfect for two years—Mary Buchner, Douglas Calder, Campbell Calder, Marjory Culbert, Rudolph Eberhard, Bruce Hogarth, Erie Mitchell, Ella Mercer, Lyelle Mercer, Margaret Macgregor, Betty Macgregor, Ruth Thompson, Shirley Thompson, Victor Wong, Jack McLaren, Gordon Calder.

Perfect for one year—Jean Beemer, Betty Clarke, Jean Ferguson, Agnes Hutton, Eileen Kingsmill, Doris Rider, Robert Rider, Ernest Smith, Jack Smith, Rose Wong, Maggie Hair, Agnes McKay, Lenore Wood and Murray Clark.

Sermon By Pastor.

The sermon delivered by Rev. D. C. MacGregor was made to meet the needs of the children and dealt largely with the resurrection of nature. Special Easter music was given by the adult choir at the evening service.

GRANDFATHER WANTED HIS BRIDE TO HAVE THE BEST.

Through the intervening years lovers bounteous beneficence has clamored for adequate expression in the form of a wedding ring. Grandfather wanted his bride to have the best there was, but the best in those days was a cold, plain band of gold—merely the legible badge of married womankind. The wedding ring of the present and future is beautiful and significant, for it reflects all of the treasured sentiment of the occasion in honor of which it is worn. These beautiful orange blossom wedding rings in gold and platinum, are sold by John A. Nash, My Jeweler. His new store is 182 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy." b

PERILOUS FEAT OF TWO LITTLE GIRLS

Walk Along Hand Rail of Kensington Bridge—Spectators Gasp.

What might have proved a double fatality on Saturday, according to a statement made to an Advertiser Reporter, can only be placed to the credit of the children's good angel, who most undoubtedly stood very, very close to them when, with the rashness of childhood, two little girls, neither more than seven or eight years of age, essayed to walk along the hand rail at the north side of the Kensington Bridge, which spans the north branch of the river and connects West London with the city via Dundas street.

The two or three chance spectators of the feat of the daring little ones were held spellbound by the sight, and the relator of the story declares that he was "afraid to make a move or to say a word" for fear that by doing so he would distract the children's attention from their perilous pathway, and thereby bring about the very thing he that he would fain prevent. "And," said he, "when the kiddies reached the end of their walk they jumped down to the sidewalk and sped away to their homes so quickly that there was no opportunity to speak a word of warning to them."

"I remember seeing, in your paper, I think it was," he remarked to the reporter "that the attaching of a wire-netting guard to the ten city bridges would not cost more than about $5,000, but apparently our city council would rather spend their time in petty squabbles than in seriously giving the matter of protecting the bridges even an hour's thought."

DIES IN HOSPITAL FROM BURNS WHEN BED CAUGHT FIRE

Thomas R. Murray, a returned soldier, about 30 years old, who achieved a splendid record in his service overseas, died about 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning from burns received early Saturday morning in the home of Alfred Hill, 905 Maitland street. In some manner the bed upon which he was lying became ignited, one explanation being that the blaze was caused by a lighted cigarette stub. An inquest will be held, the preliminary calling of a jury being fixed for 6 o'clock this evening at the funeral parlors of George Logan & Sons, Richmond street.

Mr. Murray's brother was called some time after the accident occurred, and the suffering victim, who was in a very serious condition, was rushed to Victoria Hospital, where Dr. J. Cameron Wilson attended him. Others were in the Hill home at the time of the accident, and will be summoned to give evidence at the inquest.

The late Mr. Murray, after returning from active service in France, was for a considerable time in Byron Sanatorium. His father, Joseph Murray, resides at 43 Oxford street west.

HIGH SCHOOL PLANS TO BE SUBMITTED TO R. H. GRANT TUESDAY

Trustee A. A. Langford Will Hand Over Blue Prints for Approval.

Work in preparation for the building of the new central high school or collegiate institute, which will form the first unit in the high school accommodation to be provided for the boys and girls of the city of London has progressed so far that a letter is being sent to the minister of education, Hon. R. H. Grant, stating that Trustee A. A. Langford, chairman of No. 3 committee, will go to Toronto on Tuesday with the plans of the new building for the inspection and approval of the minister.

According to the plans prepared by the board's architect, L. E. Carrothers, the new building, which will be of brick and concrete construction, and practically fireproof, with the exception of the wood trimmings, will have a frontage on Waterloo street of about 131 feet and a depth of about 180 feet, and will comprise two stories and basement.

The main entrance will be on the Waterloo street or east front of the building. Three other entrances are provided, two on the north side and one on the south side.

The Auditorium.

Immediately facing the main entrance is the entrance to the auditorium, which has a floor space of about 70 feet by 56 feet. At the west end of the auditorium, which will be lighted by a handsome dome skylight, provision is made for a stage 24 feet in width, and 200 feet in depth, with commodious dressing rooms on each wing.

Spacious corridors surround the auditorium and give admittance to the various offices and class rooms. The corridor on the east side of the building will have a width of twelve feet, while those on the three remaining sides will be eleven feet wide. Similar measurements apply to the corridors on the second floor.

On the south side of the first floor will be accommodated the physical, chemical and biological laboratories and a spacious lecture-room. On the west side immediately behind the auditorium will be the gymnasium, while three spacious class rooms will occupy the north side. Immediately to the right of the main entrance will be the principal's and secretary's office and stock room.

Library and Study Room.

On the east side, second floor, will be located the library and study room. Men and women teachers' rest rooms are located at each end of the floor. At the west end are located the household science and manual training rooms. The remainder of the space on this floor with the exception of the centre, which is occupied by the dome skylight of the auditorium, is devoted to class rooms.

The lighting of the teaching rooms, laboratories, study and library rooms is provided by window space equal to 50 per cent of the floor space. Adequate modern lavatory accommodation is provided for on each floor.

In the basement of the building, the plans while not completed as to detail, will provide for a boys' and girls' club room, a lunchroom, supplementary drill room, bicycle rooms, etc.

The boiler rooms and coal bins will be located at the rear of the building.

PRINCE OF WALES WILL OPEN ULSTER PARLIAMENT

London, March 28.—It is stated on sound authority that the Prince of Wales will open the new Ulster Parliament, and will also visit other districts in Ireland.

FOUR BINGHAMS TO CONDUCT SERVICES

Father and Three Sons Will Preach in Calgary Church.

Rev. A. C. Bingham leaves for Calgary tomorrow, where he, with his father, Rev. Thomas Bingham of Parkhill, and Rev. W. J. Bingham, M. D., of Colorado, will conduct evangelistic services in the First Baptist Church there. Rev. H. H. Bingham, formerly of Talbot Street Baptist Church, is pastor of this church. A Calgary paper states that this is the first time in the history of the west that a father of three ministers who is a minister himself has conducted evangelistic services in one church.

The services commence on April 3 and will be held for two weeks every afternoon and evening. The western paper further states: "The Bingham brothers are not only preachers, but singers, too." The two weeks' services will be conducted solely by the Bingham brothers and their father.

VETERANS TAKE EXCEPTION TO MEIGHEN'S STATEMENTS

G. W. V. A. Want Adequate Compensations for Men Who Enlisted in C. E. F.

Secretary J. W. Cunliffe of the local branch of the Great War Veterans' has received a communication from the central branch of the association in Toronto asking that the local command give its strongest support for the compensation scheme, which will be one of the issues for the citizens of Canada to decide at the next federal election.

The association asks that every exmember of the C. E. F., no matter where he has served, be entitled to the same consideration with respect to compensation for the loss in the purchasing power of the dollar during the period of the war. They also maintain that every soldier should be considered as a state employee because they fought to save the state.

"We also take exception to the statement the Hon. Arthur Meighen is credited with making in Massey Hall in Toronto on November 19 of last year," asserted Secretary Cunliffe. "Mr. Meighen is quoted as saying that with particular respect to the re-establishment of ex-soldiers, such as war service gratuity, soldiers' settlement board, D. S. C. R., insurance, clothing allowances and housing appropriations, can be regarded as compensation for the loss in the purchasing power of pay and allowances of ex-members of the C. E. F."

The compensation resolution, as drawn up, asks for those who served in France, $1 per day be paid from date of enlistment to date of discharge, 75 cents per day for those who only went to England and 50 cents per day from date of enlistment to date of discharge for those who only served in Canada.

HOLD-UP MEN STRIKE VICTIM; TAKE ONLY $2

T. N. Sumner, Druggist, Assaulted On Waterloo Street, At C. P. R. Crossing.

HEAD-WOUND INFLICTED

Calls For Help and Desperadoes Flee, Leaving $1 On Sidewalk.

Hold-up men who accosted Thomas N. Sumner, a Dundas street druggist, on Waterloo street, in front of the Ford plant, about 11 o'clock Saturday night, only secured two $1 bills for their trouble. One of the men stood back in the shadow and the other pressed a revolver up close to their victim's body. Mr. Sumner remonstrated, but at the same time drew three $1 bills from his pocket and dropped them on the sidewalk. Whether angered at the smallness of the booty offered or from sheer unpleasantnes of temperament, the hold-up man struck Mr. Sumner on the head, either with the gun or some other heavy weapon, which left a fairly severe cut. At this Mr. Sumner uttered a loud exclamation, and about the same time an approaching train was heard, and the watchman at the C. P. R. crossing came out, swinging a lantern. The man with the gun picked up two of the $1 bills, and both men hurried away, running past the watchman and west on Pall Mall street towards Richmond.

Mr. Sumner, who was returning from his store at 318½ Dundas street, to his home at 15 Yale street, had about $80 in another pocket, but the two hold-up men did not take time to search him, being evidently fearful of trainmen or other people coming to the victim's rescue, and in their haste even overlooking one bill lying on the sidewalk.

Both of the men were shabbily dressed, and the police think they may have been hoboes who had dropped off a slow freight to raise a little money. One of the hold-up men stood some distance away and took no active part in the hold-up.

WILL PUSH INVESTIGATION OF CHARGES OF MURDER AND PEONAGE IN SOUTH

Monticello, Ga., March 28.—State authorities were planning today to push their investigation of alleged peonage practices in Jasper and Newton Counties, following recovery of two more bodies of negroes from the Alcovy River here, making a total of eleven bodies found since the authorities began an investigation of peonage and murder charges against John Williams, a Jasper County farmer. The last two bodies found yesterday were chained together and weighed down with rocks and iron precisely as were the first three previously recovered from the river.

WILD AUTO CHASE RESULTS IN FINES FOR BRANTFORD MEN

Alexander Farrell Assessed $25 and Frank Mains $50.

H. GOULD DISMISSED

High Constable Kerr, Who Banged Head Against Top of Car, in Serious Condition.

Alexander Farrell, fined $25 and costs for driving recklessly; Frank Mains fined $50 and costs with an option of three months in jail, for having a revolver in his possession, and Herman Gould dismissed on a charge of having a pistol in his possession—this was the result of the wild chase in which license inspectors took part last week.

After being in jail since last Thursday morning, the three men, whose homes are in Brantford, were brought before Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon this morning. Farrell pleaded not guilty to driving negligently but said that he had been exceeding the speed limit.

R. J. Eacrett, license inspector for the counties of Brant and Haldimand, said that on Wednesday he left Brantford in pursuit of a car which was said to be carrying liquor. On his way he picked up W. C. Killing license inspector at Woodstock. Near Lobo, they lost track of the car, and returned to the hotel in the village. Here they saw a car in which Gould was sitting. Mains and Farrell came out and got into it, the latter taking the wheel. The car sped away at the rate of 35 miles to 40 miles an hour. The license inspectors followed. So fast was the chase that High Constable Fred Kear of Brant County, who was in the rear seat of the pursuing car, struck his head against the top of the auto, and is still in a serious condition at his home as the result of a scalp wound received. Inspector Killing said that even when in the city on paved streets, the fugitive car continued to go at a terrific rate and to swerve from side to side on the road. Not wishing to collide with pedestrians or vehicles, the inspectors abandoned the chase.

Pleaded Guilty.

Mains pleaded guilty to having the revolver on him. He said that he worked for an express company, and had carried the gun, which was his own, for four months, but had not taken out a permit for it.

His counsel, Martin W. McEwen, of Brantford, said that the law regarding the carrying of firearms had not been enforced to a very great degree in Brantford, and many people had not taken out permits.

Magistrate Graydon told the prisoner that he was laying himself open to the suspicion that he might be a bandit.

Gould pleaded not guilty to having a pistol in his possession. He and the other two men were arrested at a local garage by Constables William Gow and James Singleton. When searched at the police station a box of bullets was found on him. Later a revolver was found in a pile of waste in the garage. It was loaded and the bullets in it corresponded to the ones in the box. Gould said that he had purchased the bullets in Brantford for a gun which he had at home, and that he had not seen the other gun at any previous time.

"I can't express myself in strong enough terms condemning men going around with loaded revolvers in their possession," said the magistrate at the conclusion of the cases.

REAL ESTATE BOARD TALK ON FARM COMMISSIONS

Present Umbrella to Retiring Secretary, W. B. Holland.

The London Real Estate Board, at its regular meeting, with a large attendance of its members, talked of the question of putting the rates of commission for selling farm lands at 3 to 5 per cent, to overcome the increased costs. In expressing the opinions of some of the owners of farms, it was noted that they consider 3 per cent quite low enough, and some of the members who took the question up with a number of farmers owning farms stated these farmers were agreeable to sign and pay the 3 to 3½ per cent contract if a purchaser is found for their farms. There are agents, the board is aware, who will offer to sell properties below their established rates, but they are non-members of this board. If these non-members, who may be eligible for membership, would acquaint themselves of the high aims of the London Real Estate Board, in the interest of Greater London, and for the betterment of owners, purchasers and brokers, they would better serve their community as members of this board.

Vice-President F. W. Renwick was named as a delegate to join the Ontario Real Estate Boards' delegation, and through their respective local Legislature member, petition the Ontario Government for the "enactment of laws for the betterment of real estate owners, agents and brokers."

Some applications for membership were received and acted on.

President Bert Weir expressed his pleasure on behalf of the London Real Estate Board, in referring to W. B. Holland as their 1920 secretary-treasurer, and to his untiring efforts to make this board a success, and in the interests of the society and the city as a whole, and called on the present secretary-treasurer, T. J. Thompson, to present Mr. Holland with an engraved umbrella. Mr. Holland replied in a feeling maner, and thanked the board for their kind remembrance, and was happy to see the splendid progress and interest taken in the organization.

All realtors find the demand for homes in the city very great, and many communications coming in from distant points through their agencies point to the steady and permanent growth of the Hub of Western Ontario, and they note also that the hotel accommodation here is inadequate.

BIRD NOTES

(Contributed by McIlwraith Ornithological Club.

After the marsh hawk on March 20 things came slowly for a few days, no new special being recorded until the 25th, Good Friday. Had the weather been more favorable that morning, a better round-up might have been made. A visit to the ponds, however, revealed the presence of a golden-eye duck. This is a winter species, but this year, owing to the mild winter and consequent open water all over, had not been found before.

A nearby field also produced a Savannah sparrow, a very early date, in fact, tying the early record made last year.

The following day, March 26, a vesper sparrow was reported to the club from the same neighborhood, nine days ahead of its average. If the mild weather we have had so far continues it is quite possible our main interest this spring will be in making new early records. So far every spring arrival has been ahead of time and quite a number of "earliest dates" have been broken.

March 27 a woodcock was flushed from a very unlikely place, a dry, leafy hillside, not far, however, from the low mucky place they usually favor.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28.—Men and women sat together in joint conference at the opening session today of the yearly meeting of Friends (orthodox). It was an innovation so far as local Quaker meetings are concerned. Heretofore men and women met separately and sent communications to each other by messenger, but it was decided to hold one joint session for business requiring joint consideration.

INSPECTING CONSTRUCTION WORK ON NEW S. A. CITADEL

Col. G. Miller Property Secretary, Eastern Canada Division, in City Today.

Col. G. Miller, property secretary of the Eastern Canada division of the Salvation Army, is in the city today inspectinng the construction work on new citadel for the east end of the city. The building will be located on the site opposite the east end fire hall on Rectory street. It is estimated the cost will be in the neighborhood of $10,000. Excavation has been completed and the four walls are under construction.

It is thought that Col. Miller will draw up plans for the renovation of the interior of the Col. Taylor home which the army purchased two months ago for a new Ronald-Roy Gray Memorial home. This building is situated on High street between Emery street and Windsor avenue.

TWENTY LARGE GROCERY STORES WILL CLOSE DOORS AT SEVEN P. M. SATURDAYS

Grocers Feel That Decision will receive Support of the Public.

Twenty of the largest grocery stores on Dundas and Richmond streets will close at 7 o'clock every Saturday night commencing April 2, Harry Ranahan announced today. The plan has been under consideration for some time, but no definite decision in regard to it was reached until today.

The grocers feel that their decision will have popular support, particularly as many other classes of retail stores have been following the practice for some time now. This they believe has accustomed the buying public to doing its Saturday shopping before the evening, and that therefore they will not be inconvenienced by the change.

MACBRIDE'S POLICIES HEARTILY SUPPORTED BY BRANTFORD I. L. P.

Statement Issued by Organization Regarding Member's Expulsion.

Brantford, March 28.—The Brantford Independent Labor Party executive is in full support of M. M. MacBride, M. L. A., who was expelled from the Provincial Labor Party at the Welland convention on Saturday. Despite the threat of the Provincial I. L. P. to the Brantford I. L. P. that the latter must eject M. M. MacBride or be ejected from the Provincial I. L. P., the local executive issued the following statement this morning: The Brantford Labor Party has so far been able to attend to its own business and I have not any doubt, but that we are still capable of looking after the interests of the party and our member in the Legislature.

"We are in constant touch with our members every week-end and have been from the very first.

"We are rather amazed that the convention on the one hand practically indorsed almost all of the issues upon which Mr. MacBride left the group, particularly as regards the 8-hour day and the Chippewa report which has practically forced the other labor members to support MacBride's measure and on the other hand talk of expelling MacBride for the very things they are now forcing the Labor group to do.

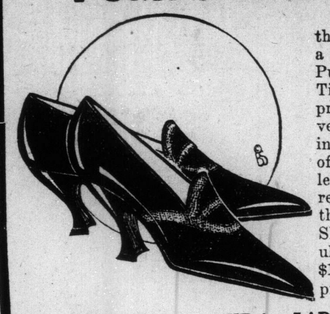

"We are not at all worried over the situation and in due time the executive will call the party together for further consideration if it is deemed necessary. Signed, "T. Money, president; Mrs. E. E. Wright, secretary."

Will Compel Turkish Bachelors To Marry

Constantinople, March 28.—Alarmed at the growing depopulation of Turkey, the Turkish Nationalist Parliament at Angora is considering a bill to compel all men aged 25 or more to marry unless prevented by health reasons.

Bachelors over that age will be very heavily taxed, while married men will enjoy privileges in taxation and military service.

CHITA GOVERNMENT ASKS INTERFERENCE IN AFFAIRS CEASE

Russian Far Eastern Republic Seeking Diplomatic Relations.

Tokio, March 28.—Communications expressing a desire to open diplomatic relations with Japan, the United States and China have been sent to the capitals of these nations by the Russian Far Eastern Republic, says a Vladivostok dispatch to the Jiji Shimpo. The Chita Government has also issued a declaration to the world, demanding that foreign interference in its affairs cease, and that foreign troops evacuate Eastern Siberia, it being claimed that their presence there is in violation of international law. The declaration also says that the republic is composed of the territories of Trans-Baikalia, Pre-Baikalia-Amur, Pre-Amur, Maritime Province, and the island of Saghalien.

The Japanese foreign office says there is no connection between the dispute over the cession of Kamchatka and the proposed reoccupation of points on the mainland of Siberia by Japanese troops. It is declared that sending troops to the mainland harmonizes with the original project to occupy Russian territory till there is reparation made for the massacre of Japanese subjects at Nikolaievsk last year.

LAUNDRY WORKERS WAGE SET AT $12

Ruling Governs Female Employees in Dye Works and Dry Cleaners.

TORONTO, March 27.—The Ontario minimum wage board's regulations governing the payment of female employees in laundries, dye works and dry cleaning establishments, as published in the Ontario Gazette, state that an experienced worker—one with six months' employment—shall be paid not less than $12 per week. An inexperienced worker must be paid $10 a week at least for the first three months, and $11 for the second three months. A girl under the age of eighteen must be paid at least $9 a week for the first six months, $10 for the second six months, and $11 for the third, after which she is to rank as an experienced employee.

In order to prevent employees from using partly experienced workers to keep down labor costs, the regulations state that not more than 25 per cent of the employees shall be inexperienced adults, and not more than 25 per cent of all the employees shall be under the age of eighteen.

STORK WON IN RACE TO HOSPITAL

The stork won out in a race with time Saturday night, when a baby was born near the entrance to St. Joseph's Hospital. The mother resides in Middlesex County, and was being transported to the hospital via the horse-and-buggy route, but Old Dobbin did not exert himself sufficiently to reach the hospital before the arrival of the stork. Both mother and baby were reported to be doing very well at St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday night, none the worse for their unusual experience.

COMMITTEE MAY DIRECT RAILWAYS

Action Will Be Taken by the Governmnet Shortly.

OTTAWA, March 27.—(By Canadian Press).—It is expected that action be taken shortly toward the formation of a standing committee of the House to deal with the administration of the railway and steamship lines under government ownership and control. A resolution urging the formation of such a committee is standing on the order paper of the Commons in the name of Hon. A. K. McLean (Halifax), and present indications are that the proposal will receive the support of the Government when it comes before the House. In the debate which followed the MacKenzie King amendment on the motion to go into supply last week the prime minister intimated that he would not oppose the formation of such a committee and, while there was a protest from some of the Opposition members, it is not expected that the resolution will be difficult to get through. The Government members are understood to be generally in favor of such a move and it is expected that when a resolution is passed the committee will be named without any delay to allow of it starting work at once.

TORNADO CAUSES LOSS OF $200,000

Two Killed in Big Blow in Northern Minnesota.

WORTHINGTON, Minn., March 27.—Damage caused by the tornado which swept a path 80 rods wide and 35 miles long through Nickles County, late Saturday, today was estimated at close to $200,000. The number of dead tonight totaled two. Several persons were injured.

FOURTEEN INJURED.

FONDA, Iowa, March 27.—A tornado that swept the southeast section of Fonda last night injured fourteen persons and caused property damage estimated at $100,000, it was learned today. No one was injured fatally. A train of box cars was blown 20 feet off a railroad siding.

MOCK TRIAL IS HELD AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Victims Found "Not Guilty" At Bar of Justice.

"Not guilty," was the verdict at the conclusion of the "trial" of certain members of the London Rotary Club, who were charged at a special session of the club, held in the Tecumseh House today, with having been parties to "a corrupt and vicious conspiracy, concocted in this city and carried out in Saginaw, Michigan, to bring into contempt, in the eyes of the American people, the Rotary Club in London, through the medium of two of their fellow members, who were altogether innocent of the 'frame-up,' these members being Bill Yendall, the president of the club and Sergeant-at-Arms Christianson."

Rotarian T. H. Purdom, K. C., acted as judge, and Rotarian Jared Vining was crown prosecutor, Rotarian J. B. McKillop, who was to have acted for the defence, being unavoidably absent.

Evidence was heard at considerable length, the principal witnesses being the two "victims," already mentioned, and Rotarians Malcolm Davis, Billy Marsh and Clarence May, and at the conclusion the judge found the defendants "not guilty."

His honor based his decision on the fact that "a silent witness" in the shape of a bottle on which evidence the conspirators had attempted to get their victims locked up on a charge of rum-running was found to be only partly empty, and, furthermore, that all it contained was ginger ale.

An attempt to put the whole story on the wires of the American Associated Press was also fortunately frustrated.

The "trial" created unbounded merriment despite the serious nature of the indictment, and the proceedings terminated happily for all concerned.

Macdonald's Kiltie Band furnished acceptable music in the course of the "trial," and little Leanore Gilmore danced the highland fling on the chairman's table.

CITY TO FIND WORK 100 ADDITIONAL MEN

Will Be Added to Payroll On Wednesday Morning.

After making a personal survey of conditions at the city labor bureau in the East London Hall, Mayor Little announced today that one hundred men would be added to the city pay roll Wednesday. Ald. Harley, who was connected with the employment work of the soldiers' aid commission, and continued his interest in the matter after the city took charge of the work, requested the mayor to investigate conditions, and made public the mayor's announcement.

They went together to the bureau and found many more men seeking jobs there than they expected, Mayor Little announced to them that at least a hundred men would be given employment this week, and proceeded at once to the city hall to make arrangements.

Ald. Harley declared his belief that the unemployment situation would not last much longer. He pointed out that many of those out of work had had some resources of their own which kept them until this time. These have exhausted their funds and are also finding it necessary to seek temporary work of some sort until their former positions are open to them.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. Andrew McGuire, who is a student at Assumption College, Sandwich, is spending the Easter holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McGuire of Glebe street.

Government Control

Endorsed by Thinking Men and Women

Cardinal Gibbons:

"I am persuaded that it is practically impossible to put prohibition into effect in any large community. I believe in Temperance; that is, moderation in all things, but not absolute prohibition."

The Bishop of Montreal:

"Sixteen years ago I made a thorough investigation into the working of various systems of liquor administration, and became convinced that the best system was that of Government Sale and Control."

Lady Henry Somerset:

"Government control is what is wanted, not prohibition. This campaign for prohibition is not dealing honestly with one of the most solemn questions affecting the whole future of our national life, because everyone who looks seriously at the present conditions knows prohibition to be impossible."

Windrim, 150 High street, this city; Mrs. (Rev.) H. Mackenzie of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. William Johnston of Toronto; Mr. Thos. Johnston of Brantford and Mr. Fred Johnston of Londesboro, Ont. Mrs. Walker was the youngest daughter of the late George Johnston of Londesboro, Ont.

FUNERAL OF C. N. COVILL.

The funeral of Charles Nash Covill, who died on Saturday, was held this afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. G. Q. Warner conducted the services. Mr. Covill was well known in London, having lived here for the past fifteen years, and was a valued employee of the Greene-Swift Company. His sudden death was due to heart failure. Mr. Covill was 47 years of age, and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Maude Meade and Mrs. Northrop, and two brothers, Harry and Fred, all residing in England. John Cambridge of this city is a cousin.

ESTABLISHING BOUNDARY LINE.

Paris, March 28.—Representatives of the allied governments will meet in Italy soon to exchange views relative to the establishment of the frontier between Poland and Germany in Upper Cilicia, it is explained in dispatches to Paris newspapers from Rome. It is declared that the question will demand an exchange of views between the various governments.

To Reward Men Who Prevented Railway Wreck

Allandale, March 28—The Grand Trunk Railway probably will express in a tangible manner its appreciation of the action of the men who flagged the Toronto express near Bradford when a cloudburst, causing a washout, might have wrecked the train and killed or injured many passengers. "We are gathering information concerning the incident," Superintendent Lynch said today, "but it is impossible to say at present what form the recognition will take. The company in the past has recognized thoughtfulness and heroism, and believes in retaining the goodwill of its neighbors. When the papers are complete they will be forwarded to headquarters at Montreal."

HOLD-UP MEN MAY HAVE ESCAPED BY WOODSTOCK ROUTE

Horse and Buggy Stolen At Thamesford Is Recovered.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

Woodstock, March 28.—Did the hold-up men who robbed T. N. Sumner in London Saturday night make their getaway towards Thamesford, steal a horse and buggy owned by John Gordon, three miles west of Thamesford, drive to Woodstock and catch a train out of here? Early Sunday morning the police found a horse, since claimed by Gordon, tied to a post near the G. T. R. station here. The animal had been driven hard, as evidenced by its condition, but otherwise the outfit was in good condition. Gordon spent Sunday searching in London and west, but this morning secured information that the outfit had been seen going east.

PALMER MUST PAY, BUT TRIPP GOES FREE

Story of Bottle of Whiskey Told In Police Court.

Robert Tripp, John Palmer and a bottle of whiskey were found in the lavatory of the Harrison House Saturday by police officers and taken to the station. This morning the officers swore that Palmer had the bottle and was trying to get the cork out of the bottle when they arrived. Palmer said that it was not his whiskey and that he was asked to open it by Tripp. The other man said that he did not own the whiskey and thought that Palmer was opening the bottle for strangers. Palmer was given the option of paying $200 into court or spending three months in jail. Tripp went free.

For some time past, Mr. McKinley has been suffering from ill health, and despite three months' leave of absence granted last summer by his congregation, has failed to recover. The congregation regrets to hear of Mr. McKinley's intention to retire from the church.

DROVE AUTO WHILE INTOXICATED.—Wilson McCullough was convicted in police court today of driving an auto while intoxicated, contrary, to section 24a of the motor vehicles act, and sentenced to seven days in the common jail. He was also convicted of having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling and fined $200 and costs with the option of three months in jail.

WOULD HAVE TO WAIT TOO LONG FOR A JURY

Man Charged With Stealing Auto Elects Trial by Judge.

Paul Smith elected in police court this morning to be tried by judge without a jury on a charge of having stolen a car owned by Lloyd Chapman, 43 Grand avenue, on Friday. The auto is valued at $1,800. Smith said that he did not wish to be tried by jury, because he would have to wait until June. Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop set the examination of the prisoner for Wednesday morning. Smith was charged under the Ontario temperance act Saturday, but this charge is being withheld until the more serious one is disposed of. On Saturday officials said Smith was not in fit condition to appear in court.

CARDINAL GIBBONS' BODY REMOVED TO CATHEDRAL

Baltimore, Md., March 28.—The body of Cardinal Gibbons was borne this morning from the bedchamber in which he died last Thursday to the cathedral, where it will lie in state until Thursday, the day of the funeral. There was no ceremony attendant upon its removal from the archiepiscal residence.

Arrayed in the mass vestments of an archbishop, the body rests upon a catafalque erected at the head of the centre aisle, immediately in front of the chancel. The cathedral, within and without, is draped in purple and black.

MEANS CLOSER CO-OPERATION.

London, March 28.—Canadian Associated Press.—Discussing the nomination of Senator Peacock, formerly of Toronto, for a directorship of the Bank of England, the Times this morning says that it marks a new epoch in imperial banking, and shows a fresh indication of the keen desire of the bank directors to secure the closer co-operation of businessmen from the dominions in the interests of imperial unity as well as of imperial trade.

POSTOFFICES IN COAST TOWNS ARE RAIDED

Object of Move Is To Cut Communication With Dublin.

Dublin, March 28.—Armed men this morning simultaneously raided the postoffices in the coast towns of Kingstown, Black Rock, Dalkey, Killiney and Foxrock, suburbs of Dublin. The staffs were held up at the points of revolvers and the telephones and other instruments were taken, the raiders giving receipts for them.

The object of the raids presumably was to cut off communication with this city.

GREEK FORCES TAKE RAILWAY JUNCTION

Many Prisoners Captured in Advance Against Turkish Nationalists.

Athens, March 28.—Afiun-Karahissar an important railway junction south of Eski-Shehr, has been taken by Greek forces from the Turkish Nationalists, says a Smyrna dispatch to the newspaper Nea Ellas. Many prisoners and large quantities of war material have been captured the dispatch declares and the Turks are fleeing toward Kiutaya about 50 miles northward. An official statement giving details of Saturday's fighting says that the army east of Smyrna occupied a line running through the villages of Chesne, Chahabal and Balmachmid and pursued the Turks to within approximately four miles of Afiun-Karahissar, where the attack halted for the night. It is said the Greek losses have been insignificant.

ENGLISH POLICE ARE PLANNING TO COMBAT INCENDIARY PLOTS

Sinn Feiners Believed To Be Responsible for Numerous Fires.

London, March 28.—A campaign of incendiarism in various parts of the country is assuming such proportions that the officials of Scotland Yard are mobilizing a fleet of motor cars and lorries to rush men to any point where there is a call for their services. This plan is similar to one adopted here recently when many incendiary fires were set in London. The Evening Standard asserts that further Sinn Fein plots to destroy farm buildings on the outskirts of London have been discovered. Special detectives were posted last night outside of Government buildings and No. 10 Downing street. The official home of the prime minister, Lloyd George, and special precautions were taken by the Bank or England. Farm buildings numbering twenty were burned in the Newcastle district, while other fires occurred at St. Albans and in Hertfordshire, Beaconsfield and Buckinghamshire. Near the ruins at a number of places empty oil cans were discovered.

HISS WILSON'S NAME

Demonstrations Take Place at New York Meeting.

New York, N. Y., March 28.—Demonstrations and hisses at the mention of Woodrow Wilson and former secretary of state, Colby, marked a public debate at Carnegie Hall last night between Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland and Senator Wm. H. King of Utah, on the question of changing the United States policy toward Russia. Further disorder occurred when the audience, believing that a vote was to be taken at the end of the debate, was informed that through a misunderstanding this would not be done.

Corn—May, 64¼c; July, 67⅝c.
Oats—May, 50⅞c; July, 42¼c.

Chicago, March 28.—Cold weather put some strength into the wheat market today. No damage reports were received, however, and upturns in prices failed to last. Trading which began today in the July delivery was of only small volume, with initial quotations $1 22@1 23, about as generally expected. The market as a whole opened ¼c to 1¼c higher, but soon sagged to slightly below Saturday's finish.

Corn paralleled the action of wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅝c higher, the market receded all around to a moderate extent.

Oats were governed by the course of other cereals, starting ¼c to ½c up and then undergoing something of a setback. [Jones, Easton, McCallum Company.]

PAVING PROGRAM IS STARTED FOR YEAR

Cold Weather May Interfere With Anticipated Progress.

Laying sidewalks was commenced by the city engineer's department today. All phases of the city's construction program are now under way. It is possible they may be delayed slightly if the sudden change to colder weather is of long duration. Otherwise the work will go steadily ahead, with prospects of setting a new record for the amount to be accomplished in one year.

Only a short strip of sidewalk on McKenzie avenue was started today. Garfield avenue likely will be the next one tackled. Several houses constructed by the housing commission are located on this streets. Curbs and gutters will follow the sidewalk construction within a short time, City Engineer Brazier said today.

Grading for pavements was commenced last week. A block on Queen's avenue, between Ontario and Quebec streets, will be completed today. It is not certain yet just what street will be graded next.

New Tenders for 1,590 tons of asphalt will be opened at a special meeting of No. 2 committee this afternoon. They will be referred to the city engineer for tabulation. The contract will be awarded at the regular meeting of the committee Tuesday night.

Contracts for cement and other materials have been awarded already. These will be here and ready for use within a short time.

COUNCIL WILL

consulting either the council or the people.

Service at Cost.

Operation of the street railway and the City Gas Company at cost under a commission appointed by the city, was the suggestion by Ald. John Ashton today. He may bring the proposal before the special meeting tomorrow.

This, he believes, would be a satisfactory solution to both the problems facing the city at the present time. Both the street railway and the Gas Company are in he same situation, he claims, and should be treated alike. He thinks that a plan could be worked out to allow them a reasonable dividend to meet fixed charges and to have the city assume the operation of them at cost, either one or two commissioners could be given full control of both utilities.

"It is time the council did something about settling these matters," he declared. "There has been nothing but talk so far. I think it is time we got down to business and settled up things."

Regina, Sask., March 28.—Reduction of ten cents a gallon in the price of ice cream in the prairie provinces will become effective May 1, it is announced by the Western Canada Ice Cream Manufacturers' Association.

FLAG WAS TORN DOWN DURING IRISH PARADE

BOSTON, Mass., March 27.—A British flag flying with the Stars and Stripes from a window at the Clarendon street home of Dr. Maynard Ladd, formerly a major in the American Red Cross, was torn down and trampled in the street today by some men who had been watching a parade in honor of Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork. Neighbors rescued the flag and took it in to Dr. Ladd.

He went to the door, holding the flag, and asked that those responsible for the incident make themselves known. No one responded, and he nailed the flag back in its place.

Police dispersed the crowd without making any arrests.

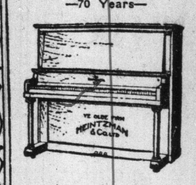

Dr. Ladd said the flags had been flying together for several months.

DEATH OF SUPT. WAUD.

UNIVERSITY HONORS LATE PROF. DUNCAN

BRANTFORD, March 27.—A wreath of flowers, a tribute from the Mellen Institute of the University of Pittsburg, was placed on the grave of Prof. R. K. Duncan at Farringdon Cemetery here this afternoon. The anniversary of the death of the noted industrial research expert will be observed at Easter in future because of weather conditions affecting the flowers during the winter.

The Lufferin Rifles has requested that two German guns, war trophies, be moved from the parade square and placed upon the armories terrace here. The two trophies take up considerable space and they will probably be put alongside two old cannon near the armories.

CUT IN BONUS BRINGS PROTEST FROM EMPLOYEES

Petition Will Be Sent To Premier Meighen From Guelph.

NOT SIGNING CONTRACTS

Members of Ontario Sugar Beet Growers' Association Want Higher Prices.

GUELPH, March 27.—Guelph post-office employees have drafted a petition to be forwarded to Premier Meighen protesting strongly against the proposed cut of 25 per cent in the high cost of living bonus they have been receiving. This action was taken at a joint meeting of the postal clerks and letter-carriers held last night. As in other cities throughout the province, the local postoffice staff are protesting against the bonus reduction on the grounds that the cost of living has not reduced anything like 25 per cent. The bonuses received by the employees at the local postoffice range from $60 to $420 per annum, according to length of service with the department.

WILL NOT SIGN CONTRACTS.

CHATHAM, March 26.—At a largely-attended and representatove gathering of the members of the Ontario Sugar Beet Growers' Association held in the I. O. F. auditorium, it was unanimously decided that the 1921 contract proposed by the Dominion Sugar Company was not satisfactory, and that no contracts be signed until a satisfactory contract is presented through the executive of the association.

It was further decided to commence also to secure acreage for 1922 through the farmers' clubs, said acreage to be presented to an independent sugar company, as an inducement to secure a favorable proposition from them as regards building a factory and co-operating with the growers on mutual conditions.

DROWNED WHEN AUTO RUNS OVER FERRY DOCK

KINGSTON, March 27.—Edward McGarvey, aged 40 years, of Kingston Mills, Ont., went over the dock in his Ford car on Saturday night about 8:30, at the foot of Princess street, this city. The car was located and efforts are being made to recover the body, which is believed to be wedged in between the steering wheel and the front seat. A diver will be sent down after the body. An inquest will be held when the body is recovered.

FIX STOMACH RIGHT UP

"Pape's Diapepsin" at once ends Indigestion, Gases, Sourness, Acidity

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

When, your meals don't fit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache, from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin and the stomach distress is gone.

Millions of people know the magic of Pape's Diapepsin as an antacid. They know that indigestion and disordered stomach are so needless. The relief comes quickly, no disappointment, and they cost so little, too.

HEAVY FIGHTING ON BRUSSA AND SMYRNA FRONTS

Greeks Developing Big Offensive Against the Turk Nationalists.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 27.—Fighting along the Brussa and Smyrna fronts is growing in intensity as the Greek offensive against the Turkish Nationalists develops. Gen. Ismet Pasha is making a determined stand on the Brussa front against the Greeks, whose attacks are directed by Gen. Vlachapoulos. Gen. Nourredin Pasha is commanding Turkish forces on the Smyrna front. Reports received here state that nothing decisive has as yet developed in the sectors where the offensive is going on.

Appeals were read at Easter services at Greek churches here today, calling upon the Venizelists to forget their differences with the present Greek Government in the face of the national danger that threatens that country.

YOUNG BANDIT KILLS HIMSELF

Preferred Death To Arrest When Rounded Up by Police.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, March 27.—Preferring death to arrest, Marvin Stevens, 18 years old, shot and killed himself last night as officers were about to take him into custody for an attempted hold-up and shooting of Kenneth McLeod, a night watchman at Young Bros.' factory on Mack avenue.

McLeod is in the hospital with a serious wound in the abdomen, and may not recover. According to the story obtained by the police, the watchman was making his rounds at the factory last night, when he thought he detected the figure of a man in the office. He flashed his light, and says he immediately recognized the man as Stevens, who had for a time been employed as an electrician by the firm.

Stevens called to the watchman to hold up his hands, but the latter, treating the affair as a joke, lurched forward toward the bandie in an attempt to wrest the revolver from his hands. Stevens fired, the bullet lodging in McLeod's stomach. After the shooting Stevens fled and was found at his boarding-house, a few minutes later, by detectives. Just as the officers stepped into the room Stevens killed himself by a shot through the heart.

AFTER-EFFECTS OF GAS AND WOUNDS FATAL TO VETERAN

Harold H. Clay Dies in Galt Hospital Following An Operation.

GALT, March 27.—Harod H. Clay, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Clay, died in the hospital last night. His death followed an operation, but was partly due to the after-effects of being gassed and wounded in the war. He was 25 years of age, and was born in Galt. He enlisted with the 111th Battalion. Besides his parents and one brother he leaves a young widow and a two-months-old child.

Another industry has been added to Galt's list, in Hi-Speed Tools, Limited. It is backed by local capital. The firm has leased a section of a factory and will commence operations shortly manufacturing screw-cutting tools, gauges and dies. L. W. O'Connor is the office and sales manager, H. Champ general superintendent, and J. A. Johnston superintendent of gauge department.

Easter eggs sold here today at 38 cents a dozen and butter at 60 cents.

Special Easter services and music were held in all the churches today. This evening in the armories the first band concert of the season was held, the Light Infantry Band rendering a very fine program to a large audience.

It is stated that the Ontario Railway Board has notified residents of Water street who appealed to them in connection with the laying of a pavement that their petition to stop the work from being proceeded with had failed because the petition did not bear sufficient signatures to make up the required perecentage of the total assessment. While this report could not be confirmed, the outcome is what was generally looked for, and it is expected now that an early start will be made on the pavement.

M. M. MACBRIDE IS READ OUT OF THE PARTY

Unless Brantford Labor Follows Suit It Will Be Expelled.

WELLAND, March 27.—Except for the reading of M. M. MacBride, M. L. A., Brant South, out of the provincial organization, and a decision in favor of the formation of the Independent Labor Party, the closing session of the annual convention of the Independent Labor Party of Ontario, here on Saturday, was largely a routine affair. The decision to throw Mr. MacBride out of the party came at the end of half a day's warm discussion. Mr. MacBride was not present, and same of the delegates expressed dissatisfaction with President J. W. Buckley because of this. The president, however, said he had done his best to have Mr. MacBride present.

Going to Braptford.

A member of the executive of the Independent Labor Party will go to Brantford to lay the matter of Mr. MacBride's expulsion before the local labor party there. If the Brantford labor party does not follow suit and cast the M. L. A. for South Brant out of the labor party there, it too will be expelled from membership by the provincial organization. Before the decision to wipe Mr. MacBride off the map had been taken by the convention, George G. Halcrow, M. L. A., East Hamilton, tried to pour oil on the troubled waters and give Mr. MacBride another chance, and G. Foster, of Hamilton, a member of the minimum wage board of Ontario, put in a good word for the man from Brant, but Hon. Walter Rollo, minister of labor in the Drury Government, indignantly referred to abuse he had received from the Brant member, and he had the sympathy of the convention.

Money Badly Needed.

In view of the serious financial position the Independent Labor Party is in, as revealed in Secretary-Treasurer Roy Palmer's statement on Saturday, the convention considered ways and means whereby the party could function effectively. To start with, thirty-five delegates subscribed a total of $500 to meet deficits and give undertakings that expenses incurred in placing a salaried secretary on the road, as proposed by the convention, would be met until the membership would be able to pay his salary and expenses.

What They Did.

Among the things the convention did were the following: Condemned the use of militia in combatting strikes; indorsed the action of the British Government in entering into trade relations with soviet Russia; insisted upon the eight-hour day for all female labor, domestics included; called for an unimproved land tax, starting at one mill on the dollar and objected to the Ontario Government's system of bringing mechanics into Canada under the heading of farmers. Their understanding of the situation was that the Ontario colonization department has been advertising for 50,000 farmers and they are accepting skilled mechanics as farmers.

The New Officers.

Officers were elected as follows: President, W. J. Buckley, Toronto; vice-presidents, J. T. Marks, Toronto; Arthur Moulds, London; Controller J. Cameron, Ottawa; A. C. Stewart, for Northern Ontario; J. W. Wilson, for Western Ontario; Dr. J. E. Hett, Kitchener and Mary McBann, Hamilton, secretary-treasurer, R. H. Palmer.

POLICE RAID HEADQUARTERS OF SINN FEIN

Huge Quantities of Seditious Literature Are Seized.

LATEST DECREE TAKEN

Arms and Ammunition Captured by the Authorities in Dublin.

DUBLIN, March 27.—The headquarters of the Sinn Fein propaganda department at 11 Molesworth street, was raided last night by police auxiliaries, who effected what was officially described as the largest capture of seditious literature yet made in Ireland. Several tons of files, books and other documentary matter were removed in the lorries of the raiders.

The office equipment of the headquarters was most elaborate. The department had numerous divisions, one of which dealt with propaganda in foreign countries, including Italy, France and Spain, according to the official reports of the raid. Files of letters, addressed to Sinn Fein agents and other persons in those countries were seized. All the leading British newspapers were on file at the department and scores of volumes of clippings and circular letters addressed to members of the House of Commons also were seized.

Among the documents taken, it was announced, was the latest decree of the "Irish Republic Parliament," proclaiming the boycott upon British agricultural machinery.

The "Irish Bulletin" was issued from this office, but its appearance elsewhere is expected. None of the members of the staff was found on the premises.

ARMS AND AMMUNITION.

DUBLIN, March 27.—Reports made today by the authorities in connection with the capture of the large quantity of arms and ammunition found by government forces in Dublin last Friday, said to have been the greatest quantity of such materials so far taken, show that the arms and munitions were landed on the coast of Kerry in fish barrels a few days previously. They were then sent to Sligo, partly by train and partly by motor cars, reaching Sligo Tuesday night and arriving in Dublin next morning. The bombs and shells were packed in boxes and addressed to an English firm, well known by cycle manufacturers in St. Stephens Green.

This firm, it is explained, had no knowledge of the shipment, and the goods never reached it, being intercepted, according to the officials, by Sinn Fein agents and taken to the stables in Mount Jay, where the materials were discovered.

Planned Big Ambush.

This large consignment of ammunition, it is declared, was intended for use in connection with a plan to ambush the crown forces on their way to relieve the guard at the Mount Joy jail Easter Monday, and if this proved successful, it was intended, the authorities declare, to attack the prison, in the hope of rescuing the Sinn Fein prisoners.

A well-laid mine, containing several hundred pounds of explosives and fuses, was discovered by auxiliaries in County Kenny recently, according to information from official headquarters today. The mine, which was laid under a bridge in the neighborhood of the auxiliaries' headquarters, was discovered just in time to avoid a catastrophe to several lorries loaded with cadets.

The authorities claim great assistance is being lent to the crown forces by the residents in various localities, who have begun to come forward in large numbers to denounce the attempts of the Sinn Feiners in several sections to commit outrages. Attempted ambushes in a number of places recently have been frustrated in this way.

LIBERTY LEAGUE WITHDRAWING WRIT ASKING INJUNCTION

Ruling of Chief Returning Officer Makes It Entirely Unnecessary.

TORONTO, March 27.—Following a statement made by the Toronto referendum committee on Saturday afternoon that no attempt would be made to have the names of voters placed on the lists for the coming referendum except by personal application, and after an informal conference with Judge Emerson Coatsworth, chief revising officer for Toronto and York County, who stated that the revising officers would accept names only on viva voce examination, the solicitors for the Citizens' Liberty League have decided to withdraw the writ for an injunction which was to have come before a high court judge in Osgoode Hall next Wednesday. The writ was for an injunction to restrain revising officers from putting names on the voters' lists except upon personal application.

The litigation that was launched by the Citizens' Liberty League was thus suddenly stopped on the acceptance on Saturday of the ruling made by Lieut.-Col. Biggar, Ottawa, chief returning officer, to the effect that only upon personal application could voters have their names placed on the lists. Judge Coatsworth had previously expressed the belief that personal application was not necessary, and it was this that precipitated the legal proceedings.

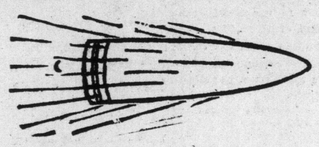

Following is a statement of the situation issued tonight by the local revising officers:

"In view of the fact that the Toronto referendum committee, in order to evade the possibility of litigation hereafter, have accepted the view that names can be added to the voters' lists only by personal application of the voter, the revising officers have adopted that view and all those who desire to have their names placed on the lists will have to appear before the revising officers for viva voce examination."

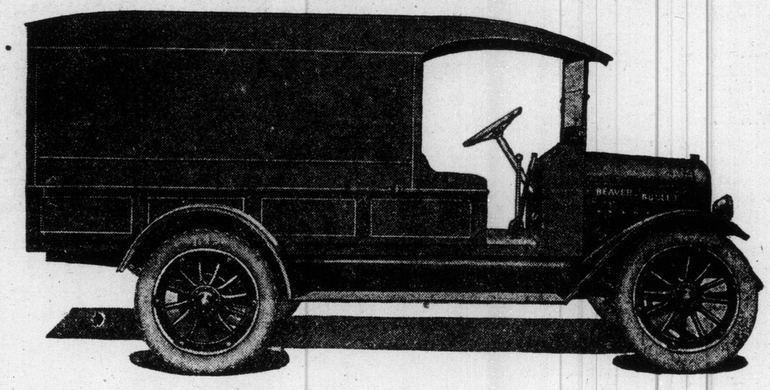

I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., president of the Citizens' Liberty League, said tonight: "The writ was issued only to have the law enforced. There is no object in going on with the suit when the judge (Coatsworth) takes that stand."

It is expected that the work of the revision officers here will be brisk all week. The revision of the lists will begin at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

LIBERAL PROPOSITION TO RELIABLE DEALERS

STRATFORD CLERKS WANT HALF HOLIDAY

Petition Is Being Circulated Asking For Wednesday Afternoons.

STRATFORD, March 26.—A petition asking for a half holiday on Wednesday from May 1 to September is being largely signed by retail clerks in the city. The mechants will likely grant the request.

Bedford S. Hearn is dead here, aged 65 years. He was born in New Brunswick, coming to Stratford 40 years ago, entering the livery business. One daughter, Mrs. S. Goulding, and four sons survive, W. D. Farrow, W. B. Farrow, F. S. Farrow and F. G. Farrow of this city, also four sisters, Mrs. Alex Fraser of Vancouver, Mrs. W. Good of St. Marys, Mrs. Walter Hard of Toronto, Mrs. Harry Cooper of El Paso, Texas, and two brothers, W. F. Farrow of Ancaster, Ont., and J. S. Farrow of Los Angeles, Cal.

William Swallowell, aged 63, died last night. He was born in Stratford. Two sons and four daughters survive, Richard of London, William of Detroit, Mrs. O'Donaghue, Mrs. J. Wheat and Mrs. Willoughby of Stratford, and Eva of Detroit.

SUN DODGING ARMY IN PARIS DECREASES

Hilarity After Midnight Is Far From That in Old Days.

PARIS, March 21.—Paris has lost the habit of staying up all night and has about decided to let Berlin or London have the reputation of being Europe's noisiest and most hilarious capital after midnight. Whether this is due to the sobering effects of the war or to the fact that the finances longer stand the strain of night life prices, the fact remains that the restaurant, dance hall and theatre proprietors are not enthusiastic over the new police ordinance allowing them to stay open until 2 o'clock instead of closing at midnight.

Instead of reaping additional profits they have discovered that on the Paris street soon after midnight there is an absolute lack of life, and the few pedestrians who stroll about belong to the class that seeks money instead of spending it. Theatregoers still rush for taxicabs as soon as the curtain goes down, and if there is any gayety it is clandestine instead of being shared by all in the brightly-lighted drinking places, as in the day's before the war.

A few wanderers, chiefly tourists, continue to drop in at Montmartre establishments a half hour before closing, but these depart shaking their heads regretfully when they find that instead of the laughing throngs only a few

MAY STOP WORK IN COAL MINES ON THURSDAY

Conferences Fail To Solve Serious Situation in England.

LONDON, March 27.—Stoppage of work in British coal mines on Thursday, the day when the Government will pass control of the mines back to their private owners, is viewed as a possibility here. Conferences on the subject have failed to suggest a compromise, but owners and miners have submitted separate reports to the Government. It is expected that renewed negotiations will begin on Wednesday.

MONTMARTRE IS GAY AS IN PRE-WAR DAYS

Mid-Lent Carnival Makes Half Million Merry and Helps Devastated Village.

PARIS, March 22.—The Montmartre district, which is the centre of Paris gayety, overthrew all Catholic precedents by establishing a special mid-Lent carnival, attracting half a million spectators to the streets of the famous butte, which is perhaps the best-known part of Paris to American tourists.

Jules de Paguit, iconoclastic mayor of the Free Commune, which has not yet gained government approval, but which has adopted a devasted village, headed the celebration in all his bedizenment facilities, cafes, cabarets, cinemas, drinking places, etc., while specity guards of troops and police kept the laughing crowds in order.

It was the first real attempt by the hilarious element of Paris to restore the gayety of pre-war days and the celebration continued until 7 o'clock the next morning, when Mayor de Paguit ordered that the cafes must shut down to give the public a chance, according to his official proclamation, "to get at least a short slumber after a night of alcoholic but patriotic indulgence."

All the Paris mid-Lent queens attended the long procession, but Montmartre acknowledged the majesty only of its own "muse," selected from a prominent cinema cast. More than 50,000 francs was collected from spectators along the route for the benefit of the devastated village of Colney.

HIS FLESH HORRIBLY BURNT

His druggist sold him a cheap, acid corn remedy instead of giving him good, old, reliable Putnam's Corn Extractor, which has been for fifty years the standard remover of corns and warts. "Putnam's" never fails; it is always a success; 25c everywhere. Refuse a substitute.

MADE VICTIMS DIG THEIR OWN GRAVES

Brutal Murder Is Being Investigated by Southern Authorities.

MONTICELLO, Ga., March 27.—Two more bodies of negroes were recovered from the Alcovy River here today, making a total of eleven bodies found since the authorities began an investigation of charges of peonage and murder against John Williams, a Jasper County farmer. Like the first three found, a number of days ago, the bodies recovered today were chained together and were weighted down with sacks of iron and stones. Five bodies were found Saturday buried in Williams' plantation.

According to a confession made to department of justice agents by Clyde Manning a negro employed by Williams, the eleven negroes were slain and their bodies made away with in order to prevent them from testifying against Williams in the peonage charges. Manning, it was said, confessed he killed five of them with an axe at Williams' order. The bodies were recovered Saturday after he had pointed out the place of burial.

The coroner's jury investigating the deaths found that in two cases the negroes were compelled to dig their own graves. Williams and Manning both are being held in jail here under close guard.

LONDON NIGHT LIFE OBJECT OF ATTACK

Two Hundred Salvation Army "Picked Troops" Invade Piccadilly Circus.

LONDON, March 27.—Two hundred "picked troops" of the Salvation Army, headed by a brass band, made an attack on London night life recently. The forces gathered in Regent street shortly before midnight, and appeared suddenly in Piccadilly Circus, surprising the crowd in the cafes and other places of amusement.

Without warning the strains of "Shall We Gather at the River?" burst upon the ears of the revelers and the cafe devotees. Pedestrian traffic practically stopped while the marchers passed up Shafesbury avenue into Leicester Square, thence to Charing Cross.

When the battalion reached Leicester Square four young women in furs, silk stockings and Piccadilly complexions brought up the rear of the column.

"Things have been in a very bad way here for some time past," said Commissioner Cox, who led the attack. "An outcery has gone up that nobody is doing anything in behalf of the young women and girls who are found on the streets nightly in greater numbers.

"Why there should be so many mere children on the streets it is difficult to say, but probably the war has had a great deal to do with it. It gave them a taste, not for wickedness, but for 'life' as they understand it. They want too much dancing and pleasure, and that very often leads to sorrow."

GODERICH FISHERMEN GET AN EARLY START

Good Catches of Perch Made by Those Out Saturday.

GODERICH, March 27.—The fishermen have started operations here, and have a number of nets set now. One fisherman lifted a gang of perch nets Saturday and his catch was about 300 pounds of fine fish. The trout nets will be lifted for the first time this year the beginning of the week. This is the earliest, fishermen say, that they have got into action for a number of years.

The death occurred here yesterday afternoon of Andrew Holliday in his 55th year. He had not had the best of health for some time, and was operated on a week ago for internal trouble and grew steadily weaker. Mr. Holliday for a number of years was a prosperous farmer of Colborne Township and retired about six years ago, moving to Goderich, where he conducted a vegetable garden with great success. He leaves his wife and one daughter. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

EXTEND WORKING HOURS.

BERNE, Switzerland, March 27. — The Swiss Government has authorized the extension of the working hours in certain trades from 48 to 52, regardless of the Socialist protests. This action has been taken on account of the economic crisis. Woodworking and brick-making plants are included in the new order.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GREY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, grey hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded, streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

MEIGHEN HESITATES.

Judging by results, Premier Meighen has not been successful in his quest for a Tory minister from Quebec. In the weeks before the session of Parliament opened the comment of some Government newspapers might have been taken to indicate that there was a regular trek towards Ottawa of the finest minds of Quebec, all anxious to join the Meighen cabinet. In the end it simmered down to the rather quixotic Mr. Gauthier, who appears to have offered himself, and been as quickly rejected. The premier evidently recognized that the member for St. Hyacinthe was not speaking for any real Quebec group, and that even if he were taken in as a minister it was doubtful if he would be able to hold his own seat.

It is commonly understod at Ottawa that overtures of one kind or another have been made to half a dozen of the leading Quebec Liberals, and that they have, as a man, rejected altogether the offers of cabinet place. Hon. Dr. Beland was particularly coveted by the Unionist leaders when he returned from his captivity in Belgium, but he remained true to his former allegiance, and is today one of the strong men standing behind Hon. Mr. King in the Commons.

The session is now more than half over, and no steps of any consequence have apparently been taken in the direction of cabinet reorganization. It is unlikely that there will be anything done now until the session is over, one reason being that with his majority hovering in the twenties, even on so important a vote as the address, Premier Meighen simply cannot allow prospective ministers to be absent from the House campaigning. In the meantime, the "old guard" is functioning.

A few months more will bring the Government to the end of four years of office, and whether they like it or not an election will be staring them in the face. For that reason, if there are changes to be made in the cabinet, they will have to come soon, or they will be transpiring on the eve of an election. The weakness of the administration is well indicated in the hesitation it shows in making any changes at the present time, as also in the fact that it is apparently without hope of getting a minister out of Quebec, save by placing him in the Senate.

IGNORING PARLIAMENT.

The question of mandates has raised an important constitutional point in the British Parliament that has also some interest for Canada. In a debate in the House of Lords on March 14 Lord Curzon said that it would be intensely derogatory to the Council of the League of Nations if Parliament discussed the mandates before they received the approval of Geneva. He imagined that when the League passed a mandate it would come before Parliament, which would be asked to give a general expression of opinion about it, but he did not think that it would be open to Parliament to pull it to pieces.

Writing in the Times, Lord Islington cites this as an example of the way in which the executive is seizing power that rightfully belongs to Parliament. He points out that the mandates threaten Great Britain with a liability of £28,500,000 in the coming year, and that, further, by these mandates, the risk of being drawn into complications with friendly nations is increased, as in the case of the United States' protest with regard to oil products. Lord Islington more than hints that the American opposition to mandates is sound, constitutionally, and he adds:

"It is curious that it should be left to the American Legislature to give the British Parliament a lesson on its own constitution by insisting on full parliamentary control."

The incident is of interest to Canadians because we, too, are suffering from an attempt by the executive to control matters that belong properly to Parliament. There was a case in point within the last week when Sir George Foster admitted in the House, under questioning, that he had recently signed a trade agreement with France that had not been approved by Parliament. Col. John Currie (Unionist) asked when the Government had acquired the right to make treaties with foreign countries without consulting Parliament. Governments had been defeated as a result of doing that kind of thing. The question was not answered.

We have had a good deal of such autocratic government by the executive in this country, and the comment of the London Times on the question as applying to Great Britain has equal point for Canadian conditions when it says:

"The struggle which developed centuries ago when the crown tried to wrest from Parliament the control and disposal of the national revenue, is reappearing, though in a new form. Today it is not the crown which seeks to despoil the taxpayers in defiance of the authority of Parliament. The new battle now beginning is between the nation and the executive. The demand of the nation is that Parliament shall exercise its rightful control over the public revenue and expenditure.

"By such devices as orders-in-council, which violate the spirit of the constitution, by submitting heavy estimates after the money has been spent, and by permitting individual ministers to place huge financial obligations upon the country, the executive frequently flout the representatives of the people. A perplexing feature of the situation is that the present Parliament is so docile and so neglectful of its task as the custodian of the nation's interests that the Government are enabled to act in contemptuous disregard of precedent."

A SPLENDID BUILDING.

The new building of the London and Western Trust Company on the west side of Richmond street, between York and King streets, is a welcome addition to the architecture of the city. The company is to be congratulated on its fine appearance. It is imposing and substantial. The banking-room will be perfect in all its appointments.

The safety deposit vaults, with rooms where clients can transact their business, are located in the basement. Every facility is afforded for safety and convenience. On the ground floor is the banking-room and private offices of the manager, his assistant and chief officials. The banking-room is the best in the city. Its only rival might be the Bank of Commerce. The light was perfect, and although unfurnished it was not difficult to picture it when finished, as appeared to be the intention, in mahogany. On the first floor is the board room and president's room, also to be finished in mahogany. Altogether, the appointments appear to be perfect for the purpose, and, outside and in, very creditable to the architect and the company.

The building is clear evidence of London's advance as the financial centre of Western Ontario. London has been slow in securing buildings that could claim architectural beauty. This is a pleasing and substantial addition, that will give pleasure to everyone passing it, and character to the company, whose increasing prosperity made it necessary, and whose good judgment decided to build not for today only, but for very many years to come.

BRITISH FOOD FIGURES.

Statistics of the British ministry of food show that about 45 per cent of the principal foodstuffs consumed in Great Britain during 1920 was of home production. Larger quantities of beef and veal, butter, oats, and barley were produced at home than were imported, but the reverse applied to wheat, mutton and lamb, bacon and hams, and cheese. The estimated consumption was over 1,000,000 tons less than the figures for the year 1919, but more fresh meats and less grain were consumed. The details are as follows:

	1919—1,000 Tons Consumed.	Per Cent Home-Grown.	1920—1,000 Tons Consumed.	Per Cent Home-Grown.
Wheat	7,396	27	6,715	18
Barley	1,956	64	1,950	62
Oats	4,297	92	3,364	86

EDITORIAL NOETS.

President Beatty of the C. P. R. thinks that a serious mistake is being made in limiting immigration at the present time practically to farm laborers and domestics. He urges that Canada's export trade will need mechanics, and that, above all else, there should be attention paid to the matter of peopling the west. It is questionable if the Chinese-wall policy was ever beneficial in immigration or anything else.

OTHERS' VIEWS

A PATRIOTIC PROTEST.

[New York Times.]

The veterans who were with Pershing and Galbraith and Donovan at the great patriotic rally in Madison Square Garden will associate the fervor and thrill of the demonstration with the sacrifices and achievements of the American army. An inspiring meeting it was, with the service men packed to the roof; the disabled, a thousand of them, honored by their comrades as they moved to their places; the whole assemblage rising with bowed heads as the mothers of the dead appeared. The strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" awoke the echoes of the building which has known so many mass meetings, but none that has made a stronger appeal to the national spirit.

It was a great protest against the hostile and seditious proceedings of those who had assembled in the same place three weeks before in an attempt to alienate America from France. That was an amazing performance, but loyal Americans have the satisfaction of knowing that it provoked a revival of the patriotic zeal which possessed the United States all through the war.

FOREST REVENUES.

[Quebec Chronicle.]

Revenues from crown forests are playing an increasingly important part in the several provinces. In Quebec, for the year ending June 30, 1920, the forest revenue amounts to $2,604,456.26, or 25.6 per cent greater than during the previous year. It is estimated that during the current fiscal year the forest revenue to the provincial treasury will aggregate around $3,000,000, which may be increased to $3,500,000 during the fiscal year following.

In New Brunswick, for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1920, the forest revenues to the provincial treasury aggregated $1,387,005, or more than double those of the previous year. This increase was due partly to an increased cut, partly to increased stumpage dues, and partly to a closer scale.

In Ontario, for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1920, the forest revenue was $2,684,843, an increase of nearly 50 per cent over the previous year.

During the calendar year 1919, the British Columbia Government received in forest revenue a total of $2,755,739.

The importance of perpetuating these revenues, to say nothing of increasing them, is obviously so great that all of the provinces would be amply justified in expending larger sums than at present upon the protection of the forests from fire, insects and disease, upon reforestation, and upon an administration calculated to insure cut-over areas being left in the best condition to produce continued crops of the more valuable tree species, so far as that may be consistent with the economies of the situation.

WORRYING ABOUT THE UNITED STATES.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The Rome correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger informs his paper that a considerable number of members in the Chamber of Deputies are worrying for fear the present trend of events will lead eventually to a combination of the United States, Germany and Russia against England, France and Japan, and they hold that Italy had better not join too enthusiastically in putting pressure upon Germany.

Americans will smile at the idea, but one can understand how the theory could be supported. The United States, Germany and Russia are the three big nations outside of the League of Nations. In that sense they are already in a class together. That Germany hopes for some sort of help from the United States in its troubles with France and Great Britain is known of all men, and there is a natural assumption abroad that the ancient friendship between the United States and Russia will be restored whenever Russia recovers from its attack of temporary insanity. On the other hand, France and Great Britain are tied firmly together by the indemnity question, and Japan is closely allied to England, while its relations with the United States have not been satisfactory.

By such reasoning a plausible case can be made for the Italian nation, but it ignores a whole world of fact. The United States in due course will resume commercial relations with Germany and Russia, but certainly not to the disadvantage of its friends and allies, Great Britain and France. Instead of combining with any nation against Japan this country will continue hopefully to look for agreement and friendly accord with the Japanese. All of this is a matter of course in the United States and the Italian nightmare is interesting only as it shows how little the League of Nations has done to put old suspicions, fears and jealousies to sleep.

TRIAL OF GERMAN CRIMINALS.

[Toronto Mail and Empire.]

In the political campaign that immediately followed the armistice, Premier Lloyd George made special capital of his intention to press for the punishment of the war criminals, from the kaiser down. Demand was made on Holland, subsequently, for the surrender of the Hohenzollerns, but was not pressed. It was never intended to press the matter far enough to put the Kaiser in the same position as Napoleon occupied after he surrendered to the Allies. But the part of the Versailles treaty which provides for the punishment of "war criminals" is to be observed to a certain degree. In May, before the supreme court at Leipsic, the trials of various military and submarine officers guilty of maltreating prisoners, or sinking hospital ships or otherwise violating ordinary humanitarian or recognized rules of warfare, will take place. The British Government will present the evidence. Later, the French and Belgian governments will present evidence at the trials of various military officers responsible for outrages in the military occupation. It remains to be seen whether the trials will be mere farces, or whether the German court will deal with the officers as they ought to be dealt with. The Allies should have insisted on the handing over of the offenders, as first contemplated, and so avoided the prospect that the German court will find ways of evading the infliction of punishment on the "heroes" who committed dastardly outrages in the name of the fatherland.

ONE FAMOUS GERMAN.

[London Morning Post.]

Three centuries and three-quarters ago Martin Luther died at Eisleben, the little village where he first saw the light sixty-three years before. Like other great men, both before and after him, he was born poor. Hard, rigorous necessity was his companion in early years; his father whipped him for the slightest failing, and he earned his daily bread by singing in the streets. But he had great moral courage, and his early sufferings undoubtedly prepared him for his great life work. His answer before the Diet of Worms, when he said: "It is neither safe nor prudent to do aught against conscience. Here stand I; I can do no other," was one of the epoch-making utterances of all time. As Carlyle wrote: "This is the greatest moment in the modern history of men." It would have been well for Germany if she had been actuated by the same sentiments as her illustrious countryman during more recent years!

EVERYTHING

A BROTHER TO THE WINDS.

[Edith M. Thomas.]

There was a dreamer delicate, whose dreams
He wished to have without too much of sleep—
Give him a crannied roof that planet gleams
Might silver vigil keep!

And let his dreams to melody be set! . . .
Between the window sashes then he drew
A slender thread, a string without a fret,
To play the long night through.

Then called he on the winds: "Children of Dawn
And of the belted Hunter in the height,
Who in and out among the stars have gone
And blown about their light—

"O come and strike for me my one string'd harp!
Come, all ye ancient Winds, yet ever young,
With dulcet voices or with rough and sharp;
For you my harp was strung.

"I am your brother, but not wing'd as ye—
A soul that drowses in a donjon keep,
Yet one whose dreams, the while ye sing, shall be
Not the mere dreams of sleep!"

Came Zephyrus, and came Eurocly don—
They sang of gardens or great ships that wreck!
Came those who their aeolian mazes spun
On Argo's dancing deck!

And came, with long forgotten weirds, those bands
That Druid conclaves far in eld had stirred;
With others who in twilight underlands,
The Prince of Dyfed heard.

They played for him and sang, while winter passed . . . .
His frail spun thread of life yet frailer grew,
Till, one wild night in March, it snapped at last—
And snapped the harp string, too.

Then lyric tumult rose and filled the sky,
And those who watched the dreamer's bed beside
Bent, and caught up, bewildered, his last sigh,
"Now with the Winds I ride!"

A MIRACLE.

[Charlotte Becker.]

I had a little Joy
Fresh as a budded leaf,
Life trampled it to bits,
And changed it to a Grief.

But when my Grief became
A worn, beloved toy,
Life broke it all to bits,
And changed it back to Joy.

PENALTY OF SUCCESS.

[Washington Star.]

No man desires defeat; and yet
When all the balloting is o'er,
The loser need no longer fret;
The winner has to work still more.

ON THE RIVER ROAD.

[Kansas City Star.]

In June, upon the river road,
I saw two woodland sprites
In palest green, who laughed and sang
And danced through moonlit nights.
I, laughing, threw them each a kiss,
And went upon my way:
Since then I've heard them calling me,
Calling . . . all the day.

In autumn, too, I saw them there,
Each in a crimson gown,
Still dancing and they beckoned me,
As I walked into town.
They waved their slender hands to me,
I heard their elfin call
That mingled with the redbird's song—
Twin silver birches, tall.

Now, though the river road lies white,
The skies are sullen, grey,
No sprightly elves with merry song
Are dancing there. All day
Tall, shrouded ghosts in silence stand,
While like a threnody
The phantom echo of a call,
Snow winged, comes back to me.

A MARRIAGE TEST.

[Philadelphia Record.]

In Everard Meynells catalogue of Coventry Patmore's library appears this note:

"Patmore told Dr. Garnett that during his courtship, wishing to be sure that a congeniality of taste existed between himself and Emily Andrews, he lent her Emerson's Essays, asking her to mark the passage that most struck her, and on getting the book back was delighted to find that the marks were those which he would have made for himself."

Patmore married Emily in 1847; and Christopher Morley, who dug up this note, remarks: "One wonders if Patmore applied the same test before his two subsequent marriages (1864, 1881)."

UNMOVED.

[Washington Star.]

The roses all have left the place
Where once they bloomed so bright,
The birds who sang with joyous grace
In silence take their flight.

About the spot there seems to cling
A loneliness profound,
The grip germ is the only thing
That keeps on hanging round.

URGE BRITISH GOVT. TO REMOVE EMBARGO

SS. MINNEDOSA, March 27.—(By wireless to Canadian Press, Limited).—Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture for Ontario, addressed over 2,000 passengers on the Minnedosa on Canada's agricultural position. He extended a welcome to the British immigrants who are on board the steamer Minnedosa, bound for Canada. A resolution moved by H. Teare, of Marquis, Sask., and seconded by Thomas Graham, of Big Prairie, Alberta, and carried unanimously, urged the British Government to remove at once the embargo on Canadian cattle and expressed thanks to Hon. Mr. Doherty for his efforts on behalf of the Canadian people to have the embargo removed.

It was decided that a wireless message, embodying the resolution, should be sent to the Canadian Press, Limited, and to Premier Meighen.

THE Ford Car is built in this, the greatest and most scientifically equipped automobile factory in the British Empire, at Ford, Ontario.

It is built at less cost than any other car in the world,

—with the exact precision and uniformity possible only with such mechanical equipment as that of the Ford Factory.

And what the makers put into the Ford Car, over 3,000 Ford dealers and service stations in Canada keep in the Ford Car.

That is the reason why the Ford Car lasts longer, goes further and costs less to run than any other car,

—why it is a good car for you to buy.

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

IN SOCIETY

Among the guests present at the first big Canadian dinner ever held in Bermuda, which took place at the Hamilton Hotel on March 16, were General Shannon and Mr. Dowler of this city.

Mrs. C. A. Brown, 80 Tecumseh avenue, was the recipient of some beautiful Easter lilies, grown outdoors in Bermuda, sent by her sister, Mrs. Susie Garnhan, who is visiting the West Indies. The flowers arrived in splendid condition despite their long journey.

Dr. James Boyes, of this city, who has been taking X-ray work for some time past in Detroit, is holidaying in the city.

Dr. Mell Platt, of New York, is visiting his mother in this city.

Dr. Roy Kingswood, of Harper Hospital, Detroit, is spending Easter at home.

Mr. Robert Cleghorn, Ridout street, is spending the holidays in Boston.

Mrs. H. W. Scarff, of St. Thomas, who is spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Whitwam, Waterloo street, was the hostess of a charming little luncheon party held at the Kennels on Saturday in honor of Mrs. J. J. Tearney, of Toronto. Covers were laid for ten on a table decked with quantities of pale yellow and pink tulips arranged in a low bowl.

Mr. J. J. Tearney, of Toronto, is spending Easter with Mrs. W. L. Underwood, Wolfe street. He returns home on Tuesday accompanied by Mrs. Tearney, who has been a guest in the city for some time past.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Humphreys are spending the holiday in Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Randle Brown is visiting friends in Sarnia for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter MacArthur, of Appin, have been spending a few days in the city.

The tea dance which the Janey Canuck Chapter held at Wong's Cafe on Saturday afternoon was one of the smartest functions on the Easter season. Both large upper rooms were used for dancing. Mrs. Alma Egelton, regent of the chapter, receiving the guests in a lovely gown of navy georgette with handsomely beaded overdress and large black mohair hat. She was assisted by Miss Aileen Raymond, convener of the function, and her committee Miss Florence Jackson and Miss Florence Wilden. About one hundred and fifty guests were present, among them several small parties.

Palms and spring flowers lent their beauty to the Hermitage Club rooms on Thursday night last, when the club held the fourth informal dance of the season under the convenership of Mr. E. A. Shaw. About fifty couples were present, including the club members and their friends.

Mrs. A. C. McLeod, King street, is spending the Easter holidays with friends in Seaforth.

ROSS—SUTHERLAND.

A quiet wedding took place on Saturday, March 19, at the College Street Presbyterian Church, Toronto, when Miss Divina Sutherland, only daughter of Mr. Wm. Sutherland, of Embro, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter F. Ross, of West Zorra, son of Mr. P. Ross, of Embro. Rev. R. B. Cockrane officiating.

GRAHAM—THORNE.

An interesting wedding took place on Tuesday, March 24, at the Egerton Street Baptist parsonage, when Miss Helena May Thorne was united in marriage to Mr. John Duncan Graham, the Rev. A. C. Bingham officiating. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Thorne.

LITTLE—WITTY.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Witty, concession 1, Enniskillen, on March 2, when their only daughter, Mary J., became the bride of Mr. Chas. A. Little of Dawn, the ceremony being performed at high noon by Rev. Lamont, pastor of the Brooke and Enniskillen Baptist Church.

The bride, who entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, took her place under an arch of evergreen and pink and white roses to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Olive Clements of Dawn. The bride, who was unattended, looked charming in a gown of ivory satin, with trimmings of seed pearls and sequin, and customary veil caught up with orange blossoms. Immediately after the signing of the register the guests, numbering about 40, and including only the immediate friends and relatives of the bride and groom, repaired to the dining-room, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. The bride's mother wore black duchess satin. Mrs. A. Little, mother of the groom, also wore black satin. The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome and useful gifts, amongst them several substantial checks.

The happy couple left amid showers of good wishes for Sarnia, Port Huron and Detroit, the bride travelling in a navy blue serge suit and black hat with ostrich plume trimming. Mr. and Mrs. Little will be home to their friends after March 19, at the home of the bride's parents.

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MacDONALD COLLEGE.

THE MORAL VALUE OF CONTINUITY.

It is not only a child's reason that is trained when proper play is given to his instinct for continuity; it is his moral senses as well. Moral life is bound up with the power to reason; with the ability to trace the effect back to cause. It is bad for a child to be interrupted constantly in his play. When such interruption is necessary it should be made with consideration and explanation, so that the child can see its reasonableness. As we demand courtesy for the continuation of our work and speech, so we must give it; so we must establish in the child the same sense of the rightness of perseverance and steady pursuit of an aim.

When a child hurts himself we should show him the true cause wherever it is possible, teach him to see how consequences follow upon his acts. Nothing could be worse morally than for a mother whose child has fallen against the table to comfort him by pretending to whip the table. He gets a wholly false idea of cause and effect, and gets satisfaction emotionally from revenge; his reason and feeling are both debased. Rather show him how his own carelessness caused his pain, how he can avoid being hurt, and how, when he is hurt, to bear it cheerfully, as part of the big game he is playing in life.

RAISIN RECIPES.

For a steamed raisin corn bread, with sour milk, very wholesome, nutritious, and delectable, mix a cupful of fine yellow cornmeal with half a cupful of graham flour and a cupful of white flour. Add a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a third of a cupful of molasses, a quarter of a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of warm water; stir until foamy, add enough sour milk to make a soft batter, and two-thirds of a cupful of washed, seeded raisins. Fill a mold half full, and steam for an hour and a half. It should rise to fill the mold.

For raisin rolls, mix two cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and half a teaspoonful of salt. Sift twice, work in two tablespoonfuls of butter, or substitute, and add gradually two-thirds of a cupful of milk. Roll to a quarter of an inch in thickness, brush over with melted fat; sprinkle over this half a cupful of chopped raisins, two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, and a third of a teaspoonful of cinnamon; roll up like a jelly roll, cut into pieces three-quarters of an inch thick, and bake in a hot oven.

For raisin souffle steam a cupful of washed, seeded raisins until plump and soft, chop them, add three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Mix very lightly with the beaten whites of four eggs, into which a quarter of a teaspoonful each, of salt and cream of tartar, have been whipped. Turn quickly into a buttered dish; large enough to permit it to rise to twice its height, dust thickly with powdered sugar and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven. Serve at once, with a soft custard sauce made of the egg yolks.

HYDE PARK.

Mrs. Herbert, president of the Hyde Park Women's Institute, was hostess at a meeting held recently in the Presbyterian school room. The meeting was spent in making quilts for Dr. Grenfell's Mission. The president had only asked for two quilts, but the members responded so freely with material that when the work was done there were five lovely warm quilts instead of two. This is only one instance where the Women's Institute have by their work made the country women known to their city sisters. It has been said that sixty per cent of the work done after war was declared was done by the Women's Institute.

After a few business items were disposed of refreshments was served by the hostess.

WARD 3 W. C. T. U. MEETING.

The workers of Ward 3, who are organized under the local W. C. T. U. for the coming referendum, are being called together tonight at 8 p.m. in the Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church for further work.

ST. ANDREW'S MARCH FESTIVAL.

The March Festival, which is being held in St. Andrew's Hall by the Young People's Society of the church on the evening of Tuesday, March 29, promises to be one of the best affairs of its kind ever held in the church. The entertainment is to be unique. Novelty booths of all kinds will have their place in the hall and a splendid art exhibit, among which some of the finest art treasures in the city will be found, will be a feature of the festival. The festival is being arranged under the direction of the president of the society, Eric Graham, and those taking part in the program will be Miss Eula Kennedy, A. L. Christiani, Miss Lottie Martin, Miss Jean Purdom, all vocalists, and Miss Margaret Gemmell, reader. The committee in charge includes Arthur Toye, Dr. J. F. Griffin, Alex. Morrison, Miss Margaret Black, Misses Darch, Miss Grant, Miss Agnes Irwin and Miss Ruth Stevenson.

LORD ROBERTS M. C.

V. K. Greer, assistant school inspector, was the speaker at the recent Lord Roberts Mothers' Club meeting, his subject being "Present Day Tendencies in Our Pupils' Schools." During the course of his talk he explained the advance in teaching methods from the old mechanical method to the present day method. He also explained how a more elastic system in regard to promotion was now in use, and more attention was given to supervised play, especially in larger centres: "Instead of the old rule of the 3 R.'s, reading, 'riting, 'rithmetic, they now try to use the 3 H.'s in their system, meaning, hand, head and heart," he said. Methods are being made more individual and less uniform.

Miss McMechan gave two clever piano solos, and Mrs. Phillippo two pleasing vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Milligan.

ASKIN STREET MISSION CIRCLE CONCERT.

One of the finest missionary concerts ever given in London was recently staged before a large and appreciative audience at Askin Street Methodist Church by the two Mission Circles of that church. From first to last there was not a dull moment, and even the least interested could not fail to be impressed with the value and importance of missions.

The concert opened with a spirited rendering of the circle hymn by the members of the two circles, dressed in white and massed in choir loft and platform. Mrs. Geo. Hammond sang a solo very sweetly and then followed a missionary drama entitled, "They All With One Consent." In stage setting of a parlor, a girls' club meeting is in progress. When missions come up for discussion each girl offers as a reason for refusing to help, her lack of interest, time, money, desire or talent for the work. An angel appears and summons the heathen to appear and plead their own cause. In striking costumes there arrived representatives from China, India, Japan, Western Canada and the slums, who tell their stories and appeal for help. Softly chanting "Jesus, Master Whom I Serve," the girls consecrate themselves to the work. Without exception the parts were well taken and the number was impressively presented by Margery Rountree, Mabel Gregory, Winnifred Dunn, Bessie Dobbyn, Blanche McLeod, Mrs. H. Hiles, Bessie Goodge, Hester Wilson, Florence Horwood, Gertrude Wilson, Vera Morrison, Gertrude Coates, Genevieve Mitton, Freda Courtis and little Elsie Talbot, Ella Gerry, Bobbie Dobbyn and Billie Bending.

Mrs. Edward Jenkins sang a very fine solo, and was warmly received. A quartet composed of Misses Mitton and Goodge and Messrs. Pack and Chapman, contributed two enjoyable numbers, and Mr. Wilton Robinson in his cornet solos was a great favorite.

A second missionary drama was "Except They Be Sent." The first scene was laid in a school room where a group of high school girls spend a merry interval in an endeavor to get their algebra done. On invitation of one of the members they arrange to go to a Mission Band concert. The parts were taken by Claribel Herns, Mirian Pearson, Ella Skuse, Adelyne Orchard, Marjorie Courtis, Bessie Courtis, Lulu Meadows, Eileen Finnigan and Verna Dobbyn.

Then followed an afternoon tea, where some of the mothers, Miss Edith Dunn, Mrs. P. Doig, Mrs. J. Brown, Miss May Thomas and Miss Beatrice Clark, are assembled. And they, too, plan to attend the concert. Then comes the concert with the mothers and daughters in attendance. The main part of it was the "Call of the Children," a splendid sketch of child life in India. Its pathetic appeal was well presented by Marie Talbot and Helen Baker. Little Minnie Wescott delighted the audience with her two solos.

The last act was in three scenes. The various girls impressed by the concert come to their mothers for sympathy and help in their decision to be missionaries. These parts were exceptionally well taken and showed in striking and life-like contrast why missionaries are so scarce. Mrs. James Brown and Miss Verna Dobbyn presented the scene with exceptional merit.

"O Love That Will Not Let Me Go," expressively sung by Miss Gidley and presented in graceful pantomime by ten white-robed girls before a large white cross made an impressive closing.

Six ushers in gay kimonas with 'mums in their hair, were picturesque additions to the missionary atmosphere. Dr. Smith, Mrs. Wescott, Miss Norris and Miss F. West acted as efficient accompanists.

Uric Acid Poisoning

(By Dr. N. C. Cook)

A poison as dangerous as strychnin is manufactured within our own bodies, called uric acid. When it accumulates in the body and the kidneys fail to carry it off, we suffer from dull headache, sleeplessness, muscular pains, lumbago, or it may cause rheumatism or gout. The uric acid can be seen in the cloudy sediment in the water—what is called the "brick-dust," noted on the sides of the vessel containing it—after a few hours' standing. The water is scant, high-colored, strongly acid, and this should be a danger sign, and if not taken in time by cutting out the meat, tea and alcohol, may end in rheumatism or gout.

Take "An-uric," first discovered by Dr. Pierce, of the Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y. Anuric (anti-uric acid) Tablets can be obtained at almost any drug store.

FOR LOVE OF BETTY

[BY MAY CHRISTIE.]

(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

XLVIII.—AN EXPLANATION.

April followed her maid over to the apartment in the early afternoon.

"Yes, it's an adorable place of its kind," she observed complacently, flicking the Chinese ornaments with a silk duster. "Only where I'm to raise the cash to keep it up, goodness alone knows!"

Hortense gave the discreet little laugh which she knew Miss April expected. It was almost a standing joke between them, this anxiety on her mistress' part about money. . . .

For April was like a conjuror, who somehow spirited money into being.

The apartment had been hired in the last few weeks, already furnished. It was going to be very useful.

True to his promise, the redoubtable "Billy" arrived at half-past three, filled with delight at being permitted to see April tete-a-tete.

"There's always such a crowd buzzing around you, old girl—"that a chap can't get a look in at all—and if he does his nose is soon put out of joint by some other fellow—"

April smiled sweetly on him, using every fascination in her varied repertoire to keep him entertained.

"And now," she said at last, when they had come to the end of a delightful little tea together. "I want to explain to you how very useful you can be to me."

Hortense, one ear to the keyhole, heard sufficient of the ensuing instructions to make her smile.

"Ah, but she is clever!" the woman told herself, her black eyes sparkling. "She would twist the devil himself around her little finger!"

Billy, unlike the devil, however, showed a remarkable distaste over being cajoled.

"Frankly, April," said he, his young face clouded, "I don't like your plan—it seems so—so—"

"Underhand?" suggested April pertly.

"Oh, hang it all, you know it is rather!" stammered the unfortunate youth.

"Very well," said April in an icy voice, which almost froze the fond Billy's heart, "there's nothing more to be said—but, of course, this refusal of yours finishes our—friendship."

Billy's round eyes were starting out of his head.

"Don't say that, April," he pleaded; "I—I can't bear it."

April gave him a cool, contemptuous little glance. Weakness and vacillation she despised—particularly in a man. And Billy's very affection for her annoyed her, as unsolicited affection always does annoy a certain type of woman.

"You can choose, then," she said carelessly; it's all the same to me."

"Of course, I—I'd do anything to please you, dear," murmured the victim.

"Then listen—it's the easiest thing in the world—I want you to come here tomorrow, and perhaps the next day, and at intervening times to be on the telephone, so that I can get at you easily, if you're wanted. I want you to make love to me, in the little room over there"—April nodded towards the apartment behind the Chinese screen—"and if I call you 'Jack,' you're not to be surprised, and if I speak about a girl called 'Betty Gordon,' you're not to be surprised, either. And you're to be a really ardent lover—"

"I can easily be that, without any acting at all!" broke in Billy.

"Listen," went on April impatiently. "This is what you must answer."

The lesson which followed was rather complicated, but Billy—his scruples overcome as to the underhandedness of the scheme—proved an apt scholar.

Hortense, eagerly listening at the keyhole, was decidedly amused.

The little tableau was rehearsed the following afternoon, with equal spirit.

But there was no unseen spectator.

The third occasion was the lucky one—from April's point of view. Hortense had whispered excitedly to her that a visitor had arrived—the expected visitor.

And Billy—the back of whose head and shoulders was so remarkably like Trevor's—had played the part of lover ardently.

"Well done, old boy," April had whispered when Betty Gordon, the unseen and unhappy guest, had slipped quietly from the Chinese room.

April had set off that evening for a short visit to the Manor House, her heart considerably lightened.

And at the station fortune had again played into her hands. For she had run unexpectedly into Jack Trevor at the ticket office, just as Betty's pale face was turned in that direction.

Jack hadn't noticed Betty. That was lucky. And as April, with a possessive hand, she saw that Betty had seen her action, and had staggered back, white-faced, and disappeared behind some luggage.

Monday—Puzzling Thoughts.

FISHPOLE YARN

WASHINGTON, March 25.—There is hope for a home-grown fish pole industry.

The zeal of Government agriculture sharps in a fair way to overcome difficulties in the way of bamboo culture in the United States. Undismayed by past failure, they have ousted with hot water, diseases in shoots brought from China and Japan and are preparing to start a bamboo grove at Savannah, Ga. Makers of not only fish poles, but barrel hoops, canes, phonograph needles, furniture and many other things not including the "dope" pipes whence flowed the "bamboo dreams" of opium smokers in other days, are expected to get the raw material at home ultimately.

Propagation in the United States of bamboo shoots was first attempted te or twelve years ago at Chico, California and Brooksville, Fla. The plants developed a "mite" which sapped their vitality, however, and it was not until experts discovered the hot water cure that hopes of growing bamboo for the market were bright.

Cheaper than buying new clothes

Do you know why your clothes get old so soon—why new underthings, new household linens quickly wear thin and sleazy when they should still be new?

Don't blame it on poor material—those thin spots and broken threads which quickly dissolve into holes are not due to faulty fabric. Instead, charge them up to injurious laundry soap.

Use pure soap, free from corrosive ingredients, and your clothes and linens will give the wear they should. Such pure soap, in the ideal form, is yours in Princess Soap Flakes.

Pure, curly white chip flakes

While Princess Flakes were perfected for fancy washing—for cleansing delicate crepes and silks and laces without harming color or material, they have proved the ideal soap for general laundry use.

This is because each curly flake is pure, whole soap, with no fillers and little moisture to rob them of cleansing power.

This makes Princess Flakes highly efficient soap—soap which makes play of the family washing.

It makes them the practical, efficient washing machine soap. And it makes them a real economy because they go so much farther.

For washing woolens

Whether you are squeezing out a sweater or a pair of leggings and mittens or having a grand blanket washing use Princess Soap Flakes.

No shrinking—no danger of drying harsh and stiff. Instead, everything soft, warm and wooly, just like new.

Convenience and economy

Both are served by the method of packing. Princess Flakes come in convenient packages or economical bulk, as you prefer.

Once you learn the value of Princess Flakes you will order by the 25-pound carton, which allows a big saving. You will use them for every laundry purpose and for general household needs.

Midgets Made Strong But Hopeless Attack On Falcons' Big Lead

Won From Westerners 7--2, But Fell Short Three Goals —Game Was Rough Throughout.

TORONTO, March 27. — Stratford juniors last night defeated the junior Falcons of Winnipeg, 7 goals to 2. The westerners thus carry off the memorial cup, having won the first game Thursday night by a score of nine goals to two and the round, 11 to 9.

Stratford could not overcome the lead in the first game, but did make a strong comeback, and gave their conquerors of the first game a sound beating.

From the beginning of the game Stratford forced the pace. All the same, entering the game seven goals behind at the beginning of the third period, they still wanted five tallies to equal the score on the round. Given any luck at all in those final 20 minutes they would have pulled out the most sensational victory on record for a great many years, but the breaks went against them and the Falcons' goal-keeper was too good.

From the commencement of the game the Midgets forced the pace. In each period they had at least 90 per cent of the play. By close back-checking and heavy body-checking, they stopped the rushes of the speedy westerners and, bit by bit, backed them into defensive tactics. At the end of the second period they had worn the Falcons to a shadow of the team which won in such an outstanding fashion Thursday night. In the third period, the Falcons got exactly four shots on Ruston, while the Midgets bombarded the Falcons' net for minutes at a time. In the ordinary course of events they would have scored seven or eight goals in that period, whereas all they could get past Comfort was three.

Game Rough.

There was only one regretable feature to the contest. That was the number of penalties inflicted upon the teams by the referees. Altogether 18 penalties were handed out, of which number ten were incurred by the Midgets. In the Allan Cup finals, only half this number were given in both games. Neither side can be censured more than the other.

For Stratford, Carson, Roth and Richards played excellent hockey, the former turning in one of the finest games of his career and being in a very large measure responsible for Stratford's great showing. Fridfinnson, Somers and McCollum were much in the limelight for the Falcons, though the bulk of the glory should go to Comfort in goal, whose name ought to be engraved in capitals on the cup.

Ruston in goal for the Midgets turned in a great game.

Stratford.		Falcons
Ruston	Goal	Comfort
Richardson	Defence	Neil
Robson	Defence	McCollum
Morenz	Centre	Fridfinnson
Carson	Right wing	McMunn
Roth	Left wing	Woodall

Referee—Vair and Romerill.

The summary:

First period—Stratford, Morenz, 3:00.

Second period—Stratford, Morenz, 3:00; Stratford, Roth, 3:00; Falcons, Somers, 7:00; Falcons, Fridfinnson, 2:00; Stratford. Carson, 3:00.

Third period—Stratford, Morenz, 12:00; Stratford, Richards, 2:00; Stratford, Roth, 3:00.

TIGERS BEAT CLEVELAND..

CLEVELAND, March 27. — The Tigers of Hamilton, Ont., defeated the Cleveland hockey team here last night by a score of 4 to 0.

"NO JOKE FOR THE INDICTED PLAYERS THIS TIME"—CROWE

144 Indictments Against 18 Persons in Second Cook County Investigation.

CHICAGO, March 26.—One hundred and forty-four indictments, naming eighten men, were returned by the Cook County grand jury as a result of the second investigation into the alleged throwing of the 1919 world's series to Cincinnati by the Chicago White Sox players. Eight separate indictments against each person were returned.

The indictments named the thirteen men indicted at the first investigation, and also five men charged with taking part in arranging the alleged conspiracy. These men were Carl Zork and Ben Franklin of St. Louis, Ben and Louis Levi, said to be from Des Moines, and David Zeelzer, address unknown.

The men reindicted were: Eddie Cicotte, pitcher; Claude Williams, pitcher; Joe Jackson, outfielder; Fred McMullin, utility infielder; "Chick" Gandil, first baseman; "Swede" Risberg, shortstop; Oscal Felsch, outfielder; "Buck" Weaver, third baseman; Hal Chase, Bill Burns, Abe Attel, one-time champion featherweight pugilist; Jos. J. Sullivan, alleged gambler, and Rachel Brown, alleged gambler.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, announced today that after the indictments were returned that he already had started extradition proceedings against the men named, and that every effort would be made to apprehend them at once.

"There will be no jokes about this investigation, and no dropping of the charges brought in these indictments," said Mr. Crowe. "We have proceeded carefully, made sure of every legal detail, and we will not miss our mark—which is penitentiary sentences for the men who are found guilty."

Mr. Crowe refused to say when the men might be brought to trial, but indicated that the trial would not start immediately.

Midgets Will Get Big Reception At Home

STRATFORD, March 27.—The Stratford Midgets, who were defeated by the Falcons in the Memorial Cup games, will return home at 7:10 Monday evening, and plans are completed to give them a reception such as has not been given a hockey team in Stratford since years ago, when it was not uncommon for Stratford to win a championship.

There was great excitement in Stratford on Saturday night as the returns of the game were flashed on the screen. As the Midgets crept up on the Westerners the enthusiasm of the fans mounted. Though they lost out, the Midgets are king-pins with the fans for their plucky stand against such odds. Tomorrow night the whole city is planning to turn out to welcome them home. Mayor Gregory and members of the city council will be on hand, and his worship extends the appreciation of the city to the hockeyists.

Later the appreciation of the citizens will undoubtedly take a more tangible form.

Percy Lesuer In Charge of All Sports For Galt A. A. A.

Hamilton and Kitchener Both Bid For Coach's Services.

GALT, March 25.—It is announced by officers of the G. A. A. A. that they have signed Percy Lesueur as general manager of the association in full charge of all sports and coach of the hockey teams. The engagement of Mr. Lesueur and the creation of the new office is the result of his success of the past season in giving Galt its first O. H. A. hockey championship. While both Hamilton and Kitchener were angling for Lesueur's services, the offer of the local management was an exceptionally fine one. He has been engaged for a year to give his full time to the interests of the G. A. A. A., and assumes his position on April 1.

BAKER AND GLOVER SHARE FIRST PLACE AT TRAPS

The Springwood Gun Club held its weekly shoot on Saturday afternoon. The weather was ideal, although Mr. R. P. Day did not shoot up to his usual form. Some of the younger members are showing marked improvement, and with a little more practice will rank with the best. The following is the result of a fifty-bird event:

T. H. Baker	23	25
R. W. Glover	23	25
L. Brunner	23	23
R. Day	24	21
D. Manuel	21	18
J. L. Anderson	19	15
T. Smallman	17	15

TO TRY COME-BACK

Leach Cross, who for the past several years has been known in Los Angeles by his real name, Dr. L. C. Wallach, has announced his plans for a "come-back" in the ring. Cross some years ago was considered a dangerous contender for the lightweight boxing crown, and defeated Joe Rivers, Bud Anderson and other good 133-pounders.

The New York lightweight, one of the shrewdest and trickiest men in ring history, said he has been training for two years, and believes that, since he never drank, smoked or dissipated in any way, he believes he is in good condition, and wants to re-enter the ring.

AND SO THE ARGUMENT CONTINUES.

George T. Stallings and Tyrus Cobb were comparing the American and the National League.

"Now, George, you have managed clubs in both of them," said Ty, "and you are no longer in the National League. It makes no difference to you one way or the other; you can judge impartially. Now, tell me, honestly, won't you admit that the American League is the faster and better of the two?"

But Mr. Stallings made no such admission. Thinking it over, he said he really thought the American League had nothing on the National, that the pitching in the National was more careful and better studied than in the American, consequently the batting in the National was not as heavy as in the American.

"World series' results don't show that," suggested Ty.

"Well," quoth George, "I will say that they do not, on the whole. However, I had a club a few years ago that met what you called the greatest machine of all time, you American Leaguers. I am referring to the so-called 'invincible' Athletics, and I may call to your mind that my club beat them for the world's title and the series went but four games."

"Yes, and if anybody had offered to swap you the Athletics that night for your club you would have snapped the offer up so quick it would have made the other fellow dizzy," came back Ty.

"Yes, I would," admitted George. "I would have taken the Athletics and made a ball club out of them."

There was nothing more to that angle of the argument. Stallings says the American League should be stronger, as the American League has readier investors among the owners than the National League.

"When the minors develop a good ballplayer," said Stallings, "and a big price is put on him, you won't get anybody in the National League, outside of New York, probably, to offer to meet that price, but you will see five and six clubs in the American League jump for the plum. American League owners will spend more money for ballplayers, National League owners won't, and the best in the minors are drifting to the American League each year."

AU REVOIR, JEAN!

Jean, Dubuc, who pitched great ball for the Tigers for several seasons, and was later with New York and Cincinnati in the National League, is through with organized baseball. Dubuc, a smart business-man, kept building up a prosperous business while playing in the majors, and he can afford to stay away from the ball lots and do very well on his income.

When he was "up" Jean had a slow ball that any pitcher might envy. Jean threw them slow and slower. He had a neat change of pace, and a lot of pitching wisdom. He is not giving up baseball, but will manage the Crescents of the Montreal City League, a team that is considered very strong, and that played remarkable ball last season.

As Edward E. Chartier, whose dialogue stories of Dubuc helped the French-Canadian to much major league fame, writes:

"Bon jour, Jean. Wan time she was very good wan, but lak everytheeng else she got to come to a feenish sometam."

THE PLIGHT OF THE HUB.

Boston, once a prominent contender in both major league races, has fallen so far that Hub fans are hopeless. First, Speaker, Lewis and Ruth, and now Schang, Hooper and Maranville, all first water stars and big drawing cards, were traded or sold, until the wreck was complete.

The grand old American habit of spending beyond income has certainly been applied to Boston's baseball, with the usual distressing results.

Keeping up interest in the game under such conditions is out of the question, impossible. Either vast expenditures of exchequer or a long period devoted to rebuilding two machines are the choices presented to Boston magnates.

All the time there was the shining example of Connie Mack to profit by. The Mack, who, for the past six consecutive seasons was the almost exclusive occupant of the cellar with his Athletics, following the sale of the famous $100,000 infield.

THE GREAT AND THE NEAR-GREAT.

For outstanding endurance and sticktoitiveness, even the present-day hold-out in big league baseball can never hope to match Pop Anson, Hans Wagner and Cy Young in their display of these qualities.

In the long journey to date their records for continuous star performances and unanimous popularity stand out as the best. Neither the hard, home-run hitting of Babe Ruth, nor the decisive, mow 'em down pitching of either Walter Johnson or Grover Cleveland Alexander has toppled these three old-timers from high positions in baseball's hall of fame.

To stand out beyond them Ruth must not only make good his boast of 65 four-baggers this season, but also maintain a somewhat like record through the stretch of some few coming years; while both Alexander and Johnson must needs maintain their recent merry paces until time wrecks their pitching arms.

C. PAUL HEADS FRONTIER GUNNERS OF SARNIA

SARNIA, March 27.—At the annual meeting of the Frontier Gun Club, C. Paul was elected president for the coming year. The club has mapped out a good program and is considering the advisability of making a drive for members. The officers elected are as follows: President, C. Paul; vice-president, C. Galloway; second vice-president, H. Mains, honorary president, Dr. W. J. Bentley; secretary, H. Sherwood; treasurer, C. Killer; manager, J. W. Smith; field captain, W. Tennant; official referee, G. Eastman.

Soccer Fans Are Already in Their Mid-Season Form

1,200 Witnessed Games At H eights On Friday, and Attendance Was Almost D uplicated Saturday.

1,200 soccer enthusiasts witnessed the exhibition game played on Carling's Heights Good Friday, between Army and Navy Veterans and the Royal Canadian Regiment, which went to a 3-3 draw.

After fifteen minutes play, Stillwell, the Royals centre forward, opened the scoring by a well directed shot.

But the Veterans were right on the trail of the Royals, when Walmsley uncorked a fast one from about twenty yards out and scored the nicest goal of the afternoon, and the equalizer.

Ten minutes from half time, Hill put the Veterans one goal ahead. On play being resumed, the R. C. R. started a lively offensive with determined attack on the Veterans' goal.

In the scrimmage, Pushman, inside left of the Royals, netted the ball, which once more evened up the score.

The Royals kept up the good work and Stillwell, beating both the Veterans backs, added the third for his side.

Soon after the Army and Navy settled down to good exhibition football of the close-passing variety, which somewhat unsettled the Royals' defence and Johnston, the Veterans pivot, scored the tieing goal of the match.

Line up:

R. C. R.—Goal, McQueen; Backs, Neville, Laverty; Wings, Foy, Curran, Stillwell, Pushman, Watkins.

Army and Navy—Goal, Knowles; Backs, Sheard, Dinnett; Half backs, Russell, Dunlop, Russell; Wings, Wallace, Hill, Farr, Walmsley, Johnston.

Saturday's Results.

W. O. R., 0; Army and Navy, 0.
G. T. R., 2; G. W. V. A., 1.

Owing to some of the players receiving minor injuries on Good Friday, a few substitutes filled in the vacant places.

Most of the clubs in the London and district have had one or two work-outs.

Manager Tommy Hodkinson, of the Public Utilities, should trot out his many dark horses and let the fans get a line on them before the season starts.

The referees who will handle the games in London are:
Chas. Hollins.
Barney Devlin
S. H. Hawkins.
Jack Hall.
Billy Falshaw.
Albert Noble.
Ernest Elsby
In Sarnia:
Tommy Needham.
Jack Hastings.
Chas Cambrey.

The referees board will visit St. Thomas on Tuesday.

BLENHEIM TO GO IN FOR BASEBALL ONCE MORE

BLENHEIM, March 26.—The first move toward having a baseball team this year was made this morning when a number of the live wires were called together and a general discussion had as to the prospects for the season. It seems to have been the universal conclusion that Blenheim should be on the baseball map again. Last season Blenheim was heard from with no uncertain sound, and had a team which made some of the supposed better teams in the county "go some." The financial wind-up was not just what could be desired, and left a bad taste for the reason that the balance was on the wrong side of the ledger at the close, but some mistakes were made, as mistakes are sure to be, especially in a first undertaking, and it is thought with this experience to guide and reasonable care a very successful season's sport may be arranged. That Blenheim will be on the map with a good team is almost assured, and that there will be a district league, too, is also assured.

TED NEWTON CAPTAIN OF 1922 S. C. I. GRID SQUAD

SARNIA, March 27.—At the annual football banquet held in the Chamber of Commerce Cafe Saturday night, Ted Newton was unanimously elected captain of the S. C. I. rugby team for the coming season.

The new captain was the mainstay of the line last season, when the S. C. I. had one of the closest knit and smoothest-working forward walls in the history of the school. He has been actively identified with different branches of the school work, especially sport, where he has shone both on the playing and executive end of the game.

Jack Newton, coach of the S. C. I. 1920 champions, whose training and efforts were mainly instrumental in carrying the boys through to almost every height they aspired to, was presented with an electric reading lamp by the members of the team as a mark of their appreciation for what he had done for them during the season just past, when the S. C. I. with one of the lightest teams in its history, went further than any fourteen in the history of the school.

BRITISH SOCCER

LONDON, March 27.—By Canadian Associated Press.—The final in the Irish Asolation football cup was played Saturday and resulted in the trophy being won by the Glentoran team, which defeated Glenavon by 2 to 0.

$36,000 IN STAKES UP FOR SIX MICHIGAN SHORT SHIP CARDS

DETROIT, March 27.—Definite announcement of the $1,000 stakes to be raced in shortship circuits this season was made today by Thos. F. Morris, secretary. Six of the early meetings have baited their hooks with $36,000 worth of events for the horsemen.

The difference of opinion between Dexter Park and Mt. Clements has been adjusted, so that Detroit will take the second week, June 6 to 11, the the opening of the circuit taking place in Grand Rapids on Decoration Day.

Mount Clemens is first stop where $1,000 races will be held. The meeting there is set for the week of June 13. Following meetings, at which a similar program of stakes will be raced, are: Flint, during week of June 20. Saginaw, June 27. Port Huron, July 4. Bay City, July 10, and Alpena, July 18, entries close April 15.

Classes of stakes are the 2:13, 2:17 and 2:24 trotters and 2:13, 2:18 and 2:24 pacers. It is a wise move to make the slowest classes the time honored 2:24, as it will give green things a better chance. Of course under allowance rule, some of the old 2:18 trotters can get back into this, but these veterans have nothing on the sprightly greeners.

Selaks Bring McCallum Trophy Back to the City

New Dominion Champs, Tailenders in City League, Furnish Bowling Sensation.

Selaks, tail-enders in the City Bowling League, stole quietly down to Toronto Saturday and in the evening, became champions of the Dominion and holders of the McCallum trophy, which had already been held in London by the Acadians for two months this winter.

It was a surprise for the Alexandras (Glidden Varnish) five, whose change of name apparently didn't help them any. 145 pins margin about indicates the speed the locals were travelling to bring back the silverware and they were a highly elated outfit.

Two weeks must elapse before another challenge game and a Toronto team will quite likely be contenders.

Arnold's bowling was the big feature of the evening.

The scores:

Californian Lops 2-5 Second Off 220-Yard World's Record

BERKELEY, Cal., March 27. — Charles Paddock, University of Southern California, clipped two-fifths of a second off the world's record for the 220-yard dash here yesterday, covering the distance in 20 4-5 seconds. Four watches caught him at that speed and one at 20 3-5 seconds. His record was made in a meet with the University of California.

M.-O. OWNERS HAVE HARMONY CONFAB AT LEAGUE H. Q.

Spitball Hurlers Banished—Few New Umps Are Lined Up.

FLINT, March 26.—With the schedule adopted and the circuit intact, with Port Huron replacing Battle Creek, the Michigan-Ontario Baseball League is at the threshold of the 1921 season, its third year.

Club owners met here this afternoon at the Durant Hotel, and the budget of business done kept the solons diligently at work until a late hour tonight, but most of them returned to their respective homes early Sunday morning. Enthusiastic rivalry, but with the best of feeling existing among the eight clubs, seems to be the keynote of this live organization, and while some of the owners entered the conference with "blood in their eyes," these directly became infected with the prevalent good-fellowship. The meeting was an adjourned annual meeting.

The league, undoubtedly the best-known class B circuit in organized baseball, discovered that the past season was an expensive affair in all, to say the least, and the officials have been instructed to retrench.

Port Huron, while granted the right to the Battle Creek franchise, must fulfill the necessary financial requirements before it is fully adopted as the eighth spoke in the wheel. Walter Watkins, a grey-haired youth from Marysville, Mich., represented Port Huron's interests at the meeting, and from his few words it was gathered that his long years of experience in baseball, both as a player and as owner of the Indianapolis Federals, will undoubtedly prove a real asset to the league. His type of man is what the game needs, and this league is fortunate in this respect.

The Officials.

The officials of the league are:

Honorary Presidents — Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Hon. L. H. Clark; Governor of Michigan, Alexander Groesbeck.

President—George H. Maines, Flint.

Vice-President—Walter I. Foss, Bay City.

Secretary-Treasurer—Frederick Wilson, Toronto.

Directors—W. H. Heard, London; H. Tolton, Kitchener; T. J. Nelson, Brantford; A. Ballentine, Hamilton; T. J. Halligan, Flint; Judge A. Clements, Saginaw; W. A. Watkins, Port Huron; Walter I. Foss, Bay City.

The first business disposed of was the adoption of the Spalding Official National League baseball as the ball to be used in all championship games for the year.

The player limit adopted was 15 men after May 29, including three players who are playing their first professional ball, two to take active part in every game, and their names must appear in the official box score.

The league will go to the bottom of the case which the National Board of Arbitration decided in favor of J. W. Beatty against the Kitchener team for $500, as a bonus for finishing in the first division of the 1920 pennant race, and when the evidence is submitted the case may not end without some disclosures.

Spitball pitching will not be tolerated this season and any players retained from last year who used the offensive delivery will be compelled to resort to ordinary curve ball hurling or draw releases.

The draft rule of the National Association was favored, enabling clubs in A leagues to draft players from this league on October 30, 31 and Nov. 1, by payment of $1,800.

Statistician E. J. L. Stein of London was reappointed for the season, and will be asked to furnish the batting, fielding and pitching averages, monthly.

The umpires signed up are: O'Hearne, Detroit; R. S. Ganley, Lowell; Tim Doolan, Bayonne, N. J.; Neil Connison, Indianapolis, and "Windy" Lotshaw, formerly of Flint and Brantford.

The league went on record as in favor of setting aside one day during the season to aid in furthering the cause of the All Stars' Service League. The aim of the latter is to encourage and supervise recreation of the growing boy and girl. The movement is a new one and aims at bringing an all-star American, and all-star National team together for a huge benefit game in Cleveland during the present season.

The schedule was adopted after a few revisions were made to comply with the whims of two clubs.

The season will open in Ontario on Tuesday, May 10, as follows: Saginaw at London; Port Huron at Hamilton; Flint at Brantford and Bay City at Kitchener. The schedule then sends the Ontario clubs into Michigan on Saturday, May 14, as follows: London at Flint; Brantford at Saginaw; Hamilton at Bay City and Kitchener at Port Huron.

The complete schedule will be issued for the morning papers of Thursday, March 31.

THREE EXHIBITION SOCCER GAMES AT BRANTFORD

BRANTFORD, March 27.—Dufferin Rifles seniors were defeated in an exhibition soccer match in Paris yesterday by a score of 4 to 3. The Paris players were at the top of form and gave the locals a tussle. At Holmedale Park here, G. W. V. A. eleven played Massey-Harris to a 2-2 draw.

Hamilton Avondales defeated the local industrial boys juniors by a two to nothing score.

SEVEN CHAMPIONS.

Jack Dempsey — Heavyweight champion. Exceptionally good.

Georges Carpentier—Light heavyweight champion. Very good.

Johnny Wilson — Middleweight champion. Below the average.

Jack Britton—Welterweight champion. Very good.

Benny Leonard — Lightweight champion. Good.

Johnny Kilbane — Featherweight champion. Exceptionally good.

Joe Lynch—Bantamweight champion. Good.

This might be accepted as a fair rating of the champions who now hold seven ring titles.

In the way of all-round ability, Dempsey and Kilbane are well in the lead. Wilson, the middleweight title holder, brings up the rear. The first good middleweight that wanders along should knock Wilson's wreath over his left ear.

CANAL FROM RHINE TO RHONE ASSURES BIG WATER POWER

Millerand Promises State Aid for Hydro-Electric Projects Planned.

PARIS, March 26.—The greatest series of engineering efforts ever attempted in France, according to President Millerand's view, is the Rhine to the Rhone canal, with its allied hydro-electric projects, the sites of which M. Millerand visited last week. At that time he assured by the people of the Rhine Valley that he would give all the assistance possible to a realization of the scheme, which aims at supplying sufficient power to all the great textile industries in the south of France.

The canal already exists, but it must be widened to permit the continuation of the Rhine shipping and to make possible the linking up of the North Sea and the Mediterranean.

At many points the Rhone passes through gorges almost as majestic as those of Colorado. For the present, however, the engineers are concentrating their attention on two huge dams, each of them 200 feet high, for the building of which the department of the Rhone was said to have been promised sufficient funds, but it will need the Government's assistance to erect the necessary electric stations, with an adequate distribution of the electric service.

The first dam is to be built near Genissiat and will block the narrow gorge between Belle Garde (Ain) and the Swiss frontier in such a manner as to create a lake of twenty square miles. The American system of locks is being considered, which will make possible the use of the whole of the falls for the development of electric power. It is estimated that 120,000-horsepower may be developed here under usual conditions in the Rhone or double this power when the river is swollen during the winter floods.

The second dam will be built at Malbertnis. It will be 100 feet high, with a generating plant located in the gorge itself at the foot of the dam. This plant will be sufficient to add another 300,000-horsepower to the energy derived from the river.

Other hydro-electric plants are engaged at suitable points in the gorges, engineers at work on the plans estimating that there will be a total production of more than 1,000,000 horsepower of energy.

In order to avoid the danger of catastrophes in these mountain regions it has been decided that each dam shall be of reinforced concrete and surrounded by brick, the tickness of each dam being more than 150 feet. It is estimated that it will require at least four years to complete the project, but the entire cost of the works will be repaid at the present charges for electric power within five years after commencing to utilize systematically the power of the Rhone.

When Bonar Law went to Glasgow University to deliver his rectorial address, he was met by the students and was accorded a great reception.

FRENCH PAINTER DISCLOSES PRICELESS ART COLLECTION

Rembrandts, Watteaus and Fragonards Hidden Away in Paris Studio, Will Be L eft to Public Galleries.

PARIS, March 26.—At 88 he smokes cigarettes while mixing his paints and turning out some of France's most notable modern portraits. This is the record of Leon Bonnat, in whose studio in the Rue Bassano last week were revealed treasures which have excited the cupidity of art collectors of America as well as Europe. Feeling that he might not live much longer, M. Bonnat has shown friends a series of sketches which he picked up in reliable markets in all parts of France, Germany and Italy during the last fifty years, representing some of the finest works of old as well as fairly modern artists. Rembrandt, authentic Durers, the fine tones of Watteau and Fragonard, all are represented in M. Bonnat's strongly locked cabinets, the artist himself declaring that the value of his collection certainly is more than 5,000,000 francs. Although bought at the prewar rates of exchange, he frequently obtained his treasures from sources where the ignorance of the seller enabled him to pick up marvelous bargains, which accounts for the great value of his collection, for his earnings from his own art sales scarcely would have permitted him to spend a tenth of this sum.

But M. Bonnat is patriotic, like most French artists, and is going to leave the precious heritage to his own nation. Already he has given an album containing ninety Rembrandt sketches to the Louvre, and the remainder of his collection will be divided between the Louvre and the Museum of Bayonne, with the provision that the collection must never leave public ownership.

AIR PHOTOGRAPHY COMES INTO OWN

Sprang Into Prominence During War—Now Rapidly Developing.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—As happened in the practical application of many other valuable inventions, aerial photography, which had remained dormant, though quite well known for so many years, waited but for the war to come into its own.

Needing but the occasion to give it power and purpose, it sprang into sudden and conspicuous usefulness, and now, with the ever-increasing development of the aeroplane, its logical and closely related industry, aerial photography extends itself inevitably into broader channels.

As far away as 1858, attempts were made by Goddard and Nadar in Paris to take pictures of the earth from the air, but so unsatisfactory was the experiment that no effort at repeating it is of record till 1882 when Shadbolt, an Englishman, took several quite distinct views of London from a balloon.

Plane Helps Art.

It was the aeroplane, however, that gave the art of photography its wings, thereby establishing the position of aerial photography in industry, the arts and sciences.

From the beginning of the war all of the belligerents recognized the value of the aerial camera and, throughout the conflict, utilized it for an increasing number of purposes. Its work in spotting masked batteries in recording the results of artillery fire, in locating the movements of troops and supplies, no less than the lay of the terrain over which a particular engagement was taking place, the roadways, water courses, bridges, mountains, hills, valleys and so on, and the pictures and mosaics prepared were invaluable at military headquarters and to the intelligence department.

So exeprt did the photographer become and so efficient the service, that within 45 minutes from the time an order was issued, the camera man could ascend, shoot the picture, drop down his field laboratory, develop the film and deliver the finished photograph. The photo lorry, with its perfectly appointed laboratory, became a necessary part of field equipment and aerial photographs constituted a considerable part of its output.

Illuminates Geography.

Aside from its technical use in military operations, the aerial films flashed on our motion picture screens from day to day, while the war lasted did their very material bit toward informing us of movements on the other side and, more especially, in keeping us in touch with the boys in whom our interest centred. They gave us current history made visible in a new and striking way, thus quickening the perception and impressing the memory.

The high school pupil will study the history of the war with keener zest because it has all been visualized for him from a new and original angle by the aerial photographer, while the student of geography will find the dull pages of his text book grown suddenly exciting and wonderfully illuminating by the addition of the airman's mosaics.

The manner in which these mosaics are produced is in itself most interesting. First a series of films is produced with the machine operated at a definite height and at a given rate of speed. It is of supreme importance that every film in the series be shot from exactly the same altitude, the difference of a few feet in height making a most perceptible difference in the scale of the picture.

After the films are developed and completed, the pictures are cut into sections and pieced and fitted together by trained workers according to designated indices, making the aerial "mosaic" as it has come now to be quite generally known.

The adaptability of the aerial photograph to such enterprises as surveying, geodesy, cartography and meterology is self-evident, and an increasing demand from these sources is being made upon the war department for copies of the photographic mosaics that is constantly making through the air service.

Necessarily the questions of the character and quality of the camera used in aerial photography are most important ones. Throughout the war, the great difficulty was in securing suitable lenses, the best obtainable being those captured from the enemy.

SAYS CHINA LOOKS TO U. S. FOR HELP

GRAND RAPIDS, March 26.—"The Chinamen believe America is the only friend they have. They are expecting that when the Harding administration takes power, an American army will be sent into China to expel the Japanese."

This is the statement of J. E. McGraw, whose home is in Grand Rapids, and who has just returned from China.

"If the people of America could see the actual conditions of famine and starvation in China, as I have seen them, the appeal for a relief fund would meet with overwhelming response," he says.

"I have seen children four and five years of age dying in the streets alongside of old men and women. I have seen these starving people fight for a crust of bread or a small coin thrown to them. Because of the disorganized condition of the Chinese Government, little is being done in that country for the suffering and the natives are looking to America."

PARIS ENJOYING SPRING AFTER UNUSUAL WINTER

PARIS, March 26.—Spring has arrived on the Champs Elysees. The trees are budding rapidly. The children's Punch and Judy shows are doing a thriving business and on Sunday afternoons it is almost impossible to find a vacant chair. Incidentally this marks the close of the strangest winter in the memory of the oldest Parisian, as only a small fraction of an inch of snow fell during the last four months. This took place a few days before Christmas. Moreover, the city has been blessed by an absence of rainfall and of thaws, which in the past have done serious damage yearly toward the end of January.

But while Paris generally is congratulating itself for having escaped a heavy coal bill and is preparing to polish last year's straw hats, firms whose fortunes depend on river canal traffic are fearing ruin, as most French canals, like the Seine River, are carrying only about a third of their normal volume of water, and there is a possibility that when summer arrives it will be possible to cross important waterways without getting one's feet wet. The drought is so serious near Dijon that the farmers have organized a prayer service.

BRITISH AIRSHIP FLEET IS OFFERED FREE TO ANY FIRM

Latest Passenger Ship, R-36, to Make Maiden Trip Soon, To Be Included.

REASON IS ECONOMY

Glasgow, March 26.—England's first passenger airship, the R-36, will make her maiden trip next week from the works of William Beardmore & Co. at Inchinnan, near Glasgow, to the Pulham airship station. There she will join as one of the group of airships which the British Government is offering to any firm that will assume responsibility for them.

This is, perhaps, the most remarkable free gift ever proposed by any government. The air ministry, driven by absolute need of economy, in spite of the fact that the admiralty regards the abolition of the naval airship service with much misgiving, has announced its intention of handing over to any syndicate that will undertake to operate and make experiments with them, the R-33, R-36 and the R-37 (its latest airship), the L-64 and L-71, two ships taken from the Germans, and the R-32 and R-80, two smaller vessels, with all their equipment. The value of the gift is about £3,000,000, and all the Government asks in return is the use of the knowledge gained in their operation.

The R-36 may be considered a sister ship to the R-34, which visited New York last year. She is, indeed, 30 feet longer and has five instead of four power gondolas hanging beneath the gas bag, but her variations from the design of the R-34 are merely the result of adapting her for passenger service. Consequently her engine power has been increased from five units of 250 horsepower each to three of 550 and two of 260. This has necessarily caused a modification of their distribution. One of the R-34 engines was in the same gondola with her operators' station. The R-36 has an additional power gondola in her bow, while her navigating officers have all their instruments in the forepart of a long gallery in which she accommodates her passengers. This lies underneath the central portion of the big gas bag, and with its sloping sides and row of rectangular windows, has a curious resemblance to an inverted Noah's ark, beloved of children.

Elaborate Quarters.

Major J. Pritchard of the air ministry, one of the R-34 crew in her trans-Atlantic trip, explained that in the future in passenger airships the amount of passengers' quarters will be much less. The R-36 was designed for war purposes and has had to be improved for her present use, so in her successors the passengers will find themselves accommodated largely in the gas bag itself. The quarters provided for them now are in marked contrast with the hammocks slung over the narrow "catwalk" with which the pioneers of the R-34 had to put up.

On climbing into the gondola one finds oneself walking along a corridor with a general similarity to a Pullman car, but it has an extraordinary air of lightness. On either side of the gangway are sections for two passengers each. During the daytime light wicker chairs are provided for them and there is room to set up a table between them for meals, writing, cards, and so on. At night berths are let down over chairs athwart ship instead of along its sides, and privacy is secured by letting down curtains as in an ordinary sleeper. The springiness of the floor and the aluminum used for all the supports, adds to the atmosphere of lightness, and it is still further increased by the windows, These look downwards in the slanting sides of the airship, for, as it was explained, air passengers have no need to look out on a level, but downwards to the sea or the earth. Yet with all its seeming flimsiness of the passenger car can bear a pressure of 200 pounds to the square foot, a far heavier load than the superstructure would stand if the entire ship were loaded up to that extent. The sides are of the same material as the rest of the envelope and seem frail enough, but Major Pritchard declared it would be easier to smash a strong glass window than to put a foot through the cotton walls.

Passengers will be allowed to smoke with reasonable care, and the kitchen and sanitary outfits are up to the highest standard. The R-36 can carry 50 passengers if necessary, and it is reckoned she could safely make Stockholm from England in from 20 to 24 hours with 30 passengers and two tons of mail, or Egypt in 72 hours with about the same load. She is not, however, big enough to face adverse westerly winds with any passengers on the way to New York, although if she managed to cross the Atlantic, "going light," she might safely bring passengers back.

The R-38, the airship which the American crew will fly across the ocean this summer, is considerably more powerful. She is 50 feet longer, 10 feet more in diameter and has 600,000 cubic feet more in capacity. This gives her a lift of 50 tons, to the 26 tons of the R-36. When the latter leaves her builders' shed she will be moored in the open to a newly-devised mooring mast at Pulham.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

DEMAND FOR OATS ON LOCAL MARKET

Eggs Drop to 30c Wholesale —Live Hogs at $14 Per Cwt.

Buying and selling was quiet at the local market on Monday. About 10 loads of hay were offered, but because of the fairly good demand prices remained unchanged. One load of straw brought $10 per ton.

Commission merchants had a number of orders for oats, but up to 10:30 o'clock none were offered. They said the ruling price would be $1 50 per cwt. Wheat and barley appear to be in good demand.

There were a number of front and hind quarters of pork sold at 23c and 25c for hinds and 20c and 22c for fronts. These quotations are slightly lower than those ruling last week.

Heavy supplies of apples on Saturday were responsible for a decline in quotations. It was said that Spies sold for 90c per bushel. The majority of the farmers were asking from $1 to $1 25.

Late Saturday afternoon eggs dropped to 30c per dozen wholesale. It was learned today that some buyers in the city were paying only 28c per dozen for them, and that they expected prices would decline slightly. Retail they continue to sell for 33c and 35c per dozen.

The price paid for live hogs at the square today was $14 per cwt. Fat sows sell for $9. Dressed hogs brought $19 to $20 per cwt.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, March 28—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The stronger position of the local Federal Reserve Bank and the clearing house institutions failed to exert any particular influence over the prices at the opening of today's stock market. Houston Oil, American Woolen, Studebaker, Chandler and United States Ruber were among the firmer issues. Rails, stels and equipments recorded very slight changes.

BABY CARRIAGES SHOWED INCREASE

C. P. R. Handled Ten Million Individual Pieces of Baggage During 1920.

MONTREAL, March 21.—Nearly ten million individual pieces of baggage were handled by the C. P. R. during 1920, according to a statement issued by J. O. Apps, general agent, mail, baggage and milk traffic department. Of these 27,940 were baby carriages, compared to 26,640 for the previous year. Bicycles, however, are almost stationary, numbering 13,339 as compared to 13,303 for 1919. The dogs that traveled in the baggage cars numbered 21,530 as compared with 20,627 for the previous year. Total revenue received was $1,056,387.61, and indicative of the care with which these ten million articles were handled is the fact that total payments in connection with claims for ordinary loss, damage, pilferage and delay, amounted to only $14,075. In addition, the losses due to wrecks and fires amounted to $17,680. The milk traffic showed a considerable increase, the number of cans forwarded numbering 1,574,058 as compared to 1,417,968, or an increase of about ten per cent, while the parcels checked at stations increased from 1,049,352 to 1,188,946, an increase of thirteen per cent.

LAD KILLED WHILE WATCHING SHOOTING

MONTREAL, March 27. — By Canadian Associated Press. — One boy was killed outright and two men were injured, one of whom may die, when a rifle in the hands of Arthur Hotte was accidentally discharged this afternoon at St. Martin, a village near Cartierville. The victims were watching Hotte and some other men shooting at a tin can on a fance post. Hotte's brother, Napoleon, had attempted to take the gun from his brother, when it went off, the bullet narrowly missing him. It struck Leopold Valiquette, 11, in the heart, came out through his shoulder, passed through the arm of Felix Dumont, and finally ledged itself in the forehead of Ferdinand Gravel.

The boy died almost instantly, and Gravel was conveyed to the Notre Dame Hospital, where his recovery is considered doubtful.

Dumont's condition is not serious.

TO BAN THE SHIMMY.

PARIS, March 27.—A general revision of the present dances, looking to the elimination of the shimmy, the fox-trot and the one-step, is on the program for consideration by the congress of dancing professors of France, England, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland, which opened its sessions in the Paris Academy of Dancing today. A majority of the delegates, it is said, are advocating a return to the waltz. The Paris press has greeted the news of the prospective change with undisguised satisfaction, as for some time past the newspapers have been conducting a determined campaign against what are termed the "exotic dances," which were declared to be totally unsuitable for European ballrooms.

Morality Takes Many Forms and Strange

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 26.—Donie Bush wore a fielding glove last year that Howard Ehmke always wanted. At the end of the season Bush made Ehmke a present of it. The palm of the glove was badly torn, and Ehmke wanted it refaced, so he sent it to one of the largest sporting goods manufacturers in the world, the house that had made the glove, and asked that it be refaced and returned to him with a bill.

Several days later Ehmke got the glove back. It was not refaced; apparently it had not been touched. With the glove was an explanatory note, reading something like this:

"We are sorry that we will be unable to reface this glove. We will not touch it, since it is a Weaver model."

This is going a long way to persecute an alleged sinner. Also Weaver might point out in rebuttal that this same house, by exorbitant prices demanded for its sporting goods of not the best quality in the world, takes unjust profits from boys who have much love for outdoor sports but little money with which to pursue them. The blanket of virtue which this house figuratively throws over its shoulders hides some sins which it is known Weaver would not commit.

Find the Arresting Idea

To make an effective newspaper advertisement you must get your impression over quickly and sustain interest throughout.

Proper presentation of advertising copy is almost as important as the decision to advertise.

People buy newspapers to read news. The news of the day may be absorbing, dramatic and sustained, as, for instance, during an election.

In your advertising you compete with the best news stories and headlines for attention. On the other hand, your reader is in a receptive mood and prone to action. The whole structure of a newspaper deals with and inspires action.

Unless you have an arresting idea, therefore, how can you expect to compel attention? Of course, any advertisement is better than none, but there is a wide gulf in the effectiveness of good and bad copy.

The circulation of an advertisement is not the circulation of the newspaper, but of the number of people who read it. Therefore, the more people you can attract and persuade to read your advertisement the more effective it becomes.

And the margin of profit between good and bad advertising is so great that it merits all the attention you can give to it.

One of the most enjoyable things you can do is to spend an hour or so, a few evenings a week, thinking out a well-balanced daily newspaper advertising campaign for your store and your merchandise. And, having thought it out, carry it through regardless of other people's opinions or whims.

You have three of the best trading months ahead. Do, then as we suggest and watch results.

CHEMICAL PRODUCTS, LIMITED.

This company manufactures sulphuric acid, acid phosphate (chemical fertilizer), sodium nitrate, refined, and Aspirin from the raw materials located near its plant at Trenton, Ontario. Most of these products have been heretofore imported into Canada. The demand for these products is greater than this company supply for a great many years. They are manufacturing now and the estimated net returns for this year is about three times the amount of the dividends required for preferrd stock. That is why the common stock will have a substantial rise in market price when listed. Our advice is to make immediate application for this stock.

WILSON GAINS FAST, FREED FROM CARES

Week Out of Office Finds the Former President Rested and Improved in Health.

WATCHES PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Devotes Much Time to Answering Mass of Messages Sent to Him From All Countries.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—One week out of the White House, where no president is able to shake himself loose from the heavy responsibilities of his office, has greatly rested Woodrow Wilson. Those who saw him today declare that Mr. Wilson has an infinitely more rested appearance. His face shows the effects of the repose he has obtained as a private citizen. He is looking well and is able to turn a critical eye upon those who have picked up the reins of administration.

Mr. Wilson has not only become a private citizen, but it is learned he does not allow others to become forgetful of that fact. Any visitor calling him "Mr. President" is politely reminded that he is now plain Mr. Wilson. Some of those who have been most intimate with Mr. Wilson during the eight years he was in the White House find it extremely difficult to avoid slips of the tongue by which they have addressed him as "Mr. President."

This is not true of Joseph P. Tumulty, former secretary to Mr. Wilson, than whom there is no more ardent and sincere admirer in the world, for he has always addressed Mr. Wilson as "Governor." This dates back to the public service of Woodrow Wilson as Governor of New Jersey.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, who was Mr. Wilson's physician when in the White House, has not found it as easy as Mr. Tumulty to call the former president "Mr. Wilson." Admiral Grayson has slipped in this respect several times since Mr. Wilson left the White House, and on such occasions Mr. Wilson, with a pleasing smile, has admonished him, "Mr. Wilson, if you please; I ceased to be President on March 4."

Ex-President Busy Answering Messages

Mr. Wilson has been a very busy man in the role of a private citizen. While not weighted down with the responsibilities of office, he nevertheless has found sufficient tasks facing him to occupy much of his time. Chief among these is the answering of the huge stacks of letters, telegrams and cablegrams that have come from all parts of the country, and even from foreign countries. These communications come from well wishers in every walk of life, from men and women who have admired his fight for the creation of the League of Nations, and many of them have voiced the hope that he will continue to fight for the entry of the United States into such an association of nations. Before leaving the White House Mr. Wilson indicated to some of his closest friends that he wanted to devote the better part of the remainder of his career to work for international peace and a better understanding among nations.

The messages received by Mr. Wilson have been regarded as private and confidential and he has had no thought of making them public. It is learned that they have come from all sorts and conditions of people, from some of the humblest, to those who are known internationally.

The Wilson home at 2340 S street has been a veritable flower bower since March 4. Many floral tributes have been sent to the house from friends in Washington, while others have been sent on telegraphic instructions from various parts of the country. A number of them have been sent anonymously.

These messages and flowers illustrated perhaps better than anything else the hold which Mr. Wilson has on many sections of the American people. Some of those sending flowers without giving their names have accompanied their floral gifts under expressions of hope that he will experience a speedy recovery so that he may more actively champion the cause of world peace. A number of gifts of one sort or another have also been sent to the Wilson home, including several pieces of furniture, and some of these have been sent anonymously.

A Study Overlooking Washington.

Mr. Wilson rises about 8 o'clock every morning. After breakfast, he reads the morning papers, and then goes to his study, where for the present he is devoting his attention to answering correspondence. His study is a large, sunny room on the second floor of his new home, facing south. It has a large, oval Colonial bay window. All sides of the study are lined with books in shelving running to the ceiling. In this room is a desk and there he dictates his correspondence to a stenographer. As the Wilson home is on Kalorama Heights, it has sufficient elevation for the former president to be able to enjoy a fine panoramic view of the city. From his window he is able to look at the towering white obelisk of the Washington Monument, which was so familiar a daily object to him from the closer view through the White House windows. He may also see the new Lincoln memorial over the roof tops and the dome of the capitol where the Senate threw his treaty down," as he remarked.

After dealing with his very heavy correspondence, Mr. Wilson has luncheon with Mrs. Wilson, and the afternoon is devoted to recreation. This consists of automobiling. The former president takes these rides in one of the former White House cars which he has bought because he found it very comfortable and preferred it to some other vehicle. It is the automobile in which he rode from the capitol to the S street home when he left the president-room of the Senate wing at noon on last Friday, Marih 4. The car once bore on each door the Great Seal of the United States, but these have been painted over black.

Today Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, in the course of their afternoon drive, passed down Jackson Place and West Executive avenue past the executive offices of the White House. A battery of movie men had just finished photographing Paderewski and Senator Lodge as they had entered the executive offices.

There were a number of hangers-on of one sort or another—strangers viewing the sights, job hunters and others—in the White House grounds at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson turned their heads toward the east and got a good view of the changed scene around the historic mansion. There were no secret service men accompanying Mr. Wilson during his ride. He has discarded such protection entirely since March 4, and his car is now never accompanied by secret service men.

After these afternoon rides and dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson spend their evenings at home. They have had no house guests since leaving the White House, but there have been a number of visiting friends; who have called during the day or evening. Mr. Wilson's retirement hour is about 9:30 o'clock.

HITTING YOUR CASE.

I had intended writing more about the liver and its cantankerous machinery, but I have already received so many letters from readers who declare that such and such an article "hits my case," or that I have "described my case better than I could do it myself," or that it is so apparent that I understand conditions much better than "these doctors around here," that I feel it is high time to change the subject, for evidently I have failed to teach the lesson I set out to teach. These correspondents should, as I have intimated, consult their own physicians. It is impossible for me or any other doctor to diagnose and prescribe without personally examining the patient. To diagnose and prescribe is not the function of this department. That is the work of the competent physicians, and there are some in every community.

The prevention of gall sac inflammation (cholecystitis) and of gallstone disease (cholethiasis) lies in the methods I've preached here right along.

In the first place, the proper recognition (by periodic physical examination) of such spetic foci as may furnish the bacteria necessary to set up the gall sac inflammation, and the proper treatment (by surgery or dentistry) of any such foci discovered in the examination, is the surest preventive of gall sac disease and gallstones. But let no one imagine that the discovery and eradication of such foci after gallstones have formed can avail anything. There has been far too much unwarranted abuse of the focal infection theory by invalids who have sought to lock the door after the mare has been stolen.

Contributing factors of gallstone disease were mentioned in earlier talks—over-eating (proved by over-weight), insufficient daily exercise, abdominal splinting (corsets, not tight lacing), insufficient water drinking and insufficient fruits, green stuff and other roughage in the diet, or, expressed in other words, an excess of animal food and of denatured or ultra-refined cereals and starchy vegetables.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Tuberculosis Never Inherited.

Is tuberculosis hereditary? I have had some heated arguments about this, and I contend it is not hereditary, but highly contagious. MRS. N. C. S.

Answer.—Before the cause was discovered it was imagined tuberculosis was inherited, because several cases occurred in a family. We know now that it is never inherited, but acquired through prolonged or frequent intimate personal contact, with one who has tuberculosis. It is infectious, not contagious.

COLD FEET.

If one's socks are wet, it is difficult to keep the feet warm under all circumstances. And while perspiration is a harbinger and a sign of good health, it is not at all necessary to do all one's perspiring through the feet. Nor is there any danger involved in the artificial prevention of perspiration of the feet or of any other limited area of the body. Therefore, the first step in the treatment of cold feet is the treatment of excessive perspiration of the feet, and that is a simple matter.

There are two absolutely safe and effective ways to overcome excessive sweating of the feet. The first consists of a generous dusting inside the shoes and inside the toes of the stockings with powdered alum each day for several days, without washing the feet or, if they must be washed, then washing them with cold water only. The second method calls for the use of formaldehyde solution. This is sold in a standard strength of 40 per cent under the name of Formalin or Liquor Formaldehyde. One ounce, diluted with five ounces of water makes a solution of about the right strength, and this is to be applied to the toes, the soles and between thhe toes only, by means of a brush or wisp of cotton. It should be kept off the fingers. It may be applied once each alternate day for three or four times, and repeated. As formaldehyde is a poison, none should be left about the house.

The wearing of round garters which impede free circulation, that false dignity which keeps feet always on the floor, whereas they should be frequently in the air, and the embarrassment of circulation caused by corsets which are not at all tight-fitting, are common factors of cold feet which suggest their own remedies.

Foot-constricting shoes unnaturally contribute to coldness of the feet and to chilblain or frostbite.

Wool or silk stockings, not cotton, should be worn by persons with cold feet. But if comfort and health are to be enjoyed in the fullest possible degree, then the underwear should be about the same weight and texture as the stockings. I advise light weight materials for stockings and underwear, for all persons whose time is passed chiefly indoors in the winter; and wool or wool-silk material of a knitted character like that of stockings.

QUESTIONIS AND ANSWERS.
Castor Oil.

I notice that you condemn the use of castor oil as a physic for babies. What do you recommend? (Mrs. S. T.)

ANSWER—Correct diet will generally suffice to maintain natural bowel action. Castor oil should not be administered to a constipated individual because it binds and should not be given to children at all. Syrup of rhubarb is a physic which children can readily take, and in the same doses will accomplish everything that castor oil can accomplish in any case.

Damp Cellars.

We have occupied our present residence three months, and the cellar is never dry. The landlord refuses to do anything about it. Does this not endanger our health, (Mrs. B. E.)

ANSWER—I am sorry that I cannot see wherein dampness or water in the cellar can injure health. If it is due to obstruction of the sewer drainage, that may interest the health department. But mere dampness in the cellar is not a health problem so far as my knowledge goes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Yawning.

What causes yawning? I am a woman 48 years old and I yawn and yawn all day long.—Mrs. F. H. L.

Ans.—Oxygen-hunger. Take two miles of oxygen on the hoof three times a day.

Oxfords in Winter.

I am 18 years of age, and I shall be grateful if you will tell me whether it is injurious for me to wear heavy oxfords all through the winter.—Miss F. D. P.

Ans.—I can assure you that it is immaterial, so far as health is concerned, whether you wear low shoes or high boots. It is a matter of comfort, and you ought to know when you are comfortable.

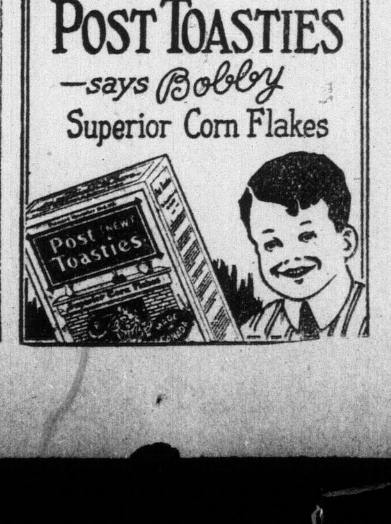

Migraine.

I have found no cure for migraine attacks, with which I have suffered for several years, but as age advances the headaches have practically ceased, the disturbance of vision alone remaining. I discovered that if I took aromatic spirits of ammonia immediately on the first threat of a seizure, it diminish the severity. (J. A. F.)

ENGLISH PAPER AGREES WITH HUGHES' STAND ON PACT WITH REDS

London, March 28.—Agreement with the principles enunciated by Charles E. Hughes, United States secretary of state, in his reply to overtures for a trade agreement with the Russian Bolshevik Government is expressed by the Daily Mail, in commenting on the situation. The newspaper says the British Government's attitude in concluding an agreement for the opening of trade regulations with soviet Russia contrasts strikingly with the decision of the United States.

LITTLE GIRLS THOUGHT MOTHER ILL IN HOSPITAL

Pathetic Feature in Connection With Case At Dublin.

WAS WOMAN RESPONSIBLE

Report of Analysis Is Being Awaited With Keen Interest.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

MITCHELL, March 27.—All through this district the results of the analysis of the stomach of Daniel Hastings is awaited with keen interest, as it will decide whether the confession signed by Mrs. Hastings is correct, or whether she made and signed statements while her mind may have been deranged from grief.

Many close friends refuse to believe that she would be guilty of the deed to which she has signed a confession.

Broke the News.

A pathetic feature in connection with the case was the breaking of the news of Mrs. Hastings being in jail to her two little daughters, Mary and Loretto, aged 15 and 11, and to her aged mother, Mrs. Lambert. The recent developments in the case had been kept from them, and they believed that Mrs. Hastings was in a hospital in Stratford.

Coming so closely after the death of their father, the last blow was a hard one for the two children.

The home in which the Hastings lived is owned by Mrs. Lambert, who is well over 70 years old.

Made Postmortem.

The inquest opened yesterday morning at Dublin, with Coroner Armstrong of Mitchell presiding. No evidence was taken. The body, which had been exhumed by Undertaker Gormley, was viewed, and an adjournment made until April 1. A postmortem was conducted by Drs. Smith and Murray. It is expected that the report regarding the analysis of the stomach will be received in time for the inquest on April 1.

Joseph Nagle was chosen as foreman of the jury, which is composed of J. Klinkhammer, F. McConnell, Joseph Shea, George Diegel, M. O'Loughlin and Henry Nelmes.

May Call the Girls.

Dr. Armstrong stated to The Advertiser tonight that when the inquest is resumed the two little daughters of Mrs. Hastings will likely be called to give evidence.

Throughout the district only the kindliest remarks are heard regarding the dead man, Daniel Hastings. He was 56 years old, and was known as a conscientious, hard-working farmer. During the years that he was in British Columbia it is stated that he sent money home regularly. He was a carpenter by trade, and was reputed to be an excellent workman.

Conflicting Stories.

Conflicting stories are told regarding the home life of the Hastings. The accusation in the confession signed by Mrs. Hastings that her husband abused her came as a surprise to residents of Dublin, although it is alleged that Mrs. Hastings had made similar statements to friends. Hastings was 56 years old, and his wife slightly younger.

One reason given as to why Hastings resided in British Columbia for ten years is that he did not wish to live with his mother-in-law. His wife, it is stated, was reluctant to leave her mother an account of advancing years. Hastings returned two years ago, and at times had done work for farmers in the district. He had purchased a farm near Seaforth, and was to have moved there next week.

Doubt the Story.

In her statement, Mrs. Hastings declared that two strychnine tablets were given to her husband. Doubt is expressed in many quarters that two ordinary strychnine tablets would be sufficient to cause death. On the day of his death, Mr. Hastings was in good spirits. He spent the evening at the home of John Kenny, returning about 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Hastings, while appearing outwardly calm and unconcerned in court, is said by neighbors to be of a nervous temperament. She never appeared weak-minded, however.

The home of the Hastings is a frame cottage, situated on the right side of the road and near the bank of a small creek. The house and the barn not far distant, are in a somewhat dilapidated condition.

William Hastings, brother of deceased, was present at the inquest. He resides in Hibbert Township, six miles from Dublin Village. He had not learned of the turn of affairs until Friday morning, when he reached Dublin. He had attended his brother's funeral Wednesday, but stated there was nothing to arouse his suspicion.

ADDING NAMES TO VOTERS' LISTS IS CAUSING CONFUSION

Each Person Must Apply Personally Is Judge's Ruling.

TORONTO, March 27.—Apparently there is a good deal of confusion in this city over the question of adding names to the voters' lists. Judge Emerson Coatsworth, chief revising officer for Toronto and York County, gave out a statement late Saturday as follows:

"Each person must apply personally to be placed on the voters' list. This was decided at a meeting of the registration revisers held today."

The referendum committee also took the same ground and asked the supporters of prohibition to make personal application to the revisers to have their names placed on the voters' lists.

However, it is regarded as probable that some attempt will be made to get a number of names placed on the voters' lists en bloc, following the personal opinion of Judge Coatsworth that such will be legal. The judge, though, has not advised that this be done, but has intimated that the question of personal application is a matter which the revising officers will have to decide for themselves.

In view of the fact that the legal proceedings taken with the backing of the Liberty League to compel personal application will not be argued at Osgoode Hall until Wednesday, March 30, and the revision of the voters' lists begins tomorrow, the situation is causing considerable uneasiness among the temperance workers, who fear that many persons who would vote "yes" will not get their names on the list.

SAYS HIDDEN GOD STRIKES SCIENTISTS

Dr. Adolphe Dies in Effort To Find Protection From X-Rays.

PARIS, March 27.—"The hidden God who does not wish to give up his secrets, strikes down men who seek to take them," said Dr. Adolphe Leray, chief of the X-ray laboratory in the St. Antoine Hospital, shortly before he died yesterda yat Enghien.

Dr. Leray was a victim of what he believed to have been a successful effort to find protection from the X-rays, which have caused the slow death of many scientists.

Research in an effort to afford protection to others was begun by Dr. Leray after his hands had become affected through the making of 35,000 radiographs in war work. For this work he was decorated by the French Government with the Legion of Honor. Several of his fingers were amputated during his research work, but he still persisted in it, and told those who begged him to desist that it was the hidden God who desired to retain his secrets who struck down those who sought to unravel them.

FIREMEN OVERCOME BY AMMONIA FUMES

Loss Will Be $100,000 in a Blaze At Ottawa.

OTTAWA, March 26.—(By Canadian Press.)—Five firemen, including Lieut. S. Blackler of No. 4 station, were overcome by ammonia fumes, and damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a fire which on Saturday night completely destroyed the building, stock and machinery of the Slinn Bread Company's plant on Catherine street. The loss is fully covered by insurance. The fire started over the ovens in the bakeshop, and is believed to have resulted from a flour dust explosion.

NO RECOGNITION OF SOVIET GOVT.

Washington Refuses To Consider Trade Relations At Present.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Conditions laid down by the state department as pre-requisite to any resumption of trade relations between the United States and Soviet Russia, while dealing exclusively with the economic frailties of the Soviet system, were regarded today as striking so fundamentally at its entire structure as to have ended practically all possibility of an early resumption of commercial intercourse between the two countries.

In a statement yesterday replying to the recent Soviet message to this government, proposing a reopening of trade relations, Secretary Hughes declared the United States could not consider such a course until fundamental changes had been made in the economic system underlying the Soviet regime.

Safety of human life, guarantee of property rights, free labor and observance of the sanctity of contracts were among the requirements laid down. Only by meeting these requirements, the statement said, could Russia hope to achieve economic rehabilitation and rebuild her foreign trade.

Issued by Secretary Hughes at the conclusion of a two-hour discussion of the Russian question at yesterday's cabinet meeting, the statement, which was transmitted to the United States consul at Reval, for delivery to the Soviet authorities, was regarded as having the solid backing of the administration in defending the future policy of the United States in dealing with the Bolshevist Government.

RURAL CREDITS AND HYDRO TAX COME UP SOON

Proposed Amendments To O. T. A. Must Also Be Considered.

EXPECT WARM DEBATES

Indications Point To Legislature Being Busy All Next Week.

TORONTO, March 27.—Following the Easter holidays the Ontario Legislature on Tuesday afternoon will enter upon its tenth week of the second session with a lengthy program still before it. It is possible that the business of the present session may run into the fourteenth week, though some predictions have been made that three weeks more will prove sufficient.

Among the unfinished business is the rural credits bill, which may be pushed forward when its sponsor, Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, who is now on the sea homeward bound from England, returns to the Legislature.

The report of the special committee on hydro matters, which recommended a tax of $2 per horsepower on the hydro-electric power commission's system, is yet to be dealt with. Premier Drury has publicly stated that while he favors a tax or rental, he regards $2 per horsepower as too high. The question is expected to prove a contentious one when it comes before the House for debate.

Proposed amendments to the Ontario temperance act, which already have been warmly debated, are still to be finally disposed of by the Legislature, and more warm discussion is anticipated in connection therewith.

Several other matters are yet to be dealt with, including the fair rents bill and the estimates.

Lieut.-Col. W. H. Price, conservative member for Parkdale, is expected to bring before the Legislature the suspension of Police Magistrate David Hastings of Dunnville, and this is likely to prove provocative of a political attack upon Attorney-General Raney.

Altogether, the indications are that the House will continue in session until April is well advanced.

SIX MORE BURIALS IN MARTYR'S PLOT

CORK, March 27.—Six more burials were made today in the "Republican Martyrs' plot," in Saint Finnbarr's Cemetery, just outside Cork, where Terrence MacSwiney was buried a few months ago. The burials followed separate funerals this afternoon for the six Sinn Fein volunteers shot by the constabulary at Clogheed Wennesday.

The military had limited the number of persons to attend the funerals to 150. Armored cars and troops in lorries accompanied the processions, but the six corteges converged into one despite the military arrangements and formed a procession from the cathedral to the cemetery. The six flag-draped coffins borne on the shoulders of volunteers presented an impressive spectacle.

The streets were lined with crowds which appeared almost as large as those that gathered for the occasion of the MacSwiney funeral last fall.

REBELS APPLYING THE TORCH.

LONDON, March 27.—Incendiary fires on numerous farms broke out last evening near Newcastle-On-Tyne. Lloyds News attributes the fires to Sinn Feiners. The damage is estimated at several thousand pounds sterling.

Predicts Big Change In Cattle Business

MONTREAL, March 27.—Patrick Burns, of P. Burns & Co., Calgary, interviewed today on the subject of the embargo against the exportation of Canadian cattle to England, predicted that the shipping of cattle on the hoof would be superseded in Canada within the next ten years by the shipping of dressed meats, the matter being dependent on the introduction of the right kind of refrigerator ships. The coming of these conditions would, he said, mean the establishment of large abattoirs at eastern terminals, where the cattle would be slaughtered and prepared for shipment across the water.

SARNIA COUNCIL TO CONSIDER REQUEST OF $130,000 TONIGHT

Board of Education Wants Additional Grant For the Collegiate.

SARNIA, March 27.—At a special meeting of the council called for Monday evening the question of additional school accommodation will be one of the principal matters for discussion. At the last meeting a request was received from the board of education for an additional $130,000 for the erection of the new collegiate institute and technical school. The council decided to hold a special session to review the situation.

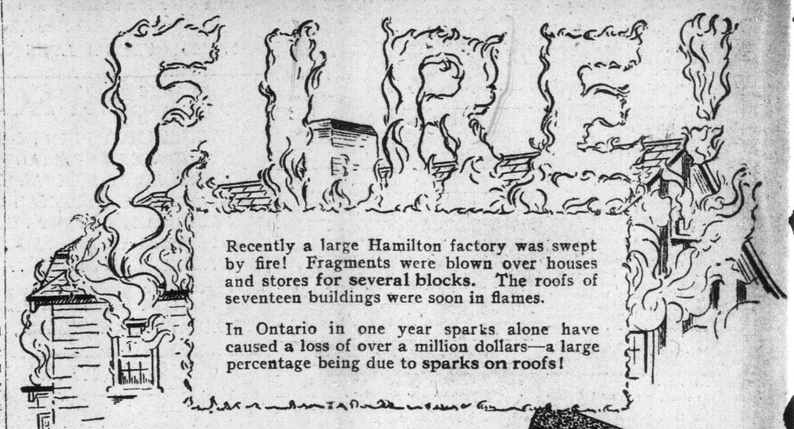

The newly-initiated luncheon club will hold its second regular meeting at the chamber of commerce headquarters on Monday at noon. The program is in charge of N. E. Olds, J. H. Morrison, Wesley Carter and M. E. Saunders.

On Monday evening at the C. of C. headquarters the regular monthly meeting of the directors will be held.

Notices have been posted in various parts of the city respecting the advance poll to be opened for railway employees, sailors and commercial travelers from 7 to 10 o'clock on the evenings of April 14, 15 and 16 for voting on the referendum, for which the regular poll will be open on April 18.

BOILS SO BAD HAD TO GIVE UP WORK
From the days of Job, up to the present time, boils have been one of the afflictions of the human race.
All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not prevent them from breaking out again.
Boils are simply caused by the bad blood bursting out; and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.
Burdock Blood Bitters, which has been on the market for over forty years, is well known as the greatest blood medicine procurable.
It purifies the blood by removing every particle of foul matter from the system, and when this is done the boils vanish, and you should never be troubled again.
Mr. James Fahey, Newport Island, Que., writes: "I was troubled with boils on my back and neck, so bad that I was obliged to give up work. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. Finally I went to a doctor, and he treated me for several weeks, and all without benefit. At last a friend told me of Burdock Blood Bitters, so I decided to give it a trial. I got three bottles, but before I had taken two the boils were all gone. It is eight months now, and I have had no return of the old trouble, and have never felt so well."

"Save the surface and you save all" — Paint & Varnish
"YES—we gladly lend money on well kept property"
Investigation Has Proved:
1 That many bankers, especially those in farming districts, will lend money only on property where houses and buildings are kept in good condition
2 That the loan and sale value of property is increased from 20% to 50% if buildings are well kept and well painted
BOTH city and country bankers know that well kept property indicates thrift, progressiveness and longer life. Surface protection through paint and varnish prevents deterioration from weather and wear; it preserves wood, metal and other materials against decay and corrosion. Save the surface and you save all. It pays.
